

Southern Water rate application to move forward Hale tells fiscal court 40 percent increase 'not going to happen'

BY MARY MEADOWS STAFF WRITER

The Kentucky Public Service Commission is allowing Southern Water's rate increase request to move forward, but the county judge-executive reported last week that this 40 percent increase is "not going to happen."

The Southern Water and Sewer District filed an application with the PSC on July 3, seeking rates that could increase customer bills between 30 and 40 percent, but the PSC rejected the application, reporting Southern did not provide all of the required paperwork.

The PSC issued another order in the case last week, reporting those deficiencies were corrected and the application will proceed on the PSC docket.

Southern explained in its application that it is in "dire need" of higher rates because of a "deteriorated" financial condition alleged to have been caused by the sale of parts of its customer base to Prestonsburg last year.

Southern is currently operating in a deficit of nearly $465,000, according to the

'Backpack to School Bash' held

Hundreds of people participated in the fourth annual Backpack to School Bash held at StoneCrest on Saturday.

Officials said rainy weather hampered turnout this year, but thanks to donations received, the city purchased more backpacks than it had ever previously given away at this event.

Mayor Les Stapleton said 800 backpacks were filled with school supplies, and those that weren't given away during the event will be donated to the Family Resource Youth Service Centers in the Floyd County Schools District. After the event, donated funds that were not spent were to be divided up and donated to all schools. Last year, the cash donations totaled $500 for each

A FLOYD CHRONICLE AND TIMES STAFF REPORT

A Floyd man convicted in 2010 of his role in a Methadone trafficking operation is now facing new federal charges after, prosecutors say, he was found to be trafficking in methamphetamine.

According to court documents, a magistrate criminal action was filed last week in U.S. District Court in Pikeville against Manis Risner Jr., 60, of Alum Lick Road, Martin, on charges of possession with the intent to distribute methamphetamine,

Martin project will be done in five years, corps officials says

BY MARY MEADOWS STAFF WRITER

The manager of the Martin Redevelopment Project shared an update with the Floyd County Fiscal Court last week, reporting the project timeline has changed.

Capt. Eric McKinney of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers said on July 20 that the project, which is years behind schedule, will now be finished in five years.

McKinney told fiscal court members about the $80 million in funding that was announced this month by U.S. Rep. Harold "Hal" Rogers and U.S. Senator Mitch McConnell, telling them those funds are enough to complete the entire project. McKinney said the funding allotted to finish the project in Martin was appropriated "primarily for hurricane damage, but also to communities that have been devastated by floods and had national emergencies declared."

"So, Kentucky, and especially a lot of communities in Eastern Kentucky, were eligible for that funding, based on that bill," McKinney said, reporting that the Corps received more than $17 billion to fund projects nationwide in that bill

When those funds were announced earlier this month, Rogers reported the project would be finished by 2025. McKinney told the fiscal court, however, that the timeline has changed.

"We're looking at having the project completed within five years," McKinney said. "So, we've got some remaining real estate we're going to acquire. We're going to be finishing the school this fall, and 1428 and the redevelopment site in town will be raised about 12 to 15 foot, and it will be a flood-safe, commercial redevelopment site."

Judge-Executive Ben Hale said he invited McKinney to address the fiscal court to talk about the funding.

"I thought it was important to say there is an end to this and that they will eventually get this project finished up there. It'll be a good project for, obviously, the town of Martin, and where Right and Left Beaver have always converged and caused major flooding for years," Hale said.

The project was initially planned to cost $92 million and it was expected to be finished by 2016. Now, the project cost has increased to $155 million.

Floyd Chronicle and Times photo by Mary Meadows Captain Eric McKinney, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers project manager for the Martin Redevelopment Project, updated the Floyd County Fiscal Court during a July 20 meeting.

"We're working on updating the cost estimate, but we're looking at around $150 million when it's all said and done," McKinney said.

Answering questions from fiscal court members, McKinney explained that all structures located on both sides of Ky. 1428 will be bought out and torn down. A temporary road will be built to replace Ky. 1428, and then fill material will be transported from Mayo Hollow, where it was stored decades ago, to the new redevelopment site.

"When you're looking from the school down through the old downtown area, it will be everything on both sides of the road," McKinney said. "And then, 1428 is going to be raised about 15 foot, and then everything on the righthand, hillside side will be about 15 foot higher. If you're familiar where the old nursing home, or, retirement community is in Martin, everything will be about level with that. So, we're not going to impact the retirement community, but everything will be about as high up as that is."

Magistrate Randy Davis asked whether filling in that part of the downtown of Martin would cause flooding in communities above it, like Maytown and Left Beaver.

McKinney and Hale explained that the area near the river will not be developed. That area will be greenspace, McKinney said, and nothing will be built there. He said properties on both sides of the road will be bought out and, once Ky. 1428 is raised, there will be "about a two-toone slope coming off of the road" that will be greenspace.

"There won't be any development down there," he said.

He said the Corps has completed about half of the buy-outs needed. The Corps is focusing on buying out properties needed to build the temporary road first, he said, then will finish the other buyouts to complete that work.

The Corps regularly updates the Martin City Council about this project. McKinney's visit was the first time the fiscal court received an update during a meeting in years.

Johnson County resident Brian Moore, the president of the Brothers Keepers Motorcycle Club Chapter 28, talked about events planned for this weekend's Burn Run with other club members during a July 18 meeting at Archer Park.

'Burn Run' to feature carnival rides, pig roast, live music

BY MARY MEADOWS STAFF WRITER

Members of the local chapter of the Brothers Keepers Motorcycle Club have been planning their biggest fundraiser since April, and the event will bring two days of live music, carnival rides, biker games and other activities to Prestonsburg.

The BKMC 28 Chapter, made up of active and retired firefighters from Floyd, Pike, Johnson and surrounding counties, is hosting its 2018 Burn Run at Archer Park in Prestonsburg on July 27-28. Activities will be open from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Friday and from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturday.

that are planned.

Club President Brian Moore of Johnson County said all the money the club raises at this event will go to Camp Ytiliba, a burn camp that Shriners Hospitals for Children in Cincinnati provides for children who have been burned. The camp, held every June, gives children who have burn injuries a chance to experience summer camp. They gain self-esteem and learn skills that help them recover from scars left behind by their injuries.

Last year, the club donated $11,000 to this camp, Moore said, and members hope to provide a larger donation during the second Burn Run this year.

> Saturday's activities at Archer Park include the carnival and vendors, as well as a dice ride for bikers which begins at 2 p.m., a blood drive hosted by the Kentucky Blood Center from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., a car, truck and jeep show which begins with registration at noon, a cornhole tournament that begins with registration at noon. and live music throughout the evening. The musical lineup includes Highway 15 at 4:30 p.m., Wicked Peace at 6 p.m. and the Jaime Suttles Band at 7 p.m.

BCW Wrestling will host wrestling matches, beginning at 8 p.m.

community members to turn out so the club can raise more funds for Camp Ytiliba

"In our area, there's not a lot of motorcycles and everybody around here does a lot of motorcycle rides to raise money. So, we decided to do this to kind of go for the general public to raise money for our cause," Moore said.

It costs about $1,100 to send one child to burn camp, BKMC members said.

"They can hang out with people that's survived burns themselves and not be criticized, not be judged. They can just go be kids," Moore said. "And every year, we get one day a week where we go to the camp and we hang out with the kids. We play games see what they're going through after the incident's over. Some of those kids, it's pretty amazing to see what they can do with their limited abilities."

Most BKMC members are volunteer firefighters who hold down full time jobs in addition to their service as a firefighter. When asked why they spend their time on projects like this, member John M. Hunt said, "Why not?"

The three-page vendor list include vendors who will be selling everything from items for children, like Build-a-Bear and Kids Korner, to vendors who are catering to adults by offering handmade jewelry, wood crafts, cigars, sewing, stained glass, specialty gifts and, of course, biker jewelry and apparel. Local chainsaw artist Mark Vance, who created several chainsaw art pieces at Archer Park, is also scheduled to have a booth at this event.

Admission is free and entrance to all live music performances are also free. Organizers are planning to host up to 100 vendors that will be selling items, and the club will also sell hotdogs, hamburgers and other concessions, as well as pulled pork from two pigs that will be roasted on site. Proceeds will be raised from an

The 2018 Burn Run will begin at Archer Park at 4 p.m. on Friday with carnival rides provided by Bluegrass Rides & Inflatables, a mechanical bull, a dunking booth, vendors and live music from the Mountain Arts Center's Front Porch Pickin' event, which is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m.

Biker games will also begin

On Saturday, the Inaugural BKMC Camp Ytiliba 5K Run/ Walk will also be held in downtown Prestonsburg. That race will begin at 8 a.m. at the city stage.

Moore said club members decided to expand its Burn Run this year to entice more local and shoot BB guns with them and stuff."

He's been to the camp twice.

"It's a little different, seeing the other end of it," he said. "We're firefighters. We're always going to help people. Usually, when you get your job done, you don't see them anymore. Then, at this, you get to

Fiscal court seeks grant funding

BY MARY MEADOWS STAFF WRITER

The Floyd County Fiscal Court took action last week to reapply for more than $560,000 in funding that was previously appropriated for the county.

During a July 20 meeting, the fiscal court approved a resolution authorizing the filing of an application to seek up to $561,000 in Local Government Economic Development Fund grants.

Judge-Executive Ben Hale said the county had already been awarded this funding for several projects, including the construction of a park in the Mud Creek area, construction at the Left Beaver Fire & Rescue and funding for drug court, the senior citizens program, courthouse annex lease in Mc-Dowell and other projects.

Hale said these funds were allotted years ago through the legislative process and the county would seek the reauthorization of the funding annually because they weren't spent. The park project, for example, has been delayed with the construction of the Minnie-Harold connector, and the drug court funding is only used when needed, he explained.

He reported that the Kentucky Department for Local Government, however, implemented a new system and those funds had to be re-allotted through this year's budget bill in order to be recorded in the new system.

"Because they were changing systems, those monies had to be put back into the single county account, and then re-done, as House Bill 200, which is the new one as of this July," Hale told the fiscal court. "So, I get to reapply for those and ask for those MOAs to be done for those projects because those monies have been allocated for years and years - three or four years now and they haven't been spent ... It's complicated, but the DLG said this is the way this has got to be done now."

Hale said the county has not lost this funding, but is required to reapply with support from Sen. Johnny Ray Turner and Rep. Larry Brown. Hale does not believe there will be any problems getting approval in this new process. He doesn't expect either legislator to oppose the allotment.

During the meeting, the fiscal court also approved a resolution allowing Hale to seek Flex funding for roads and bridgework and discretionary funding this fiscal year.

Other actions taken include:

in bills, with $94,000 in road funds, $34,000 in Local Government Economic Assistance projects, $169,300 for the jail and $264,000 in general fund expenses.

· Accepted the annual jail commissary settlement, showing receipts of $189,950 and expenditures of about $47,000 between June 2017 and this month.

 Approved the payment of $40,200 in grant funds to BOCA Enterprises for the third phase of the Harold Sewer project.

· Hired Gary Porter as a janitor, Dustin Johnson as a deputy at the jail, Brian Stumbo for litter abatement as parttime employees, and David Reffett on the District 2 road crew as a full-time employee.

 Named Randy Bryant, the county's code enforcement

Paid about $568,000 officer, as solid waste coordinator, and delegated additional duties to solid waste clerk Sandra Allen, approving a raise for each of them. Hale said the fiscal court will not fill the position left when former Solid Waste Coordinator Lon May retired, but will instead combine job duties between Bryant and Allen to cover that position.

> Approved allowing the sheriff department to draw $25,000 from the alcohol and beverage tax collections.

> Approved a resolution allowing Hale and the county road supervisor to buy a single axle dump truck for District 4 at a state surplus sale.

> • Approved declaring old vehicles used by senior citizens centers and other types of equipment as surplus, reporting the county will seek bids to sell those items.

No findings in sheriff's audit

A FLOYD CHRONICLE AND TIMES STAFF REPORT

State auditors found no issues in the Floyd County Sheriff's Department most recent tax settlement.

State Auditor Mike Harmon released the audit of the sheriff's settlement detailing 2016 taxes for Floyd County Sheriff John Hunt on Monday. The reports highlights taxes collected from April 2016 through April 2017, and it noted no issues of noncompliance and no material weaknesses.

The department's gross tax collections totaled more than $2 million in county taxes, $3.95 million in taxes for special taxing districts, $9.89 million for school taxes and $1.97 million in state taxes during the time period of review.

Nearly $1.3 million was collectively deducted from those amounts in delinquent taxes that were not paid, around $212,000 in discounts were given to taxpayers who paid early, and $455,000 in commissions were provided to the department for operations.

With those deductions, the department paid around $15.9 million to the taxing districts in the county.

Woofstock a win-win for the region

The partners who plan to come together at the Mountain Arts Center on Aug. 18 to host Woofstock, a funding concert series that benefits the Animal Alliance of East Kentucky, are doing a great service to the region.

The line-up includes a slew of well-known local musicians who are participating to help raise funds for the nonprofit animal assistance group, which is working to educate the public about the importance of spaying and neutering, as well as offering funds to help low-income residents in Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin and Martin counties to spay and neuter their pets.

The lack of spaying and neutering causes a pet overpopulation problem and, ultimately, neglect of dogs and cats throughout Eastern Kentucky. We've seen this problem tax the efforts of volunteers at local animal shelters, including the one right here in Floyd County, which is funded, in part, by tax dollars.

There are other animal rescue groups in Floyd County and the region whose volunteers are doing important and vital work, but the pet overpopulation problem will continue because some people cannot afford to spay or neuter their pets. That's why the work of the Animal Alliance is so important, and it's why the partners in this concert should be commended.

Headliners for this event include Bek & The Starlight Revue, and performers will also include Nicholas Jamerson, Luna & The Mountain Jets, Sean Whiting, Jen Tackett, Josh Nolan and Chelsea Nolan and one "Laid Back Country Picker" who is "rumored" to be on the lineup as well. We encourage our readers to buy a few tickets and support this event and the MAC.

Thai cave rescue spurs memory of Kentucky inventor Garrett Morgan

BY STUART W. SANDERS KENTUCKY HISTORICAL SOCI ETY

The world watched in awe this month as divers rescued 12 boys and their soccer coach from a flooded cave system in Thailand.

Residents of Kentucky — the land of Mammoth Cave, Lost River Cave, Diamond Caverns and other natural wonders — are familiar with cave rescues. attempts occurred here over to Collins. Sadly, their efforts failed, and he died after being trapped for nearly two weeks.

While the death of Floyd Collins (and the passing of one of the Thai divers) serves as a reminder of the difficulty and danger of cave rescues, the recent incident in Thailand also showcased invention. As authorities made resengineers cue plans, from several companies One of the most famous owned by entrepreneur Elon Musk developed a cued victims from a colsmall submarine to extricate the soccer players. Although Musk's miniature submersible was never used, the episode harkens back to Garrett A. Morgan, an African American inventor whose work aided a dangerous rescue during the early 20th century. The son of a freed toxic fumes.

slave, Morgan was born in Paris, Kentucky, in 1877. After a local education, he moved to Cincinnati, where he ran several businesses. He also became a noted inventor and owned several patents.

Among Morgan's inventions was a "safety hood," a breathing device that later evolved into the modern-day gas mask. Morgan personally demonstrated the effectiveness of this apparatus when he reslapsed tunnel in Cleveland, Ohio.

Multiple rescue efforts failed. In several instances, those seeking to save the trapped men also fell victim to the poisonous air.

When authorities learned of Garrett Morgan's safety hood, they contacted him and he rushed to the site to help. Morgan, along with two of his brothers and a handful of volunteers, donned the hoods and took turns entering the tunnel. Sadly, about 20 men perished in the disaster — but Morgan and the brave men who endured the burning, toxic tunnel saved several others.

mentioned Morgan or his invention.

Morgan died in 1963. Among his other inventions was the three-position traffic light. He also founded a newspaper, the Cleveland Call, and established several community organizations.

His legacy also lives on in the modern-day gas mask, a device that has saved the lives of innumerable soldiers, firefighters and rescue workers.

More recently, however, communities have recognized Morgan, his efforts and his innovations. Several years ago, for example, the Garrett A. Morgan Water Treatment Plant in Cleveland was named in his honor. The Garrett Morgan Elementary School (GME) in Lexington also commemorates his memory. According to the school's website, "Morgan represents the innovation, diligence, and creativity which we will seek to instill and cultivate in all of our students at GME."

Studying the history of great Kentuckians like Morgan allows us to embrace the inventor's pioneering spirit and bravery. Digging into our state's past also allows us to fill the proverbial well of ideas so that invention and creativity can take place. Studying this history can inspire students and show the important legacy that Kentuckians like Morgan have left modern-day Kentuckians. We should also remember that, because of his race, Morgan's efforts largely went unrecognized during his lifetime. Therefore, we should continue to commemorate Morgan and other Kentuckians who face great odds yet transform our communities through innovation and good works. Morgan's history stands as a critical lesson for our future.

filing. The company is seeking an alternative rate adjustment to raise $953,409 in additional revenues, which would increase its total revenues to more than $4.1 million. Of that amount, more than $3.8 is requested in revenue from its rates.

The company asked the PSC to approve a 41 percent increase in water rates for the first 2,000 gallons sold, from $24.60 currently to $34.60 requested, as well as a 19 percent increase in rates charged for those who use more than 2,000 gallons of water, from the current rate of $8.40 to a proposed rate of $1.60.

Southern reports in the filing that bills for customers using an average of 4,000 gallons a month will increase from $41.40 to $54.60.

"This is an increase of $13.20 or 31.88 percent," the filing states.

The rate increase request comes about a year after Southern sold a portion of its system, and revenues from 1,160 customers, to Prestonsburg. According to the filing, Southern expects a decrease of about $700,000 in addition to two other wastewater plants," the filing states. "In order for Prestonsburg to assume ownership of the wastewater system they took the water customers also. The loss of 1,160 customers has severely harmed the District's financial situation."

That comment, however, was opposed by Turner E. Campbell, superintendent/CEO of Prestonsburg City Utilities Commission, who filed a letter to the PSC regarding Southern's application.

Campbell explained he was "compelled to take exception to certain wording" used in the application.

Referring to sections of the application that noted the district "lost" customers to Prestonsburg, Campbell wrote, "The language utilized in the aforementioned sections of the filing by Southern infers somewhat of a 'hostile' takeover of water customers by Prestonsburg, an inference that could not be further from the facts involved."

He attached an "indepth history" of the transactions between Prestonsburg and Southern, reporting that "at the fiscal court's prompting," Southern started providing wastewater services by building a wastewater treatment facility in Wayland in the early 2000s, and later built another one near Ky. 80 to service residents in the Eastern area.

the dissolved Sandy Valley Water District resulting in the acquisition of approximately 1,100 water customers and that district's aging water infrastructure in the Betsy Layne/Harold rea of U.S. 23."

He reported, "Naturally, the District 'took on' this group of customers due to the Fiscal Court decision even though operationally the area strained Southern due to the area being across the Big Sandy River from the existing Southern service area, basically at the extreme eastern boundary of the Southern area."

He explained that Southern got funding to build a wastewater treatment plant in the Betsy Layne area in 2014.

"Through no true fault of Southern's management the providing of wastewater collection and treatment services became somewhat of a nightmare for the District culminating in Kentucky Division of Water enforcement actions commencing in the late 2015/ early 2016," Campbell wrote. "It had become the general consensus by that time that although the Fiscal Court had very good intentions, their attempt to involve the Southern Water District in the providing of wastewater collection and treatment was simply not working."

"In my opinion Southern Water was placed in a no-win situation," Campbell wrote.

He reported that Floyd County Judge-Executive Ben Hale asked him if Prestonsburg could "take over" Southern's wastewater services. Campbell said in the filing that Prestonsburg would need to acquire water customers in the three areas where Southern was providing wastewater services because it was not "practical" to provide only sewage services there.

"At first, thejudge-executive was very hesitant to agree with the transfer of any of Southern's water customers to Prestonsburg," Campbell wrote. "I informed him that for Prestonsburg to acquire the wastewater operations with which Southern continued to struggle the water customers in the Betsy Layne/Harold area would have to be part of the transaction."

Prestonsburg also acquired water customers on Ky. 850 in the David area as part of the deal.

"The judge-executive then tentatively agreed saying that 'we desperately need to get Southern out of the sewer business and you all (Prestonsburg) are the only solution," Campbell wrote. "I told him that I was not 'happy' that we (Prestonsburg) would be acquiring two areas (Wayland and Eastern) in which we would have no water customers but I would consider these two small areas in order to make the overall deal

The Prestonsburg City Council did not discuss this rate increase request at its last meeting, but the Prestonsburg City Council approved allowing Mayor Les Stapleton to start negotiations to lease some of the property it obtained through the deal with Southern to the city of Wayland.

This rate increase application by Southern was discussed, however, at last week's fiscal court meeting.

Magistrate Mike Tackett complained about the rate increase request, telling Hale that something must be done. He suggested that Southern's financial problems are caused by a high water loss rate.

"I got a paper from the Public Service Commission, saying Southern Water is going to raise water by 40 percent, and they have a 40-percent water loss," Tackett said.

Hale told him it had not been approved yet, and suggested that more money may be spent in the transaction that was approved last year.

"That's not done yet, Mike. There's a lot going on. There's moving parts that won't happen, probably. There's some other things that's going on, when it comes to city utilities," Hale told him. "So, there's probably some more money that's going to have to be involved on the transaction, or they get their water customers back, which if they get those water customers back, then, they probably won't have to have it.

"Well, they need to find the loss," Tackett said. "The loss is where it's at."

Hale said the loss is in Southern's metering system, which hasn't been updated for more than a decade.

"Yeah, but these people can't stand no 40 percent increase," Tackett said.

"I don't think that's going to happen, Mike," Hale said. "That's not going to happen, but it's something that I'm working on right now, trying to get it taken care of so they won't be any kind of a rate increase like that."

On June 30, a couple of days after the property transfer in Wayland between Prestonsburg and Southern was filed in the Floyd County Clerk's office, Southern filed documents in the PSC case regarding the sale that was approved last year.

Southern reported in that filing that the closing date for the transfer of Southern's assets was delayed as the "joint applicants are still awaiting approval" from Southern's creditors.

On July 20, an attorney followed up with that filing, reporting that the closing of the transaction and the transfer of the wastewater assets took place on June 28. Any individual or organization seeking intervention in the rate increase case has until July 25 to file that request, the PSC ruled. possession of a firearm in furtherance of a drug trafficking crime and being a convicted felon in possession of a firearm.

According to an affidavit filed in the case by a special agent with the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigation, on May with Risner, the affidavit said, troopers found him to be in possession of a loaded pistol. In addition, during the search, imately four ounces of suspected methamphetamine, with an estimated distribution value of approximately $11,200, documents said.

The affidavit said Upon first contact troopers also found six firearms, including four pistols and two shotguns. Risner, the affidavit said, told troopers that he "routinely trafficked trooper seized approx- methamphetamine" and he admitted that the drugs and firearms were his. The amount methamphetamine of found, the special agent wrote, was the remaining portion that had yet to be sold from the last his source of supply.

Court show Risner was arrested and lodged in the Pike County Detention Center in Pikeville on July 19, where he remained as of presstime, awaiting a detention hearing set for Friday.

In 2010, court documents show Risner pleaded guilty to his time he "reupped" with role in a pill pipeline which prosecutors said documents resulted in Risner being responsible for the distribution of approximately 780 Methadone 40 mg tablets. He was later sentenced to serve 46 months in prison, with six years of supervised release.

Risner, the special agent wrote in the new affidavit, also pleaded guilty and was sentenced in U.S. District Court in 1990 to serve seven months in prison for distribution of cocaine.

length of service comes with the same pay increase steps as other certified staff.

The salary increases will benefit bus monitors, school clerks, custodians, media techs, school aides, cooks, and other classified employees who currently start at less than $10 per hour.

"Alright, so here's the proposed revisions," Wireman said. "Create one salary schedule for all of those positions that were less than $10 and put them all at $10 an hour. So, essentially, we are setting our own minimum wage."

He said the district would revise the salary schedules for health assistants and increase their contract days of the year because of additional duties and requirements, they have. He also explained that by moving cooks and janitors to $10 per hour starting out, their wages will be similar to supervisors of those positions and recommended a salary schedule for supervisors that starts at $11 per hour and increases with length of service.

He recommended the district change the way cooks are paid, reporting that there are currently four-hour, sixhour and seven-hour cooks working at schools. He suggested moving all cooks into itation. seven-hour positions, reporting that two cooks who want to remain at six-hours can do so, but those positions will remain as seven-hour positions when they retire.

Wireman told board members that the approximate cost of these changes is $297,700, with the majority, $187,000 coming out of the district's general fund and $110,000 coming out of the food service fund. Wireman said the three-percent longevity increases for classified employees who work 25 years or more will cost $31,720.

Wireman said these changes "have the potential" to impact 290 classified employees either this year or within the next three years. He made the recommendation to approve the changes.

"We need to bring them up to $10 an hour," Wireman said.

"Can we sustain it?" Chairperson Sherry Robinson asked. "I don't want to get three or four years down the road and it come back and bite us."

Wireman said adjustments may be needed in the future.

"It's unpredictable," he said. "I say right now, we can, but it's like, is it going to rain next week?"

Robinson agreed with Wireman about the need for the pay increases, but voiced hes-

"I feel like you. I feel like we need to, but sometimes when you want to and need to do something, the actual means and being able to do it are two different things," she said.

Wireman created the proposal following a request made by Board member Dr. Chandra Varia during a special meeting in June. She complained because some district employees made just over minimum wage. This week, she asked for increases in contract days for janitors, talking about a janitor who can't afford to buy food because his pay was decreased. Wireman explained that all classified workers who are not substitutes earn the same paycheck throughout the year and it doesn't change unless he or she misses work and doesn't have accumulated time to make up for the missed days.

"We can't pay for services not rendered," Wireman said.

Dr. Varia, however, appeared to be thrilled with the salary increases for these employees, making the motion to approve it. She said the district "can do better than this, but this is the beginning."

Board member Linda Gearheart seconded the motion.

"I can go home now," Dr. Varia said after the vote. Gearheart asked Wireman to "not forget than what we carried our teachers."

"We're on it. We just have to do one piece at a time," Wireman said.

The approval also deleted several "obsolete" salary schedules from the district's employee roles. Officials explained these salaries were on the schedule, but no employees hold those roles in the district.

During the meeting, the board approve the pre-audit annual financial report, which was presented by Wireman. The unaudited statement does not include all revenues and expenses the district will have this school year, he reported.

He said the district's general fund is in "pretty good shape," and reported that the school district is carrying forward $5.4 million "pending adjustments." That carry-forward is between $1.4 million to $1.7 million more than the prior year. Wireman said that carry-forward increase was made possible because the state budget provided the district $586,000 to make up for funding losses caused by changes in the way unmined minerals were taxed last year and because the board approved a capital funds transfer of $882,000.

"Had we not done that, either one of those items, we'd been at about $3.9 million, which is $200,000 less forward last year," Wireman said. "And, a lot of that is the result of the assessments and the taxes and those type of things."

He said all district expenses came in under budget and the contingency is about $1.5 to $2 million more than initially expected. He said the district is required to have two percent of its budget in contingency, and four percent of the district's budget would equal around four percent. The district's carryforward is between eight and 10 percent, he reported, but the district budgets all of that but about $2 million to maintain that two percent contingency requirement.

He also reported that the district is still waiting on all of the paperwork to finalize the construction of Floyd Central, reporting that there probably won't be much funding left in that contingency account after that project is closed.

In other news, the board approved a change in scope for the Betsy Layne High School project, with officials reporting it would convert an existing classroom into a resource room. That change will save the district money and speed up the construction, officials said, reporting moving it to a new location will not require the demolition of walls, as previously planned. Officials said the corridor will be done prior to the start of school, with a few small punch list items remaining to be finished after that time.

School district changes to athletic handbook

A FLOYD CHRONICLE AND TIMES STAFF REPORT

The Floyd County Board of Education changed rules related to students who play sports during a meeting this week.

On July 23, the board approved changes to the district's student athletic handbook as part of the consent agenda. No discussion was raised on this topic.

The following changes are among those approved:

· To be eligible to participate in sports, all students must be present "from Bell to Bell" at school on the game day and the day after the game, unless the principal excuses them.

· In the county's elementary and middle school athletic conference, all elementary and middle school tournaments held in Floyd County will be held at the Allen Central High School gym.

· In middle school basketball and volleyball, member schools of the county conference may play more games, starting this school year. The number of games schools may play increase from 21 to 25 and four of those games may be tournaments, with the handbook revisions.

• The number of middle school soccer games that may be played increased from 15 to 20.

· In elementary volleyball, the number of games permitted decreased from 21 to 20, and schools are still eligible to compete in four tournaments.

The changes approved also allow schools to use one licensed official in middle school baseball and softball, and it changed the starting date for archery practice in middle school from Sept. 15 to Sept. 1.

There were also calendar changes in K-5 basketball for boys and girls, and pre-season tournament dates changed in every sporting category.

During the meeting, the board also approved revisions to the student handbook, its early college academy handbook, the certified employee evaluation plan and its digital conversion handbook with no major changes reported. The digital conversion handbook notes, "There is no reasonable expectation of privacy" when students use devices provided by the school district.

Board members also received and approved a presentation on best practices for data security in regards to school-based technology.

The board also approved numerous other items on the consent agenda, including:

 Created new positions in the district, including: a computer science teacher and Family Resource Youth Service Center project clerk at South Floyd; a PE/Health teacher at Betsy Layne Elementary; primary teachers for May Valley and Duff-Allen Central; a fulltime itinerant arts-humanities and practical living teacher at John M. Stumbo; a full-time itinerant band-music teacher at Betsy Layne High School; an aide at Allen Elementary; an assistant principal and primary teacher at Prestonsburg Elementary; a new maintenance position; a full-time itinerant health position; a full-time district-wide guidance counselor; and a district-wide special needs consultant.

• Revised the extra service/ extended duty schedule to add high school academic coaches and district academic coach at a cost of $6,000 annually and added more responsibilities to the employee overseeing the county's early college academy.

· Approved a contract to offer a dual credit program through Morehead State University.

 Declared technology items and early college textbooks as suplus.

· Approved an agreement with Western Kentucky University to allow students to complete a practicum in speech pathology in the district and an agreement with Morehead State University for the teacher education program.

 Approved a retroactive agreement with the Kentucky Valley Educational Cooperative to employ Stephanie Kidd as a special education gap closure consultant/math specialist for KVEC through June 2019. KVEC will reimburse the salary cost.

 Approved purchasing Torch Prep, an ACT prep test, for $50,000, with schools also paying $16,700 and eWalk/ Media-X Tool for observations/ evaluations at a cost of $6,500.

In other actions, the board also approved the superintendent's report of personnel actions, including the hiring of Duff-Allen Central Assistant Principal Stephanie Gearheart, Susan Green as a district-wide special education consultant, and five people-Joseph Bolden, Nikki Crawford, Renita Dingus, Rebecca Morrison and Sandra Stapleton as district academic interventionists through the GEAR UP program.

Resignations by nine teachers were reported at Stumbo, Betsy Layne High School, Prestonsburg High School, Duff-Allen Central Elementary. Another district-wide substitute teacher also resigned, several classified employees transferred into new positions, six classified employees resigned and another was fired.

Superintendent Danny Adkins said the grant has already required the district to create a district-wide literacy plan and schools are required to write their own literacy plan as well. Caudill said Prestonsburg area schools are still working on writing their plans.

of Education approved a new "Striving Readers" program on Monday, accepting a $580,000 federal grant to improve literасу.

The board unanimously approved a memorandum of agreement with the Kentucky Department of Education to receive the Striving Readers Comprehensive Literacy grant, which provides funding for school districts to implement a "comprehensive and integrated" literacy plan for children of all ages.

The grants have been awarded to help children in the Betsy Layne and Floyd Central attendance areas. The Floyd Central attendance area Schools in the Prestonsburg High School attendance area did not have a high enough free and reduced lunch percentage to participate in this grant, but the district's community liaison Pam Caudill said other schools will work with officials at these locations to include them as much as possible in services provided by this grant.

The state approved the grant on June 15, agreeing to provide $580,000 to the school district for this program over contract period. The grant will provide $290,000 for salaries, benefits, professional services, eas.

The initial memorandum of understanding approved by the board of education on Monday stretches from this month through June 2019, and Caudill told board members this is a three-year program and funding is provided during the first two years.

The program focuses on improving reading, writing, speaking and listening to students in early childhood, elementary, middle and high school grade levels, as the grant is geared to help kids from birth to 12th grade. The district must also provide professional learning opportunities and support for teachers, including instructional strat-

She said training and professional development are a big part of the grant.

Vendors sought for Night Market

A FLOYD CHRONICLE AND TIMES STAFF REPORT

Officials with Prestonsburg Tourism are currently accepting vendor applications for the city's first-ever Night Market.

The event, described as an "open-air pop up market" is planned to showcase local artists, businesses, live music, as well as other activities.

It's scheduled to be held Aug. 3 from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the city parking lot, and Prestonsburg officials are also planning a cruise-in to be held at the same time on Rt. 1428.

Tourism Director Samantha West said that the event is modeled after similar Night Market events held in the Elkhorn City area in Pike County.

She said officials hope to gather at least 25 vendors, but more, if possible. Vendors can come from Floyd and surrounding counties, she said, and the goal is to bring in local artisans selling handmade items, as well as businesses.

The city and the tourism commission are offering vendor spaces at a cost of $25 for artists and local businesses and $75 for food vendors. Vendor applications are being accepted through July 27.

Vendor applications are available on at the Night Market link at prestonsburg.org. For more information, visit Prestonsburg Night Market on Facebook or call, (606) 886-1341.

Participation is free in the cruise in, and city officials will accept registrations on site on the day of the Night Market.

Then, HRMC (Highlands) came in the second time and they've done a wonderful job at getting others to come in, and it's just grown ... The support from Highlands and Passport Health Plan and some of these different groups, it's just been phenomenal.'

He said volunteers gave out backpacks, provided food and had inflatables during the first event. It has since expanded to also include visits from Batman and other superheroes, numerous and give-away items, activities for children, visits with Prestonsburg police and fire department officials, the Air Evac Lifeteam, and, among other things, informational resources for children and their caregivers.

"We want to make sure that all the kids are ready for school with all of their school supplies, but we also want to make sure that they're ready for school for their health," she said. "So, we have people here that are talking about immunizations. We have people here that are going to do health, blood pressure, stroke screenings, sports physicals so they can play sports physicals throughout the year. So, we do tons of different things to make sure that they're health and wellness is ready to go back so they can be the best that they can be."

Dr. Matt Turner, a family medicine physician from Highlands Health, provided sports physicals for children during this event. Other health screenings were also provided.

"It's an easy way to give back," Dr. Turner said.

EASTERN — The Floyd Central High School baseball program welcomed in young players from multiple Eastern Kentucky counties for an inaugural camp July 16-19. Players ages six to 14 attended the camp.

"The camp went great," said Floyd Central coach Shawn Hager. "We had a great turnout from three different counties. The kids got a lot of work aseball on fundamentals in throughout young the camp."

> Greg Horne, who guides the Floyd Central Middle School baseball program, shared Hager's enthusiasm when talking about the camp.

"Our camp was a great success," said Horne. "We averaged around 33 kids each day. The players ranged in ages from six to 14 and represented three counties. Our baseball program on the middle school level and high school level is getting ready to take off. We are promoting hard and getting the word out about our program. A lot of people don't even realize we have a middle school program. This camp gave us a chance to bring kids in and show off our facilities. It also gave us a chance to work a few days with the young kids that will soon be in our program."

Each Floyd Central baseball program made strides during its debut campaign. Horne is eager to work with Hager again in 2019. "Coach Hager has been great to work with," added Horne. "Anything we need for the middle school program, he gets it. I hear a lot of middle school coaches complaining that they can't get their high school coaches to help them or share field time but I don't have that problem."

Jaguars making progress in preseason

Race the Way You Want To Be Raced

Racin' Steve Mickey

Call it a product of the new point system that NA-SCAR uses for its Monster Energy NASAR Cup Series or call it a product of a trio of drivers that are dominating the series to the point the broadcasters have all but forgotten any drivers' name other than Kyle Busch, Kevin Harvick or Martin Truex Jr. Sunday at New Hampshire we saw two of the greatest drivers not just of this season but of all time in Busch and Harvick put on a show in the closing laps that has the entire series salivating waiting for the playoff round of ten races to begin.

It appeared in the closing stages of Sunday's Foxwoods Resort Casino 301 at New Hampshire Motor Speedway that the series might be having another first time winner as Stewart-Haas Racing's Aric Almirola was in control of the race until everyone came down on pit road for service after a caution flag was waved for Clint Bowyer who hit the outside wall. It was lap 258 when Almirola in the lead pulled into his pit on what would be the "money" stop of the day but trouble with the left front tire caused him to relinquish the lead to Kyle Busch who came out of the pits in first followed by Kevin Harvick.

On the restart with Busch picking the outside lane that had been the preferred line all race long, he was able to put his Toyota in front of Harvick and appeared that he might be able to pull away with the win but the Ford driver was not done yet as he began to chip away at the lead of Busch. The chase continued until lap 295 of the 301 lap event when Harvick tapped Busch's rear bumper in the center of turns one and two.

The tap did not send Busch into the wall but he did have to chase his car up the track and in the process, Harvick pulled underneath and went on to capture his sixth win of the season and the 43rd checkered flag of his career. Busch recovered and came in second followed by Almirola in third and Truex Jr. in fourth.

It is no secret in the sport that there has not been a lot of love lost between Harvick and Busch in the past so the post-race interviews were more anticipated than seeing Harvick do the customary burnouts and crawl out of his car in victor lane. NBC interviews the winning driver as he is retrieving the checkered flag on his way to victory lane. Harvick said he felt like it was his best opportunity to make the pass as he got to the rear bumper because he wasn't sure if he could get there again. Harvick said, "I didn't want to wreck him but I didn't want to spend a lot of time behind him."

Busch in his post-race interview was able to keep his composure as he gave his pit crew credit for putting him in a position to win the race even though he knew that he did not have as good a car as those of Stewart-Haas. When asked about the bump, Busch said, "I thought that he could have made the move work cleaner than that, but it's all fair game." He went on to say, "How you race is the way you will be raced."

Now if that is the dialogue between the two drivers that are first and second in the point standings what can we expect in the six races remaining from the majority of the starting field that needs a win to transfer to the playoff round. Also fueling the competition that is creating such finishes that we saw at New Hampshire is the Playoff Bonus Points awarded to the stage winners and race winner. The five points for the win moved Harvick into first place with 32 points to Busch's 30. These points transfer with the driver as he moves through the three playoff segments.

PIT NOTES: The Camping World Truck Series made its annual stop at Tony Stewart's Eldora Speedway and once again provided an exciting race that featured a dirt sliding finish with plenty of rubbing that had the fans on their feet. The middle of the week event once again raises questions to NA-SCAR about the possibility of showing some flexibility in future Cup schedules. It may not be a race on dirt but a middle of the week race may put some fans in the seats something that the sport needs.

Wesley Christian to field National, Select teams

By STEVE LEMASTER SPORTS WRITER

ALLEN - The Wesley Christian High School boys' basketball program will field a National Team and a Select Team during the 2018/2019 season. Wesley Christian coach David Meddings made the announcement about his program recently.

"We changed the names to help with the overall image of our program," said Meddings. "In the past it was known as 'blue' team and 'red' team and 'first' and 'second' but that doesn't reflect what our goals are as a program and a school. We don't have a junior varsity program whatsoever. Our athletes are talented enough to compete on a varsity level and a national elite level. What this provides to the local kid and to a foreign or transferred player is that they will get to compete at the highest level available."

A full schedule awaits each Wesley Christian boys' basketball team.

"The National Team will be playing in what is known as the Grind Session, which is a nationwide league that only involves programs like ours, as well as other events and home games," commented Meddings. "They will also compete for a NACA Division 1 National Championship, a Fellowship of Christian Athletes national title (which they won in 2017) and the Grind Session World Championship. The roster includes seven players over 6 foot 8 and 11 players over 6 foot 5 in total and will have at least two local faces on the roster come November.

"The "Select" Team will play in the Kentucky Christian Athletic Association and compete for a state championship while also participating in the NACA Division 3 National Championships. The team will sport at least four players 6 foot 8 or taller and be led by rising senior Josh Hackworth, who also plays on the National Team. This team although talented will have a majority of younger players."

Rosters for each team will feature several talented players, some of whom hail from Eastern Kentucky.

"We want to be an option for local players and students alike to achieve their dreams of playing college basketball," confided Meddings. "Whether it be part of the National team or the Select team we have a portal of preparation for high school athletes to academically and athletically get ready for the next level."

guide the Wesley Christian boys' basketball program in April. During a previous coaching stint in Allen. Meddinas auided Wesley Christian to the 2017 FCA National Championship. During his time away from Wesley Christian. Meddings traveled overseas to coach in Dublin, Ireland at North Atlantic Basketball Academy. He also coached in Italy and Spain.

Meddings guided Wesley Christian to a 33-11 overall record and the national title during a highlight-filled previous stint. He coached two McDonald's All-American Nominees for the first and only time in school history and had the Circuit Riders ranked 14th in the nation.

"Our image was damaged in the past some by former leadership and we want the public to realize the exceptional talent level we have right here in Allen and Floyd Counadded Meddings. ty," "Beyond that we are blessed with some good kids to work with whether they are from Eastern Kentucky or Australia. Our student-athletes represent Wesley Christian in the highest regard of leadership, faith and commitment to the community. We are blessed to be able to change lives here and we will continue

TIP OF THE WEEK:

Homes that are more than 20 years old and still have their original windows could be due for an upgrade. Aluminum- or wood-framed windows also may be ripe for changing.

Here are some signs that it's time to replace windows, courtesy of Good Housekeeping, Centra® and the real estate website Redfin.

- Drafty feel in the home
   Rising energy bills
- Windows are difficult to open or close
- Water infiltration
   Condensation on windows
