Garrett man arrested for stabbing

A FLOYD CHRONICLE AND TIMES STAFF REPORT

A Floyd County man was arrested Tuesday for allegedly stabbing his girlfriend in the face.

Delbert Conn, 33, of Garrett, was arrested Tuesday morning and charged with first-degree assault, a felony.

Kentucky State Police Trooper Matt Martin reports in the citation that he met the alleged victim at the McDowell ARH hospital at 3 a.m. on Tuesday. The woman had to have 55 stitches in her face and hands following the alleged attack by Conn, Martin claimed in the citation.

"The victim took 55 stitches to stitch her face as well as stitches on two different cuts in her hand," he wrote in the citation.

He explained in the citation, "Upon speaking with the female, she advised me that the male subject had went and took his drug test and failed through his parole. Stated once he got home early in the evening he used more drugs and was talking out of his head."

The alleged assault occurred later that evening, after Conn had been taken to his mother's house, the citation says.

"She stated later in the night the subject... wanted her to bring him his guitars and clothes to his mothers house," Martin wrote. "Once at the house she stated the male subject became enraged and picked up the knife. She stated the male subject then attacked her

P'burg agrees to help Wayland grow

BY MARY MEADOWS STAFF WRITER

The Prestonsburg City Council approved a lease agreement last week that will help Wayland grow.

During a special-called meeting on Sept. 27, the Prestonsburg City Council unanimously approved an agreement that allows Wayland to lease about 34 acres of property located in Glo Hollow, the city's former Glo Gora mine site.

The lease agreement allows Wayland to "occupy and use" the property "for the benefit of economically based projects," paying Prestonsburg $1 annually.

"It's pretty simple," Mayor Les Stapleton told the city council. "We've got a piece of property up there that we've got one acre that we utilize around the waste treatment plant. They have

Local law enforcement officers invited community members to sit down and enjoy a cup of coffee with them this week.

Officials from the Kentucky State Police Post 9 in Pikeville and the Floyd County Sheriff's Department participated in the event, held Wednesday at Billy Ray's Restaurant.

KSP Post 9 Captain Donald J. Shearer said Coffee with a Cop has been observed nationally for the past several years, and his team decided to participate for the first time this year alongside other KSP posts in the state.

"We just try to have positive public interactions," Shearer said. "A lot of times, especially around here, a lot of the encounters we have with people are

Alleged drug traffickers arrested

A FLOYD CHRONICLE AND TIMES STAFF REPORT

Several people were arrested last week on new indictments that were issued against them.

Shonda Music, 33, of Martin, Greg Little, 45, of Melvin, Frank London, 30, of Paintsville, Kevin Woods, 32, of Allen and Richard Mullins, 33, of Harold, were arrested for various drug-related charges they now face.

Music was arrested for first-degree trafficking in a controlled substance for allegedly trafficking in methamphetamine in March.

Little was indicted on three counts of first-degree trafficking in a controlled substance for allegedly trafficking methamphetamine in August and September. He was also indicted for second-degree possession of a controlled substance and drug paraphernalia.

London was indicted for first-degree possession of a controlled substance and possession of

Public meeting set for voluntary property buyout

A FLOYD CHRONICLE AND TIMES STAFF REPORT

The City of Wayland invites all of its residents to a public meeting next week to learn about a proposed volunteer buyout of flood-prone properties there.

The public meeting will begin at 5 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 9, on the second floor of the Wayland Historical Society's building, prior to the start of the city commission meeting, which begins at 6 p.m.

The voluntary buyout of flood-prone properties in Wayland was discussed last month's commission meeting, when Regina McClure of the Big Sandy Area Development District talked about the possibility of submitting an application to the Federal Emergency Management Agency for a Flood Mitigation Assistance Grant Program.

Through that program, the federal government may buy-out properties that have repeatedly been flooded in the city. McClure described it as a "completely voluntary" program through which Wayland residents who have been repeatedly flooded can be bought out and move to higher ground.

She said the public meeting will be held to determine whether residents who have been repeatedly flooded want to participate. Attendees will get an overview of the program and they can ask questions about the process.

The following topics will be discussed and/or provided:

- The voluntary property acquisition program and the determination of compensation negative. We just want to come out, sit down, have a cup of coffee, talk with people and let them know that we're human beings, too. There's a human being behind the badge and the uniform."

Shearer, a native of Central Kentucky, came to Eastern Kentucky in 2003 and has lived in Floyd County since then. Now, he calls it "home." He's held various roles in his law enforcement career and stepped up as Post 9 captain about a year ago.

He said working in law enforcement is "a calling."

"This isn't a nine-to-five job, by any means," he said. "It's a calling. It really is. It's a lifestyle. It's 24-7. You're never really off duty."

Lt. Chris Hicks of Prestonsburg answered that call years ago. He said he got into law enforcement because he wanted to help people.

"I just wanted to help. I wanted to make a difference," he said.

He participated in Coffee with a Cop to show community members that he cares.

"They just usually see us on the side of the road on a traffic stop or they see us during bad times," Hicks said. "They just need to know that everybody up there (at Post 9), everybody got into law enforcement to help out and to just be there for them. Everybody's got kids and everybody's got families and we try our best to make the community safe. We're there for them. They just see the bad side of us all of the time. We want them to know that we've got big hearts and we're there for them. We try to make everything safe and be there when they need us."

He talked about his nine-year-old son and how he tries to be active in the community. He also talked about how his training helps him deal with a job that puts his life in danger.

"That's just something you don't think about. You just react. You're training kicks in and you react," he said. "After it's all over with, you sit and think about it, what could have happened. It keeps you up a lot of nights, but when it's going on and when it's happening, you don't think about it. You're training takes over and you try to do what's right and you try to help everybody."

Fitzpatrick Baptist Church Pastor Tommy Reed, one of a handful of people who turned out for Coffee with a Cop, said he wouldn't have missed the opportunity to thank these officers.

"I'm here because I love and respect all of these people, and I was raised to be that way," he said. "I was raised to respect law enforcement and appreciate them."

His church held an appreciation service for Post 9 this year.

"I've been an informal chaplain for Post 9 and the city and when I heard there was Coffee with a Cop, I just wanted to come out and just be with them because I see them as superheroes, and I always have since I was a kid," he said. "Now, that I'm a pastor, I see the human side of them, too, and I want to bless them as much as they bless me."

He and others who attended the event talked about how people generally just see a uniform when they look at law enforcement officers.

"They're ordinary people who answered an extraordinary call, and they rarely get anything good... They're very decent and strong men and women that are here to protect and serve our community and we need to be grateful for that, because without it, it'd be lawlessness. I think we need to develop an attitude of gratitude toward law enforcement. We've lost that in our society."

drug paraphernalia for allegedly possessing methamphetamine and drug paraphernalia in September.

The grand jury also issued a separate indictment against him last week, charging him in another case with three counts of first-degree trafficking in a controlled substance for allegedly trafficking in cocaine, opiates and hydrocodone in May.

That indictment also accuses London of possession of drug paraphernalia, tampering with physical evidence and public intoxication of a controlled substance.

Woods was indicted for first-degree possession of a controlled substance and possession of drug paraphernalia for allegedly possessing methamphetamine and drug paraphernalia in May.

Mullins was indicted on first- and third-degree trafficking in a controlled substance for allegedly trafficking methamphet-amine and another drug in March. He was also indicted for possession of a handgun by a convicted felon and possession of drug paraphernalia.

These alleged drug traffickers are scheduled to be arraigned in the cases against them in October and November, but most of them have drug-related cases already pending in Floyd County. Some of them have been indicted more than once this year.

Music was also indicted in March and for drug possession and drug trafficking.

Woods is due in court in November in a pretrial conference in two other cases against him that allege charges of drug trafficking. He was indicted in May and June in those cases.

Following his arrest for this indictment, Little was scheduled for a bond revocation hearing in another case filed issued against him this year. In that case, he is charged with first-degree drug possession.

approximately, there's another approximate 30 acres up there that is directly contiguous to their city's incorporated limits. It's of no use to us. It is of use to them to try to develop something."

The lease requires Wayland to pay Prestonsburg two percent of any profits it earns over $75,000 through the property.

Stapleton said, "Just like everybody else in the area, they're economically in a bind like we are, but if you notice, we put in there if they get to where they make $75,000 net profit, they're going to start paying us two percent back. For us, other than that one acre, it's a useless piece of property."

The lease prevents Wayland from re-subleasing the property without approval from Prestonsburg and requires Wayland to obtain prior written consent from Prestonsburg for "any and all projects and developments prior to construction or inception of any project."

Under the lease, Wayland must maintain a $1 million insurance policy on the property.

Prestonsburg obtained the property when the city utilities commission bought part of the Southern Water and Sewer District's system.

The motion to accept the lease was unanimously approved by the Prestonsburg City Council. It will be considered by the Wayland City Commission at a later date.

Wayland Mayor Jerry Fultz previously reported that city officials have some ideas for the property and talked about hosting a community meeting to gather input about potential projects that could be undertaken if the lease is finalized.

During the meeting, the Prestonsburg City Council also held the second reading of an ordinance that changes the makeup of the Prestonsburg City Utilities Commission.

It increases the number of commission members from three to five and increases salaries of commissioners from $60 annually to $60 monthly.

The council also discussed a personnel matter in closed session for about 10 minutes with no

Learning as I go with Diabetes

May 17, 2018 is a day Carolyn Rohr, known as Sue to everyone will not forget anytime soon. It all began with a sore on the side of her foot that would not heal. She made an appointment with her family doctor to get it checked out just to be safe. Once there she had lab work done, her foot was checked and she was referred to a specialist. On this day May 17, 2018 she went to see the podiatrist and he had the results back from her lab work and it was then that she found out she had diabetes. "He actually thought I was going to lose my foot" Rohr stated. Hearing this and finding out I had diabetes was devastating. At the time of diagnosis her A1C level was 7.9%. Type 2 Diabetes is diagnosed with an A1C >6.5%. The A1C test measures your average blood glucose for the past 2 to 3 months.

With a family history of diabetes and risk factors for diabetes, she stated "you don't want to think about it". She had only one of the common symptoms of diabetes. Symptoms of diabetes include:
Frequent urination
Excessive thirst
Blurred vision
Extreme fatigue
Extreme hunger
Unintentional weight loss
Irritability
Slow healing wounds
Frequent infections

After her diagnosis of Type 2 Diabetes, Sue enrolled in the Diabetes Self Management Sessions at the Floyd County Health Department. It was at these sessions that Rohr learned more about diabetes and what to eat to control her blood sugar.

Rohr who is the Manager at McDonald's admits the first two weeks were hard. With working in fast food she has learned she can still have fast food, she just makes healthier choices and monitors the portions.

Since May she has made changes in her diet and lifestyle. She has lost 63 pounds, follows a 1500 calorie diet while monitoring her carbohydrate intake. The results of her work are proven by her twice a day blood sugar readings which are now normal. Her last A1C dropped to 6.3%. The American Diabetes Association recommends an A1C <7% for adults with diabetes. She currently is controlling her blood sugar, without medication, with diet and activity only. Rohr stated, "I feel great, I have more energy and no longer get sleepy when driving". Her foot has healed and she still sees the Podiatrist along with her family doctor.

Family Hope Project

Approximately 15 million children are exposed to domestic violence each year. When violence occurs in a family, there is help - and HOPE.

The Family Hope Project provides evidence-based behavioral health treatment and wraparound community support for children, youth, and their families who have witnessed or experienced domestic violence.

A team of Child & Family Therapists and Peer/Community Support Associates will work to develop a plan for the entire family to meet their needs and offer recovery and hope.

PMC VALVE CLINIC PUSHES HEART CARE TO THE FOREFRONT

By: Carol Casebolt

Pikeville Medical Center (PMC) announces the opening of the Heart and Vascular Institute's new Valve Clinic. Patients who are in need of advanced heart care are in great hands at PMC.

With the recent opening of the three new state-of-the-art cardiology cath labs, the hospital is now offering new valve procedures. The clinic is the first of its kind in the region, delivering quality heart care to patients with complex valve disorders.

In previous years, patients had to go to several different physicians and ultimately could face transferring to a facility out of town for care. With the new valve clinic, patients can stay at home, see all the physicians necessary and receive advanced heart care at PMC all under one roof. The clinic is a much more convenient way to receive the care patients need without multiple doctors' visits and the expense of traveling hours away for care.

PMC Director of the Cath Lab, Director of the Valve Clinic, Interventional Cardiologist, Muhammad Ahmad, MD said, "The interventional cardiology and cardiothoracic surgeons are utilizing percutaneous approaches or minimally invasive approaches for valve replacements. Through this evolution, two major valve surgeries are becoming more routine in selected patients. We are now providing these services here for our patients."

Dr. Ahmad says the PMC Valve Clinic provides a multidisciplinary approach to diagnosing and treating heart valve disease. Both self-referral and physician referral patients are accepted at the valve clinic.

The PMC team of board certified physicians including an interventional cardiologist, general cardiologists, cardiothoracic surgeons and radiologists work together offering treatments for mitral valve, aortic valve replacement (TAVR) and watchman devices. Initially patients are enrolled and then follow-up is done in the clinic.

"There are two major goals we have for the valve clinic," added Dr. Ahmad. "We want to enroll all patients who now have, or will need valve replacement. We are reaching out to the physicians in surrounding areas where we provide services, so patients can easily call one number and get enrolled."

The interventional cardiologist and a general cardiologist will be responsible for the imaging, echocardiograms and CT scans of the aorta and the heart to make sure the patient is a candidate for treatment. The cardiothoracic surgeons will also be available at that same time. Every patient must go through testing to make sure they qualify.

"It is very important for physicians to refer their patients for an easy work up," Dr. Ahmad said, "They will be seen by trained cardiologists and cardiothoracic surgeons to assure the appropriate treatment option is available."

PMC Cardiothoracic Surgeons, Abdulla Attum, MD, John Deel, MD or Dermot P. Halpin, MD, will participate in the TAVR or MitraClip procedure. If the patient does not qualify, another option is a minimally invasive valve replacement procedure. The specialists who are needed to provide these procedures are all under one roof, working together to bring the best results possible.

PMC has a special coordinator whose sole purpose is to communicate with the patient, their family physician and the cardiologist, keeping everyone informed and up-to-date.

For additional information about the new PMC Valve Clinic visit www.pikevillehospital.org or to make an appointment call 606-218-6588.

Pikeville Medical Center's (PMC) Trauma Department extended the "Stop the Bleed" course to Betsy Layne Elementary.

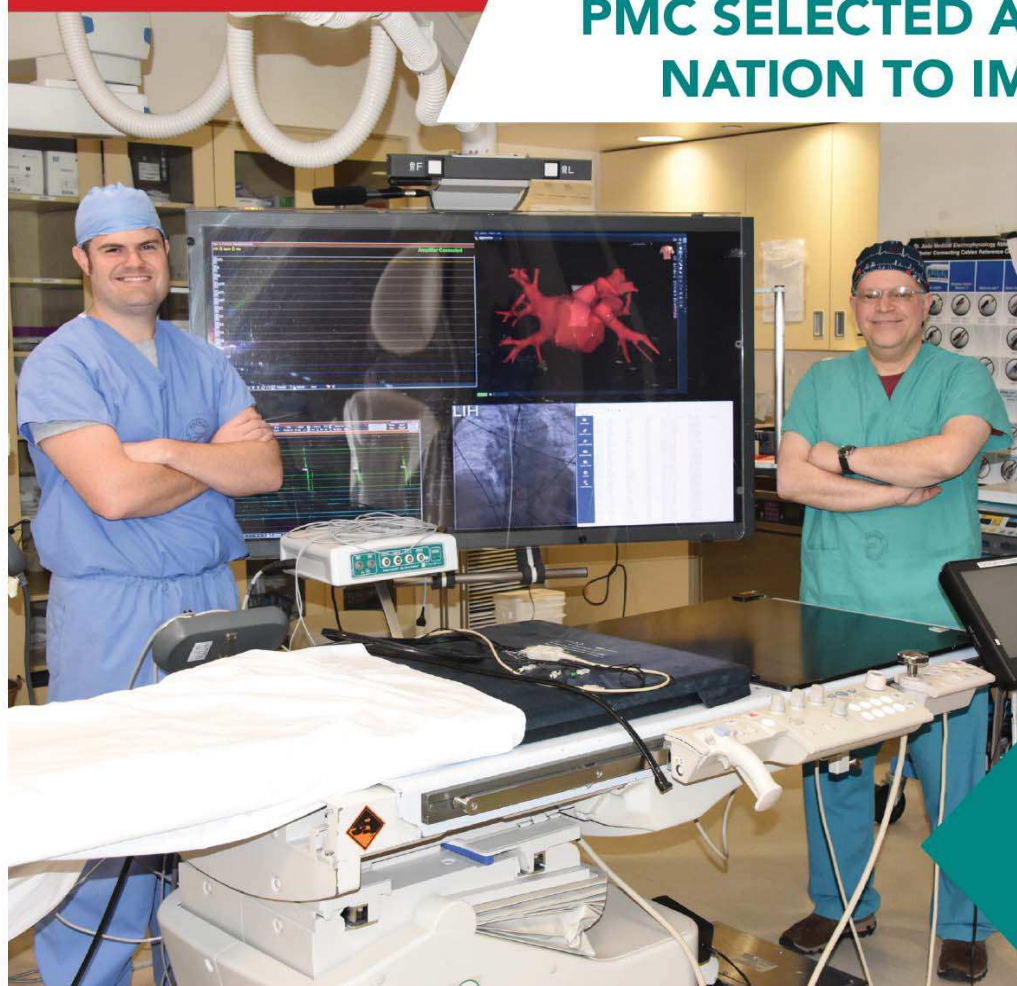

PMC has spent several months implementing the Stop the Bleed campaign using these opportunities to bring attention to the types of traumas people sustain and ways to prevent them.

PMC is encouraging the community, schools and businesses to get educated and be prepared in case of an emergency. Stop the Bleed is a nationwide campaign, to empower individuals to act quickly and save lives. The program is aimed to provide training for everyone on how to respond in an emergency bleeding situation so everyone has the tools to save a life.

PMC SELECTED AS ONE OF THE FEW CENTERS IN THE NATION TO IMPLANT NEW WATCHMAN DEVICE

By: Carol Casebolt

Atrial fibrillation (AFib) patients have an increased risk of stroke and the new Watchman Device, sometimes called a left ventricle appendage occlusion device, could prove to be one answer to treating those patients. Not every AFib patient qualifies for this procedure, but a significant number of patients will.

Pikeville Medical Center's (PMC) Electrophysiologist Michael Antimisiaris, MD says the watchman has been shown to be a reasonable alternative to blood thinners for patients who poorly tolerate them.

"Blood thinners are used to prevent stroke in patients with non-valvular fibrillation," said Dr. Antimisiaris. "These patients represent the majority of strokes we see in people, over 80 especially."

"Patients who have had bleeding problems in the past and patients who are in professions that are going to put them at high risk for bleeding can present a challenging treatment plan," said PMC Electrophysiologist Chase Reynolds, MD. "This new device could work to the advantage of those patients."

According to Dr. Antimisiaris, about 90% of the stroke-causing blood clots from AFib originate in the atrial appendage.

Dr. Reynolds says the left atrial appendage is really a remnant from the heart and is not necessary for day-to-day cardiac function.

He says AFib is a quivering or irregular heartbeat (arrhythmia) that can lead to blood clots, stroke, heart failure and other heart-related complications.

Patients have often described their AFib experience saying their heart feels like it is doing flip-flops, skipping beats, banging against the chest wall or a really fast heartbeat while other patients had no symptoms at all.

"A severe stroke happens when the clot breaks free and goes to the brain," said Dr. Reynolds. "That is the basis of the whole stroke risk and the need for these patients to be on blood thinners to prevent strokes."

He said the watchman device goes thru the femoral vein in the groin and is placed within the left atrial appendage which occludes and prevents a clot from being able to form and break free from that location.

"By occluding this area we completely get rid of the stroke risk, at least in theory," said Dr. Reynolds.

The Watchman Device is the first of its kind to come to market. With this new technology the FDA is heavily involved. Centers are hand-picked and must be approved by both Boston Scientific and the FDA to perform these implants.

Dr. Antimisiaris and Dr. Reynolds have received training to implant the Watchman Device. This unique procedure is now available for patients at PMC.

For additional information or to schedule an appointment, visit pikevillehospital.org or call 606-218-2201.

Together. We Rise.

At Pikeville Medical Center, a new day begins. It's a day where people across this great region have access to surgeons, specialists, and the most advanced medical technology close to their eastern Kentucky homes. It's a day where you can find a hospital committed to the values and importance of listening, compassion, and faith. It is a day that Pikeville Medical Center is ready to meet.

For your medical needs, together, we rise.

EDITORIAL

Why aren't you registered to vote?

We have never quite understood why people choose not to vote. There are plenty of excuses, sure, but none of them make sense to us.

After all, this is America, and as Americans, we have the right and the privilege to select the people who govern us.

It's not like that in every country. People who live elsewhere are confined to live a life where those decisions are made for them. They are voiceless as their leaders hand down the laws that they are forced to abide by.

Here, if we don't like how things are governed, we can cast a ballot to make a change. It's our privilege to do that and some would argue it's our civic duty, our obligation, as Americans.

For those of you who believe your vote doesn't matter, then ask the Floyd County magistrate who won by five votes during the primary election this year. Ask any candidate whether that's true.

It's not, especially in a rural areas like this one where so few people take the time to go out to the polls.

Only 37.33 percent of the registered voters in Floyd County voted during the primary election this year, and officials considered that to be a good turnout. That percentage, however, is a failing grade on any test, and it means that nearly 63 percent of Floyd County voters just let everyone else cast votes for them.

What does that say about us, as a community? As Americans?

Are we saying it doesn't matter whether we vote? Are we saying that being able to select who governs us isn't important? Are we saying that everything that makes our democracy great does not need to include our ideas or our hopes or our dreams?

If we are not voting, folks, then, yes, we are saying exactly that. We're letting everyone else pick what matters, and democracies don't work well that way.

When just a few people make decisions, democracy dissolves into a government that can't be the voice for all.

Tuesday, Oct. 9, is the final day that Floyd County residents have to register to vote in the general election in November.

It takes only a few minutes to register to vote online at, elect.ky.gov.

Registrations may also be submitted at the Floyd County Clerk's office, located on the first floor of the county courthouse. For more information, call (606) 886-3816.

GUEST COLUMN

It's time to think about merging counties

By JARED NELSON
THE TIMES LEADER

On Jan. 24 of this year, state Rep. Toby Herald of Beattyville introduced a bill in the Kentucky House of Representatives, and an ambitious one at that.

House Bill 243, co-sponsored by Rep. Adam Koenig of Erlanger, sought to consolidate Kentucky's 120 counties into 55, in an effort to save money and increase efficiency.

Caldwell would have merged with Hopkins County; Lyon with Livingston and Marshall; Crittenden with Union and Webster; and Trigg with Calloway.

Small commissions within each new territory would select potential names for the new county, and potential county seats.

Those options would be put on the ballot in a regular election, to allow the public to decide each county's new name and seat.

The bill was sent to the House committee on local government Jan. 26 and did not advance further.

"Herald's bill tries to do too much, too fast, in attempting to slash the number of counties to 55," The Kentucky Standard in Bardstown wrote in a Feb. 12 editorial. "But reducing the number of counties by a quarter to a third to the 80-90 neighborhood is doable.

"Kentucky is a more modern state than even 50 years ago, and we should get over our petty provincialism and start acting like it, rather than continuing to fund a system riddled with corruption and inefficiencies."

Kentucky Supreme Court Deputy Chief Justice Lisabeth Tabor Hughes, a Princeton native, voiced similar ideas last weekend during a meeting of the local DAR chapter.

Only a few states have 100 or more counties. Texas dominates with 254, but Texas is huge — more than six times the size of Kentucky by area.

Georgia and Virginia are next, with 159 and 133 counties (including 38 independent cities) respectively. Then comes Kentucky with 120, followed by Missouri with 115 (including one independent city), Kansas with 105, Illinois with 102, and North Carolina with an even 100.

Some bigger states have fewer than 20 — Nevada with 17 and Arizona with 15, for example.

The idea of a merger seems daunting at first blush, and may provoke negative feelings in some. After all, it would mean giving up (for us) an identity we've had for more than two centuries.

It would raise multiple questions — How would we be represented politically? How far would we have to travel to tend to our affairs?

But it would also, I think, be an interesting opportunity to address issues of dwindling state and federal resources and declining populations.

As far as identity — you tell me. I take pride in being my parents' son and my brothers' brother, the nephew of my uncles and aunts, the cousin of my cousins and the friend of my friends. And I'm glad I came from where I did, but none of that pride will go away if the county I call home has a new name. I remain enamored with the entire region, from the lakes to the west to the coalfields to the east, from the Ohio River valley to the north to the fields and forests to the south. I have friends in every direction, and I would be equally proud to call them fellow _____ Countians.

Kentucky only had three counties when it was carved out of Virginia in 1780. We all came from somewhere, and the future will unfold whether we're around or not. It may not be time yet to take action to streamline our counties' borders, but it's definitely time to consider the idea and plan accordingly.

Letter to the Editor: There are resources for veterans

My name is Vaughda Wooten (First Sergeant, U.S. Army Retired) and I am the director of the Kentucky Veterans Cemetery South East in Hyden.

The cemetery provides secure, dignified interment to veterans and their families who live within a 75-mile radius.

On behalf of the Kentucky Department of Veterans Affairs, which operates the cemetery, I would like to let all Veterans and their families know the services Kentucky Veterans Cemetery South East offers.

The requirements for interment are as follows:

- Served honorably in any branch of military service, including the army, air force, navy, marines or coast guard.

- Have ties to Kentucky, either by birth, entering service from Kentucky or retiring in Kentucky.

- Submit a copy of the veteran's DD 214 with the pre-application for interment. We can help you get a copy of your DD 214 if you do not have it.

Some members of the National Guard or reserve units may qualify for interment.

If the veteran meets the requirements above, I will approve the request. Dependents of the veteran, including spouse and minor children, are automatically eligible for interment with the veteran.

The interment of veterans is free, but there is a $500 charge for interring each dependent at the cemetery.

We have double-depth vaults that accommodate both a veteran and spouse in caskets. We have in-ground interment of cremated remains with a headstone, Columbarium Wall niches and a Scattering Garden. Both in-ground and Columbarium wall niches accommodate two urns.

For more information, you can call us at, (606) 672-2168 or, 606-672-2750 during regular hours, Monday – Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. We look forward to hearing from you.

You can also find more information on the KDVA website, veterans.ky.gov. Click on cemeteries in the top ribbon, then in the drop-down menu click on Kentucky Veterans Cemetery South East.

Voter registration deadline next week

A FLOYD CHRONICLE AND TIMES STAFF REPORT

Floyd County residents who want to exercise their right to choose their elected officials have only a few days left to register to vote in the upcoming election.

The last day for residents to register to vote in the general election is Tuesday, Oct. 9. The registration books will be closed and no additional voter registrations will be filed after that time.

The Kentucky Board of Elections reported last month that there are 30,160 voters registered to vote in the general election in Floyd County. According to those reports, only 94 registered voters have been added to the county's list since May, when the primary election was held.

Voter turnout in Floyd County was only 37.33 percent in May, as 11,294 of 30,254 registered voters cast ballots in that election.

Floyd County voters will have a lot of choices to make on Nov. 6, with numerous county and state offices on the ballot.

On the state level, races for US representative, state representative and the Court of Appeals are contested this year, and the list of candidates for local races is quite long. There are three people seeking the county judge-executive seat, two people seeking the jailer's position, two each in District 1 for magistrate and constable seats and in District 1 and District 2 county school board seats, as well as a slew of candidates for city races.

The Martin City Council is the only city government race that does not have opposition. There are 13 candidates who signed up to run for the eight-person Prestonsburg City Council, two people seeking that city's mayoral set, and five people seeking four seats in Allen and Wheelwright. There is, however, only three people seeking four seats on the Wayland City Commission.

Several local races are unopposed at this time, but write-in candidates can file paperwork to seek election up until Oct. 26.

The candidate list of candidates for city and county offices in Floyd County include the following:

Floyd County Judge-Executive

Where do our demons hide?

By JAMIE BECKETT
CHRONICLE & TIMES

The group Imagine Dragons had a hit song titled "Demons" on their debut album. Horrible title, I know, but it's a song that I like for whatever reason. I landed on the song one night when I was trying to find something to listen to. I repeated it several times, singing along. After a couple of times, I was thinking about the song's lyrics. It's actually kind of sad. The writer is warning another person not to get too close because of the demons hiding inside of him.

In a metaphorical sense, I think we all have demons inside. From a literal point of view, those who have been filled by the Holy Spirit do not and cannot possess demons. But sometimes we fall short. We don't live up to expectations, whether it be our own or someone else's. And sometimes we hold our failures inside, which, metaphorically speaking, can be our demon. These failures may have just occurred or could have been mistakes we made in the past. We sometimes tend to bury them to hide them from others. However, despite how hard we try to conceal them, God sees all and knows all. We can't hide anything from Him.

The feeling of hopelessness echoes throughout the lyrics of the song. Some of the following are lines from the song: "Don't wanna let you down, but I am hell bound." "No matter what we breed, we still are made of greed. This is my kingdom come." "They say it's what you make, I say it's up to fate."

The writer sounds defeated, losing the battle against his own demon. His specific battle is not revealed. But he has succumbed to the frame of mind that despite whatever he tries to do, he will fail. "It's up to fate," the songwriter says, implying that he has no choice in the final outcome of it all. He defines his destiny as hell.

The songwriter is wrong. It's not all up to fate. In actuality, it's up

Whether or not we end up in hell is our choice. We have the ability to control that final outcome.

to us. We are the ones that have a choice. We are not always able to control things that happen in life. There are many things out of our hands such as accidents, sickness, death, etc. However, whether or not we end up in hell is our choice. We have the ability to control that final outcome.

Hell is beyond anything my brain can imagine. Revelations calls it a "lake of fire" (20:14-15). It is a place of constant torment (Luke 15:27) with eternal fire (Matthew 25:41). Jesus describes it as a "blazing furnace, where there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth (Matthew 13:42)." Even demons begged Jesus not to send them to hell (Luke 8:31). I can't comprehend the horror of it.

We can avoid hell on our own accord by turning away from sin. We can choose Jesus instead. The way is simple. We must hear the Word (Romans 10:17), believe (Acts 16:31), repent (Acts 17:30) and confess that Jesus is the Christ, the son of the living God (Acts 8:37). Then be immersed for the forgiveness of sins (Acts 2:38) and live faithfully until death (Acts 14:22).

Situations in life may seem bleak and dark. They may be difficult and seemingly unbearable. But there is still hope out there, should we seek it. The songwriter realizes that too, as he says, "Your eyes they shine so bright, I wanna save that light. I can't escape this now, unless you show me how." Jesus is the light. He is the Way. He is our escape from the torment of hell. It's not fate. It's a choice — our choice.

Seeking refuge

According to the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, there were more than 22 million refugees in 2016, the highest number on record. 2017 may turn out to be even worse: according to the Internal Displacement Monitoring Center, some 12 million people fled from violence and almost 19 million were displaced by catastrophic weather events or natural disasters in 2017 but managed to stay in their own countries. How should decent people respond to these unfortunate people seeking refuge? As individuals, there are limits to what we can do, but shouldn't a civilized society try to help them? As a large and wealthy country, we can and probably should do more to help the relatively small number of refugees at our borders, whereas the huge number of refugees coming from the Mid-East and from Africa present an overwhelming problem in Europe. Despite what politicians and demagogues may say about this issue, the Bible is clear on this issue. There are numerous passages that tell us to care for and show kindness to the refugee or foreigner: Leviticus 19:9-10 and 19:33-34, Deuteronomy 10:18-19, Exodus 23:9 and Malachi 3:5 are just a few of many verses that tell us to help the foreigner and the poor and not to oppress them, reminding us that we were all once foreigners ourselves.

"When a foreigner resides among you in your land, do not mistreat them. The foreigner residing among you must be treated as your native-born. Love them as yourself, for you were foreigners in Egypt. I am the Lord your God."
—Leviticus 19:33-34 NIV

The woman got away from Conn and traveled to her parent's house and they took her to the hospital for treatment, Martin reported.

Conn entered a not guilty plea to the charges during arraignment on Oct. 4. That hearing had been postponed from the day prior because Conn was allegedly "not sober" enough to participate.

District Judge Jimmy Marcum scheduled a preliminary hearing in the case for Oct. 9.

He set Conn's bond at $100,000 cash. If Conn does make bond and gets out of jail, Marcum ordered him to stay 2,000 feet away from the alleged victim.

AppalReD hosts pro bono recognition events

SPECIAL TO THE FLOYD CHRONICLE AND TIMES

AppalReD Legal Aid and its pro bono program, also known as Volunteer Lawyers for Appalachian Kentucky, are hosting two luncheons this month, one in Somerset and one in Prestonsburg, to recognize the legal work done by private attorneys throughout its service area on behalf of the area's low-income individuals and families.

The events are part of a national pro bono recognition effort conducted annually in October.

The Somerset event will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 10, beginning at noon, at the Center for Rural Development.

The luncheon in Prestonsburg will be held on Friday, Oct. 12, also at noon, at the Wilkinson Stumbo Convention Center.

Glenda Harrison, executive director of Kentucky's Access to Justice Commission, will speak at both events about the work of the Commission.

Special recognition will be given to Kentucky Supreme Court Justices Daniel J. Venters, in Somerset and Samuel T. Wright III in Prestonsburg, for their advocacy on behalf of AppalReD and Kentucky's three other legal aid programs in their efforts to protect the legal rights of those underrepresented in civil cases throughout the Commonwealth.

Distinguished Service Awards, for contributions reflecting an "above and beyond" level of commitment to AppalReD's clients, will be given to Marsha Taylor and Jill Haste in Somerset and to Katherine Adams in Prestonsburg.

Private attorneys who have represented clients in family, consumer and other cases since January of 2017 will receive Certificates of Recognition in appreciation of their efforts.

AppalReD will also be presenting "Nick of Time" awards to those volunteer attorneys who have responded to a nationwide call for representation of victims facing economic hardship due to the extensive Social Security fraud perpetrated by former attorney Eric C. Conn.

AppalReD is a non-profit organization that provides civil legal assistance to families and individuals in poverty in 37 eastern and south central Kentucky counties. It is the only organization in eastern and south central Kentucky that provides legal services free of charge. Clients turn to AppalReD for help with civil legal problems that threaten their physical and economic well-being. Those assisted include the elderly, children, victims of domestic violence, and other vulnerable groups.

Harvest in the Park is Tuesday

Event to feature "Spooky Pooch" contest, costume contest for kids

A FLOYD CHRONICLE AND TIMES STAFF REPORT

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers invites the public to its first-ever Harvest in the Park event next week.

The Corps is teaming up with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife and several local organizations and businesses to host Harvest in Park on Tuesday, Oct. 9, from 5:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the Dewey Lake Downstream Recreational Area.

Jennifer Reed Lewis of the Corps' office at Dewey Lake previously reported that officials have been planning this event since July.

They wanted to host a free event with activities for children, she said, and they hope to make it an annual event.

Local businesses and organizations have been invited to set up booths and give away free candy and toys to children. Activities are planned for children, and the Corps is also hosting costume contests.

Harvest in the Park will feature a costume contest with prizes for the male and female winners of three age groups (ages birth to three; four to seven and eight to 13), and the Corps' mascot, Bobber the Water Safety Dog, is also sponsoring the first-ever "Spooky Pooch" costume contest.

Prizes will be awarded to the first 50 dogs that enter that contest, Lewis said, and the winner will also earn a prize.

The Floyd County Fiscal Court, Walmart and H&R Block have donated bicycles that will be given away to the children's costume contest winners.

For more information, call Lewis at, (606) 886-6709, ext. 6700.

Independent counsel to investigate allegations against Grimes

By DANIEL DESROCHERS LEXINGTON HERALD-LEADER

Attorney General Andy Beshear appointed an independent counsel to examine allegations against Secretary of State Alison Lundergan Grimes, including that her office misused voter data and potentially violated Kentucky's personnel laws.

In a letter to Garrard County Attorney Mark Metcalf, Beshear's office appointed the Garrard County Attorney to represent the Commonwealth in examining allegations made by Jared Dearing, the executive director of the Kentucky State Board of Elections this August.

"As we discussed, the Office of the Attorney General has not reached any conclusions on any allegation in this matter, and your appointment should in no way suggest there are or are not actionable allegations," the letter from assistant deputy attorney general Michael Wright says.

Among those allegations are claims that Grimes' staff used the voter registration database to look up the party affiliation of merit staffers while they were applying for a job at the state board of elections and to look up the party affiliations of current state board of elections staff.

Dearing also accused Grimes of creating a hostile work environment, telling him to slow-walk a process ordered by the Department of Justice and overstepping her constitutional authority as chief elections officer and chairwoman of the State Board of Elections.

The investigation will focus on Dearing's letter to the State Board of Elections, the Executive Branch Ethics Commission and the Kentucky Personnel Board.

The Executive Branch Ethics Commission has already released an advisory opinion and the Personnel Board has opened an investigation into Dearing's allegations.

"Given the nature of the allegations and to ensure a fair process for everyone, we appointed an independent counsel who is reviewing the letter and its contents," said Deputy Attorney General J. Michael Brown.

Grimes has denied all of Dearing's allegations.

In a statement, Bradford Queen, Grimes' communications director said the Secretary of State's Office will cooperate with the investigation.

"This is no surprise, given the request made and the Ethics Commission's opinion on how General Beshear should do his job, saying he should not investigate potential political opponents," Queen said.

"The State Board of Elections and the Secretary of State's office will be fully cooperative as we continue to work with our county boards of elections toward another successful election in November."

Beshear has not investigated a fellow constitutional officer during his term as Attorney General. He and Grimes are Kentucky's only two Democratic constitutional officers.

Beshear had previously explored the possibility of investigating Republican Gov. Matt Bevin amid a controversy over whether Bevin purchased a house from one of his friends at below market value, but backed off after received an advisory opinion from the Executive Branch Ethics Commission that he couldn't run for governor if he opened the investigation.

Beshear has already launched his 2019 campaign for governor, and Grimes has indicated that she is interested in running for the position as well.

By appointing an outside attorney, Beshear is potentially avoiding an ethics opinion that he's violating the state's ethics code by investigating a political rival.

Grimes has denounced the allegations and the subsequent investigations into her activity as Secretary of State as political.

In her response to the Kentucky Personnel Board, her office noted that most of the board is appointed by Bevin. She did the same with the Executive Branch Ethics Commission.

"We're not going to participate in the partisan politics, nor do we look at the role of chief elections official and chair of this board as one that we're going to allow others to be able to make unfounded allegations about partisan politics towards," Grimes said when the allegations first surfaced.

But that declaration has been complicated by the fact that Dearing, and now Beshear, are both Democrats.

Metcalf, the Garrard County Attorney, is a Republican.

Dearing's allegations have thrust Kentucky's elections board into chaos just months before the Nov. 6 elections.

While members of the board have said they have full confidence in the elections system, the past two meetings of the board have been derailed by Dearing's allegations.

Last week, the Kentucky County Clerks' Association sent out a letter expressing support for Dearing.

It has been a difficult two months for Grimes. Along with the allegations that she overstepped her authority with the State Board of Elections, her father was indicted in September for making illegal campaign contributions to her 2014 Senate campaign.

Nichols brings 'Never Gets Old Tour' to Prestonsburg

SPECIAL TO THE FLOYD
CHRONICLE AND TIMES

The Mountain Arts Center recently announced that country music star Joe Nichols will bring his "Never Gets Old Tour" to Prestonsburg this month.

Nichols will perform at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 18, at the MAC's Willard & Lucy Kinzer Theater.

Since the release of "Man with a Memory" in 2002, Nichols has produced six number one song and eight songs that made the Top 10 list, the MAC reported, including "chart-topping modern classics" like "Brokenheartsville" and "Tequila Makes Her Clothes Fall Off."

Nichols is a four-time Grammy nominee, and has earned national country music awards from the ACM, Billboard, CMA and CMT.

The MAC reported that his "2013 release of "Crickets" kept the success going, sending both "Yeah" and "Sunny and 75" to Platinum-certified Number One status."

He released his ninth studio album, "Never Gets Old" last year.

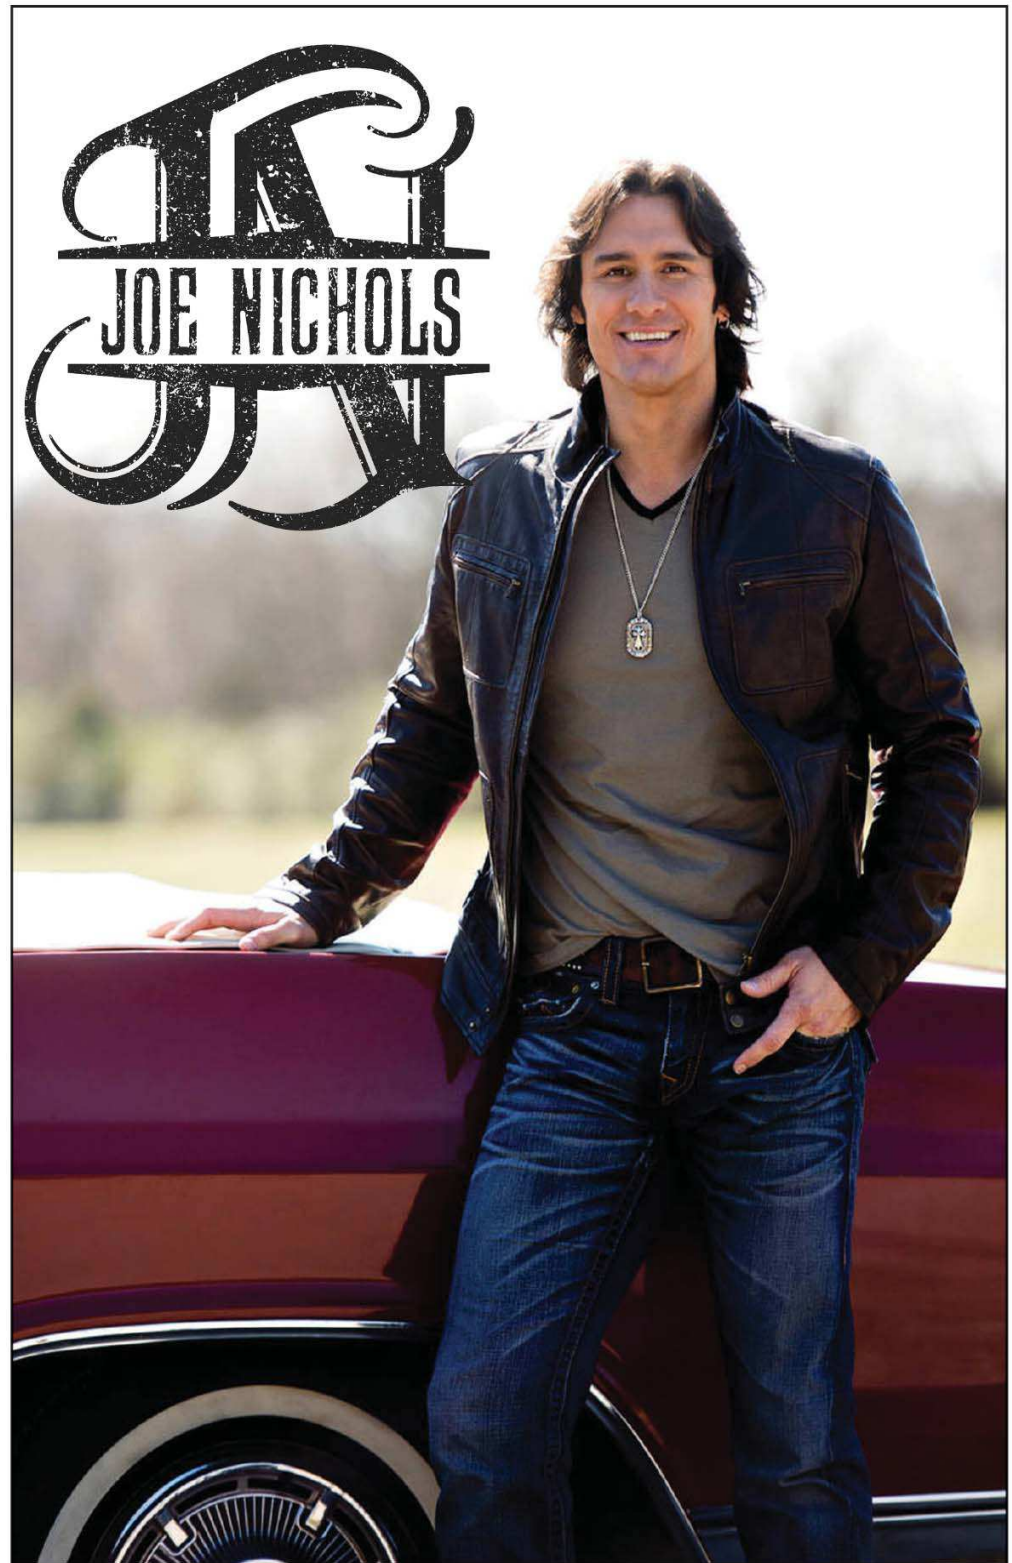

The special guest for the night will be Bowling Green native Kyle Daniel, who will open the evening with an acoustic set.

Daniel, who grew up listening to southern rockers like Gregg Allman, whom he cites as a lifelong musical influence, adds present-day influences such as Chris Stapleton, Jason Isbell and Brent Cobb to his list of inspirations as well.

At the age of 16, Daniel won the Southern Kentucky Blues Society Blues Challenge. A year later, he was a finalist at the International Blues Challenge in Memphis, Tenn. He also earned the title of "Nashville's Best Guitarist" at the 102.9 Buzz Rock Awards.

Tickets for this concert range from $25 to $45 and can be purchased by visiting, macarts.com, by calling, (888) MAC-ARTS, or stopping by the MAC box office.

State approves new graduation requirements

FLOYD CHRONICLE AND TIMES STAFF REPORT

The Kentucky Board of Education voted unanimously Wednesday to approve a proposal that would change minimum high school graduation requirements for students, starting in 2023.

The requirements will be subject to a 30-day public comment period, likely to begin on Nov. 1, and must be finally approved by the legislature.

"Oct. 3, 2018 should be remembered as a day which will change the trajectory for Kentucky's students," Kentucky Board of Education Chairman Hal Heiner said. "Through these requirements we are setting a bar for students that will ensure that all Kentucky public high school graduates will be ready for college or a career immediately upon graduation."

Kentucky Education Commissioner Wayne Lewis spoke to the board preceding the vote about the challenges facing students, providing data from K-PREP, NAEP and ACT test scores.

Citing low math and reading scores in the state, he said, "We have to do something different," said Lewis. "If we cannot ensure that students do not have basic foundational skills in mathematics, the jobs that require those skills in our economy will be closed to them."

Lewis also cited data from the Kentucky Center for Statistics that shows that of the 37,217 students who graduated in the Class of 2010, only 6,851 completed a four-year degree over a seven-year period and are earning an average annual wage of $33,793.

"Rather than celebrate our high school graduation rate, we should hang our heads in shame that what we've given to many students is a certificate of attendance."

A press release from the Kentucky Department of Education said the proposed minimum high school graduation requirements are aligned to the "profile of a graduate" described by post-secondary educators and business and industry leaders that say that high school graduates should be able to clearly communicate, achieve academically, critically think, adapt to change and collaborate.

Under the proposed requirements, a graduate would complete a minimum of 22 credits and demonstrate foundational skills in reading and mathematics on high school assessments. These assessments can be taken more than once and appeals could be made to a local superintendent, the Kentucky Department of Education reported.

To graduate, Kentucky students would also be required to complete the state science and social studies assessments, pass a civics test, receive instruction on financial literacy and demonstrate "essential skills and technology."

The requirements are divided into three components: foundational, personalized, and transition-ready.

Under the foundational and personalized components students must successfully complete:

- English I and II two additional English language arts credits aligned with the student's Individual Learning Plan
 - Algebra I and Geometry and two additional mathematics credits aligned with the student's ILP
 - three credits for social studies (at least 1 aligned with the student's ILP)
 - three credits for science (at least 1 aligned with the student's ILP)
 - one-half credit health
 - one-half credit physical education
 - one credit visual and performing arts
 - six additional credits aligned with the student's ILP
- Students must be able to demonstrate that they are transition ready through academic readiness by:
- Scoring at or above the benchmark score as determined by the Council on Postsecondary Education on the college admissions examination; or
 - Completing six or more hours of KDE-approved dual credit courses and receiving a grade of B or higher in each course; or •Completing two or more Advanced Placement courses and receiving a score of three or higher on each AP assessment; or •Receiving a score of five or higher on two examinations for International Baccalaureate courses; or •Scoring at or above the benchmark on two or more Cambridge Advanced examinations; or •Completing a combination of academic readiness indicators listed above.

Or, students could demonstrate that they are transition ready through career readiness by:

•Scoring at or above the benchmark on industry certifications as approved by the Kentucky Workforce Innovation Board on an annual basis; or

•Scoring at or above the benchmark on Career and Technical Education end-of-program assessments for articulated credit; or •Completing six or more hours of KDE approved CTE dual credit courses, and receiving a grade of B or higher in each course; or

•Completing a KDE-approved or Labor Cabinet-approved apprenticeship; or •Completing a KDE-approved alternate process to verify exceptional work experience.

The Kentucky Department of Education will accept public comments on the regulation through Nov. 30. Written comments on the proposed amendment to 704 KAR 3:305 may be sent to Deanna Durrett, General Counsel, Kentucky Department of Education, 300 Sower Boulevard, 5th Floor, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, or emailed to, regcomments@education.ky.gov.

The board will review and consider any public comments submitted during the 30-day comment period at an upcoming meeting this fall, and the requirements will then move to the Kentucky General Assembly legislative committee for final approval.

Lelsie County at Betsy Layne

By STEVE LEMASTER
 SPORTS EDITOR

Who: Leslie County (2-5) at Betsy Layne (0-6)

Kickoff: Friday, 7:30 p.m.

Location: Lloyd Hamilton Field, Betsy Layne.

Coaches: Leslie County, Eddie Melton; Betsy Layne, Scotty McCoy.

Notes: The Betsy Layne Bobcats are set to host the Leslie County Eagles in a Class 2A District 8 football game. Leslie County will carry a two-game win streak into Betsy Layne for the district matchup on Friday night.

The Eagles, under the direction of veteran head coach Eddie Melton, have claimed back-to-back district wins over East Ridge and Prestonsburg. Leslie County is 2-5 overall and 2-0 in Class 2A District 8.

Through the first seven games in the 2018 high school football season, opponents have outscored the Eagles 222-145. But Leslie County has fared much better both offensively and defensively in its last two games.

Zack Parker, Taten Smith and Dylan Adams lead the Eagles. Parker has completed 55 passes for 940 yards and six TDs while throwing six interceptions in 111 aerial attempts. Leading Leslie County on the ground, Smith has rushed 86 times for 715 yards and nine TDs.

Pacing the Eagles in the receiving column, Adams has reeled in 17 receptions for 370 yards and four TDs.

Betsy Layne is 0-6 overall and 0-2 in the district. The Bobcats have dropped games to Sheldon Clark, Floyd Central, East Carter, Magoffin County, Shelby Valley and East Ridge.

The Bobcats have struggled thus far in the 2018 season. In six games, opponents have outscored Betsy Layne 258-44.

Chase Mims, a freshman, took over as Betsy Layne's starting quarterback in the preseason and continues to show improvement in his first varsity season. Running back Austin Tackett leads the Bobcats offensively. Tackett has emerged as Betsy Layne's leading rusher.

Currently, Leslie County and Shelby Valley are vying for the top spot in Class 2A District 8.

Kickoff for the Leslie County-Betsy Layne football game is set for 7:30 p.m.

Who 2 Watch: For Betsy Layne, sophomore running back Austin Tackett.

One of the area's most underrated young high school football players, Tackett leads Betsy Layne in rushing. Through Betsy Layne's first five games, Tackett had rushed 42 times for 203 yards.

For Leslie County, sophomore quarterback Zack Parker.

Parker is closing in on the 1,000-yard passing mark in his first season as Leslie County's starting quarterback. He has helped to lead Leslie County to back-to-back Class 2A District 8 wins over East Ridge and Prestonsburg.

Sheldon Clark at Floyd Central

By STEVE LEMASTER
 SPORTS EDITOR

Who: Sheldon Clark (2-5) at Floyd Central (4-3)

Kickoff: Friday, 7:30 p.m.

Location: Floyd Central Field, Eastern

Coaches: Sheldon Clark, Josh Muncy. Floyd Central, Shawn Hager.

Notes: The Floyd Central Jaguars will be looking to halt a two-game losing skid when the Sheldon Clark Cardinals visit for a Class 3A District 6 football game on Friday night.

Floyd Central has dropped back-to-back games to district rivals Pike Central and Belfry. The Jaguars are 4-3 overall and 0-2 in the district. Floyd Central has notched wins over Harlan, Betsy Layne, Breathitt County and Prestonsburg. In addition to its two district losses, Floyd Central dropped a non-district game to Lynn Camp earlier in the season.

Through seven games, Floyd Central has outscored opponents 231-170.

Senior running back Josh Whitaker continues to lead the Jaguars. Seven games into the 2018 high school football season, Whitaker has rushed 107 times for 701 yards and nine TDs.

Sophomore quarterback Caleb Hager leads Floyd Central through the air. Hager has completed 26 of 85 passes for 673 yards and nine TDs while throwing four interceptions.

Ethan Smith-Mills paces Floyd Central in the receiving column.

Smith-Mills has hauled in 15 receptions for 350 yards and five TDs.

In only four games, Brady Conn has hauled in six receptions for 125 yards and two TDs for the Jaguars.

Defensively for Floyd Central, Brady Jones has posted a team-high 59 tackles.

Sheldon Clark is 2-5 overall and 0-2 in the district. The Cardinals have posted wins over Betsy Layne and East Ridge. Sheldon Clark has dropped games to Knott County Central, Phelps, Mt. View (W.Va.), Belfry and Lawrence County. Through seven games, opponents have outscored the Cardinals 197-112.

Senior quarterback Brandon Arledge has settled in and helps to lead the Cardinals. Junior Drake Muncy has emerged as Arledge's top target.

Kickoff for the Sheldon Clark-Floyd Central game is set for 7:30 p.m.

Who 2 Watch: For Floyd Central, senior running back Josh Whitaker.

Among the area's top high school running backs, Whitaker is on pace to rush for 1,000 yards. He'll likely carry a big offensive load for Floyd Central in the home district game versus Sheldon Clark.

For Sheldon Clark, senior quarterback Brandon Arledge.

The Sheldon Clark quarterback will need to turn in his best performance of the season for the visiting team to win in Eastern. Arledge passed for over 100 yards in the Cardinals' loss to longtime rival Lawrence County one week ago.

PRESTONSBURG — Prestonsburg claimed another shutout win on Tuesday, blanking visiting Paintsville 3-0 in a 57th District boys' soccer match at StoneCrest.

With the win, Prestonsburg improved to 13-1-2 overall and 6-0 in the 57th District.

Paintsville slipped to 4-9-1 overall and 3-3 in the district with the loss.

Prestonsburg, under the direction of first-year head coach Brad Burchett, posted its eighth shutout in the 2018 boys' high school soccer season. The reigning 15th Region All "A" Classic champion, Prestonsburg fended off an upset bid from visiting district counterpart Paintsville.

A pair of players accounted for Prestonsburg's three goals.

Matt Burchett scored two goals and dished out one assist to lead Prestonsburg to the district win.

Joining Matt Burchett in the Prestonsburg scoring column, Grant Justice netted one goal for the Blackcats.

The Blackcats excelled offensively and defensively. Goalkeeper Jacob Martin led the Prestonsburg defensive effort, holding district rival Paintsville scoreless.

Prestonsburg was hosting 14th Region member Letcher Central in a boys/girls soccer doubleheader on Thursday. Results from the Prestonsburg-Letcher County Central boys' and girls' soccer matches were unavailable at press time.

Lady Blackcats shut out Paintsville, 8-0

By STEVE LEMASTER
SPORTS WRITER

PRESTONSBURG — Prestonsburg notched a win on Senior Night on Tuesday, shutting out visiting Paintsville 8-0 in a 57th District girls' soccer match at StoneCrest.

With the win, Prestonsburg improved to 12-6-1 overall and 4-2 in the 57th District.

Paintsville slipped to 2-10-1 overall and 1-5 in the district with the loss.

"It was a great night," said Prestonsburg coach Paul Burchett. "We had a big crowd for Senior Night and both the boys and girls were able to get wins against a rival school. My six seniors, Makayla Slone, Haley Shepherd, Sierra Crawford, Jillian Kidd, Skyler Hackworth, and Arrington Wright, all played well and contributed to the win. That was great to see. They're a great group of girls that have accomplished so much over the last four years. I'm excited to see what the future holds for each of them and we will definitely miss them next year."

The Lady Blackcats moved ahead early and never faltered. Makayla Ousley scored two goals and distributed three assists to lead Prestonsburg to the victory.

Accompanying Ousley in the Prestonsburg scoring column, Elizabeth Burchett, Chloe Collins, Jillian Kidd, Lauren Patton, Makayla Slone and Annabelle Trusty netted one goal apiece.

Collins, Kidd and Arrington Wright chipped in one assist apiece for the Lady Blackcats.

Goalkeeper Chelsea Samons led the Lady Blackcats' defensive effort, recording a shutout.

Both Prestonsburg and Paintsville are poised to compete in the 57th District Girls' Soccer Tournament. High school soccer teams throughout the state will begin competing in district tournaments in less than one week.

So it is not what we are used to in a road course and it is not exactly what we expect from an oval but we found out on Sunday at Charlotte Motor Speedway that the track's new Roval more than lived up to its much hyped inaugural race. The unique layout of the track made for a great race but by it being the elimination race of the Round of 16, we found out how important it was to pass just one more car because of the one point that would be awarded that could mean the difference between transferring to the Round of 12 or being eliminated.

Brad Keselowski and Kyle Busch were the only drivers who had locked up one of the twelve transfer spots because of wins and Martin Truex Jr. was locked in after Richmond with his points. Those three were joined by Kevin Harvick once the race started because as all he had to do was take the green flag to start the race and his point total guaranteed him his spot. The rest of the drivers did not have that luxury even though some did enter with somewhat of a lead but on this day, the Roval would have the final say as it proved to be more than a formable foe for the rest of the field.

When the white flag waved to begin the final lap, Martin Truex Jr. was in the lead and he had a rear view mirror full of Jimmie Johnson who at this point had not locked down his playoff future. When they exited the infield portion of the track for the last time, the two were bumper to bumper as they headed on to the oval portion and the last trip through the chicane when Johnson's car began to slide and in the process knocked both drivers out of contention for the win but opened the door for Ryan Blaney to capture his first win of the season and advance into the next round.

The contact between Truex and Johnson began a wild series of events that eventually ended with Aric Almirola, Kyle Larson and Johnson tied with identical point totals for the final two spots into the Round of 12. It took several minutes after the race before NASCAR released the official list of drivers transferring as the tape had to be reviewed to make sure Johnson had stopped after he slid through the chicane to keep from being penalized. Johnson had come to the mandatory stop that NASCAR had required but his playoff fate had already been sealed because of his finishes in the first two races of the Round of 16 at Las Vegas and Richmond.

Almirola and Larson were awarded the final two berths into the Round of 12 because of the tiebreaker that NASCAR uses during the playoffs. It is based on the best finish of the current round and Larson was second at Las Vegas and Almirola notched a fifth place finish at Richmond. Johnson's best finish was his Sunday finish when he came home in eighth. Denny Hamlin, Eric Jones and Austin Dillon join Johnson as the four drivers eliminated from the playoff round.

It was a tough ending for the seven-time series champion who instead of just playing it safe and following Truex across the finish line decided to go for the win. That decision will no doubt haunt him and his team as they finish out the remaining seven races with no opportunity to capture a record eighth title.

The twelve drivers that are moving on which also includes Ryan Blaney, Kurt Busch, Joey Logano, Chase Elliott, Clint Bowyer and Alex Bowman will now set their sights on the tracks of Dover, Talladega and Kansas. All three are unique to each other as Dover is a one-mile concrete oval and Kansas' mile and a half track will be the elimination race of the round.

The wild card race of this round will be the restrictor plate track of Talladega with its high banks and high speeds. Drafting will be the order of the day and with it comes plenty of risk as the cars run in large packs and just the slightest slip can cause the so-called big-one that can end a driver's championship hopes very quickly. A good Dover finish this Sunday can go a long way in providing a little cushion heading to Talladega and even Jimmy Johnson can tell you that no cushion is big enough.

Tug Valley Bass Anglers Cave Run Lake Tournament

Presented by VIP Fuels

SPECIAL TO THE FLOYD
CHRONICLE AND TIMES

On September 30th the Tug Valley Bass Anglers held its seventh tournament of the 2018 season on Cave Run Lake.

Cave Run Lake was about 14 feet above normal summer pool and the water was clear on the whole lake with a temperature around 74 degrees.

Weather for the tournament was good with sunny skies, very little wind and an air temperature around 80 degrees.

The fish were caught in the creeks and on the main lake from 5 to 10 foot of water, they seemed to be nowhere in particular because the high water had them scattered.

The main pattern for this tournament was to fish topwater lures early in the day because of the low light conditions. As the sun came out the fish pulled tight to cover, pitching soft plastics, jigs was the deal for the remainder of the day.

New hunting access area open in Floyd County

A FLOYD CHRONICLE AND TIMES STAFF REPORT

FRANKFORT - Working with private landowners is one way the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources expands public hunting opportunities across the state.

Recently, the department reached Hunting Access Area agreements with RH Group and Elk Horn Coal Company, opening more than 35,000 acres in Floyd, Magoffin, Pike, McCreary, Letcher and Knott counties for public hunting this fall.

"We are excited to be able to add more acreage to our Hunting Access Area program," said Steve Beam, Wildlife Division director for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "It is a high priority for the agency to work with landowners in southeast Kentucky to provide access to high quality elk hunting land."

"An added bonus is these areas provide all kinds of other great hunting opportunities as well. Our efforts have paid off as we are now approaching a quarter-million acres open for hunting under Hunting Access and WMA agreements with private landowners. We also have another nearly 100,000 acres open for elk hunting under our voucher program. Our hunters are really utilizing these areas for some high quality hunting experiences."

Elk hunting on the new areas is regulated through the Voucher Co-operator Elk Permit Program. For all other species, the areas are open under statewide regulations.

The tracts comprising RH Group Hunting Access Area cover 15,014 acres in Floyd, Letcher, Magoffin, McCreary and Pike counties.

For elk hunters, RH Group Hunting Access Area falls within the boundaries of the Tug Fork Limited Entry Area (LEA), a portion of the Levisa Fork LEA and the At-Large Area. No bear hunting is allowed on the McCreary County tract of this hunting access area.

Elk Horn Coal Hunting Access Area encompasses 20,138 acres in Floyd, Knott, Letcher and Pike counties.

Both areas are comprised of reclaimed strip mine habitat of grasses and shrubs with timbered ridges and drainages throughout. The habitat should appeal to deer, bear and turkey hunters. Not to be overlooked is the small game opportunity.

"Reclaimed strip mines are excellent for rabbits and we often see decent numbers of quail on them, too," said Joe McDermott, deer and elk program biologist with Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "I think it would be a good spot to hunt turkeys as well as deer, bear and elk. Scouting is obviously going to be key. A lot of times that terrain lends itself to being able to spot and stalk animals."

Hunters on either area should exercise caution if active mining practices are underway and give large trucks the right of way.

Additional information, including detailed maps and area usage guidelines, for RH Group Hunting Access Area, Elk Horn Coal Hunting Access Area and all other Hunting Access Areas is available on Kentucky Fish and Wildlife's website at fw.ky.gov. Click the "Maps" tab on the department's homepage then click on the "Wildlife Management Areas/Public Hunting Areas" link.

Look past any limitations or frustrations you face. Learn from a difficult situation and intervene in a positive and direct manner. What you do to fix or amend matters will lead to a better future. Know what you want and find the best way to reach your destination.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) - Turn today into a new beginning. With a positive attitude, you can enhance your life and improve relations with the people you care about most. Youngsters will motivate you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) - Take on a new look and make unique lifestyle changes. Surround yourself with people and tools that inspire you to be your best.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) - A get-away will do you good. Having a peaceful moment to go over your current situation and consider your next move will be calming and will result in positive action.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) - A change at home or to your friend group will remind you why you like things to stay the same. Be careful what you wish for.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) - No one knows you better than you know yourself. Don't follow someone else's lead when it's not right for you. Follow your intelligence, not your heart, and do what's best for you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) - Make a financial change. Whether it involves how you earn your living, handle your investments or live, it will lead to greater cash flow and less stress.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) - Listen to what's being said, but don't agree to something that isn't right for you. A problem that can affect your position should not be made in haste.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) - Change can stabilize your life if it's done properly. Consider what makes you happy, and spend time more time enjoying life and the company of loved ones.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) - An emotional situation must be handled delicately. Deceit or fancy words and unrealistic promises will not help matters, but a kind gesture made in good faith will.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) - Plan some fun with family or friends. A change will lead to an emotional connection that will help improve your current living situation. Romance is on the rise.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) - Moderation will help you avoid unwanted change. You'll cause distress if you choose anger over compromise when trying to reach an agreement. Think matters through before you make a move.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) - A change is warranted. Taking a trip or hanging out with people who have something interesting to offer will broaden your vision and give you incentive to do things differently.
