CONTRACTS ON 11 SCHOOL BUILDINGS LET; HIRE TEACHERS

Construction Program Soon To Start Costing $11,500; To Favor Floyd Countians

MORE TO BE HIRED

Construction of 11 school buildings and additions to school buildings was let to contract at the meeting of the meeting of the Floyd county board of education here Monday at a total cost of approximately $14,500.

On the 11 building projects there were 69 bidders, only four of whom were successful. E. L. Gearheart, of Water Gap, was awarded contracts for the construction of eight of the buildings and additions. Costliest of the building projects to be undertaken is the stone school building in District 92, which is to be undertaken by W. D. McCown and Ed Gearheart on their bid of $2,399.99.

In addition to building contract awards, the board of education hired 115 teachers for the schools of this county. Hiring of consolidated school faculties was not made.

No consolidated school teachers will be hired until after July 31. County Superintendent Ballard Hunter announced this week. Mr. Hunter said selection of these teachers is being deferred for the reason that there are a number of Floyd county boys and girls now in college who will earn necessary college credits for eligibility to teach, and if hiring is done before they return many of these will be left without teaching positions. It is the intention of the board of education, it was indicated, to give every possible opportunity to these young people who are striving to acquire the training necessary to a successful teaching career. Their qualifications being equal, Floyd county teachers will be given preference, Mr. Hunter said.

Remainder of the rural teachers will be hired at the July meeting of the board. Continued on page 2

MUTINY IN JAIL IS SOON QUELLED

Two Lifers Lead Outbreak Which Is Halted as Jailer Takes Drastic Steps

Mutiny led by two lifers in the Floyd county jail was quickly quelled Wednesday afternoon within a few minutes after Jailer B. L. Sturgill discovered the outbreak.

When Mr. Sturgill returned to the jail from Mud Creek, where he had been called by the illness of his mother, he found prisoners breaking up furniture and fixtures in their cells, and when he sought to enter the parts of the jail where the ringleaders of the outbreak were confined he found the cage doors locked and the keyholes stuffed so as to prevent entrance. He quickly procured a hammer, broke the locks, subdued the recalcitrant prisoners and handcuffed four of those said to have taken part in the mutiny.

When this was written, shortly after the outbreak, the jail was in subdued silence.

'YELLOW DOG' BURIED AT LANGLEY, PROTEST AGAINST FIRM'S ACTION

A demonstration featuring the burial of the "Yellow Dog" in protest against the alleged discharge of between 60 and 65 workmen of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company was staged at Maytown Sunday afternoon, May 26, with members of the International Association of Oil Field, Gas and Refinery Workers of America and the United Mine Workers of America taking part.

The "Yellow Dog," hated symbol of labor contracting with employers to accede to the latter's wishes, consisted of a home-made dog, manufactured from yellow cloth and stuffed. It was buried with appropriate ceremonies near the home of W. M. Ward, field official of the gas company.

It was estimated that 1,200 gas and mine workers paraded through Maytown and took part in the interment, which was preceded by addresses made by members of the two unions. These addresses alleged that members of Local No. 359 of the Oil and Gas union had been discharged because of union activities.

EIGHTEEN LIVING

Former Pastors of Local Church Invited to Attend Homecoming June 16

A study of the records of the Methodist Church here reveals that in 35 years there have been 25 pastors. Of this number 18 are now living. During this same period there have been 12 presiding elders, eight of whom are now living. The shortest term as pastor was held by Rev. E. G. Hamlett who filled in for two months in 1922 when Rev. H. A. Murrill was released by Bishop Darlington. The longest term served by any pastor was served by Rev. J. M. Helm who served the Church most acceptably for four years. No other preacher stayed three years in succession; however, Rev. J. F. Pennybacker, after having been pastor for one year beginning in 1901 returned 20 years later for a two-year term. The same is true of Rev. H. K. Moore (deceased) who was here one year beginning in 1898 and returned in 1917 for two years. Sixteen stayed but one year and five for two years.

All former pastors have been invited to attend the church Homecoming here Sunday, June 16, and a number are expected to be present.

Below is a list of the men who have served the Church:

PROBE OF T. V. A. $270,000 MORE FOR ASKED BY MAY FLOYD FROM TAXES

Congressman from This District to Demand Inquiry on Purchasing Methods

Washington, June 1—House military committee members opposed to legislation to expand the Tennessee Valley Authority's operations, said tonight they were set to demand inquiry into some of the agency's activities, including purchasing methods.

Representative May, Democrat, Kentucky, leading the opposition group against the bill, on which hearings reopen tomorrow, said methods of purchasing blasting powder, buying cattle and the use of airplanes to transport T. V. A. employes required inquiry.

He said that about $100,000 worth of blasting powder had been bought from the du Pont Co., notwithstanding lower bids.

May declared an audit on July 1, 1934, by Controller General McCarl resulted in about $2,000,000 worth of purchases by the T. V. A. being declared not authorized by law.

Alleged expenditure of about $184,000 in salaries for what the Kentuckian described as an "industrial development commission" to persuade industry to move to the power sphere of T. V. A. also should be looked into, May said.

FLOYD BUDGET EVOKES PRAISE

Sewell in Accepting Work of Commission Lauds Last Year's County Record

The Floyd county fiscal budget, as prepared for the ensuing fiscal year by the county budget commission consisting of County Judge W. L. Stumbo, County Attorney Forrest D. Short and Cal Clarke, was approved Friday by Nat B. Sewell, state inspector and examiner, and drew that official's commendation for its soundness and all-round merit.

Mr. Sewell lauded the first Floyd county budget, that of last year, by means of which approximately $70,000 in outstanding indebtedness was paid, in addition to paying current operating expenses and bringing fiscal court warrants up to par. This year's budget is even better as a result of the experience gained by the county budget commission in preparing last year's budget, Mr. Sewell indicated.

With $18,000 in road bonds due this year, the budget set has won two and lost one; aside $24,000 to pay on road

YOUNG GENERATION

Has Appointment With Destiny, Brooker Tells Graduating Class Here

"Yours is a generation that has an appointment with destiny," J. W. Brooker, state architect and supervisor of buildings and grounds, told the graduating class of Prestonsburg high school in the Commencement address delivered Thursday evening, May 30, as a part of the Commencement program furnishing a pleasing climax to the high school days of 43 members.

WATER GAP MINE TIPPLE, SHOP AND POWERHOUSE BURN

Incendiary Origin Suspected in Blaze Sweeping Sandy Valley Coal Co. Property

PROBE IS STARTED

Tipple, powerhouse and shophouse of the Sandy Valley Coal Company at Water Gap were destroyed by fire believed to have been of incendiary origin at 12:30 o'clock Thursday morning at an estimated loss of $35,000.

J. R. Hurt, company official and superintendent of the mines, said Thursday morning that the property was "unquestionably set afire." Officials of the company immediately began an investigation of the blaze.

When the fire was discovered the top of the tipple was collapsing as the flames raged through the tipple, largely constructed of pine. The shophouse and powerhouse, within a few yards of the tipple, quickly caught and could not be saved. All machinery in the destroyed structures was ruined.

Elizabethian Prologue To Be Picturesque Part of Festival

Special to The Times

Ashland, Ky., June 30—One of the outstanding features of the American Folk Song Festival is the Elizabethan prologue in which, aside from the speaker of the prologue in rich, velvet Elizabethan costume, appear the Ladies in Waiting chosen from Kentucky's most beautiful girls.

The Ladies in Waiting are attractively costumed in full-skirted frocks of black with tight bodice and ruff of white at throat and sleeve. They form a Greek chorus in a great semi-circle upon the picturesque rustic stage while the prologue is given, setting forth the origin of the mountain minstrels and their song minstrelsy handed down by the early Anglo-Saxons from the days of good Queen Bess. The Ladies in Waiting from Floyd and Pike counties are: Shirley May, Virginia Staton, who will appear for the first time this year in the American Folk Song Festival; also Evelyn Salisbury and Mary Elizabeth Powers, who participated last year.

Edith Fitzpatrick James, of Prestonsburg, will take part in the Festival program and will wear a beautiful costume of rich purple lindsy-woolsey which was woven by Mrs. Mary Pigma, of Knott county. Mrs. James will sing the Wassail song handed down in her own family for generations. Her voice has charmed Festival audiences because of its clear beauty. Tom James and Green Maggard, John Hyden and Tex Vanderpool will sing a hymn or two while Tex will "line" it. An added singer on this year's program will be Jennie Staton, of Pike county, who will also bring for the art exhibit an heirloom in the form of a lindsy-woolsey dress which was worn by an ancestor long ago.

Floyd county will be represented in the Court of Honor in the person of Mrs. Walter Scott Harkins, Sr., who with Governor Laffoon and Mrs. Laffoon will occupy seats in the Court of Honor. John Calvin Hopkins II and Fred Francis and Walter Scott Harkins III, together with R. W. Robinson, grandson of Kentucky's Governor, will act as escort of honor to the Governor and the other dignitaries occupying the Court of Honor.

Mrs. Reba Mayo and her exquisite art exhibit has already attracted wide press comment and the visitors have a great treat in store in viewing this splendid work of Mrs. Mayo. Assisting Mrs. Mayo with the art exhibit will be Miss Tot Allen, of Prestonsburg.

Many persons coming from a distance in the Kentucky mountains will bring basket dinner and enjoy the morning hours in the cool shaded woodland and participate in the hymn singing led by several of the older citizens of Floyd and Rowan counties.

indebtedness. For the payment of outstanding warrants, $18,100 were set aside.

The fund derived from the sales tax is, for the present, furnishing a problem. This fund cannot be expended on anything but bonded or funded road or bridge indebtedness. County officials are anxious to retire outstanding road bonds with this money, but these bonds, not due for several years yet, cannot be retired except at a premium. So for the present, funds derived from this source will be deposited in a sinking fund against the day when it can be expended for the purpose provided by law.

As a result of the budget, Floyd county fiscal court warrants are now worth their face value instead of selling at a discount of 50 per cent or more, as was the case two years ago.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

This Company is doing its part to bring about recovery. Our rates and service provide an incentive for industrial development. During the depression we have carried out a sustained and comprehensive construction program. Unless there should be an unwarranted interference in our business by the government, we anticipate a continuation of these policies and practices.

For years we have promoted liberal merchandising policies and have cooperated with electrical dealers so that they would enjoy equal sales advantages. Today the customer on our lines may purchase an electric range or water heater through us or through a dealer and pay for it in small installments over a period of four years. Our finance charge is about one-half of the Government's charge on appliances which it finances.

The cost of current to operate appliances is low. The customer with a fully electrified home may secure all of his electrical requirements at an average cost of about 2½ cents a kilowatt-hour.

Strike a blow for recovery by full electrification of your home.

By doing so you will benefit by securing your electricity at wholesale rates and at the same time, through the purchase of equipment, you will put men to work.

ATHLETE'S FOOT!

Emerald Oil seldom fails to clear up every symptom of this distressing infection in two weeks' time, so use it freely. It is antiseptic—searches out the infection, penetrating into every pore, crack or wrinkle where it attempts to hide. Use the oil every night and morning—it isn't greasy and does not stain.

If one bottle doesn't clear up your infection, you can have your money back. H. E. Hughes and Company sells lots of it.

Joe E. Dyer returned last week from Richmond, Ky., where he has been a student at the Eastern State Normal and Teachers' College. He was accompanied home by Bruce Sears, of Somerset, Ky., also a student at Eastern.

VETERANS' PREFERENCE RULE FURTHER DEFINED

A ruling issued from Washington recently decrees that the veterans' preference rule applies only to those who have served the United States in wars between the dates given below:

Spanish-American — April 12, 1898 to August 13, 1898. Boxers' Revolution — June 20, 1900 to May 13, 1901.

Philippine Insurrection — August 13, 1898 to July 5, 1902. World War — April 6, 1917 to November 11, 1918.

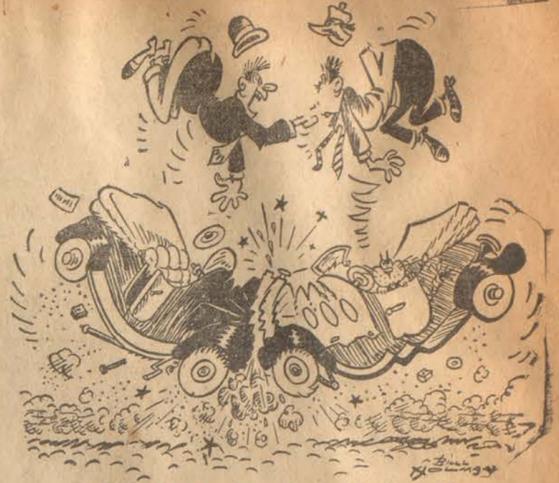

In addition to this, a recent order entitles veterans who served in the White Russian and Siberian expedition enlisting between November 11, 1918 to April 1, 1920.

All veterans serving in wars between these dates are entitled to preference on P. W. A. work in the 11th N. R. S. district in the counties of Breathitt, Floyd, Johnson, Knott, Leslie, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin, Perry, Pike and Wolfe, according to W. R. Paterman, district re-employment manager.

Students who served in student training camps during the World War are not given preference.

Communications should be addressed either to W. A. Paterman, district manager, or E. A. Ratliff, Veterans' representative, 11th district office, National Re-Employment Service, Pikeville, Ky.

SOME AUTO SUGGESTIONS

Idiot!—I had the right of way and you know it!

Whatcha staring at—can't a guy stop and fix his car?

Why don'tcha look where you're going!

Bill Holman, the widely-known cartoonist, has given some suggestions for the prevention of automobile accidents. His advice, appearing in a new booklet on the traffic problem published by the Travelers Insurance Company, is as follows: Check the wheel—make sure that a loose nut isn't holding it. Be sure the Miss in the motor is sitting beside you. Don't race trains to crossings. If it's a tie you lose.

CHANGES URGED IN BANKING BILL

Business Men and Bankers Agree in Objecting to Political Control Over Banks.

AMENDMENTS ARE SUGGESTED

Political Domination of Federal Reserve Board Declared to Be Undesirable for Depositors as Well as Their Banks.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Business men and bankers alike who have appeared before committees of Congress to present views regarding the Banking Act of 1935 have found common cause for criticism in those provisions which they agree would create the means for undesirable political control over the Federal Reserve System and thereby over individual banks throughout the United States. They have made the point that this undesirable condition would affect depositors in banks even more than the banks themselves.

This view has been stressed in criticisms by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and the question of partisan control over banking was the central theme of a statement presented by R. S. Hecht, President of the American Bankers Association, who appeared before the Senate Sub-Committee on Banking and Currency hearings here. Mr. Hecht declared that his organization is actuated by a desire to be helpful to Congress "in enacting effective and workable banking legislation in the interests of all our people." He said in part:

"If it is finally decided that it is necessary to carry this legislation through at this session, we are strongly of the opinion that special care should be taken to keep our credit control and banking mechanism free from any sort of political considerations.

"In making this statement I do not wish to appear to question the propriety of the Government's exerting a certain amount of control over banking operations so far as they affect the nation's currency and general monetary policy. Nor do we object to broad powers of supervision over the operation of our banking institutions because of the semi-public responsibilities they carry. But when it comes to such matters as the granting of credit and the making of investments by our banks, these are questions of business policies that surely should not be under the sole control of a board so constituted as to be dependent upon partisan or political considerations under any administration.

The Basis of Sound Credit

"The real conditions that create the necessity for the expansion or contraction of credit arise from the needs of agriculture, industry and trade themselves, wholly independent of the administrative policies of the party which happens to be in power. We feel that the financial requirements of the nation's business constitute a continuing economic process that is not related to political changes. The fundamental principles of sound credit do not vary with variations in public thought. All experience teaches that the quality of credit is sound only so long as it is purely on the requirements of sound business. It is not sound when any other considerations or motives enter into its composition.

"The Banking Act would centralize in the Federal Reserve Board at Washington means aimed to control the supply of money in the country, which term includes the sum total of currency in circulation and demand deposits in the banks which become current through checks. The powers which it is proposed to give the Board are intended to enable it to influence the quantity of this deposit money through open market operations, the discount rate and reserve requirements.

The Need for Independence

"That is the reason why we are so strongly in favor of making the Federal Reserve Board a body of such independence and prestige that it would be definitely removed from all political thought, influence and dictation. Its members should be free to study and to act in accordance with the needs and conditions of agriculture, industry and trade. The policies of the board should have no reference to the politics or the changes in politics of the national administration.

"In our studies of the bank bill, we have been strongly impressed with the fact that it would set up a situation under which the Federal Reserve Board and its policies might be subject to control from the political administration of the country. In saying this I do not charge that it is the intention of the present administration to bring about any undue control over the nation's banking mechanism. The point is that if the bill passed as now proposed, opportunity for control would be there for the use of the present or whatever future administration might be in power.

"Our criticisms of the bill are not aimed, therefore, at the motives of the present administration, but they are wholly impersonal and non-political and are aimed entirely at the basic principles involved."

Desirable Changes Proposed

Careful study by his organization, Mr. Hecht said, had resulted in a number of suggestions for constructive revisions in the bill which he submitted to Congress. On the other hand, he declared that many of the changes proposed by the act in existing laws "are of a constructive nature and should have the support of bankers. If the method of appointment and the tenure of office of the members of the Federal Reserve Board, in whose hands it is planned to concentrate greater power than ever before, could be so altered as to insure, as far as possible, the absolute independence of the Board from partisan or political considerations," He added:

Supreme Court of Banking

"Since the passage of the Federal Reserve Act over 20 years ago, opinion in Congress and among bankers has been striving towards the ideal of making the Federal Reserve Board a body of such independence and prestige that it might be described as the Supreme Court of Finance and Banking. We believe there is greater need now than ever before for realizing this ideal."

R. S. HECHT

Mr. Hecht emphasized that it is "the genuine desire of the banking fraternity to be helpful and constructive in making suggestions in connection with this pending legislation. The changes we are urging are we believe essential to the continued independence of the Federal Reserve System."

"We have made it clear that we do not object to a measure of public control in the national interest for proper coordination of our manifold credit operations," he said, "and we do not believe the sponsors of the legislation desire any political domination over these activities through our Federal Reserve System.

"Under such circumstances we feel that our recommendations should be favorably acted upon because they would enable the reconstructed Federal Reserve Board to function freely as a nonpolitical body actuated only by the dictates of sound financial and economic policies conceived in the interest of all of our people.

"The adoption of our suggestions would both place operation of the Federal Reserve System wholly and distinctly apart from the fluctuations and vicissitudes of political conditions and free from undue influence by banking opinion only. Such a solution would thus have a stabilizing and confidence-inspiring effect on the entire business situation."

BANKS RAPIDLY REDUCE DEBT

Although the sum of $1,860,000,000 has been advanced to banks and trust companies by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation since it began operations in February, 1932, down to April 30, 1935, these institutions have repaid no less than $1,340,000,000, or more than 72%. This rate of repayment is reported as being considerably in excess of that made by any other type of borrower.

Loans were authorized by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to 7,396 banks and trust companies in an aggregate amount of $2,250,000,000, but of this sum $345,000,000 was withdrawn or cancelled and $140,000,000 has not yet been taken out by the borrowers.

Simplification of Bank Checks

New York.—In a bulletin issued by the Bank Management Commission of the American Bankers Association, plans are described for carrying on the simplification of bank checks, notes, drafts and similar instruments in respect to size and uniformity of arrangement of subject matter.

Detailed recommendations for this end were formulated by the association about ten years ago, the bulletin says, and promulgated by the United States Department of Commerce among banks, business houses using large numbers of checks, commercial stationers and lithographers. As a result about 85 per cent adherence to the recommendations was brought about. The present bulletin, which describes the standard specifications in full, is issued to maintain this high level of adherence to the recommendations.

National Bank Notes

Changes in our money on the scale of about $800,000,000 are now going on through the retirement of national bank notes. This is reflected in increasing deposits in the Treasury of lawful money to replace bonds held against outstanding notes which will require some time for withdrawal from circulation.

The change in the currency will require a considerable shift of bank funds in many cases, but it is doubtful if so large a volume of currency has ever been retired and replaced in any country with so little disturbance.

RELIEF NEWS

What Do Home Visitors Do?

First, the home visitor is not an investigator, but a friend. He is not sent out to spy and peer in cupboards, to count the jars and chickens, to look in smokehouses and under beds. True, he must ask some direct questions, obtain certain information, but he can do so tactfully and, in so doing, explain the necessity of giving facts accurately and not trusting to memory.

He is the representative of the relief office and must act as an intermediary between client and office. He will most likely make recommendations to assist the family or deny aid. In many instances he will seek reference contacts who are unprejudiced, if in doubt of facts presented. It is the home visitor who will write up the case record and history, fill in the numerous forms on the family, part narrative, part answers to specified questions.

Home visitors visit each family monthly unless their caseload is too heavy to permit it, or unless extra office work prevents it, or where families are gone from home when they call. Each additional visit is also recorded and change in conditions reported. Reference visits are also noted on the family history and often present a picture of excellent case work.

What is social case work? The recognition of a family's problems, a sympathetic understanding of same and zeal to assist in solving these identical problems whether they pertain to financial security, health, sanitation or any other difficulty. How can they be solved? Not always by direct orders for food or clothing, not always by work checks, although the necessity for daily sustenance is not minimized.

Most often the most valuable work done by home visitors pertains, not to material welfare but to physical and spiritual values. To re-establish lost associations which were vital in home life is one phase of our work. There may be a problem created by overcrowded conditions. This frequently brings discord between families or within one group. Changes have been effected which tended to promote harmony.

Youngsters in the home often lack incentive. Arranging for contacts with other children can develop pride and strength of character. A large number of our clients are people whose standards were once very high indeed. This is the most difficult problem of all. Here, lay citizenry, ministers, teachers, club leaders and all civic-minded people can do much to help these families regain their standing, recoup their losses which are usually more than financial.

Are you, Mr. Average Man, aware that you, too, play a part in this vast recovery program? Regardless of religion, politics or standing on any one thing, you have a task in the nation's work. Are you discharging your duties? It may be that as neighbor, friend or counselor, you can lend the helping hand, speak the cheery word. By some way, somehow, some time, yours is the job of doing your bit for those who are less fortunate. The day may come when those who are now privileged to handle the funds are the recipients. Millionaires have been reduced to paupers overnight. Certain citizen (to extend a helping hand to those who are desperately struggling toward readjustment in a world where are now inevitable.

Miss Edna Prates leaves for summer school at Berea (College) June 6. Mrs. May leaves for the University June 10. Fred Tackett will be acting relief worker. Mrs. Elizabeth Hays has just been promoted to the position of social case supervisor for the county.

Wm. Messer was made garden clerk for the summer. Mrs. Emma Lou Lucas was admitted to the organization as a home visitor.

Mr. Murphey, area administrator, left Thursday for his vacation, going by motor to Louisiana, where Mrs. Murphey has been for the past month.

Mr. Moot, area relief supervisor of the Paintsville area, succeeds Miss Sarah Hays here also retaining the other area.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

All physicians are asked to get medicals in the office on the 28th of the month for which they are written except where the medical calls for more visits, necessitating extending over into the next month. But medicals must be sent in monthly and preferably on the last of each month.

Sample of Mountain Dialect Furnished by Floyd Men on Way to London

Mountain dialect "as she is spoke" by mountaineers is on its way to London, England, where it will be presented to the International Phonetics Association.

And this sample of dialect, chosen as worthy of international recognition, was supplied by four Prestonsburg men: Tom James, Tex Vanderpool, Green Maggard and John Hyden. This specimen of Kentucky mountain dialect goes to London-town via a speech record made last year by Messrs. James, Vanderpool, Maggard and Hyden at last year's American Folk Song Festival.

A letter from Walter C. Garwick, Rye, N. Y., to Mr. James tells of the plans to present to the Mother Country the speech existing in the Kentucky hills, where original Anglo-Saxon speech and customs prevail. The letter follows:

"It may please you to know that a duplicate of the speech

Actions of Pedestrians Resulting in Deaths From Automobile Mishaps

Crossing in middle of block and against signals—34%

Children playing in street—11%

Walking along road—17%

Coming from behind car—9%

Many pedestrians seem to regard their lives of less importance than the few seconds' time that may be saved by crossing streets without regard to hazardous conditions, although it is true there are many drivers who take advantage of pedestrians.

In 1934 nearly half of all the persons killed in automobile accidents were pedestrians, it is shown by the annual figures compiled by the Travelers Insurance Company. The total number of pedestrians killed was 15,950, while nearly 270,000 pedestrians were injured.

Five out of every eight pedestrians killed, it is shown, were involved in accidents while crossing streets in the middle of the block, crossing intersections against signals or diagonally, darting out into streets from behind parked cars, or while walking along rural highways.

It has been pointed out that pedestrians run across streets in the middle of the block or against signals because many feel that little if any more protection is given them at properly designated crosswalks or when they wait for signals. Many pedestrians know that it is dangerous to walk along rural highways, but since paths or walks have not been provided, the question often is raised, "what else can pedestrians do along rural highways?" Of course it is good advice to walk facing traffic.

Pedestrians may well pause to consider the fact that in 1934 the rate of death per pedestrian accident was 45 per cent worse crossing in the middle of the block than at intersections, and was 74 per cent worse crossing against signals than with signals. At the same time, however, the driver is warned to "be tolerant with the pedestrian, since the latter's faults are not crimes punishable by death."

AMERICANS use the telephone more than any other people in the world, any way you want to make a comparison.

This is partly because we are a sociable, enterprising people.

And it is also because the Bell System, through research by the Bell Laboratories—uniform and economical manufacture by the Western Electric Company—nationwide operation by the American Company and the regional associated companies—has provided the greatest value in telephone service the world knows.

Use your telephone. When you have business or social affairs to discuss with anyone in another city, let "long distance" save you time and money. The cost is small wherever you call.

PRESTONSBURG CHILD

DIES IN IRONTON, OHIO

Lawrence Douglas Neeley, 10 years old, only child of T. E. and Mrs. Marie Hackworth Neeley, of this place, died at the Marting hospital at 3:50 o'clock Monday afternoon after several days of suffering from an ailment which baffled definite diagnosis.

Becoming ill Tuesday, May 28, the child was taken to the hospital on the following day. His death was variously ascribed to infantile paralysis and chorea by the five specialists called into consultation in an effort to effect his cure, and one of these held it was probable that anti-rabies serum administered after he had been bitten by a dog aggravated his case.

The little victim was in the sixth grade in school here and, an only child, was the idol of his parents, as well as the favorite of all who knew him. The grief-stricken parents have the sympathy of a host of friends. Funeral services were conducted Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from the home here, with Revs. A. C. Harlowe and Arnold T. Malmberg officiating. The body was then taken by E. P. Arnold, funeral director, to the Hackworth cemetery on Abbott for burial. At the rites here and at the burial service a familiar hymn which the little victim sang while in the hospital on the Sunday preceding his death was rendered by the choir.

Beginning at small sycamore on west bank of Left Fork, Wilson Creek, 100 feet below mouth of Pizzle Fork; thence crossing bottom S 81 15 W 184 feet to a stake at foot of hill; thence along same 30 W 362 feet to a small sycamore on bank of drain; N 67 20 W 290 feet to a stake on a point; thence up same 365 30 W 396 feet to a dogwood and black gum; thence up hill S 74 00 W 753 feet to a black oak on top of ridge at corner to S.
