whereby Eastern Kentucky likely profit from the strawberry crop as have Central and Western Kentucky were laid out at a meeting in Paintsville last week and county farm agents (Big Sandy counties).

Johnson, Magoffin, Lawrence, probably, Pike farmers expected to join in the program Monday. Present plans that at least 50 acres be in strawberries this year in these counties.

Interest was shown by farming the Paintsville meeting enthusiastic evinced indicated leaders that little difficulty met in procuring the acreage in each county. If program works out, as production from each acre of volume sufficient to amount of entire county back to Huntington, W. Va., and Charleston, W. Va., other market centers.

to meet the required production this year, S. L. Isbell said. Plans must be set out for this month or in April. Plants, per acre, it is estimated, $10, and in cases of this cost may be reduced to $2 per acre.

Agent Isbell, commenting on the prospects for strawberry production on a wide scale in this section said this week that he had knowledge of both Eastern and Western Kentucky as strawberry sections. "Eastern Kentucky," he declared, "will beyond produce better strawberries than are produced in the western part of the state."

Process of farmers in Muhlenberg and other Western Kentucky counties, in strawberry production marketing is well known. It has been the topic for many years in farm magazine articles.

SED BARBER SERVES JAIL TERM

Barber, Liggett barber, is sentenced in the county jail to a term of a $25 fine as punishment for his conviction of barbership license.

Barber requested publication in the hope his experience would save some other barber a like penalty.

Hurt of Galnare was Sunday by the death of John May.

PRATER CREEK GIRL MENINGITIS SUFFERER, RECOVERING AT HOME

The one case of spinal meningitis which developed last week on Prater Creek was convalescing, this week and little danger of further spread of the disease exists, Dr. Marvin Ransdell, director of the Floyd county health department, said. The sufferer is Geneva, 13-year-old daughter of Noah Thacker.

Since the outbreak of meningitis on Caleb Fork at Weeksbury, only sporadic cases have been reported, and every threatened outbreak has been effectively met by the health department and county physicians.

50 YEAR OLD MAN SLAYS YOUTH, 21

Chester A. Kidd Surrenders Following Slaying Sunday of Tackett at Harold

Chester A. Kidd, 50-year-old Harold man, was jailed here Sunday night after he had shot and killed a few hours earlier, Martin Tackett, 21, of Mud Creek, at the Kidd home.

Report received here of the slaying says Tackett and John D. Porter were standing in the yard of the Kidd home and that one of them was firing a revolver, one shot of which struck the house. Kidd thereupon fired a shotgun, the charge of which struck Tackett in his chest. The wounded man died a few minutes later.

The victim was a son of Henry Tackett, of Mud Creek. He is survived by his parents, several brothers and sisters. The body was brought here to be undertaken, establishment of E. P. Arnold, where preparations for burial were made, then returned to Mud Creek for burial Tuesday.

Following the shooting, Kidd surrendered to Deputy Sheriff J. M. Stumbo, who brought him to jail here.

2-YEAR-OLD CHILD DROWNS SATURDAY

Joan, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed May, of Brandy Keg, was drowned late Saturday afternoon in Jesus Creek, near the home of Mrs. May's father, Walker Spears.

The little victim, two years old and Mr. and Mrs. May's only child, had been playing in the yard of the Spears home and while the mother was inside the house, working, she fell into the water near the creek. Frantic search soon located the body in three feet of water not far from the home.

The body was brought here and prepared for burial by E. P. Arnold, then taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. May at the mouth of Brandy Keg where funeral rites were conducted Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock by the Rev. Harry F. King and the Rev. Isaac Stratton. Burial was made on Johns Creek in the Spears cemetery Tuesday.

Mrs. May is a teacher, and Mr. May, a son of Lee P. May, of Prestonsburg, is employed here in the Kroger store.

REPORT CONTINUED

The report of O. J. Jones, school supervisor, on Floyd county schools, which will be found on page six, will be concluded in our next issue. Because of an unexpected quantity of advertising, we have been forced to omit several news stories.

Mrs. L. W. Barbour has returned to her home in Huntington, W. Va., after spending the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes, of Prestonsburg.

OLD WOUND IS FATAL TO HALL

McDOWELL YOUTH SUCCUMBS MONDAY TO WOUND SUSTAINED CHRISTMAS DAY

A revolver bullet wound in his head sustained last Christmas Day at Wayland resulted Monday night in the death at the Paintsville hospital of Guy Hall, 16-year-old McDowell youth. For a time his condition showed slight improvement, but he was never able to be removed from the hospital, and his death had been expected for several days.

Bill May, former Prestonsburg man, fired the shot which struck young Hall. It was claimed that May accidentally shot the youth while celebrating Christmas by firing his revolver.

May was indicted on a shooting and wounding charge by the grand jury here in January, and is at liberty under bond. Officials here said Wednesday that a murder warrant had not been issued for May.

The victim was a son of Mack Hall, of McDowell. He is survived by his parents. Burial was made at McDowell Wednesday.

MAYTOWN, WINNER OF DISTRICT MEET

Betsy Layne in Runner-Up Position in Net Tournament; Close Games Feature

Maytown, the favorite, emerged Saturday night from the 59th district basketball tournament at Martin with the Floyd county net crown, easily defeated Betsy Layne, the runner-up, 17 to 5. Both champions and runners-up will represent Floyd county in the regional tourney starting tonight (Thursday).

After Auxier had disposed of Dwayne Thursday evening, 37-20, and Maytown had subdued McDowell, an hour later, 29 to 16, every session, except the finals Saturday night, was featured by thrillingly close games.

MRS. RICHMOND IS CALLED BY DEATH

Long Illness Fatal Saturday to One Prestonsburg's Best-Loved Women

Mrs. Anna May Richmond, widow of the late Dave Richmond, died Saturday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock at St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, W. Va., at the age of 51 years after an illness extending over the last seven years.

A member of one of Floyd county's most prominent families, Mrs. Richmond was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. May. She had been a devout member of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here for the last 30 years, and was one of Prestonsburg's best women. All her works were such as to earn for her the deep esteem of all who knew her.

Mrs. Richmond was married to David C. Richmond on June 17, 1902 and of this union two daughters survive: Mrs. J. O. Webb, of Garrett, and Mrs. Thomas H. Hereford, West Prestonsburg. She also leaves a host of relatives and friends who mourn her passing.

Funeral rites were conducted from the residence here at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. Josef Nordenhau, pastor of the Baptist Church, officiating, assisted by the Rev. H. F. King, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, and the Rev. Robert A. Potter, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. Burial was made under the direction of E. P. Arnold in the Porter cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Joe Hobson, A. L. Davidson, C. W. May, Wm. A. Spradlin, T. J. May, George T. Roberts, Alex H. Spradlin, J. G. Porter, Lige May, G. R. Spradlin, W. J. May.

The editorial The Times published last week wasn't ours. We reprinted it from The Courier-Journal, but, somehow, we failed to give the C-J credit. (Or had you already guessed it was from some other paper?)

MORELLS SELL FIRST AVENUE PROPERTY HERE

James Morell, Sr., and his son, James Morell, Jr., last week sold to B. F. and A. B. Combs, Prestonsburg attorneys, their business property on First avenue here. Amount involved in the transaction was not stated in the deed. This deal conveys the Morell building in which the Kroger Grocery and Baking Company and several offices are located. The structure was erected about five years ago, and is one of Prestonsburg's most modern buildings.

COMB HILLS FOR MAGOFFIN KILLER

Special to The Times

Huesville, Ky., March 10—Searching parties combed the hills in the Big Branch vicinity of Licking river throughout the night Monday and were still searching Tuesday morning, but their efforts had failed to produce Frank Shepherd, whose pistol Monday morning fired three shots into the body of Jake Wireman, 24, and killed him instantly.

The slaying took place at the home of Jack Johnson, Big Branch farmer, and is reported to have been the result of a drunken row. Further details than this were not available Tuesday morning.

Wireman was described as a young man of good character. He is survived by his mother. Burial was made in the family cemetery, with local ministers officiating at the funeral and burial.

Two of Huesville's best citizens lie near death at this writing. Mrs. George W. Bailey, wife of one of the leading merchants and citizens of this section, is not expected to live more than a few days. She has suffered for some time from dropsy and a complication of ailments. Jim Layne, farmer and miner here for many years, was taken Monday to the Paintsville hospital, where little if any hope is held for his recovery. It is reported, Mr. Layne, too, is suffering from a complication of ailments, any one of which might easily prove fatal.

BLACKBURN JAILED

Deputy Sheriff Mitchell Thomas and Policeman Arthur Blackburn Friday returned Bruce Blackburn to jail here from Ironton, O. Blackburn was wanted for a recent store burglary here in which he is alleged to have taken part.

DEATHS

MRS. HAROLD McPEEK

Mrs. Harold McPeek died Saturday at her home at Garrett, a victim of cancer from which she had suffered for the past year. The body was taken to Island Creek, Pike county, for burial.

MRS. M. C. LOWE

Mrs. M. C. Lowe, 40 years old, died at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, Sunday night, a victim of cancer. The body was taken to Pikeville and from there to Mossy Bottom for burial Wednesday.

BUS STATION CHANGE EFFECTED LAST WEEK

Sparks Brothers Bus Company has located its station here on the Maytown Trail, between the Gulf service station and the Prestonsburg Dry Cleaning Company. Temporary quarters were established last week, but a brick station will be erected soon, it is announced. Joe Stodghill is in charge of the station.

FEDERAL AGENTS FIND THEIR MAN AT POKER GAME

Escaped North Carolina Prisoner and Alleged Auto Thief, May Be Fatally Shot

FIVE OTHERS ARRESTED

Edgar Aldridge, alias Tom Lefford, 25 years old, alleged auto thief and North Carolina bad man, lies critically, perhaps fatally wounded, with a Department of Justice agent's bullet through his liver after trail's end was reached Sunday night in a miner's home at Drift, this county.

Sought since February, 1935, on a charge of violation with others of the National Motor Vehicle Theft Act for the transportation of a stolen automobile from Bowling Rock, N. C., to Erwin, Tenn., Aldridge was taken by surprise while playing poker with five others at the home of Charles Buchanan, Drift miner.

A statement issued by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the bureau of investigation, says that Aldridge was shot as he rushed the federal agents after the light in the room had been extinguished. Only one shot was fired and that from a .30 Luger automatic.

Five Others Arrested

Aldridge was taken to the Gearheart hospital at Martin, where he is under guard. His companions in the poker game, Sid Tackett, Charles Buchanan, Ed Stapleton, John Fralley and Bill Halbert, were arrested on a charge of harboring a criminal. All were released, except Tackett and Buchanan, following a hearing Tuesday afternoon in Paintsville before U. S. Commissioner J. Melvin Hall. Tackett was held to $500 bond, and Buchanan under $300.

Posing as miners or as men seeking work in the mines, the G-men spent several days last week in this county on Aldridge's trail. Working with the secrecy and thoroughness for which the government hunters are noted, the agents surrounded the Buchanan home and made their foray inside shortly after 9 o'clock Sunday night.

FUNERAL OF MRS. SPEARS, MARCH 6

Body of Former Floyd Woman Returned From Paintsville to Abbott for Burial

Funeral of Mrs. Ollie Spears, 70 years old, wife of Dr. T. J. Spears, prominent Louisville dentist, was conducted from her former home at Copperas Lick of Abbott Creek Tuesday afternoon, and burial was made in the family cemetery under the direction of E. P. Arnold. The Rev. Joel Conley officiated at the rites which were attended by a large gathering of friends and relatives of the deceased.

Mrs. Spears died at Louisville March 3 of a heart ailment. She was a daughter of the late Snipes and of Mrs. Elizabeth Snipes, who survives. She was married to Dr. T. J. Spears 23 years ago to Louisville.

Dr. Spears is a prominent physician of his profession. Besides her husband and four children, Mrs. Spears is survived by her brothers, Joe Snipes, Bonam Snipes, Ballard Snipes, Van Lear.

Birth of a fine 7-12 pound son to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wheeler Burdette on Saturday, March 7, is announced. The newcomer has been christened Joe Arthur. Mrs. Burchett is the mother. Miss Pauline Archer.

Alluring Daytime Frock With Distinctive Yoke

1832-B

The yoke of this frock is unusual and a distinctive departure from the obvious round or squared-off affair, because it extends out over the shoulders and forms flaring little caps—caps which conceal two inverted pleats and which are transformed into lovely loose raglan sleeves. The blouse gathers at the yoke and waist in front and back, rendering fullness and a soft drapery appearance. The twin panels in the skirt give you height, and the skirt an added swirl. Two huge gathered pockets in unison with the blouse are interesting features and very practical. Make a self-fabric belt trimmed with a diamond shaped buckle and two harmonizing buttons, and notice how smart and up to the minute your frock will be.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1832-B is available in sizes 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44, and can be procured for fifteen cents. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards of 35-inch material.

The Barbara Bell Pattern Book featuring Spring designs is ready. Send fifteen cents today for your copy.

Life and Death Clock to Impress People of Berlin

Every five minutes, the steel hammer of a great clock in Berlin tolls nine strokes, indicating that nine babies are born on an average during this period in Germany.

A big double-bulbed hour glass beside the bell turns over every five minutes to remind people that seven Germans have died while the nine babies were being born.

The clock has been built to suggest, in more emphatic fashion than the usual timepiece, the eternal change between life and death—and to impress upon Germans the dangers of a falling birthrate.—Pearson's Weekly.

Grow a garden of "GRADUATES" from a real seed breeding institute

For 80 years, Ferry-Morse Seed Co., America's greatest scientific seed growing organization, has protected gardeners against deterioration in seed quality.

Our foundation stock is developed at The Ferry-Morse Seed Breeding Institute Stations at Rochester, Mich., and Salinas, Cal. This purebred stock is then used for seed production on our own farms, or under our direct supervision. The seed crops from this stock are sold only after thorough tests have shown that they are of proper quality and germination.

That is why—North, South, East, West—you can buy seeds from the Ferry display in your neighborhood store with the greatest assurance that they will reproduce true to type and quality.

Look for the Ferry display before planning your garden. Write for free copy of our Home Garden Catalog. Watch the radio programs for our helpful garden talks over Station WLW. Ferry-Morse Seed Co., Detroit and San Francisco.

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

Making Money in "Stir"

BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF.— Things certainly are lovely for the boys in the big stone bide-a-wee homes, is it not so?

At San Quentin here in California, chosen groups turning out counterfeit money and never having to worry about getting in jail, since they are already in. And a nice jolly strike on at Alcatraz. And in my old home state, the inmates just seeming to come and go at will, as it were.

But in Illinois is where the chaps enjoy all the benefits of congenial society without the bother of paying dues. It must be grand, serving as a member of the house committee of the Joliet Indoor Country club, what with crap games and poker parties and liquor made right there on the premises and shots in the arm at the low rate of one dollar per shot.

The day is at hand when "prison break" in the headlines won't mean that some of the fellows on the inside are trying to get out but that some of the fellows on the outside are trying to get in; and who could blame them?

The Yellow Peril's Peril

AT THIS moment the question before the house is whether it is more perilous to be a statesman in Japan and give offense to the soldiers or a soldier in America and give offense to the statesmen?

Howsoever, at the risk of being penalized for punning, this innocent bystander ventures the prediction that amongst us there won't be any more of these summary removals for the Ha-goed of the service, as it were.

Because when something happens off or on a military post to make Tom Blanton, the blood-sweating behemoth of Texas Democracy, line up with a lot of Republicans—well, I never thought I'd live to see the day. I don't believe Uncle Tom did, either. I'll bet nobody is more surprised than he is.

Abolishing Potlatches

AT LAST accounts, the Canadian parliament had a bill before it to abolish potlatches. When an Indian gets prosperous, he gives a party, with free food and drink for all, and whatever he has left over he bestows upon the guests and so winds up beggared but happy. That's a potlatch. Although at present confined to the Indians, it's not their own idea. They borrowed it from some of the early settlers. It's an old Scotch custom.

Tracing the genesis of traditional things is interesting. I thought the famous motto of the Northwest Mounted police had originated within the force until once when I tackled some native smoking tobacco at a trading post in upper Ontario. As soon as I recovered consciousness I knew whence came the slogan, "Always Gets Its Man!" That was years ago, but I still have dizzy spells in humid weather.

Speaking of borrowing or rather of trading, we could make a profitable deal—from our standpoint—by swapping Canada a great gross of parole boards and overly sentimental governors and judges who put technicalities before common sense and common justice for about half a dozen of their trial courts and one or two square-jawed prison wardens.

'Tis Holdout Time

IT IS the gladsome season when last year's stars swear they'll never put on uniforms again unless they get better contracts; while the managers just as loudly declare the boys will accept what's offered or stay out of the game forevermore. Through anxious weeks each group proclaims that, from the position thus taken, it will never, never abate one jot or tittle.

But when the first robin starts north and the last training squad starts south, something always happens. One side decides to abate quite a few of the jots. And the other side says, "Oh shuckins, after all, what's a tittle more or less between friends?"

So this spring's hold-outs become this fall's pennant-winners, or otherwise as the case may be, and frequently is. And behind the scenes, everything in either championship team will be just as peaceful as a cage full of panthers until this time next year.

Which Is the Leisure Class?

WHEN Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan said any American family that kept a maid belonged to the leisure class, he touched a responsive chord in the bosom of this household, only he got the proposition mixed as it applied to our little home-nest.

"Twas a maid we had for a short spell who really qualified. Possibly we didn't give satisfaction. Anyhow, one evening she took umbrage and some guest towels and a ham and one thing and another and silently stole away. But looking back, I can't recall anybody else who could be so lelsurely and so classy, both at once.

We are wondering now what class we belong to on the present maid's night. Probably Mr. Morgan isn't worried. He could ask

Pretending Costs Money A Japanese Widow

The Five Babies Are Well Democratic Edward VIII

Even imitation war is costly. England's battleships, submarines and airplanes in the Mediterranean, intended to intimidate Italy and keep down discontent in Egypt, represent no real war.

England occasionally discharges light "depth bombs" in the Mediterranean, "bringing Italian submarines popping like corks to the surface." Yet the government tells the house of commons this imitation war costs British taxpayers five hundred thousand pounds a month.

The twenty-four-year-old widow of a Japanese officer who committed suicide after the recent rebellion sends a letter of apology to "Your august majesty," the Japanese emperor, saying: "I believe the spirit of my husband, whose body lies in a coffin before me, also sorrows for those who fell."

A most serious people, the Japanese, particularly where their emperor is concerned.

Doctor Dafoe, modest man from Canada, who understands quintuplets, dropped in to say the five little girls are doing well, fighting frequently, sign of a normal condition. They like sleeping outdoors with the weather 30 below zero, but in daytime only. It would delight you to see their red cheeks.

Three hundred and seventy-five thousand visitors, nearly all from the United States, came to look through a fence at the quintuplets last year; 500,000 are expected this year. The baby girls are a wonderful advertisement for Canada. Many that go to see them will buy farms and stay.

A democratic young person is Edward the Eighth, new king of England and emperor of India. Broadcasting to 200,000,000 that live under the British flag and occupy one-quarter of the earth's surface, he does not refer to them as "my subjects" or "my people," as his predecessors did, but calls them "fellow men."

And Edward VIII does not refer to himself as "we," which is customary with other rulers. His father spoke of "my empire" and "my dear people" and called himself "we."

President Roosevelt submits to congress a plan to increase heavily income taxes of corporations suspected of holding many billions of profits not distributed. The taxes might run to over 33 per cent.

You never can tell what Wall Street will think. President Roosevelt's taxation program sends stocks up. Perhaps Wall Street has no "undistributed reserves." Great industries will not be forbidden reasonable cash surpluses, presumably. Such a rule would make expansion and increased employment impossible.

A joint resolution in the house and senate suggests a congressional medal of honor for the late Gen. William Mitchell, head of the American air forces in the big war. Few congressmen would vote against a tribute to a man who fought so well for his country, and the medal would please his widow and children.

If congress wants to honor the memory of General Mitchell as he would wish, it will build more airplanes and lead the world in aviation instead of trailing.

Uncle Sam paying rent to Panama for the canal, offering the usual $250,000 rent installment, was told: "No, we do not take 59-cent dollars."

Washington admits that while it may try interesting experiments with its own money, and tell its own citizens "Gold is too good for you," it has no right to make the outside world suffer. Panama will get an amount of money equal to 250,000 of our dollars before we slid off the gold basis and into the "inflation bond" era.

Sometimes government ownership gets things done. Germany's postal ministry opens the first long-distance television-telephone in the world, between Berlin and Leipzig—the charge for three minutes only $1.40. When you call up, a "strong, bluish light" illuminates your face, which is seen by the person at the other end of the line. That would have been improbable when telephones were installed in the big Paris exposition, not so long ago.

Four years ago the Lindbergh child was kidnaped. Bruno Hauptmann, convicted of the kidnaping and murder, caught spending the marked gold certificates that Lindbergh paid in a vain effort to get back his child, is still alive.

It is said that he will have another reprieve. Our system of justice is not hasty.

The post office shows that efficiency in government is not impossible. No private concern would send a letter Florida to Alaska for three cents, waiting and delivering the letter.

Success Sudden

Ward, wife of one of nment citizens, died home in Stafford evening, Feb. 27, at gh her health had not been good for several years, death came as a great shock to her devoted family and friends. She had suffered with heart attacks and when this one came all that loving hands could do was of no avail. With an expression of calm, sweet peace she passed into the haven of rest.

The funeral and burial were conducted at Williamsport, Ky., her old home place, March 3 at 2:30 p. m., with Rev. J. W. Butcher, Rev. Winfred Meek, and Rev. L. T. Preston officiating. The large crowd, the beautiful floral offering and other tokens of sympathy express the high esteem in which Mrs. Ward was held.

LOUISA

(From Big Sandy News)
 Three men accused of murdering women and a fourth accused of murdering his son-in-law will be arraigned for trial during the March term of Lawrence circuit court which will be convened here Monday by Judge Watt M. Prichard.

The four crimes, committed since the last October term of court four months ago, present a unique record in Lawrence county, since three of them are for slaying of women, a crime seldom occurring in this county before.

Two of the accused murderers are held in jail here, a third in Catlettsburg, and the fourth is at liberty under bond.

Inasmuch as the murders were committed during the interim since the last term of court, no indictments have yet been returned, but the grand jury is expected to act upon the slayings prior to taking up any other matters in order that the cases may be docketed for trial during the present term.

The accused are W. E. "Buck"
 Williams, alleged slayer of his wife;
 Everett Meade, charged with fatally stabbing Mrs. Rebecca York Gibson, at Torchlight; Charles Matney, Louisa negro, accused of killing his sweetheart, Alice Clark; Jim Star, charged with the slaying of his son-in-law, Sherman Foster, on Blaine Creek.

Vinson Not to Seek Senatorial Toga, Is Report

Clearing up speculation as to whether or not he would run for United States Senator this year, Congressman Fred M. Vinson let it be known Saturday in Ashland that he would be a candidate again for a member of the House of Representatives from the Eighth district. Mr. Vinson was in Ashland last Saturday to address the meeting of Young Democratic clubs of the Seventh and Eighth districts held in the Henry Clay hotel.

Mr. Vinson holds a ranking place on the House Ways and Means committee, and is recognized as the leader of the Kentucky delegation in the House. By retaining his seat in the House, Mr. Vinson stands a chance to become chairman of the Ways and Means committee and later speaker of the lower house of Congress.

 the trials for coon hounds held last year was used to purchase coons to release in Boyd county.

STORY LIES BEHIND DIRTY DAN CARBON

An interesting story lies behind the strange figure of "Dirty Dan Carbon" featured in the new Super-Solvenized Puro-Pep advertising campaign of The Pure Oil Company.

Prominent commercial artists and more than three hundred art students took part in the development of this "carbon man," who symbolizes the wasteful carbon deposits in most automobile motors.

The commercial artists were advised that the "Dirty Dan Carbon" figure was not to be gruesome. Yet neither should he be humorous to the degree that the public might overlook the insidious damage carbon inflicts upon motors.

Among the art students, prize contests totaling hundreds of dollars were instituted for the best conceptions of "Dirty Dan Carbon" meeting the above requirements.
 Amazing differences occurred in the designs submitted by these students.

Some of the carbon characters were tattered and dirty looking. Many were distinctive mechanical men. Another large group were creatures with heads like pistons and bodies resembling crank-shafts or other parts of a motor. Among the designs were many weird-looking figures who might have been strangers from Mars or the Moon-country.

The winning "Dirty Dan Carbon" design, now appearing in Pure Oil's advertising campaign, was the creation of a Chicago artist, Otis Hosom. This semi-robot character is not without a definite trace of humor. Yet his greasy face and portly figure both reveal his manner of stuffing himself with stolen gasoline and motor oil.

That this conception of carbon as a thief of power and mileage is a most accurate one has been proven through exhaustive tests by automotive engineers. After nearly nine years of research, scientists now have made available a revolutionary new motor fuel that conquers this wasteful carbon.

Known as Super-Solvenized Puro-Pep, this miracle motor fuel destroys the carbon binder in the cylinders, frees carbon-stuck piston rings and valves, and equalizes compression. Increased mileage is one of the immediate benefits gained.

Find Out

From Your Doctor
 if the "Pain" Remedy
 You Take Is Safe.

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well - Being to Unknown
 Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it — in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains
 . . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store — simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

G-MEN SHOOT FUGITIVE AT DRIFT

Hoover's Statement
J. Edgar Hoover's version of the arrest follows:

"Special agents learned that Aldridge was residing at Drift, Ky. After his exact location was ascertained, several special agents went to the home of Charles Buchanan about 9:15 p. m. on the night of March 8, where they were met at the front door by Mrs. Buchanan, to whom they made known their identity.

"The special agents were advised that the men of the house were in the back room. The special agents opened the door to the back room and found Aldridge and four others playing poker. The special agents immediately identified themselves and ordered them to surrender, whereupon one of the men kicked out the light, and as he did so, Aldridge made a rush for the special agents.

"A special agent fired one shot, hitting Aldridge in the stomach and wounding him. Aldridge and the other four men—Charles Buchanan, Ed Stapleton, John Fraley and Bill Halbert—were taken into custody. Sid Tackett, with whom the fugitive Aldridge had been living recently, was also taken into custody when he arrived at the Buchanan home shortly after Aldridge and the others were apprehended."

Eyewitness Tells of Shooting
Bill Halbert, one of the five arrested as suspects in harboring Aldridge, told The Times that he was the man who turned off the electric light in the room. "The government men, two of them, first entered the room where Mrs. Buchanan was sleeping. We were in another room sitting on the floor, playing poker, using scrip. When I heard Mrs. Buchanan scream, I thought it was Roland Brinham with whom John Fraley had had a fight Saturday afternoon; so I switched off the light. I had no more than done this when one of the government men turned the light back on and fired at Ledford (Aldridge). Ledford hadn't got up off the floor."

An ambulance was summoned and the wounded man taken to the hospital at Martin where Aldridge was placed under heavy guard. His companions were taken by truck to Paintsville Sunday night, then brought to the county jail here Monday morning.

Twelve G-men took part in the raid, it was said. Name of the agent who fired the shot into Aldridge was not available. He was described by one of the men in the poker game as "a tall, slim man." No official statement, other than that released from Washington by Hoover, was available to The Times. Aldridge was held incommunicado at the hospital at Martin.

A confederate of Aldridge is reported to have fled from Drift shortly before the G-men made their raid. Aldridge had been working in the mines at Drift for about three weeks. He made his first visit there six or seven months ago, it was said. He also is said to have rented a house in Lawrence county where he had planned to join his wife and baby. He had never seen the baby, since Mrs. Aldridge returned to North Carolina a few months ago.

May Ask Grand Jury Probe
An attorney for the five men arrested as suspects in the harboring of a criminal said Tuesday that a grand jury investigation of the shooting may be sought.

At the hospital Aldridge is said to have confessed that he killed three men in a prison break. His record shows that he escaped from the North Carolina state penitentiary at Raleigh March 22, 1934 while serving a term of from four to six years for assault to kill and conspiracy to kill. The Department of Justice identification order listed Aldridge's occupation as a bootlegger.

Residents of Drift expressed surprise when they learned that Aldridge was a criminal. They described him as a quiet, unassuming young man whose only vice was an occasional drink.

games. Betsy Layne's two tournament victories were both won by only a one-point margin over Lackey and Garrett. The latter team reached the semi-finals by virtue of a hard-fought, closely guarded game Friday afternoon when the Garrett boys defeated Prestonsburg, 14 to 12. Then, Friday night, Wheelwright provided the big upset of the meet by defeating Martin, 28 to 27. In the semi-finals Saturday afternoon this same Wheelwright team was no easy nut for Maytown to crack, though the Right Beaver boys did score a 19 to 13 victory.

In the finals Maytown clamped the lid on so tightly, that not until the last half was under way did Betsy Layne score.

Despite the condition of unpaved highways, the Martin gymnasium was crowded at every session. Excellent order prevailed throughout, and the tournament was highly successful, producing not only a high grade of basketball but also working out well financially.

At the conclusion of the tournament gold-filled basketballs were presented to the following selected for the all-tourney: Ratliff, Lackey; Bales, Maytown; Patton, Maytown; Martin; R. C. Layne, F. Hunley, Betsy Layne, Wheelwright; Cains, Ga. The handsome championship trophy was awarded to Maytown runner-up trophy to Be Prestonsburg received the team sportsmanship, and Auzier, received the award individual sportsmanship. YOU think of a fireman as a man who leads a hectic life, running around to extinguish fires that are out of control. I am a fireman of a very different sort. My job is to keep the fires in the power plant absolutely under control so that you will get good electric service. Single-handed I look after a bank of huge boilers whose combined capacity is equivalent to the power of 95,000 horses. They produce 700,000 pounds of steam every hour. That steam, at high pressure, is hurled against the blades of a turbine which changes the power in the steam into electricity. Its work done in the turbine, the steam is condensed into water and flows back into my boilers.

Only a small part of all the electricity in the country comes from water power. Most of it is made from steam. A steam power plant uses an enormous amount of water and must be located on an ample water supply.

The average family uses about 50 kilowatt-hours of electricity a month. To make that much current takes about 25 tons of condensing water.

Multiply the number of families we serve by 25 tons and you will have some idea of the amount of water that is needed in a steam power plant each month to produce electricity for domestic customers alone.

To condense the steam from "Controlled Fire" requires a lot of water. Condensing water used in the generation of electricity to serve our customers would provide a water supply sufficient for five times the population we serve.

TO THE REPUBLICANS OF FLOYD COUNTY, KY.

In accordance with established custom, and in obedience to the rules governing the Republican organization of Kentucky and the official call of the Republican National Committee, the Republican State Committee, now directs that in each voting precinct of Floyd county two members, one man and one woman, of the Republican county committee shall be elected by precinct mass conventions, which precinct conventions shall be held at 2 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard time on the 3rd Saturday in March—the 21st, 1936—in the manner prescribed in Rule 2 of the Republican organization of Kentucky. The precinct mass conventions shall be held at the place of holding the last previous election in said precinct. All Republican voters who will be qualified to vote at the next regular election, and all who shall subscribe to a declaration of intention to affiliate with the Republican party in the future, shall be entitled to vote.

The precinct chairmen who are elected on March 21, 1936, are hereby called to meet at the courthouse in Prestonsburg, Ky., on Saturday March 28, at 10 o'clock, a. m. 1936 for the purpose of organization, to elect a county chairman, secretary and treasurer.

A county mass convention is also called to meet at the courthouse in Prestonsburg, Ky., on March 28th, at 1 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard time, to select delegates to attend the Congressional District Convention, the place and date of which will be announced at that time, and also to select delegates to attend the state convention to be held in Louisville, Ky., on March 31, 1936 for the purpose of electing delegates to the National Republican Convention to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, on Tuesday, June 9, 1936.

Given under our hands, as chairman and secretary of the Floyd County Republican Executive Committee, this February 26, 1936.

ried out, the course of study should be greatly enlarged so that such subjects as shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping, music, art, home economics, manual training, and other courses, as in our best high schools, should be offered at this high school.

On Left Beaver the county board of education is maintaining two high schools, one at McDowell, with an enrollment of 79 pupils in the upper four grades, and one at Wheelwright, with an enrollment of is completed, I feel that a consolidation will be possible here from service. For the present year a two-year high school is being maintained at Weeksbury, where the independent district has been in existence for some years. The upper grades, from Weeksbury are being offered high school service at Wheelwright by the county board of education.

According to a letter dated Dec. 5, 1935, the Weeksbury district has merged with the Floyd county school district. For the next school year we recommend to the consideration of the Floyd county board of education the discontinuance of high school service at Weeksbury and transportation provided to the high school at Wheelwright.

As soon as the road on Left Beaver is completed, transportation should be provided down Left Beaver from Wheelwright to accommodate school pupils living in that area.

At the present time, the Johns Creek section of Floyd county has no high school service. Some of the children are coming from the Johns Creek section to Auxier and Prestonsburg, but road conditions make this very unsatisfactory. A road is now under construction from U. S. 23 to Johns Creek. As soon as this road is completed, the Floyd county board of education should seriously consider the advisability of starting transportation from the Johns Creek section of Floyd county to a high school that is already established, other at Betsy Layne or at Prestonsburg.

We do not believe it advisable to establish a high school in the Johns Creek section. On the other hand, we believe that the Johns Creek high school in Pike county and the high schools that are already in existence in Floyd county will be sufficient to accommodate the high school pupils from the Johns Creek area.

At the present time there is no road from Mud Creek that can be depended upon for transportation. As soon as a road has been completed up Mud Creek, transportation could be provided high school students from this area to Betsy Layne, which is located on U. S. 23, a short distance below the mouth of Mud Creek. This service should give to the people of the Mud Creek area a much better high school program than the maintenance of a high school on Mud Creek would give.

At the present time there is no road up Middle Creek. There are a great number of children living on the various branches of this creek who are almost deprived of school service. Prestonsburg is nearest high school to most of the children, but road conditions make it next to impossible for many of these children to attend the Prestonsburg high school and stay home. If a road is built up Middle Creek in the near future, transportation should be provided for the school pupils from this area. If road conditions do not improve, the county board of education might be forced to consider the advisability of establishing a high school in that area.

On Abbott Creek a high school is being maintained at Bonanza. This high school accommodates the children on Abbott Creek and a from Middle Creek, but the enrollment is primarily limited to the shelter of Abbott Creek. The improvement of road conditions should add to the enrollment Bonanza and should improve the school service there.

Below Prestonsburg on the Left fork, and a short distance from S. 23, the Floyd county board of education is maintaining a high school at Auxier, where only 52 children are enrolled in the upper 4 grades. In our opinion it will be necessary to continue this high school, though it is small, unless transportation is provided for these children to an approved high school some other place. The nearest high school in Floyd county to these children is located at Prestonsburg, and

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE WITHOUT CALORIES

And You'll Jump Out of Bed the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salt water, oil, laxative candy or alcohol and expect them to make you sudden and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only make bowels and a mere movement doesn't cause. The reason for your downcast feeling is your liver. It should pour out pounds of liquid bile into your bowels.

If this bile is not flowing freely, you don't digest. It just decays in the Gas bloats up your stomach. You feel thick, bad taste and your breath skin often breaks out in blemishes. You aches and you feel down and out. Your system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARL LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get the pounds of bile flowing freely and to feel "up and up." They contain harmless, gentle vegetable extracts when it comes to making the bile flow.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Little Liver Pills on the red label. Substitute, 25-cent drug stores. ©1931

Floyd Has Too Many Hi Schools, Says Jones

At the present time Floyd county is maintaining too many high schools for the best interests of the children attending these high schools. O. J. Jones, public school superintendent, recently wrote H. W. Peters, superintendent of Public Instruction, in making his report of a visit to schools of this county. After listing the 12 high schools in the county, Mr. Jones recommended the elimination of some of these schools and the use of buses wherever possible.

Mr. Jones' report follows:
February 6, 1936.
Honorable H. W. Peters,
Superintendent of Public Instruction, Frankfort, Ky.

Mr. Peters:

I am glad to report on my visit to the schools of Floyd county. The schools of that county are administered by three boards of education, the Floyd County Board of Education which administers schools for 15,703 children, the Prestonsburg Board which administers schools for 819 children, and the Weeksbury Board which administers schools for 480 children. The latter school district has recently merged with the Floyd county school district, and the schools for the 480 children of the Weeksbury community will be administered by the Floyd County Board of Education for next year.

At Prestonsburg, the Floyd County Board and the Prestonsburg Board are co-operating in the maintenance of a high school where 274 children have been enrolled in the upper four years. One hundred and forty-two are from the county school district and 132 from the city school district. This high school building is owned and operated jointly by the two boards.

In addition to the joint high school at Prestonsburg, the Floyd County Board of Education maintains high schools at the places listed below, with enrollments opposite the names of the high schools.

In the west central part of Floyd county, there are several high schools located within a few miles of each other on good roads. The present school buildings in that section of the county are very much overcrowded. I recommend to the consideration of the Floyd County Board of Education the erection of a senior high school for this section of the county and the discontinuance of senior high school service in three of the present high schools, Wayland, Garrett and Lackey. This high school district should include all of Right Beaver, from above the mouth of Brush Creek up. Road facilities in this section will now permit of transportation. Senior high school students should be transported to the proposed center and the present buildings at Wayland, Lackey, Garrett and Bosco would then be filled to capacity with elementary pupils. At the present time the elementary grades are crowded into the building, at each of these places, and some of the grades are being taught in make-shift rooms, at Wayland, where a bank building is being used, even after the completion of a new building there during the past year.

If the high school program suggested for Right Beaver can be car-

CHAPTER VIII—Continued

"I may if you don't fetch the blanket," he said. "A fire on the shore means nothing of itself. Just an Indian camp—John Buck and his squaw. We'll have to signal."

The word sent her bounding up the bank. She came flying back with the blanket. Garth ordered her to hold one corner. He took another. They stood in front of the fire, with the big blanket stretched between them. Mr. Ramill called irritably from the top of the bank. What did they mean, wakening him and taking away his bedding? Lillith cried out the glad news. Garth gave her a curt order to pay attention. At his commands, she began to stoop and rise in unison with him, lowering the blanket to the sand and jerking it up again in front of the fire, at irregular intervals.

After some time he ordered a halt, with the blanket on the ground. He added an explanation: "Those were dots and dashes. We've given the SOS—and my name. They may not have made it out. That light is nearer, but it has not turned. Ready now. We'll repeat."

He went through another series of long and short liftings of the blanket. They again paused with the blanket down. Garth stepped out of the fire glow to peer over the water. Lillith followed.

Above the low-hung star another star flashed on and off. Across the silent, glimmering flood of the river came the hoarse blasts of a steamer's whistle, muffled by distance yet unmistakable.

"All right, Miss Ramill," Garth said. "Tell your maid to pack your luggage."

She asked in a low voice: "Haven't I tried to play up? Is it sporting of you to mock me?"

Her face was shadowed. He could not see the look that went with the questions. After a moment, he answered soberly: "It is not, and you have. Permit me to apologize."

"Is that all?"

"What else?" he replied. "You are of course relieved and pleased to be rid of a man you so thoroughly hate. You may rest assured I will not intrude, once you're aboard ship."

"Yes," she murmured, "when Dad and I no longer have any need of you to—"

Her father came staggering down the bank to thrust in between them. "I say, Garth!—don't lie. Is it true the steamer is putting in for us?"

Doubtful of a safe night landing at this unused beach, the steamer captain lay off-shore and sent in a canoe. Garth steadied Mr. Ramill into the birchbark. At the same time Lillith stepped in ahead of her father. She repeated the maneuver when the two Indian paddlers drove the canoe out alongside the little river steamer.

Garth saw no more of the girl until after the steamer tied up at Fort Simpson, the trading post at the mouth of the Liard river. Taken into a stateroom by the wife of a missionary from Fort Norman, she remained in complete seclusion.

Her father kept almost equally close in the skipper's own room. The canny Scot had welcomed the American millionaire to his bunk—for a consideration. The cabin was jammed with fur traders and Fort Norman oil-field officials, who were going outside for the winter. Garth messed and berthed forward with the crew. He kept to his worn buckskins. But a sleet-squall ended the pest of flies and mosquitoes. He was able to shave and cleanse his skin of dope, yet enjoy the fresh air on the unscreened deck.

When the building-topped bluff of Fort Simpson was sighted in the distance, Mr. Ramill left the cabin and came forward. Though not yet fully recovered from his wound, he walked with the springy step of a lean-waisted middle-aged gentleman in healthy training. After the snagged and stained leather suit, the clothes loaned him by the skipper looked startlingly respectable. The same was true of his clean-shaven dope-free skin.

He stopped before Garth, bland-faced, shrewd-eyed.

"I've just heard, my boy, that you think of stopping off at this post. I trust it's not on account of any feeling against me or my daughter. You can't blame her for a bit of resentment. She's a woman, and you certainly put her through the mill. As for myself, I called it quits when you pulled me out of the hole this last time. What'd you say?"

He tossed his half-smoked cheap cigar outward and held out his once-fleebly now firm-muscled hand. Garth gave it a hearty grip.

"All accounts squared, sir, and no hard feelings against either of you. Miss Ramill proved herself far more plucky and sporting than could have been expected. I wish you both bon voyage."

"But for you to be leaving the boat, my boy! There's no need of it. I can arrange for you to get into the cabin. In fact, I'd like the opportunity to talk over matters. We might still get to on these terms you offered."

Garth agreed; but then his smile hardened. "That side of the matter will have to wait. I shall first settle with your friend Huxby."

The millionaire frowned.

"Don't call that murderous hound a friend of mine. His shooting you is understandable. My wounding was of course what he claimed—sheer accident. But for the scoundrel to abandon a helpless girl to starvation! If he was too cowardly to dare her frenzied threats and forcibly take her and me with him in the canoe, he could at least have had the plane come for us."

"If you care for my guess," Garth said, "he was more interested in your daughter as an heiress than as a woman."

"No guess about it. A cold-blooded rascal who would have murdered you for your claim! I'll run him down and make him pay in full for deserting Lillith and me, if it costs a million."

"His punishment will cost you nothing, Mr. Ramill. He has been trapped by his own greed."

"Trapped?"

"Before we came aboard, word was received by radio that a man named Huxby had recorded a platinum placer claim at Fort Smith; that he had bought a large airplane, and flown north with three miners."

Mr. Ramill looked his doubts. "I've heard nothing of it."

"Because I thought best for you not to."

"You! Do you mean to tell me that everyone on this steamer kept mum because you, a mere prospector—"

The millionaire paused. "Have I been blind? You are not a common prospector. There's something about you . . . in spite of your vagabonding about this north country!"

Garth said: "We are talking about Huxby. I've radioed for a Northwest policeman to meet me at Simpson with a plane. The charges are robbery and assault to murder."

"Radioed? The skipper told me his transmitter was out of order."

"By my request, sir. I thought it as well to keep you out of the affair. It is possible Miss Ramill may have recovered from her resentment against him. I'll ask you to pardon my going to see if there are any more reports on Huxby's movements."

Though by no means curt, the dismissal was abrupt. Mr. Ramill stood pondering for several moments before he returned to the cabin and went to the door of the stateroom that the Fort Norman missionary's wife had shared with Lillith.

Some time before the steamer nosed in to the landing, Garth made out that the pontooned plane afloat at the waterfront was too small to be one of the regular Bellanca transports. It had no cabin, and only three seats. Foremost of the passengers ashore, he at once climbed the bluff to the post.

As he expected, a red-coated constable of the Northwest police was lounging in the old trading post store-room with one of the Airways pilots. The latter sprang to meet him.

"Hallo, 'Lan—you d—n' lame duck! Helluva note, you squatting in the wet all these months. Could've cruised your frozen hell a hundred times in any old crate."

Garth gripped hands with him. "Lo, Kiwi! I didn't happen to be after airports. There are things you have to rub your nose against to see."

"And smell! I've heard of your Eskimo igloos. Count me out—completely outside. Indian huts are enough and to spare."

Garth sobered to business. "What news?"

"Your man set his bus down here three days ago. Hopped off PDQ, with all she could heave up under—gas and oil."

The constable had stood at attention. He met Garth's glance with a salute. "All ready, sir."

"Good work, Dillon. One question—those three miners?"

"Broke prospectors, sir. Records, far as known, not savory. But none of the bunch is wanted, and they're not newcomers from across the border. They'll know enough not to interfere when I take my prisoner."

The post factor came hastening in to shake hands. "Pardon my absence, Mr. Garth. Was up the Liard. It's a great pleasure to have you stop off with us. If you plan to take in dogs, I have a picked team that I'd be honored—"

"Thank you, no," Garth cut in. "But I would like a rifle, rabbit underset, winter moccasins, gloves, and three pairs of webs."

He turned to the pilot. "Season more advanced up there. Blizzards off the Selwyns; the lake probably starting to freeze. Enough stream-flow, though, to keep a clear runway for your pontoons, if we don't loiter all week."

He went into a bunkroom to put on the rabbit-fur suit under his buckskins. When he came out, a girl in a plain, ill-fitting gown stood talking to the pilot. The pilot glanced towards him. The girl turned quickly. He found himself face to face with Lillith Ramill.

Yet it was not the greasy, blotchy marked face of his canoe companion.

Nor was it that deep-lined rouged and powdered face with scarlet-smearred lips that had sneered at him on Tobin's wharf. It was a face smooth and firm, vivid with life and vitality. Only the blue eyes were hard.

"Alan Garth," she said, "I've learned all about it. You're going back there—after him!"

"Sorry, Miss Ramill. It's not revenge, if that's what you think. I tried to spare you. But, if you must have it, he is a thief."

The girl's eyes flashed. "Worse! He's a cowardly murderer. That is why I too am going to see him taken prisoner."

"You?"

"Yes. I am going to see him cringe, the sneaky beast! Do you think I've forgotten how he crept up and shot you when you weren't looking? And what if he didn't intend to shoot Dad? He left him to die. If that's not enough, must I tell you how he taunted me? He jeered that I'd be starved into welcoming him by the time he came back for me."

"Yet that's no reason why you—"

"It is! You shan't go without me. If you refuse, there's another plane just come. I'll make Dad charter it for me. I'll have the pilot tag after you!"

Garth studied her gravely. She stared back at him, hotly defiant. He pretended to accept her reasons for wanting to go:

"You most certainly are a good hater, Miss Ramill. One thing, though. The valley is about to freeze up. It will not be the summer paradise we left. We may land in a blizzard."

She looked around the store. "Where are those Eskimo suits you told me about?"

At that he smiled a bit grimly. "This is Indian country. You shall have rabbit and buckskins." He turned to the factor: "Add the lady's outfit to my account." To the pilot: "Kiwi, this is where you are to fit your name. You're going to be a wingless ground bird."

"You Most Certainly Are a Good Hater, Miss Ramill."

"Oh, have a heart, 'Lan!"

"Three is a crowd, and she is it. Ask her father."

For the first time the girl betrayed a trace of doubt. "But we'll have to have a pilot."

Kiwi stared, then grinned at the joke. "Lady, what you don't know about our boy friend would appear to be quite a considerable.—All right, you lame duck, go hog the joystick. Do I stay planted or take the watercraft?"

"Steamer. Southbound planes are apt to be overcrowded, with everyone coming out," Garth replied. "Now, Miss Ramill, we'll go down and get your father's visa on your passport."

Constable Dillon put in a word: "It's not on the cards, sir, to take along a young lady. If this Huxby tries to act up—"

"He's your meat, Dillon. I'll stand responsible for Miss Ramill."

Down at the waterfront, Garth went over the plane with his pilot friend. There was a full load of gasoline and a change of oil. To the week's supply of provisions, he added the three pairs of snowshoes and the new rifle. With the rifle came enough cartridges to refill the belt that still held his knife and belt-ax.

Lillith had gone aboard the steamer. She returned with her father. He looked worried. She had put on her Indian-woman costume—buckskins, moccasins, fur cap and gloves. The millionaire chose to lay the blame on Garth.

"Have you gone insane? No more than get her out of that muskell hell, and you want to drag her back to your infernal hole in desolation!"

"The lady's choice, not mine."

"Well, you're taking her."

"How can I help it, sir? You are her father. Why not assert your paternal authority?"

Lillith brushed aside their trifling. "Which is my seat?"

"The rear.—Close her in, Kiwi."

She turned to fling her arms around her father and kiss him. It was the only caress Garth had ever seen her give anyone.

As he put on his pilot friend's helmet and goggles, the constable mounted to the middle cockpit. Kiwi handed the girl into the rear one. He drew over her head the shatterless glass cowl that almost covered the opening.

Garth spoke a last word to her anxious father: "In all probability, sir, we'll overtake you within three or four days. May, however, have to lay over, in case of storm. If fog or snow makes us miss you on your way out, we'll probably meet at Fort McMurray."

Mr. Ramill came close. "Garth, there's something I can't understand. This crazy notion of Lillith's, I mean. It's not mere willfulness. She has something in mind."

"Wants to see the handcuffs slipped on Huxby," Garth replied. "Can you blame her? Mangled vanity. Had believed he loved her for herself at least as much as for her inheritance. 'Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned'—all that, you know."

"Not all, Garth—no! There's something else. I can't make her out. Something different about her."

"Perhaps she'll tell you when we come out. I'll of course do what I can for her."

Garth shook hands, and swung aboard the small craft. At a sign from him, the displaced pilot gave the propeller a spin. The plane swung around, to taxi downstream.

There was no hurry. Had Huxby schemed to fly into the valley merely to stake the placer in his own name and hop out again, he would not have taken the three miners. He undoubtedly had planned to do his season's assessment work. That would mean a shaft sunk to bedrock, so that he could bring out a load of the platinum-gold alloy.

Midway of the down river flight, the three-seater ran into a sleet squall. Garth dropped to the water and tied up under the lee of a spruce-black point. When Lillith demanded to know the cause of the delay, he explained how sleet may put a plane into a spin by freezing on the wings.

The squall blew over, leaving everything sheeted with ice. Garth and Constable Dillon knocked clear the front edge of the wings. Another hop brought the party to the emergency refueling post, shortly before sundown. This time Lillith Ramill did not refuse Tobin's crude hospitality. She troubled the old sourdough far more by insisting upon watching his preparation of supper and breakfast.

He could not at first believe she was the painted lady who had scoffed at his "garbage." She not only refrained from scoffing, she ate his bacon and porridge as heartily as Garth and the policeman.

The moosehide canoe lay upturned on the bank beside Garth's old birchbark. Tobin had at once told Huxby's story. According to the engineer, the lady and her father were still marooned in the mountains. He had come out with Garth to fetch a plane for them. But Garth had been killed by a wounded she-grizzly.

Gypsy Race Much Mixed; Fourteen Dialects Used

The gypsy race is now a very much mixed one, with elements of the blood of all of the countries in which they have resided; and gypsies from one part of the world may present characteristics and appearances quite different from those of another part, notes a correspondent in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The English word gypsy reflects the old belief of many countries that the gypsies were Egyptians. In other countries they were called Tartars. The old agreement of the traditions concerning them was that they had come to Europe out of the east.

Modern inquiry has revealed a good deal of their true history, however, and has established that the race is originally from northwestern India. Bands of the inhabitants of this region were driven away from their homes and set wandering by hordes of northern invaders which swept down upon them in the Ninth century.

These forebears of the modern gypsy moved into Kabulistan and Persia, and ultimately filtered through Syria into Egypt and northern Africa and through Turkey into Europe. There are now 14 or more distinct dialects of their language in European countries—indicating their widespread distribution.

Languages and Tongues

Language is a term that is applicable to any mode of conveying ideas, whether by speech, writing, hieroglyphics or a system of gestures or pantomime. Even the deaf have several languages, but cannot be properly said to have "tongues." Tongue is an English term for the spoken language of a particular people, as the French tongue, the German tongue, and so on. Meillet and Cohn in "The Languages of the World" index 6,790 named tongues and systems of writings. That work classifies speech as of (2) town, (3) river, (4) mountain, (5) river.

PAGAN DANCE SHOCK AUTHORITY

"Love Cults" Organized at Indian Reservation.

Tucson, Ariz.—Shocked at reports of pagan dance orgies involving Indian boys and girls of high school age, Arizona peace officers have started investigations on the reservations.

Murder charges were filed here against Miss Teresa Lewis, accused of killing her newly born child on the Papago reservation. Several other cases in which young girls are alleged to have killed their babies were under consideration by T. B. Hall, reservation superintendent.

Pima county authorities jalled three Yaquis after a battle between the Indian villages of Barrio Libre and Barrio Pascua in which primitive war clubs and axes were used.

United States Probation Officer Will F. Murdoch went into the Apache country to investigate charges that under the guise of staging age-old ceremonies, certain bands of renegades were practicing gross immorality, and that boys and girls of teen age were in love cults.

Government attorneys prepared to try in Globe, Ariz., two Apaches accused of slaying their wives after affairs with young girls.

Colorado river agency officials at Parker sought to end a wave of attacks on Indian women.

M. K. Sniffen of the Colorado agency issued an indictment of the Indian bureau for permitting the dances.

"The Indians have been told that they can have all of the dances they wish any time," he declared. "They are not obliged to ask permission and as a result there is no protection for the younger generation. These dances are usually followed by an indiscriminate orgy."

"The usual practice is for the girls to be given liquor by the older men and then herded off into 'love cults.'"

"The old Indian custom of marriage was usually permanent but now the young people, when they do marry, do so only as a temporary arrangement and they will leave each other on the slightest pretext and take up with some one else."

Transforms Cloth Metal in Few Minutes
Machine which in a few minutes will change your hat from soft felt to metal, the density of any trench helmet, has been in the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago. The machine will metalize almost anything, originally intended to apply layers of copper, steel, aluminum, lead or other metals to worn-out shafts and bearings. It may now begin a fad in metalized articles of clothing.

The device, which in itself looks simple and complicated, is rather simple in operation. It consists of a turbine which spins around three times a minute and with compressed air, acetylene and it will change a pure metal into small incandescent particles. These particles are fired by a "gun" and bombarded against the object to be coated. The metal is transferred to wood, cement, and other materials speedily and permanently.

FLOYD COUNTY TO RECEIVE $22,869

STATE MONEY TO BE EXPENDED FOR IMPROVEMENT OF ROADS IN COUNTY

Special to The Times

Frankfort, Ky., March 6—Floyd county will receive $22,869.96 annually which will be spent for improvement of county roads under supervision of the state highway department.

This money will be spent in the county under provision of the recently enacted law which provides substantial aid in county road improvement by the highway department. This action was sponsored by Governor Chandler in accord with his pledge to provide state assistance to the counties for road improvement.

The money is to be spent by the highway department "in accordance with previously agreed to and accepted plans prepared jointly by the fiscal courts of the several counties and the highway commission." It is further specified the money "shall be expended by or under the direction of the highway commission and no part of the money shall in any event be turned over to the fiscal court of any county."

Effect of the law is to give considerable aid to the counties in improving the roads which are the responsibility of the fiscal court. Road machinery and equipment of the highway commission will be used, as will its engineering facilities, to improve the roads which the fiscal court, regard as most needful of improvement. This aid is supplemental and in no way interferes with the fiscal court's road program as now administered.
