GOVT AGENCIES FACTUAL REPORT IN FLOYD SHOWN

$155,696.61 App. Figure
Spent; Local Commodity
Department Reports

STATE ESTIMATE GIVEN

Facts and figures from the report of the state director for National Emergency
Council regarding the actual expenditures of the various governmental agencies in this county was submitted to our office a few days ago.

Mr. Lorenzo K. Wood, state
director, in his letter, states
that each citizen "is entitled to know the facts and then draw his own conclusions as
to the practical value and usefulness of same."

In this summary operations
report of federal emergency
agencies, showing expenditures as of various dates, the latest being Oct. 1, it is disclosed that the different government agencies have spent in Floyd county approximately $1,155,696.61. Public Works Administration for the state
was given at $26,049,155.00
and the Big Sandy district has received through the Farm Credit Administration a total of $42 loans.

Space does not permit an itemized statement as rendered, but some of the main items
are listed as follows:

- Home Owners Loan Corporation—12 loans closed—27,305.
- Federal Housing Administration—(loans insured)—147
loans, $34,988.
- Civil Works Administration
126,842.
- Federal Emergency Relief Administration (FERA) —
$1,977.

Administration—tobacco con-

GEORGE GOBLE, 65, DIES OCTOBER 28

George Goble, 65 years old,
victim of high blood pressure, died October 28, at the Over Valley hospital. Married of high blood pressure, Goble was one of Floyd county's best citizens and had
many friends and relatives.
He was married to Miss Sallie Hubbard, who succeeded him in death. To this union were born five children,
George Goble of Garrett; Mrs.
Laferty and Mrs. Susan
Goble of Emma; Hi Taylor
Goble of Gulgare; Charley
Goble of Emma, and Mrs.
Mary Belle Hall of Portsmouth.

He was later married to Miss Lottie Spears and to this union was born the following children: Everett, Ruth Samuel, Tommie, Albert, Troy
and Billie Arnold.

He is survived by his widow,
Lottie Goble, and 12
children. He is also survived by five brothers: Jacob N.
Goble of Waynesburg, Ky.;
William and James Goble of Emma; Alex Goble of Ivel,
and Lolie V. Goble of Lancer.
Funeral services were conducted October 29 from the Methodist Church at Emma
by Rev. Isaac Stratton, assisted by John Laferty, in charge. Funeral was under direction of E. P. Arnold.

MRS. FRANCIS HONORED WITH SHOWER OCT. 30

On Friday evening, October 30, the Auxier Hotel was the scene of one of the outstanding social events of the season when a recent bride, Mrs.
Robert Day Francis, nee, Miss Imogene Endicott, was honored by a miscellaneous
shower given by Mrs. Victoria
Spradlin, Miss Virgie Mc-
Combs and Miss Anna Martin.
The guests, numbering more than a hundred, were greeted by the hostess and ushered
into the spacious dining room,
which was profusely decorated with fall flowers.

Misses Jane Hamilton Clark
and Judith Morgan Davidson,
charming members of Pres-
tensburg's younger set, received the gifts and presented
them to the lovely honoree,
who, with her assistants, Mrs.
Arthur Johns Archer and Miss Vivian Hatcher, presided at a lace covered table in the dining room.

As the many beautiful gifts
were opened they were arranged for display on tables
about the room by Miss Minnie Grace Harris, Mrs. Curt Homes and Mrs. Sam Isbell.

After the gifts were opened
and the donors graciously thanked by Mrs. Francis, the guests were entertained with a violin solo by Jane Clarke.
Then a group of readings,
very appropriate to the occasion, was delightfully presented by Mrs. E. P. Hill, Jr.
Following this, Miss Kathryn Stumbo and Miss Helen Darnell gave as a duet a clever
and original arrangement of
well known songs chosen to tell the story of "The Romance of Jean and Bob."

At the close of the program,
a dainty salad course, carrying out of a color scheme of pink and green, was served.
Assistance was rendered by the bride's mother, Mrs. Emma Endicott, Mrs. J. M. Weddington, Mrs. J. B. Clarke, Miss Anna Harris, Ruth
Oppenheimer, Dona Bailey,
Rose Ranier, Zena Dare Daniels.

STEPHENS, MOLES ELECTED TRUSTEES

New Ruling Changes Six- Members Board to Five Trustees

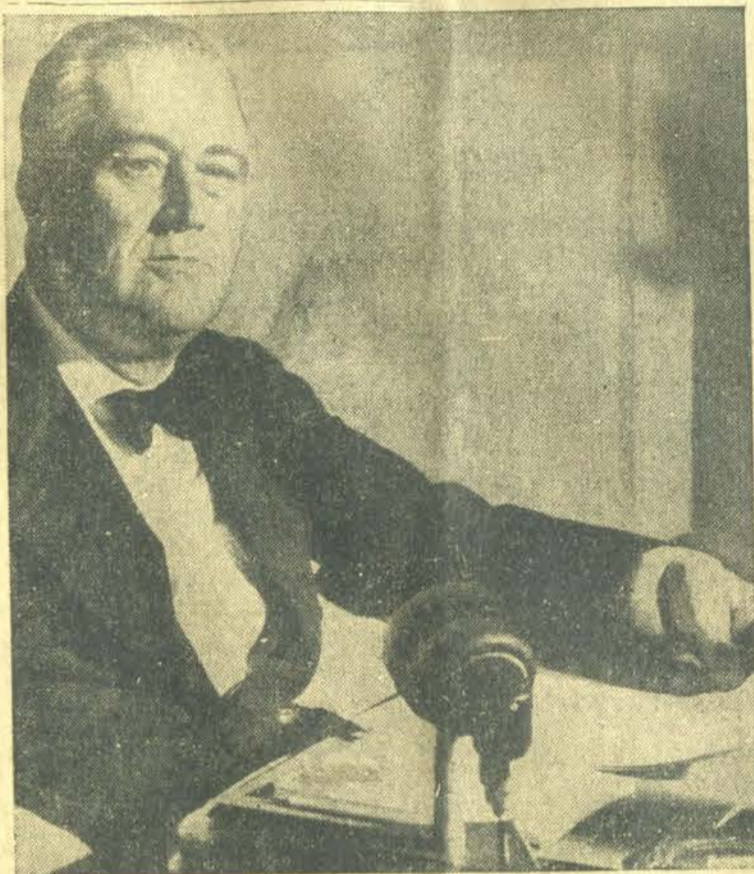

Dr. O. T. Stebhens, Prestons-
burg physician, and Lon S.
Moles, railway agent, were victorious in the school election here Tuesday over Carl Corbin engineer, and Graham
Harris, teacher, for membership on the city school board.

Three vacancies were created by the expiration of
terms of Roy Perry, Martin J.
Leete and W. A. Spradlin on a six member board. A late ruling changed the body to a membership of five, leaving
two positions to be filled by this election. Those of the former board still serving are Richard Spurlock, Heber
Burke and Mrs. W. J. May.

The vote, by precinct as cast
in the local school race is listed as follows:

- Prestonsburg No. 1—Moles
264; Stephens 282; Corbin
160; Harris 141.
- Prestonsburg No. 2—Moles
196; Stephens 206; Corbin
53; Harris 59.
- Depot No. 3—Moles 118;
Stephens 112; Corbin 45;
Harris 76.
- Cliff—Moles 22; Stephens
23; Corbin 47; Harris 32.

DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE SWEEPS NATION; ROOSEVELT RE-ELECTED

Roosevelt Wins All States But Two; Total Vote of Nation Reaches 40,000,000; District Goes Dem.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt,
first as a candidate, then as an issue and finally, when the smoke of the campaign cleared up, as the choice of over 25,000,000 voters throughout the nation, was re-elected elected President of the United States as the polls recorded a record breaking voting spurge on Nov. 3. Indications point toward Gov. Alf M.
Landon receiving near 15,
000,000 votes.

In stamping their approval
on the "New Deal" and its functioning, the people not only selected Roosevelt, with a probable electoral college
vote of 523 to 8 and gave him 46 of the 48 states, but they elected about 75 percent of the state office holders as Democrats, including 33 governorships and 437 congressional seats and a number of other minor offices.

The state of Kentucky,
which registered unofficially
600,000 Democrats and 463,
000 Republican, had cast
470,295 for Roosevelt and 325,279 for Landon, according to information here Friday morning in incomplete returns. The people of the state will be represented by eight Democrats and one Republican in Congress. Late st reports showed M. M. Logan (D) leading Robert P.

ROUND-UP OF FLOYD

STARS TO APPEAR AT NEW THEATRE HERE

More than 50 of the finest amateur entertainers in this county will participate in Harrison Elliott's Floyd county Round Up of Stars, which will be held on the stage of the new Abigail theatre Monday night, November 9.

The Round Up will be a variety show consisting of old
time music and dancing, classical instrumental and vocal solos, tap dancing and popular songs.

Mr. Elmer G. Sulzer, director of radio for the University of Kentucky, acknowledges
Mr. Elliott's invitation to be present at the Round Up, and Don Becker hopes to have a representative of WLW in attendance.
The Abigail has just recently opened, and is running pictures, 15 to 30 days after release, with popular price admission.

Lucas (R) almost 148,000.
Democratic candidate for
clerk of the court of appeals,
court of appeals judge and a railroad commissioner, were elected by substantial majorities.

District returns show Pike,
11,382; Roosevelt, 8,210 Landon; Floyd, 7,962; Roosevelt,
3,337; Landon; Perry, 6,757;
Roosevelt, 4,601; Landon;
Letcher, 6,231; Roosevelt;
3,849; Landon; Johnson, 3,050;
Roosevelt, 4,257; Landon;
Magoffin, 2,554; Roosevelt;
2,577; Landon; Martin and Knott county reports were not available.

Floyd county gave Mill's M.
Logan (D) 7,932 in electing him U. S. Senator over Robert
H. Lucas, (R), who polled
3,398. Chas. O'Connell received
7,717 votes; to R. Lee Stewart's 3,580 for clerk of the court of appeals.

George B. Martin, Democratic elector, received the highest number of votes, 7, 962, among the 22 making
bid for a place in the electoral college. Floyd county voters presented each Democratic elector with a total of above 7,500 votes. The highest number of votes cast for
a Republican elector was for
Dr. J. C. Sparks, who received 3,375.

THREE NEW BUILDINGS BEING ERECTED HERE; ESTIMATED COST, $11,500

A brick and tile store building, located at the corner of Mayo Trail and Friend street
being built by A. H. Spradlin
on his property at this location, was started Friday. It is a two story structure, containing a storeroom on the first floor and apartments upstairs.
Estimated to cost about $5, 000.

About one block from the Spradlin building site, on property acquired from Will
H. Layne for a consideration of $1,000, McKinley Sparks
has started erection of a six
room frame dwelling, 28x38
feet, and a storage garage for buses to be 30x60 feet. The Sparks lot is located between the Hamilton and Derossert properties on Mayo Trail. The total cost of both buildings
will be approximately $6,500.

MRS. ANDY BRANHAM IS CALLED BY DEATH

Death came to Mrs. Andy Branham, at the home of daughter, Mrs. Laura Leslie,
of Emma, Ky., on Monday, November 2. She had been ill
for some time, and had a host of relatives and friends who will regret to learn of her passing. She was 76 years old and had been a member of the M. E. Church, South, for 30 years. Mrs. Branham was preceded in death by her husband, and is survived by the following children:

Laura Leslie, Emma; Lillie
Harris, Lucasville, O.; Alice
Ward, Glo.; Turner Branham,
Lancer; Rhoda Clark, Rock
House, Ky.; Annie Elkins,
Dwale, Ky.; Fred Branham,
San Diego, Cal. One brother,
George Garrett, Emma; one
sister, Lucy Harmon, Paints
ville.

She talked and told them
that she was ready to go. She also leaves 14 grandchildren,
and two great grandchildren.
She had always been a dear,
sweet mother, one that we can never forget, and on her deathbed she called us children to her bedside and told us not to worry, as she was ready to go.

Burial was made in the Leslie cemetery at Emma. Funeral services were conducted by Revs. J. M. Laferty and James Roark. Burial was made under the direction of E. P. Arnold.

FIVE WIN PLACE ON ALLEN CITY BOARD

The recent election held Tuesday gave Allen, Ky., located at the mouth of Beaver Creek, a new city board. The successful candidates are Felix Chisp, J. T. Parks, Herman Porter, Henry Porter, Jr. and Eugene Allen.

The candidates and their
listed votes are given as follows:

- Felix Crisp, 111; J. T. Parks,
103; Herman Porter, 102;
Henry Porter, Jr., 98; Eugene
Allen, 94; Frank Parsons, 7;
Henry Fields, 6; Lige Porter,
1.

BLACKCATS GET HALLOWE'EN FRAY

Lick Van Lear Mules, 12-6; Barboursville Next

Hallowe'en is still a time
for Blackcats, as last Saturday proved. And that is true
even though charging Van Lear Mules, make up the opposition.

The Prestonsburg "Cats",
knowing the day was theirs,
played rigorous football to outpoint the Johnson county
team, 12 to 6, in an exciting
44 minute exhibition on Van Lear's versatile terrain. Lead
was badly cut about the heading at 6 to 0 in the half, the visiting team added another
counter in the fourth period;
but not long afterward let
the crack Van Lear back get through it, defense for a Mule touchdown. All tries for extra point failed.

In winning the fourth high school contest of the year the Blackcats displayed rather varied football, at time playing a bit erratically, and fum-bling too much; but on the whole being in the game
sturdily and very much alive.
Blocking was of a high order,
and the line did some impressive hole opening. One inspector who has played the game
and knows something of it
said the Black and Gold looked the best he had seen them.

MAY VICTORIOUS IN 7TH DISTRICT; MAJORITY 8,672

Imposing Margin Won From Five of Eight Counties. Mollette Opponent

MAY'S MAJORITY LARGE

A. J. May, Democratic incumbent, of this city,
running for re-
election to membership in Congress from the 7th district composing Floyd,
Knott, Pike,
Letcher, Perry, Johnson
Martin and Magoffin, was ushered into office by a majority of
near 8,672 votes as a result of Tuesday's polls. Mr. May won five out of the eight
counties over his opponent,
John B. Mollette, of Van Lear,
Johnson county.

The counties favoring Congressman May and the majorities are Floyd, 2483; Knott, 2521; Pike, 2919; Letcher,
2128; Perry, 2180. These figures represent a total margin
in these counties of 12,231.

Mr. Mollette gained three counties, as follows: Martin, 1254; Johnson, 2043; Magof-fin, 262. His margin in these three sum up to 3559 votes.
In polling almost 40,000
votes in the district, Mr. May won by the largest majority
that he has ever attained in any previous general election in a normally Republican district.

MAGGARDS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Maggard
and daughters narrowly escaped death Sunday, November 1, en route here from their home at Frankfort,
when their car was struck by
another at Broke Leg Falls,
near Frenchburg, in a head-
on collision, driven by an official of the Southern Oil and Tire Co. of West Virginia.

Mrs. Maggard, who will be remembered as the former remembered as Miss Oriole Stephens of Allen, was seriously injured, having a severe cut across the right
cheek extending behind her
ear to the back of the head.
She was moved Tuesday from Frenchburg to a Winchester, Ky., hospital. Mr. Maggard
sustained a bad cut below
the knee, which necessitated
his being put to bed Wednesday. Ruth Ann, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maggard,
was badly cut about the head.

She, along with the younger child, Sally Frances, and Miss Ada Maggard, niece of Mr.
Maggard, who were riding in the back seat of the car at
the time of the accident and escaped serious injury, were brought to the home of Mr.
Maggard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Stephens, at Allen
Monday. Mr. Maggard is director of the National Youth Administration. Late reports received was that both Mr.
and Mrs. Maggard were slightly improved Thursday.

Negro Spirituals

The droning chants of the primitive African still appear in many of our spirituals and are usually found in the communal part of the refrain. I know of no spiritual where this is more effective than in "Poor Mo'ner's Got a Home at Last," a combination of the ejaculations of primitive times refrains and a wordless hum or chant. Negroes are fond of humming and often resort to it when they do not know the words. This is quite common among the negro in the days just after lining hymns had gone out of whites and was much more subtle and a sufficient number of hymn books had not been acquired. Even when the words are perfectly known, the negro often secures fine effects by having many hum while a few sing. The success some years ago of the Russian Symphonic Choir in America shows what can be done with humming.

Rhythm is the big thing in a spiritual. If there are not enough syllables for the melody, the negro adds "a many a man" and "a Sunday." All of these expressions have good ancestry, but the one who uses them is not aware of this. The rhythm of the negro's songs differs from that of ours by being a rhythm of the whole body. A negro does not have to beat time to keep up with rhythm of his song; his body does that for him.

Most negro songs imply a leader, not necessarily out in plain view beating time. He adds the new stanzas or lines while the throng is singing the communal refrain. A good illustration of this is found in the most famous spiritual of all, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot." The leader sings "I'm sometime, up, I'm sometime, down;" the refrain replies, "Coming for to carry me home;" and so on through the entire song, where every alternate phrase is sung by the leader, followed by the phrase sung by the crowd.

Floyd Men Take Knight Templar Work in Pikeville

Pikeville Commandery No. 45, Knights Templar, conferred the first two degrees last Monday night on Dr. Henry E. Hughes, of Prestonsburg, and Dennis Martin and John C. Stephens, of Pikeville, who work in the Illustrious Order of the Red Cross. The ceremony was conferred by Em. Sir C. P. H. son, Sovereign Master, assisted by Em. Sirs E. D. Wells, W. W. Barrett, S. M. Cecil, S. H. Fields and Sir Knight C. E. Grote. The work in the Priory was conferred by Sir S. M. Cecil and Sir Knight C. E. Grote. Sir Knight Spruill, of Prestonsburg, Sir Knight Chaffin and Sir Knight Gilton, of Martin, were present.

Another convocation of Pikeville Commandery will be held Monday evening, Nov. 9, beginning at 5 o'clock when a class including Prestonsburg Masons will receive the degree. The annual banquet will be served the Sir Knights present as guests of Pikeville Commandery. KENTUCKY RED CROSS CHAPTERS READY FOR DRIVE TO NET 104,000

J. A. L. Sayer, national representative of the American Red Cross in Kentucky, who has been visiting the various chapters in the State, has announced that practically every chapter has set up its roll call organization for the drive for the Kentucky goal, which has been set at 104,000 this year. Each chapter has been given full information of what the Red Cross has done in Kentucky to relieve distress and suffering caused by floods, tornadoes and epidemics of disease, in which the Red Cross has provided food, clothing, shelter and medicines as well as doctors and nurses to those who needed that assistance.

With the American Red Cross paying back into Kentucky at least four dollars for each dollar it has received in roll call membership in the past four years, Red Cross officials at Washington and leaders in Kentucky have assured Mr. Sayer that the goal set is not unreasonable under the circumstances and that it will be reached by Thanksgiving Day.

The chapters are preparing for an early start Armistice Day and expect to keep up the campaign in the various counties, towns and cities until every Kentuckian has had an opportunity to have a part in this great work.

Mr. Sayer said that in Maysville the Junior Woman's Club has taken over sponsorship of the roll call as one of its public service projects, and it is expected that organizations in other places which desire to be of public service will aid the regular Red Cross workers in the 1936 roll call.

VETERANS TO MEET To All World War Veterans of Floyd County:

You are urged to be present at our next meeting of Post No. 129 to be held on Friday evening, Nov. 6, at the high school gymnasium in Prestonsburg, Ky.

This is going to be one of the most important meetings of our Post for this year. We expect to have Comrade Clyde Sanders, of Pikeville, with us, who is Commander of the Tenth District. At this meeting we shall consider making a fight to get the next district Convention here. If we can win this convention it will mean a great deal to our Post and town. We shall also consider at this meeting plans to renew our drive for members. Our district now stands second in the State. All Auxiliary members are also urged to be present and help us in our plans. Commander Lon Moles urges the presence of all veterans' sons. So, buddies, at this time the election will be over and the political passions will have cooled and we will be free to turn our thoughts to more important matters. Your devoted service, MARVIN MARSHALL, Post Commander, Floyd Post No. 129, W. G. AFRICA, Adjutant.

Here From Pikeville: Bee Whittis, of Pikeville, a business visitor in town Monday.

Armistice Day Thoughts

Armistice Day will soon be here again to remind us of the services rendered the nation by the men and women who took part in the World War.

It is a day set aside for the glory of the illustrious dead, the patriots who gave their lives for the country which they loved. No matter what impelled them, the sacrifice they made cannot be exceeded by others alive today. It is well that a nation tops in its busy rush to pay tribute to the soldiers, sailors, marines, nurses and others who perished.

On the occasion of Armistice Day there is another class of citizens entitled to special consideration at the hands of this Republic. This group includes the wounded and the families of those who died, leaving dependent wives, mothers and children without adequate means of support. They should not be permitted to suffer—not as long as there is a member of the American Legion or any other legion to fight their cause.

Unfortunately, the suspicion exists in the minds of many citizens that the surviving veterans of the war are not so deeply concerned with the welfare of this last named group as they should be. The hardly concealed insinuation is that strong, healthy veterans are today more concerned with what surviving veterans can get from the government than they are with the welfare of fatherless children and husbandless wives, the real victims of the war that did not end war.

We do not make the charge as to local veterans on the anniversary of the cessation of hostilities, some 18 years ago. Until it is clearly and incontrovertibly established by the record, we hesitate to believe it possible, but with reverence to the dead and sympathy to their living dependents, we think that Armistice Day is a good time to take public notice of a suspicion that it is to be answered only by the future conduct of living survivors of a great war.

Grim Warning

There is grim warning in the organization of workers on relief projects and a hint of worse to come in the demands upon the Federal government for higher wages.

When the government, finding millions of people without work, undertakes to provide employment and thus afforded the unemployed an opportunity to earn a living, employing them at a financial loss, to pay more for the work than was necessary to relieve the plight of the idle workers.

The works projects were not undertaken with the idea that the government would get the maximum results from the labor employed but, while understanding the loss that would be sustained, to prevent men and women from suffering because private enterprise had not been able to give them employment during a period of depression. The presumption was that those succored would at least appreciate the hand that was extended to hold them above disaster.

Undoubtedly there are millions of beneficiaries of the government's policy who warmly appreciate what the nation has done for them. Unfortunately there are others who are not quite so thankful. They would respond to the leadership of unwise agitators and, by their act and attitude, seriously impair the ability of the government to extend such aid to those who need it.

RAT TOLL ENORMOUS

The average housekeeper of this county may be inclined to dismiss the presence of a few mice in the house, and the average farmer may look upon the rats in his barn as an evil not to be banished, but when you think of the enormous loss inflicted upon residents of the country by these rodents it would seem that everyone would do his part to drive these pests away.

It is estimated by the U. S. Biological Survey that rats cause an annual loss of two hundred million dollars each year in this country. They do enormous damage in the homes, stores, factories, and all so ravage barns on the farms.

According to the authorities who have studied the best ways to prevent this toll, temporary measure of rat control include the use of poisons, traps, and deadly gases. These devices merely eliminate the animals for a short time and do not prevent others from reinfesting premises. Nevertheless, temporary measures are the first consideration in dealing with the rat problem. Permanent control consists primarily in depriving rats of their necessities of life—food and shelter.

$69,999 in Commodities

A report given Thursday by Carl Horn, supervisor of the Floyd commodity department, shows an output of foodstuffs, estimated at an approximate retail value of $69,000 for a period from June 30, 1935, to October 31, 1936. Some of the items picked at random from the report are canned beef, 165,768 pounds; sugar, 18,000 pounds; canned beans, 56,160 cans; dried prunes, 27,780 pounds; apples, 60,000 pounds; cabbage, 26,380 pounds; dried skim milk, 14,640 pounds; flour, 326,854 1/2 pounds; butter, 4,704 pounds; Onions, 36,350 pounds; and other items presenting a total figure of about 743,536 1/2 pounds of food in addition to 2,112 gallons of syrup and 87,818 cans of packed food.

State WPA Work

George H. Goodman, in a letter to The Times a few days ago, stated that over 1,600 projects were either completed or under way at present; 2,000 "back log" or recorded projects already approved in Washington. This work program is applying employment to some 60,000 workers in the state.

Cats Meet Van Lear

came after a steady march down the field to the west goal in the first period, a pass from Mavo to Craft accounting for a handy portion of the gain. Then from Van Lear's 10 yard line, Roark double reversed to sweep over the goal line.

A punt exchange marked in good measure, the second period. The ball was exchanging hands rather frequently after the beginning of the second half. Mickle intercepted a pass to end a Black Cat effort at scoring; Prestonsburg got the ball again on a fumble; and Van Lear recovered when Spears lunged through to cover a Black and Gold fumble.

Shortly after the Mules threatened to even the score, with Mickle and Cecil making gains, first down being made on the Cats' 11 yard line; and Mickle, and King advancing the ball up to the five yard stripe. But an incomparable pass, over the goal on the fourth down resulted in a touchback that gave Prestonsburg the ball on its 20 yard line.

Jones Adds Another

In the fourth the Blackcats again opened up, and in good fashion drove the ball to the 10 yard line, from which point Jones, dashing down a broad avenue made by the Cats' forward wall, took it over.

The Van Lear counter came later in the period when Mickle went around his right end from around the 30 yard line for a counter. There was some dispute over the touchdown, it being claimed by some that the Mule halfback went out of bounds, but the final ruling favored the score.

Craft and Jones, made other good gains for the Cats before time was called.

Holcomb did note worthy work in a line that worked quickly and true; while Craft and Jones stood out in the backfield for a good portion of the game.

Strong Mule Defense

The Mules' defense was brave and strong; the tack line hearty; but the offense was not so certain or poised. Captain Young played well for the blue team, while Mickle was the shining light of the backfield.

Van Lear's rolling field—reminding one with its hill side and valley of a study in physical geography more than a football court; and the conduct of a good many spectators marred an otherwise interesting contest. Drunkenness, profanity and lack of sportsmanship, characterized by much whining, were unhappy side-line features. And the guilt was any thing but all on the Johnson county side.

Prestonsburg goes to Barbourville this Friday and then to Hazard for the next encounter, winding up the season on the home gridiron, with those near home foes—Pikeville and Paintsville.

MANY MEETINGS HELD BY CHEVROLET COMPANY

What is said to be the largest schedule of meetings in the annals of American industry—a convention held simultaneously in 50 cities from coast to coast with more than 35,000 in attendance—is being held this week by the Chevrolet Motor Company in preparation for announcement of its new 1937 cars on November 7.

The meetings are being directed from Detroit by W. E. Holler, vice president and general sales manager, who recently acted as host to 1,000 Chevrolet field executives at a four day convention in Detroit and at the General Motors proving grounds. Holler himself is officiating at many of the meetings in the field.

Exhaustive surveys of the market, coupled with a knowledge of the product it will offer, and the organization it will put behind that product, have led Chevrolet to project its 1937 sales at 1,200,000 units, Mr. Holler explained. The purpose of the present conventions throughout the field is to lay before the company's 10,000 dealers, and 5,000 retail sales managers and 20,000 retail salesmen the details of the program whereby it expects to achieve that end. Special emphasis, he said, will be laid upon plans for announcing the new models, which make their bow Nov. 7. "The nine regional managers and 47 zone managers who saw and drove the new car during the recent sales convention, and who after seeing it enthusiastically accepted the challenge to break all previous records, during the coming year, are now relayed to the retail selling organization all the product information and sales plans received here," said Mr. Holler.

"Although business and industry in general stand to benefit through increased automotive sales, Detroit and Michigan have an even greater stake in the outcome of the present meetings, for the stimulus of increased volume of sale, will be felt here first. In will be reflected in increased payroll, for Detroit and Michigan workers increased tonnage for Michigan railroads and intensified activity for the many hundreds engaged in administrative and office capacities here."

Even prior to the new car announcement, Mr. Holler said, advance orders from dealers all over the country have reached a volume unprecedented at this period, making it necessary to swing into production as fast as the manufacturing and assembly plants, recently retooled at a cost of $26,000,000, can be placed in operation. The large plants located here are now

I AM a light specialist. As the Lighting Service Man for this Company I go into business concerns and industrial plants to prescribe proper lighting. It is my function to measure the light as it is when I make my visit, with the little measuring device called a "Light Meter," and then to suggest what the illumination for a given job SHOULD be.

Our job is to show a customer how he can get the maximum benefits from his existing lighting equipment. By merely cleaning the lighting fixtures the illumination is improved and therefore displays merchandise to better advantage.

The astonishing fact developed by our visits to business establishments is that the star salesman, "light," has only been working in many places at from one half to three quarters of its maximum efficiency.

This is the seventh of a series of advertisements presenting the people behind your electric switch.

Kentucky and West Virginia POWER COMPANY

Cleaning of lighting fixtures and lamps will increase your illumination 10% to 15%, depending upon the amount of dirt in the air.

Electricians get out of our mental impressions are through the eyes, therefore good lighting is essential.

It is estimated that 50% of the customers who visit your store have uncleaned or defective lamps. This should be considered in planning your lighting system.

Sarah Ann's Cooking Class

Oysters may be served the year around, the fresh ones are taboo during the summer months because of their poor flavor. But canned oysters which are wholesome may be eaten at any time. For the stew the small ones are preferred, while the large ones are best for other dishes. In preparing oysters, run the oysters through the fingers so that every bit of shell may be removed. Then rinse in cold water.

Baked Oysters and Macaroni

2 cups cooked macaroni
1 pint oysters
Crumbs
4 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup grated cheese
1/2 cup light cream
Salt, pepper
Use a greased baking dish about 7 inches in diameter and 3 inches deep. Cover the bottom of the dish with crumbs. Add a layer of macaroni and sprinkle with grated cheese. Add a layer of the oysters, sprinkle with crumbs, salt, pepper. Make alternate layers of the macaroni and oysters until the dish is filled, leaving a layer of crumbs and oysters on top. Add the heated cream from the side of the dish. Bake in an oven 400 degrees until the crumbs are brown.

Oyster Shortcake

4 pound mushrooms
1 tablespoon of finely diced onion
3 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 cups milk
1 1/2 cups small fresh oysters, including liquor.
1 1/2 cup diced tender celery
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon minced parsley, salt, pepper.

Saute the mushrooms and onion in the butter. Add the oysters, celery, lemon juice and parsley. Season to taste with paprika and salt. Cook over the hot water until the edges of the oysters begin to curl. Serve hot between and over sections of shortcake or baking powder biscuit.

Scalloped Oysters

1 pint oysters
3 1/2 cups of finely rolled cracker crumbs
2 cups milk
1 1/2 cup melted butter
2 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
pepper
Mix the oysters and crackers so that the oysters break apart slightly. Add the butter and the eggs beaten thoroughly. Season with salt and pepper. Pour into a buttered baking dish. Bake 45 minutes in an oven 375 degrees.

Broiled Oysters on Toast

Select large oysters place on toast. Melt 2 tablespoons of butter, add 1 teaspoon salt. 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and pepper. Pour over oysters, put in oven 350 degrees and bake until oysters are curled.

Fried Oysters

2 dozen oysters
2 eggs
Fine bread crumbs
Seasoning
Wipe each oyster dry and sprinkle with salt. Beat the eggs just enough to mix. Dip oysters into the egg, then drop each oyster in the bread crumbs which should be spread on a plate. When coated with crumbs, fry a golden brown in deep fat. Drain on paper and serve with Sauce Tyrolenne made by adding 1 1/2 tablespoon each of chopped parsley, capers and gherkins, and 1 1/2 cup of chili sauce to 1 cup of mayonnaise.

Panned Oysters

1 quart oysters
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons finely grated onion
1 teaspoon parsley, chopped
Pepper, paprika
1 cup milk or thin cream
Toast
Drain the oysters in a colander, removing all juice. Place the butter in a frying pan until it melts. Add the grated onion, oysters, salt, pepper and paprika. Cook for 5 minutes, or until the oysters curl on the edges. Add the cream and parsley and serve immediately on buttered toast.

THE NEW PICTURES

Opinion are based upon the reports of P. S. Harrison, noted New York critic, whose reviews serve as confidential guide, to theatre men all over the United States.

"LIBELED LADY" (MGM) with William Powell, Myrna Loy, Jean Harlow, Spencer Tracy.

Excellent! A sophisticated comedy ably acted by four competent stars. The story is clever. Miss Loy takes the part of a millionaire's (Walter Connolly's) daughter, about whom an untrue story has been printed in a paper edited by Spencer Tracy. William Powell undertake, the suing the paper for $5,000,000 job of keeping Miss Loy from damages. Miss Harlow is enraged to Tracy. Others in the cast are Charlie Grapewin, S. E. Clive and Cora Witherspoon.

Suitable for everybody.

"CAIN AND MABLE" (Warner Bros.) with Marion Davies and Clark Gable.

This has been a lavish production but the story is thin. Marion Davies has the role of a former waitress who gets the lead in a musical show. Clark Gable is a prize fighter who is disturbed by her practicing tap dancing above his hotel room. Roscoe Karns is a publicity mad press agent who builds up a fake romance between them to make them more popular.

The story was written by C. H. Wilmer and included in the cast are Allen Jenkins, Walter Cablett, David Carlisle, William Collier and Ruth Donnelly.

Suitable for all.

"END OF THE TRAIL" (Columbia) with Jack Holt and Louise Henry.

Better than the average western with fast riding and exciting encounter, between rivals, this picture is adapted from the story by Zane Grey.

Jack Holt and Gun Williams are pals who have returned from the Spanish American war. Miss Henry, a nurse, has settled in the same town with her brother, John McQuire. Douglas Dumbrille is a cattle thief.

The killing of a man makes the story somewhat unsuitable

for children. But the story is good for adults.

"THE ACCUSING FINER" (Paramount) with Paul Kelly, Kent Taylor, Marshall Hunt and Harry Carey.

A somewhat ineffective plea against capital punishment but with good acting.

Paul Kelly plays the role of state prosecutor. He is in love with his secretary, Marsha Hunt. His estranged wife, Bernadine Hayes, is killed under suspicious circumstances, and he is accused of the murder. Kent Taylor is the assistant prosecutor.

"15 MAIDEN LANE" (20th Century Fox) with Claire Trevor, Caesar Romero, and Lloyd Nolan.

Caesar Romero is shown as a vicious crook and the head of a gang of jewel thieves. Miss Trevor and her uncle are partners in an insurance company, which has suffered loss through these jewel thieves. She sets out to discover their identities. Lester Matthews, Ralph Harold, Russell Hicks and others are in the cast.

CHAPTER XI—Continued

"Not going out?"
"I'm staying in town."
"Stayin' in town?" stammered Bull, vastly surprised.
"Drive me to the hotel," Jane said wearily. "I'll take a room there. You drive home and come back for me tomorrow afternoon."
It was ten o'clock. Assigned to a room, Jane freshened herself after the long, dusty car ride, bathed her face and temples again and again in cold water, and tried to collect her throbbing thoughts.
It all seemed like a hideous dream. Surely it could be shaken off; surely men could not be so fiendish as to plot fire and so horrible a death as would follow to sleeping men.
Her father! She shuddered. This thought was most horrible of all—indeed—and yet . . .
Of one thing she felt certain: if it were true, she could no longer live under the same roof with him, and the terrifying duty of learning the revolting truth from his own lips confronted her.
And her lover—Bill, blinded Bill—what now of him? Could she ever face him again? What would he say? What would he do?
He knew the truth. No doubt remained in her mind on that point. No need now to ask why he seemed worried and changed. Was he only waiting, trying to decide how to tell her he could not marry her—that her father had blinded him—that they must part?
She threw open her window and kneeling before it, looked out upon the silent, far-stretching desert with its myriad of heavenly lights. The cool air cleared her head. But what could loosen the deadly grief and shame that clung to her pounding heart?

When Dr. Carpy walked into his office from the dining room after breakfast next morning, he saw Jane Van Tassel standing before the window, looking out.
"Why, Jane!" he exclaimed. "What brings you here so early?"
She looked around at him in silence. The doctor walked over to her and laid his hands on her shoulders. "Jane," he asked, "what has happened, girl?"
The grief in her sunken eyes was too apparent.
"Oh, Doctor!" The exclamation came like a burst of suffering long pent. "I know everything."
He saw the fat was flatly in the fire. Indeed he had long had only a faint hope of keeping the facts from Jane. His real hope had been that she might not hear the truth till he could save Denison's eyes and thus cushion the horrid shock that the facts must bring to an innocent sufferer.
She had thrown her arms on the table in front of her. Her head sank between them.
Dr. Carpy rose, walked around to her side, lifted her head and, standing beside her, supported it in his arms. "Jane," he said slowly, looking down into her pitiful eyes, "from what you tell me, I see that you have heard loose stories floating around."
"You, too, have heard them, Doctor. Why, oh, why didn't you tell me?"
"Jane!" exclaimed the doctor, driven from his last stronghold of reserve by the poignancy of her grief. "How the hell could I tell you a story involving those it did in such an affair? Actually, nobody knows just what the facts are. Now we must get started right. First you tell me all you heard. Then I'll tell you all I've heard—is that fair?"
Brokenly, and pausing at intervals to control her voice, Jane gave him the train story.
Carpy had bowed his head.
"Well," he commented as she looked soberly up, "that's not far from what I've been told myself. But, Jane, I'm not a bit sure we have the facts in these stories. They all depend on the word of one of the worst characters in this country. Barney Rebstock wouldn't hesitate at anything low down in the whole range of crime—anybody in town will tell you that. He's not only an ex-convict but the biggest liar in this whole country."
"Doctor," she said solemnly, "does Bill know all that you and I know?"
"Jane," he answered in like, "Bill knows all that you and I know."
"Oh, I knew it. I knew it. To think that poor I should have brought this horror into his life!"
"Jane, that's not so. This might all have happened if you never had seen this country."
"I want you to do one last favor for me, Doctor. Will you?" asked Jane.
"What is it, Jane?"
"I want you to say to Bill that I freely release him from his promise of marriage; that I beg him to forgive me all I have innocently caused him to suffer—and that I will leave here forever."
"Jane!" exclaimed her listener. She raised her hand, "I've not finished yet."
"Go on!" he snapped, bluntly.
"My father has made me his heir to Gunlock ranch; he has no other heir. This morning I will make my will and bequeath whatever I inherit from my father to William Denison, to atone as far as I can for the wrongs my father has done him."
"Well?" remarked Carpy coldly.
"That is all."
"And that is what you want me to tell Bill?"

to know. Oh, if I had another to do it for me, dear Doctor, I wouldn't put it on you."
Carpy rose to his feet.
"Jane, you're sending me on a fool's errand. But seeing I'm nothing but an old fool, I expect I'm just the man for the job. I can tell you now what he'll say as well as if I'd seen him and given him your message. But I know, of course, that wouldn't satisfy you. So I'll go—and go now."
"Now promise," he repeated, in parting, "you will stay right here in this office till I get back."
She promised.
But she was ill prepared for what she saw when the office door was opened half an hour later and Doctor Carpy pushed Denison ahead of him into the office. Bill's eyes were bandaged. He groped a little with his hands, while the doctor guided him to a chair.
"Here he is, Jane," announced Carpy bluntly. "He can speak for himself." She had not an instant to wait. No sooner did Denison feel himself seated in a chair than he held out his arms and said, apparently not with deep feeling, not with pained emotion, but in the most commonplace, everyday, matter-of-fact manner: "Where's my girl? Come here!"

"Bill, I thought you ought at least to have a—"

The old doctor watched Jane run timidly to Denison's side. "Bill!" she exclaimed brokenly. "Here I am!"
"What's all this talk I hear about your quitting me, Jane?" he asked unsteadily.
"Bill, I thought you ought at least to have a—"
"Well, I've had my chance, haven't I? And this is my answer: I'll death us do part! Nothing less, nothing else goes! Is that plain, girlie? I gave you a chance the other day to quit me—what was your answer?"

CHAPTER XII

Jane did not go home that afternoon. She sent Bull and the buckboard back with instructions not to come in for her until she sent word. She wrote a brief note to her father, merely saying that she had attended to his business and would be home in a few days. Van Tassel, in an impatient rage, sent Bull back with an order to Jane to come home at once or not to come home at all.
The harsh message made less impression on his daughter than he had intended; but it did bring back the answer that she would be out soon.
When the buckboard next day drew up at the ranchhouse door, Jane alighted with a fast-beating heart.
Fortunately, when she got home, her father was out in the hills. Her welcome came from Quong; it sort of broke the ice of the home-coming. But she went to her room, got out her two old suitcases, dusted them off, laid them on her bed and, stripping the hooks of her closet and opening the drawers of her dresser, began almost furiously to pack.
While she was at this, she heard the heavy uneven steps of her father in the living room, and the next minute his huge bulk darkened the open doorway of her bedroom.
"Hello!" he snapped.
She turned. "Hello, Father," she responded simply.
"What are you doing?"
"Packing."
"What for?"
"Preparing to go into town."
"What you goin' in town agin' for?"
"I've got a job in town, and I'm going there to work at it."
"What kind of a job?" he snorted.
"I'm going to study nursing at the hospital."
"What the hell you goin' to do that for?"
"Because things have been done from here that make this place hateful to me. I couldn't stand it here any longer."
"What things you talkin' about?"
She looked at him steadily. "I'm talking about burning Bill Denison's ranch house."
"What's that got to do with your quitting home?"

"Everything. Everybody's talking about that fire. Barney Rebstock has told that you paid him for setting fire to a neighbor's ranch house with men sleeping in it."
"Why, that fellow's the worst liar in Sleepy Cat. Nobody believes anything he says."
"I can tell you everybody believes it," she said, trembling.
"Do you believe it?"
"Father, I am forced to unless you can convince me you had nothing to do with it. This wretch has had a pocketful of money."
Van Tassel regarded her with perfect poise. "Why, I did give him a little money. I'll say I've been sorry for him. I know he hates Bill Denison—a good many folks in this country's got no use for that."
"Stop!" cried Jane. "Don't say anything against Bill Denison. He saved my life!"
"—that damned, dirty, ornery rascal and thief—"
Jane's eyes blazed. She stamped her foot. "Don't you dare!" she cried. "What you're saying about him is what everyone in this country says about you."
"Yes? There's some damned mean people in this country," thundered her father. "Just look out yourself, my lady. I don't know any more about that fire than you do. If Barney Rebstock wanted to get even with Denison, that's his business, not mine. You shut your trap."
"That's not all."
"More lies, eh?"
"McCrosen has told in town that you once tried to get him to set the house on fire and he refused to do it."
"He lies! He did do it! I gave him five hundred dollars to do it. He agreed to do it and took the money to do it. If he hired Barney Rebstock to start the fire that's his lookout! I left you here to watch things, and McCrosen has been running off my steers ever since I went to the hospital. He knows I know it. He knows I'm going to get after him. And I will," he shouted with a frightful oath.
"Now look here! I'll tell you where you get off. You're not going a step to town! I know your scheme; you're going to live with that man Denison—"
"Father!"
"Yes, I know you. You don't leave this house!"
Loading every sentence with rage and oaths, Van Tassel seized a suitcase from the bed, dashed it to the floor, stamped on it.
"Now you go to town if you dare," he roared. "And if you leave this house today, never come back—if you do I'll kick you out. Get out of my sight, before I choke you!"
She hurried from the room and from the house.
What should she do? Escape was first in her thoughts, as she hurried by the hill trail. When she could partially collect her distracted senses, she had wandered well into the hills. She threw herself on the ground and tried to think.
She never knew how long she was there. But shadows were lengthening when she rose. She was hungry. There was nothing to do but go down and get something to eat; then, if she could keep out of sight of her father, to start for town.
She walked to the house in fear. But she reached the kitchen without seeing her father. Quong gave her dinner. He told her her father had gone to the Reservation. Afraid that her father would return before she could get away, Jane started for the corral. Bull Page was fastening the gate when Jane walked up to him. "I must go to town, Bull. I want a horse."

"It's again orders, Miss Jane, to let a horse out for you. Gus is a-rarin' mad for some cause."
"I know, Bull. He's angry at me. I can't help it."
Bull scratched his head. "His orders are dead agin' lettin' a horse go out."
"No matter, Bull. Never mind." She started to walk away. "What you goin' to do, Missy Jane?"
She turned with a sorry smile. "Guess I'll have to walk. Good-bye."
"Hold on," he called, hobbling after her. "Hold on! You ain't goin' to walk!"
"Bull, I don't want to make trouble for you. I'll walk."
"Trouble be damned, I've seen Gus mad before—he'll get over it. I'm goin' to saddle a horse."
Jane hesitated. But, dragged out as she was by excitement and worry, she doubted whether she could make town on foot. She surrendered and climbed onto the horse he had saddled.
"Bull," she said, "why do you take all this trouble for me?"
"Why, I'd do anythin' in the world for you, Missy Jane. You're the one person on Gunlock that treats old Bull like a man an' not like a dog. Why, if I up 'n' just died for you, it wouldn't be too much."
"Good-bye, Bull."
"So long, Missy Jane."

A dispute with the agent on the Reservation over a cattle delivery held Van Tassel at Flambeau until late. Bull Page unsaddled and put Van Tassel's horse into the corral.
"Where's Jane's pony?" Van Tassel demanded.
"Why, I guess she's out with it, Gus," suggested Bull.
Van Tassel flared up. "Didn't I give you and everybody else orders not to let her take a horse till I gave permission?"

Wives, Know Yourself!

Accurate Analysis Will Do Much to Overcome Difficulty in Wedded Life

SPEAKING on the question of trial marriages, a well known writer said, "There should be no need for trial when two people know their own abilities and have measured themselves accurately. Two people who understand themselves will never, I believe, have any difficulty living happily together after marriage."
That is a new slant on the question of success in marriage, supplements a woman writer of national fame. Not "Know thy husband" — or "wife," but "know thyself!"
And, come to think of it, isn't most of the discontent and dissatisfaction in marriage traceable to ideas of ourselves—that may be misconceptions, no less than our illusions about the other person?
How many women's dissatisfaction with their husband has as its source the thought of all they gave up to marry him, all they "might have had" if they had married a certain other man?
How many women's discontent with the role of wife and mother springs from the thought of how much more fascinating pastimes they might have had if they had followed that career?
How many girl's impossible expectations of a fulltime lover and Prince Charming originates in an exaggerated notion of their own devastating beauty and charm?

If all discontented wives would look deeply into themselves, measure themselves, stop fooling themselves, many might discover that the other man they might have married is a self-nurtured illusion; that the career of their dreams is not a soft snap and a joy forever; but a grueling, exhausting job which might have worn them out if they had qualified for it, which they probably would have been unable to do; that they themselves are neither devastating beauties nor always charming, but women who are frequently disappointing and difficult to live with. They might discover and admit to themselves that they are greatly in debt to their husbands for many things that make life easier and better and more worthwhile—that they would not get along so well without them.
Then they might think more of doing their part of trying to make those husbands happy. And that effort on the part of one must inevitably go a long way toward a mutually happy and successful marriage.

BOB JOINS THE RANGERS!

I'M STILL CONSIDERING YOU FOR THAT JOB AS FOREST RANGER, BOB... BUT THESE THINGS TAKE TIME, YOU KNOW!

AW—THAT'S WHAT YOU SAID BEFORE! SAY 'YES' OR 'NO,' CAN'T YOU, AND BE DONE WITH IT?

HE'S STALLING! HE KNOWS HE DOESN'T NEED ANY MORE MEN — HE'S GOT TWO RANGERS NOW FOR EVERY TREE!

WELL, I'M DOING ALL I CAN FOR YOU, BOB — YOU'LL JUST HAVE TO BE PATIENT.

HOW CAN I BE PATIENT WHEN MY HEAD ACHES ALL THE TIME? I HAVEN'T HAD A GOOD NIGHT'S SLEEP FOR A WEEK!

TELL HIM HIS HEAD WOULD ACHES, TOO — IF HE EVER TRIED TO THINK! BUT HE'S BEEN SOUND ASLEEP FOR YEARS!

THAT DOESN'T SOUND LIKE YOU WERE PHYSICALLY QUALIFIED FOR THIS JOB, BOB — WHAT DOES YOUR DOCTOR SAY?

AW—HE SAID I'VE GOT COFFEE-NERVES! TOLD ME TO CUT OUT COFFEE AND SWITCH TO POSTUM FOR 30 DAYS—WHAT BUNK!

ASK THIS CLUCK WHAT HAPPENED TO THE RULES THEY HIRED HIM!

WELL, IF YOU WANT TO BE A FOREST RANGER, BOB, YOU'D BETTER DO AS THE DOCTOR ADVISED — THEN SEE ME AGAIN ABOUT THAT JOB!

OH, ALL RIGHT—I'LL TRY IT! I CAN'T FEEL ANY WORSE!

CURSES! IF HE'S SWITCHING TO POSTUM—IT'S ME FOR THE TALL TIMBER!

30 DAYS LATER

I'M STARTING YOU OUT IN THE TOUGHEST RANGE ON THE RESERVE, BOB! I KNOW YOU'LL MAKE GOOD!

THANKS FOR GIVING ME THE CHANCE, CHIEF! I FEEL UP TO ANYTHING—SINCE I SWITCHED TO POSTUM!

OF COURSE, children should never drink coffee. And many grown-ups, too, find that the caffeine in coffee disagrees with them. If you have headaches or indigestion or can't sleep soundly... try Postum. It contains no caffeine. It is simply whole wheat and bran, roasted and slightly sweetened.
You may miss coffee at first, but after 30 days you'll love Postum for its own rich, satisfying flavor. ## BONANZA

The week preceding Halloween was observed with a number of social events by the school.

Thursday night Mr. David Leslie and members of the Citizenship Club gave a winter roast with approximately 25 persons in attendance. Games, relay races and stunts were enjoyed around the bonfire with Mr. Leslie in charge.

Following this event Miss Docia Baldrige entertained at her home Mrs. J. P. Hill and daughters. Barbara and Jeanette, Misses Dorcus Montgomery, Flossie Patton, Lussile Conley and Mildred Hill; Messrs. Henry Hale, Lawrence Conley, Bill Montgomery and Henry Lewis Holbrook.

Mrs. Gladys Stepp and pupils of the primary grades went to Bee Fork this afternoon where they attended a Halloween program given by the school there. Games, for tunes and contests furnished entertainment to the pupils after which candy was served.

Friday evening, Miss Docia Baldrige and students of the 6th, 7th and 8th grades entertained the teachers and students of the high school with a Halloween party. Ghosts appearing in the doorway of the study hall gave a signal for beginning of the party. Guests entered the door "by the light of the moon." After an hour of entertainment refreshments consisting of "bat soup and lizards' liver" were served after which each guest was allowed to fish for a souvenir.

Mr. Ellis Hale, principal here, spent Thursday night in Prestonsburg, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stephens.

Mrs. Henry Baldrige spent a part of last week visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ray Stephens, and Mr. Stephens of Prestonsburg.

Woodrow Adams, teacher at Furton, and Boyd Holbrook were in Bonanza Sunday.

Bert Harmon, of the CCC spent a part of the week with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Pat Harmon here.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Frazier and Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Frazier were guests Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hall.

Dorcus and Bill Montgomery, students of Bonanza high school, were called to their home last week end on account of the illness of their mother, Mrs. Dayrus Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler Sloan spent last week end visiting Mrs. Sloan's mother on Middle Creek.

Teachers who spent the week-end here were Miss Naomi Spradlin, Messrs. Tommy Hall and Tom Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Ratliff had a guests Saturday night, Mr. Ratliff's mother.

WHEELWRIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rose, Robert Reed and George Bilups attended the Alabama Kentucky football game at Lexington Saturday.

Annual Halloween Carnival sponsored by the P. T. A. was a big event. It was held in the high school gym Saturday night.

The decoration scheme was very good. The lights were covered with orange crepe paper, lending an orange light to everything. Pumpkins were carved in the shape of horrible faces and lighted with candles. The booths were arranged very attractively around the walls of the gym.

From Thursday until after school closed Friday afternoon an election ensued for King and Queen of the carnival. Winners were not notified until shortly before the dance Saturday night. The audience was pleased when Mildred Childers and Elmer Ferguson led the march as King and Queen. Rowena Latifik, who won the beauty contest, crowned Miss Childers, Queen and Mr. Ferguson King. The audience applauded for them then joined in a march played by the orchestra. The attendants were the other boys and girls in the contest.

The event that attracted much interest was the crowning of the beauty queen. A very good contest ensued until 9:30 p. m., when the judges declared Miss Rowena Latifik the winner. Mr. Muir presented the winner with a beautiful compact.

Much credit is due to the teachers who made this event possible. We owe much to Miss May, Mrs. Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Ratliff, Mr. Harlowe, Miss Shepherd, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Zimmerman and Mignon Jones.

Total proceeds were $285 and expenses have been estimated at approximately $80, leaving a total of $205.

Wheelwright P. T. A. has donated $50 to the grade school for a library. This sum is to be supplemented by an additional $50 from the Floyd P. T. A. will also spend $10 county board of education each month for new books, periodicals and magazines for the library. This means the High School students will enjoy $90 in reading benefits from the P. T. A.

Already more than 50 books have been repaired in the library at a cost of 10c each.

Miss Ida Allen, of Maytown, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Ratliff here. She also attended the Halloween carnival here.

Miss Mignon Jones, attended the Alabama Kentucky football game at Lexington Saturday.

Allen Sanders was in Jellico Tenn. Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bert Crites have returned from a short vacation trip to Charles ton.

Frankfort, Commissioner Fred erick A. Wallis chairman of the Department of Welfare, appointed a committee on locations and sites for the construction of the proposed medium security institution for the custody and training of two thousand or more short termed prisoners.

There is to be built on the site selected a modern, fire proof institution that will be honor and credit to the state. It is proposed to make this a model training school in morals, elementary education and industrial training. This will not be in a true sense a punitive institution but one of correction and instruction in order that these young men may be returned to society as good citizens.

The building of this institution will be financed by the Public Works Administration from grant funds allocated for Ky 1269 D by the United States government under the direction of State Director George H. Sager, Jr., of Louisville, with funds appropriated by the General Assembly for the Department of Welfare of the State of Kentucky under Commissioner Frederick A. Wallis and by direction of Governor A. B. Chandler. This committee proposed to make an investigation of all sites that have been offered

This investigation headed by Commissioner Wallis chairman of the Department of Welfare; Dr. Frost, representing the Advisory Board of the Welfare Department; Dean James Graham, University of Kentucky; H. L. Bonham, assistant to the State Director, Public Works Administration; Dr. M. Waters, director, Division of Correction, Welfare Department; B. T. Brewer, secretary of the Welfare Commission; Dorsey Brown, advisor of the Welfare Department and Commissioner Elmer Beale, inspector of Plans and Structures of the Department.
