Alleged Blackleg Leader Acquitted Here In Trial

BRIEF REPORT ON COURT ACTIVITIES FOR THREE DAYS

Three Plead Guilty to "Blackleg" Charges: List 31 Dismissals

FINES METED

Late Thursday evening, a Floyd county jury acquitted Carl Hall who was accused as the "Blackleg" leader and perpetrator of their flaggings and alleged outrages. The jury took the case at 1 o'clock and returned two hours later to report to the court that they could not reach a verdict. It was understood that they were deadlocked at 10-2. Later they returned their final verdict.

Carl Hall, the defendant, remarked: "I wanted an early trial because I knew that I would come clear and I thank the jury for doing its duty." B. M. James predicted acquittal for the remaining 18 defendants who will be tried later.

Following the verdict, Judge John W. Caudill called for the next case, whereupon Commonwealth's Attorney O. C. Hall expostulated, "Judge, that verdict knocked the pep out of me. I don't know if there is any use of trying any more cases!" He stated later that the jury evidently did not understand the case.

Three of the Magoffin men indicated in connection with the "Blackleg" charges pleaded guilty, preceding the Hall trial and received an agreed sentence of two years. They were Troy Cple, Newt Cole and Albert Mrashill. Noble Cole was given three years on the syndicalism charge in January. Jim Marshall named Noble Cole, Troy and Newt Cole, Albert Marshall and himself as the ones who whipped Miles Barnett on Floyd county soil. The other two are still on trial.

Proceeds from the tourney will be used for the county-

LOCAL PRINCIPAL IS SELECTED BY TEACHERS AT PIKEVILLE MEET

Teachers of the Big Sandy Teachers and Supervisors conference, embracing Pike, Floyd, Johnson, Morgan and Magoffin counties, met at Pikeville College on Tuesday, April 6 for their final monthly session of the year elected Clayborne Stephens, Prestonsburg high school principal, as president of the organization for the coming year of 1937-38. C. H. Farley, Pike county school superintendent, was elected as secretary.

Prof. Ishmael Triplett, local city schools superintendent, and Mr. Orville Wheeler, Paintsville school executive, addressed the teachers on the executive subject of "Teacher Training in Service." The ability of Mr. Stephens, who succeeds D. J. Carty, Magoffin county superintendent, as the association's head, is attested to by the teachers' selection of their president.

FOREST DAMAGES SET AT $5,000 FOR YEAR BY WARDEN

Exhibit On Fire Prevention Presented at Courthouse This Week

Estimating the damage wrought by hill fires in this district, Claude Ward, district chief warden, Inez, Ky. stated: "At least 3,000 acres have been razed in this district in the past year at a damage of near $5,000."

Hill fires rampant during the past two weeks, locally, prompted Judge John W. Caudill to stress an investigation in his instructions to the grand jury Monday morning. Mr. Ward is here and is conducting queries to prosecute the parties responsible for the recent fires.

A forestry exhibit was presented on Wednesday and Thursday, April 7 and 8 during opening week of Floyd circuit court in the courthouse here by the district office of Putney, Ky., Division of Forestry, Department of Conservation of the state, in the interest of forest fire prevention and control. The display sought to demonstrate the causes, damages and results of forest fires in Eastern Kentucky.

Posters illustrated how forest fires are caused, showing that over 90 per cent are man-caused through carelessness and thoughtlessness. The other 10 per cent are caused by nature.

Cross sections of fire scarred timber stood as mute evidence of the damages that fire does to timber. It revealed how fire damages timber, either killing it entirely or rendering it a victim to disease or insects. But, this ed over, the young growth is not all—when land is burnt destroyed and the land in time becomes barren waste, full of gullies and fit for nothing. Neither man nor animal can exist on it.

Photographs disclosed the work that is under way by the Emergency Conservation program for forest fire prevention and control. Towers and lookout stations are erected on high points from

MRS. ARNOLD NEW CLUB PRESIDENT APRIL 15 DEADLINE FOR INCOME TAX

Mrs. R. V. May Chosen Vice President for Coming Year
State Luxury Tax Off On April 17 Instead of April 7

At the regular meeting of the Woman's Club Thursday night, April 1, at the home of Mrs. J. D. Thomas, officers were elected for the ensuing year. The nominating committee composed of Mrs. W. C. Rimmer, Mrs. J. B. Clark and Miss Virgie McCombs, conducted the election. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. E. P. Arnold; Vice President, Mrs. R. V. May; Recording Secretary, Mrs. A. C. Harlowe; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Ansel Culbertson; and Treasurer, Mrs. E. E. Clark.

A committee with Mrs. W. P. Mayo as chairman reported that a motion picture show with accompanying style show would be sponsored by the club in the near future to raise the club's portion of money to finance the entertainment of the state convention at Pikeville by the Seventh District KFWC in May.

Mrs. E. P. Hill, district supervisor of NYA, reported that 250 Lombardy poplar trees, 10 hard maples and 10 sycamores, also a number of spirea and fitzer junipers were on their way to Prestonsburg for the beautification program outlined by the club several months ago. A committee of club women will aid in the placing of the trees and shrubs.

A motion was passed by the club to ask the school board of Prestonsburg to make provision for a kindergarten in the plans for the new school building, which is to be erected in the near future.

Dr. Mary A. Vogt gave a brief discussion on Birth control in which she quoted Mrs. Margaret Sanger's definition: "Birth control is the conscious control of the birth rate by scientific means that prevent conception. It is the proper use of scientific knowledge to remove chance as the chief factor in the birth of children and to promote volun-

Regular Meeting of Fiscal Court is Unusually Warm

An interesting session that threatened to become not only lively but torrid at times was unfurled in the regular meeting of the Floyd fiscal court at the courthouse on Tuesday, April 6. The two high spots came up in regards to the selection of a county treasurer.

A bid for the office of treasurer by W. J. May was accepted by the magistrates and his salary set at $30 per month, it was also ordered that county funds be equally divided between the two banks. At this time only one bid was filed in open court and the magistrates proceeded in handling other business. They appropriated $2,250 to the county health department and $1,000 to the county agent for the coming year.

At this point in the proceedings, friends of H. C. Stephens appeared before court with his bid of 1 cent a year salary and offering the county two and one-eighth per cent interest on their money. The court would not change their original order. A verbal exchange between A. B. Meade, county clerk, and John Allen, representing, was a feature of the "Merely an unofficial figure," stated Grover Stumbo, field representative, in this district, embracing the counties of Floyd, Martin, Johnson, Magoffin and Pike for the department of revenue, but from the best sources of information present indications show that approximately 400 Floyd countyans will make income tax returns this year. He stated that the exact figure could not be determined as yet.

Mr. Stumbo said the deadline for filing returns is April 15. A 10 per cent penalty will be added after the deadline.

In brief, the income tax covers any single person that nets $1,000 or grosses $1,500 or over and any married person that nets $2,500 or grosses $3,000 and a return must be filed whether any tax is paid or no. This year returns must be made to the federal and state governments, thereby necessitating the filing of two forms. Forms may be secured from Mr. Stumbo.

Regarding the "death" of the state luxury tax on candy, soft drinks, cosmetics and etc., Mr. Stumbo stated, contrary to statements recently published by some papers other than The Times, the tax officially dies at midnight April 16 and the repeal law becomes effective on April 17 instead of the dates of April 6 and 7.

Board Meets 12:30 a. m. To Hire School Teachers

"FOURTH MAN" IS RETURNED FROM ESCAPE EFFORT

Mrs. Ella Sturgill, wife of the Floyd county jailer who led the chase after eight escaped prisoners here Thursday and figured in the capture of three near Prestonsburg that night, returned the fourth man to the county base Monday evening.

The mother of Jonny Adkins, the only one of the jailbreakers who was under conviction for robbery, called the jailer and requested Mrs. Sturgill to come to the home at Garrett and return her boy to the jail and this she did, according to the report emitted through the jailer's office Tuesday.

Henderson Salyers, alleged ringleader of the jailbreakers and three companions are still at large. Jailer Sturgill said today that Salyers is wanted.

THREE FRACASES CAUSE ONE DEATH; INJURIES TO TWO

Father Knifes Son at Home; Youth Wounds Another At Emma

An alleged dispute over house rent was climaxed Saturday afternoon at the home of Frank Barrs in Wheelwright with the fatal shooting of Barrs and the surrendering to officers of Will Branham, 65, wealthy landowner of Floyd county.

According to one version, Barrs lived in a house owned by Branham and the owner had gone to the home to collect some rent. In the argument that followed, Sheriff M. T. Stumbo quoted Branham as saying Barrs approached him with an upraised axe and he fired. Three shots were fired.

John W. Call, undertaker at Pikeville, where the body was taken, is quoted as stating that two shots penetrated Barrs' left side and a third struck him in the hip.

Funeral services for Barrs were held at Van Lear, Ky., Monday. Survivors include his widow, and three daughters, Mrs. Blanche Webb, of Van Lear, and Misses Anna and Helen Barrs of Wheelwright.

Sheriff Stumbo said that Branham was released on a bond of $5,000 to appear before the grand jury. The bond was set by Dr. W. L. Stumbo, county judge, a few hours after the shooting.

FATHER CUTS SON

A family argument over the use of a car resulted, Monday night, in the serious knife wounding of Harold Fitzpatrick, 16 years old, and the jailing of his father, Tom Fitzpatrick, 41 years old.

Mrs. Jane Webb, mother of the senior Fitzpatrick, quoted the wife of her son, who was present at the time the trouble occurred, as saying that Harold requested the use of the family car and his father refused. An argument ensued and the boy struck his father and dragged him from the bed at the family home near Martin, Ky. In the melee that followed, the father cut his son a number of times.

The boy is in a hospital at

HIRE 332 COUNTY SCHOOL TEACHERS FRIDAY MORNING

Rumor of Threatened Injunction Prompts Unusual Act, Says Superintendent

NINE VACANCIES

A special session of the county board of education in the wee hours of Friday morning, April 2 was held at the home of County Superintendent Town Hall to hire the county teachers for the coming year.

The unusual time of the meeting was explained: this week by Mr. Hall thusly: "A suit has been filed against the board by R. H. Baisden, and it was common gossip around town that an injunction would be filed against the board to prevent the present members from hiring teachers for the coming year."

"The regular meeting," he continued, "was scheduled for Saturday, April 3 and the injunction was anticipated for Friday evening or Saturday morning. The law permits the board to hire teachers after April 1—April 1 ending at midnight, the meeting was called for 12:30 Friday morning to hire the teachers as early as possible to prevent the teachers having to wait during a long drawn-out legal battle before they were hired."

"All board members and no one else was present," he concluded.

Mr. Baisden could not be reached for any comment on the unusual action of the board as we go to press.

The list of teachers issued from the superintendent's office is as follows:

REPORT OF GRAND JURY: 41 RETURNS

Three Sessions Reported; Jones Held For Not Talking

"I swore to an oath that I would harm nobody over whisky seven years ago and I'm going to stick to it," said Robert Jones, Ligon miner, while in jail here. He is held on contempt charges for refusing to talk before the grand jury.

Judge Caudill said that Jones would stay in jail until he did talk.

Evidently the grand jury has been very busy during four days as the following reports indicate:

Returned indictments in April grand jury report: Jess Music, voluntary manslaughter; Homer Smith, breaking and entering; Cas Keathley, unlawful possession of liquor; Will Branham, wilful murder; Cas Keathley, breach of the peace; John Wallis Collins, drunkenness; John Wallis Collins, assault and battery; Perry Ousley and Clyde Reffett, reckless use of deadly weapon; John Stephens, unlawful possession of liquor; Andy Calhoun, carrying concealed a deadly weapon; Earl

Sunday School Lesson

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON THE SIN OF ADAM AND EVE

International Sunday School
Lesson for April 11, 1937

Golden Text: "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." Ezekiel 18:4.

Last week we studied the beginning of things, the creation of the world and of man. The lesson for this week explains the beginning of sin, or what it is and what sin does.

It will be helpful in considering this lesson to remember that our Bible was written by an Oriental people and that God was teaching his children in the infancy of the race by means of simple, pictorial language. Literal interpretation of every detail is not necessary nor always helpful. In the story related in the third chapter we see a picture painted by an early Hebrew depicting the revelation from God which had come to him.

The story of Eden tells of how sin began. It pictures a glorious paradise, or Eden—which means delight—habited by the first man and woman, Adam and Eve, enjoying happiness in a close intimacy with their Creator, God. From facts later revealed in the context, we discover that God walked with them and talked with them.

Profound spiritual truths are in this story—the choice of good or evil, the fact of sin and its consequences, the existence and the prickling of conscience, and the individual's relationship to his Creator. In the first place, God had forbidden Adam to eat of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, and this command had been relayed to Eve, Satan, in the guise of a serpent, brought to Eve the first great choice in the exercise of her God-given freedom of will. His approach was shrewdly planned. First, he misrepresented when Eve included the touching of the tree in the divine prohibition, according to Jewish tradition he pushed her hand against the tree. When nothing happened, the God's statement that eating serpent denied the truth of of the fruit of the tree of life would bring death.

Eve then more closely examined the fruit, finding it good, most attractive to the eye, and with the added power of making one wise if partaken of. There was sin's appeal to the human appetite, man's sense of beauty and to the intellect. Eve yielded to the temptation and partook of the fruit. Not being satisfied to have disobeyed herself, she persuaded Adam to partake also, which he did. How directly this speaks of our day! The same old temptation is repeated. So many want to taste of life. They will be denied no experience. Into the Eden of youth the serpent creeps today. It needs to be thundered forth. There are things which are wrong, eternally wrong, there are for bidden. R. C. Gillie.

Shame and a desire for secrecy immediately followed this act of disobedience and sin. Realizing their nakedness, Adam and Eve immediately procured fig leaves to make themselves garments. Realizing their sin, they at temptet to hide from God. When called by God, Adam responded: "I heard thy voice in the garden and was afraid because I am naked and hid myself." His answer betrayed his guilt, but Adam tried to pass the blame for his sin to Eve and also to God, who had given him his companion, Eve, when questioned, blamed the serpent. Guilt for our sins cannot be passed on to others—we alone are called upon to pay the penalty.

In passing sentence in punishment for this sin of disobedience, God did not punish the serpent alone for tempting Eve, nor Eve for yielding to the temptation and persuading Adam to sin also. Each received his own punishment. For the serpent he decreed degradation: for the woman, pain and sorrow; for the man, bitter toil; and for both, exclusion from the Paradise he had given them. They could no longer enjoy God's presence and his fellowship. From a life of ease, where everything was provided for them, they were turned out to work for a living. This is a fact which everyone discovers—that disobedience, whether it be to parents, to law, to nature or to God—spoils everything, takes all the real joy out of living, and turns happiness to disaster.

In conclusion, it might be well to remember a saying of the philosopher, Plato: "Sin and the penalty go through the world with their heads tied together."

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Dr. Sophia Brunson

HOW TO REDUCE SAFELY

As a rule those who are too fat get but little sympathy. A good many years ago the individual who carried a round a huge paunch was assumed to have reached a certain age. His horrible shape was regarded with pity, or at least amused tolerance. This is not true today, for the public has grown wise to the fact that obese and misshapen bodies are dangerous to their possessors. They are also destructive of good looks.

There are some cases where overweight is due to gland deficiencies. This small class should be treated by a physician who has made a study of glands. Most overweight individuals overeat and underexercise. They not only spoil their looks but their health.

A majority of the suffer high blood pressure and weight. The excess tends to bring on this condition, for it puts too much work on the heart, liver, kidneys and blood vessels. Consequently when a physician is called upon to treat a sufferer from high blood pressure who is overweight, he will accomplish very little unless he reduces the patient's weight. By so doing he will lighten the burden upon the heart.

The old method of rapid weight reduction has been greatly modified. It is dangerous to the health of the patient as well as detrimental to his appearance to reduce too rapidly. The old Hollywood 18-day reducing diet sent several beautiful young actresses to untimely graves and undermined the health of others. The taking of reducing drugs has caused much damage. Two of the most dangerous are thyroid and dinitrophenol. The latter has been much ballyhooed in the last 3 years as a marvelous aid in unwanted avoirdupois, but alas, it does other things to its victims besides melting flesh. It affects both the kidneys and the heart adversely. In recent months it has been found that dinitrophenol produces cataracts in the eyes. Several cases of blindness have been caused from taking it. It has been known to cause severe skin eruptions. A number of deaths have been recorded from its use.

WILL BROADCAST STATE SPELLING BEE OVER WHAS

Garrett Girl, Floyd County Champion Speller, Will Be In Contest

Jewell Pritchard, 12 years old, who is Floyd county's champion speller for the past two years, will journey to Louisville for a second try at the state spelling championship.

Jewell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Pritchard, of Garrett, this county, is a seventh grade student in the Garrett school. Her teacher is Lewis Campbell, former Prestonsburg man.

WHAS, radiophone of The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times will broadcast the final hour of The Courier-Journal state spelling bee on the stage of Memorial Auditorium beginning at 4 p. m. Thursday, April 15. Approximately 110 contestants are entered in the 13th annual competition, representing city and county school systems in Kentucky. The spellers are to meet for a written elimination match at Louisville Male High School at 9 a. m. Thursday. Following a luncheon at the Kentucky Hotel at noon, the approximately 40 highest ranking spellers will begin an oral speldown at the auditorium as a part of the Kentucky Education Association convention program.

The spellers will compete for a trip to Washington for the National Spelling Bee, $500 in cash and copies of Webster's New Ideal dictionaries. The champion, who will represent Kentucky at The Courier-Journal in the National Bee, is sure of at least $50 in Washington, aside from the all-expense trip for himself and enaperon. The State Bee runner-up will receive $100. The next 35 contestants will receive monetary awards ranging from $75 to $5.

You SPEND A DIME WITH NEVER A THOUGHT

The average residential customer on our lines pays about 8 cents a day for all of the comfort and convenience which electric service gives.

THERE is a great deal of pleasure in a refreshing fountain drink that costs only ten cents . . . and you spend that dime with never a second thought . . .

Have you ever thought of what convenience, comfort and even luxury is opened to you by Electricity for a similar thin dime?

Just consider: For ten cents, your entire house may be vacuum cleaned for a month; or you may have a whole week's radio entertainment. For a dime, your clothes will be ironed for two weeks; coffee for two weeks and toast for a month may be had . . . or you will be provided with adequate light for studying, sewing and other close work with the illumination of an approved I. E. S. lamp for an entire week.

Electricity is the modern servant, a servant which takes care of both the work and the pleasures of home. Added to that, it is the economical way of running a house.

Mrs. Ligon Makes D. A. R. Report
The D. A. R. conference in Lexington, the forty-first annual state meeting, was one of the largest ever held in Kentucky, with over 400 delegates registering, and Mrs. Keen Arnold, of Versailles, Ky., present state regent presiding. There were many prominent leaders present including Mrs. William A. Becker, president general of the national D. A. R. organization, Mrs. W. S. Sinclair, national president of the C. A. R., and state regents from Kansas, Indiana and Tennessee.

The most important legislative step taken at the conference was the indorsement of Mrs. Keene Arnold as a candidate for vice-president general from Kentucky. The group also voted to give a sum of money for the purchase of Liberty Hall in Frankfort, Ky.

Prestonsburg representatives at the state conference were Mrs. Osa Ligon, regent, and Mrs. E. H. Sowards, first vice regent of John Graham chapter.

Tidbits of Kentucky Folklore

THE POOR BOY WHO BECAME FAMOUS

Probably our most persistent folk type is the poor boy who became famous. Some of our great men have come from humble homes; that was a fact too good to be forgotten. The politician seized upon this and has used it effectively ever since our earliest days. Even scholarly people have been led to overlook the fact that many of our great men have been of excellent origin. Even Lincoln was never the very poor man he was pictured in the campaigns; he was of average origin and had made himself by middle life an equal in scholarship with the most highly favored. The fence rails used in his first campaign were so much political bunk; many another man, famous or not, had made rails, whether he was rich or poor. Many people who have had above average backgrounds have preferred to rank among the very poor for the prestige it would give. The people of the South have sometimes met this strange difficulty by describing their poverty, in spite of their aristocratic talk, and then attributing it to the Civil War. There is certainly much truth in this, but the funny thing is the assumption that one must boast of the poverty from which he has arisen to eminence in the business or professional world. This folk type has greatly captivated us and made us magnify poverty a bit too much.

The poor boy who became famous is another version of Cinderella. Lincoln, studying by the fire is just another Cinderella among the ashes. A similar story found everywhere is the one that tells of a younger brother, inheriting nothing except hard luck, makes a way for himself, rescues his older brothers, other members of his family from disgrace or death, then marries a princess. America has had less than Mother Nature's share of people in every age who have risen much above their surroundings; it makes one think that the folk are not always wrong in their judgments. From Alexander Hamilton down we have had great statesmen who inherited poor chances. In other spheres it is even more true: a Scotch immigrant grows up to be Andrew Carnegie, the high philanthropist; another Scotch boy becomes John D. Rockefeller, the great naturalist; a French lad turns out to be John James Audubon, the artist naturalist; a reckless lad from Hannibal, Mo., a kind of glorification of the humble lad who became famous. Mark Twain walking down an aisle to have an honorary degree conferred by a great English university, or James Whitcomb Riley living to have his birthday celebrated in the schools of Indiana, is about the acme of this tradition.

Not long ago I heard in a radio address Miss Selma Lagerlof, the great Norwegian novelist, say that as a child she firmly believed that the rivers in America flow over sands of gold. Many other European believed things as wonderful of America, and for generations the poor immigrants came, expecting to find their pot of gold at the end of the American rainbow. It is a mistake to suppose that this dream has vanished. Within this very year I have had students whose parents came to America after 1900 in search of this same opportunity that drove the earlier generations across the Atlantic. The folk who study dream may seem a bit faded to us of long standing in America, but it is a dominant force right now in the lives of thousands who are seeing their children in America realize what Europe was unable to offer.

This is the time of the year for everybody to take a lesson from Mother Nature and clean up and paint up

Sarah Ann's Cooking Class

To serve vegetables in the right sort of way is really a work of art. Few of us can resist the appeal of vegetables fresh from our gardens or from the markets, yet we often let them come on our tables in a most unappetizing condition and the family eats them from a sense of duty. Next time you have a vegetable dinner, have a little time to the garnishes and to the arranging of dishes with an eye to the color effect.

Fish Stew With Spring Vegetables

Cut 1 1/2 pounds of lean veal into neat pieces for serving. Wipe with a damp cloth and brown in a little fat. Place in a heavy sauce pan and add 1 pint of boiling water, 1 cup of young carrots sliced, 4 onions sliced 1/4 inch thick. Add 1 teaspoon salt and pepper to taste. Cover the saucepan and allow the contents to simmer for two hours, then add 1 cup of green peas, 1 teaspoon of parsley and 2 cups new potatoes scraped and cut in cubes. Cook until the peas and potatoes are done, then thicken the gravy and season as preferred. Dumplings may be added. When ready to serve, arrange the meat and onions in the center of the platter, with the potatoes a round the outer edge. Let the carrots provide a ring of color contrast, and use the peas to form an innermost circle.

Rainbow Casserole

2 large boiled potatoes
3 hard boiled eggs
1 cup cooked peas
1 cup boiled carrots
1 1/2 cup finely chopped olives
1 pint sour cream
Arrange a layer of the potatoes thinly sliced in a medium sized baking dish and over them pour some of the cream. Add a layer of eggs, sliced crosswise, 1/4 of an inch thick; one layer of peas and one of carrots, also sliced. Cover the top with the olives and the last of the cream. Bake in an oven 400 degrees for 30 minutes. This is an excellent dish for the meatless meal.

Stuffed Lettuce Salad

Select a large head of lettuce and trim away the outer leaves, cut a slice from the bottom so that it will stand evenly. Then with a sharp knife cut a circle as deeply as possible all around the top. Remove as much of the inner part of the lettuce as you can, shred it very finely, then mix with equal parts of sliced beets, a few tiny shreds of onion, and half of a green pepper, shredded very fine. Season well and mix with French dressing. Fill the head with this, heading up in the center. When serving cut in pie fashion and serve with French dressing.

Orange Sauce for Asparagus

Into a double boiler put two beaten egg yolks, 2 tablespoon butter, 1/4 teaspoon each of salt and paprika, and 1 teaspoon of sugar. Cook until mixture thickens. Then add 5 tablespoons orange juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and the grated rind of 1 orange. Mix well and serve over hot asparagus. This sauce is also good over boiled beets.

Greens in Rice Ring

Cook until tender 1 1/2 pound of mustard greens, spinach and beet tops in salted boiling water without a cover. Drain and chop coarsely. Season with salt, pepper and 1/4 cup of chopped cooked bacon. Line a buttered casserole with 2 cups of cooked rice and fill the center with the seasoned greens. Arrange pork sausage over the top and bake in an oven 400 degrees for 20 minutes or until sausages are cooked. Serve in the baking dish.

Fig Filling

1 1/4 pound chopped figs
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup boiling water
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Grated rind of 1/2 orange
Cook the chopped figs until tender. In double boiler add sugar, cornstarch and boiling water. Cook until smooth and thick. Stir frequently. Add the cooked figs, lemon juice and orange rind. When cool and thick spread between cake layers.

Fairy Torte

1 1/2 pound powdered sugar
2 1/2 lbs. almonds—a few bitter almonds
1 1/2 lb. dates—5 eggs separated
2 teaspoons baking powder
Blanche the almonds and chop fine, adding a few drops of rose water. Wash and rub dates to a smooth paste. Beat the yolk of 1 egg and stir in a little of the date pulp and some sugar. Continue until the egg yolks, dates and sugar are mixed. Stir vigorously. Add the almond and beat in egg whites. Bake in a well greased floured pan in a moderate oven. When cool cut in two layers. Spread with whipped cream flavored with 1/2 teaspoon each of rose extract and vanilla. Sprinkle the top generously with powdered sugar and ground almonds.

Your worst enemy won't do you nearly as much harm as you might do yourself.

which fires can easily be detected. Truck trails, horse trails and foot paths are constructed in order that fires can be reached without loss of time. Telephone lines are built so news of a fire can be communicated to a fire fighting crew located nearby.

Modern methods of forest fire fighting were portrayed. The new type fire rake, the fire beater, the brush hook and the Indian fire pump were displayed as the equipment carried by each fire fighting crew.

Mr. Ward, chief fire warden, Big Sandy Association, comprising Floyd, Johnson and Martin counties, was in charge of the exhibit staged by a unit sent here from the state department at Frankfort, and was ready to contact prospective cooperators and explain in detail the necessity for forest fire suppression and control activities.

Much literature was distributed which pictured very vividly some simple means of preventing forest fires and the results to be expected when timber burns.

More exhibits of this nature are planned for Floyd county in the near future by Chief Ward.

Don't belittle little things

In brewing, it's the little things that count against you—if you don't watch them. Little grains of broken barley... little metal particles... little drops or rises in temperature... little oversights on timing. Watching and guarding against a multitude of such little things 24 hours a day has produced one brew of such qualities that it has become something more than beer—a social companion.
