WELLS FATALLY INJURED MONDAY; SUSPECT FOUL PLAY

Discovered Lying at Edge of Road Within City Limits

UNDER INVESTIGATION

Foul play is suspected in the mysterious circumstances surrounding an injury on the head that caused the death of James E. (Boy) Wells, age 39 years, in the Paintsville hospital Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock. An investigation is being conducted to determine whether Wells was struck by a hit-and-run motorist, as at first believed, or if he was slugged by a bandit with robbery as the motive.

Wells was discovered by C. W. May, Prestonsburg store manager, lying at the edge of the pavement near the residence of Senator Joe P. Tackett, Monday night near 7:30 o'clock.

Examination by doctors revealed two injuries, a bruise and cut near the left eye and an indentation of the skull to the right of the head near the base of the cranium. There were no other bruises or scratches about the body, it is reported.

Officers expressed the opinion that the position in which the victim was lying when discovered indicated that he had not been struck by an automobile. His head was near the pavement and his feet near the sidewalk. They stated that a careful checkup revealed no suspected hit-and-run autoist.

Investigators said they were informed that a man was seen in the company of Wells walking along the road not far from where he was found. One suspect has been questioned thoroughly, but was released. It was stated Thursday night that he had no connection with the suspected attack.

ALLEGED BLACKLEG HEAD FILLS BOND

Twelve Admitted to Bail Saturday; To Face Trial in April

Carl Hall, of Magoffin county, whom the Commonwealth charges as being the "Big Bad Wolf" of the Blacklegs, under indictment here, came to Prestonsburg Tuesday, Feb. 2, and filled a $10,000 bond.

Hall has been wanted here since early in January. Commonwealth's Attorney O. C. Hall stated Thursday that the alleged ringleader was responsible for the forming of the Blackleg band and picked them from an unemployment league that he had organized.

The organizer came to Prestonsburg in the company of father and Lewis Marshall. Mr. Marshall acted as attorney in fact for S. B. Allen and Jolly Arnett who were listed as sureties on the bond.

On Friday, Jan. 29, 12 of the men charged as members of the Blacklegs and held in jail in default of a large bond, were released on reduced bonds. Five of the indicted men filled $1,000 bond and the remaining seven gave a $3,000 bond.

On the same day Jim Marshall, member of the band who turned state's evidence, was released to the Magoffin county sheriff on a court order to face charges in the court. These charges are Magoffin county's Commonwealth's Attorney's charges.

TRUSTY IS INJURED; HIT BY BUS WED.

Repairing Wagon in Driveway; Bus Backs Up on Him

While stooping to repair a wagon in the driveway, Bill Hunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hunt, Prestonsburg, was struck by a bus backing up to turn near the bus station here Wednesday morning at 8:55 o'clock.

Hunt was rushed to the Paintsville hospital where examination revealed no internal injuries, but two or three broken ribs. The heavy dual wheels of the bus did not pass over the boy, but caught his side, it was stated Wednesday.

W. H. Buchanan, driver of the bus, stated that he sounded his horn repeatedly. A small garage building obstructed the driver's view of the boy, who was standing around the corner of the building, it is said. Hunt said at the hospital Wednesday evening that he did not see the bus until it was too late to get out of the way.

Hunt, who was serving a 60-day sentence in the county jail, has been permitted to work on the outside around the jail as trusty. Jailer B. L. Sturgill said that the boy's father requested that, due to a weak lung suffered from a gunshot wound, the boy be permitted to get outside air. Jailer Sturgill stated that he needed the boy's services.

Hunt was taking slop from the jail, by way of the driveway used by the bus company as a turn way, to the pig pens about three blocks away.

There are numerous versions of the accident.

She is survived by her mother, three brothers and two sisters whose names were not available. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Isaac Stratton from home of her mother at Water Gap Wednesday, Feb. 3. Burial was made in the family cemetery under the direction of E. P. Arnold.

FEBY. CIVIL TERM NOW IN SESSION

Forty-One Cases are Listed; Newman Child Asks $2,500

Unlike the criminal term of circuit court, the civil term opened here Monday, Feb. 1, without the usual bustle of the curious, the customary influx of numerous citizens into town and an over-loaded docket working court attaches overtime.

The civil term docket, as listed by Troy B. Sturgill circuit court clerk, carries a total of 41 cases. On Jan. 4, at the beginning of the January term, the criminal docket had listed on it between 400 and 500 cases.

On Monday the case of Hettie Clark vs. Joe May was continued. In the case of Martin Isaacs vs. C. L. Moore, of Pikeville, the jury awarded Isaacs $600 damages for personal injuries and value of his car as a result of a car wreck near the Log Cabin Inn on the Mayo Trail some time ago.

On Tuesday, Feb. 2, in Ishmael Cox vs. S. M. Prater, the court ruled that each party was to pay the court costs. Hyp Cox vs. Ellen Martin, Cox was awarded $100 judgment; three other cases were continued.

Wednesday the court was hearing the case of W. H. Newman vs. Warfield Natural Gas Company. The plaintiff is five years old and is suing for damages through his father. The child, it is alleged, was struck on the head by a rock thrown by the explosion of dynamite used by the company in digging for a pipe line. C. P. Stephens, attorney, stated $2,900 damages are asked.

Five remaining cases docketed for Wednesday were continued.

BABE PASSES

Shirley Triplett, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Triplett, Wayland, Ky., passed away at the Paintsville hospital Tuesday, Feb. 2. The child had been kept alive nine days in an incubator after its birth on January 24.

Funeral services and burial were held at the Wayland cemetery on Tuesday.

County-Wide Graduation For High Schools Is Announced

It has probably been done before, but it is doubtful that as many as 11 high schools participated in any such event. Floyd county has that many and, if the present plans of school authorities materialize, the county high schools will come to Prestonsburg this spring to hold combined graduation exercises.

An exact figure of the number to be graduated from these schools cannot be obtained as yet.

The combined exercises are designed as an economic measure as well as a means of obtaining a distinguished speaker for the benefit of the schools not able to afford the services of a renowned lecturer. The usual expenditure for a speaker has been approximately $25 for each school.

"Aside of the economy," Supt. Hall stated Monday in announcing the plans, "it will give the graduates of the schools an opportunity to cooperate and become better acquainted with each other." Tentative plans call for the

TEACHERS TO MEET HERE TUES. NIGHT

Six Counties Represented; About 200 Teachers Are Expected

Approximately 200 school executives and teachers are expected to convene in Prestonsburg Tuesday, Feb. 9 from six Eastern Kentucky counties.

The Big Sandy school executives and teachers association of Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Martin, Magoffin and Morgan counties have had two previous meetings at Pikeville and Paintsville, and bring their third session here.

The teachers will gather at the Prestonsburg and Floyd county high school building at 7:30 p. m., to hear Claude H. Farley, Pike county superintendent of schools, and Dr. Frank B. McClellan, president of Pikeville College.

The announced topic of Dr. McClellan's address will be "Admission Requirements to College." He is scheduled to speak at 8 o'clock. At 8:30, immediately following Dr. McClellan's speech, the teachers will devote 20 minutes to "A General Discussion of the High School Curriculum."

Supt. Farley will open the meeting with a talk on "Transition from the Elementary Curriculum to the High School Curriculum."

Prof. Ishmael Triplett, superintendent of Prestonsburg city schools, is director of the program.

The teachers hold monthly meetings at different places in the six counties during the course of the school year. While here they will select a site for their March gathering.

HOSPITAL TRIAL SCENE SHIFTED HERE TUESDAY

The hospital case involving the staff of Beaver Valley hospital vs. Dr. W. L. Stumbo that has been in litigation since the case was opened at Hindman Nov. 5, 1936, was transferred to Prestonsburg Tuesday, Feb. 3.

It was brought here in convenience of taking the defense proof and to be near the defense witnesses. The hearings here will continue until the defense proof is completed, it is said.

WAYLAND, WEEKEBURY VOTE SPECIAL LEVIES

The residents of the Wayland school district last Saturday voted a special tax to finance a new gymnasium and add a Home Economics department of the high school. One hundred and fifty-six cast their ballots in favor of paying a levy of twenty-five cents on the hundred dollars while six voted against it, a report from the county superintendent's office states.

At Weeksbury, on the same day, voters in that school district favored a levy of seventy-five cents on the hundred dollars by a vote of 75 to 71, for the purpose of constructing a school building to cost approximately $20,000, Supt. Hall said.

The Wayland gym and the new department will cost about $10,000, it is said.

BLACKCATS DOWN STRONG BOBCATS

Defeat Belfry Saturday Night But Lose to Garrett Five

An unusually large number of sports fans in this section witnessed two corking displays of basketball competition at the local gym Monday night as the Betsy Layne high school Bobcats and the Prestonsburg Blackcats tangled in the main attraction, while the Betsy Layne Red Devils and the Prestonsburg Independents engaged each other in the preliminary contest.

Going into the fray, rated as an underdog by several sports prognosticators, the Blackcats emerged victorious over the highly touted Bobcats, 19-16. Before meeting the local team the Betsy Layners had won 16 of their 17 games and had averaged 25 points per game.

At the end of the first quarter the Blackcats led, 8 to 6, the half ended 8-7 with both teams scoring only one point. The end of the third quarter saw Betsy Layne take the lead, 13 to 12. In the last quarter the Prestonsburg team eked out a winning margin to take the game.

R. C. Lynch was high point man for the Bobcats in playing only a portion of the game. For the Blackcats, Carter, with his last quarter basket flips, was high point man. The defensive play of J. Tackett and Prater, of the Blackcat team, was outstanding.

The Blackcats scored eight field goals and only three fouls. The Bobcats scored four field goals but made eight foul shots good.

Saturday night the Blackcats defeated Belfry high school. This was the first meeting with the Pike county boys.

On Friday, Jan. 29, the local team was helpless before the strong Garrett five. They came away from the Beaver Creek town smarting from a 40 to 15 shellacking. Conley, of Garrett, was outstanding.

ONEY CAPTURED

Buster Oney, under a one-year sentence to the state pen from this court who escaped from his special guard at the Stumbo Memorial hospital, has been captured. Oney was tried on a charge of Grand larceny.

He suffered a scratch while in jail here. It later became infected. He was ordered to the hospital. He was there a few days and effected his escape.

The Morgan county sheriff notified Jailer B. L. Sturgill Friday, Feb. 5, that Oney was in custody.

MAN AND WIFE WOUNDED; DAVIS JAILED MONDAY

Wheelwright Negro, Also Arrested Charged With Saturday Slaying

NO BONDS SET

Malcolm Davis, age 29, was placed in jail Monday night after a shooting occurred near 12:30 a. m. Monday morning at the Davis home on Middle Creek, 13 miles from Prestonsburg. Late Monday night Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Adams were removed to the Stumbo Memorial hospital at Lackey, Ky., seriously wounded.

Adams was wounded in the abdomen from a point blank charge of a single-barrel .410 gauge shotgun, according to officers. A second shot entered the fore left side of Mrs. Adams and lodged in her hip, they said.

Davis fired from a window upon the Adams couple who were on the porch of the Davis home. He was quoted as saying, relative to the occurrence, "They were coming in on me."

I. H. Fitzpatrick arrested Davis on Middle Creek, eight miles from Prestonsburg. Mr. Fitzpatrick stated that Davis, in company of his father, was on his way here to surrender to authorities.

NEGRO SLAIN

In connection with the fatal wounding of Henry Cardwell, negro, at Wheelwright Saturday night "Shorty" Davis, another colored man, was arrested in jail here Monday morning.

Cardwell was shot once, officers said, the shot entering the abdomen.

Davis claims that Cardwell shot himself. Officers stated that there were no powder burns on Cardwell's body. Davis and Cardwell were the only ones present when the shooting occurred.

No bonds have been set in either case, but an examining trial, court attaches said, would be held right away.

A last minute report states that Lindsay Adams is not expected to recover.

TWO AUTOMOBILE MISHAPS SATURDAY

J. B. Ford's Leg Broken By Tractor on Johns Creek

An automobile reported belonging to Elza Hall, ran amuck Saturday night at 6:30 o'clock on the Mayo Trail, just above the city limits of Prestonsburg and injured seven persons. The car left the road, throwing out its four occupants and headed into a group of three men walking along the edge of the Trail.

According to reports, it leaped a ditch and ran down the trio next to a barb wire fence. Caught between the fence and the car, Jody Salmons suffered a broken left arm, cuts and bruises; Ed Thompson, minor bruises and barb wire cuts; and Harlan Hughes escaped with minor scratches.

The four occupants were rushed to the hospital at Martin. Their names could not be obtained.

At approximately the same time a car struck a Stewart boy near Emma, Ky., on the Mayo Trail. The Stewart boy, the eighth injured in auto mishaps Saturday evening, was treated at the office of Dr. O. T. Stephens for minor bruises.

Hugh Bradley Says:

Guest Perry Tells Relief That Press Now Has Answer

By FREDERICK J. PERRY

Fred Perry, the world's leading amateur tennis player up to the time he gave up his smooth standing to challenge Ellsworth Vines, tops in the professional ranks for the all-comers' supremacy in a series of matches to be played throughout the United States, tells how it feels to be a pro and why he became Hugh Bradley's guest columnist for today.

ONE of the best things about being a professional tennis player is that I no longer have to answer questions fired at me by inquiring reporters a thousand times a day—or so it seemed—as to whether I was going to turn pro and, if not, why not. No young swain ever was quizzed as persistently by the father of his girl friend concerning his intentions toward the daughter as I was up to the time I signed up.

Your sports writers have had a lot of fun with me and have promised me, in their articles, more money than I could hope to earn out of the game the rest of my life. But they're good fellows and I've enjoyed my contacts with them immensely. That goes for the rest of the people I've met in your hospitable country, too. You've been very kind to me and I'm looking forward to getting better acquainted with you as I travel about the country.

I may as well forestall the inevitable question from my friends of the press and tell how it feels to be a professional. So far I have no regrets over turning pro, although I expect to have a few twinges while making some of the sleeper jumps on tour. I had gone as far as I could in the amateur ranks and think I did my duty toward England in Davis Cup play. I shall be sorry if she loses the cup through my action, but believe I'm entitled to cash in on my tennis while the cashing is good. Donald Budge gave me a none too gentle hint at Forest Hills last fall that it would not be long now.

I have never anticipated with greater interest any series of matches than those I am now having with Ellsworth Vines. We met several times when we both were amateurs and had close fights on every occasion.

Since Ellie turned pro three years ago we haven't played officially but I know he has improved tremendously. But I've been keeping my hand in as much as possible and hope to give him a good fight. The canvas court used on our tour is entirely new to me and will be a considerable handicap till I become familiar with it. It's quite different from grass, clay or the cement surface I've been practicing on.

I'm going to get a big kick out of opposing Tilden in doubles, as well as facing Vines in singles. In my younger days in England I stood in awe of Big Bill and still have a wholesome respect for his game. But with George Lott, one of the finest doubles players of all time, as my partner I'll take the court against Tilden and Vines more confidently than I could hope to otherwise.

I have been asked how my decision to enter the professional ranks was received in England. Not having been there since my status changed I have no first-hand knowledge of the reaction but, judging from reports, I think most British sports followers approve of the step I have taken and realize it was the only logical one for me.

One of these days, as Rene La-Coste used to say, there will be no amateurs and professionals—just tennis players. Open tournaments are bound to come, but nobody can tell when.

Well, cheerio!

A majority of leading American golf professionals feel that the new fourteen club limit will prove no hindrance to their play when the rule takes effect next January 1. . . They plan to use as many clubs as they have in the past in pre-tournament practice rounds and then select the fourteen clubs they judge best adapted to each course when the tournament proper begins. . . Harvard friends insist that Charley Devens would like to return to professional baseball, but that his ultra-social kin keep urging the former Yankee pitcher to stick to his $25 a week bank job. . . Ed Egnell, 215-pound Staten Island youngster, is a member of the University of Maryland boxing team.

Dissension among the Toronto Maple Leafs now is reported to have spread to the front office, with Manager Connie Smythe skating on very thin ice. Among those not speaking are Smythe and Chuck Conacher, the burly right wing. . . Bob McDermott, star of the touring Celtics basketball team, recently achieved twenty-eight field goals in one game. . . Brown alumni gossip that the real reason why their alma mater has failed so dismally in football during the past three years is fraternity politics. Coach McLaughry told alumni that the 1936 material theoretically was the best in ten years. But, after a season of intra-mural bitterness, the peak was reached in December when, for the first time in history, the players were unable to agree on a captain. Three separate elections (several ballots being taken during each of them) failed to break the deadlock. . . Marty Farkins, the Broadway booking agent who manages Jesse Owens, was a first-class pilot of prize fighters thirty years ago. . . Andy Varipapa, the trick shot artist, who is certain to grab some of that $120,000 prize money in the American Bowling Congress tournament in Syracuse next spring, achieved his first sports prominence as a boxer and baseball player.

Mickey Walker Gives Up Idea of Referee Tour

Mickey Walker has thought better of his plan to tour the country as a boxing referee. Instead, he shortly will take over a syndicated boxing column. Benny Leonard got $1,500 for refereeing in Mexico City on New Year's Day when Armstrong kayoed Casanova. "Count" John Gengler, one of the most colorful bowlers of all time and a superb competitor when big money was at stake, now campaigns a racing stable on the Texas circuit. . . In spite of denials, there are Bostonians who will bet plenty that Dick Harlow is going to swap that Harvard football coaching berth for the Penn State athletic dictatorship. . . Harold Miller, the Utah university basketball star who recently helped himself to eleven field goals against Denver U., doubles as a sports writer for a Salt Lake City newspaper.

One of the incidents of New York turf life never mentioned in the Racing Commission's back-patting bulletins concerns the shoeing of horses. Here the gee-gees are often sent out into the mud shod with smooth plates so that the bookies can have a picnic while a 4 to 5 shot flounders all over the place. Then at a well-chosen later date the thoroughbred again is sent out, this time with sharp plates, and a supposed non-mudder gallops home at odds attractive enough to make another picnic for select parties. Such carryings on are not permitted in sinful Florida. Tropical Park, for instance, may be a bit shy on press agents and bulletined bouquets. But it does have a paddock inspector, whose main duty is to examine all horses and make proper report of how they are shod and why.

Shanty Hogan has shed forty pounds by reason of a rigid diet and daily workouts on a rowing machine he has set up in his Somerville, Mass., home. Indeed, the former Giant is so serious about his work nowadays that he has made Mom Hogan cease baking those custard pies which were his favorite dish. . . Boston's nature lovers are complaining bitterly about the warmest winter in years and because the nearest snow for skiing is 160 miles away. Peckett's Hill, famed New Hampshire sports spot is as bare and brown as in October.

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

Making 1937 A Safe Year. SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—This time last year we were all dedicating ourselves to a crusading campaign to make 1936 a safer year for motorists.

We were going to cut down the volume of traffic disasters, going to reduce the appalling mortality toll which had marked the preceding year.

So what? Well, here's what. The end of 1936 showed an all-time top for deaths on the public highways—roughly 37,450, or approximately 450 more than in 1935.

So now we'll piously resolve, all over again, to do something about this hideous destroyer which kills by the thousands and maims by the hundreds of thousands and makes our fatalities and casualties in the world war seem, by comparison, puny.

And what will come of the renewed agitation? The National Safety Council will wage a gallant, hopeless fight, various local organizations and civic bodies will do what they can, newspapers will rail and statesmen will deplore—and the ghastly record of slaughter will keep right on mounting.

The Value of "Experts" I HEARD a supposed expert advising a director, bound for Africa to shoot a big game picture, that practically everything about his kit was wrong except possibly his rear collar button.

It reminded me of the pampered millionaire's son who was heading for the arctic circle. He called in a veteran of polar expeditions and told about his outfit. All went well until he started describing his parka. "It's fine," he said, "made of seal-skin and the hood all fringed with wolverine and—"

"One moment," said the professional, "is the hairy surface of the pelt worn next to your body?"

"No," said the youth. "The fur is outside, of course."

"All wrong," pronounced the critic. "Thermal demonstration has proved that to conserve the bodily heat the hide should be turned so the fur is used as a lining and the smooth or naked side is exposed, thus cutting the wind."

The youngster burst out laughing. "Have I said something to excite your mirth?" demanded the specialist.

"Oh, not at all," said the amateur, "I was just thinking what a darned fool a buffalo is."

Americans in England RENEWED excitement has been aroused in the British isles by the discovery that yet another member of the royal family—this time it's the young duke of Kent—not only shows a regrettable tendency to enjoy himself as any normal natural, healthy youngster might, but, what is even more distressing, has lately been seen in the company of an American woman.

Oh, these pestiferous Yankee women! In spite of all that can be done, it's almost certain some of them will witness the coronation, and several thousands of them will break their girlish necks trying to do so.

Militarizing the C. C. C. REPRESENTATIVE NICHOLS of Oklahoma is trying to accomplish something which should have been done long ago. He's preparing a bill to make military reserve units of the C. C. C. boys, which would mean discipline and morale for thousands of young Americans and, if needed, would provide the nucleus of a trained citizen-army.

Seems to me there is every reason why congress should enact the legislation, not as a warlike gesture, but as a peace-time move for national defense and national protection. But watch the professional pacifists fight it—professional pacifists being well-meaning folks who believe in Santa Claus, turning the other cheek, and the beautiful, if slightly impractical theory, that a white rabbit will be perfectly safe among a pack of greedy coyotes.

Actors Trading Careers. HALF-WAY across the continent, actors who have succeeded in Hollywood and are headed east, hoping to break into the legitimate stage on Broadway, pass actors who, having succeeded on Broadway, are heading west, hoping to break into the movies in Hollywood. It is a two-way traffic which grows heavier all the time.

Thus we see how human hopes are uplifted and how curious a thing is human nature, not to mention human ambition. Also it's good for railroad travel. But if the jaybirds suddenly decided to trade their nests for woodpecker holes and the woodpeckers fell in heartily with the idea, we superior creatures could laugh at feathered friends for being such idiots.

Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed. How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds. Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

Sunday School Lesson

JESUS, THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD

International Sunday School Lesson for Feb. 7, 1937

Golden Text: "I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life."—John 8:12.

(Lesson Text: John 8:12, 31, 32: 9:1-11)

While the exact setting of this lesson is not actually known, it is probable that the discourse of Jesus took place on the last day of the Feast of the Tabernacle, set apart to commemorate the blessings of God to the people of Israel during the Wilderness wanderings. The two greatest blessings most vivid in the minds of the Jews were the giving of water and the guidance and protection furnished by the Pillar of Fire. For seven days of the celebration water was carried from the Pool of Siloam to the temple but on the eighth day, no water was carried, symbolizing the close of the wilderness wanderings and the entrance into a land where water was abundant. It was on this occasion that Jesus stood up and cried, "If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink," John 7:37, thus calling attention to the fact that all of the promises and blessings of God were fulfilled in Him, who was the water of life.

Another part of the ceremonial was the lighting of the golden candelabra in the Court of Women on the first day of the feast, giving the signal for the lighting of candles in the booths, or "tabernacles" in which the people were staying during the observance of the feast. For seven days the candles burned, but on the eighth day they were not lighted, signifying that the Pillar of Fire was not needed longer to provide light and guidance. Jesus applied this second symbol to himself also, when he declared, while speaking in the temple, "I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life."

It is interesting and thought provoking to call attention to the fact that Jesus used common, everyday subjects to bring home to his hearers his most profound teachings to his audience than his. What could be more interesting reference to water, to bread, to the sowing of seed, to the catching of fish, to the birds of the air, the grass of the fields and so on. Jesus was the Master Teacher and it might be well for more of our teachers and preachers to follow his example when attempting to lead men to a knowledge of and acceptance of him.

Just what did Jesus infer when he declared he was "the light of the world?" Just as the Pillar of Fire was given to the Children of Israel to guide them during the darkness, so did God give Jesus, and he who follows him shall no longer stumble in the dangerous darkness, but shall have the "light of life to guide him. There is another respect in which men walk in darkness—they are in the darkness of ignorance of the highest and best things in life and are unaware of the true values of life. All those who do not know Jesus and live lives of sin are said to walk in darkness. This darkness is even more dangerous than the mere darkness of night, for those who walk therein are not only in danger of physical harm but face the greater danger of losing their souls.

When Jesus says, "I am the light of the world," he compares himself to the sun—the one source of light and heat and beauty, without which all creatures that live would perish in darkness and death. Wherever light is, life is possible. What the sun is to our world, Christ is to the human race. To follow Christ is to be saved from wandering, from stumbling, from taking the wrong path, from losing our way, from missing God, from defeat and fear, and the darkness of everlasting death.

Just as the sun is the greatest of all disinfectants, killing the microbes of disease and destroying germs, so, if the light of Christ fills us and floods our lives with his sunshine, it will destroy the germs of sin and remove from our lives habits which tend to wreck our bodies.

In restoring sight to the man blind from his birth, Jesus did more than that. He gave the man his physical sight but also gave him spiritual insight into the Kingdom of God when he revealed himself as the Son of God and received the confession of the man of his faith and belief, when he who had been blind said, "Lord, I believe."

There are only two requirements for those who would not spend their lives groping in darkness—believe and follow. Both requirements are voluntary. He will not force either upon us. Christ can no more force himself into our hearts than can the sunshine force its way into a closed building.

WHAT CAUSED THE FLOOD

Many readers of The Times find it hard to understand just exactly what started the disastrous flood that caused such terrible damage in the Ohio River valley and is now coursing down the Mississippi River to the Gulf of Mexico, leaving devastation in its wake.

Weather experts explain the phenomena by saying that cold, dry air from the polar regions met warm moist air from the tropics. When this happens rain results. When it continues for an abnormal period, the precipitation is far above normal. Consequently the water flows rapidly into streams, the rivers are overloaded and leave their banks.

In connection with the present flood it is pointed out that the rainfall over the Ohio River basin and other flood areas was some two to six times the normal amount during January. Some weather observers reported 23 inches of rain when the normal was only four inches. In a number of areas the excess rainfall varied from nine to more than 18 inches above normal.

Readers, hearing constantly about an inch of rainfall, seldom realize that this means that 112 tons of water have descended on a single acre of ground. An inch of rainfall amounts to 75,320 tons of water to the square mile. The vast amount of water that thus reaches the earth is attested by a fairly accurate measurement of one day's rain in an English county, where 670,220,000 tons of water came from the skies in one day. A rain in India, some years ago, was measured with reasonable accuracy and the total fall of water amounted to seven billion tons.

So great is the prodigious deluge that balances the evaporation from the earth that competent weather experts estimate that the amount of rain and snow falling on the entire surface of the earth averages about 16,000,000 tons a second. It is easy to see, from such figures, that long continued rains, over any considerable area, will inevitably cause disastrous floods unless measures are taken to retard the flow of water.

ONE-EYED CARS

We wrote recently of the menace to the traveling public involved in the parking of automobiles on the paved highway, especially on curves or grades where the vision of approachings is limited.

Now we want to direct attention to the danger to the traveling public of driving cars on the highway at night with only one lamp burning. An approaching automobile traveler may be entirely misled as to the location of the one-eyed car, because he does not know whether it is the left lamp or the right which is out, and, in many cases he thinks it is a motorcycle coming.

Highway patrolmen would contribute to the elimination of needless accidents and resulting deaths and injuries, by seeing that careless automobilists were punished for infractions of the safe use of the highways, regardless of whether accidents actually resulted or not. A car parked on the road should cause its driver to be arrested if it is parked in a dangerous position. The same treatment should be given the wilful use of a one-eyed car.

of their father, mother, son, daughter or spouse.

For the calendar year of 1937, employers of four or more individuals will deduct from the wages of each employe nine-tenths of one per cent of his or her wages and hold this amount in trust together with the employer's contribution until it is requested by the Commission. The employer's contribution for the calendar year of 1937 will be 1.8 per cent of his payroll. For instance, if an employe is earning $20 per week the employer will deduct 18 cents from his wages, taking care to notify him for what purpose the deduction was made. The employer will set aside 36 cents as his contribution on this person's wages and will remit both contributions, upon demand, in the amount of 54 cents.

These references pertain to unemployment contributions and nothing else. These contributions are exclusive of old age benefits and any other social security taxation.

All remittances, communications or inquiries should be addressed to the Unemployment Compensation Commission, Frankfort, Ky.

WELLS FAYTAA Y INJURED MONDAY

Continued from page one Two others, whose names were not released for publication, are suspects. One of these was jailed Sunday on a drunken charge and released Monday evening. He was a stranger and had the appearance of a "hobo," it was stated.

A short time after Wells was discovered this man appeared walking out a lane leading to the Mayo Trail near the Cliff state highway bridge. The boy who reported this incident stated the man was nervous and quoted him as saying that he was "in a hurry to catch a ride down the road." Explaining his hurry the stranger said that an officer had arrested him in town.

A resident, living near the scene, said she heard a commotion of some sort similar to the crash of a car striking some object.

Relatives state that they have no knowledge of Wells having any enemies and that he had very little money on his person.

He is married, a resident of near Auxier, and the father of three children. His father preceded him in death some time ago. He is survived by his widow, Bessie Stephens Wells; three sons, Charles J. Jack and James Douglas Wells; his mother, Mrs. Belle Bingham, of Prestonsburg and Mrs. T. Y. Harmon, of Bays Branch; three brothers, Johnnie Wells, Lackey school principal; Charles, of Trenton, N. J.; and Leonard Wells, Auxier, Ky.

Funeral services and burial will take place at the Wells home near Auxier Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

15,000 Estimated Employe Forms Issued in This County

This week, it was unofficially estimated that approximately 15,000 employe application forms for social security have issued through various postoffices in Floyd county. Between 1,200 and 1,500 forms have been returned to the Louisville social security office, through the local postoffice, Frank Friend estimated. Mr. Friend, clerk in the Prestonsburg postoffice has had charge of distributing the application forms in Prestonsburg for account numbers since these forms have been available here. "Applicant may," Mr. Friend explained, "after obtaining them from any postoffice, may return them to their employer, their postoffice, their labor organization or mail them direct to the Louisville state office."

Field offices are being established as the number of security accounts grow. Two offices, one at Frankfort and one at Ashland, it is understood, were established recently in addition to the Louisville office.

the state are unaware that they are liable for contributions for unemployment.

This item is intended to reach all employers in this area in order to relieve them of full liability to both state and federal governments.

According to the law, passed by the Legislature and signed by the Governor on Dec. 29, 1936, employers of eight or more must pay the state nine-tenths of one per cent of their payroll for that year. These contributions must be in the hands of the Commission at Frankfort not later than Feb. 27, 1937. In determining the payroll for state purposes the wages of those persons doing other than manual labor and earning more than $2,600 a year are to be excluded. If he does manual labor, regardless of what his earnings are, he is not to be excluded.

All employers, regardless of the number they employ, must send in a Report to Determine Liability. However, no Contribution Report is required unless they are liable under the act.

After the employer remits his contribution to the state, he will then report to the federal government the amount of his total payroll and remit to them 1 per cent of all wages paid by him, less the amount paid the state. The federal government will be notified by the state that the employer has paid his state contribution.

In the event the employer does not make this contribution by the deadline date he will be liable for nine-tenths of one per cent to the state and one per cent to the federal government. He can be relieved of this extra burden by remitting nine-tenths of his payroll to the State Unemployment Compensation Commission at Frankfort before the deadline date. When this is done, he will remit to the federal government only the difference between one per cent of his total payroll and the amount paid to the state. The law provides for certain exemptions. Among them are: Agricultural labor, domestic service in a private home, and service of persons under 21 years of age in the employ

Right Out Of The Air

By R F SERVICE

Lucille Manners, now the star of that Friday night program on NBC, was a stenographer before she became a singer.

It was because she was late returning from noon broadcasts that she was fired from her typing job—and fired with ambition to make singing her career.

Biggest compliment that Phillips Lord has received on his "We, The People" program is that five other program builders are trying to imitate it.

Only new radio comic to make a hit since Bob Burns came out of the West is Edgar Bergen, the Yank-triologist.

Bergen is really a one-man comedy team with his "dummy," called Charlie McCarthy, getting all the funny lines. Except for Frank Fay, Bergen is the only performer ever to be signed for a series on the Vallee Hour.

"Personal Column of the Air," heard on both NBC networks, causes a lot of folks to write to their friends and relatives even though messages which have been broadcast were not intended for them. The program jogs their conscience.

When Johnny Weismuller guest starred on the Joe Cook show, Lupe Velaz was on hand to applaud. And when she was a guest on the Gibbons-Lopez Speed-show, Johnny was there in the front row. For years radio producers have been trying to get them on the same program as Mr. and Mrs.

Orchids from critics are picking up around Baritone Donald Dickson heard on the Saturday Night Party program. From the classrooms of New York's Juilliard School of Mary Livingstone, Jack Benny's favorite radio heckler, writes and recites the silliest poetry on the airwaves, but she recently found in her fan mail a letter from a national greeting card company, offering her a fancy price to scribble a few crazy birthday jingles.

Ed Wynn has one of the world's greatest pun collections, but he thinks up a dozen new ones each week so he doesn't repeat "oldies" on his Saturday night NBC show.

When Rose Bampton, the opera star, showed up for rehearsal in the Thursday night Music Hall she saw a man in corduroys and a sweater moving a piano. When he finished he shouted out, "Anybody here seen Bampton?" Rose walked forward, said "I'm Bampton." The piano mover took off his cap. "Hya Rose, I'm Bing Crosby." And thus two famous singers met.

Joe Cook is providing radio's most lavish variety show in his Saturday night get-together. Eight or nine top entertainment acts are sandwiched into the one-hour program to give it a pace seldom attained at the microphone.

"Petticoat of the Air," heard Tuesdays and Thursdays over the Mutual network, is none other than Isabelle Manning Hewson. THE CURIOUS CORNER

By James Taylor Adams

Fifteen years ago the body of a white man was found suspended by a rope from the rafters of a box car in the railroad yards at Richmond, Va.

Today his remains lie undisturbed in an undertaker's establishment in that city. When the body was found there were no papers or other means of identification on it. It was removed to the undertaker's to be prepared for burial, it being supposed the county would pay for cost of burial. When the bill was submitted there was no payment received, and the undertaker held the body for payment of his bill, and he is still holding it. The "unknown" lies in a casket in the funeral parlors waiting—

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday, Feb. 2 from the Methodist Church at Laynesville, Ky., by Rev. C. C. Lambert and Rev. Isaac Stratton. Burial was made in the Ferguson cemetery at Laynesville.

NYA GIRLS SEW FOR FLOOD SUFFERERS
 As quickly as a call could be put through from flooded Louisville state office of the National Youth Administration, Mr. Robert K. Salyers, Deputy State NYA Director, notified all county NYA projects to put in double time making garments for the unfortunate people whose belongings were swept away by the raging flood waters.

Getting into the spirit of the thing, the girls have made the machines hum and the needle fly in a determined effort to do their bit to help. Being short on material and, of course, being unable to get it from Louisville, several local organizations contributed to a material fund and goods was bought locally at wholesale cost in order that this work might not stop.

To date the number of garments made and turned over through the local Red Cross chapter are as follows: Dresses, 64; slips, 45; panties, 52; romper, 16; coveralls, 16; shirts, 15.

SANDY

By Floyd Warrix

(The following selection was written by Floyd Warrix, a junior in the Prestonsburg high school. He has contributed more than a score of poems to the Hi-Times, local high school publication, and shows more than average ability along poetic lines.)

From the Cumberland mountains
 Flows a stream that I love,
 With its crystalline fountains
 It is best from above.
 O go!—flow on, Sandy!
 You are small yet you stand
 As sweet as rock candy,
 A vein of our land.

O stream of Kentucky,
 All your burdens you bore:
 Our fathers were lucky,
 Landing on to your shore.
 Tho' your banks are eroded,
 You are beautiful to me,
 So heavily loaded,
 On your way to the sea.

O! river—awaken!
 In silence you sleep,
 You think you're forsaken,
 So quietly you weep:
 Of all there's no finer,
 A stream of my pride:
 The home of the pioneer,
 Where the savage has died.

Sometimes you're as gentle
 As a merciful child,
 Then hatred does kindle,
 You rage, O, so wild,
 You carry the driftwood
 From Kentucky's green hills,
 Where I in my childhood
 Had wonderful thrills.

The stream that is waiting
 For you to come in,
 Proud of its mating,
 With you of its kin,
 O Sandy!—my river!
 The pride of my dreams,
 O, thanks to the Giver
 Of beautiful streams.

Tidbits of Kentucky Folklore BY Gordon Wilson, Ph.D. WESTERN KENTUCKY TEACHERS COLLEGE BOWLING GREEN, KY.

FOLK NAMES FOR BIRDS considers its wild notes. All For many years I have enjoyed (hearing the strange names that various birds are called in our state. Some of the "queer names are just as good as the ones adopted by the American Ornithologists Union but were rejected when that body very wisely chose names that were popular as well as scientific binominals and trinominals for every species of birds. The committee, I have read, had a list of over a hundred local names for the Flicker. Our own Kentucky "Yellow Hammer" is still used by many ornithologists. The whole family of Woodpeckers are still called Peckerwoods throughout the state. That is the name we still apply to certain inconsequential people wouldn't it sound funny to say that some irresponsible fellow is a Woodpecker? Similarly, it is the folk name "Jaybird" that we use facetiously about people who are hardly normal. Every small yellow bird is a Wild Canary, whether it is a Goldfinch or a Yellow Warbler or many another species less well known. All Flycatchers are Pewees to the average person, just as Nighthawks are Bullbats and Cuck-wills Widows are Dutch Whip-poor-wills.

Long ago I ceased trying to keep track of folk names for Ducks. Sprigtail is a pretty good name for the Ruddy Duck, and Whistler is equally descriptive of the Wood Duck. But a Butterball may be a dozen kinds of small, fat Ducks. I wonder how any game warden can enforce closed season on any species so varying is the terminology used by hunters. Owls and Hawks come in for many a local name. The Barred Owl, probably the most widely descriptive species except the Screech Owl, is known as Hoot Owl, Laughing Owl, Hoo Owl and so on. Even the Screech Owl appears as Scrooch and Scritch, neither a bad term when one

SPELLING BEE RULES Simplicity and freedom from technicalities were the goals in preparing rules for the National Spelling Bee. Revisions have been made from time to time in conformance with the suggestions of competent educational authorities. The rules follow: The National Spelling Bee reserves the right to make its finals all oral spelling. Any pupil who has not passed beyond the eighth grade at time of holding of the bee in his school shall be eligible. All preliminary matches may select champions either by written or oral work and by either or both of these and daily grades. Word lists will not be supplied by the National Spelling Bee. Contestants may pronounce words before or after spelling them or not at all. Any speller failing to spell a word shall drop out of the contest and the word shall be given to the next in line. Having started to spell a word, a contestant shall be given no opportunity to change letters once pronounced. Speller, having started to spell a word, may retrace, providing letters and their sequence are not changed in the retracing. If, inadvertently, no definition of a homonym is given the correct spelling of either word will be accepted. When the speller is given the definition of a homonym he must spell the word defined. Obsolete spellings will be regarded as errors. No speller shall be disqualified for failing to indicate a capital letter or such punctuation marks as hyphens and apostrophes. A contestant may request that a word be re-pronounced or defined or used in a sentence. The pronouncer shall grant the request until the officials agree that the word has been made reasonably clear to the contestant. Judges may disqualify any contestant who ignores a request to start spelling.

Fred Astaire Scores Radio Hit

FRED ASTAIRE (with hat on) has been called the most versatile entertainer of the American stage and screen. This season he decided to try his hand at radio and within a few months has become a top-ranking favorite. He is on the air Tuesday nights over the NBC-Red network. This action picture shows him conversing with the program's comedy star, droll Charley Butterworth.

The procedure changes and this year's models have greater beauty, are more roomy, and more economical to operate because of a new method of construction. The frame of the 1937 Servel Electrolux is made practically of one piece of steel, a new departure in the manufacture of automatic household refrigerators. Servel Electrolux refrigerators operate differently from all other types in that heat instead of machinery is used to cause freezing. By utilizing heat through the medium of a small flame of gas or kerosene to make cold obviates the use of moving parts, a method that ensures silence, economy of operation and comparative freedom from repair.

FORD ESTABLISHES RECORD CONSTRUCTION

Recently Henry Ford stood at the end of the final assembly line at the Ford Motor Company Rouge plant and watched workmen build the 25,000,000th Ford. By his side was his son, Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, and chiefs of his world-wide organization. The only other observers of the historic event were a small group of newspapermen. As the 25,000,000th car reached the end of the final assembly line and the inspectors had finished their work Mr. Ford climbed into the front passenger seat. His son slipped into the driver's seat, pressed the started button and drove the car off the line. Completion of the 25,000,000th Ford represented the manufacture, over the last 33 years, of more motor vehicles than are registered for operation today all over the United States. Mr. Ford, his son, other Ford executives and the invited guests watched the entire progress of the 25,000,000th Ford from the time it began its journey down the final assembly line - a bare frame, with running gear attached - until it reached the end, a sleek, shining de luxe Fordor touring sedan, with body in cream, wheels in chromium and the 25,000,000th legend decorating the body panels and the trunk compartment hatch.

NEURITIS Patients often come into the offices of physicians, complaining of rheumatism. A careful examination frequently discloses the fact that the trouble is neuritis, which means inflammation of a nerve or nerves. The nerves run from the brain and spinal cord to all parts of the body. There are two different kinds of nerves, those of feeling (sensory) and those of motion (motor). Every function of the body is controlled by nerves, even the sweat glands and the blood vessels. Nearly all nerves are made up of bundles of fibers, some of which are sensory and some motor. That is why a sore nerve causes pain as well as muscle weakness. If a motor nerve is much affected, the muscles which it supplies do not function properly, they are partially or wholly paralyzed. If the sick nerve is sensory, the symptoms will be pain, prickling and tenderness.

There are two types of neuritis, the local, in which one nerve or those contiguous to it are affected, or the multiple in which all the nerves of the body are involved. Local neuritis may develop in any part of the body. It is often brought out by cold or exposure. For instance, a person may get chilled while riding in a motor car, with a cold wind blowing on his face. He will probably have a dull pain on the side of his face after a night's sleep. This may continue for a day or two. The pain is slight, so he pays little attention to it. On looking into the mirror however, he is amazed to see his mouth twisted to one side. By and by he discovers that his eyelid droops, and he has no control over it. Eating is a humiliating performance, for the food has a tendency to drop out of his mouth. He is exceedingly alarmed for one side of his face is paralyzed. This is a paralysis of a motor nerve that supplies half of his face. With proper treatment he will recover, usually without leaving a trace of the deformity. There is little or no pain in the face during the attack because it is a motor, and not a sensory nerve, that is affected. Then there is a large nerve that comes out low down in the back and runs down the leg. It is called the sciatic nerve. When it is inflamed it is very painful and rende walking difficult and almost impossible. There are many causes neuritis, chief of which infection, due to germs, toxins, alcohol and lead poisoning. Sometimes constipation, abscessed or pus pockets in tonsils responsible for severe of neuritis. MAKE MONEY-selling clothing in your stores homes Write E. C. H... 118 N. Suptin St., M... town, O.

SYNOPSIS

Kezia Marsh, pretty, selfish and twenty, arrives home in Corinth from school and is met by her older brother, Hugh. He drives her to the Marsh home where her widowed mother, Fluvanna, a warm-hearted, self-sacrificing and understanding soul, welcomes her. Kezia's sister, Margery, plump and maternally with the care of three children, is at lunch with them. Hugh's wife, Dorrie, has pleaded a previous engagement. On the way back to his job at the steel plant founded by one of his forebears, Hugh passes Doc Hiller, a boyhood friend whom he no longer sees frequently because of Dorrie's antipathy. Fluvanna Marsh wakens the next morning from a dream about her late husband, Jim, whose unstable character she fears Kezia has inherited. Soon Ellen Pendleton comes over. She is an artificially inclined girl who is a distant niece of Fluvanna's and a favorite of Hugh's. She happily tells Fluvanna she has become engaged to Jerry Purdie. Ellen fears that her father, her mother, Gavin and Lizzie, will not approve the match. Hugh and Dorrie go out to the Freeland Farms to dance with their friends, Cun and Joan Whitney. Whitney, who has been out of work, announces that he has landed a new position. They see Ellen Pendleton and Jerry Purdie.

"Art?" said Cun. "I see. Cuckoo—but beautiful."
Dorrie moved in her chair slightly.
"Dance?" asked Cun, his eyes on Dorrie.
They went off together.
Hugh stood up. "Joan?"
As they swung into step he said, "Well, Jonny, the troubles are all over. I'm ever so glad that Cun has work. You've been a brick, but I could see it was hard on you."
Joan gave a smothered exclamation and did not reply. He looked down. Joan's eyes were filled with tears.
"What did I say? . . . Hurt you? . . . Awfully sorry." He was dismayed. "Come on; we'll go outside." He led her through the screened door to the long veranda.
They sat in a swing. "Overlook it, Hugh. Nerves, I think." She dabbed her eyes with his handkerchief. "And relief from the strain. A man has to work to fill up his time . . . Cun has to be busy more than most men—he's built that way. Then you spoke to me so sweetly and sympathetically and I went to bed."
Hugh sat beside her feeling touched and bewildered. It was plain she had some worry on her mind about Cun.

Presently Joan rose, saying: "Steer me around through the hall to the dressing-room and I'll wash up . . . I must be all streaky. Hugh, I'm sorry I pulled this scene for you. You don't know how abashed I feel."
"Forget it. Glad you did, if you want to know. We skim the surface of conventionalities too much with our friends. We'd be more understanding if we knew what was in the other person's heart."
"Most hearts don't bear showing."
"I can't believe that."
"I suppose we think it good manners," said Joan dubiously. "And to live on the surface of things isn't a bad way . . . take what comes today and not worry about tomorrow; forget you have a heart! I'm trying to achieve it. I never quite make it. . . still I try very hard."
He left her at the dressing-room door and went back to their table. Dorrie and Cun were nowhere about, and Ellen and Jerry had disappeared. He saw his sister, Kezia, dancing with Arthur Williams. He left the sandwiches untouched but opened a bottle of beer, and sat sipping it.
Dorrie and Cun approached; she was animated, laughing. "Where did you and Joan disappear? We tried to find you but you had hidden yourselves in some secluded corner. Of course you weren't parked in the automobile? . . . Or were you, Hugh?"
Joan came up just then, her face freshly powdered and bearing no trace of emotion. "We were mooning on the veranda," she said gaily.
Cun drew out her chair. "I'll have to look into this," he threatened.
"Is there a moon? It seemed terribly dark to me!" Dorrie teased.
"Explain your absence!" said Hugh with a smile.
"Never explain!" answered Dorrie lightly. "Explanations lead to nothing and nowhere! Hugh, you haven't danced with me."
At home and in their own room, Hugh sighed with contented fatigue as he untied his tie.
Dorrie slipped off her dress and sat down on the bench before the dressing-table to cold cream her nails. "Lovely evening, wasn't it, darling?"
"Enjoy it?"
"Very much."
"I did myself after we got started. Naturally they wanted to celebrate after such good news. It has been a tough winter and spring for them. Especially Joan." Dorrie frowned a little as she bent her head lower. "Why especially Joan?"
"I think she felt it more. Fact is, she cried tonight . . . that was the reason we left the floor. I said something about the new job, and she broke down—hysterical relief, I think. Wept all over the place when I got her outside."
Dorrie's lip curled. "Silly."

"You're So Gullible!"
Hugh sat beside her feeling touched and bewildered. It was so unexpected, coming from her.
"And I suppose when she wept, you comforted her?"
He laughed a little. "Yes; lent her my handkerchief."
"You're so gullible!"
"Oh, I say now . . . Dorrie, really—"
He stood over her. Lights sparkled in her eyes from inward laughter. She lifted her face for his kiss. "Thin-skinned," she murmured, stroking his hair.

CHAPTER III

Ellen and Jerry lingered late at their dinner at the Freeland Farms. The dancing began at nine o'clock and the orchestra, a pianist, a saxophone player and a drummer, were just taking their places at the far end of the hall.
"They wanted to know whom I was going out to dinner with again. When I said you, they looked at each other—you know parents—and said that I seemed to be going out with you a great deal lately . . . so then I told them."
Jerry picked at his salad idly, then laid his fork down. His hair was dark brown, almost black, straight, and lay back, sleek and glistening on his head with the help of a pomade. His complexion was a smooth olive and went well with his eyes, the color of black coffee. When he smiled his eyes had sparkling depths, and his lips a combination of sensitiveness and sensuousness.

"And what did they say?"
For an instant Ellen looked troubled, remembering. Then, the dimples played over her face as pride in Jerry reassured her. "They want to see you—talk to you. When they do that, it will be all right."
"Sure?" Jerry was not smiling now. There was a hint of brooding in his eyes.
"I'm certain of it. I told them I'd bring you in after dinner."
Jerry gave a faint groan and looked at his plate.
"Frightened?"
"I feel as if I were to be shot at sunrise."
"Silly! . . . My parents have never committed a murder so far!"
"Yes, but it sounds ominous. I'm to be brought in—tried—executed! Couldn't we put it off until tomorrow night?"
When she did not answer, he went on: "Look your last on me as a whole man! I have a feeling I'll resemble a sieve in an hour or so—shot full of holes. I've met your father several times but he doesn't speak to me on the street, and your mother has never been friendly! What will they say when they know I have the audacity to want to marry you?"

STAR DUST

Movie • Radio

By VIRGINIA VALE

ONE of the trade magazines of the motion picture industry startled the workers in the business recently by publishing a report on the popularity of the screen stars. For months, people had been told that Robert Taylor had climbed to the very top; that he got more fan mail than Clark Gable did, that his name above a theater was magic, because it drew so many paying customers; that, in short, Mr. Taylor was tops.

But—according to this report, Clark Gable is the screen's most popular actor!
Last year Shirley Temple held that position. This year she is second. Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers as a team come third, Robert Taylor fourth, and William Powell fifth.

In case you're interested, the other leading stars are listed in this order: Myrna Loy, Claudette Colbert, Norma Packer, Gary Cooper, Fredric March, Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy as a team, Lionel Barrymore.

It is nice to report that James Cagney's new picture, "Great Guy," is one of his best. It had to be. He made it for Grand National you know, a new organization, and if it hadn't turned out well we might have had no more Cagney on the screen for a while, at least. After all his troubles with studios it is pleasant to know that he is once more on the big time and that his comeback is really a triumph.

Have you listened to that new radio program, "Do You Want to Be an Actor?" If you haven't, do! It's very entertaining. People who are in the audience are given roles in scenes that are done before the microphone, and after each performance the best woman performer and the best man are given movie tests by Warner Brothers. It's quite possible that some of our future stars will be developed in this way.

If the radio programs given by "Myrt and Marge" for so long were among your favorites, you'll be glad to know that a new series done by that popular couple has started. It's a family affair, for "Myrt's" son is now on the program, and "Marge" is her daughter. The son, George Damerel, used to go to the University of Southern California, but he left college to tour with his mother and sister when they went off the stage. Looks as if "Myrt" had built up a pretty good business for the family by writing those sketches, doesn't it?

Grace Moore has had to abandon her career on the concert stage and on the air, temporarily, in order to take a much needed rest. She has been working hard in pictures—in fact, she has turned into a real trouper, and the temperament that used to cause so much trouble is well under control.

In "Stowaway" you'll see Shirley Temple doing imitations of Eddie Cantor and Al Jolson and doing them well. The funny thing about it is that the child star never has seen either of them; just worked the imitations up from what she saw was told about the two gentlemen's work.

Hollywood is still shocked over the suicide of Ross Alexander, although his friends knew that he had never ceased to grieve over the death by suicide of his first wife, Aleta Freile, a little more than a year before. It was said that she killed herself because, coming to Hollywood from the New York stage, she could not seem to get ahead in pictures. Young Alexander was doing very well with his career, and his second wife, Anne Nagel, is one of the screen's prettiest young actresses.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . Remember "The Shiek," with Valentino? Nino Martini will appear in a picture based on a similar story . . . Jean Harlow and Robert Taylor will appear together in "The Man in Possession" . . . It isn't supposed to be known that Joan Fontaine is Olivia de Havilland's sister, but everybody knows it—and the fact was announced here in "Star Dust" months ago, when she signed with Jesse Lasky . . . Once again "Madame X" is to be screened, this time with Gladys George in the stellar role.

A Mental Inventory—

Wishes Are but Wasted Thoughts Unless We Work to Attain Fruition

IT is well in these early weeks of the New Year for us to take a sort of mental inventory of ourselves, and see if we are fostering any of the good things which we openly spoke of, or silently wished would materialize during 1937. Have these things already gone into the dump heap of futility? Have they been scrapped because of no effort on our part to further their becoming realities? Are we aware of this scrapping? Or do we still vaguely suspect they will materialize or be fulfilled just because we think of them with desire?

alize differ, it is difficult to make helpful suggestions except in very obvious instances.

Not every fervid wish can be literally acted upon. But even if not, it can be nurtured. Perhaps in the quiet of one's own room, one can prepare oneself for calmer and stronger progress, making one ready to work and see things through to a fine and a happy finish. Whatever the wish, it is but wasted breath or thought unless one makes some attempt to attain its fulfillment.

Action Essential.
Most of us remember the Macawberism "Name a wish and gratify it." There have to be things set in motion before a wish can come to fruition. Unless we actually want a thing enough to try to get it, we cannot want it very much. Our New Year wishes if they are to be fulfilled should be more than thought-seeds by now. They should have been planted and tended and perhaps have begun to show tiny sprouts.

Hatred in the East
The hatred between peoples in the East and the Near East is only equalled in war-time Europe and often takes amusing turns. The Kurds and the Assyrians never got along together and if the Kurds address their dogs in the language of the Assyrians, the Assyrians speak to theirs in Kurdish.

Diversity.
As wishes vary according to desires of individuals and avenues of opportunity for them to materialize.

Collectivism
Collectivism is a theory of economic and social organization in which all productive capital would belong to the community, and the share of each individual would be determined by the value or social utility of his contribution to the social income. Collectivism is practically synonymous with the generally accepted concept of socialism.

The Oboe
The oboe is a conical section of wood, usually ebony, pierced with holes and fitted with a system of keys. It is played with a double reed. Breath control is important in playing the oboe in order to produce an even, sustained tone. It is capable of an agile, vocal tone and is often called the lyric soprano of the woodwinds.

The Modoc Indians
A tribe of Indians called the Modocs was an Indian tribe formerly ranging about North Carolina. In 1872, after firing on the United States forces, they retreated to the neighboring lava beds, and there defended themselves till June, 1873. Their chief, Captain Jack, and three others were hanged.

The Term Tree Claim
The tree claim term applies to an old law concerning homesteaders in the Northwest. They were allowed to file a claim on 160 acres and if they would plant 20 acres of trees they could double their claim.

Ostrich Kicks High, Hard
An ostrich will kick as high as a man's face with terrific force, but they cannot injure him if he lies flat on the ground—except by sitting down upon him, which they will sometimes do!

Ash, Hard, Tough Wood
Ash, once the favorite bow material of the American Indians, is almost as hard and tough as hickory, but it is lighter, a cubic foot weighing 44.35 pounds when absolutely dry.
