WHEELWRIGHT MINES RESUME OPERATIONS AFTER SHUT-DOWN

1,300 Inland Steel Workers
Return to Work July 6
Price Announces

FULL-TIME BASIS

The 1,300 employees of the Inland Steel Company's mine at Wheelwright returned to work when operations were reopened Tuesday for an expected full-time basis.

The miners have not been on strike, but the mine has been closed for the past few weeks due to the C. I. O. strikes which tied up Inland Steel's operations. The Wheelwright mine sends practically all of its output to Inland Steel.

E. R. Price, general superintendent of the mines said: "We are happy to announce the mine will resume operations July 6. So much has been published by various newspapers considering the terms under which our plants in the Chicago district resumed work that are not in accordance with the facts. The purpose of this statement is acquaint you briefly with the true circumstances."

"I am therefore posting a letter signed by Mr. Wilfred Sykes, assistant to the president of our company, which has been placed in the hands of each employee in the Chicago district."

"In addition I want to quote a statement given to the Associated Press by Mr. Price on page eight."

BETTY JEAN MAY WINS 2ND PLACE IN CONTEST

After being crowned Miss Floyd County at a beauty contest at the Abigail theatre here July 1, Miss Betty Jean May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. May of Prestonsburg, was winner of second place in the final contest at Paintsville July 2, held to determine the beauty queen to rule at Paintsville's Black Diamond Jubilee in August. Miss May was sponsored by the Vogue Beauty Shop of Prestonsburg.

The beauty contest in Paintsville was sponsored by the American Legion and held at the Royal Swimming Pool. More than 30 entrants from the Big Sandy area competed before many spectators.

Overtime Workers Speed Registration of Floyd Voters

With the deadline for registering as a voter less than 24 hours away, registration at the office of County Clerk A. B. Meade became brisk this week as extra registration clerks worked overtime to care for voters.

Remaining open during the celebration here July 3 and 5, the clerk's office registered close to a thousand voters. County Clerk A. B. Meade stated that numerous trips were made to the office Sunday, also, to allow incoming voters to register. He added that in order to aid all voters who failed to register last year he had helped in the sending of cars and trucks through the county to bring citizens who desired to register to Prestonsburg.

Registration officials said that the daily average for the past week was well above 200, with close to 700 persons registering July 5. The regular office hours from 8 to 5 have

FUNERAL RITES HELD FOR FRANK BURCHETT AT HIS DWALE HOME

Frank Burchett, 50, dwaled at his home last week after years of bad health. Funeral and burial services were conducted at Dwale June 28. Mr. Burchett is survived by the widow, Mrs. Ada Clark Burchett; and one step daughter, Mrs. Nell Carey, Allen.

The good esteem in which Mr. Burchett was held was attested by the number of Odd Fellows which attended the funeral and with the assistance of the Arnold Funeral Home of Prestonsburg took charge of the burial rites in the Dwale cemetery.

A delegation from the Odd Fellows' lodge of Prestonsburg was present, with Judge John Caudill and William Dingus in charge of the lodge ritual at the grave. The Revs. Isaac Stratton and James Rark officiated at the funeral services conducted from the home of the deceased.

FORMER LEGISLATOR OF ALABAMA MAKES SPEECH TO FARMERS

Patterson, Agriculture Administration Officer, Talks
July 5

Explaining how farmers might win economic freedom under a national agricultural policy, former Congressman Lafayette Patterson of Alabama, now principal administrative officer of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, delivered an address at the courthouse here Monday. His address was one of the features of the local American Legion celebration of Independence Day.

Congressman Patterson said: "The old AAA (declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court) served its purpose and gave us lots of experience. It was not perfect as no other farm bill or legislation has been up to now." Congressman Patterson inferred that experience with the abolished AAA was used in the formation of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, which today forms the basis of the agricultural program.

"This act has five provisions," the Congressman added, "and probably the pur-

JR. SONS OF LEGION TO MEET AND FORM DRUM, BUGLE CORPS

Sons of Floyd County Legionnaires to Meet Saturday,
July 10

Commander Ed Sutton announced Thursday that a special joint meeting of the American Legion Post No. 129 and the Sons of the American Legion Squadron No. 1 will be held at the courthouse at 3:30 p. m. July 10. Mr. Sutton said that the chief objective of this meeting was the formation of a drum and bugle corps from the ranks of the Sons of the American Legion. All Legionnaires have been requested to be present and bring their sons for enrollment.

The Sons of the American Legion, with Lon S. Moles as sponsor, was organized several months ago and now has 30 members. It is expected that this meeting will double the membership; that from number of boys enough will be found to form a presentable outfit.

Interest in the proposed arrangement is running high and Legion officers have hopes of finding 50 youngsters who will play a drum or bugle. It is said that the boys will have the latest equipment and will have snappy, colorful uniforms. Competent instruction will be arranged, and if all goes well the boys should be ready for public appearance at an early date.

MODEL TEAM SHOWS LODGE DEGREE WORK

Miriam Rebekah Lodge Chosen to Present Model Team For Visitors

Chosen as the lodge to present a model team for degree work by the state president the local Miriam Rebekah lodge, in two meetings Tuesday afternoon and night demonstrated their lodge's degree rituals to visiting Rebekahs from District 12, which is composed of the following counties: Floyd, Johnson, Pike, Knott and Perry.

Officers of the local lodge selected to exemplify the lodge's work were Mrs. William Hagans, Mrs. Joe P. Tackett, Mrs. Henry Stephens, Mrs. Cecil Kendrick, Mrs. John Caudill, Mrs. Manis Conley, Mrs. Crit Hall, Mrs. Ballard Osborne, Mrs. Russell Horn, Mrs. Byrd May and Mrs. Ora Hagans.

Following the instruction school in the afternoon and the model team work Tuesday night, delicious refreshments were served to numerous out-of-town guests, among whom being Mrs. Peterson, state president for all Kentucky's Rebekah lodges.

Floyd county lodges who sent representatives to the meeting here were Garrett and Wayland, Virginia Moore was Garrett's delegate, and Avanelle Saunders and others represented Wayland. Many were present from Pikeville. Mrs. John Caudill, of Prestonsburg, gave the welcoming address to the visitors.

COUNTY BOARD WILL BUY SCHOOL BUSES FOR 3 NEW ROUTES

Five Routes Are Proposed
In County

Three new buses to transport Floyd county's school youth will be purchased before the beginning of high school in August, it was decided by the county board of education at its regular meeting last week. With the two buses already in use, the additional buses to be purchased will serve practically all of the county.

Proposed routes for the buses are:

Allen to Prestonsburg, extending below Prestonsburg as far as possible on the right side of the river to Auxier and the Johnson county line.

Martin to Betsy Layne, to Pike county line. This route will extend up Mud Creek if roads permit.

Clear Creek to Hunter, by way of the McDowell school, Salisbury to Wayland, by way of the Martin high school.

The head of Left Beaver route will serve the Wheelwright-Weeksbury area.

Superintendent Town Hall announced that two demonstrators were shown to the board members at their last meeting, but the final decision as to purchasing will not be made until the board's next meeting. The buses demonstrated were equipped with the latest safety improvements and having a seating capacity of 70.

TEACHERS ATTEND ALL-DAY PROGRAM

Program Divided Into Two Sessions With Many Teachers Participating

Divided into a morning session and an afternoon session, Floyd county's rural teachers' conference, held in the high school auditorium here July 1, presented an instructional program to teachers from Auxier to Weeksbury. Superintendent Town Hall presided at the morning session, and Palmer Hall, newly appointed rural school supervisor, presided in the afternoon.

In his address, "Promotions for Rural School Teachers," Superintendent Town Hall announced that 10 of the county's progressive rural teachers would be selected and promoted to positions in consolidated schools next year. These 10 will be selected on a county-wide competitive basis for all-around teaching ability.

The complete program follows:

Invocation by the Rev. Ben Craft; special music by Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick James and Mrs. Margaret Durham; welcome address to teachers, Judge John W. Caudill; three instructional speeches by Scott Craft, Golda Porter and Hollie B. Hall, followed by Superintendent Hall's address.

During the afternoon session, Joe Jarrell spoke on

HOLCMB IN COLLISION; SUSTAINS BROKEN LEG

H. H. Holcomb, Prestonsburg, sustained a broken leg and minor injuries Monday evening, when the pickup truck he was driving collided head on with a ton and a half truck near the city limits of Hazard. Mr. Holcomb is now recovering in the Hazard hospital.

LAVIERS AND WATSON NAMED MEMBERS OF BIG SANDY COAL BOARD

To represent the Big Sandy district, Harry LaViers, official of the Big Sandy Coal Operators Association and C. W. Watson, Cincinnati, president of the Elk Horn Coal Corporation at Wayland, have been named for membership on the Big Sandy code board for the regulation of the bituminous coal industry, according to information received here.

These men will serve on advisory boards and will report to the main board which makes recommendations to Congress. Headquarters of the board for the local district are located in the Josselson building in Ashland with Ben Williamson, Jr. as acting manager.

Office quarters are being remodeled and furniture is being installed on the third floor. Mr. Williamson stated that between 30 and 40 persons would be hired as office workers when the remodeling is completed.

FOOD PRESERVATION CLASS TO MEET AT LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

School Is Presented by Floyd County Extension Service

A class in food preservation that will include the latest practices, labor-saving methods and timely recipes, will be conducted by Frances D. Shewmaker, food preservation specialist in the high school auditorium here July 16. The class will begin at 10:30 a. m. and will last until 3 p. m.

The demonstration is presented by the Floyd County Extension Service with County Agent Isbell in charge. Mr. Isbell states that all 4-H club leaders in the county, all NYA groups and all housewives throughout the county are invited to the canning class.

Miss Shewmaker is sent by the Ball Brothers' company of Muncie, Ind. She is a home economics graduate of Kansas State College. For three years she was a foods and nutrition specialist in the extension service of the Kansas college. While attending College she was assistant in the cafeteria. She has also demonstrated foods in stores and on Saturdays during one year she demonstrated the canned products of a company that is nationally known.

Floyd's 241 Candidates May Be Largest Number In Ky.

Although Floyd county's total register of candidates for the August primary, 241, is expected to be one of the greatest in the state's 120 counties, no Floyd countian of either party has registered for the office of surveyor and no Republican has registered for the office of coroner. Floyd candidates are running for 25 offices.

Almost three times as many Democrats as Republicans are running for office. Democrats registered number 175, while the Republicans number 66.

The office of magistrate for Floyd county's newly divided eight magisterial districts accounts for the largest portion of candidates, attracting 65 Democratic candidates and 34 Republicans. The office of constable is second in popularity with 46 Democrats and 11 Republicans. Third in popularity is the jailer's office with 20 Democratic candidates and six Republicans.

TWO MEN ARE KILLED ACCIDENTALLY WHEN SHOTGUNS ARE FIRED

Tackett, 36, and Moore, 17
Killed at Same Hour, Six Miles Apart

ACCIDENTS ARE SIMILAR

Shotguns, accidentally discharged Monday, within the same hour and less than six miles apart, took the lives of a man and a youth on Left Beaver. The victims are Marvin Tackett, 36, McDowell; and Levi Moore, 17, Clear Creek.

Both victims were shot in the stomach, accidentally self-inflicted, and each victim was accompanied by another person when death occurred Monday, at 1:30 and 2:30 p. m.

Death came to Tackett while he and his oldest son, Denzil, were inspecting the Tackett cornfield. Tackett set the shotgun he was carrying against a log and then leaned on the gun to rest. The weapon discharged, the full contents of a shell entering Tackett's stomach and bringing death instantly.

Tackett's 13-year-old son, says that prior to the accident his father had said, while pointing, "There's as good a piece of corn as I've seen." He did not speak after the shooting.

The other victim, Levi Moore, of Clear Creek, was similarly killed when the trigger of the shotgun he was using in groundhog hunting became caught in brush and discharged the gun.

Levi Moore's brother, who was with him stated that the death gun was hammerless and had already been fired. The safety was left off from the previous firing. The accident continued on page five

LOUIS HARKEY MAYO ENROUTE TO ENGLAND

Word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Mayo of Prestonsburg, states that Louis Harkey Mayo, Prestonsburg high school graduate, who is now a midshipman in the United States Naval Academy, has just left Germany for the Maderia Islands. The naval academy's annual cruise, which also carries Carthel Smith, son of C. H. Smith of Prestonsburg, will later visit England.

What Irvin S. Cobb Thinks about

Comfort in Traveling.

LATELY, on a cross-country prowl, two of us invaded one of the remotest corners of the desert.

Until our car broke down we crawled along some of the roughest backways in creation, then escaped on what by quaint irony was called an accommodation train over a side-spur of a prehistoric railway line.

When we hit concrete high roads and a i r - conditioned fliers, I caught myself saying our forefathers put up with plenty of misery in order to move about. And then I realized that what we had endured did not date back to former generations. So soon have we grown accustomed to luxury with speed we forget that most of America, fifteen years ago, lacked what we now accept as common traveling comfort.

Why, less than two decades ago, for my sins, I rode on a certain jerk-water railroad in the deep South. The last work done on its tracks was in 1884 by General Sherman—he tore 'em up.

I made the mistake of trying to shave while en route. When I got through, I looked like one of those German student duelists.

But, nowadays, even those who use homemade trailers seem almost happy at times.

Diplomatic Busybodies.

WHO'LL be the next member of our diplomatic corps to open his mouth and put his foot in it clear up to his hip-joint?

It has been nearly two months now since our ambassador to Germany had a bad dream and before nurse could quiet him was proclaiming that a certain billionaire was willing to put up one of his loose billions to buy a dictatorship for this country. He failed to furnish the name and address. Maybe they got left out of the nightmare.

Hardly had paregoric wooed this distinguished sufferer back to hush-a-bye-land when our new representative in the Philippines began demanding that, when it came to drinking official toasts, his name must come higher up on the wine list or he wouldn't be responsible for the consequences. However, the excitement subsided before he could summon the Pacific fleet to bombard Manila. There's a rumor that Washington sent him word he needn't worry about being appropriately saluted—there'd be a nationwide Bronx cheer awaiting him on his return home.

Since then there's been a lull and the American public is getting impatient. We do so love a free show and especially when it's amateur night.

Hard-Bitten Females.

TOURING about over certain Western states where open gambling either is by law permitted, or by custom winked at, I noticed this:

Generally speaking, the feminine patrons are the steadiest drinkers, the most persistent gamblers, the most reckless betters of all. And frequently their manners are the rudest and their faces the grimmest—determined seemingly to disavow the theory that their sex is the gentler sex.

On the other hand, the men patrons—descended, many of them, from old gun fighters, old prospectors, old path-finders—grow increasingly docile and subdued, absorbing less than their share of the hard liquor—maybe because they fear there won't be enough left for mama and the girls—and risking their dimes where the gallant ladies plunge with dollars.

Sometimes a fellow, watching the modern procession from the protection of the sidelines, gets to longing for the bygone days when, as Kipling might have put it and, in fact, almost did, a woman was only a woman, but a good cigar was ten cents.

These Candid Cameras.

ONCE a citizen had a right to object to the publication of a flashlight view showing him beating his wife or exhibiting his appendicitis scar or taking out his uppers or something.

That was before they began printing magazines for those who've abandoned the old-fashioned habit of reading and writing. And it's doing glamorous movie queens no real good when these betraying close-ups prove that maybe the glamor is only paint-deep.

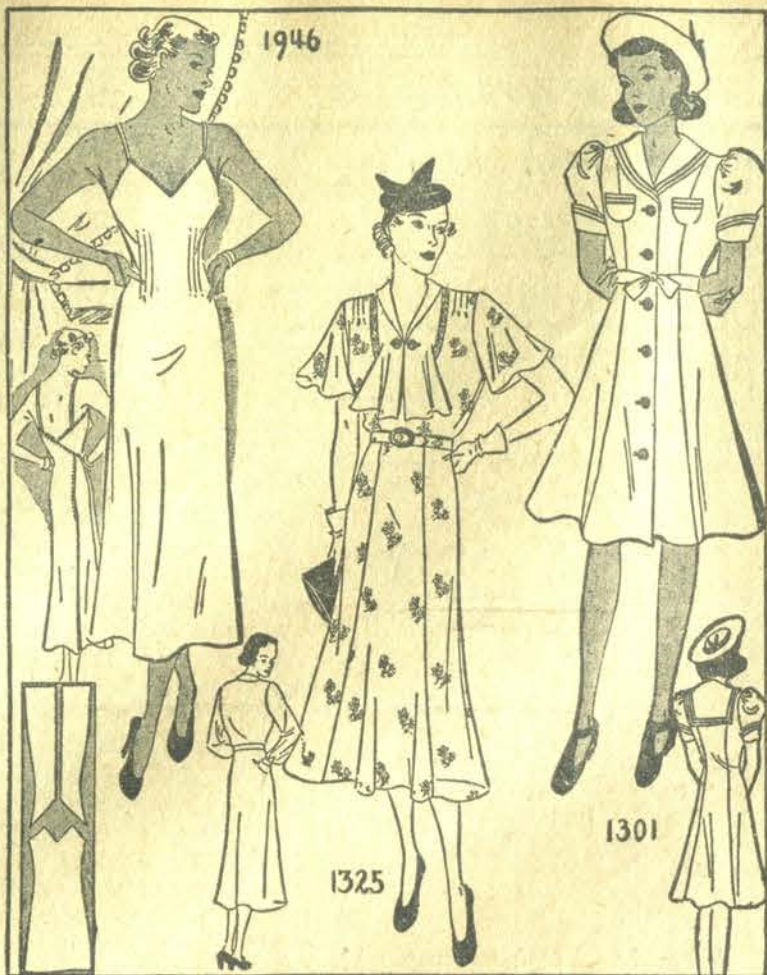

Thus the last strongholds of our one-time personal liberty crumble. I used to think a passport picture was about the frankest thing we had in the line of intimate likenesses, excepting, of course, the x-ray.

But this candid camera business which catches you unawares—and often without your underwears either—is the most fiendish attack of all against our practically vanished privacy.

Judge Often Handed Down Humor "From the Bench"

Late Lord Darling Lived Drab Scenes With Pleasantries.

Many are the stories told about Lord Darling—better known as Mr. Justice Darling, "England's wittiest judge"—who died recently. He was a poet, with several published volumes to his credit. But it was his humor "from the bench" that made his name almost a household word.

On one occasion, a salesman claimed exemption from jury duty on the ground that he was completely deaf in the left ear.

"You can go," said Judge Darling, gravely; "I cannot have anyone in the jury box who cannot hear both sides."

A lawyer who had the misfortune never to have acquired the ability to use the letter "h" (relates Silvain Mayer in his "legal" reminiscences), was engaged before Justice Darling in a case which had relation to a horse. For some time the lawyer kept referring to the animal as "an orse." After a while, Darling looked down and said:

"Was the animal a large horse or a little one?"

"Oh, a little one."

"Then," said the judge, "may we, for the remainder of the case, call it a pony?"

In another case before Justice Darling—in which a Cockney caterer was suing to recover the cost of a picnic luncheon he had provided for a large number of people—the plaintiff waxed highly indignant, under cross-examination, when it was suggested that his sandwiches were mostly "bread and bread," with the ham conspicuous only by its absence.

"I h'am amazed; I h'am surprised; I h'am—," he spluttered.

"That will do!" interrupted Darling. "I suggest that had you been more generous with your hams on another occasion and a little less liberal with them here, you might not have found yourself in this situation!"—Kansas City Star.

Identifying Houses

Before houses were numbered, London's business streets were lined on both sides by a succession of gay signboards exhibiting an almost infinite variety of blue boards, black swans, red lions, flying pigs and the like. Even with these signs it was often hard to find one's destination, for the signs were often so badly painted that it would have puzzled a naturalist to make out the animal meant.

Think It Over

BY THE street of Bye-and-Bye one arrives at the house of Never.—German proverb.

People who have half an hour to spare usually spend it with somebody who hasn't.

Dignity is one thing that can't be preserved in alcohol.

Epitaph: He walked on the suicide of the road.

Mongols! Madam, Barked Sir Howorth

Sir Henry Howorth was taken aback one day when introduced to a gushing lady who declared that she was so charmed to meet him because she wished to talk to him about her little dog.

"But I know nothing about dogs," he protested.

"Oh, how can you say so," she said, "when you have written books about them?"

"Never, madam, never!"

"But surely," she persisted, "you have written a history of the mongrels?"

"Mongols, madam, mongols!" he barked. "Not mongrels."—London Answers.

HERE'S WHY FIRESTONE ALWAYS GIVES YOU SO MUCH

More for your Money

Higher Quality Raw Materials! More Efficient Manufacturing! Lower Distribution Cost!

These All Combine to Give You Extra Values at No Extra Cost

FROM the day of its introduction, the Firestone Standard Tire has more than lived up to its name by setting a new high standard of tire values. Hundreds of thousands of car owners have already bought it because they saw in it more value for their money.

"How does Firestone do it? How can they build so many extra value features into Firestone Standard Tires and yet sell them at such low prices?" The answer is simple—Firestone controls better-quality rubber and cotton supplies at their source, keeps manufacturing costs low by efficient factory methods and sells in such huge volume that distribution costs are held to a minimum. That is why Firestone has been able to give you such extra value features as Gum-Dipping and two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread.

Make no mistake about this! The Firestone Standard Tire gives you the blowout protection of Firestone's patented Gum-Dipping process. Its scientifically designed tread gives greater non-skid protection and longer wear. And those two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread guard against punctures.

Before you buy ANY tire at ANY price, see today's top tire value—the Firestone Standard Tire. Don't risk your life with thin, worn tires on your Fourth of July trip. Sunday School Lesson

GOD PROVIDES A LEADER

International Sunday School
Lesson for July 11, 1937

Golden Text: "Come now therefore, and I will send thee."—Exodus, 3:10

For the past few Sundays we have studied how the Hebrew children happened to be in Egypt where the providential power of Joseph enabled them to be saved from the dreadful famine which had visited the land. After a period of favorable treatment and consideration at the hands of the rulers, there arose a generation which knew not Joseph, and which looked in envy and with jealousy at the growing numbers and increasing prosperity of the Hebrews.

In an effort to prevent further increases in number and to curb their material advances a policy of oppression was adopted toward them. They were subjected to many cruelties and were allowed to exist only as slaves. At length in an effort to prevent increase of the race, the ruling Pharaoh decreed death for all male infants.

It was about this time that a baby son was born to two Hebrew parents, Amram and Jochabed both descendants of the tribe of Levi. Distressed at the decree of Pharaoh, the mother made a little basket of papyrus and covered it with a bituminous substance to make it water-tight, and placing her precious baby in it, told her daughter, Miriam, to hide it in the bullrushes at the edge of the river. Here the daughter of Pharaoh discovered the baby and, although she knew him to be a Hebrew child, decided to adopt him as her own. She called him "Moses," because she took him from the water. Miriam wisely appeared at this time and receiving permission to get the baby a Hebrew nurse, took him back to his home, to be cared for by his own mother, to be paid from the royal treasury.

When he became old enough, Moses was taken to the palace of Pharaoh where he was reared, educated and treated as a royal son. Here he remained until he was 40 years old. Fully conscious of the fact that he was a Hebrew, Moses was interested in his people and one day he went out just in time to see an Egyptian beating a Hebrew. In a fury of passionate anger and resentment and thinking no one was looking, he killed the Egyptian and buried his body in the sand. However, his act was discovered and Moses fled from the court of Pharaoh to the land of the Midianites, in northwestern Arabia, not far from Mount Sinai.

Moses' life can be divided into three different phases, each of practically the same duration—40 years. The first part, including his childhood and education as a young man at the court of Pharaoh, consumed the first 40 years. Upon his flight from Egypt he spent 40 years as a shepherd, tending the flocks of Reuel (elsewhere called Jethro). In simple occupation and manner of life, he had ample time for intensive self-analysis and reflection upon the fundamental religious problems which naturally come to a thoughtful man in the wilderness. Moses was exercising virtues and talents needed for leadership. He was watchful, cautious, brave, enduring, self-reliant, tender and skillful. Driven from a life of luxury and ease, God was trying Moses out to see if he would prove faithful in the little things of life, a test so necessary for one who would be a great leader of men.

One day while tending the flock of Jethro, he led the sheep into the vicinity of "the mountain of God" (unto Horeb). There his attention was attracted by the sight of a bush which burned with fire but was not consumed. While awed at this sight, Moses heard a voice calling "Moses, Moses," to which he answered, "Here am I." God, about to call a man to a great task, needed a humble and reverent heart to speak to and therefore, he called upon Moses to remove his sandals, for "the place whereupon thou standest is holy ground."

God assures Moses that he is the "God of thy father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob," thus recalling to Moses' mind the great promises made to his forefathers. He reminds Moses, that he has surely seen the affliction of my people that are in Egypt and have heard their cry by reason of their taskmasters; for I know their sorrows" and that the time has come for them to be delivered out of the hand of the Egyptians unto a good land and a large, a land flowing with milk and honey. However, before these people can be delivered they must have a leader. "Come now therefore," said Jehovah, "and I will send thee unto Pharaoh, that thou mayest bring forth my people, the children of Israel, out of Egypt."

Aware of the might of Egypt, the unorganized state of the Israelites and his own unfitness for the tremendous task ahead, Moses began at once to make excuses. However, Jehovah meets all of Moses' excuses and objections with the reassuring statement "Certainly I will be with thee." What wonders we could perform if we, too, could have the realization that God will be with us, if we but ask him.

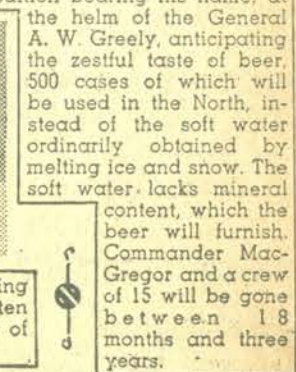

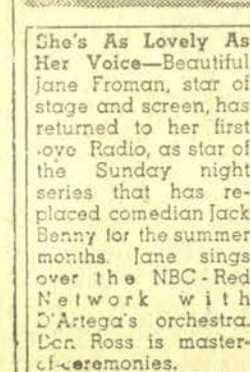

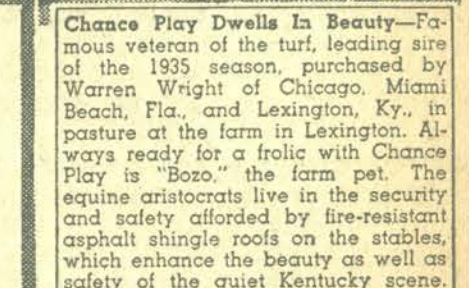

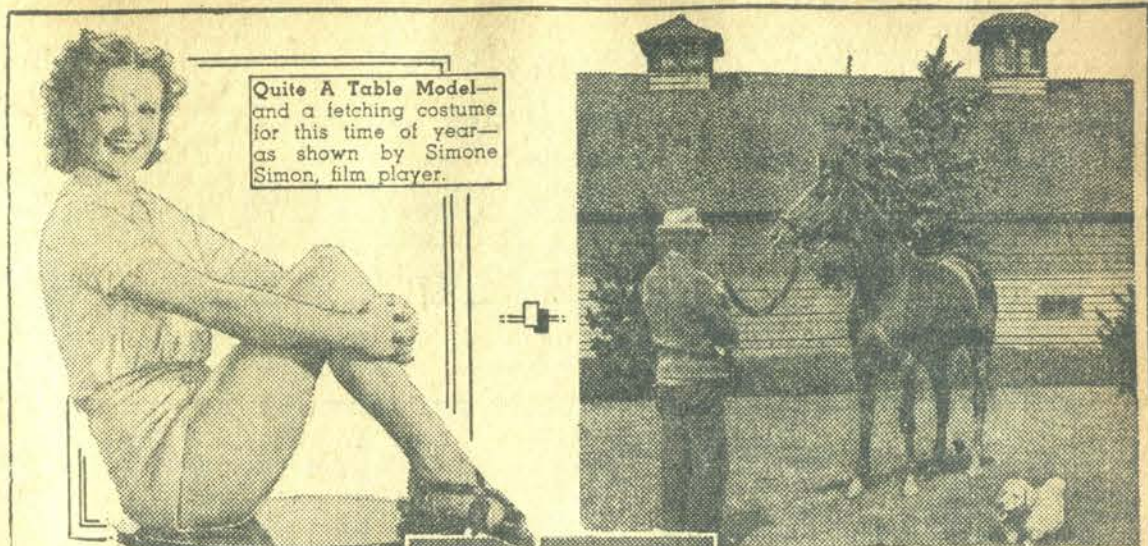

Notwithstanding all of his misgivings, Moses undertook the task and became one of the greatest national leaders in the history of the world and probably the greatest lawgiver of all time, all the while conscious of the guidance and companionship of the God of his fathers.

Sarah Ann's Cooking Class

The tomato is rich in vegetable and mineral salts; it contains three vitamins, A, B and C. As well as being beneficial to our health, the tomato, with its delicious flavor and cheerful color, contributes generously to our meals. Try it as a breakfast beverage, a luncheon salad, and at dinner as soup or hors d'ouvres.

Frozen Tomato Salad
6 small tomatoes
1 cup cream cheese
1 1/2 cup chopped cucumbers

2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped pimento
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup salad dressing
1 cup whipped cream
Peel tomatoes, remove stem and scoop out. Mix cheese, cucumbers, onions, peppers, mentos, salt and three tablespoons of the salad dressing. Stuff the tomatoes. Fit into a tray of the mechanical refrigerator. Mix the dressing and the cream, and pour around the tomatoes, almost covering them. Freeze and when time to serve, cut in squares so that each portion is in a square of frozen dressing. Serve on lettuce. Care

- Tomatoes
Must be taken not to freeze fat to keep from sticking. Fried Tomatoes. Use as a garnish for a chop or a fish platter or a plate of crisp bacon.
- Tomato Juice Cocktail
Season the required amount of tomato juice with salt, pepper, cayenne and onion juice. Pour into refrigerator tray and freeze, stirring every half hour. Before serving, beat thoroughly with a fork or egg beater and put in cocktail glasses. Garnish with a sprig of parsley.
- Creamed Tomatoes
Use soft, medium sized tomatoes and cut a circular piece out of them and scoop out most of the inside and fill with parboiled celery cut in 1/2 inch lengths, mixed with an equal amount of canned peas and dampened with white sauce. Heap 1 teaspoon of peas on top of each tomato and bake for 20 minutes. Serve with highly seasoned white sauce poured over them.
- Baked Macaroni and Tomatoes
1 cup macaroni broken in pieces.
4 tablespoons shortening
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt—white per per.
3 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup mayonnaise
3 medium tomatoes
Buttered bread crumbs
Cook the macaroni in boiling salted water for 9 minutes. Drain and rinse with cold water. Make a white sauce in a double boiler, using shortening, flour, milk salt and pepper. Remove from fire and slowly add the Worcestershire sauce and mayonnaise dressing, stirring constantly. Arrange alternate layers of the macaroni and peeled sliced tomatoes in a greased casserole. Pour the white sauce over the mixture and cover with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in an oven 325 degrees until brown. Try, if you can, using just enough
- Cabbage and Tomato Relish
2 cups finely shredded cabbage.
1/2 cup French dressing
1 cup unpeeled diced tomatoes.
Chill diced tomatoes and shredded cabbage in different bowls. Combine and marinate in French dressing 30 minutes before using.
- Tomato Appetizer
6 tomatoes, diameter 1 1/2 inches.
1/2 cup Roquefort cheese.
1 tablespoon cream
1 teaspoon celery salt
6 rounds of toast diameter 3 inches
1 tablespoon caviar
Parsley
Remove skins from tomatoes, scoop out center, sprinkle with salt, invert and let chill for 1 hour. Fill centers with cheese crumbled and blended well with cream and celery salt. Accent each tomato with caviar. Place on toast and garnish with parsley.

H. W. BERCKMAN IS DISTRICT FORESTER

Bledsoe Man to Take Place of the Late J. W. Bell

H. W. Berckman, Project Superintendent, Camp N 77, Bledsoe, has accepted the appointment as District Forester, Division of Forestry, Department of Conservation of the state, with headquarters at Putney. It was announced this week.

Mr. Berckman has been connected with the Emergency Conservation Work in the state since its inception, being appointed a junior foreman in Camp P 55, at Richardson, in August 1933. Since then he has been stationed at Camp P-73, Paintsville, as a senior foreman, later as acting superintendent of Camp P-76, at Buckhorn, and Project superintendent of Camp P 77, Bledsoe, since February of this year. He will be over Pike county.

His early years were spent in Williamsburg, Whitley county. After graduating from Cumberland College in 1916, he studied at the University of Kentucky and in May, 1917, he enlisted with the U. S. army, and saw 16 months service in France with the A. E. F. in the 77th Division. Before being sent to the front he was selected for special training at the Saumur Artillery School, France, and received a commission as Lieutenant in the Field Artillery. He takes the place of the late J. W. Bell.

A sound film, "Fire the Public Enemy," is being shown throughout the Big Sandy area to help combat the forest fire menace which destroys thousands of acres of timber annually.

DOUBLE FUNERAL RITES CONDUCTED AT GARRETT FOR TWO INFANT GIRLS

A double funeral service was conducted from the Methodist Church at Garrett Sunday at 2 p. m. for the infant daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Litteral, and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Cartmell.

The Rev. Green Allen and Brother Ousley officiated at the funeral services. Burial, made in the Tom Green cemetery, was conducted by the Arnold Funeral Home of Prestonsburg.

Death came to the 19-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Litteral at the Beaver Valley Hospital, Saturday, the same day on which the 13-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cartmell succumbed.

BEN MUSIC DIES

Ben Music, 47, Garrett mine foreman, dropped dead at his home Monday morning, last week. The funeral was conducted from the Garrett Methodist Church Wednesday. Burial rites were conducted by the Arnold Funeral Home of Prestonsburg.

AKERS ELECTED OFFICER OF MOUNTAIN SOCIETY

Grayden Akers, Lackey, has been elected vice president of a Mountain club at Georgetown College. The club has a membership of 60 persons representing eight counties. Other officers elected were Miss Freda Dyer, Knott county; and Keller Whitaker, Letcher county. Whitaker is a former Caney Junior College student from Pippapass.

MINERS OF 4 COUNTIES WILL COMPETE IN EVENTS AT PIKEVILLE MEETING

Miners from Floyd county, Letcher, Johnson and Pike will demonstrate their skill in all phases of mine safety work at a miners' safety meeting under the direction of the Big Sandy Elkhorn Coal Mining Institute at Pikeville in September. It was announced by A. D. Sisk, safety director.

Mr. Sisk states that although plans for the meet-

Rev. A. M. Warren, Who is Conducting the Tent Revival Here

Tent Revival Is Attracting Interest, Concern of Many

Interest and concern in spiritual problems in Prestonsburg are being shown in the services being held in the big gospel tent on the high school grounds under the auspices of several cooperating Prestonsburg churches.

Vigorous compelling messages are being brought by the Rev. Alexander M. Warren of the Presbyterian National Missions Board, and singing is being led by Virgil P. Brock of Indianapolis. A prayer service is held at the high school each night preceding the regular service. At the service Friday night at 8 o'clock a special number, "I'll Walk With Him," is to be rendered by the junior choir of the Presbyterian Church under the direction of Mrs. John D. Thomas.

By the end of the week Mrs. Brock is expected to join the singer in the services. Sunday morning Mr. Warren is to speak at the First Presbyterian Church in Pikeville at a young people's conference service; and Mr. Brock will sing and be in the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church, Prestonsburg.

Envelopes are being distributed and a special offering is to be taken Sunday night, July 11.

Special services are to be held during the week as follows: Monday, July 12, Praise night; Tuesday, Men's night; Wednesday, Family night; Thursday, Young People's night; Friday, Church night with the commencement of the vacation church school; and Saturday, Sacred concert night.

The evangelist has not alone brought stirring messages at the tent but also preached several times upon the street using a loud speaker, and Mr. Brock singing; and both are visiting in the homes and throwing themselves into religious problems of the community.

are as yet only tentative. All operations in the Big Sandy field are expected to send a team to compete in the events. Prizes will be awarded the most proficient.

T. B. AKERS APPOINTED

"COME INTO THE KITCHEN"

TODAY the magical art of electricity is creating a picture of delightful changes in the modern kitchen. Gone are the hot stove, the dreary job of pot scouring, the drudgery of dish washing. With the art of electricity, the modern kitchen adapts new principles of efficiency, of convenience, beauty and cleanliness.

The fast, accurate heat of today's electric range does its work without raising kitchen temperatures—without soot or smoke. The electric refrigerator is a daily joy to use and a constant economizer of the family budget. Electric power is tireless in the performance of laborious tasks and the delightful feature is that with our low rates the more you use the less it costs for each unit. Many households that we serve, having all-electric kitchens, are paying less than 2 cents a kilowatt-hour on the average.

Kentucky and West Virginia POWER COMPANY

CHURCHES CONTINUE TO GROW

During 1936 the religious groups in the United States showed a gain in membership, according to the annual statistics compiled by The Christian Herald, which submits the figures as a "direct contradiction to pessimists, who claim the churches have lost ground."

Membership statistics and reports of contributions for religious purposes show that churches have grown throughout the depression years and continued to forge ahead so far as such figures can indicate or reflect a spiritual growth.

In 1936, the total membership of all denominations and religious bodies in the United States was 63,493,036, a gain of 837,404 over 1935. The Catholics remain the largest single denomination with 20,831,139 communicants. The Baptists lead the Protestant denominations, with 10,332,005 members. In gains for the year, the Catholics, with 221,837 are ahead, although the Baptists gained 140,308; the Reformed Church gained 81,958; the Lutherans 43,905; the Methodists 41,798; the Unitarians 38,026; the Protestant Episcopalians 21,193, and the Presbyterians 6,507.

The figures show that church membership showed a gain of 1.33 per cent while the population of the country gained only 71 per cent. For 10 years, the average gains in church membership has been 1.65 per cent, while the average population increase has been only .98 per cent.

BIG SANDY TRAINS MODERNIZED

It is a far cry from the old time wooden coaches formerly in use on Big Sandy trains to the present all-steel, air conditioned cars, which have just been placed on all trains operating between Ashland and Elkhorn City.

Time was when our fellow passengers seeking fresh air would raise all the windows and eat smoke, cinders or what might come along. But this is all "taboo" since the Chesapeake & Ohio Lines in its effort to furnish the best in transportation has added the new equipment on all its Big Sandy main line trains. Now one enters newly upholstered, clean, cool coaches with the temperature always on an even keel. The seats are most comfortable and the general atmosphere is most conducive to comfortable travel. Another thing we have noticed is that courtesy now seems to be the watchword of all employees of the railroad in their contact with passengers. Taken altogether it appears to us that the railroad is again coming into its own.

at public auction, on Monday, the 26th day of July, 1937, at one o'clock p. m., same being the first day of the regular term of the Floyd County Court upon a credit of 6 and 12 months the following described property, to-wit:

A tract of parcel of land described in the petition, situated in Floyd county, Ky. and more particularly described as follows:

A certain tract or parcel of land lying on the right hand side of Right Beaver Creek in Floyd County, Ky., beginning at a black gum tree on the north side of the creek on the line of Isaac Bradley; thence following the line of Isaac Bradley up the hill to a white oak; thence up the point to another white oak at the top of the hill; thence east two rods to another white oak, to a corner thence down the hill with M. E. Martin's line to a stake and cross on a rock on Muddy Fork branch of Beaver Creek; thence down said branch to a locust post back of said Salyers' garden; thence a straight line to the creek, to a corner beech tree; thence up the creek to a stake in the county road; thence with said road to upper end of sand field to Tony Collins line; thence up the creek to the beginning, said to contain 40 acres more or less, including the coal which has never been sold or leased. Being the same lands conveyed to Mindy Salyers by Wm. Akers, Commissioner of Floyd county court by deed dated March 22, 1909, and recorded January 25, 1912 in deed book No. 33, page 534.

Or a sufficiency thereof to produce the amount ordered to be made, amounting to $3,143.47 and the further sum of $117.85 costs.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

Given under my hand, this the 6th day of July, 1937.

Right Out Of The Air

By R F SERVICE

Phillips H. Lord, radio's number one idea man, is back from his vacation and is hard at work. But he listened to both his programs while away, particularly to his "We The People" which is the fastest growing program in radio because it features instead of stars, folks from everyday walks of life.

Phillips H. Lord

grams each week is Peter Van Steeden, but he turns most of them down. His band is heard regularly on the Fred Allen programs.

Myrtle Vail, her son, George Damerel and daughter, Donna, form Radio's Royal Family. Heard on the "Myrt and Marge" series five times weekly over the Columbia network, they're the only entire family to combine their talents on one radio program. "Myrt" writes the scripts. Originally Donna was the only member of the family to appear with her mother.

Donna Damerel

Clarence Muse, famous baritone, has just signed a year's contract to make records. This, with radio and movie making, moves him into the "busiest star" class in a big way.

Robert Emmet Dolan, maestro of the Saturday Night Party, rehearses the singers on his program, Donald Dickson, baritone, and Lucia Graeser, soprano, with the piano before he brings in the rest of the orchestra. Dolan plays the piano for them himself.

Robert Emmet Dolan

Edgar Bergen, Rudy Vallee's ventriloquist star, is one of the two big radio comedians who writes his own material. Fred Allen is the other. Many others work with their writers but Bergen and Allen are the only two of prominence right now who do every word themselves.

Vincent Lopez insists on musical perfection in his band before the CBS Speedshow on Saturday night gets the spotlight in the rehearsal period. Only when he has absolute confidence in the orchestra can he work with others on the program and give them the musical support they need, says the maestro.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's new series of radio programs will probably be more informal than any in which she has yet been heard. The human interest side of White House life will receive a lot of attention.

If a certain young lady named Trudy Wood suddenly blossoms out as a film star, a lot of the credit can go to Fred Astaire, who features her voice on his Tuesday night programs. The job of singing duets with Astaire has made her one of the most envied girls in Hollywood.

Francis White, famous soprano was chosen to sing on an Easter program which Columbia let the world hear by short wave.

Fellow band leaders say that Ernie Watson, the musical boss of Joe Cook's Saturday night program, is a stickler for getting fine musicians in his orchestra. Like Whiteman and Lopez, he insists on every man being almost a solo star. With Watson wielding the big baton, however, they play like a team.

Isabel Manning Hewson, the "Peticoat Philosopher" on the Mutual network, represents the new school of feminine commentators. Frank, decisive and outspoken, she wins plaudits from both sexes.

TWO ARE KILLED

Continued from page one. dent occurred when Levi attempted to retrieve the shotgun from the brush where he had laid it.

Funeral services were held for Tackett who was killed first, Tuesday, on the eve of his thirty-sixth birthday, at Long Branch, in Pike county with the Revs. Miliord Hall and Bert Hall, of McDowell officiating.

He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Frances Tackett; by his mother, Mrs. Sol Tackett; by four children, Denzil, 13; Bessie, 11, Delmar, 9; and the 3-year-old baby; three brothers, Claude and Jerry Tackett, of McDowell, and Shade Tackett of Vargie survive. Mr Tackett is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. Dixie Blanton of Vargie, and sisters in Wheelwright and Charleston, W. Va. whose names are not available.

Funeral services for the 17-year-old Levi Moore were held at McDowell Tuesday with the Revs. Dick Moore and Andy Jones officiating. Burial was made in the Green Hall cemetery Moore, who had just lately returned from the CCC, is survived by his father, Tom Moore, and several brothers and sisters whose names are unavailable.

TWO CONTRACTS LET FOR IMPROVEMENT OF LEFT BEAVER'S ROADS

THE FARM AND HOME
 (Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station)
 A little cream improves the taste of cottage cheese although it is not necessary. Salt may be added to suit the taste, either when it is worked or when it is eaten. Usually about a level teaspoonful to the pound is enough.

A 16 pound turkey tom has eaten approximately 64 lbs. of feed and an 8 pound capon about the same amount. So it is more profitable to produce turkeys if the death rate is low in both cases.

PARENTS AND CHILDREN

It takes no wisacre to tell us that children have called their parents by many names within the lifetime of the present generation. Nearly half a century ago Pa and Ma, or Paw and Maw, probably would have had most votes. Father and mother have had a steady group of adherents throughout several generations but in general they have probably suggested more dignity than most children liked. The desire to be Frenchified brought Papa and Mama, accented at first on the second syllable. Good Americans quickly changed the accent and developed the time honored Pappy and Mammy, what hundreds of my generation called their parents. With the growth in democracy has come a companionship between parents and children that is reflected in the term Daddy. No suitable opposite for this has been found as yet; many children who say Daddy say Mother; others say Mamma. There is needed a word that suggests a pal such as Daddy Dices.

Each of these words has or has had a series of connotations so that hearing a person call his parents' name is usually sufficient to place him in time if not otherwise. For instance, one could hardly expect Papa to have any dirty work to do. To say that "Papa chews tobacco" would be shocking. Now it would be different with Pap. The Old Man is not degraded, but he is the parent, fond or otherwise, of a son whom he supports at college or elsewhere. The Governor is likewise the parent of a sport, sometimes a good companion of his. Speech writing and "every other creature," as St. Paul would say, is influenced by these terms of endearment. An old lady who like Holmes' aunt, has had all the fine training of a finishing school always refers to her parents as Father and Mother, sometimes with "dear" in front of the words. The politician always refers to his parents, publicly at least, as Daddy and Mammy. They are always poor but honest and lived in a log cabin where the future great man was born and raised. The boy away from home writes to Father or Daddy or Papa for some money and tells the fellows that the Governor or the Old Man has sheltered out.

In looking back over our past, I wonder whether you share my feelings about the type of parent indicated by the title. Sometimes, when I am about three quarters blue I want Mammy; similarly when I smart out a little too obviously, I begin to fear lest Pappy will appear, rod in hand, and give me a dose of what I badly needed. I have had Mother and Mamma and Maw come to see me about their children. Mother and I got on without a hitch; sometimes Mamma had difficulty in convincing me how very bright and angelic her darling child was; but when Maw arrived, I surrendered without firing a shot. Something in the look of her eye did the work, even without the use of language.

phosphate usually increases hay and pasture sufficiently to pay the cost of treatment in a short time.

The child's daily ration should include at least a pint of milk and preferably quart; butter at every meal; cereal, bread or potato at every meal; at least two vegetables other than potatoes; fruit, eggs or meat or both, and a little sweets at end of meal.

If washing in cold water does not remove grass stains from clothing, moisten the spots with kerosene, let stand a short time and then wash with soap and water. Alcohol or ether will dissolve the green coloring matter when the material cannot be washed.

BUS LINE LEASES SPARKS TERMINAL IN PAINTSVILLE

Paintsville, Ky., July 1—(From the Herald News)—Sparks Bus Lines, Inc., has just leased spacious quarters for a bus station for 10 years at the Sparks building on Main street here at a total rental of $16,000. It has been announced. The bus station is to be known as the Union Bus terminal.

The old bus terminal was not large enough to accommodate the growing traffic. John C. Long, manager, announced additional space was necessary.

Now instead of loading and unloading on the street, passengers will get on and off buses inside the terminal. A large waiting room has been arranged, as well as modern rest rooms. Recently a new bus terminal was opened in Pikeville. One was opened last year at Prestonsburg.

Household Questions

To Keep Icing on Cake — Sift a little flour over the top of the cake before icing it and the icing will not run off.

For Scratched Furniture — Furniture scratches may be hidden by painting with iodine and then rubbing with furniture polish.

Washing Flannels — Next time you are washing flannels or woolens put about a teaspoonful of olive oil in the water. It will keep them beautifully soft.

Scaling Fish — Dipping fish in boiling water will aid in scaling them.

Double Duty for Soap — When I buy toilet soap I put it away among the sheets and pillow cases, to which it gives an attractive fresh fragrance and, of course, the soap is all the better for keeping.

A Warm Meal — Instead of putting food into the oven to keep hot for late-comers, cover it closely with a tin or basin, and set it over a saucepan of hot water. It will keep hot without drying.

Brighter Pudding — Two teaspoonfuls of marmalade stirred into a ground rice pudding just before it is cooked will give it the delightful flavour of fresh orange, without the bother of grating peel. The kiddies will love it.

Cleaning Silverware — When your silverware becomes tarnished, place it in an aluminum saucepan and cover with hot water in which potatoes have been boiled. Leave for an hour, then rinse and it will look like new, without the usual cleaning.

Pineapple Sherbet — Two and one-half cups crushed pineapple, one and one-third cups sweetened condensed milk, one cup water, four tablespoons lemon juice, orange juice. Combine the lemon juice, water and crushed pineapple. Blend with the condensed milk and place in freezer. Let stand to ripen packed in the ice and salt for an hour after it is frozen and the dasher removed. Makes a quart and a half. Orange flavor always brings out pineapple. Add half a cup of orange juice to all a cup of water will with a prop. Service.

And the Winner is of Deception
Not long ago a foreign army officer, who had a fancy pair of socks tattooed on his feet and ankles, was shot in the right foot during a skirmish with African natives. When he arrived home some months later, his tattooist wanted to cover the white scar with more "sock." But the colonel would not hear of it. He insisted upon having this apparent "tear in his hose" mended with a tattooed patch.—Collier's Weekly.

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste
Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.
Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

CHAPTER I

"This room might be a man's office, stripped like this," said Anne Vincent from the flat desk where she was ostentatiously busy with a pile of bills and a check-book.

"But think how feminine it is with rugs and the curtains and the cretonne covers and the china dingbats on the mantelshelf," said Rachel; adding, as she stuffed two more packages into the boxed window-seat, "Do you think I've used enough mothballs? Remember how the mice made nests in here last winter!"

Both women had spoken louder than was necessary and there was the tension of a topic avoided in their voices. The living room of the cottage was bare except for the furniture, even the bookshelves had been emptied and the pictures taken down.

Anne twisted about to look at Rachel's packing. "You put in the whole two boxes? That'll surely be enough. It was Mrs. Kree's fault—the mice, I mean."

"Poisonous woman!" said Rachel and banged down the lid of the window seat. "Every time I see her and that squabby sister of hers walk by I want to rush out and beat them with my tennis racquet!" Her work finished, she rose and stretched her tall young slender-

"It Must Have Been Tragic."

ness, pulled her white sweater down and adjusted her belt. She watched Anne from the corners of her eyes. At last she went over to the desk and sat on the edge of it. "Aren't you almost done?"

"There are ever so many more." "Are you checking every item?" "Yes, of course. Why don't you take a last swim? Where's Bob? I thought he asked you to go out in his boat?"

Rachel swung her feet obstinately. "You're stalling, mother. You want to get away without telling me a thing. It's no use. Bob's gone out alone and I'm not having a swim. You can just come out of that mess of eggs and potatoes and cords of wood and talk."

"Rachel, I've always told you that when you were twenty-one, if you wanted to hear—or before, if there was good reason—"

"There's plenty good reason. You're going abroad and Great-aunt Helene may hang on to you for ages!"

"If I stay more than six months you can join me: You know that."

"Don't evade. It's only another year till I'm twenty-one and I'm just as mature and sensible now as I will be then. The way you act I'm beginning to feel as if there was something perfectly rotten—"

Anne Vincent's protesting hand stopped her. "Darling, no! Don't say such things. There's nothing rotten or foul or poisonous or any other of your favorite bad adjectives about it—really. Give you my word."

"Then why do you want to hold out on me?"

"Maybe I'm a little jealous."

"Mother, darling lamb, don't be ridick. Jealous of what?"

Anne's grasp tightened. "I'm afraid I'm jealous of your interest in your real mother, Rachel. I'd like you not to think of her."

"But I don't think of her as my mother. I don't. She's never thought of me as her child, that's evident enough. She was glad to get rid of me. Wasn't she?"

"I can't answer yes or no; it's not as simple as that." Anne considered the sea a moment longer, wondering, doubting, uncertain. If she could only understand Rachel's urgency! Then she resolved. "I see I'll have to explain things, I don't want you to be getting strange notions. Let's go down to the beach; it's so dreary here with everything packed."

They linked arms as they stepped off the terrace before the low shingle house which had been their home for ten summers. It was the last but one of the straggling village street, there was only the roadway between it and the dunes. The single house beyond theirs was an ugly square high-elbowed thing with stiff shell-bordered walks, and a gypsy kettle, on a tripod painted a flaming red and filled with clashing magenta geraniums, beside the front door. As Anne and Rachel crossed the road this front door opened swiftly and a little anxious man hailed them.

"You be out some time, Mis' Vincent?"

"I don't know exactly, Mr. Kree," said Anne, "but you can go in and turn on the radio."

"Thank you, ma'am. There's a program offerin' a nice book of photographs and a tube of cold cream I aim to get and if there's any new contests I want to try 'em." He explained breathlessly and was inside their house with the last word.

"Couldn't we leave the house open and the electricity on so he can have the radio after we're gone? It's so mean of Mrs. Kree to lock theirs up except when she wants to hear something herself, I'd like to get round her somehow."

"I suppose we could. He has such fun writing for samples and entering all the contests, it's pathetic."

"Do let's do it, mother."

"All right, my dear, the electricity won't cost much. And if the weather's very cold he can build a fire. I'll give him written permission."

They had reached the beach, a half-circle of sand scooped in between points of rock which went far enough out on each side to break the sweep and drag of the waves. The Vincents' bathing house lay so unobtrusively back among the dunes that this little scallop shell of quiet and peace seemed never to have known man's trespass, yet it had been a favorite haven of rum runners during the latter half of the great prohibition farce. Now those days were over and the village and summer people found the larger beach below the town more convenient for bathing, so this one had come to be Rachel and Anne Vincent's exclusive property, their outdoor living room and extension of summer days.

They sat down facing the sea, their backs against the length of pale water-washed Norwegian fir which once held the mainsail of a skimming saucy clipper. Anne, uneasy, disturbed, made a most uncharacteristic fuss in settling herself, while Rachel watched her with growing impatience.

"It can't be as dreadful as you're making out," said Rachel at last, half laughing, but with nervous excitement beneath.

Anne pulled her wits together. "It's not dreadful at all, I simply don't know where to start."

"Tell me her name. I don't even know her name. I've always rather hoped it was Rachel, like mine."

"Oh, Rachel, darling, have you been thinking about her so much! Why didn't you tell me? I—" she caught back her emotion, took an easier tone: "Rachel, your mother's name was Elinor, Elinor Malloy. She was only about eighteen when you were born, she wasn't through high school when she was married. And your father's name was Edwin Malloy. They were just a couple of youngsters who ran off and got married without knowing one another, without thinking about it—"

"A sort of joke, I suppose."

"Don't be bitter. They were so young, they had no idea, they didn't realize—but I'll have to go back and begin properly. I never saw your father, but your mother was one of the loveliest, no, she was absolutely the loveliest creature I ever laid my eyes on. She didn't seem quite real, she was so lovely."

"Was she light or dark?"

"Very fair skin, very dark hair, very blue eyes. Everything in her appearance was accented and distinct and yet there was a complete fusion so that her beauty stood clear and perfect. She's only—let's see—she's only thirty-eight years old, Rachel, now, nine years younger than I. And she's still beautiful, but in a different way."

"How do you know? I thought you said you'd only seen her once, years ago."

"Her pictures come out in the newspapers now and then, the society columns—"

"They do! Oh, mother, who is she? Have I seen her pictures?"

"She's Mrs. Peter Holbrook Cayne."

"She's married someone else?"

"Rachel, darling, I want to get through this as quickly as I can and afterward I'll answer your questions. You must try to understand about her. Your grandfather—her father—died and left your grandmother with very little money and this child to take care of and life was very hard—and meager—for both of them. Uncertain, too, insecure. Mrs. Rhodes—"

"But who's Mrs. Rhodes?"

"Your grandmother, Elinor's mother. Did I forget to say her name? I'm mixing this up dreadfully."

"No, no, I've got it straight. My mother was Elinor Rhodes and she married Edwin Malloy."

"Yes, that's right. Mrs. Rhodes did fine sewing and embroidery for her friends to help along, monograms on table linen and that sort of thing, it didn't amount to much and she must have been very anxious about Elinor. There seems to have been no one who took any interest, or perhaps she was proud—and shy. She kept her daughter with her and sent her to school. And one day Elinor came in with Edwin Malloy—he was a young clerk in the corner drug-store—and she had married him. Now remember, Rachel, I'm simply telling you the story I heard. I never met Mrs. Rhodes. Even so, I can understand what a shock this marriage was for her. If she'd had the means she probably would have had it annulled, because Elinor had lied about her age. But she could do nothing, so she took them into their cramped apartment to live with her. And from the first they weren't happy, nothing went right. Your father was apparently just a good-natured, good-looking boy with almost no education and no family, he made very little money, he wasn't ambitious, he wasn't clever. Mrs. Rhodes detested him and kept lamenting the marriage all the time, and there was Elinor herself with her beauty and her youth and her pliable unformed nature—you can see them, can't you?"

"Yes. It must have been tragic. For all of them."

Find American Flag With 38 Stars; Old Banner Is Presented to a History Class

An American flag which proudly boasted a Union of 38 states, was recently discovered by Boy Scouts in an abandoned building on the bluffs above the Merrimack river, near Fern Glenn, states a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

When the 38-starred flag was our national emblem Colorado had just been admitted to the Union, and North and South Dakota, Montana, Washington, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona, were still territories, not yet admitted to the right to statehood. That was in 1876, about 100 years after the birth of the Union had been accomplished through the Declaration of Independence. The flag, however, may have been anywhere from 48 to 61 years old, for the thirty-ninth star came into the Union with North Dakota, in 1889.

The property upon which the old flag was found was once owned by Captain Schauf, who died at an advanced age several years ago. He was a noted shot and was associated with the police department as a coach in its target practice. The buildings have long since fallen into disuse and ruin. The discovery was made while the Scouts were using one of them as temporary headquarters for a day of patrol activity.

The union of the flag is in perfect condition. The stripes, however, have been tattered and worn at the ends. Troop 332 has offered to place the flag in the custody of the history class of Maplewood high school, to become the property of the high school unless the rightful owner is found.

Colorful Flower Heirloom Afghan

A merry-go-round of color, that's what this lacy afghan suggests, when crocheted square by square from every colorful scrap of yarn your work basket will yield. And won't it be economical—this "heirloom" afghan, which combines deep shades, pastel shades with the same background color, that of the leaves. You'll love this all-over flowered

Favorite Recipe of the Week

Red Raspberry and Strawberry Jelly.

4 cups (2 lbs.) juice
7 1/2 cups (3 1/2 lbs.) sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare juice, crush thoroughly or grind about 1 1/2 quarts each fully ripe raspberries and strawberries. Combine fruits; place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice.

Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire and boil hard 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Then add bottled fruit pectin, bring again to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1/2 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 11 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

WHEELWRIGHT MINES RESUME OPERATION

"We signed nothing. We made no agreement with anybody. The Committee for Industrial Organization simply accepted through Governor Townsend (of Indiana) the provisions of our labor policy which we submitted to the Governor last Saturday and which restated the labor policy we announced to our employees May 25."

"The information of our employees here who read papers indicating an agreement was made between our company and the SWOC which included the 40 hour week time and one-half for overtime and other provisions, I want to state that our company for a long period of time has had in effect at its several plants the 40 hour week and the time and one-half provisions as well as a vacation plan for its employees. These considerations were in effect and were a part of the labor policy of the company when the SWOC called the strike on May 26 and have not been changed.

"When the steel plants resumed operations on July 1 they did so at the same wages and working conditions that prevailed at the time the strike was called and there has been no agreement signed with the SWOC.

The letter of Mr. Wilfred Sykes, assistant to the president, referred to in Mr. Price's statement is quoted in full: "Chicago Ill. July 1, 1937

"To the Employees of Inland Steel Company:

"Now that you are back at work we want you to know exactly what happened.

"The facts are simple and clear, and are as follows:

"First: We have stood squarely behind the Statement of Labor Policy we gave you on May 25, 1937.

"Second: We have made no agreement with the SWOC.

"We have complied with the request of every public authority for full information about the strike.

"We met continuously for nearly a week with the members of the Steel Mediation Board appointed by the President, and explained our position. That board has since adjourned.

"The entire question of the strike has been placed before the National Labor Relations Board. These hearings are now being conducted. Eventually either by the decision of that board or by the court, to whom appeal may be made, we shall all know what the law requires.

"On Friday, June 25, Governor Townsend of Indiana, asked us to talk to him. We did so and explained our position to him in full. We gave him a copy of the Statement of Labor Policy which we had sent to you, with a letter explaining our position in the strike.

"On Tuesday evening by telephone the Governor asked us to give him certain assurance regarding our labor policy which we did. The exact language was as follows:

"1. The men will be returned to work without discrimination between strikers and non-strikers.

"2. Positive assurance that the labor policy as set forth by the Inland Steel Company in their letter to the Governor of June 26, 1937, and statement as to labor policy attached thereto, dated May 25, 1937, will be carried out. "All grievances which may hereafter arise on labor matters within scope of the statement dated May 25, 1937, will be settled in the manner outlined in that statement. If any such settlement so arrived at is unsatisfactory, the company will refer the matter to the Commissioner of Labor of the state of Indiana, and will accept his decision as final.

"We then announced that our plants would reopen and that we expected the public authorities of Indiana to maintain order.

"Thereafter we made no change in our position.

"At 11 o'clock on the evening of Wednesday, June 30, Governor Townsend, by telephone made to us the simple announcement that the pickets would be withdrawn.

"This is the full story of how the strike was terminated, and we are very happy that the plant has resumed normal operation without violence."

BROKEN BACK VICTIM IS SLIGHTLY IMPROVED

Reported to be resting better this week, George Jones who sustained a broken back and crushed ligaments almost two weeks ago, is receiving special treatment at the Orpedic hospital in Huntington, W. Va. His condition is reported slightly improved.

JULY 4 CELEBRATION IS GREAT SUCCESS

One of the largest crowds in Prestonsburg's history gathered here Saturday as guests of the business and professional men of the city, for the Independence celebration.

Following an address of welcome by Mayor Arthur C. Carter, a patriotic address was delivered by State Senator Joe P. Tackett, into which he injected a telling story and plea for safety in driving on the holidays. Mrs. Mary D. Allen contributed a recitation on "Our Flag," which was timely and enjoyed by all.

A surprise act was the presentation of a beautiful silver loving cup to Mayor A. C. Carter by the presidents of Front street in recognition of his efforts in their behalf. At 6:30 R. C. Leard, superintendent of the Warfield Natural Gas Company, gave an exhibition of gymnastics and Indian club exercising, and "Aunt" Minerva Friend gave a splendid selection of songs and dancing.

The highlight of the day was the public wedding of a young Floyd county couple, Alex Shepherd and Miss Audia Reffett of Blue River, conducted by City Police Judge Alex H. Spradlin at 7 p. m. with loudspeakers carrying the words to the assembled throng. The bride was furnished with a complete outfit by Anderson's Department Store, and trimmings by the Vogue Beauty Shop. The groom's outfit and Bill Bunting's barber dolled him up with the tonsorial necessities. County Clerk A. B. Meade donated the license.

A diamond wedding and engagement set provided by the committee, completed the ensemble. The newlyweds received a "shower" of household articles, and between $10 and 15 in cash by spectators. A wedding dinner for the occasion was given the couple at Mike's Restaurant. At 8:30 a display of fireworks lasted an hour and at 9:30 a square dance was held in the block roped off for that purpose, to music by the Sammons Brothers' String Band, led by Darling Sammons.

The following Prestonsburg business houses and professional men donated cash contributions and prizes which were awarded contest winners: The Bank Josephine, The First National Bank, Scott's Dept. Store, Anderson's Dept. Store, Kroger Grocery, J. B. Dick 5 and 10c Store, I. Richmond Co., City Cafe, Bertha Walls Dress Shop, Ben Franklin Store, Modern Drug Store, Unique Theatre, Abigail Theatre, Francis Cash Store, Perry's Grocery, Patton Insurance Agency, People's Store, The Leader Store, Bailey's Grocery, Auxier Hotel, Howard Motor Co., Dr. J. S. Kelly, Dr. C. R. Stone, Dr. M. J. Leete, Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company, Warfield Natural Gas Company, Paintsville Bakery, Ed Redd of the East Kentucky Beverage Company and M. J. Leete Jr.

E. P. Arnold loaned the use of his public address system and Howard Motor Company the loan of a truck for use as a speakers' platform. The police department maintained good order during the day. O. C. Hall, Tom James and Bill Bigger, carried out their duties as contest judges with good spirit.

pose of no other law written on the statute books are so highly commendable.

"First it provides for the preservation and improvement and fertility of our soil—in this area of your own state the Administration with the cooperation of farmers and others, has worked out soil buying practices especially adapted to your area. Since in this particular area many farmers are small producers of general crops, the Agricultural Conservation Administration has approved a number of regulations and practices of local benefit, such as a minimum $10 for diversion farmers and a $20 minimum allowance for non-diversion farmers.

"The second purpose of the act," he added, "is to promote the economic use and conservation of the land—third, the prevention of wasteful and unscientific use of our soil resources—Fourth, the protection of rivers and harbors against the results of soil erosion—Fifth, it sets forth conditions under which steps may be taken to re-establish the ratio between the purchasing power of the income of farmers and the income of non-farmers."

Congressman Patterson was introduced by Claude P. Stephens, Prestonsburg. At the conclusion of the Congressman's address, Legion Commander Ed Sutton introduced W. S. Wallen, who made a patriotic speech. All speeches were preceded by the Legion parade at 1 p. m.
