TWO DEAD; ONE INJURED BY TRUCK NEAR HAROLD, KY.

Wednesday Night Tragedy Near Scene of Similar Recent Accident

BOND EXECUTED

A truck reported here to be owned by the Utilities Elkhorn Coal Company, driven by Ed Fleming struck a group of three on the highway above Harold, Ky., Wednesday night at 7 o'clock, instantly killing two men and injuring one woman. The tragedy took place within one mile of a recent mishap that took the lives of three school children.

The dead: Dakota Stapleton, age 24. Dayton Duvall, 26. Mrs. Dayton (Duvall), third of the group, suffered an injured hip and other bruises, as she was struck a glancing blow by the machine. The driver did not stop at the scene of the tragedy, but was later arrested by Pike county officers in Pike county. He was brought to the Floyd county jail here Thursday by officers.

Fleming said he did not see the people walking on the road as another car was approaching, but after he hit them he became excited and drove on to Virgie where he reported the accident to his brother. He stated that he saw a coal company official returning to the scene where they met the arresting officers. Mr. Bowman, a coal company official, stated, it is said, that Fleming was not intoxicated upon reaching Virgie.

Mr. Moore, brother of Mrs. Duvall, is quoted as saying that the Duvalls had been to the store at Harold. Returning home, they were joined by Stapleton and, at the time the truck struck them, were walking on the dirt shoulder of the road off the pavement. He said that the truck was traveling at an excessive rate of speed.

A report from Pikeville stated the truck was equipped with a governor that would not permit a speed of over 35 miles per hour. The governor, it is said, was tested only two weeks ago.

Fleming was brought before county judge pro-tem John Allen, late Thursday afternoon, but waived a hearing. He was changed in two counts of involuntary manslaughter and one of assault and battery. He executed bonds of $5,000.

ROBERT SLONE, OF ALLEN, SUCCUMBS

Robert Slone, of Allen, well-known citizen of Floyd county, succumbed Thursday, Feb. 25, at the Stumbo Memorial hospital, Lackey, where he submitted to an operation. Mr. Slone was stricken ill at Fort Pierce, Fla., where he had gone to spend the winter. He was bedfast for six weeks previous to his return to the Stumbo hospital.

Mr. Slone was a merchant at Allen, Ky., having been in business there 33 years. He was one of Floyd county's best citizens and had many friends throughout this section. He was never married and was 62 years of age at his death.

BI-STATE MEETING IN PIKE SATURDAY; URGE 'BREAKS' PARK

Pikeville, Ky. (Special)—A record crowd is expected in Pikeville Saturday, March 6, for the bi-state "National Forest Reserve" meeting due to responses received from business and civic leaders of Kentucky and Virginia interested in a national park at the Big Sandy "Breaks."

Quoting W. Clyde Sanders, chairman of the temporary committee formed to urge the formation of the park, "The many letters certainly express that much enthusiasm is aroused among our natives and they seem determined to use their influence in trying to bring to reality the one thing that nature must have intended for us."

Speakers, recognized as authorities on the subject of "Conservation," have been secured for Saturday's meeting slated for purpose of forming a permanent organization. Civic leaders, business men and public officials of Floyd and other counties of this vicinity have been invited to be present.

STATE TAXPAYERS GIVEN TO APRIL 30

Floyd Taxes 50 Per Cent Paid; District No. 2 Has Best Record

A 61-day extension has been granted by Gov. Chandler for the payment of state property and poll taxes. The original deadline was set for February 28, but the proclaimed moratorium sets the date for April 30.

The governor decreed the added time for payment of taxes to aid the flood sufferers in particular, it is said.

In preparing a report on tax collections at the sheriff's office here, Deputy Sheriff O. H. Stumbo stated that Floyd county has paid approximately 50 per cent of the county and state taxes previous to March 1. The report is expected to be completed this week and total figures for the period of collection rendered.

Thursday evening, Sheriff M. T. Stumbo totaled the collection for the month of February and stated that about $50,000 had been paid during the month.

So far, it was stated, district No. 2 has the best record in tax payments. Not officially confirmed, it was estimated that the district has paid better than 70 per cent of its 1936 taxes. The district is composed of the Right Beaver section of the county.

The collections made represent the small taxpayer of the county. Sheriff Stumbo said, as a large number of the corporations have not, as yet, made their payments. Most of the business concerns and corporations in the county were affected during the flood due to curtailed shipping and railway service. Coal mines were at a standstill for approximately 20 days.

Hays Pledged to Fraternity

Stanley Hays, son of Douglas Hays, of McDowell, was pledged to Scabbard and Blade, honorary military science fraternity at the University of Kentucky at ceremonies held Feb. 27 in connection with the annual military ball. Mr. Hays is a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences.

COUNTY TOURNEY BEGAN THURSDAY

Prestonsburg Bests Wayland, Garrett Defeats Martin in Close Contest

Floyd county high school teams are getting a taste of the 58th district basketball tournament this week-end. Thursday night, March 4, saw Prestonsburg and Garrett get by the first round competition, the former trouncing an inexperienced Wayland team, 38 to 4, and the Garrett team nosing out Martin by the slim margin of 26 to 23.

Spectators said that the Martin team led the mighty Garrett aggregation thru the game until the last few minutes of play. At this point in the game, it was stated, one of Martin's players fouled out and the squad had insufficient replacements to stand the fast pace of the game.

In the Prestonsburg-Wayland game, the Blackcats played the second team during the major portion of the basketballing fracas. Dickie Dickerson, team manager, stated.

At 2:30 Friday afternoon, the fast improving Maytown quint meets Auxier followed at 3:30 by the McDowell-Wheelwright game. Friday night at 7:30, Prestonsburg engages the highly-touted Betsy Layne Bobcats in what appears to be a toss-up between two strong teams. Immediately after that the Garrett five pits its sharp shooting against Lackey on their home floor in a scrap that promises to be close.

The Lackey tournament is entertaining more teams, probably, than any other district meet in the state.

Hazard To Be Host To American Legion Meet

Hazard will be host to the 1937 convention of the American Legion from the Tenth Kentucky district it was announced Saturday by District Commander W. Clyde Sanders following the executive session at Prestonsburg. Peyton Hobson, Jr., prominent Pikeville attorney, headed the committee which awarded the two-day convention, June 19 and 20 to the Perry county city.

More than 200 veterans from all sections of the tenth district and many visitors attended the meeting at Prestonsburg Saturday.

The conference opened with a parade starting from the Floyd county courthouse and the business session was held in the new circuit court room. The conference was opened by district commander W. Clyde Sanders, of Pikeville. Attorney Joe Hobson introduced Mayor A. C. Carter, of Prestonsburg, who welcomed the Legion and opened the city to the delegates. Judge John W. Caudill of the Floyd-Knott district, gave a welcome address from the county, which was a charge to the Legion to aid in stamping out the great crime wave sweeping through our country, special stress being laid on this section. The response was made by Major C. P. Hudson, adjutant of the tenth district.

WAYLAND OFFICER TAKES OWN LIFE

No Motive Vouchsafed; Burial Rites at Offutt Wednesday Afternoon

Funeral rites for Robert Witten, age 26 years, Wayland policeman who shot himself Monday morning near 12:30 a. m. were held at Offutt, Ky., his birthplace, in Johnson county, at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Funeral services had been held the previous evening at 7:30 in the Methodist Church at Wayland. Witten shot himself, according to reports, while sitting in a chair in the living room of his home. The bullet penetrated below the jaw and passed out at the crown of his head. His wife and his mother were present when the tragedy occurred. A brother, Jay, was asleep upstairs at the time, it is said.

At the sheriff's office here it was stated that immediately following Witten's act, his wife told officers that she picked up the gun with the intention of taking her own life in her excitement, but thought of their three small children and ran to the porch screaming, where she fired the gun three or four times to sound an alarm.

Sheriff M. T. Stumbo said Tuesday, following an investigation, the result of queries concerning the tragedy showed that the Wayland policeman had committed suicide. Sheriff Stumbo quoted Millard Salisbury, Wayland chief of police, as saying that Witten had expressed an intention of committing suicide to him about three months ago.

Witten had been policeman at Wayland for 14 months. He was a quiet-mannered and well-liked young man. He was a son of the late Robert W. Witten, who preceded him in death seven years ago.

SIX ARRESTS; TWO STILLS IN RAIDS

Informing Officers of Road Conditions Leads to Arrest on Mud

Three "dry" raids in three days were staged by officers in Floyd county last week. News of the activities in "moonshine" drives is near to an oddity here since, throughout the nation, prohibition is now being relegated to history, it seems.

Friday evening, it was reported here, federal prohibition officer Winice Trimble and fellow officers, in preparing to raid the Mud Creek section, came upon Irvin Tackett near the mouth of Mud Creek and approached him with the following query: "Say, how far can we get up the creek in a car?" Whereupon Mr. Tackett truly informed the officer, "You can get a car up as far as the schoolhouse but from there you'll have to walk or go horseback." As the story goes, Officer Trimble, noticing a "suspicious looking" coffee sack containing a bulky object slung over Tackett's shoulder, replied, "Well, I can get up there to where you are alright can't I?" Examination of the sack revealed a 5-gallon keg of "moon."

The officers smashed both heads of the keg and took their informer into custody. The federal raiding party continued on up the creek and found a still on Big Mud above Branham's Creek with eight kegs of beer. Near there, they arrested Lisha Hall, it is said, after finding one and one-half gallons of liquor under the bed in Mr. Hall's home. Names of any other stills was not given in the report.

Thursday, Sheriff M. T. Stumbo, accompanied by deputies Elson Kendrick, I. H. Fitzpatrick and Ralph Allen found a 90-gallon still on the Cushman fork of Le't Beaver near Hunter, Sheriff Stumbo stated Tuesday, March 2. He said that the identity of the owner was not established. The worm of the still was brought to the office here.

A raid on Mud Creek section Saturday netted four arrests, Stumbo reported.

TRAIL PAVING NEAR CITY LIMITS IN '38 PROGRAM

Present Route of Traffic To Be Changed, it Is Planned By Commission

COST $15,000

Included in the state's program of Federal Aid highway projects for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938, is two "missing links" in the Mayo Trail, one between Paintsville and Louisa, and the other at upper city limits of Prestonsburg.

The strip of unpaved road leading into town is to be concreted at a cost of about $15,000. According to plans, the present route will be paved to the Grover Ford corner and there the route changes, circling back of the property of the late J. N. Harris and joins the Trail at the junction of Richmond street, Mayor A. C. Carter stated this week.

Frankfort, Ky. (Special)—The Kentucky Department of Highways' program of Federal Aid projects for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938 has been approved and signed by the Highway Commissioner and turned over to Mack Galbraith, federal engineer. The program, as approved by the commission includes 40 road projects.

Four roadside improvement jobs to extend through 37 counties at a total cost of $4,598,632.

All of the nine road districts in the state will be aided by the federal program. Five projects are listed in each of the first, second, fourth and sixth districts; two have been arranged for each of the third and fifth, three in the seventh, four in the eighth and nine in the ninth.

Central Kentucky will see further work on U. S. 60. The new project will extend from the city limits of Frankfort 8.13 miles to the Shelby county line. One bridge is listed on the entire program, that over Rolling Fork river between Nelson and Hardin counties near New Haven, estimated at $85,000. The Louisville-Elizabethtown road will be graded, drained and widened with a high type surface. This work will be included in two projects both in Jefferson county.

MRS. ELLIS PASSES THURSDAY AT HOME

The passing of Mrs. Mary Tackett Ellis, Thursday evening at 5 o'clock, came as a distinct shock to her many friends. Mrs. Ellis suffered a stroke Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at her home on Graham street. She did not regain consciousness.

Although she had been suffering from high blood pressure for some time, her death was entirely unexpected by people here who knew her as a woman of exceptionally fine character. Mrs. Ellis, 59 years old, was the wife of Tom Ellis, well-known Prestonsburg citizen.

Funeral services will be held at the home Saturday at 1 p. m., with Rev. Robert Potter and Rev. A. T. Malmberg officiating. She will be buried by the side of her son Charles who preceded her in death some time ago, in the Richmond cemetery under the direction of the funeral home.

What Irvin S. Cobb Thinks about

Streamlined Grandmothers. SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—All along I've been wondering what has vanished from the city landscape.

Irvin S. Cobb

I'd grown reconciled to service stations where blacksmith shops used to be and a beauty parlor where once the livery stable spread its fascinating perfumes.

So now I know what I miss. It's the old-fashioned lady who was neither streamlined nor a four-color process.

Penalties of Old Age. IF, MENTALLY or physically, or both, a man of seventy has so slowed down he no longer can function usefully, what are we going to do about Secretary of State Hull and Secretary Roper, and Senator Glass and Senator Norris, and both California's senators, and a sizable proportion of the outstanding membership of either branch of congress?

And, to avoid cluttering up the words, so to speak, what disposition should have been made, at seventy, of Thomas A. Edison and John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and Henry Ford and Queen Victoria and Cardinal Gibbons and Von Hindenburg and Clemenceau and Professor Eliot and Carrie Chapman Catt and Mark Twain and Elihu Root and Melville W. Fuller, just to mention a few names that come to mind?

Going still further back, one gets to thinking, among others of Henry Clay and Ben Franklin and Gladstone and Bismarck and Victor Hugo and Alexander Humboldt.

Open Season on Bears. NEW BRUNSWICK is granting free licenses for sportsmen to kill bears this spring. I regard this as an error. It reduces bears, which are picturesque features of forest life, and increases amateur gunners barging through the wilderness plugging away at every living object they see, including guides. A greenhorn might miss a sitting union depot—probably would—but he garners him a guide nearly every time.

On all counts, the black bear should have game protection. For every shoot he steals, he eats thrice his weight in grubs and ants and bugs; and he's a fine scavenger, for he likes his dead meat high. If he were a veteran member of a Maryland Duck club, he couldn't like it any higher.

Even so, he has been preyed on until, in parts of our north woods, he's practically extinct. Yet, next to a Vermont Democrat, he's probably the most inoffensive mammal found in New England.

Tyranny of the Soviets. SERPING through the Soviet embargo on free speech and free press and even free thought, stories came out that the five-year plan shows signs of utter collapse and also that, in their striving for absolute despotism, Stalin and his— for the moment—intimate lieutenants are preparing to "liquidate" by execution or remove by a wholesale campaign of exile all such of their recent ruthless associates as might, through private ambitions, stand in the way of this latest desperate tyranny.

Of course, we hear all sorts of tales about the real inside of the Russian situation, some inspired by hostile prejudice and some by sympathetic partisanship.

Women's New Freedom. EVEN in olden days, before they broke loose, women envied us every masculine perquisite we had, except the moustache cup and possibly chewing tobacco. Since emancipation, seems like they've taken over practically everything we ever had.

The bars are crowded with women, and the smoking rooms and the barber shops and the gambling clubs and the prize-fights and the wrestling matches and the political caucuses. If it weren't for them, the race-tracks and the night spots would languish and the cocktail mixers might get an occasional rest. Maybe, as a distinguished scientist now arises to proclaim, they could have excelled us in our then exclusive fields, only before this they didn't get a chance to prove it.

Baseball Writer Recalls Stories of Past Springs

SPRINGTIME memories of a retired baseball writer: The year when the Orioles, newly started on their long string of consecutive International League pennants, had their training headquarters at a new Winston-Salem hotel.

Merwin Jacobsen, Jack Bentley, Joe Boley, Dick Porter and those other members of a famous team took one look at the palatial dining room. Ordinarily, an arrangement is made with the hotel whereby players are restricted to some food allowance—say four or five dollars per man per day.

"No," Coach Ben Eagan and Captain Fritz Maisel told them. "Dunnie gave us strict instructions about workouts, lockers in the clubhouse, what time you have to go to bed, what time you have to get up, and things like that. But he never said a blamed word about food."

Day When Max Bishop Ate Six Desserts

Those Orioles were sturdy young men, possessed of the appetites that come from healthy exercise. Three times a day waiters staggered under the weight of trays. At one lunch Max Bishop ordered pie with ice cream, decided after two bites that this was proletarian food, switched to nesselrode pudding, and then really made up his mind that the opportunity was too good to waste.

Naturally, there was very little training done, but everybody was fat, satisfied and sassy. That is, they were until the first bill reached Baltimore. Dunnie arrived in Winston-Salem almost on the heels of his initial scream.

Immediately there was hell to pay along with the board bill, but for a young reporter it was the beginning of many pleasant and enduring friendships. Being a toiler for a great and generous newspaper, he did not have to worry.

And, of course, there is no gratitude greater than that of sturdy young men possessed of appetites that come from healthy exercise, being slipped a ham omelet now and then to vary their diet of bread and water.

Tale of Ump Campbell and Musical Scribes

One year the Yankees came home from Florida by way of Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas. Baseball writing is not precisely a laborious occupation and the bored young camp followers decided that they must do something to vary the monotony of their existence. They purchased a portable victrola and a flock of records so that music might reign in the sleeping car until 4 a. m. when they retired, worn out by their exertions.

It was good fun for several days. Of course, Umpire Brick Campbell also was in the sleeping car, and his duties on the field did demand that he get some portion of rest, but nobody minded that. After all, if you're going to spend your life worrying about the comfort of umpires, how are you going to get any recreation? So probably nobody listened to Brick, even if he did have any comment to make.

Then—precisely at 4:22 one morning when eleven berths were well occupied by young men dreaming of new scoops, raises and such pleasant visions as come to the righteously exhausted—there was a raucous scratching and squawking. It kept up for hours. Indeed, was resumed again for several mornings. Then, by unspoken comment of all parties, a compromise was reached. Between the hours of midnight and noon any tired young men seeking music or other diversions to cure their insomnia could seek it in the baggage car ahead.

NOT IN THE BOX SCORE: OLD Blues are going crazy trying to keep Larry Kelley from turning pro. But teammates insist he will accept a huge hunk of Yankee cash in June . . . Ethelda Bleibrey, comely ex-queen of mermaids, has a protegee who, she insists, will be an even better swimmer than Toni Redfern. This is eleven-year-old Ferne Bramhall, who has done the 100 in .69 flat . . . Bill Carr, Olympic star in 1932, is making a tidy living for himself selling insurance in Philadelphia. The 440-yard record holder, who once was tops in style and running grace, has almost completely recovered from the auto accident that broke his ankles and ended his track days. You notice a trace of a limp only when he is very tired.

Babe Phelps' Maryland neighbors insist the hard-hitting catcher is holding out on the Dodgers with the full force of his 225 pounds . . . Bob Gracie, Montreal Maroon forward, is one of the best boxers in the National Hockey league. Among other things he holds a decision over Chuck Conacher of the Maple Leafs . . . Bill Coughlin, Tiger third baseman 35 years ago, had only three fingers on his throwing hand.

The what's in a name department should consider the case of a thoroughbred named Good for Nothing, who ran for seven years—and never won a race . . . Princeton's baseball team plans a trip to Japan this summer . . . Incidentally a Tiger sophomore named Lefty Farber may give the Ivy league something to talk about soon. They say he is by far the best pitcher to take up Nassau's burdens since those dimming days when Charlie Caldwell, now doing a very neat job of coaching at Williams, was cutting the plate . . . Dick Meehan, E. I. A. referee, was responsible for what probably was the most unique forfeit in basketball history. In the St. John's University-Alumni game of 1927 he ordered an alumni player to leave the floor. Teammates rebelled and departed from the court along with the penalized athlete. After waiting several minutes Meehan awarded the game to the varsity, 2 to 0.

Philadelphia friends insist Glenna Collett Vare will play a full tournament schedule next summer. The golf champion just can't resist the lure of the links, they say . . . Marty Glickman, former Brooklyn schoolboy wonder and now a star sophomore sprinter at Syracuse, lists a Phi Beta Kappa key as his chief ambition. Incidentally, he's off to a good start, being rated as an exceptional student . . . Johnny Simonaitis is another Syracuse athlete who must disgruntle the viewers with alarm. He is a soccer goalie, plays baseball and is captain of the very good basketball team. In addition he recently received six A's, one B and one C for his scholastic work during the first semester . . . Five brothers are regulars and a sixth is a substitute on a 145-pound team in the South Baltimore basketball league.

Davey Kerr, Ranger goalie, prefers to play up on the forward line in lacrosse and rates as one of the game's best centers . . . A good hockey team could be made up of the players the Toronto Maple Leafs have lost this year. They are: goal, Hainsworth (retired); defense, Clancy (retired); Hollett (sold to Bruins); forwards, Center Euzz Boll (broken arm); right wing, Chuck Conacher (broken hand); left wing, Regis Kelly (traded to Hawks) . . . Coach Red McKenzie and Player Red Levia are the only members of the original Atlantic City club who have continued in action in that city since the team was organized six years ago. In point of service they are deans of the Eastern Amateur Hockey league.

Track experts, who assured the world that Don Lash would set a wild horse pace in the Wanamaker mile, still are trying to explain the calm and peaceful manner in which the race was run. Of course it could be that the Indiana flyer lost some of his old confidence in Berlin last summer, but the correct answer seems contained in the prediction Lash made. When interviewed by Arch Murray after the Brooklyn K. of C. games, Lash said he probably would not be as good on the banked boards of the Garden . . . A pat on the back, by the way, should be given to Stanley Frank who wrote far in advance that Tommy Decker would run away from the field during the Milrose Games two-mile event.

Dr. F. C. Phog Allen, recently deposed Kansas U. athletic director, has distributed mimeographed copies of a pamphlet dealing with his coaching achievements. Among other things his basketball teams have won 13 championships.

Dwelling on Grievances— Power of Trouble Is Increased And Distributed by Talking of It

THERE is a curious and very much mistaken idea that by talking of our grievances and our troubles, we decrease their power over us to make us miserable. Instead, by dwelling on them we reinforce their power. We not only do this, but we scatter the seeds of their discontent, as we unburden our hearts, and a whole new crop of disturbing thoughts enters into the minds of those who bear with us during our outpouring of words.

Making Misery. If the person to whom we speak is near and dear to us, our troubles weigh on them almost as their own. We are unwittingly the cause to them of an added weight of discordant thoughts, and perhaps they may be trying to get the better of their own bothers.

Sympathy Versus Help. We have only to consider the effect on ourselves of listening to others talk of their worries, misfortunes, and hard luck, to realize the depressing power of such conversation. It is seldom we can do anything to help them. In fact persons who talk of their troubles seldom do it to get helpful suggestions. They are bespeaking sympathy and often are disturbed, hurt or annoyed, when they get advice, even though it be excellent. What is wanted is to hear expressions of understanding of their position as difficult, and to hear their actions considered wise. Is this not really what we, ourselves, hope to hear when we air our troubles?

When we are awakened to the fact that talking of our woes adds to those of the listener without lessening ours, that we are implanting troubles in the minds of others, we surely will try to be more careful about giving vent to the misfortunes by talking about them. Moreover, if we do continue to be trouble mongers, no one will be eager to talk with us.

Winning Out. If, instead of dwelling on our grievances, we discuss pleasant topics, we are not only giving pleasure to others, but we are actually doing ourselves a kindness as well. We diminish our own depression by rising above our troublous thoughts, thus becoming conquerors in and through our conversation.

Sunday School Lesson

LIFE HERE AND HEREAFTER THROUGH CHRIST

International Sunday School Lesson for March 7, 1937

Golden Text: "I am the way, and the truth, and the life: no one cometh unto the Father, but by me."—John 14:6.

Still in the Upper Room with the disciples and after reminding them of his imminent death, made possible through the traitorous action of one of his own inner circle, Jesus seeks to comfort his bewildered followers, giving to them and us some of the most precious words ever to fall from his lips. Knowing full well that on this very night, he was to be betrayed by Judas, denied by Peter, forsaken by all of his disciples, mistreated by the Roman soldiers, unjustly tried and, shortly thereafter, cruelly hung on a cross to die a most agonizing death, Jesus thinks only of his beloved disciples and tries to prepare them for the days which are to follow.

"Let not your hearts be troubled," he says, if ye "believe in God," and continue to "believe in me" your faith will be sufficient to carry you through whatever comes. Jesus then tells them he is going away, to his Father's home, where there are many mansions (abiding places) to prepare places for them, and when he has prepared their places, he would return for them and take them where they could be with him forever. We mortals know nothing of what the Father's house is like, but such knowledge is not necessary—all we should want to know is that Jesus will be there and we may be with him.

"And whither I go, ye know, and the way ye know," said Jesus, but Thomas, the practical, immediately wanted to know definitely what Jesus was talking about and declared, "Lord, we know not whither thou goest: how can we know the way?" Jesus answers, "I am the way the truth and the life: no man cometh unto the Father but by me." Without the way there is no going; without the truth there is no knowing; without life there is no living; I am the Way which thou shouldst pursue, the Truth which thou shouldst believe; the Life which thou shouldst hope for. (Thomas a Kempis). Jesus is the way to God, the truth about God, and the means of eternal life in God.

There is but one way to God—and that is through belief in Jesus. "No man cometh unto the Father, but by me." He is the sole hope of salvation from sins and of life everlasting. "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life." (John 3:16). So completely were the followers of Jesus in the days of the Early Church in accord with this statement of Jesus that they called themselves the followers of "The Way," before they were known as Christians.

Because the disciples had failed to grasp the divinity and real purpose of Jesus, before they had really come to "know him" and failing to "know" him they did not "know" his Father. However, receiving a deeper insight into Jesus' character and purpose, they could know God and could see him through Jesus. In reply to Phillip's cry that Jesus show them the Father and they would be satisfied, Jesus replied that he was the true revelation of the Father to the world and, if they could not accept this statement from him and believe that, having seen him, they had seen the Father, then perhaps they would believe because of the works he had done before them.

"Christ has given man his loftiest idea of God, not so much by what he said as by what he was. That is an amazing thing to have done. In a world where multitudes had groped after God, guessed about God, philosophized such self-authenticating spiritual grandeur that increasing multitudes of people when they try to think about God can say nothing so truly satisfying, so adequate, as to say that God is like Christ. Harry Emerson Fordick.

Jesus then promises that those who believe in him shall do even greater works than he did, adding the promise that whatsoever his followers shall ask in his name, he will do, in order that God may be glorified. Jesus did not promise that his followers should work "miracles," in the sense that he worked them, but he did say "greater works." Dwight L. Moody says in reference to this statement of Jesus, "I used to stumble over that verse, but the longer I live the more I am convinced that it is a greater thing to have power over a living, sinning, God-hating man, than to quicken the dead."

Our printed lesson ends with a simple, but far reaching statement, "if ye love me, ye will keep my commandments. No matter how fervently may we express our belief in and love for Christ, it will avail nothing if by our acts and lives we fail to carry out this profession. If we really love Jesus we will be willing to leave undone those things which are contrary to his purpose for our lives, but more important still, we will be willing to do what he wants us to do with our lives.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Concerning the Kentucky Unemployment Compensation Law, Issued February, 1937, by Robert E. Hatton, Executive Director

Q. Who is an "employer"?
A. An "employer" is any employing unit which in each twenty different weeks within either the current or the preceding calendar year, whether or not such weeks are consecutive, has or had in his employment, four or more individuals, not necessarily simultaneously and irrespective of whether the same individuals are or were employed in each such week.
Q. What is the Probationary Period?
A. The Probationary Period is the beginning two weeks of period of employment, during which time no deductions for employee contributions are to be made. However, after the individual has passed his second week of employment for the same employer, he, the employer, shall deduct the amount for the first two weeks as well as for the third week.

Suppose A is working for B for $20 a week. B during the first two weeks will not make any deductions from A's wages. The third week he will make deductions for the first two weeks and also for the third. The amount deducted will be 54c (18c for the $20 received for each week's employment.)

Q. Under the act, individuals employed at non-manual labor and making more than $2,600 a year or more than $50 a week are exempt from contributions. Suppose an individual is employed at non-manual labor and one week he receives $45, the next week he makes $50; this irregularity of salary continuing during the year. At the end thereof he has received in excess of $2,600. Will he be liable for contribution and if so, to what extent?

A. Yes, he is subject to the Act for those weeks in which he received $50 or less. Assuming that he has passed his probationary period in the previous year, each week he receives $50 or less he will be required to contribute. Those weeks in which he makes in excess of $50 he will be exempt from contributions. If during 25 weeks of 1937 an individual makes $45 each week, amounting to $1,125 during the remaining 27 weeks of the year he makes $60 each week, amounting to $1,620, he receives then a total of $2,745 per year. He will not be exempt because he made in excess of $2,600, but will be required to contribute $10.01 (9. of 11 per cent of the $1,125). For those 27 weeks in which he received $60 (amounting to $1,620) he will be exempt from contributions.

(B) Suppose that the same facts as in (A) exists over a period of a year, the individual does not receive a total of $2,600. Will he be required to contribute for the whole amount or will there be an exemption as to part?
A. He will not be required to contribute on the whole amount or will there be an exemption as to part?
A. He will not be required to contribute on the whole amount, but will be exempt as to a part. On the amount received each week in excess of $50 no contribution will be made but as to those amounts received each week of $50 or less, contributions will be required to be made. For example, A is working for B. During 40 weeks of the year he makes $40 a week amounting to $1,600 during the remaining 12 weeks of the year he makes $60 per week amount-

The great former second baseman (left) and member of the immortal Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance double play combination recently auctioned off a thirteen-year-old baseball. The ball, his most valued possession, was used in those games and later on a playing trip around the world. Evers offered it, covered with autographs of great old-time players, for the benefit of flood sufferers through Leo Bolley, sports commentator on the latter's Tydol and Veedol radio programs.

LIFE MEANS HUMAN BEINGS

The men and women who make up the population of the world in which we live are not saints and unless we are badly mistaken, they are not sinners.

Every individual, man or woman, has some good qualities and, of course, some bad qualities. However, all of them do not possess the same good traits and, luckily, they do not have the same bad ones.

In every person there is something to admire and, likewise, in every individual something to disapprove. No judgment along this line, however, will be the unanimous verdict of mankind but each person will be influenced by his or her own valuation of human traits in attempting an appreciation of another human being.

Admitting for the sake of argument that every individual has some goodness there is no reason to be surprised at its exhibition occasionally. Knowing that every human being is imperfect there is no cause for alarm when human conduct misses the goal of perfection.

Great teachers, whether they deal with boys and girls or men and women, understand this and seldom resort to undue praise of expected goodness or slip into angry denunciation of expected badness. They busy themselves expanding the field of truth and permitting others to share their advanced progress. In time, they set the pace!

It is not given to all of us to be great teachers but it is within the province of every person to keep an eye out for the goodness that so abundantly lives about in the lives of other people and to see that we attend to the task before us, the improvement of ourselves by the development of our higher possibilities.

The colportage note was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. Favors were miniature hatchets and the Virginia Reel, minuet and games were enjoyed.

Jo Taylor Begley, whose birth coincided with the foregoing date, was surprised and honored with a birthday cake decorated with candles and decorations. Another surprise feature of the evening was a shower for the hostess who has only recently started housekeeping here.

Those who enjoyed Mrs. Martin's hospitality were Misses Peggy Jo, Ruby and Harriet Allen, Violet Coburn, Ruth Halbert, Rose Hagans, Erma Stewart and Messrs. Herman Halbert, Basil Coburn, Herschel and Jo Taylor Begley, Floyd Stephens, Ogden Stewart and Dillard Martin.

HIGHWAY PATROLMEN VISIT LOCAL SCHOOLS

As part of the program in the Safety Campaign being conducted in this county by the local Woman's Club, talks of much interest were given to the fifth, sixth and seventh grade pupils Thursday morning at 10:30 at the grade school building when Mrs. J. D. Mayo, chairman of safety, Lieut. S. C. Payne, Sgt. Morgan Sword, Officer Ken Vanderpool and Officer Wm. Abshire, of the highway patrol, and Col. Tys Terweyn, of WCMI, the Ashland broadcasting station, paid the school a visit.

Col. Terweyn's special interest is the organization of Boys' Safety Patrol in connection with Boy Scouts and Sons of American Legionnaires. Many boys signified their intention of becoming a Boy Safety Patrolman. Lieut. Payne told the pupils the danger that lurks in the practice of persons riding on running boards of cars. Sgt. Sword told the pupils how to ride their bicycles in safety and explained the arm signals that should be used by bicyclist as well as motorists. Officer Abshire discussed the rights of the pedestrian, emphasizing the fact that a law exists in Kentucky specifying that all persons should walk on the left side of the road facing traffic.

The following day the same group held similar programs in Garrett and Wayland, where safety contests are being held also. Prize ribbons will be presented to the winners of essay, poster and slogan contests in Prestonsburg, Garrett and Wayland schools on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

FINEST AND SAFEST OF BRAKING SYSTEMS!

ON THE NEW FORD V-8

FORD V-8
The Brilliant "85" - The Thrifty "60"

YOU'LL agree when you try the new Ford brakes, that you never felt "softer" or easier Ford brake pedal action, nor ever had any car stop smoother or quicker.

And you get the safety of strong steel cables from the pedal to each wheel. They always work. Weather can't affect them and even damage to one wheel wouldn't affect the other 3 brakes.

Also... Ford brakes give extra-long brake-lining life! Big 12-inch drums give more braking surface for car weight than any other car in America.

All in all, you'll find these brakes a good example of a great Ford principle. It's the principle that the usual way isn't always the best way in building a car... but that the best at the price is what makes value! YOUR FORD DEALER

FRIED-APPLE OR HALF-MOON PIES

A group of us who like to think of the old ways of doing things have worked out a menu for a dinner that certainly smacks of other times and places. Since it is not copyrighted as yet, I shall tell about it and you may try it if you like. If there is to be soup, and of course high-class meals should have a soup course, let it be potlicker (something tells me this is pot licker, but that spelling does not seem vital). The chief course would contain turnip greens, hog's jowl, corn dodgers, homemade hominy, and buttermilk. For dessert there would be fried apple or half-moon pies, with sauce. Now it would be proper, I know, to discuss all the dinner, but I prefer to dwell on the dessert.

Fried pies, like all good things, have a long history. First of all, there is the gathering of the apples, paring them, slicing them, and laboriously drying them, by a species of foresight that can know in midsummer that fruit will be scarce in winter. After the drying season is over, little is known about the apples until late in the fall. As long as there is fresh fruit, it seems wasteful to use what is obviously for winter. Along about the time that pumpkin pies die for want of materials some fine day the family is greeted with the blessed sight of fried pies. I am not a cook and can not tell how to prepare the apples, but I faintly remember that it is necessary to soak them over night before cooking them. After they are stewed properly, they are sweetened and seasoned. The dough is rolled out in large round pieces, just about the size of a skillet or frying pan that is to be used. The apples are placed on one side of this dough, and the other side is folded over as a cover, the edges being pressed with the fingers or with a fork. Then two pies can be put into the skillet at once and fried in deep grease so that the dough will be crisp. I do not know much about cooking, but I am an expert on eating the finished product. It is not necessary to have any sauce for the first three or four; after they have been consumed it may add a bit of enjoyment to douse the pie in some sort of spicy sweet sauce. The recipe for this is another dark secret that I do not share; my experience has always been with the finished sauce and not with its concoction. If any of you wish to revive this old delicacy, please do not write me for instructions, but you might let me know when everything is ready for action.

Now there are other kinds of friend pies, of course, as there are other kinds of dehydrated fruits, but apple pies seem to have set the standard for these things and are always to be named first. And these same pies can be baked in an oven instead of a skillet, with or without sauce to accompany them. Dried apples have other uses, too, weather had come in the fall, such as furnishing after-school lunches for always-hungry children. I am not maintaining that fried pies have disappeared - I hope they have not. What I do know is that they could not occupy so prominent a place in the life of country children as they did in the time when it was nearly impossible to get fresh fruit after severe evidence for the next year and the planning of future highways in the state depends entirely upon the result of this survey.

The Highway Department, working in co-operation with the Bureau of Public Roads, began this week making its first gesture towards securing definite engineering data of the flow of traffic over all main roads in the state. Three crews, of five men each, began working on the roads near Frankfort.

The survey signs, placed on temporary standards placed at the side of the road and lighted at night, indicate the presence of a survey party at its temporary weigh station. This party is equipped with weighing machines and forms for securing all necessary data current to the survey.

All vehicular traffic will be stopped. Trucks will be weighed, the size and kind of cargo will be ascertained, the distance of the trip, origin and destination of the truck load will be listed and for passenger cars the surveyors will ascertain the origin and destination of the car; whether it is being used for business or pleasure and its trip mileage.

These surveys are being made at all hours of the day and night all sorts of weather and during all seasons of the year.

When the survey is completed, 12 months hence, the Highway Department will be in possession of data on the flow of traffic on all state and federal highways in the state and, armed with this, it will be fully prepared to build the correct type of road for the amount and kind of traffic prevalent in each section.

The commissioner of highways has urged the drivers of motor vehicles to be patient in these surveys and answer all questions correctly. He emphasizes the fact that this survey was not for the purpose of seeking violations of any motor truck laws and that no arrests would be made at the scene of the survey. He also asked that the drivers of automobiles knowing that a survey is being made on the route to their proposed destination, do not purposely change their route to avoid the weigh party. This would throw the entire plan out of balance and a correct survey could not be made.

The three mobile weigh parties are expected to make 72 weigh stations each month. There will be a unit working in each section of the state during the entire year. At the completion of the survey the Department of Highways will have a fair and accurate file of data on traffic flow on each inch of main highway in the state and will be able to plan comprehensively for future road building.

Sarah Ann's Cooking Class

Pie is the most popular dessert, especially with the male members of your family. When making pie, be sure your crust is light and flaky for a good crust insures full appreciation for the filling.

Cream Pie

- 1 baked pastry shell
- 2 cups milk
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1-2 teaspoon salt
- 1-2 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 2 eggs
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1-2 cup crushed pineapple
- 1-2 cup diced dates
- 1-4 cup finely chopped nuts
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 large banana diced

Scald the milk in a double boiler. Mix the cornstarch, sugar and salt; stir in enough milk to form a thin paste; add to the remainder of the milk and stir until the mixture thickens. Stir and cook for 10 minutes. Add the butter and beaten egg yolks and cook 1 minute more. Remove from fire and add the fruit, lemon juice and nuts. Cool. Prepare the meringue by beating the egg whites and adding the 3 tablespoons of sugar gradually. Flour the cool filling into a baked pastry shell. Cover with meringue and place in an oven 300 degrees until brown.

Prune Pie

- 1 1-2 tablespoons tapioca, quick cooking
- 1-4 teaspoon salt
- 1-3 cup sugar
- 2 1-2 cups cooked prune pulp
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice

Combine the tapioca, salt, sugar, prune pulp and fruit juices. Heat to the boiling point and remove from heat. Let stand while the pastry is being made. Line pan with the pastry, add the filling and arrange lattice strips of pastry across the top. Bake in a 400 degree oven for 10 minutes and then reduce heat to 375 degrees and bake 30 minutes longer. Serve cool.

Honey Cheese Pie

Mix 1 cup of flour, 1-4 cup of sugar and 1-2 teaspoon baking powder. Work in, until mealy. 1 tablespoon shortening and add a beaten egg. Roll 1-4 inch thick and line with this. For the filling, press 3 cups of cottage cheese through a sieve, add 4 level tablespoons of flour, 4 tablespoons of cream, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup of sugar, 1-2 cup strained honey, yolks of 4 eggs, well beaten. When this is smooth fold in the grated rind of half a lemon and the egg whites beaten stiff. Spread this over the crust in the pan and sprinkle the top with 1-4 cup of sugar mixed with a teaspoon of cinnamon and 1-2 cup of chopped almonds. Bake in a moderate oven until the filling is firm and the crust well browned.

Apricot Caramel Tarts

Cook together 1 tablespoon butter, 1-4 cup brown sugar, 1-4 cup white sugar, 1 tablespoon water until very thick and brown. Beat egg slightly mix 1/2 teaspoon cornstarch with the syrup from 1 eight-can of apricots and combine the two. Add caramel mixture and cook in double boiler until thick. Pour into 6 baked tart shells, in which apricots have been arranged. Top with meringue made of white of egg and 3 tablespoons confectioners sugar. Brown in a slow oven.

Banana Cream Pie

Line a deep pie plate with paste. Select very ripe fruit. Force 6 bananas through a potato ricer (there should be 2 cups of pulp); add 1-2 cup sugar, 1-4 cup fine cracker crumbs, 1-2 cup of milk, the juice and rind of an orange, 1-8 tablespoon cinnamon, 2 beaten eggs. Mix well, pour into the prepared pie plate; bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. When cold cover the baked filling with thin slices of banana, then sweetened whipped cream.

Crumb Pie

Roll and sift enough hard dry bread to make a pint of the crumbs. Put into a square of cheesecloth large enough to hold bag fashion, by the corners, and dip into boiling water. Immediately press out as much water as possible. Put the crumbs in a mixing bowl and while still warm add 1-4 cup butter, 1 or more cups of cream (cream should be added to make a medium batter, milk may be used); 1-2 cup sugar, mixed with 1-2 teaspoon of cinnamon, 1-4 teaspoon of cloves and 1-4 of a nutmeg, grated. Quickly stir in the unbeaten yolks of 3 eggs and stir and beat until no streaks remain. Chop and flour 1 cup of seeded raisins, and if you like, 1-4 cup of fine shaved citron. Beat in the not too stiffly beaten eggs. Put the mixture into a baked pastry shell and cook in a moderate oven until the filling is set.

CMTC ENROLLMENT BEGAN MON., MARCH 1

The 17th annual enrolment of the Citizens' Military Training Camps began Monday, March 1, with vacancies for 4,010 young men residents of Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio and West Virginia. It was announced this week at headquarters of the Fifth Corps Area, U. S. Army, at Fort Hayes, Columbus, O.

Prospective applicants are urged by army officials to secure their application blanks at the earliest possible time to avoid disappointment. Previous experience has taught these young men between the ages of 17 and 24 that delay in completing their inoculation and vaccination may cost them the opportunity of being designated candidates.

Thirty days of outdoor life, with hikes, citizenship studies, shooting, drills, parades, and athletics, is offered free to the student at the CMTC camp each summer. The government pays the expense of traveling to camp and return and provides wholesome food, uniforms, equipment, laundry service, medical attention, and other necessary accommodations.

Two CMTC encampments will be conducted this summer within the Fifth Army Area. Both of these camps will be located at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. The first camp July 2 to July 31, will have advanced course Signal Corps and Field Artillery trainees in addition to Infantry candidates of the Basic, Red, White and Blue courses.

The second camp, Aug. 3 to Sept. 1, will have Basic, Red, White and Blue Course Infantry candidates only. Each camp will have an enrollment of 2,005 young men. Application blanks and further information may be obtained from Headquarters Kentucky Military Area, 404 Postoffice Bldg., Louisville, Ky.

SYNOPSIS

Kezia Marsh, pretty, selfish and twenty, arrives home in Corinth from school and is met by her older brother, Hugh. He drives her to the Marsh home where her widowed mother, Fluvanna, a warm-hearted, self-sacrificing and understanding soul, welcomes her.

"I am glad I had to go to Congress City." He waited. "Not pinning to have me go to New York? Got over it?"

Her body stiffened against his ever so slightly. A subterranean tiny pain moved in Hugh.

Ellen switched on her light and looked at the clock on the mantel. A quarter to four and she hadn't been able to go to sleep!

She poked at the pillow to soften it. What were some of the things which made you go to sleep? Counting? Squeezing your eyeballs and then watching the funny lights that came under your shut lids?

Scenes from the evening over at Marshes' kept intruding. "Hello, Ellen! Hello, Jerry!" Kezia had smiled enchantingly up at Jerry.

And Dorrie had been very cordial, had said to Jerry: "Welcome to the family!" Her voice had a rich moving animation sometimes.

Hugh had been fine—always was. "I wondered why you were so disturbingly pretty this spring, Ellen . . . so this is the reason!" Will Platt had told her of the pictures he had seen in the Roerich Gallery recently . . . poetry and symbolic mystery, he called them.

She stood near the window after lunch, glancing over some mail she had received. The telephone rang. It was Margery.

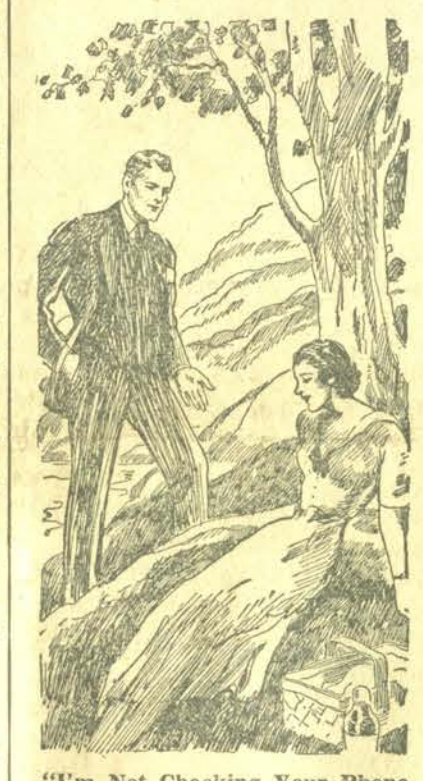

"Mother, can you take the children out in the car this afternoon? Millie Jennings is here visiting, and I haven't seen her for ages. I haven't been out of the house since Baby took sick ten days ago." Her voice had a plaintive note.

course she didn't want him to act dithering in her presence—give her burning glances. She liked him to be reserved. Still, if only once his eyes had flickered in her direction with trust and mutuality, made her aware that he remembered . . .

Three hours before this Kezia switched out the light in her room with the gold and green chintz draperies, snuggled down in her pillow. The night wind rustled the oaks, stole in with the fragrance of honeysuckle; the window was a framed oblong of silver from the moon; the clock downstairs tinkled the half hour.

The power she had over men was tremendous—simply tremendous. It was all quite easy, just as Lolly had said. It worked every time.

Ellen didn't need to think she had that boy on a hook! . . . When he was getting out the ice cubes, he had turned his eyes on her—he had been eyes, dark brown with a sort of droop to them—and said,

"I'm Not Checking Your Phone Calls, My Dear."

"Don't stand so close; I might splash that dress. Mind if I say you look charming tonight?" She hadn't moved from his side but answered in a half whisper, "You're sort of unusual yourself—you fascinate me."

He'd be calling her up soon, she assured herself. Like the others. She might have a little fun with Jerry—show Ellen—then hand him back to her . . .

CHAPTER V

The telephone jangled constantly for Kezia. Young people came and went with chatter and laughter, the radio played at all hours and meals frequently were delayed, for Kezia was always hurrying from one engagement to another.

It was a little hard to become adjusted to the furore of excitement after the quiet winter. Fluvanna assured herself that it was good for her—good to have a gay young person in the house.

For the past week, Margery had been having illness in her family and had sent the boys over to stay with her each day. Michael and Will were a strenuous pair, aged three and five, who came at nine each morning, and departed with tears and grubby embraces at five when Will Platt came to take them home.

"Mother, can you take the children out in the car this afternoon? Millie Jennings is here visiting, and I haven't seen her for ages. I haven't been out of the house since Baby took sick ten days ago." Her voice had a plaintive note.

NYA Boys of Martin Decorate Gym

The NYA boys have just finished painting the Martin gym. The 50 gallons of paint was donated by the National Youth Administration thru a recommendation by Mr. F. A. Maggard, state NYA supervisor of Eastern Kentucky. The work was done by local unemployed youth under the capable supervision of Mr. John Thomas, of Allen.

The patrons, faculty and students of Martin consolidated school take this opportunity to express their thanks and appreciation of the efforts of Mr. Maggard, Mrs. E. P. Hill, Jr., Mr. John Thomas and the boys.
