MARTIN SCHOOL CONTRACT GOES TO LOCAL FIRM

Work On 12-Room Structure To Begin Soon; Porter Resigns

BOARD SETS DATES FOR SCHOOL OPENINGS

Purchase of Buses Planned; Gearheart To Build Tinker Fork School

Contract for the erection of a 12-room high school building at Martin was awarded Gearheart and Richardson, Prestonsburg, on their bid of $40,199, by the Floyd County Board of Education Saturday.

At the same meeting Henry Porter, member of the board of education, tendered his resignation. His son, Herman Porter, has succeeded him on the board.

Three of the four teacher-vacancies were filled as Opal May was placed on the Maytown high school faculty, Mrs. Elsie Boughton was hired half-time at Maytown, and May Banks Martin was selected for rural school 113. The existing vacancy is in the Tram colored school.

Salaries of high school teachers for the ninth month, amounting to about $5,000, were paid, bringing the total paid this year to county teachers to more than $300,000, Superintendent Hall said. The budget for the next school year was approved by the board.

Rural schools will open July 10, and consolidated grade schools will begin August 4. September 5 has been set for the opening of high schools. Weeksburg, Lackey, Glo and Estill schools will also open September 5.

Board authorized Superintendent to advertise for the purchase of 35- or 70-passenger school buses which will be placed on Left Beaver routes. The bus which has been used on the McDowell run here next year will be driven by Allen Taylor on the Cow Creek, Bull Creek, Abbott and Auxier routes. Jack Owen was re-employed as driver on the Allen-Right Beaver circuit; Stalder Clark, Drift-Clear Creek route; Curtis Martin, River route; Arnold Bennett, Betsy Layne-Pike county route; Mud Creek route; Colie Osborne, Mt. Beaver circuit. Because of the absence of Dr. Dewey Osborne, by action from the board meeting, two drivers for the upper Left Beaver routes were not selected.

INDIAN FORT HOME

MUD CREEK MAN'S COLONIAL HOME ANTEDATES SOUTH- ERN MANSION STYLE

Craynor, Ky., June 5 (Spl.)—A new architectural "wrinkle" is being introduced to Floyd county with the construction here of a colonial-style residence that antedates the ordinary colonial design.

Blaine Stone is building an ell-shaped residence of round logs set on end in Pequot Indian fort style. The structure promises to be as attractive as it is unusual.

TWO FLOYD GIRLS ATTEMPT SUICIDE

Both Drink Poisons, But Will Recover, Physicians Say

Two suicide attempts by Floyd women within the last few days are expected to prove unsuccessful, attending physicians said this week.

Though her condition remains serious, Mrs. Roma Clarke, 18, wife of Bill Clarke, of the Auxier road, near here, is believed to have a chance of recovery after having drunk Lysol Sunday night at the home of her mother, Mrs. Perdue Morgan, on Abbott Creek.

Miss Dinah Hall, daughter of Si Hall, Craynor, was able to return home Friday from the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, whither she was taken after having drunk lye.

Motive for the two suicide attempts is unknown.

Mrs. Clarke was brought to the home here of Ex-Circuit Judge C. B. Wheeler, where she was given treatment by Dr. G. D. Callihan, then was taken to the Paintsville Clinic. Miss Hall, critically ill, was taken to the Martin hospital, but her condition quickly improved.

'GUILTY,' SAYS NEGRO WHEN ARRAIGNED FOR SHOOTING OF SPOUSE

"Judge, I'm guilty," Till Thompson, Wheelwright negro, told County Judge E. P. Hill when arraigned for the shooting of his wife last week.

"Guess I oughta shot the man, too," Thompson added in explanation of his reason for firing the revolver bullet which passed through his wife's liver and left kidney.

The kidney was removed at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, and Mrs. Thompson is recovering, it was said. Her husband was released under $1,000 bond.

CLARKE RECEIVES SEVERE INJURIES

Jack Clarke is recovering at his home here from severe scalp injuries sustained Thursday afternoon, last week, when struck by Lonnie Robinson, of Bull Creek, who wielded a shotgun.

According to Deputy Sheriff Toy Sammons, Clarke was acting as a mediator between him and Robinson when the blows were struck. Sammons said he and Clarke were driving to Bull Creek when they picked up Robinson, who was drunk. The latter, the officer said, opened the dashboard compartment of the car and gained possession of Sammons' revolver. When Sammons sought to recover the weapon, it was said, Robinson fired two shots at him.

Borrowing an obsolete type of revolver, the officer returned as Clarke, seeking peaceably, according to Sammons, the return of the pistol, was suddenly attacked by Robinson. Sammons said he fired three shots at Robinson, inflicting slight wounds.

FLOYD POST TO ELECT OFFICERS, SATURDAY

Floyd Post, American Legion, will hold its annual election of officers at its meeting at the courthouse Saturday evening, J. R. Hurt, commander, announced this week. The meeting will convene at 7:30 o'clock.

Tot Eats Poison Pellets As Brother, Sister Born

While a physician attended his mother in the premature birth of twins Thursday night, last week, at Wayland, 18-months-old Carl Bentley opened the doctor's medicine kit and, unnoticed, ate several chocolate-coated strychnine tablets.

The tot, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bentley, died Sunday morning.

The twin sister and brother were buried in the same coffin at Wayland Friday. Carl was buried Monday.

HENRY PORTER FOR CIRCUIT COURT CLERK

In making my announcement for the Democratic nomination for the office of Circuit Court Clerk of Floyd county, I wish to say to the good people of my county that I have long been in the fight for clean politics and honesty in public officials. I have made great sacrifices both in time and money in this fight. I have been instrumental in cleaning up and making our school system one of the best in the state. I have been chairman of the Board of Education for the last three years except for a part of last year, and I refer you to my public record during this time.

I have made myself poor in this cause; but I feel that it has been worth it, and that a great victory can be won this year for the people. In order to continue this fight, I have decided to make this race. I call upon every patriotic citizen to help me. I make you only one promise and that is to give you a clean and upright administration of the affairs of the office.

Yours for greater service,
HENRY PORTER.

Rites for Victim Conducted Sunday at Floyd Birth- place

Crushed by a coal-cutting machine which passed over his body, Lindsay Dow Blackburn, 47 years old, was killed in the mines of the Inland Steel Company, Wheelwright, at 1:30 o'clock Friday morning.

Mr. Blackburn was a helper in the operation of the machine, and its operator, Melvin Newsom, was quoted by a coal company official as having expressed the belief that Blackburn fell asleep while the machine was in motion and that he toppled beneath its wheels.

A son of William and Elizabeth Burchett Blackburn, the victim was born and reared in this county. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Maggie Blackburn, and several children. The body was taken to Endicott, where funeral services were conducted Sunday, with burial being made in the family cemetery.

The report, filed with the state department last Thursday, shows that of the 17,895 enrolled pupils, 8,770 are boys and 9,125 are girls. Two thousand of this number are attending high school and 224 are enrolled in the negro schools of the county.

The total number enrolled shows an increase of 425 over last year, and the school census has grown from 15,065 to 17,895 during the last three years.

OUSLEY KILLED BENEATH TRAIN

Garrett Man Believed Victim of Attempt to Reach Home

John P. Ousley, 25, Garrett, son of George S. and Mrs. Stella Kilgore Ousley, was killed instantly at 10 o'clock Saturday night, when he was run over by a coal train on the Stone Coal spur line, at Garrett.

Ousley, on his way home, found his way blocked by the standing train and, rather than to wait until the train had moved out, chose to crawl underneath it. While he was still beneath the train, it started, decapitating him and cutting off an arm. The body was discovered shortly thereafter.

Coroner Elliott Prater, after an inquest Saturday night, stated that the decapitated body was found approximately 100 feet from the head.

Born at Caney, Ky. (Morgan county), he is survived by his parents, of Garrett; a two-year-old daughter, Phyllis; four sisters, Mrs. Jack Allen, Garrett; Mrs. Escrom Murray, Garrett; Mrs. Berlin Stacey, West Liberty, and Mrs. Stanley Greer, Pikeville.

ARKANSAS CREEK TROUBLE BREAKS ANEW; ONE SHOT

Brother of Bert Conn Jailed After John Gillespie Wounded

NOAH CONN CLAIMS INNOCENCE IN CASE

Wounded Man's 'Dying Dec- laration' Names Man As Running from Ambuscade

Shot late Monday afternoon from ambush within a few yards of the spot where he fatally wounded Bert Conn a few months ago on Arkansas Creek, John Gillespie, 42 years old, is in the Gearheart hospital, Martin, in a critical condition from the effects of a shotgun charge fired at a distance of a few yards.

Gillespie was at liberty under $10,000 bond when he was shot, and his trial for the killing of Conn was scheduled for the September circuit court term. He lies in the hospital, only a few doors removed from the room in which Bert Conn died last January.

In jail here, charged with the shooting, is Noah Conn, 22, brother of Bert Conn. He was arrested by Sheriff Ed Salisbury, a few hours after the shooting took place.

"I didn't do no shooting," Conn told THE TIMES Tuesday afternoon. "I was at home." He added that four persons would testify that he was at home and had no part in the shooting of Gillespie. He admitted, however, that all four witnesses were members of his family.

Gillespie's left eye was shot out, the top of his head torn by shot and one of the shotgun pellets penetrated his right eyelid. His condition was reported Tuesday afternoon as showing considerable improvement over that of Monday night. Hospital attaches expressed the opinion that, barring infection, he will recover.

In a "dying declaration" made at the hospital Tuesday afternoon, Gillespie said that he was shot from Martin Conn's barn and that he saw Noah Conn running from the barn immediately after the shot was fired.

He stated that he was shot as he was carrying a sack containing a car battery which he had procured at Martin for his truck and that he had both hands on the sack when shot. He added that Noah Conn did not have a gun in his hands when he ran from the barn.

New York, June 4—If you ever apologized to a train, fought a duel with custard pies, or got robbed by a man with a 20-inch waist, you know how some of the stars in last week's cavalcade of cockeyed occurrences felt—

Hit by a train, an Oklahoma man wrote the railroad apologizing for being on the track . . . A Nebraska girl had to move to California because whenever anybody said "sneeze" she sneezed and everybody in town knew it.

Louisiana co-eds fought a duel with chocolate pies . . . When a car crashed into the living-room of a Pittsburgh home a woman eyewitness exclaimed: "What lovely curtains."

A New York judge ruled it's legal to thumb your nose at somebody if they're more than 10 feet away . . . An Atlanta man was arrested for stealing chickens from a second-story window with a fishing line.

Held up by two men, a Chicago tailor described his assailants to police as men with twenty-nine-inch waists and thirty-six-inch coats . . . A man mailed the New York World's Fair two cents because he walked off the grounds with a pop bottle.

A 12-year-old California boy lassoed a train . . . A Virginia man named Friday was arrested on Saturday, convicted on Monday, and started his sentence on Tuesday.

When they ran out of speech material two Florida Legislature filibusters repeated themselves in Spanish, Portuguese, Spanish, Italian and Yiddish . . . An alligator blocked traffic in Mifflintown, Penn.

A robin's nest with three eggs in it journeyed safely 400 miles from Springfield, Ohio, to Springfield, Ill., under the fenders of a truck . . . An Illinois woman unwittingly went around with her neck broken for three weeks, and a Pennsylvania man didn't find out he was shot until somebody told him . . . and—

Rescued when his motorboat sank, a Pennsylvania man rewarded his rescuers with the motorboat.

DRIFT LEADS LEAGUE IN AMATEUR BASEBALL

Drift, Ky., June 6 (Spl.)—"Catt" Shelton and his Drift "Kittens" have smashed all opposition to lead the Beaver Valley amateur league. To date, they are undefeated. Sunday, May 28, at Allen, it took the "Kittens" 10 innings to subdue the Allen team, Fred Shelton swinging home a run and Curt Jones doubling in two more in the extra frame. Ott Sawyer and Isom Stumbo twirled for Drift.

Sunday, June 4, at Drift, the Kittens battled out a 7-5 victory over a strong Pikeville team. "Dommer" Shelton and Isom Stumbo again were the pitchers. "Cat" Shelton, the tomcat of the Drift team, had a perfect day at bat, getting four for four.

A FROG STORY?

Last Friday night a large crowd gathered at Laurel Point in Lewis county, where they went into the waters of Kinney and brought forth over 100 hoppers, dressed them and were ready to return home by midnight. Of course they were well cooked as Elwood Lewis led the cookery and his wife said he hardly knew how to keep water from burning when boiling, and Lloyd Stamper vows he eat one fried that only had its toes and part of its head off, and when he saw those tiny entrails string from his bun to his mouth, he threw up all he had already eaten.—Carter County Herald.

IDLE MINERS LOSE JOBLESS BENEFITS

Further Appeals to Be Made;
Expect Court to Settle Question

Frankfort, Ky., June 5—A. M. Hall, Unemployment Compensation Commission referee held late today that idle Kentucky coal miners are not entitled to jobless benefits. The decision upheld that of Paul W. Buckholz, who conducted hearings for the commission on the miners' claims.

In his decision, affecting 100 operators and between 25,000 and 30,000 miners who had filed claims, Mr. Hall held "the compensation fund is not available for use in cases where unemployment is due to a strike or other bona fide labor dispute, as the act specifically provides."

The claims, arising from the coal miners stopping work when the U. M. W. contract expired last March 31 and a deadlock in negotiations lasted for several weeks in most Kentucky mining districts, may now, be appealed to the commission itself and finally to the courts.

At the commission's headquarters here it was estimated at least 25,000 miners would draw four weeks' pay or about $15 each if their claims were finally approved, totaling $1,500,000.

This 'n' That

The views expressed in this column are those of the writer, and not necessarily those of The Times.

After quite a lay-off, the captain of This 'N' That has decided to contribute a few remarks, inasmuch as Briar Buck, the Shike and the rest of the boys seem to be at it with a vengeance.

We got quite a kick out of the stories that come from the mining camps during the recent lock-out, and here are a couple from Wayland.

It seems that, about a couple of days before the contract was signed, a man came to Wayland looking for Boone Hall, principal of Wayland high school, and he asked Mitchell Watson where Mr. Hall lived.

Mitchell scratched his head in deep thought and told the man that he lived over next to the railroad and for him to go up the railroad until he came to a bunch of three-room houses and the house where he didn't smell polk sallet (or is it salad?) cooking—that would be where Boone was living.

Another concerns a collector who was trying to collect a bill from one of our boys. Most every one in Floyd county knows that our company has been having financial difficulties and hasn't paid off for some time. At any rate, one "Pee Wee" Hale received a letter from a collection agency lawyer on stationery that was quite fancy with a picture of the collector in the left-hand corner of the letterhead.

And so Pee Wee has one of his pictures made and pastes it in the right-hand corner of the letter and sends it back to the fellow with the following verse attached thereto:
I got your picture and I like it fine;
Here's one of me—how you like mine?
So long—till next time.

Local Union 5967 of the Turner-Elkhorn Coal Company, Drift, Ky., meeting in regular session Saturday, June 3, formed a John Young Brown-for-Governor club and a "Shikepoke"-for-Representative club.

Milford Tackett, John C. Huff, C. C. Parker and Lee Hinkle were named to a committee to work with other local unions in furthering the election of Morton "Shikepoke" McGlothen, a coal miner and Union man to the House of Representatives. The officers and every member of this local union are doing all in their power to nominate and elect Mr. McGlothen and we're having this published just to show that we're sticking with a Union man 100 per cent.

After having a not argument with one of her neighbors here recently, a church member was boasting to a brother in the church about the "whipping" she intended to administer to the neighbor. The brother said reprovingly, "Why, Mrs. So-and-So, I thought you were a Christian." "I am," she replied, "as far as what's right!"

Martin's baseball team went down to the mouth of Beaver last Tuesday, played around a little and came back with a 15-1 victory in the bag. Allen, the other team, was also present.

Jobie Click calls Gardez Dingus "barrel" because of his figure—but then, the world's greatest Generals claim a good offensive is the best defense!

With wild flowers (which will thrive under any shade tree) galore on all our surrounding hills, they go unnoticed unless some outsider calls our attention to their beauty. One woman from Ashland came to this county and carried away a whole truck load of rhododendron, ferns, moss and the like, for her lawn. Still, many yards in this section, completely surrounded with nature's own shrubbery, continue to remain naked as a jaybird's backyard.

Myrtle Hardwick doesn't care if we write something about her "close call" last week when Ott Elam, Tommy Allen and J. Warren Preston rescued her from drowning, but she meant business when she forbade me to comment on her bicycle. Okay, Myrt, I won't mention it even, though Flotina Hall did try to get me to.

Revenge is a dreadful thing. It blurs one's vision, interrupts his business or profession, undermines his better judgment, and completely destroys his chances of regaining the public's trust.

S. D. Osborne said he had quit making predictions. Before Repeal he prophesied that there would be three times as much liquor drunk if Prohibition was done away with. Now, he says he was wrong—there are TEN times as much!

However, Mr. Osborne continues, the evil will bring about its own end, for every day brings the news of another "drunk" killed in an accident. The logical conclusion, then, he believes, is that all the whisky customers will eventually be dead and then there'll be no demand for the stuff.

When a bootlegger has to peddle his wares on a bicycle there's something wrong—and it ain't with his "medicine," either.

A local fellow was belly-aching about the loss of opportunity nowadays to a rather bored audience of half-a-dozen young men. After impounding the "live in hope, die in despair" doctrine for several minutes, he finished with this question: "So, what'n the hell is a feller gonna do when he gets too old

Judging from the reports of gunfire up the little creeks of our county, all the squirrels will be killed by the time the season opens July 1.

Mrs. Forrest D. Short, nee, Miss Goldia Porter, before her marriage June 1, was honored by a miscellaneous shower on May 31 at the home of Mrs. J. B. Clay, with Mrs. J. E. Green as co-hostess, assisted by Mrs. Reuben Allen and Mrs. Herman Porter.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

When the students of Morehead Teachers' College marched on the Capitol they showed a commendable interest in the school and its faculty, but they called to the attention of the people of this state the political "tie-up" with education. Three men were not re-appointed to the faculty for stated economic reasons. If this be true, the president of the school should be commended; if there is some other reason, it should be brought before the public.

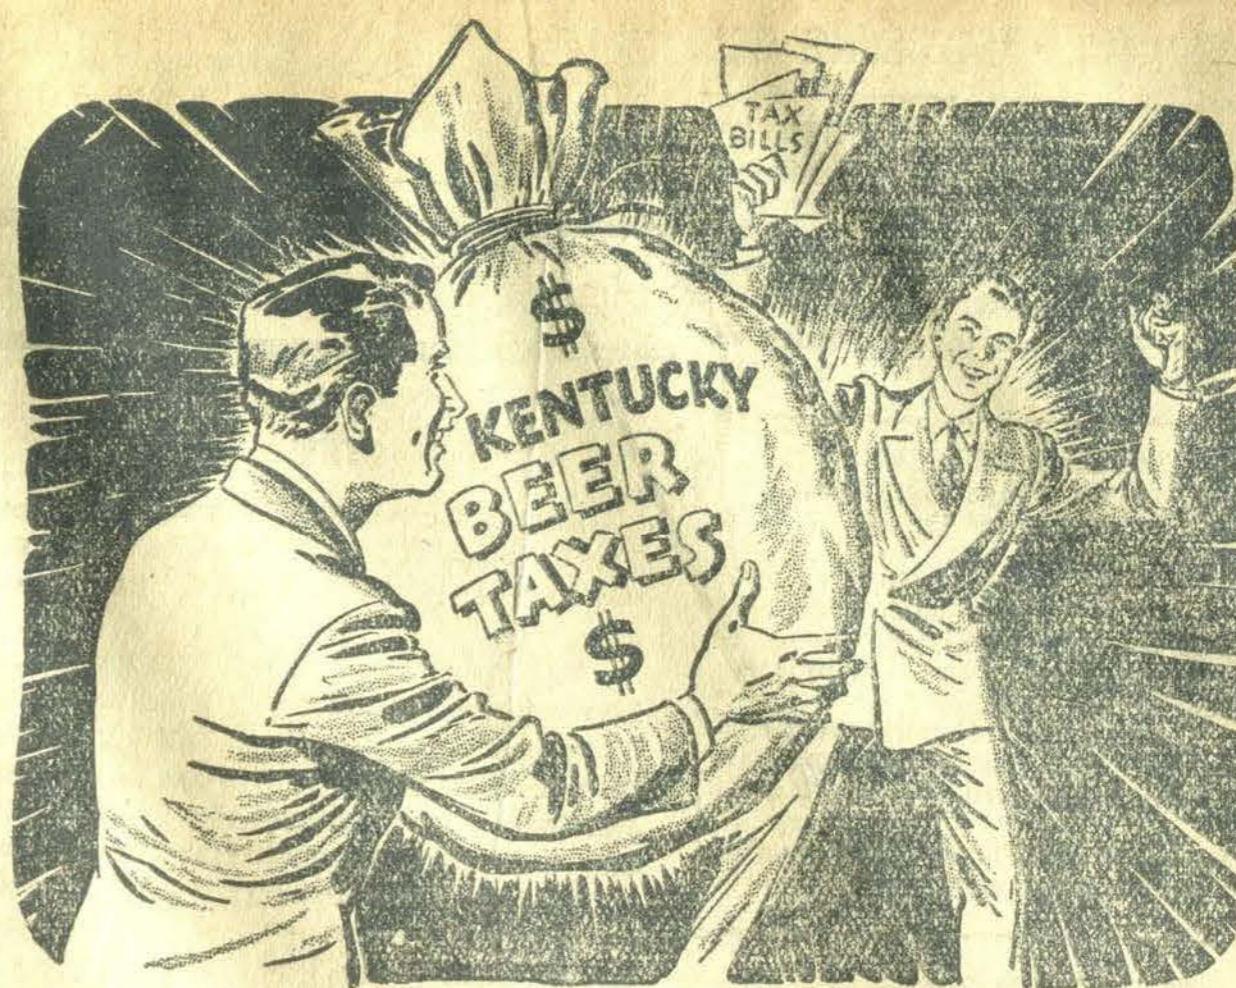

Charles D. Arnett opened his campaign for Governor with a radio broadcast of his platform. He wants a $15 per capita for school purposes and the election of the commissioner of highways.

The Harlan labor trouble has quieted down to a condition of watchful waiting. The Union is too smart to create trouble with the National Guard there, but is intimating that when they leave there will be killings. No organization can continue to progress under our system of government with such high-handed tactics.

Memorial Day was celebrated quietly at the capitol with most of the offices closed, but the Court of Appeals doing business as usual. The highway patrol suggested that people killed on that day. This was to make people think, be more careful, and prevent

JUST A REMINDER

Truth to tell, the common people, if they but knew it, have in the newspapers of this country the greatest advertising medium and the greatest bar to graft and fraud and petty politics yet to come within their ken.

When you hear an official cussing a news-story which said nothing but the truth presented in such a way that he was not a shining example of an Excalibur-wielder — get right-down suspicious, then and there. It may be that the newspaper has forestalled him in one or more of his pet schemes.

This is not to say that newspapers are never wrong. This is to say that Floyd county's newspaper is never wrong when it knows what's right.

Inviting others to tell of their communities, a contributor to THE TIMES starts the "get-acquainted" movement with the following pen picture of his neighborhood:

It has two merchants, two blacksmiths, one school, a grist mill, a postoffice (the old Craynor postoffice which was discontinued in 1933 at John Frasure's store down on the creek has been re-established at the mouth of the Fanny Mot fork of Mink Branch in the store of the postmaster, Joe Hamilton, Jr.). We have one school teacher, a notary public, an ACP committeeman. We have the Zion Regular Baptist Church (regular meeting time, the fourth Saturday and Sunday of each month), two preachers, two deacons, 21 church members. Our community has several radios which keep us posted on world events, and we are hoping for a WPA road which now is two miles from us. Five of our citizens are drawing the old-age assistance, 13 are working on the WPA, one is a locomotive engineer, three are coal miners and two are carpenters. Three dwellings are under construction.

"What kind of community do you other folks live in? Let's get acquainted."

LATE POTATOES

In Kentucky, "late potatoes" may mean any of several things. They may be the so-called "July potato," generally a selection from McCormick, sometimes Jersey Peachblow and sometimes Dakota Red, renamed Jersey Red. Or, the variety may be Green Mountain.

Properly to prepare a late potato seedbed, a start should have been made in early May, the ground broken, then disked and dragged smooth. As any weeds started, disking and dragging should have been repeated, perhaps several times, depending on how many crops of weeds grew. It goes without saying that good land should have been chosen and generous amounts of well-rotted manure, or, better, a heavy cover crop should have been turned under. By virtue of having destroyed the several growths of weeds, there should be practically none to fight as the crop of potatoes is being produced. The several times repeated stirring of the soil tends to save its moisture, and the potatoes benefit, in consequence.

Potato scab is quite a serious trouble, partly because of the hot, dry weather that prevails during the late season, but partly, too, because the seed potatoes may carry the casual organism on their skins or in the soil that adheres to them. Although complete freedom from scab cannot be guaranteed from seed treatment, it will help. Directions are given in Kentucky Extension Circular No. 309, a copy of which may be procured from county agents or by writing to the College of Agriculture, Lexington.

Because the soil is usually somewhat dry at planting, the seed should have been allowed to "heal over" before it is planted. By this is not meant the drying out some farmers follow, but the forming of a corky layer that forms when the seed is put in slatted crates or in loose-mesh bags where air can pass through, but slowly. The "skin" that results is just as effective in holding sap as the natural skin of the potato. An additional precaution is to cut the seed pieces a trifle larger than in spring planting; two ounces, for example.

Late potatoes should be planted more deeply than the spring crop, for moisture's sake; the furrows should be laid off 5 or 6 inches deep but before the seed is dropped, fertilizer (4-8-8-5-10-5) should be sown, 1 pound to 25 feet, and worked in, but kept in the bottom of the furrow as much as possible. The rows may be as close as 30 inches, but if the laying-off is done with a plow, the width may have to be greater to get the proper depth. One seed piece is dropped at a place, 13 to 18 inches apart, for the late varieties are all large-topped.

Covering may be complete, or just half the soil put back in the furrow, depending on how deep the moisture lies, but finally, the furrows should be filled level full, and the surface kept so. In this same connection, should come the warning not to lay off furrows so far ahead that they will dry out. Many poor stands of late potatoes are the result of seed pieces "cooking" in hot, dry ground.

Immediately after the potatoes are planted it may be well to break up the middles tramped from passing through them during the planting, for as many as four trips are taken during the process. This "middle-busting" should be the last and only deep working of the potatoes, however. The rule, from this point on, should be to stir the soil no more than necessary in upsetting what weeds grow, such stirrings given promptly, while the weeds are small and require no violent workings to remove.

Planting time for "July" potatoes ranges from June 15 to July 15, depending on latitude; that for Green Mountain, in the latter half of June, throughout the state.

FRIENDLY SAFETY TIPS FOR YOUR TRIP

1. TAKE IT EASY. Too much speed is a factor in a very large percentage of serious accidents. You will also save money on gas, oil, tires and motor wear if you don't drive too fast.
2. "SUN DOWN, SLOW DOWN" is a wise motto for motorists. Remember over half of our traffic accidents occur during dust or darkness.
3. THE "OPEN ROAD" INVITES SPEED, but the wise driver remembers that two out of three fatalities now occur in rural areas. Always assume that someone may be trying to pass on your side of the road just beyond a hillcrest or just around a curve. Or some one may be parked just ahead out of sight. Or a wreck may be there.
4. WATCH OVERTAKING AND PASSING. It's better to wait until you're sure that you can safely pass a car ahead at curves and hillcrests most of all. At night it's hard to judge the speed of approaching headlights.
5. SLOW AT CROSSROADS. It is poor satisfaction to know you had the "right-of-way" after a crash.
6. OBEY SIGNS AND SIGNALS. Warning and stop signs and stop-and-go signals are installed for your protection, after careful study or because of a bad accident record.
7. REMEMBER THAT ALCOHOL AND GASOLINE is a dangerous mixture. It goes hard these days with a driver in trouble who has alcohol on his breath.
8. GIVE HAND SIGNALS. Let other drivers know well in advance when you are going to stop, change lanes, or turn.
9. TAKE CARE OF YOUR CAR. A tire worn to the fabric is mighty expensive if it "blows out." Keep best tires in front. Keep the headlights shining and adjusted to their job—you need good lights at night. Keep brakes good.
10. BE A "ROAD SPORTSMAN." It costs so little, is so much appreciated, and returns real satisfaction. Especially do pedestrians deserve courtesy and consideration. Remember, you too are a pedestrian most of the time. No Road Sportsman "hogs" the road.

PAYS TO FERTILIZE PERMANENT PASTURE

In answer to the frequent question of whether it pays to broadcast fertilizer on permanent pasture in Kentucky, Dr. E. N. Fergus of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington, replies: "Definitely yes, provided pasture has a reasonably good sod and is on a soil that needs fertilizer."

Results of pasture top-dressing experiments conducted in Kentucky in co-operation with the Tennessee Valley Authority during the past four years, indicates that application of about 140 pounds of 20 per cent of superphosphate per acre per year to permanent pastures outside the Bluegrass region will increase the herbage production about 20 per cent and protein production per acre about 25 per cent. Liming did not increase herbage yields but did increase protein production. Summarizing all results, it appears that each dollar expended for limestone and phosphate produced an income of $5 measured in terms of value of protein, calculated at its market value in concentrates or else in terms of gain in weight of beef cattle.

A second question often asked is whether fertilizer would be more effective if applied under the sod of a permanent pasture, instead of broadcast on the pasture. Dr. Fergus' answer is, "No, provided the sod is good enough to produce a satisfactory cover after treatment." Tests of the two methods of application show that broadcasting is always as effective as sub-surface treatments and generally better.

Generally speaking, says Professor Fergus, it is best to apply fertilizer to pastures between fall and spring, but the work may be done any time it is convenient. Perhaps livestock should be kept off a pasture after top-dressing, and until the material has disappeared from the herbage.

"Say, Preacher," answered young fellow, "I came here about gettin' married, but, if it be as much work as all that, I can count me out right now."
