Cuddie Holbrook, 21, of Bevinville, Dies Instantly Tuesday

SISTER-IN-LAW, WIFE AND SON, ALSO HURT

As the result of injuries sustained when his pick-up truck was struck by a Left Beaver passenger train on a crossing on Clear Creek Tuesday afternoon, Cuddie Holbrook, 21 years old, of Bevinville, was killed almost instantly and his wife, Cora Blair Holbrook, is in the Martin General hospital, Martin, recovering from a broken collar bone and severe bruises.

Little Elmer Holbrook, infant son of the Holbrooks, received superficial injuries in the same accident and is in the hospital with his mother, Miss Edith Blair, sister of Mrs. Holbrook, is also in the hospital, recovering from severe bruises and cuts received in the crash.

Holbrook, employed by the Payne-Baber Coal Company on Clear Creek, had planned to move there from Bevinville Wednesday. The group was returning from the new home, where they had gone to ready it for occupancy, when the accident occurred. According to reports the truck had just pulled onto the crossing when the train crashed into it. The train, which was making its second of two daily trips to Ligon, on the Clear Creek branch line, was backing up at the time and a passenger coach smashed into the truck. Its occupants were thrown from the wreckage into the near-by creek. The crossing is near a small bridge which spans Clear Creek.

Holbrook's death was attributed to a crushed chest.

The victim's mother, Mrs. R. E. Holbrook, of Punchedon, Knott county, was called immediately after the accident, but she had gone to Carr Creek where the body of her brother, a Mr. Hall, had been found in the creek Tuesday morning. It is thought that he had drowned.

This Town-- That World

BETTER LATE . . .
He died a month ago--was buried, to be exact, on October 14--and yet THE TIMES has printed not a word about him.

A son of Virginia--himself a courtly son of the South--last save one of the Union's Floyd county veterans of the Civil War, he was. He died at the age of 94 after serving his country well. For years he was a leader in church work. Many of us recall the hospitality of his home on those annual occasions when he celebrated his birthday as the years cast longer shadows on the farther slope.

Yet no word of his passing did we give. We admit all this in explanation of guilt.

For this man whose passing was unnoted by us was one we ill could afford to lose. He was John P. (Printer) Meade, of the Left Beaver post-office which was named for him.

HOW COULD HE?

John L. Layne, of Tram, was accused by a Democratic friend last week of voting the straight Republican ticket. To which Mr. Layne made prompt denial, averring that he had, over the years, cast as many Democratic votes as he had turned in for the Republican side.

Then he explained why:
"I am a Republican, my wife is a Democrat. She has given me ten chil-

Arnold Thanks Voters

To the Voters of the City of Prestonsburg:

To those who supported me so loyally for Mayor of the city of Prestonsburg, I want to extend my sincere thank to the confidence which you have placed in me by your vote.

To those who, for reasons of their own, voted against me, I bear no ill will.

I wish to take this opportunity to assure you that I will endeavor at all times to use the office for a better Prestonsburg. In the handling of my business affairs I have proven that no man elected has been more progressive than I.

I hereby extend to the public an invitation for any suggestions that they may have, which will help bring about improvement to make ours a better community in which to live.

Sincerely,

E. P. ARNOLD,
Mayor-Elect,
Prestonsburg, Ky

BOARD APPROVES SCHOOL BUILDING

New Maytown Structure Is Accepted at Regular Meeting

After inspecting the new Maytown consolidated school building, which replaces the one destroyed by fire last March, the Floyd County Board of Education at its last regular meeting Saturday, November 4, accepted the structure and classes are now being held in it.

At the time of the inspection tour, on the morning of the regular session, the building was in readiness for occupancy with the exception of its water system. As the water in the wells near the building site has a tendency to show a saline content, it has become necessary to drill on the hill near Dr. Allen's home for the school's water supply.

The board voted at the same meeting to pay county consolidated teachers for their second month's work and the rural teachers for the third month. One thousand auditorium seats were bought, 500 for each of the new buildings at Maytown and at Martin.

For janitor at the Wheelwright consolidated school, the board hired Mander Johnson to replace his brother, Perry Johnson, who was killed at Wheelwright Junction a month ago.

RED CROSS OPENS KENTUCKY DRIVE

Workers See Success In Effort to Enlist Adults As Members

Throughout Kentucky there started Saturday, Armistice Day, the annual Rollcall of the American Red Cross, with the avowed purpose of achieving its 1939 slogan: "Every Adult a Member." Workers were reported enthusiastic over the prospects for enlisting a record number of men and women in the Red Cross, and what the organization has done for citizens of Kentucky routed from their homes by floods alone, in the past few years, was advanced as the best argument why every Kentuckian should join.

With the beneficent work of the Red Cross fresh in memory--it did its greatest work of rehabilitation following the Ohio river floods of 1937 and the "flash" floods in Eastern Kentucky early in 1939--workers were optimistic in regard to success of the current rollcall.

It was pointed out that in addition to its work at home a great task faces the Red Cross because of the war in Europe and that the American Red Cross is assisting there where its help is needed and can be of great benefit.

Attention is being directed by Red Cross workers to the nursing reserve of more than 44,000 women, pledged to emergency service in disaster, war,

OPEN SEASON FOR RABBIT AND QUAIL BEGINS ON NOV. 24

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 15--Major James Brown, director of the Division of Game and Fish, calls to the attention of all hunters the fact that the season on rabbits and Bob White quail opens on November 24.

The hunter's attention is also called to the proclamation issued by Governor Chandler more than a month ago setting aside November 30 as Thanksgiving Day. As the result of this proclamation the hunter will be able to enjoy that particular holiday in the fields in pursuit of the rabbit or quail. President Roosevelt proclaimed November 23 as Thanksgiving Day, but due to the confusion raised by this change, Governor Chandler proclaimed

'Cats Bow To Hazard, 26-0, As Rice Plays Final Game Of His High School Career

Scoring three touchdowns in the first half of the game and adding another in the fourth quarter, the Hazard high school eleven coasted to an easy 26-0 win over Prestonsburg at Hazard Saturday afternoon, as Russell Rice, Blackcat captain and outstanding Big Sandy lineman, played his final game in a Prestonsburg uniform.

Hazard pushed across a marker early in the opening quarter, the result of a Prestonsburg fumble, and failed to convert the extra point. Using straight power plays, Hazard spent most of the afternoon in Prestonsburg territory and the Blackcats failed to threaten the Hazard goal-line at any time during the game.

Campbell and Combs, in the Hazard back-field, scored touchdowns in the second quarter, and their team led 19-0 at the half. The final touchdown came in the final period, with the successful placement for extra point running the score to 26-0.

Rice, who this week reached the age limit for participation in high school athletics, played an outstanding game in the Prestonsburg line, and few Hazard offensive plays were started in his direction. The playing of Hunter and Layne was also commendable, and Ballard Herald, Blackcat substitute back, was in the thick of almost every defensive play after he entered the game.

Campbell and O. Combs were the chief ground-gainers for Hazard while L. Combs, at the tackle position, was the outstanding man in the Hazard line.

Still occupying the top rung in the Big Sandy Conference ladder, the Blackcats' three remaining games are with conference foes. Saturday afternoon they meet Belfry here and on the following Saturday they will entertain the Van Lear Bank Mules on the local field. The final game of the season will be the annual Thanksgiving Day battle with Paintsville, which will be played November 30.

WAYLAND DEFEATS McDOWELL HI, 33-18, WEDNESDAY NIGHT

After playing on fairly even terms during the first three quarters, Coach Wiley Jones' Wayland high school team finally hit their stride in the fourth and smothered the McDowell quintet, 33-18, Wednesday night, last week, in the Wayland gymnasium.

With the Wayland reserves in the starting line-up, McDowell went into a 7-4 lead, and held that margin at the end of the first period. Then Coach Jones inserted his regulars, who worked themselves into a 13-10 lead at the half.

During the third quarter each team was able to make two field goals and a free toss and as the period ended Wayland was still leading, 17-15. Wayland completely outclassed the visitors in the final quarter after solving the zone defense of Coach Akers' team. In this period Wayland hit the net for seven field goals and two free pitches, while holding McDowell to a lone field goal and free pitch.

COIN DETERMINES FATE OF WOMAN

Court 'Fires' Jury for Freeing Floyd Woman on Toss of Coin

Jane Webb, 40, of this county, was acquitted by a federal court jury at Richmond Tuesday morning, but an entire jury panel lost its job and was "paid off" on direction of Judge H. Church Ford because of the method by which the verdict was reached.

Several hours after the jury had reported its verdict, Judge Ford learned the toss of a coin had in effect determined whether the jury would return a not-guilty verdict or inability to agree.

Ten members of the panel had voted for acquittal on a possessing charge. Two held out for conviction. Finally the two agreed to toss a coin to decide whether they would join the majority.

Tuesday afternoon a member of the jury told John T. Metcalf, U. S. District Attorney, what had occurred.

"It is an awful thing," Judge Ford said as he dismissed the jury, "that the pitch of a coin should determine the fate of a person on trial. I do not want such jurors to serve in this court."

MERCHANT MARINE TO FILL VACANCIES

Applications Will Be Received at Pikeville Until December 21

The United States Maritime Commission has advised R. F. Fields, manager of the Pikeville office of the Kentucky State Employment Service, of an open competitive examination for appointment as cadet (D) or cadet (E) in certain merchant vessels of the Merchant Marine of the United States. Fields pointed out that the Merchant Marine of the United States is NOT a military service, but that det can lead to placement as a licensed officer.

In order to qualify for admission to the examination, the applicant must be between the ages of 18 and 25, an American citizen and of good moral character. All applicants must have 16 units of high school work from an accredited school, eight of which must include: three in English; one in algebra; one in plane geometry; one in general science or chemistry; one in physics; and one in a foreign language.

"It is believed," Fields said, "that the Merchant Marine presents an excellent opportunity for young men who can qualify and who are interested in becoming licensed seamen. The infrequency of these examinations

CHURCH BUILDING IS PADLOCKED BY ORDER OF COURT

Church of Christ, Martin, Is Closed for Indefinite Period by Circuit Judge

RIGHTS OF PROPERTY, POINT OF CONTENTION

Court Allows Each Faction to Hold Services Before Closing Building

Litigation in the suit to determine who holds the rights of property to the Church of Christ building at Martin was halted temporarily Friday afternoon, as Circuit Judge John W. Caudill ordered that the building be opened for services by one faction Friday night and by the other Sunday and then pad-locked indefinitely. The order was the result of an injunction action designed to prevent the Rev. Julian Hunt from using the church.

The original suit, filed by Elzie Click, etc., plaintiffs, against A. E. Harper, etc., defendants, was entered on the court records November 1, when the plaintiffs obtained a restraining order preventing the defendants "and other persons unknown and identified as Anti of the Church of Christ" from going upon the church property or interfering with the services until last Friday, when the hearing was held.

The plaintiffs, in a reply filed Friday, contend that they organized the church before the Reverend Harper came to Martin. Asserting that they attempted to secure a preacher the Rev. Julian Hunt, who declined, they charged that the Reverend Harper came to Martin at the request of Henry Parsons, of Betsy Layne, a non-member of the congregation, and that Harper "wrongfully, illegally, and corruptly misled the congregation and led them to believe he was a member of the same religious persuasion." They also charged that Harper "caused a split in the church, caused members to leave the Church of Christ at Martin . . . and has attempted to . . . get control and custody of the building wrongfully, illegally and by force."

The plaintiffs contend that Elzie Click and Mrs. Ida Parker are trustees of the church, while the defend-

Deposed State Officials' Future Seems Uncertain

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 12—Several of the state's elective officials whose terms expire in January either don't know how they'll earn a living after that time or they're not telling—yet.

Of the four whose terms expire and who were not elected to other offices last Tuesday, it seems not unlikely that only one of them—State Treasurer John E. Buckingham—could get an appointive position with the new administration.

The others, none of whom stood very high with the Chandler administration, are Commissioner of Agriculture Garth Ferguson, Secretary of State Charles D. Arnett and Superintendent of Public Instruction Harry W. Peters.

One of the burning questions around the Capitol for several months was "What's Happy Chandler going to do?" but that was answered by Senator M. M. Logan's death and Chandler's subsequent resignation as Governor to be appointed to the Senate by his successor, Keen Johnson.

Arnett, unsuccessful candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, said he planned either to go into the oil business or return to his Louisville law practice.

"I have some mineral leases on some oil land in Texas," Arnett said, "and we're drilling out there now."

The former State Senator, whose successor is George G. Hatcher, Court of Appeals deputy clerk, said he might also drill on some Casey county land.

Buckingham, who is to be succeeded by Ernest E. Shannon, present state auditor, said he might take one of several business offers he had. Asked whether he expected appointment to any state position, he replied: "I haven't asked for one or talked about it, but if one were offered that suited me, I would be available."

Buckingham, who never before held public office, was an Eastern Kentucky banker before becoming treasurer, and one of his achievements was the reduction of interest on state warrants.

Peters, whose successor is John W. Brooker, present supervisor of school buildings and grounds, said frankly he didn't know what he would do after January, but that he "hoped" to remain in the field of education. He said he probably would return to Hopkinsville, his home, and might even "do nothing."

Ferguson likely will return to his insurance business, although he was unavailable for comment. He has been in a Murray hospital for an operation. Rudy Ferguson, his son and assistant commissioner, also in the insurance business, said he hadn't talked with his father about his plans for the future.

William H. May, Prestonsburg, succeeds Ferguson.

nity where flowing beards were the rule. I had not seen any New Englanders then, but I know now that he looked like a professor of literature or fine arts in a New England exclusive academy or college. There was a certain aloofness about him that we came to associate with scholarship, an aloofness that he was the last one to minimize. Away up the creek he lived, in a fine old mansion, one of the few in the neighborhood, but Bill's mind was in contact, though only through the weekly newspapers and the Methodist church paper, with the whole outside world.

Though I grew up in such an environment, I thought that everything worth knowing was to be found in books. When I was 18 years old, I applied for the Fidelity school, as we said in those days. The trustee, one of our neighbors, had no formal education worth mentioning; he could read his Bible and could sing all the old Southern Harmony tunes from memory. When I sought him out and presented my claims, which certainly were meager, he did not give me any direct answer. Instead, he asked me as if by accident, how many bushels of corn he had in his crib, stating the dimensions. Naturally I went for this, for I knew how many cubic inches make a bushel. I did not take shucks and cobs into account, though, as I had probably never thought of that before; the books said nothing about this. My answer was right and also wrong; I did not get the school. To this day I do not know whether my figuring had anything to do with his decision, but his practical common sense certainly struck a blow at my rather cocky book-learning. And that was where the average neighborhood scholar had the inside track on us book-trained young squirts.

Wise homemakers know that curtains and shades should not interfere with ventilation. They should be simply made of easily laundered material, well hung and in harmony with the color scheme. Shades should be light in color and should roll easily.

Bees do not need elaborate methods of protection in most Kentucky winters. They should, however, be kept out of the wind. A cheap and satisfactory form of protection can be made from roofing paper. They should go into winter with plenty of stores.

Kitchen or pantry shelves only wide enough to accommodate one row of dishes, equipment or supplies, and placed as close together as materials on them will permit, make it easy to find articles without removing other articles or reaching over them.

Labor Proposals To Confront Kentucky's Next Legislature

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 11—Kentucky's Democratic Legislature, assembling here in January, will be confronted with a number of proposals of far-reaching effect, including those of the potent Farm Bureau Federation and the Kentucky Municipal League.

Among labor proposals are those to make the Workmen's Compensation Law compulsory (given impetus by the recent explosion in Providence) and possibly one to extend the provisions of the state minimum wage law for women and minors to include men. The latter probably would meet opposition in the form of an employer's lobby seeking repeal or modification of the present law.

The Municipal League, full of the "home rule" philosophy, has prepared a legislative program including four proposals to increase city revenue and four calling for powers to deal with public utilities.

The farm bureau federation has proposed, among other things, the removal of all state taxes on property and the refunding of state taxes on gasoline used in farm machinery.

The division of insurance had planned proposed legislation to bring mutual insurance companies under the Kentucky Actuarial Bureau, but the mutuals, hearing of the plan, descended on the insurance division, and the subject may be dropped. Stock companies already operate under the rules of the bureau, which sets insurance rates subject to review by the division.

Attorney General Hubert Meredith plans to ask the legislative council which shapes the administration's legislative program, to seek legislation outlawing the "legalized raids on the treasury" in the form of special legislative acts authorizing suits against the state for debts and damages. Meredith contends such authorization should be given in a general law.

State Representatives and Senators have been urged by the West Kentucky Association of Commerce Secretaries to vote for an appropriation of $120,000 for state parks.

There has been some talk of attempting to legislate aid for the needy blind and dependent children in co-operation with the Federal Security administration, but it is the opinion of the Attorney General's office that it could not be passed without a constitutional amendment first having been adopted. Such an amendment was proposed, but it was not submitted for vote at the recent election because Secretary of State Charles D. Arnett failed to advertise it in time.

President Hutchins' Son To Be Inaugurated Saturday, Nov. 25

Berea, Ky., Nov. 15—On November 25, Berea College will inaugurate its fifth president since the establishment of the school in 1855. The new president, Dr. Francis Stephenson Hutchins, age 37, succeeds his father, Dr. William J. Hutchins, who retired October 1 after 19 years as Berea's head.

The appointment of the younger Hutchins to the post at Berea makes the third member of the Hutchins family to become the president of an educational institution. Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, is a brother of Berea's new president.

Berea College is the largest of the work-your-way schools, serving boys and girls of the southern mountains. The annual enrollment is more than 2,000, ninety per cent of whom come from the Appalachian highlands. Courses from the ABC's to the A.B. and B.S. degrees are offered.

Berea's purpose is to make possible educational opportunities to those of the mountains who would not likely have a chance for a higher education elsewhere. There are no tuition fees. The total expense for a year approximately $150, which includes comfortably furnished rooms for 65 cents a week and a balanced board of 13 cents a meal.

To keep this tremendous and unique educational project in operation, the president of Berea has the Herculean task of raising in gifts approximately $95,000 annually. The school receives no state aid or funds from any sect.

Berea College has been spoken of as "an institution that stretches dollars farther in securing educational results than probably any other in the country."

Payable In Advance

NORMAN ALLEN Editor

Entered as second class matter June 18, 1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Ky., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

THE TIMES ENDORSES

1. Floyd county for Floyd countians.
2. Immediate completion of the Left Beaver and Johns Creek road.
3. Completion of all Farm-to-Market roads, by W. P. A. labor if possible, maintenance of these routes by the state rural road fund.
4. A trade-at-home policy followed by merchants and customers alike.
5. Full co-operation with all county and city officials, insisting that lawmakers and enforcement officers themselves obey the law to the letter.
6. Continuance of the Floyd county health department and county agricultural agent work.

"I BUY AT HOME"

Recently there appeared in a weekly newspaper a civic creed, which would be very applicable to a Prestonsburg citizen, or to any citizen of Floyd county. It reads:

- I buy at home . . . . .
- Because my interests are here.
- Because this is my home.
- Because the community that is good enough for me to live in is good enough for me to buy in.
- Because I believe in building up the community that is home to me.
- Because I believe in transacting business with my friends.
- Because every dollar I spend at home works for the community in which I live.
- Because that same dollar goes around and around, helping all the people—the workers, clerks, office people, day laborers—all.
- Because the man I buy from pays his part of the city, county and state taxes.
- Because when ill-luck, misfortune come, the man I buy from is here if need be.
- Because here I live and here I hope to remain.
- It would be well if local people would remember this creed when thinking of trading away from home.

REQUEST TO A LITTLE GIRL

By KATE SMITH, in the little magazine, "TALKS" Forty-eight years ago, on the beautiful South Sea island of Samoa a little American girl in a gingham pinafore complained to a man regarded as one of the world's greatest writers that she had been deprived of her natural birthright. She was saddened because she had been born on Christmas Day, and the things like birthday parties and presents and all the rest that children hold dear, were denied to her because her birthday was eclipsed in celebration of the greatest day in Christendom.

The little girl was Annie Ide, daughter of the land commissioner of Samoa, and the world famous writer was Robert Louis Stevenson.

Stevenson pondered the little girl's complaint. Then from his heart he wrote this document:

"Considering that I, Robert Louis Stevenson, have attained an age when—(O, we never mention it)—and that I now have no further use for a birthday of any description. And that in consideration that I have met H. C. Ide, father of said Annie Ide, and found him about as white a land commissioner as I require . . . I have transferred and do hereby transfer to the said Annie Ide, all, and in whole, my rights and privileges to the thirteenth day of November, formerly my birthday, now hereby and henceforth, the birthday of the said Annie Ide, to have and to hold, exercise and enjoy in the customary manner by the sporting of raiment, eating of rich meats, and receipt of gifts, compliments, and copies of verse, according to the manners of our ancestors."

It is almost half a century since Stevenson penned that delightful document, and the little girl in the pinafore, now grown to woman's estate, is Mrs. Bourke Cockran, the widow of the famous political orator of a decade ago. Every year on November 13, she has celebrated Stevenson's birthday just as though it were her own. Furthermore, Mrs. Cockran has seen to it that Stevenson's and her mutual birthday will not be forgotten. So has bequeathed it in her will to her niece, Miss Anita Leslie, of London.

GIVE THANKS

Thanksgiving approaches again this year, and on this occasion the presence of war abroad makes more important than ever our American habit of pausing for a day and counting our blessings. Even the difference of opinion this year concerning the date on which the event will be celebrated points to something American for which we ought to be thankful—the democratic right to disagree about matters involving us solely as individuals.

What, in 1939, are some of the things for which we ought to be thankful? Surely it is worthwhile to pause in whatever we are doing at the moment and list some of the reasons we are glad that we are Americans.

We should be thankful, most of all, for two precious heritages that it is worth everything in the world for us to preserve. These two fundamentals are freedom and opportunity. They are characteristic of America in a manner and degree not matched in any other land.

We should be thankful in a world at war, that we are at peace with all nations, and that there exists in this country a public will to peace. We should be grateful for our system of representative democracy, which guarantees the fact that this public will to peace will be heeded.

We should be thankful for the high standard of living this country possesses; for the fact that its real wealth, which is measured in terms of automobiles and radios and the material objects that all Americans can use and enjoy, is more widely distributed than is that of any other nation. We should be even more thankful that the system under which we live is designated to raise those standards even higher in the future.

While other nations are at war, or remain precarious neutrals with armies poised on their borders, we in America look forward to a future growing before our eyes in the laboratories of industry, where new products and new services are being developed that will mean more jobs and payrolls.

But we must not merely be thankful. This opportunity is also an obligation. That obligation lies in our making every effort to use the advantages we have here to the utmost—not to be fainthearted, not to neglect the opportunities that exist here, not to abuse the freedom we are granted.

Thus Thanksgiving this year ought at once to be a day in which we count our blessings, and one on which we remember the responsibilities that are ours.—Hardin County Enterprise.

U. S. To Mail Added Billions In Gold To Fort Knox Vault

Washington — Inexperienced postmen need not apply, but the treasury is getting ready again to mail five or six billion dollars worth of gold to Fort Knox, Ky.

As soon as Congress authorizes the postage—about $1,000,000—the treasury wants to shift part of its huge gold hoards from New York and Philadelphia to the subterranean vaults built for the purpose in Kentucky.

Fort Knox already has $5,523,000,000 of the metal but none has been added for a couple of years, while the treasury stocks elsewhere have grown to exceed $11,600,000,000. Shifting some of the gold would relieve congestion in outside vaults and at the same time increase its safety.

There was an outside chance some of the gold piled up in New York and Philadelphia might be shipped abroad, the way it came in, but the war postponed indefinitely the day when foreigners will want to reclaim the wealth they sent here for safekeeping. About $3,000,000,000 in gold was sent here in the last twelve months.

At Fort Knox safekeeping is almost a cinch. The depository is in the middle of the army post. Its vaults are about sixty feet under ground protected from would-be tunnelers by 10 feet of reinforced concrete. The building is guaranteed bomb-proof and anyone getting inside would still have to budge a 20-ton door to get into the vaults.

Wheeler Will Not Contest

To the People of the 31st Judicial District:

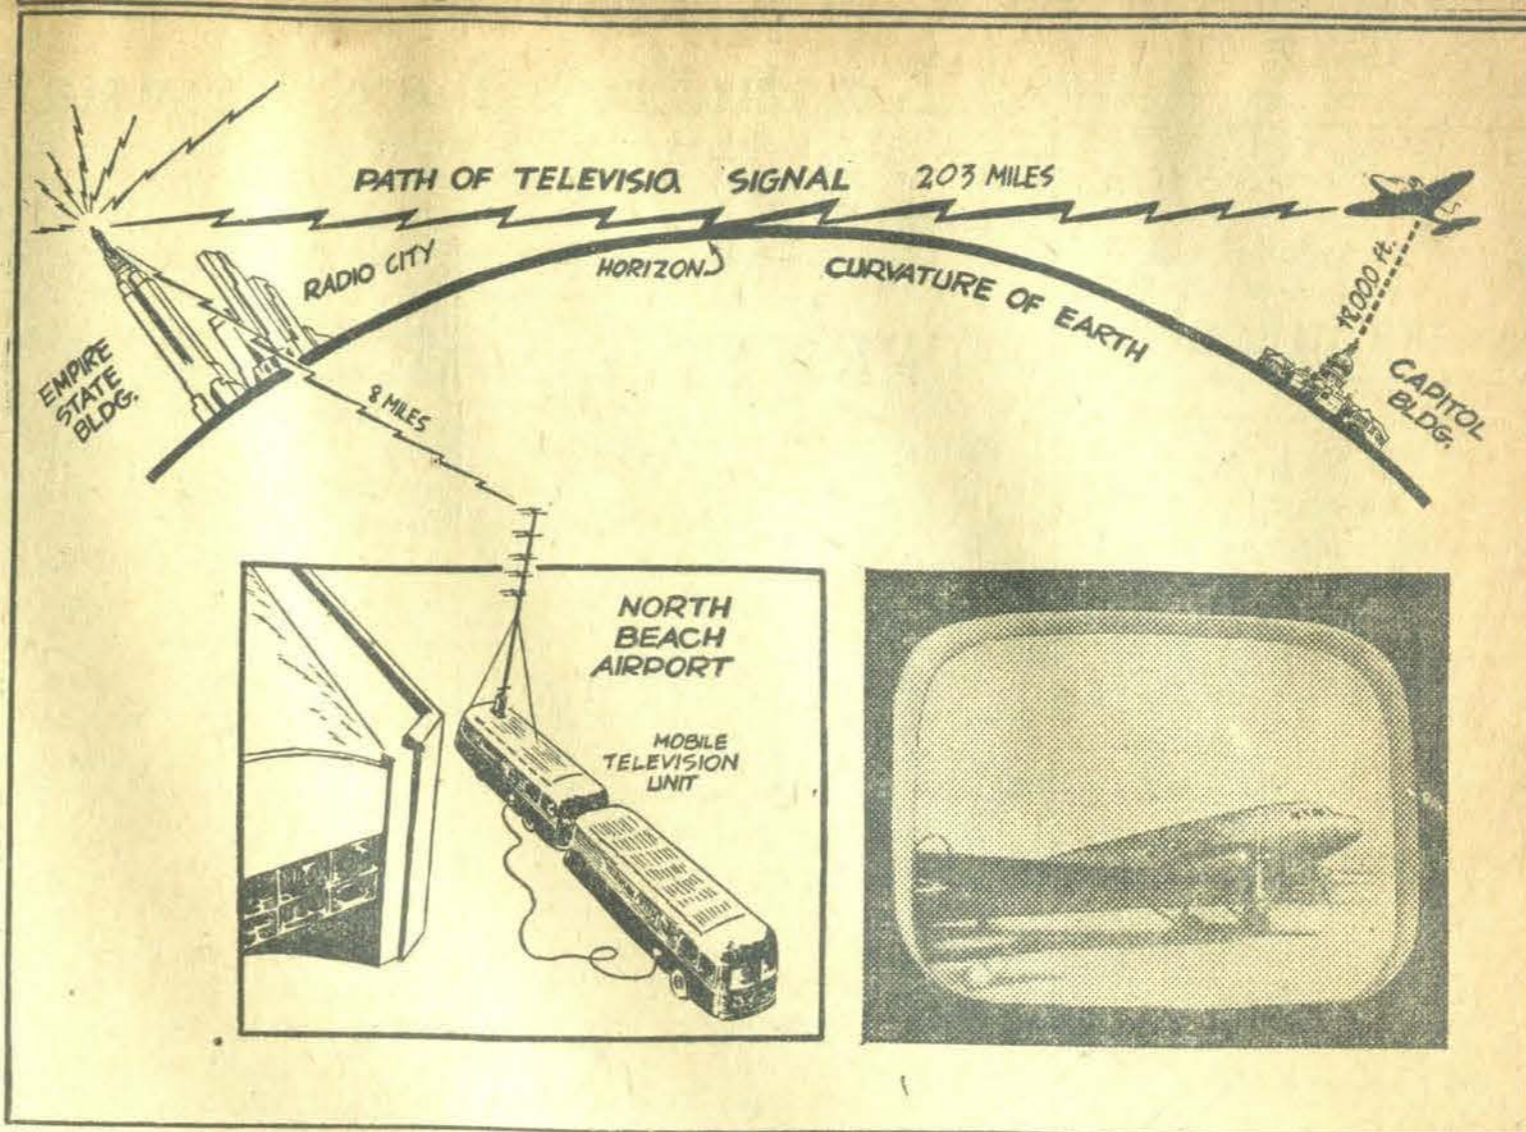

I wish to thank all of you for your consideration of my recent candidacy for Circuit Judge. I shall co-operate in every way with the successful candidate, Henry Stephens, and I hope that every Republican and Democrat alike will do the same, with a sincere desire to help him make his administration a successful one.

MEN SEEN 200 MILES AWAY BY TELEVISION

Diagram—Artist's conception of how radio and aviation worked together to receive television images over a distance of 200 miles. The images were broadcast from New York and were received in an airplane over Washington, D. C. Photographic Inset—This photograph, snapped in an airplane flying in the stratosphere four miles above Washington, shows a television image of another airplane at rest on the runway at North Beach Airport, New York.

TELEVISION in the stratosphere, more than four miles above Washington, D. C., made history Tuesday, October 17, when the Radio Corporation of America, with the cooperation of United Air Lines, demonstrated successful reception of images broadcast from New York, more than 200 miles to the north. The experiment marked the twentieth anniversary of the founding of RCA.

Flying over the nation's capital at an altitude of 21,600 feet, occupants of the plane, including Major General Delos C. Emmons, Chief of U.S. Army GHQ Air Force, saw David Sarnoff, president of RCA, and W. A. Patterson, president of UAL, who were seated in the television studios of the National Broadcasting Company in New York, as they exchanged comments on the parallel rise of the aviation and radio industries in the last two decades.

During the flight, what is probably the all-time long distance record for photography was made when cameramen in the plane over Washington snapped pictures of persons and objects in New York as they were broadcast by television.

Returning to New York from Washington, the plane landed at North Beach Airport, Long Island, for one of the most thrilling moments of the flight. For the last several minutes, occupants of the plane had been watching news reels and other motion pictures on the television receiver; but suddenly these stopped and in their place appeared the image of an airplane flying through the air.

Dramatically, the television announcer told the observers in the plane that they were watching their own ship as it circled the airport, dropped gracefully to the ground and taxied up the runway to the hangars. Actually, the men inside the plane watched it land just as if they had been standing all the while on the ground.

RCA's experiment of long distance television reception bore out the theory that the ultra-short radio waves used in television travel like rays of light, in straight lines. It was necessary, in order to receive the telecast over Washington, for the plane to rise above the 16,000-foot level in order to overcome the curvature of the earth and keep within a straight line-of-sight path from the point of transmission.

Rabbit Season Opens

ed the last Thursday in the month as the day on which to give thanks.

The Division of Game and Fish has received numerous requests within the past several weeks asking that the hunting season be moved up in order to have the opening on November 23, but this could be done only by an act of the Kentucky Legislature and as Thanksgiving will fall just one week later, November 30, that will not be necessary.

From reports received from every county in the state this is going to be the best hunting season Kentucky Nimrods have enjoyed since the day Daniel Boone first gazed upon the land known to the Indians as the "Happy Hunting Ground."

Cold Coughs May Soon Be Quarantined To Stop Spread

There is growing sentiment that bad colds and coughs should be quarantined. They spread so rapidly they cause more loss of time from illness than all other diseases combined.

To stop a cold cough immediately get Mentho-Mulsion. Mentho-Mulsion is the formula of the dean of pharmacy of a large mid-western university and contains nine cold cough combating elements, including vitamins A and D to build up cold resistance. Mentho-Mulsion stops coughing and relieves that stuffed-up feeling immediately. It acts quickly to soothe and heal the feverish, irritated membranes and is guaranteed to rid you of your cold cough entirely within the shortest possible time or every cent of the small cost will be promptly refunded. Mentho-Mulsion is safe to use and should be kept on hand for immediate use on the first appearance of a cold or cough.

Mentho-Mulsion is endorsed by your neighbors and guaranteed by leading druggists everywhere.—adv.

Charles O'Connell was re-elected to a full term as clerk of the Court of Appeals. He was elected to fill out the term of his father, who died soon after the last election.

Rodes Myers, Lieutenant-Governor, had been representative in previous legislatures.

The Young Democratic Clubs of Kentucky are meeting in Lexington the 17th and 18th, and rumor has it that W. H. Crowder, Jr., of Mayfield, Graves county, will be elected the next president. They have a strong organization and did yeoman service in the last election.

The Governor and a number of state politicians are on a duck hunt at Reelfoot Lake this week, resting up after the campaign and, we hope, getting a lot of ducks.

NO NEW COMPLETIONS OR DRILLINGS LISTED IN FLOYD LAST WEEK

Floyd county gas operations remained at the same low level for the past week, with no completions listed in either the county or in the Eastern Kentucky field.

In this county the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company has reached the 1925 foot level in well No. 5258 on the George McKinney land on Toler Creek and is drilling at the 950 foot mark in slate in well No. 5259 on the John W. Taylor land, also on Toler Creek.

Keathley, Allen and Hale have passed the 1925 foot level in well No. 1 on the Thomas Jarvis land on Home Branch.

In Martin county the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company has reached the 140 foot mark in lime in well No. 581 on the Wilson Short land and is now near the 590 foot level in well No. 5257 on the R. S. Stafford land on Rockcastle Fork.

In Knott county the Inland Gas Corporation has reached the 2685 feet mark in brown shale in well No. 211 on the W. H. Smith land on Vave Branch of Troublesome Creek.

In Lawrence county the Big Blaine Oil Company is still setting rig at well No. 1 on the W. M. Savage farm in the Busseyville-Fallsburg district.

AUXIER

Six rabbits in one nohow tree!—but not all at the same time. You see, the tree has an opening at the ground, and to catch the first one, after the dogs had chased him in, of course, we just cut another opening about three feet above the oldest. After that, it was easy to reach up in the tree, snake out the rabbit and go on hunting. Then what do you think happened? The dogs chased five more cotton-tails—all of them into the same tree before the hunt was over—believe it or not! Just come to Dewey and ask about it. If you have a good dog, fetch him with you.

BACK TO HALLOWE'EN

With an over-large, happy, good-looking crowd of spectators, the night before Hallowe'en saw at Auxier school a Hallowe'en carnival which was really enjoyed.

Standing out was the race for King and Queen. Out of the 12 nominees, and not by a large majority, and not without cheer, Beatrice Collins and Eugene Hyden won the crown and the royal seat.

On Wednesday morning, November 1, some men on their way to work had a lot of trouble clearing a driveway. If a fellow only knew what means were used in moving such large stones into the middle of the road, he might have a better picture of the Egyptian pyramid-building!

Short rabbit tale: Hershel Blanton set a box trap in a rabbit den, thinking he might have a fine rabbit for breakfast the next morning. But when he went to look at his trap it had a cat in it—the kind you use a pole on.

FARMERS ORDER SUPERPHOSPHATE

1,389 Tons Are Ordered By 262 Floyd Farmers This Year

In Floyd county this year 262 farmers ordered 1,389 tons of triple superphosphate, in lieu of cash payments, for use in connection with the 1939 Agricultural Conservation Program which closed October 31, 1939, James Stephens, chairman of the county committee of the Floyd County Agricultural Conservation Association, announced this week.

Although figures on the use of triple superphosphate in 1939 are not yet available, Mr. Stephens said, it is expected that the distribution will be somewhat the same as in 1938.

Final tabulation of Floyd county reports for 1938 reveals that 171 farmers used 95 tons of triple superphosphate on 1,601 acres of cornland in the county.

Acreages of conserving crops to which this phosphate was applied in Floyd county are: Alfalfa, 0; bluegrass, 10; lespedeza, 173; red clover and grass mixtures, 158; permanent pasture, 11; crimson clover, vetch and other legumes, 0; orchard grass, redtop and other grasses, 417; legume and grass mixtures (not including red clover), 793; grain grasses and legumes, 2; red clover, 37.

Triple superphosphate was used in all of Kentucky's 120 counties this year, with 22 counties using more than 500 tons.

Reports from the State AAA office at Lexington reveal that 48,254 farmers of the state ordered 37,969 tons of triple superphosphate as a Grant of Aid under the 1939 program.

For the second consecutive year Graves county led all others in Kentucky with orders for 1,088 tons of this 47 per cent phosphate.

Leslie, the only county in the state which placed no orders for triple superphosphate in 1938, ordered 28 tons this year.

In 1938 throughout the state 40,577 farmers spread 33,263 tons of triple superphosphate on 485,609 acres of cropland—an average application of 137 pounds per acre.

Crop acreages on which this material was used in the state are: Alfalfa, 24,648; blue grass, 9,733; lespedeza, 77,614; red clover and grass mixtures, 28,241; permanent pasture, 5,657; crimson clover, vetch and other legumes, 23,051; orchard grass, redtop and other grasses, 115,829; legume and grass mixtures (not including red clover), 125,419; grain grasses and legumes, 66,825; and red clover, 8,592.

APPRECIATION PAYS

Here is how one man applied a single bit of psychology and increased his business 10 per cent in three weeks. That man is Frank H. Drake of Huntingdon, Pennsylvania.

He put his savings into a small filling station. But no sooner had he moved in, than a big filling station located near him; then another. A price war started, winter came. Mr. Drake worked hard. He gave excellent service. He was polite. But his business went down hill. He grew desperate. He didn't know what to do.

The next day when a customer drew up, Mr. Drake filled the tank, thanked the customer for patronizing him. He had thanked other customers before, but he put a little extra fervor into this. He appreciated the man's trade and he made him realize that he did. The man was about to start his car. Instead, he waited a moment and talked. Mr. Drake realized that the man had been responsive because his thanks had been sincere. He decided to use the same principle in dealing with his other customers.

One-third of his business came to him through courtesy cards furnished by the oil company. So he decided that he would do more than merely say "Thank you." He would make a special appeal. He copied their names and addresses and a day or two after they had called, sent them a letter of appreciation. It was a letter of real appreciation, too, for every customer Mr. Drake got meant he was staving off the end that much longer.

The result far exceeded his expectation. People drove in purposely to thank him for his letter. Not only local people, but some from as far away as Harrisburg; one all the way from Elmira, New York.

Then he tried out a letter on 40 of his old customers. This is his letter exactly as he wrote it: "You are one of my best customers, and I certainly appreciate it. Your account is as good as money in the bank. I would like to have more accounts as good as yours. Maybe you'll be good enough to help me. Will you give me the name of two friends who are as reliable as yourself? Here is a stamped and addressed envelope. I will write them and tell them you are a customer of mine, and ask them if they will give me a try, and again thank you."

Of course it worked. He had many of his old customers working for him, and in three weeks, he increased his business ten per cent.

Every one values sincerity. If you really appreciate the trade that comes to you, your customers usually will stick to you through thick and thin. But don't try merely to make an impression. There is nothing that will more quickly merit contempt.

WIDOW CHARGED IN PIKE MURDER

Mrs. May Rose Is Held For Murder of Husband At Elkhorn City

Pikeville, Ky., Nov. 13—Mrs. May Rose, 24, widow of Charles Rose, 33, found shot to death last Thursday on a hillside a mile from his home at Elkhorn City after being missing two days. Albert Mullins, 30, and Willis Mullins, 17, were bound over today by County Judge Ester Hopkins to await action of the February grand jury.

Mrs. Rose's bond was set at $5,000 while bond for the men was fixed at $10,000 each. All were remanded to jail when they failed to provide bail.

County Attorney J. A. Runyon introduced as witness Rex Puckett, 13, a neighbor of the Mullins and Rose families, who testified he loaned a .22 caliber gun to Hugh Mullins about 13, brother of Willis, Tuesday morning, the day set by Coroner W. P. Call as the time of death. The Puckett lad said the gun then was turned over to Willis Mullins, who returned it about two hours later. F. W. Zacker, undertaker, testified a .22 killed Rose.

Mr. Runyon said he believes a conspiracy to kill Rose was carried out and Willis Staton, attorney, appointed by the court to represent the defendants, said he believed "suspicion was strong enough to warrant an investigation" as he pleaded for low bail.

Miss Margaret Johns and Miss Lora Allen were home from Pikeville College last week-end.

A. B. Osborne, Jr., has been added to the staff of Martin General hospital.

COW FEED BIGGEST CALF RAISING COST

The cost of raising beef calves to weaning age is determined largely by the cost of feeding the cows supporting the calves. A study made by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station found that the cost of feeding the cow was 76 per cent of the gross cost of raising the calf to weaning age, in the Bluegrass region of the state, and 71 per cent in Union county.

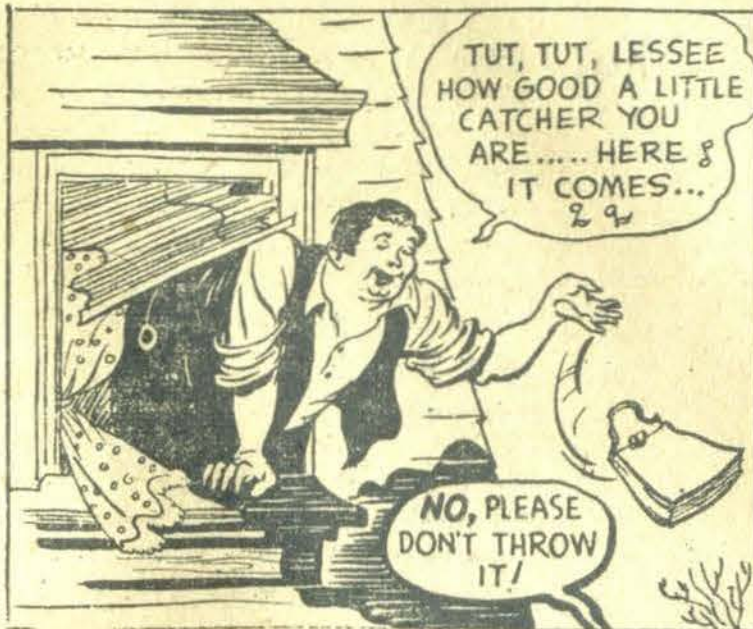

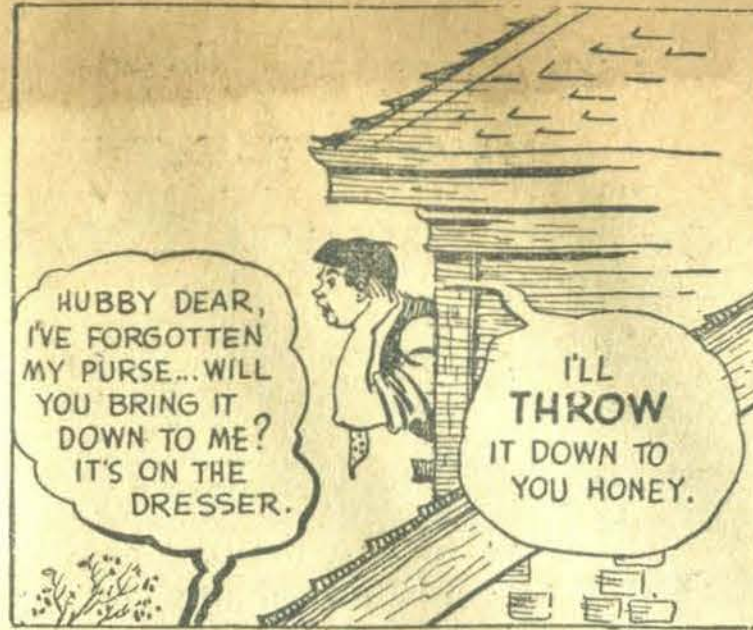

Successful beef producers kept the feed cost low by more fully utilizing pastures and low-grade roughage. The most successful producers raised more and heavier calves. More calves were a result of lower death loss. Heavier calves were largely due to the calves being older and to feeding the suckling calves more grain.

WHEELWRIGHT CHILD IS FATALLY SCALDED

William Carol Evans, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Foy Evans, of Wheelwright, succumbed at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, Thursday, last week, the victim of scalds suffered the previous day. According to reports the tot tumbled backward into a tub of boiling water at his home.

Surviving besides the parents are one brother, Lester, and three sisters, Margie, Beulah and Bernice Evans, all at home.

The body was taken to St. Paul, Va., for funeral services and burial.

BOOM LOOMS FOR SOUTHERN TRAVEL

This year, the largest winter tide of vacation travel in history is expected to turn Southward.

Reports from AAA national headquarters declare that all touring indicators point to increasing momentum of the travel movement which during the summer broke all previous records.

The rising business curve, the 50 per cent gain in car sales, continued increase in gasoline consumption, and advance routings at AAA travel desks all point to the greatest volume of southern travel ever seen. Already, vacation areas to the southward are making ready for a record-breaking influx of visitors.

An important factor in the outlook for domestic winter travel is the ending of foreign tourist travel with the outbreak of hostilities in Europe. Overseas travel and cruises result in an annual expenditure of nearly $250,000,000, and more than half of this travel—54.1 per cent to be exact—takes place during the months of October to March, inclusive.

There is no question that many who otherwise would have gone to foreign vacation objectives this winter will plan a trip somewhere in the United States instead, and this cream of the tourist crop will considerably enrich the volume of domestic travel expenditures.

Even without this added impetus, vacation travel this winter would have been of unusually large proportions. Winter vacation trips have been growing in popularity for a number of years. With closed and heated cars and with roads kept open by snow removal operations, cars are no longer placed on blocks during the winter months. And in addition to being used for daily travel during the winter, cars are being used more and more for long-distance journeying to warmer climates when sleet and snow starts filling in the north.

"Happy motoring to the lands of sunshine."

Mrs. Burchett Entertains

Mrs. Sherman Burchett entertained all her children and grandchildren with a chicken dinner at her home at Emma Sunday. This was the first reunion of the family in four years.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Gardus Pitts and children, Jack Donald and Barbara Catherine; Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Goble and children, Paul, Grady, Patsy Lee, Peachie and Janice, of Woods; Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Burchett and daughter, Dorothy and Peggy Sue, of Emma.

The reunion was held in honor of Jack Donald Pitts' birthday, who was three years old Sunday.

After a delightful dinner, enjoyed by all, Jack Donald opened his many presents with much pleasure and enthusiasm.

Most turkeys that are full-fed are ready for market at from 25 to 28 weeks of age, and in many cases at 24 weeks, depending on sex, breeding, feeding and weather. It is important to sell only turkeys that are fat and free from small pinfeathers.

Apples, potatoes and other vegetables may be stored in barrels sunk in the ground. The site should drain well. The barrel may be covered with a sack of leaves or litter and boards. A bed of cinders or crushed stone beneath the barrel improves drainage.

HAZARD THEATER EMPLOYE IS HELD

On Charge of Murder, Without Bond In Movie-House Slaying

Hazard, Ky., Nov. 10—Crussie Collins, 30, charged with the fatal shooting of Miss Clara Roberts, 20, daughter of the Rev. Dan Roberts, Duane, was held to the grand jury without bond at his examining trial today before County Judge Billie Baker.

Collins projector operator at the Family Theater and father of six children, is accused of slaying Miss Roberts last Saturday night as she sat in the Virginia Theater.

The man said he did not shoot the girl.

Seven witnesses testified they saw Collins in the theater with a gun in his hand as though he were looking for someone and saw him with a smoking gun in his hand after hearing three shots fired.

George Strong, Bluegrass Hollow, testified Collins came into the balcony where he was sitting and sat down beside him. He said in a few minutes Collins got up and went out of the balcony and then he heard the shots. Strong said he went outside and on the first landing he saw Collins holding the dying girl in his arms. He testified he walked down the street with Collins and asked him who the girl was he shot and Collins would not answer him, but asked him to go to the Family Theater and tell the manager he would not be at work that night.

Collins was returned to the Perry county jail to await the February grand jury term.

Wayland Defeats McDowell

To the Public and Especially the Citizens Residing in and Around the Town of Betsy Layne, Floyd County, Kentucky:

You are hereby notified that on November 27, 1939, I will file in the Floyd County Court at the courtroom in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, a petition asking said County Court to enter an order discontinuing the old county road located in Betsy Layne, beginning at the cross road on the lower end of Dockie George's land where I now live and running in a southern direction over my land and over the land of Chattie L. Fitzpatrick to the line of Treva Crider, a distance of about two thousand (2,000) feet, being a portion of the old county road maintained by the county and used by the public prior to the construction of the present state highway known as the Mayo Trail or U. S. Route No. 23, about the year 1929 or 1930.

Said motion will be based upon the fact that after the construction of the said state highway that the above described portion of the old road is no longer needed for public use and is not now used as such road and is not in such state of repair as it can be used as such road. For the last several years the county has failed to keep said road in repair and the same is now out of repair and non-usable. The public generally do not attempt to use it and do not need to do so as all their necessities for a road is served by the state highway aforesaid.

The said road sought to be discontinued passes over the land of Dockie George and Chattie L. Fitzpatrick.

WHEREFORE, all parties interested will take notice of the proceeding aforesaid to discontinue said road.

JOHNSON TO MAKE NO APPOINTMENTS

Until After 1940 Legislature Ends, He States Wednesday

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 15—An indication there would be no major changes in appointive department heads, at least until the 1940 Legislature ends, was given by Governor Keen Johnson today.

"I do not expect to make any major appointments until after the session ends," he said in reply to a question about a subject that had kept Capitol corridors buzzing for weeks in advance of the formal inauguration of the new Governor December 12. Johnson declined to say whether he had any major changes in mind.

In Capitol circles it was pointed out that if the Richmond publisher, who became Governor when A. B. Chandler resigned in October to go to the Senate, and was elected November 7, waited until after the legislative session, he would be following general custom.

Today's visit was Johnson's second to the executive office since the election. Between signing letters and a few minor appointments, he received numerous visitors. He said he would not take a vacation as others have done between election and inauguration and did not intend to leave the state in that time.

"I'm going to take my rest in a different way," he explained, "but I'm going to get it. I'll probably work one day and take two off, but come over here when it's necessary to see anyone on business."

The Governor and his family have not yet moved into the executive mansion, and he said he had not decided when they would. Senator Chandler and his family are still there, awaiting completion of alterations and repairs on their Versailles home.

MOREHEAD INVITES FLOYD GRIDDERS TO SATURDAY'S FRACAS

Morehead, Ky., Nov. 13—All football players from Floyd county will be admitted free to the football game this Saturday between Morehead State College's high-flying Eagles and the strong Davis-Elkins eleven, it was announced today by Ellis Johnson, coach. Players must be identified by their coach at the gate of Jayne Memorial Stadium.

It will be the last and, according to Johnson, "the toughest game of the year" for the Eagles and many of them, crippled and nursing old injuries sustained in the early part of the season, plan on ending the schedule in a blaze of glory.

Perhaps the most remarkable feat of the Davis-Elkins team this season was their 20-12 defeat of the nationally known Long Island University eleven.

This week-end while Morehead was idly subduing the mighty mites from Alfred Holbrook, 38-6, Davis-Elkins conquered West Virginia Wesleyan, 10-0.

Assistant Coach Len Miller, who scouted the West Virginia boys Saturday, pronounced them as "probably the toughest small college team in the entire United States."

Spartan-plugs of the Davis-Elkins offense are Hudson, 190-pound, triple-threat man, Wolverton, a full-back, and Bill Goldberg, brother of Marshall Goldberg, of Pitt Panther fame.

The Eagles will be in fair shape for their last game, according to Johnson.

Harkins Expresses Thanks

To the Citizens of Prestonsburg:

I take this opportunity to express my appreciation to those of you who supported me in the recent city election. To those who felt otherwise, I want to assure you that I have no ill-feeling toward anyone.

I feel confident that Mr. Arnold will make an excellent Mayor and I offer him my co-operation and support in any way that I might be of service at any time. I have personally congratulated our new Mayor and here again offer my sincere congratulations and best wishes.

JOE HARKINS, JR.

CARD OF THANKS

My most sincere appreciation is extended to my relatives and neighbors for their many acts of kindness bestowed upon me in my sad bereavement, the loss of my beloved brother William Casper Osborne. In particular I wish to thank the Revs. R. E. Howerton and A. L. Allen for their words of consolation; U. M. W. of A., Local No. 5899, Wheelwright, and all donors of the beautiful floral offerings. Also Mr. G. D. Ryan and Mr. Lemaster, of the Ryan Funeral Home, for their sympathetic management of the funeral.

HUNTER KILLED WHEN MISTAKEN FOR DEER

Louisa, Ky., Nov. 15—W. M. Barrett, 57, a native of the East Fork section of this county, who has resided in Florence, S. C. for several years, was accidentally shot and killed by a fellow hunter while deer hunting in the Swamps of Eastern South Carolina, according to word received here today by his sister, Mrs. J. H. Woods, Sr.

Barrett, an engineer for the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, was shot by a fellow engineer who mistook him for a deer when he moved from his assigned spot.

He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Barrett, of East Fork, and married Miss Mary Queen, of Denton, Ky., who, with two sons, survive.
