WERE WRONG-THANK GOODNESS!

ometimes, THE TIMES is glad to learn that it is wrong, and this is one

For we have learned that our statement of last week, in which we alleged that it seemed that no county or city official was interested in this newspaper plea of a few weeks back for a county library building, was incorrect.

County Judge Edward P. Hill has been interested in such a move for some

He agrees with THE TIMES that it is not unshameful and not undisgraceful (a shame and a disgrace, we should have said, according to our better judgful (a shame and a disgrace, we should have said, according to our better judgment) to Floyd county and Prestonsburg that the several thousands of volumes RE-DISTRICTS now amassed by the Pack-Horse Library here at no cost to the public (other than the taxes some of us squawk about) are housed in a frame building which may be destroyed by fire at any time and which is so small that the display of all the books is impossible.

The county, Judge Hill points out, has room in "Courthouse Square" here for a lib. by building. The county also has a law library which should go into ry building, thus preserved and made accessible to all. And the thousands of youngsters and adults who need the knowledge and from drab surroundings and circumstances that are to be found in the election of members of the count ss. These thousands have a very urgent need for interest in the lit- county board of education to of the ages off-setting the too-prevalent interest in things not so good the method used prior to 1934

We need this now. Those to follow us will need it.

TWAS ALWAYS THUS

Politics in Kentucky, back in 1886, were not only "the damnedest," to quote Poet-Judge Mulligan—they were "Hel-En Blazes" in Floyd county.

N. M. (Bud) White supples us this week with two Prestonsburg newspapers, published, 'way back 54 years ago, to prove this statement. One of these census and registration lists in "organs" was known by that sulphuric title; the other was known as "The making the divisions, each of Campaign," but we gather that it should have been called "The Democrat."

D. K. (David Kelse) Harris, father of George Harris, was editor of both same population. publications, and he did what we would call a swell job of editing a political house-organ.

The Thirty-First judicial district then was the Sixteenth; and, besides Floyd er end of the county: Little Paint, and Knott counties, which compose the present district, it included Pike, Johnson, Lawrence, Boyd, Carter, etc.

Brief perusal of these two publications would indicate that they were published only for the duration of the campaign and mainly for the purpose of dent school district), Jack Allen and opposing one George N. Brown, who, being an office-holder of more than a Dwale score of years, was condemned by many as having "outlived his usefulness." At the same time, both papers were hot as "Hel-En Blazes" for Judge R. H. Weddington to succeed Brown.

In those days of "personal" journalism, when an editor was not considered Drift and Prater. a man with hair on his chest if he didn't get at least one horse-whipping a week or challenge some other editor to a duel with whatever weapons you prefer, suh, the two Prestonsburg publications upheld the proud tradition. There fer, suh, the two Prestonsburg publications upheld the proud tradition. There was no quibbling with Editor Harris in his expression of contempt for "The MINER DIES Democrat," an allegedly scurrilous sheet "inflicted" upon the unsuspecting residents of the district from Catlettsburg. Why, The Democrat was even charged with offering to say nothing, one way or the other, if so much was 'planked down." And the rates charged for political advertising by The Democrat, according to the Prestonsburg papers, was sump'n scand'lous. They asked $75 a column!

(THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES can't even get PROMISED that much!) The only advertising classed as such in the two newspapers were ads of John G. Johns, Prestonsburg merchant; B. B. Porter, Goodloe, physician and surgeon; F. H. Hopkins, Prestonsburg, furniture, etcetera; Harmon Harris, W. S. Harkins, Frank A. Hopkins, James Goble, R. S. Booton and R. S.

DELEGATES INSTRUCTED TO BACK FDR

DEMOCRATS IN MEET AT COURTHOUSE SATURDAY

President Roosevelt may not be drafted by the Democratic party for the Presidential nomination, but, if the party organizations of every county in the United States act as did Floyd county's here Saturday afternoon, he's going to have to say more than "I do not choose to run" to get out of undertaking that job.

Not only were the county's 40 delegates to the state convention at Louisville instructed to vote for FDR; the convention behaved as if favoring him for the nomination, even if it were for a thirty-term instead of a third term.

From the time that J. D. Fitzpatrick, county Democratic chairman, opened the meeting, and Atty J. W. Howard, Prestonsburg, made the first address, the temper of Floyd county Democrats was evident. Mr. Howard opened with a strong endorsement of the New Deal's founder and also pointed to the necessity of a strong defense program for the nation.

But the convention's interest in politics and President Roosevelt could not subdue that of those voicing their opinions in the national preparedness program. Practically every speaker stressed the need for preparing against

This Robin Hood of the clippers and shears has afforded us considerable "copy" and we've always treated the matter with a degree of levity.

But now it becomes serious—very serious. So grave has Bev's offense of "cutting hair without a license" become that a representative of the Attorney General's office makes a trip, all the way from Frankfort to Prestonsburg, to try to assist local authorities in defending the honor and dignity of the law.

So serious has become this case that it grows, as Lil Abner would describe it, "vurry, vurry pee-koolyar." "Pee-kool-yar," in that the Attorney General's office feels the urge to assist in prosecuting the footsore barber, though the same office never saw any need of helping to prosecute any of our murderers.

Alphoretta Miner Dies of Skull Fracture

Suffering a fractured skull when he was accidentally struck on the head ty a 50-pound block of coal tossed from a railroad car on June 18, George Pitts 40, Alphoretta, an employe of the Stephens-Elkhorn Coal Company, died at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, Friday

According to reports Albert Marshall neither of the men was aware of the presence of the other. Pitts was rushed to the hospital immediately after the accident.

The victim was the son of Mr. and Also surviving are his widow, Mrs. Susie Ousley Pitts; one son, Hermel Pitts, both of Alphoretta; four brothers and two sisters.

Funeral rites were conducted from the home Saturday afternoon, with the Rev. Hager Ousley officiating. Burial was made in the Click cemetery at Alphoretta, with the Ryan Funeral Home directing.

Fingerprint Threat Shoos Convicts Back to Pen

Threat of Special C. & O. Officer G. L. Gray, Allen, to fingerprint two men whom he had arrested at Alien for riding the "blinds" of a mail car led the prisoners to confess that they were wanted in North Carolina where they had been convicted of armed robbery and sentenced to 10-year prison terms.

Richard Hoyle, it was learned, had escaped from the state penitentiary at Raicigh, and his companion, Luther Pope, had been paroled but was wanted for parole violation.

North Carolina officers returned the two to Raleigh, Friday.

Since many cattle are killed by lightning, it is well to have wire fences grounded about every 40 rods, and also in corners where cattle tend to gather in a storm. If steel posts are used, the fence automatically is grounded.

AKERS KILLED BY TRAIN

FLOYD MAN'S BODY FOUND ON TRACKS AT WHITEHOUSE

Funeral services for Johnnie Akers, 25, of Offutt, son of Mrs. Bert Arnett, six miles south of Prestonsburg, and whose mangled body was found on the railroad tracks near Whitehouse, Johnson county, early Monday morning, were conducted from the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Laura Perry, at Offutt Tuesday afternoon, with the Rev. Ulysses Walters officiating.

The victim, after he had visited his mother Sunday, returned Sunday afternoon to the home of his grandmother, with whom he had been making his home. According to reports he and several other neighboring men attended services at a near-by church Gertrude Michael, John Lodge. Also Sunday night and while they were on their way home Akers sat down on the track and removed his shoes. The others did not wait for him and they went home. As far as is known they were the last to see him alive.

It is thought that the train struck Akers sometime between midnight and one o'clock Monday morning. No inquest of his death was held because of the inability to locate the Johnson county coroner when the body was found.

Besides his mother and grandmother the victim is survived by one halfbrother Clyde Akers, Paintsville, and four sisters, Mrs. Evelyn Stephens and Mrs. Ival Whitaker, both of Prestonsburg, and Misses Garnett and Laura Akers, both at home.

Burial was made in the family cemetery at Offutt, with the Arnold Funeral Home in charge.

Drift In Double Win From Wheelwright Sunday

The Drift baseball team came to life Sunday at Drift to defeat Wheelwright in a doubleheader, 9-8, and 16-0, in Beaver Valley League games. The first game was a see-saw affair with first one team and then the other being in the lead. Wheelwright entered the ninth inning with an 8 to 7 lead. Drift promptly loaded the bases on two singles and a walk, then Ken Myers drove a single into right field for two runs and the ball game. Fred McSurley was the winning pitcher, with Johnson the loser. The second game saw young Jim McDowell come through with a perfect seven inning game. Only 21 men faced the young twirler. Only one man reached base and he was walked, then a double play promptly erased him. While McDowell was holding the Wheelwrighters at bay, the Drift boys were pounding the offerings of four Wheelwright hurlers to all corners of the lot for 22 hits and 16 runs. Myers came thru with a homer and 'Cat" Shelton with a triple. Seven doubles also rolled off the Drift bats. Manager Ward Reed returned from Texas just before the start of the second game. He must have picked up some pointers from "Ole" Diz Dean and passed them on to young Jim McDowell-for his fast ball and sharp breaking curve had the Wheelwrighters swinging at the air.

McSurley pitched a better game than the score indicates. Five Drift errors accounts for several of Wheelwright's scores in the first game
