CITIZENS URGE AID BE SENT TO ALLIES

GERMAN AGGRESSION SCORED AT FORUM HELD HERE

Floyd county's first public forum for the discussion of an international situation was held at the courthouse here Thursday evening...

Result of sentiment of the forum, as evidenced by poll of the audience, was rushed to Congressman A. J. May, the following day...

The resolution adopted by the audience authorized Mr. Wheeler to inform Congressman May, chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee...

Though given little publicity, the hearing was attended by a crowd which filled the courtroom.

Mayor E. P. Arnold, of Prestonsburg, a Spanish-American War veteran, the first speaker, called for calm judgment during these critical days in world history.

DOUBLE SERVICE

That new Kiwanis sign on Court street serves two purposes: it attractively advertises Kiwanis and conceals an unsightly vacant lot.

"THEY'RE OFF!"

Given her first track workout in years was Will H. Layne's spirited 23-year-old last Sunday morning by two early risers or late stayers-uppers who evidently were trying to reenact a scene from the town's boss-racin' days of 50 years ago.

IN SPRING, OLD MAN'S FANCY, TOO, TURNS TOWARD LOVE!

Well before the expiration of that season of the year when the poet declared that a young man's fancy lightly turns to love, 84-year-old John Joseph, of West Prestonsburg, last Wednesday became a groom.

He claimed as his bride, Mrs. Willia Vaughan, 50, also of West Prestonsburg. The nuptial ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. G. R. Fannin at the home of Dr. M. T. Dotson, son-in-law of the groom.

Mr. Joseph had been a minister for 50 years, and is connected with the Holiness Church. His first wife died three years ago. The bride is the widow of James Vaughan.

The Rev. and Mrs. Joseph were spending their honeymoon in pioneer fashion this week hoeing corn on their Middle Creek farm.

W'WRIGHT GYM PLANS FOILED

BUDGET EXCEEDED BY BIDS FILED WITH BOARD

Because all bids far exceeded the budget outlined and approved by the state for the county board of education's building program this year, the proposed Wheelwright high school gymnasium instead will be included in next year's plans, it was decided by the board at the last regular meeting, June 1.

The board had budgeted $60,000 for both the gymnasium and the Allen graded school building, and the lowest bids on the two projects totaled almost $81,000. Construction of the Allen building was awarded to Joseph Reynolds on his bid of $32,367.

Although Wheelwright will not get the gymnasium this year, a two-story, seven-room structure will be built to lessen crowded conditions there. Expected to cost $16,000-$18,000 the building will be similar to the recently-completed arts and science building at Maytown.

Architects are now working on the plans and contract will be let July 6, Superintendent Hall said. Completion is expected by September.

117 Stitches Required To Close Jarvis' 13 Slashes

As he and his World War veteran brother who has been adjudged an incompetent struggled, Marion Jarvis, 35, was so badly slashed with a knife Saturday at his home on Home Branch of Buffalo, that 117 stitches were required to close his 13 wounds.

The fight started after Marion Jarvis is said to have engaged in an altercation with his wife, then with his mother as she sought to pacify him. When, according to this version of the fight, his brother, Grover, remonstrated against any trouble with his mother, Marion Jarvis swung a pistol butt against Grover's head.

Mr. and Mrs. Boone Hall, Wayland, were visitors here Monday.

MINER, KILLED IN ACCIDENT

CLYDE BOWLING, DRIFT, DIES INSTANTLY WEDNESDAY

Clyde L. Bowling, 25, Drift, was killed instantly at ten o'clock Wednesday morning when he was struck by a piece of slate in the Beaver Coal and Mining Company mine at Drift, where he was employed.

The accident occurred while Bowling and Ira Preston together were "drawing" slate, and Preston escaped injury by rolling himself out of the way after the fall started.

Bowling was the son of W. H. and Geneva Miller Bowling, of Richardson, Lawrence county, who survive. Also surviving are his widow, Mrs. Pauline Davis Bowling, and two small children, all of Drift.

The body was prepared by the Ryan Funeral Home and will be taken to Richardson Friday, where burial will be made in the family cemetery.

IT'S THE LAW--WATCH YOUR STEP!

One hundred and forty-six acts of the recent General Assembly, affecting labor, farmers, the soil, the aged, the blind, chain stores, snakes, "bank nights," and prospective mothers, became the law of the Commonwealth yesterday.

On that date--June 12--the necessary ninety-day interval from adjournment of the legislature on March 14 expired. Fifty-two other acts, bearing "emergency clauses," became effective upon the signature of Governor Johnson.

Several of the acts require Johnson to appoint boards and commissions, such as those to investigate farm tenancy problems and co-ordinate soil conservation work in the state.

Among those of greatest general importance are acts which: Increase the maximum on old-age pension monthly payments from $15 to $30.

Provide funds for operation of the teachers' retirement system, which begins benefit payments to teachers on July 1, 1942.

License chain stores at from $25 to $200 each.

Create soil conservation districts and a state soil conservation committee to administer land-saving regulations.

Require blood tests for syphilis of pregnant women.

32 NEW ROOMS FOR HOSPITAL INCLUDED BY DANIEL BUILDING PROGRAM STARTED HERE

One of Eastern Kentucky's finest hospitals is envisioned for Prestonsburg as workmen employed by Dr. D. H. Daniel are not only re-modeling the old Hereford residence in West Prestonsburg for use as a hospital but are at work on a 32-room annex to the original structure.

Some of the 10 rooms of the residence are being divided into wards, and the result of all this work is expected to be a hospital approximating 50 rooms.

The hospital will be equipped with a nursery, it is announced, and this is a hospital accommodation offered by few such institutions in Eastern Kentucky.

Bricklayers and carpenters numbering a dozen or more are making rapid progress on the new annex, it was said.

PRESTONSBURG CHILD, PNEUMONIA VICTIM

James Frederick, 11-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meece, of Prestonsburg, died Wednesday morning at the Paintsville hospital, a victim of pneumonia following an attack of scarlet fever.

The little victim was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Meece, and was a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Add Holbrook, of Middle Creek. The body was taken to the Holbrook home where funeral rites were held Thursday, the Rev. Campbell Jeffries, pastor of the Baptist Church here, officiating. Burial was made in the Holbrook cemetery under the direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

RURAL SCHOOLS OPEN JULY 8

TEACHER RETIREMENT REFUSAL DEADLINE SET AT JULY 1

Teachers hired by the county board of education at its meeting last week for service in rural schools were notified Wednesday that their schools will open July 8, two days earlier than last year's opening date.

The teachers were requested to attend the teacher meeting to be held here July 1, and were notified that textbooks would be issued by districts on the following dates:

Tuesday, July 2, to districts 1 to 40; July 3, to districts 41 to 71; Friday, July 5, to districts 72 to 99; July 6, to districts 99 to 118 and miscellaneous.

At the same time all teachers were given notice that, if they do not desire to have membership in the teachers' retirement system as provided at the 1940 session of the Kentucky General Assembly, they must file a statement declining such membership before July 1. Otherwise, each teacher hired automatically becomes a member.

DELAY OF DAM WORK SEEN

County officials here have been told on "good authority" that actual construction work on the Johns Creek dam may not be started until next year as the government this year turns its attention mainly to a gigantic defensive program.

Purchase of land to be affected by the dammed-up waters is expected to be begun soon, however. Money already has been allocated for this purpose, it was said.

Already approved by Congress and the Board of U. S. Army Engineers, the project, it was reported, will be under way next year, the huge expenditures planned for national defense postponing action only a year.

School Bus Takes Donors of Blood To Aid Neighbor

Fifteen neighbors and relatives of Charles Moore, prominent McDowell merchant, were rushed to the Martin General hospital Wednesday afternoon in a school bus as blood for a transfusion was deemed necessary to aid him in his battle for life.

Suffering from rheumatic fever, Mr. Moore was given a transfusion Tuesday. Dr. J. E. Allen, of the hospital staff, said he probably will need two transfusions a week.

Mr. Moore, owner of stores at McDowell, Clear Creek and Minnie, and a former stockholder in the Central Wholesale Grocery here, remained critically ill as this was written.

RATLIFF SURVIVES 60-FOOT FALL WITH MAST

Though he was within two feet of the top of a 60-foot mast to a drilling rig when it fell Friday afternoon on Johns Creek, William Ratliff, 25, Hueysville, lives to tell the tale.

He is recovering in the Methodist hospital, Pikeville. During the earthward plunge after one of the "legs" of the mast broke, Ratliff contrived to shift his position from the outside of the rig to the inside, thus saving himself from being crushed between the ground and the framework. He suffered broken wrists, a deep cut in his chin, the loss of several teeth and various bruises.

The drilling rig was being dismantled by Grant Horn and employees when the accident occurred.

LEGION NAMES MARSHALL

AS 1940 COMMANDER, COMMENDS MAY FOR STAND

Marvin Marshall, Water Gap, was elected and installed as commander of Floyd Post, American Legion, for 1940-41 at a meeting of the Post Saturday night at the courthouse.

A special meeting of the post will be held at the courthouse Saturday night, June 23, when members will arrange their activities in co-operation with other civic organizations for a Fourth of July celebration this year.

The new commander was authorized to commend by letter Congressman A. J. May for his stand and his activities in regard to the National Defense Program. The members went on record as favoring the sending of munitions, planes, guns and ammunition of all types to the Allies as rapidly as practicable.

Other officers of the post who were elected and installed were W. G. Africa, Adjutant; W. C. Rimmer, Finance Officer; J. B. Clarke, Service Officer; Sol Perry, Master at Arms; W. H. Wheeler, Historian; J. B. Clarke, Chaplain; Warren Hale, Child Welfare Officer.

The executive committee will be appointed at a later date.

Funeral Rites Held for Matthew Meadows, Of Brandy Keg

Funeral rites for Matthew Meadows, 74 years old, who died Wednesday, last week, at his home on Corn Fork of Brandy Keg Creek, near here, were conducted Friday, the Revs. Isaac Stratton and W. M. Dingus, officiating.

Burial was made in the Porter cemetery here under the auspices of Prestonsburg Lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows. The rites were conducted by the Arnold Funeral Home.

A native of Barren county, Mr. Meadows came to this county about 25 years ago. He had been a member of the Baptist Church for 49 years and was one of the county's best citizens. He also had been a member of the I. O. O. F., for more than a quarter of a century.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Elsa Margaret Eldridge Meadows, four sons and two daughters; Willie Meadows, West Prestonsburg; Mrs. Elizabeth Burchfield, Ironton, O.; Mrs. Lydia Hunt, James, Elliott and Henry Meadows, all of Lancer; two brothers, Pete and Henry Meadows, Petersburg, Ky., and two sisters, Mrs. Nancy Thacker and Mrs. Rebecca Stums, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Mrs. T. J. Puckett, 67, Myrtle, Dies After Long Illness

Mrs. T. J. Puckett, 67 years old, died at her home at Myrtle Sunday following a protracted illness.

She is survived by several children, among whom are Newt and Shelley Shepherd, McGuffey, Ohio, and Nero Shepherd, of Magoffin county--sons of her first marriage--and James Puckett, of Ohio. Mrs. Puckett was one of her community's best women. Funeral rites were conducted Monday and burial was made in the family cemetery under the direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

MORE THAN 400 FIND SCHOOL POSITIONS

NO CHANGES MADE IN HI SCHOOL PRINCIPALS

Three hundred seventy-four consolidated and rural teachers for the 1940-41 school term were hired Friday evening by the Floyd County Board of Education at a meeting which had been adjourned from the last regular meeting which was held on the previous Saturday. This, with the exception of the Prestonsburg High school instructors, who will be hired as soon as the county and city boards can get together, completes the Floyd county teaching personnel for the coming year.

Sixteen teachers for the Prestonsburg graded school already had been hired by the City Board of Education May 17, and seven vocational agriculture, building and trades, and home economics teachers were employed by the County Board of Education at its regular May meeting.

According to the list released by County Superintendent Town Hall all principals of Floyd county high schools hold their positions next year. Major changes are confined to coaches, several of whom were shifted. Everett Hall, who coached at Auxier last year, was hired at Maytown, replacing Joe Dyer, who was hired as a high school instructor at Garrett. Hall's place at Auxier was taken by Chalmers Frazier, who was at Martin last year. H. H. Vincent, coach at Martin several years ago, again fills the vacancy. Other coaching positions remain the same, with Wiley Jones at Wayland; Dave Leslie at Betsy Layne; Bill Mayo at Garrett; Clive Akers at McDowell and Ed Leslie at Wheelwright. Walter Price handled the coaching duties at Wheelwright the latter part of last year, while Leslie was in the state legislature.

The list of consolidated teachers follows: AUXIER

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

"SIGHT UNSEEN"

The phrase "sight unseen" may sound queer to you, or it may bring up memories of days when you tried your luck at various kinds of trading. It referred to a practice of exchanging something without having seen it. Sometimes it meant just the taking of some one's word for it, a species of trust that all of us have had some experience with, life insurance, for instance. But ordinarily it meant taking a chance that your friend who had something to sell or exchange would trick you if he could and preferred not to show you the article that you wanted. One particular phase of this skin-game was what we called "throwing knives." You closed your fingers around the knife that you wished to exchange and extended your hand to the other fellow, who had carried out the same ceremony. Sometimes you got stung, or else he did. There used to be rigmorles about knives that meant that the object in question had a blade or two and whole handles, but I somehow have forgotten this little rhyme or saying. It was a species of gambling, and the boys knew it, too. They enjoyed it all the more for being naughty in this fashion without being arrested or even scolded. Some of the knives or other objects that were thus passed around would form a fine museum today, for I can testify to having seen some very queer ones, minus handles, blades, and everything else.

Now this was boys' play and is not to be confused with another type of "sight unseen" trading, such as went on at the county seat on county court days. It is true that most of the objects being traded were on hand, with their ears flopping in the breeze, but their demerits were carefully concealed. No law, apparently, could touch these same traders, even though people who had been taken in often wished to call on all the powers that be to tar and feather the trickster who got rid of the blind mule by such lying arts. To save my life I do not know whether people trade so well as formerly. I know that mules are bought and sold by the dozens now, but the whole matter is such a business.

ness proposition that I fear there is small room for "sight unseen" processes. Now as to second-hand automobiles,—but I am supposed to be writing about ancient and mediaeval history.

When I have seen the acquirements of some of my contemporaries, especially in partners and houses and other things that are supposed to indicate good trading ability, I sometimes wonder whether "sight unseen" trading has been going on. My great-uncle was a first-rate lodge man and took his secret society very seriously. From his meager earnings as a country doctor who owned a large household to feed and dress he sneaked five or ten dollars to buy a pin, "pure gold," said the jeweler. When it came, he wore it with a look somewhat like that of the fabled cat that ate the canary. One of his poorest and, therefore, most independent clients, met him on the road and engaged in conversation about the weather and politics and such like. Noticing the pin, he asked, "Where'd you get 'er, Doc; out of a prize box?" All of the superciliousness that the country doctor had built up melted instantly; the rustic, who had lived his life pretty largely on "sight unseen" philosophy, had punctured a rather obvious bubble. (After I wrote this, I realized that my figures were badly scrambled; they are too well understood for me to unscramble them now. It would be too unfair to the philosophy I have been discussing to "rue back" after a trade is made).

Auxier Trounces Martin, 11-4, Sunday

The Martin team of the Beaver Valley Baseball League dropped its second game of the season Sunday afternoon, bowing to Auxier, 11-4, on the Auxier field.

Although they collected 11 hits, the Beaver boys were unable to bunch them effectively, and several of their errors contributed heavily to Auxier's scoring.

Martin scored four runs in the first stanza, but their lead was short-lived. They failed to threaten seriously thereafter.

Coal Run Ky. (Spl.)—Claude Smith came through with another shut-out Sunday, defeating Drift, 6-0, and pulling the Coal Run Colts within a half game of first place in the Beaver Valley "B" League. Smith has pitched two shut-outs for the Colts this season.

Both teams did good hitting, but the outfielders just wouldn't let the balls go over their heads. With Drift runners on second and third in the fifth, Dave Blackburn backed up to the fence and pulled down Blackburn's fly. Blackburn, Drift centerfielder, robbed Coal Run of several hits with his un-

TRAVEL BULLETIN TODAY'S ROADS

Prepared By Eastern Kentucky Automobile Club

"WAY OUT WEST"

The motion picture "Stagecoach," with its stupendous scenic views of northern Arizona, has been credited with being responsible for the many visitors to that section of the state. At a point where Arizona melts into Utah, halfway between Kayenta and Mexican Hat, there is to be found a scenic area so remarkable as to excite the imagination of the most world-wide traveler. This area is known as Monument Valley. Fantasies of form and color, huge spires and totem pole formations, gigantic castle-like crags, amphitheatres scooped into sandstone cliffs and natural bridges rising abruptly and without apparent reason form the valley floor, create never-to-be-forgotten vistas.

Casting its eerie shadows many miles in length as evening shadows are drawn, Monument Valley proves an interesting and mysterious magnet to those who care to leave beaten and well-traveled trans-continental routes in search of the unusual. From Kayenta's first monuments of the valley are to be seen within 15 miles, but to explore the valley in its entirety brings the real joy of the trip.

Newest of these groups is Fuzigoot National Monument. Long before the coming of the white man to the southwest an ancient civilization flourished in the valley which, according to archaeologists, was about the middle of the tenth century. This area was abandoned about one hundred years before Columbus started his historic voyage to the new world. Disease and hostile tribes combined to drive these prehistoric people from the territory, their story left unrecorded and untold until 1933 when the spade of the archaeologist uncovered the ruins. Fuzigoot, because of its closeness to a fine paved highway, attracts an ever-increasing number of visitors each year. PLEASANT JOURNEYS!

SUIT FILED TO TEST ACT SPLITTING SCHOOL DISTRICTS

Frankfort, Ky., June 6—Test suit for clarification of a school law passed in the confusion of the last night of the General Assembly was filed in Franklin circuit court today.

The suit, filed by Odie Snelling as a Frankfort citizen, contended the law is void because it is "garbled," nonsensical and incapable of being interpreted. State officials said they believed the act intended to divide county school districts into divisions, but confusion arose from the use of the words "district" and "division."

At the same time, Franklin County School Superintendent Roy True asked all other county superintendents for $5 each to meet attorney fees and court costs for the suit.

The petition asked a restraining order against proposed division of Franklin county into five sections from which school board members are to be elected under the act.

True's letter said, "It was agreed at a meeting recently held at the office of State Superintendent John W. Brooker that this expense of testing the law should be borne by the county school boards of the state."

THE CRY OF THE LOCUSTS

(THE TIMES during the last two weeks has received several contributions discussing the "Seventeen-Year" locust, and we have chosen the following as the most meritorious of the group. The author states, in a footnote, that his contribution is offered only as a legend of his own creation.—Editor.)

When Pharaoh persecuted the children of Israel even as they are being persecuted today by Hitler, the Lord God visited upon Egypt, Pharaoh's land, plagues in succession. Famine visited the land. Death visited each door unadorned by the blood of a lamb. The locusts came by the millions and thrived on every vestige of vegetation.

The Bible tells the story. The full story of the plague of locusts is not told, however.

King of all he surveyed, master of the bit of creation beyond which he could not see and wot little of, the Pharaoh cursed and reviled the locusts and the Power that had sent them upon his land. His slaves he sent out, armed with clubs to beat them from every branch. "Kill them, everyone of them!" he ordered.

Yet the locusts thrived. They remained as a scourge to harass and plague Egypt's king and his minions. And they remained till the children of Israel fled the land.

All this time while Egypt was being preyed upon by the pests, the locusts remained silent . . . eating . . . eating, living off the growing things in a land that now is a land of antiquity, belonging to the entombed dead almost as much as it does to the living.

As the Israelites fled Pharaoh's wrath, the locusts ceased their ceaseless gnawing, turned to watch in deathly silence from their perches of deadened leaves and branches.

And not till the children of Israel had crossed the Red Sea was their silence broken. Then, as Pharaoh and his host were engulfed in the pent-up waters, the persecutors sent by the Lord God broke into their taunting chant — "Phar-a-oh, Phar-a-oh" — a chant that has been repeated down the centuries by the locusts to remind man of the folly of grandeur's dreams.

THE 'CARNIVALS'

This newspaper last week gave a hearty welcome to the news-story appearing in its columns, telling of the Martin-Beaver Co-Operative Business Association's protest to the "invasion" of Martin and all Beaver Creek by what we call "carnivals."

THE TIMES was tempted to publish this protest of the Martin-Beaver group as an editorial. But it refrained from doing so, simply because a "carnival" was already here, here under the sponsorship of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club which thus was making an effort to raise funds for the construction of a cabin for the Prestonsburg Boy Scouts.

This newspaper had, for the moment, nothing to offer the Kiwanis Club that would raise, in any other manner, these funds. And it respected, and still respects, that civic organization. Wherefore, there existed an editorial silence.

Now that the Roman holiday of a "carnival" here has passed, now that the Boy Scouts have derived every cent they will get from the proceeds of that "carnival," funds certainly to be spent in a good and worthy cause, THE TIMES can speak its mind without injuring anybody but these "carnivals" that, fly-by-night, rove the hinterlands and exact every red cent the said hinterlands can supply them.

Now we would ask that this community take stock of itself and try to ascertain how much it profited "in the long run" or how much it lost from this self-styled amusement center. And take stock, also, you citizens, on how much was offered the community in return for what was taken.

First of all, there is the economic loss this community has sustained. Some of the restaurants may have profited, but only a few. These restaurants may have helped one or two grocery stores. But business in general suffered and will suffer for several weeks as the result of the money the "carnival" took out of town.

Next, these "carnivals" furnish the "cheapest" form of entertainment. And by "cheapest" we do not mean the form of entertainment lowest in price. It is the lowest in the order of entertainment. Strip-tease acts. "Gyp" games. Hangers-on who, for the most part, are definite liabilities to whatever community they happen to inhabit. No age-limit placed for boys as the tent-flaps open to "young and old alike" to display nudity in the female form. Gambling games that defame even the would-be gamblers who are "sucked in," since there is no gamble to it—it is all a cut-and-dried proposition which dooms the sucker to a "cleaning" even as he enters the game.

This newspaper trusts the Boy Scouts gained enough money through the "carnival" here to make their cabin possible. If they did not, THE TIMES sincerely hopes that some money-raising device other than another "carnival" may be called to their aid.

FAITH, HOPE AND CHARITY

Another list of contracts for Kentucky highway work was released this week.

And Left Beaver Creek's road in which this newspaper for many long months has been interested was not on the list.

Yet we are not without hope. We still hope that Left Beaver's highway which means so much to Floyd county and all Eastern Kentucky will be "let" to contract. We still believe Highway Commissioner Justice was sincere when he recently re-iterated the promise of work on this important route, this year.

But—hope and faith will be lost, unless something definite is forthcoming.

All, then, that will be left to us and the section we attempt to represent will be CHARITY.

WE ARE HOPEFULLY GRATEFUL

Aside from all our economic interests, THE TIMES will be deeply gratified when, and if, the Middle Creek section of this county benefits from the development currently predicted.

For, if that section does become Floyd county's newest coal field, and if the highway from Salyersville across the mountain and down Middle Creek is completed, this will be but recompense for all the years this valley, rich in soil and other natural resources, has suffered for lack of a highway and other development.

To consider the Middle Creek field from the business viewpoint only, THE TIMES would predict that it will, if these developments are not born of "full cloth," become Floyd county's center of industrial activity.

Now, if Johns Creek, the abode of those other "forgotten men" of Floyd county, receives the attention due it, we will be doubly indebted to this age of progress when no place under the sun is barren and worthless.

not only has the church lost its power, but the religion of the member is open to criticism.

As many homes are being broken from drunkenness, adultery and gambling, along with greed, jealousy and covetousness, we need to return to Jehovah, our God, or a greater calamity will befall this city than fell upon Sodom and Gomorrah in the days of Lot.

I have learned to love the people of this city as a minister and a friend; but I realize that God is living, and man must pay for sin. I would be unfair to my convictions, to my God, to my duty, and to you, my fellowmen, if I failed to warn you of the eternal hell awaiting you if you continue to live for the devil. This is the only way I have of reaching many of you for my God; and I am praying for myself first—and, then, for each family in this entire city. Please turn to God while you have opportunity, for some day, it will be too late.

Your friend,
CAMPBELL JEFFRIES.

Seventeen-Year Locusts

BY ROGER BARBOR
Morehead State Teachers' College
Morehead, Ky.

In the beginning let me state that the seventeen-year locust is not a true locust at all, but is a cicada. The true locusts are those little brown insects we commonly call grasshoppers. The seventeen-year locust is very unlike the true locusts and is very closely related to the jar-fly. In the north the seventeen-year locust remains underground during that period, while in the south another group remains underground for thirteen years. A line drawn from Cape Charles, Va., to Southern Kansas would practically separate the two types. In some localities confusion arises from the fact that the insects occur in shorter intervals than seventeen years. This is accounted for by the fact that there are several distinct broods, some of which overlap, thus making it appear that the insects appear at shorter intervals than seventeen or thirteen years. There is no evidence to prove that the length of life of the locust is less than seventeen years.

The eggs of the insect are laid with the aid of a process called an ovipositor within small twigs and branches. Many twigs are thus damaged, this being practically the only damage done by the insect. The young ant-like larvae hatch from the eggs within a few weeks, falls from the limb and quickly burrows into the ground. There they form a little chamber for themselves, and remain there, moving very slowly for 17 years. The larvae sheds their skin four times during this period. The front legs of the larvae are curiously modified for digging and transporting earth. The food consumed by the larvae is probably obtained from the soil humus and small roots. After the changes to the pupal condition, the insect burrows to the surface of the ground and crawls up the trunk of a tree. While there it's skin splits down the middle of the back of the locust's form and the adult insect emerges.

There is a superstition existing that says the well-marked "W" on each wing of the locust is an omen signifying war. Those marks have been there as long as there have been seventeen-year locusts. It means nothing. Incidentally, only the male insect sings.

MRS. BRALLEY IS WED TO DR. WELLS

Announcement is made of the marriage on Tuesday, June 4, at Martin, Ky., of Mrs. Irene C. Bralley and Dr. Edmond D. Wells. The nuptial vows were read by the Rev. C. C. Newsome, of the Methodist Church, at 10 a. m. in the home of the bride, and in the presence of a few intimate friends.

Mrs. Wells was dressed in a black-and-white ensemble. Her attendant was her sister, Mrs. Helen C. Kabler, Bluefield, W. Va. Dr. Malcolm Anderson, Martin, was best man.

The bride is well-known in Eastern Kentucky social circles, for her hospitality as a hostess as well as for the charm of her personality. Dr. Wells, a native of Mt. Sterling, Ky., is ear, eye, nose and throat specialist on the staff of the Beaver Valley hospital at Martin, and has been a U. S. government expert in this field. Before coming to this county a few months ago, he was connected with the staff of the Florida State hospital.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

The new maximum pension law of $30 a month is supposed to go into effect on June 12, ninety days after the close of the Legislative session, but it actually will go into effect July 1, the new fiscal year, when the million dollar extra appropriation is allotted for it.

Numerous things affect this appropriation, however, so it actually will not be operating until about the first of October.

In the first place, if the law sponsored by the American Legion, giving aid to dependent children and the indigent blind, is declared constitutional, that will take up $500,000, or half of the appropriation. This law was not advertised as required by the Secretary of State, and it may not be effective until the next Legislature passes it.

There are now approximately 7,000 persons who have been checked and are eligible for pensions who are not receiving them because of limited funds in the present appropriation. These persons will be added before any increase in the present pensions are made.

The Governor, adhering closely to his economy program, will not permit any new workers to be added to the staff of the Old Age Assistance department, and the present workers have approximately 200 cases each to check. This will take some months in deciding who deserves an increase.

Last month 47,838 persons received $416,442.75, or an average of a little more than $8.70 each. When the 7,000 more eligibles are added, it will make 55,000 who will be receiving pensions, and the extra million will average an added $18.18 a year to be matched by eventual extra $3.03 average increase in pensions.

There have been many jobholders released here in Kentucky from their state positions. A small part of this is for economic reasons, but most of it has a political aspect, as many new people will fill their places who are more acceptable to the present machine.

The Democratic committee meets the 20th of June and probably set the date of the last Saturday in June for the Democratic county conventions and the first Tuesday in July for the state convention.

17-Year Locusts Injuring Trees

The 17-year locust again is injuring trees and shrubs in Kentucky, especially in the eastern and central parts of the state, according to Prof. W. A. Price, entomologist at the University of Kentucky Experiment Station.

The pest injures trees not by feeding on them but by puncturing stems, twigs and branches when laying eggs. This causes the limbs to break. Large trees may recover from such damage, but small trees may be ruined.

One form of protection, especially for small trees and shrubs, consists of wrapping the entire plant with cheesecloth, leaving it loose enough to permit proper growth.

While spraying large trees is not feasible, Prof. Price recommends for small trees and shrubs applications of 40 per cent nicotine sulphate, one pint to 50 gallons of water in which two pounds of soap have been dissolved. The insects are killed when hit with this poison, which should be sprayed on several times.

Minister Address Christians of Prestonsburg

"Guard France! In the service of God and man, let your spirit lead to Christian victory," says Ambassador William Bullitt in his latest speech.

The world is suffering today in a great crisis of right and wrong, with the Christian church at stake. I am taking this opportunity to speak to Christian people of Prestonsburg, as it is impossible for a message from God to reach the majority of people from the pulpit.

Friends, your vote is against the church, and the rule of the living God on earth today; for, by your indifference in attendance, you voice your attitude toward Jesus Christ. The church is slipping, and when a church member on Sunday evening passes a church to go to a motion picture show,

AND FORCES VAN LEAR FROM TOP RUNG OF LEAGUE LADDER

Collecting 37 hits in both games Wayland captured a doubleheader from Van Lear, 7-3 and 12-1, at Wayland Sunday afternoon, dropping the former Big Sandy League leaders from top position to a tie with the winners for second place.

At the end of nine innings of the opener the teams were tied, 4-4. Wayland won the game in the last of the 12th inning, when Willard Ratliff, left fielder for the winners, slammed a home run with two on base. Ray Patton, pitching for Wayland, allowed seven hits, while his mates were pounding the slants of Lambert for 18.

Marks and Frady led the Wayland hitters in the first game, each making four safeties, and "Big" Jess Ratliff was close behind, with three. Branham hit a home run and a single. Ray Patton, who pitched the first game for the winners, was credited with 11 strike-outs.

Wayland used V. Patton and Rollins in the pitcher's box during the second game, with Rollins given credit for the win. Van Lear's lone run was forced when Patton walked a man with the bases loaded. The father-son combination of Jess, Ratliff, Sr., and Jess Ratliff, Jr., came through with four-baggers for the winners, with "Big" Jess making three other safeties. Frady, alternating at short-stop and third base for Wayland, and Baird, Catcher, each collected three hits.

ALLEN TAKES DOUBLEHEADER

FROM PIKEVILLE, 8-3 AND 11-0, TO RISE IN STANDINGS

By capturing both ends of a double-header: from Pikeville in the Allen park Sunday afternoon, the Allen team of the Big Sandy League moved from seventh place to tie with Clear Creek for fifth, while Pikeville was dropped to seventh.

Although out in the opener, 13-12, Allen made the most of their safeties and won the game, 8-3. Sherman was on the mound for the winners, and he scattered Pikeville's hits effectively. Prater, with a triple and two singles, and Buck Stumbo, with a home run and a single, led the winners' power attack. Hall made three singles for Allen.

Setting down nine on strikes and limiting Pikeville to six hits, Buck Stumbo, pitching for Allen in the second game, experienced little trouble in white-washing the Big Sandy boys, 11-0. He also shone at the plate, collecting four safeties in five trips to the plate. George Stumbo came through with a double and two singles, while Mosley hit a four-bagger and a single, and Ted Stumbo made a double and a single for the winners.

Sunday afternoon Allen will play Pikeville a return engagement on the Pikeville diamond.

BONDED Kentucky Par A PROVEN PRODUCT OF RENOWNED QUALITY Priced within the Reach of All. REMEMBER, NO BETTER WHISKEY CAN BE MADE. HUGHES DRUG STORE, Prestonsburg, Kentucky

CLEAN UP OR Close Up!

THE great majority of beer retailers in Kentucky are respectable and law-abiding citizens. But there are a few whose places and business conduct are not only a nuisance to their own communities and to the entire state, but a discredit to the beer industry as well.

For all too long these undesirables have used the privileges of their retail beer licenses to cloak illegal practices or anti-social activities. Their disregard for the law is opposed to the public welfare and casts an unfavorable reflection on an industry which pours into the treasury of this state well over $1,000,000 in taxes each year, employs approximately 15,000 workers and has an annual pay roll of approximately $10,000,000.

Now the time for "Clean Up or Close Up!" action has come!

To this end, the Kentucky Brewers and Beer Distributors Committee has recently been formed, and will seek the cooperation of the overwhelming majority of Kentucky's law-abiding beer retailers, the further to protect them from the menace of law-violating outlets. It is an organization which means business; an organization that is determined to cooperate fully with state and local law enforcement bodies in keeping the retailing of beer as wholesome as the beverage itself; an organization pledged to preserve for the citizens of Kentucky the economic and social benefits which accrue from the sale of beer.

The Committee is a self-regulatory organization which proposes prompt action against law-breaking beer outlets by seeking from local law enforcement officials revocation of licenses where sufficient evidence of law violation exists.

Already the Attorney General of Kentucky has ruled that it is legally permissible under the laws of Kentucky, for Committee members to shut off the supply of beer from law-violating retail outlets. The Committee hopes it will not be forced to invoke this drastic measure, but stands ready to do so if necessary.

Such a program merits the support of every clear-thinking, civic-minded Kentuckian. YOU can cooperate by patronizing only those retail beer outlets which are conducted in accord with the public sentiment in your community, and by reporting to the Committee any conditions which seem to warrant correction.

FRANK E. DAUGHERTY Former Attorney General of Kentucky, jurist and legislator, appointed State Director of the Kentucky Brewers and Beer Distributors Committee, with full power to enforce its program.

P'BURG SPLITS TWO GAMES

WITH CLEAR CREEK, 7-3, AND 4-6, SUNDAY

After dropping Clear Creek, 7-3, in 10 innings in the opening game Sunday afternoon, Prestonsburg was nipped, 6-4, in the seven-inning night-cap to split their first doubleheader of the current Big Sandy League campaign. The games were played on the Clear Creek diamond.

In the lid opener Clear Creek took a one-run lead in the third, and Prestonsburg knotted the count in the fifth. The local team scored two more in the sixth and went out in front, 3-1. Clear Creek pushed another run across in the eighth, and knotted the count by scoring one in the last of the ninth. A four-run uprising in the first of the tenth clinched the victory for Prestonsburg.

Thompson, pitching for Prestonsburg, allowed the losers nine hits, while his mates were clipping Henry Stumbo, on the mound for Clear Creek, for 15. Thompson struck out nine and Stumbo whiffed eight.

Adrian Collins, with a double and a pair of singles, and Roark, who collected three singles, led the winners at the plate. For Clear Creek E. Johnson made a double and two singles.

The second game, which by agreement went only seven innings, saw Prestonsburg go into a two-run lead in the opening round. Clear Creek tied it up in the third, before Prestonsburg counted two more in the fourth. The winners added another in the fifth, then three more in the sixth, giving them a 6-4 lead. Prestonsburg was unable to score in their half of the seventh.

Woods, in left field for Prestonsburg, led his mates at bat, with three singles to his credit. George Newman, pitching for Clear Creek, struck out eight of the Prestonsburg hitters. Castle started for Prestonsburg and was relieved by Buchanan in the sixth.

Sunday afternoon Prestonsburg will be host to the same team in a single game.

any too frisky till her riders began jarring her nerves with welkin-smashing yells of "Hi-yo Silver!" Then—"Awa-ay!" in what can't be described exactly as a long, easy lope.

HITLER, THE MAN-BEAST
"Even the Bible accuses Hitler," we are told. We are asked to read Chapter 13, Verse 18 of the Book of Revelations, which reads:

"Here is wisdom. Let him that hath understanding count the number of the beast; for it is the number of a man; and his number is six hundred and sixty-six."

Having read that, let the first letter of the alphabet be represented by the number, 100; the second, by 101, and so on. Using that key, you'll arrive at the following answer:

- H—107
I—108
T—119
L—111
E—104
R—117

Total: Hitler 666, the man, the beast of Revelations

TRAFFIC LESSON

A certain motorist there was who saw a lowly terrapin on the highway ahead of him. The motorist swerved his car to run the plodding one down, forgot everything but that ugly creature ahead—and wound up in the ditch, his automobile badly damaged, his feelings more than somewhat ruffled.

Being "under the influence," he felt like having his "say." And he did. He crawled out from under the wheel, walked back to where the terrapin was still ambling across the road.

The terrapin promptly ducked his head back inside his shell. Quoth the irate driver: "Here you are, inchin' along on your way to water, takin' your time, and you know that a fellow has to have water in order to live. And here I am, runnin' like hell to get some more fire-water that not only isn't necessary to life but may actually cause my death. I wonder which has the more sense, you or fellows like me.

"Pokin' along here in this traffic, you may get mashed to pieces, any minute. And the same thing may happen to me travelin' faster.

"But, as I see it, one poor fool will get his, takin' it easy, while the other is runnin' his fool head off to get the same thing.

"If the fellow had an airplane, he could break his neck in peace without havin' to be bothered with slow-pokes like you!"

THE REAL THING NEEDED

Fevin's sake! Governor Johnson has started naming Kentucky Colonels again! The only way under the sun that a man should be able to earn that distinction from the rest of us is in actual military service in behalf of his country. Then, except in the eyes of some of our "Fifth Columners," they would have a title that really means something.

NOTE TO ROSCOE HOWARD, (Veterans' hospital, Huntington, W. Va.): The information you requested on the 17-year locust is being printed this week as a special favor to you and the other Floyd countians with you.

MAN OF IRON

Those of us who can remember back to the day when we were married and how jittery we were will marvel at the man. The man is Dr. Edmond Wells, of the Beaver Valley hospital staff. What did he do? Nothing—except perform two operations on the morning of June 4, slip out and get married, then return to the hospital and do five more operations.

Wonder if his patients knew of the strain he was working under?

Mrs. Ava Tackett, 29, Drift, Dies After Operation

Mrs. Ava Tackett, 29, wife of Jay Tackett, Drift, succumbed at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, this morning (Thursday) at 8:30 o'clock, following an operation for goiter.

The victim was the daughter of Basil and Mrs. Rhoda Tackett, of Craynor, who survive, and she had been in declining health for the past year.

Also surviving are three brothers, Andy Lee and Evan Tackett, both of Craynor, and Bert Tackett, McDowell; two sisters, Mrs. Virgie Reynolds, McDowell, and Miss Edna Tackett, Craynor.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed this morning. Burial will be made Saturday in the Roberts Cemetery at Craynor, with the Ryan Funeral Home directing.

and I could not make one otherwise." He pleaded the cause of Christianity in a world gone mad. "I do believe that, if the Allies win, dictatorships will be set back 150 years," he added, condemning Hitler and his theory.

Discussing the extension of credit to the Allies, Atty. Leroy Combs said that only the mobilization of this country's mechanical genius can help those attacked by Hitlerian forces. "I can't understand," he added, "how the Allies, knowing surely of the making of that German war machine, could have let them slip up on them as they have."

Mr. Combs called to the attention of the audience, also, that the Allies have in this country approximately $21,000,000 in credit—gold investments and other resources—and gave as his decision the statement that "I believe it advisable to repeal either the Neutrality or the Johnson Acts at this time, inasmuch as the Allies have used only about $1,000,000 of the credit they have in this country of $21,000,000. When Allied reserves here are exhausted, repeal of the Neutrality and Johnson Acts would be advisable."

Atty. Joe Hobson, Prestonsburg, gave added impetus to the Allied cause as the meeting progressed. He did not mince words. "If the Johnson Act had not been passed," he declared, "this war, I believe, would not have been going on today. If we had, from the very outset, let Hitler know that we would supply Britain and France with all we could give them, he would have moved mighty slow. We are not neutral, never have been—and, I hope, never will be. We merely are non-belligerent."

Opposing the release of any of this country's old war machinery, Atty. Oscar P. Bond, Prestonsburg, declared that the country is not prepared at this time to fight anything.

Making short shrift of his subject, "Should We Endeavor to Purchase Certain Islands from France and England in Return for Payment of Money Due or To Become Due Us?" Atty. Woodrow Burchett aligned all he had to say strictly and unequivocally on the side of the Allies. "Our line of defense is that of the Allied armies in France, wherever it happens to be now," he asserted. "I personally am in favor of the Cash and Carry Plan, if they have any. And, if they don't have cash, let 'em carry all they (the Allies) want away."

"I favor helping the cause of democracy with money and planes," said Ishmael H. Triplett, superintendent of Prestonsburg schools. Though he discussed a question that has attracted the interest of most of this country's people, and though he possessed material at hand which was unimpassioned, Mr. Triplett added, "And I am not opposed to Congress passing a law permitting any of our soldiers who may want to become soldiers of fortune to go across and help the Allies."

Former County Attorney Joe P. Tackett, himself a World War veteran, discussed the question of the national government calling its Reserve Corps, consisting entirely of men of previous training, some of whom saw World War service, for intensive training over a period of from three to six months.

in this peaceful meeting what I want to say," he said, "for I held the same rank in our United States Army in the World War as Hitler held in the enemy army. And my humble advice is: change from our policy of peaceful persuasion to one of armed strength which will defy attack. I would give the Allies everything they need, even if they never pay a cent. I would rather give them $10,000,000 than one young American. What benefit is our wealth if security and peace are lost?" Last of the forum's speakers was County Agent S. L. Isbell, who, though expressing an earnest desire for Allied victory, struck at the core of last year's and this year's world hostilities. Mr. Isbell struck out at America's aloofness following the last World War and the country's failure to enter the League of Nations. "The saddest part of it, as I see it," Mr. Isbell concluded, "is, we are all steamed up tonight to destroy Hitler. Yet, when it's all over, we may turn our backs on the whole affair and leave the world to another bloody war, perhaps another 20 years from now." Under the direction of Jesse Elliott, Martin, Betsy Layne and Prestonsburg high school band members rendered patriotic selections. Mrs. Chalmers Frazier led the audience, at the beginning of the meeting inside the courtroom, in the singing of "America."
