COLE PREFERS DEATH TO ARREST

FUGITIVE IS SUICIDE WHEN SURROUNDED BY OFFICERS

Dingess Cole, who shot and killed his brother-in-law three years ago with a shotgun, turned the same type of weapon upon himself late Friday to end his life as he was surrounded by federal agents, state highway police and local officers at Melvin.

The youthful desperado, a fugitive since he escaped jail here on August 16, 1937, was also sought in a kidnaping charge. A hurriedly-scribbled note tossed from an auto at Ratliff's Camp, south of Pikeville, last Thursday night, by Mrs. Anna Post, wealthy Alexandria, Pa. woman, who claimed that Cole had kidnaped her from her home and had forced her to drive him to this county, put the officers on the fugitive's trail.

They cornered him in the home of Tilden Jones at Melvin and demanded his surrender. Told that he would die rather than submit to arrest, the officers closed in and as a highway patrolman stepped to a window of the home both barrels of a shotgun roared as one blast. Cole was found lying on the floor, a gaping hole in his chest.

The fugitive, a man of about 26 years, died at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, Sunday.

The officers found the home deserted except for the man they sought. Conscious for some time after the shooting, Cole was quoted by officers as having told them that he returned to Kentucky to kill two more men. Asked why he shot himself, he replied, "I knew I had to die, anyhow."

Since fleeing the county since he and Warnie Slusher escaped jail here, Cole had been employed on the farm of Mrs. Post at Alexandria, Pennsylv.

This Town... That World

HIGH COST OF LIVING TOGETHER

The high cost of living is almost as heavy-handed as the high cost of living together, these days. That young couple who wanted a bit of marrying near here recently found that the preacher's fee was a dollar. Add that dollar onto $5.50 for a marriage license and you've started pinching some folks. They just couldn't pay that much, and the minister, regretting all that, explained to them that he had to mail in their marriage license to the County Clerk, which took at least three cents.

But love will find a way. And so, along in the afternoon, back came the young man and that girl friend of his whom he expects to make his mortal enemy for life. And they inform the minister that all is well financially. So the preacher ties the well-known knot.

Then they pay him—exactly one nickel. They figure that, if the marriage license mailing costs only three cents that's enough—and the minister figures he has been flambozoled or sump'n, since he has only two cents left, not enough to mail in that next marriage license that may come a-thirstin' for execution.

CORRECTED WE ARE

THE TIMES stands corrected. There is no politics visible to the naked eye in the Board of Education races in Floyd county this year.

FARRINGTON IS SPEAKER

AS BUSINESS MEN, FARMERS JOIN IN BANQUET

O. M. Farrington, Lexington, head state executive officer of the Agricultural Conservation Program, was the principal speaker at a farmer-business men banquet held at the Auxier hotel Friday evening. Other speakers were Mayor E. P. Arnold, Prestonsburg, Joe Harkins, Jr., Leroy Combs, County Agent S. L. Isbell, Woodrow Burchett and the Rev. W. B. Garriott.

Mayor Arnold welcomed the farmers as guests of the business men and said he hoped it was only the beginning of many get-togethers when the problems of the farmers and business men would be discussed with a resultant benefit to everyone.

"I never realized until I visited the Fair today," he said, "just how much the farmers of Floyd county are accomplishing. We must all realize the backbone of any nation is the farmers."

The Mayor did some reminiscing about his experiences in Floyd county telling about how when he came here 30 years ago, travel over the county was difficult and required weeks as against hours at the present time. "It is up to all of us to realize and take advantage of present-day opportunities," he said, "and those of us who do not will be left behind."

COLLINS DIES BY KNIFE

2ND MAN MAY DIE, RESULT OF DRIFT KNIFE FIGHT

Jealousy impelled Cecil Newsom Sunday night to start the knife battle at Drift which resulted in the death of Lawrence Collins, 37-year-old miner, and the serious knife-wounding of Newsom himself, witnesses to the affair told County Attorney Forrest D. Short and Deputy Sheriff Lackey Salisbury.

Newsom is said to have stabbed Collins in his chest and back, one jab of the knife penetrating Collins' kidney. Collins died at 5 o'clock Monday morning at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin.

Newsom lies in a serious condition at the Martin General hospital, the wound inflicted by a knife slash extending from the back of his neck to his throat, it is said.

Origin of the trouble lay, witnesses agreed, in Newsom's claim that Clifford (Tip) Daniels, brother-in-law of the slain man, had been flirting with Mrs. Newsom. Dan Combs, Turner-Elkhorn Coal Company employe, stated that Newsom accused Daniels, as the two were in front of Rader's Place, Drift, of flirting with his wife, then.

ENGINEERS OK LOCKS, DAMS

REPORT IS HAILED 'GREAT VICTORY' FOR VALLEY

U. S. Army engineers reported favorably recently on the Big Sandy river navigation project, and have recommended a detailed survey with a view of construction of locks and dams, Congressman A. J. May announces.

Congressman May said that the report has been completed at the district engineer's office at Huntington and has been forwarded to the Cincinnati engineer's office.

Mr. May has asked the Board of Engineers to have the complete report forwarded to Washington as soon as necessary detailed work of the division office can be completed.

Though the report has not been made public in detail, Mr. May described its findings as "a great victory for the people of the Big Sandy valley." He expressed the opinion that the favorable report means that the Levisa Fork will be made navigable.

The engineers held an open hearing last March. Proponents of the project presented lengthy arguments in its favor. All these arguments, as well as those opposing the proposal, were considered by the engineers in their study.

FAIR DRAWS THOUSANDS HERE

EXHIBITS DECLARED BEST YET SHOWN IN VALLEY

From 12,000 to 15,000 persons saw the Floyd County Fair's varied exhibits here last Thursday, Friday and Saturday, it was estimated Saturday night by Fair officials upon the conclusion of what was said to have been the most successful agricultural and industrial exhibit ever held in the Big Sandy valley.

Products of the home—cooking, canning, sewing and weaving; exhibits from the schools — handwriting, drawing, home economics products, et cetera; 4-H Club work, antiques, work of Floyd artists, livestock exhibits; products direct from the soil—potatoes, corn, pumpkins, tobacco and such-like harvest-festival treats to the eye—all these, together with industrial exhibits of firms leasing booths in the Fair building, the Club Rustique, drew and "appealed" the eyes of the multitude.

Floyd county, town and country, got together in a big way in annual reunion. The Inland Steel Company, Wheelwright, added to the entertainment of the big crowds with its all-color movie film of Wheelwright and vicinity and the vast workings of the company. Friday evening (see separate story) farmers and Prestonsburg's business men had an "outside" get-together at the Auxier hotel.

'LAW' TAKES HOLIDAY

Of all the thousands who saw the Fair here during the three days, only one man was arrested—and that, officers said, was for his own protection. Interest centered on the Fair, rather than on drinking, Fair officials and enforcement officers said.

Threatening weather Saturday held the crowd down to around 7,000. But the day was replete with thrills to those who find interest in Floyd county and its "homespun" products. The morning hours saw a quarter-mile parade of students and floats from Maytown, Prestonsburg, Martin, Johns Creek, Betsy Layne and McDowell schools. Maytown's float was awarded first prize; Prestonsburg's second, and Johns Creek's, third. Johns Creek's yoke of young bullocks, hitched to a wagon, drew the attention of sidewalk gazers as well as that of judges.

Full list of prize-winners will be published in THE TIMES next week.

BILL HENRY SAYS:

[The views herein expressed are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Times.]

SITUATIONS WANTED—MEN

Farm work wanted. This fall you will need help to turn your ground. Why not hire me? I have no experience, but I am willing to learn at your expense. I will do no more than spoil a season's crop for you, or, perhaps, cause you to lose the use of your ground for a couple of seasons. I am sure I can learn to milk, although the chances are I would turn some of your cows dry and maybe ruin a sack or two. I admit my in-experience would cost you something but you could re-coup your losses in time to come. I want the job . . . you owe me a chance just to prove how near I can come to doing the job right. The man you have on the job at present, I'll admit, is doing the work, but I am sure I can do it better . . . if my mistakes don't break you while I'm learning.

BILL HENRY

President of the United States. This fall there will be an opening for a man to direct the affairs of your country. I want that job. I have had no experience whatever in directing the affairs of a nation. I have had no experience in any kind of governmental work, yet I feel I should re-place the man who has held this position for the last eight years. It is not important that this position should be filled by one who has had experience in domestic as well as international affairs . . . I am telling you (because it suits my purpose) that, regardless of what it may cost you, eight years is long enough for any one man to hold this position. If you do hire me for this job you may take my word for it that I will pull some tricks out of a bag. I do not feel it necessary to explain just how I shall accomplish the things I promise, it is up to you to wait and see. It is sound business for private industry to retain a good man indefinitely. Your business, Mr. Farmer, Mr. Miner and Mr. Laborer, is secondary to the private interests I represent, and you must sacrifice your better judgment to an imaginary tradition that I and certain of my followers (disgruntled politicians) have sprung on you. Does it matter that my mistakes may cause you and your children untold suffering? Does it matter that the homes you have slaved for may, through my errors, be taken away from you? Does it matter that the democratic way of life you and your children now enjoy may be re-placed by "Hell Hitler"? Nothing matters, I assure you, except that I, an in-experienced man, want the job as President of the United States. Write or see Wendell Willkie.

Bill Henry will not receive any replies to his application for a job as a farm hand. Wendell Willkie will receive many. Yet if the two names were reversed Bill Henry would be on the receiving end and Wendell Willkie would be minus a job on the farm. Fantastic—is it? Would you hire Wendell Willkie to plow your ground for you? You would not. Would you vote for Bill Henry as President of the United States? You would providing he had been selected as the party candidate and, providing you refused to stop and think what a dumb thing you would be doing. It does sound ridiculous, doesn't it? Turn back a few pages of history and see how easily it is for a man to bluster himself into national prominence. A few years ago Oklahoma elected a man as governor who had been nothing but an electrical appliance salesman. He talked a good line of bull. He was finally impeached. California elected one man as governor (not the present governor) who was formerly a real estate promoter, and after he was in office the company he had promoted was accused of having used the mails to defraud while he was at the head of the company. Kentucky at one time elected a man as governor, who, only this fall, was turned down for Judge of the Court of Appeals. Remember Huey Long of Louisiana? His principal lieutenants are either serving terms in the penitentiary or are out on bond pending appeals. These men were all boosted as favorite son candidates for President of the United States (at some time during the term of their office) and with just a slight change of fate could have been selected as their party standard bearer.

This equal opportunity for everyone is a wonderful thing. It has made this great country of ours and we want to keep it that way. We can even make mistakes in our domestic affairs in ordinary times—yes, we can go as far as electing the wrong man as President and after four years of mis-management come back strong. It so happens at this time that we are not privileged to confine ourselves to domestic affairs, a man with a short, stubby moustache is seeing to that. The man who is President now must be something more than just a lawyer or a promoter. What will the laws of our land matter if destruction comes from without? What will it matter if a man was a good promoter in some private industry? He could hire and fire at will. Congressmen and Senators are not controlled in the same way. When Wendell Willkie says to you, "I will do this, and I will do that," he is using the same tactics he blustered his way into prominence with, the same tactics he was able to get away with in private industry. He knows he is making promises he cannot fulfill. He is willing to take a chance on destroying the country he claims to love so well. What are you for him to do?

Under Roosevelt, Farm Income has nearly doubled. Farm Mortgage interest charges are 40 per cent less than in 1928. Soil Conservation Program has saved 30,000,000 acres. Farm loans have increased the net worth of borrowers 37 per cent. One-fourth of all farms now have access to electricity.

Under Roosevelt, total non-agricultural employment is 9,000,000 greater than 7 years ago. Weekly Payrolls are $113,000,000 greater than they were 7 years ago. Wage earners have benefited by laws enacted granting unemployment compensation, old age insurance and assistance to needy blind and dependent children. Wage and Hour Act has reduced hours and increased pay of millions of workers. Collective bargaining has brought about a decrease of industrial disputes.

Under Roosevelt, National Income increased from $40,000,000,000 in 1932 to $69,500,000,000 in 1939. Employment increased from 37.5 million in 1932 to 45.3 million in 1939. Loans totaling $5,000,000,000 have been made to aid banks. Government purchases of $6,000,000,000 helped every kind of business.

Under Roosevelt, 20,000,000 depositors benefited by RFC loans to banks. Loans have been made to 1,500,000 farmers; 150,000 stockmen; 20,000 disaster sufferers and to 200,000 families for purchasing electrical appliances. Federal Housing Administration has enabled 600,000 families to build or finance homes.

Under Roosevelt in the last 7 years, public works programs have produced $18,000,000,000 worth of public properties and services. WPA has built 450,000 miles of roads; 93,000 bridges; 88,000 public buildings; 12,000 miles of water lines. WPA has served 386,000,000 lunches to undernourished children. PWA financed work since 1933 has constituted 70 per cent of all educational instruction. PWA has accounted for more than $3,200,000,000 in orders for materials.

Under Roosevelt, the U. S. Navy, destroyed under Republican administrations, has become the most powerful in the world. The Army, which had been reduced and neglected, is being brought up to an authorized strength of 500,000 officers and men. Air forces already increased can now expand easily to a strength of 50,000 planes. When defense program is complete the United States will have a two-ocean Navy or 733 fighting ships.

LETCHER TEAM DOWNS P'BURG

FUMBLES MAR GRID ENCOUNTER HERE SATURDAY

Prestonsburg's Blackcats dropped their fifth game out of six starts this season Saturday afternoon when Whitesburg, undefeated for the season, eked out a 6-0 victory in the waning minutes of the contest.

The Blackcats played without the services of Salisbury, passing and punting mainstay, but Junior May, a southpaw passer and accurate kicker, did a splendid job in both departments.

The game was evenly fought, with fumbles marring the show. Whitesburg fumbled seven times, and Prestonsburg recovered on each occasion. The Blackcats fumbled only twice.

Hunter played his usual game, powerful both on offense and defense, and he was ably abetted by Herald and May. The latter kept Whitesburg back on its heels by placing his kicks on four occasions out of bounds on the six, the four, the 19 and 20-yard lines.

Prestonsburg reached the visitors' eight-yard marker in the first quarter but failed to score. Then, in the second quarter, the 'Cats failed to score from the eight and six. Prestonsburg's backfield as a whole was effective but the line was ineffective.

Whitesburg completed one pass for a first down, but depended upon its running attack for most of its gains. W. Pigman scored the lone touchdown of the encounter, three minutes before the final whistle. Prestonsburg attempted nine passes in the last few minutes of the game without success. Lack of a competent pass receiver nullified the local aerial attack.

For the game with Jenkins Saturday at Jenkins, the Blackcats are further weakened as Herald, out with a badly sprained ankle, joins Salisbury on the hospital list. Salisbury's bruised hip may keep him on the sidelines for the remainder of the season, Coach Hyden said. Blackburn, one of the line stalwarts, has been pulled back to the fullback position, and the line is a patch-work.

Aged Abbott Woman Is Claimed

Mrs. Lou Johnson, 82 years old, of Abbott Creek, one of the county's oldest and best women, died at her home Saturday after an extended illness.

The victim was a daughter of the late "Aunt" Jane Elliott, of Abbott Creek, and is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Will Pruitt and Mrs. Bill Adams, both of Abbott, and another daughter who resides in Washington.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday, with the Rev. Mrs. Fannin and the Rev. W. B. Garriott, pastor of the Prestonsburg Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery on Abbott, under the direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

BELFRY UPSET BY W'WRIGHT

PRICE'S BOYS WIN BY 14 TO 7 SCORE

Wheelwright, Ky. (Spl.) — Coach Walter Price's Wheelwright high school football team, playing the entire game without a substitution, came from behind Saturday afternoon to score a 14-7 victory over the highly favored Belfry gridders for the local team's first win.

After Belfry had pushed across a touchdown and plunged for the extra point early in the first quarter, Wheelwright knotted the count later in the period and went on to score the winning marker in the fourth.

In the opening period Wheelwright won the toss and elected to receive. Martin at quarterback, received the ball and, after a return of 30 yards, fumbled and Belfry recovered. On the fourth play Williamson, Belfry quarterback, scored on a reverse around left end, and the plunge for extra point clicked.

Morich took the Belfry kick-off and returned to his own 40. From that point Cordell, Martin and Skiles alternately carried the ball to the Belfry two-yard line, from where Cordell bucked it over. He hit the line for the extra point and tied the score, 7-7.

In the second quarter Belfry got as far as the Wheelwright 8, when Mosley recovered a Belfry fumble, and from this point until well in the fourth period neither team seriously threatened the other's goal line. In the closing minutes of the game Cordell punted to the Belfry one yard line, and the receiver returned to his 12 where, after he was smeared by Morich, he fumbled, with Mosley again recovering for Wheelwright. On his second try Cordell ripped the Belfry line for a touchdown but an off-side penalty nullified the run.

On the next play he went through again, and another line plunge netted the extra point, ending the scoring. With one minute of play Belfry received the kick-off and took the air in an effort to score. Wheelwright had possession of the ball in mid-field when the game ended.

Play of the Wheelwright line, with Smith, Mosley and Zetz continually smearing Belfry plays in the visitors' backfield, was commendable. The power shown by Cordell, Martin, Skiles and Bove, on both the offense and defense, was outstanding.

While no definite plan has been set up, leaders of the movement ask for a series of locks and dams along the river sufficient to make it navigable and suited for commercial transportation.

For years, interested citizens and business men have contended that a favorable report from government engineers is a long step toward ultimate success of the project.

It is possible that the river improvement may be made a part of the national defense program, which is in full swing.

TOWN-WORLD

The town of Allen has something in its traffic light.

Prestonsburg with one traffic light and the town of Martin with two have that type of light that switches without warning to the motorist or pedestrian from red to green. But Allen's light has a "Caution" interval between the "Stop" and "Go" signals. If that Allen light is "run," police there have something to go on; if this light here in Prestonsburg and those lights at Martin are "run," all police can do is guess if the driver intentionally broke the law or if he or she simply couldn't stop quick enough.

WILL ROGERS ON POLITICS

When Will Rogers died this country lost a lot of good hoss-sense that it could ill afford to spare. But, thank goodness, he left behind some of his homely wisdom in print. The following is an excellent sample of that legacy Will left us:

There should be a moratorium called on candidates' speeches. They have both called each other everything they can think of. From now on they are just talking themselves out of votes. The high office of President of the United States has degenerated into two ordinary fine men being goaded on by their political leeches into saying things that, if they were in their right minds, they wouldn't think of saying. This country is a thousand times bigger than any two men in it, or any two parties in it. These big politicians are so serious about themselves and their parties. This country has gotten where it is—in spite of politics, not by the aid of it. That we have carried as much political bunk as we have and still survived, shows we are a super-nation. And we can be thankful for that, to the people, not to any Republican or Democrat. So you two boys just get the weight of the world off your shoulders and go fishing. You will be doing everybody a big favor and you will be surprised, but the old USA will keep on running while you two boys are sitting on the bank. Then come back on November 6th and we will let you know which one of you is the lesser of two evils.

jumped and hit him. Later, he said, the two asserted their friendship and Mrs. Newsom declared that Daniels hadn't spoken to her. Later, Combs said, Newsom struck Collins in his back with a knife.

Daniels claimed he did not know either Newsom or his wife. He said that Newsom knocked him down, then was told by Mrs. Newsom that Daniels had not made any advances toward her. After the two had gone back into the rear of Rader's Place, he said, Newsom attacked him again, turned his back and begged Daniels to hit him. All went outside and there again Newsom knocked Daniels down, this Statement continues. After that, he said, he saw Newsom and Lawson Brown chasing Collins down the road.

Brown was brought here by Deputy Sheriff Salisbury for questioning, but was released after he had established the claim that he acted only as a peacemaker during the trouble. Other witnesses gave a brief but in the main vague accounts of the trouble. Most of them said that Newsom was drinking; only one claimed that Collins was drinking.

Collins is a son of C. L. and Mrs. Judy Howell Collins. Besides his parents he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Minerva Collins, one daughter, Myrtle, and two sons, Joe Edward and Johnny.

Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, the Revs. Aaron Pack and M. C. Wright officiating. Burial was made at Drift under the direction of the Ryan Funeral Home.

Draft Board Announced

that among the 130,000 national guardsmen to be mobilized between the first week in January and February 3 will be:

Thirty-eighth Division, 9,177, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia, to Camp Shelby, Miss. (This unit includes Louisville's 138th Field Artillery.)

One Hundred and Thirteenth Squadron, 116, Indiana, to Meridian, Miss.

Two Hundred and First Coast Artillery Battalion (anti-aircraft separate), 313, Kentucky, to Fort Sheridan, Ill.

This mobilization will call into active duty for a year's training the last of the inactive guard units. About 132,000 officers and men already are in uniform and under mobilization orders.

The unusual difficulties of creating an efficient fighting force—from the peace-time conscripts—varying in education, intellect, physical fortitude and in race and religion—drew attention in a letter from Gen. George C. Marshall, Army Chief of Staff, to the commanders of his four armies. It coincided with dispatch of detailed instructions to the four commanders by Maj. Gen. L. J. McNair, Army G.H.Q. chief of staff, from his headquarters in the Army War College in Washington.

Both communications exhorted the commanders to devote military effort to the greatest training job which has faced military leaders of the United States since the World War.

General McNair declared speed is imperative in "receiving, training and amalgamating" the drafted civilians.

"The present national effort and the conditions which have caused it demand intensive training and the attainment of the highest standards. There will be no compromise with quality. The methods adopted must be such as will yield the maximum of progress in the minimum of time."

General Marshall wrote: "Adoption of a peacetime selective service system presents a special problem for all components of the army. Men selected for service with those now enlisting are representatives of the citizen-soldier who has always defended our nation in the past."

Tentative quotas assigned the 48 states and District of Columbia by Selective Service headquarters are based on estimates of the number of men in each state who are fit and available for immediate army service. Credits were given each state for the number of volunteers each is estimated to have furnished the armed forces already. This factor caused Kentucky's quota to be considerably lower than those of other states of comparative population. Kentucky registered about 300,000 men for selective service.

SNOW FLOUR WINS AGAIN

Read what Mrs. Grover Lowe, of Prestonsburg, says about it--

Paintsville Grocery Company, Inc.,
Paintsville, Ky.

Gentlemen:

I wish to inform you that I have been given first prize, for baking the best white cake at the Floyd County Fair. This cake was a WHITE BUTTER CAKE, and of course I used the best flour that is milled, the one and only SNOW FLOUR.

I have used Snow Flour for 10 years, and have had wonderful success with it, I have never had a failure, and I recommend it to all the women for any baking purposes. When I want white fluffy biscuits I just can't get them with any other flour.

It was a great pleasure for me to win FIRST PRIZE for the baking, and I do want the women of Eastern Kentucky to know just how good SNOW FLOUR really is.

Yours respectfully,

MRS. GROVER LOWE

SHIKE'S POKES

(Views expressed in this column are those of the writer and not necessarily those of The Times.)

You motormen and brakemen had better look to your jobs, Mack and Estill practiced all Saturday night. We'll have to put them on regular in about 35 years if they keep on improving.

Here's a bunch of orcsoids to "Bill Henry's" column in last week's Floyd County Times. He really hit the nail on the head.

It's a funny thing about this campaign in Drift—the Republican miners are the strongest for FDR.

"Cat" lives right in Drift but he walks about four or five miles a day to and from work—bad hitch-hiking.

The "Beef Head" is all crippled up—he took off like Lindbergh on the roller skates and landed like Will Rogers.

Sam Eversole says he doesn't know what this county is coming to—claims he even got arrested for carrying a pipe.

When Leemon Litton went to register on Wednesday Clive Akers, the clerk, asked him the question, "Who will always know you address?" and he promptly replied—"Jim Hall."

Lightning wrote back that he would have to do a lot of training on rifle shooting. Give him a half pint and two Goose Creek rocks and he doesn't need any training.

About the only training the Floyd county boys need is just how to march with a dash of discipline—they already know "When, How and Why" to shoot and fight. If one of Hitler's divisions ever tangles with a Floyd county division they will think "hell hath no fury"—that is, if any of the "Heinies" are ever able to think again.

If I am ever late for the meeting or late for work, I've got a better excuse than F. D. Short or any of the fellows. They have to tend to the baby—while I've got to tend to the "babies."

Yep, I really was re-chartered into the "Midnite Bottle Warmers' Club" for its TWINS up at Shikepoke's—a boy and a girl—two Democrats.

Young Lowell Parker, five-year-old son of Lum Parker, was listening to a news report of the bombing of Berlin—and he said, "I told you what would happen when John Henry got over there." John Henry is his uncle who joined the U. S. army about three months ago.

There is one consolation in twins—one cries so loud that you can't hear the other one.

MISS DINGUS, MR. POE
WED, OCT. 19TH

Miss Elizabeth Dings, of Martin, became the bride of Mr. R. H. Poe, of Maysville, Ky., at a quiet ceremony taking place on Saturday evening, October 19. The ceremony was read by the Rev. R. G. Hutchinson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Pikeville, in the living room of the manse. Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Dings, of Shelby, brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

Mrs. Poe is the daughter of Mrs. Amanda Dings, of Martin, and was graduated from the Louisa high school and later attended Berea College. While a student there she was prominent and popular in campus social and scholastic activities. The bride chose for her wedding costume a rose blege wool outfit with black accessories and wore a corsage of sweet-heart roses and valley lilies. She wore a strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

Mr. Poe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Poe of Maysville, Ky., and was educated in the Maysville schools. For the past 14 years he has been an employe of the Gorman Construction Company, of Flemingsburg, Ky.

Both have a wide circle of friends in this end of the state and elsewhere. The couple departed on a wedding trip into the north which will take them to Niagara Falls and other points of interest.

On their return they will go to Shepherdsville, Ky., where Mr. Poe is employed as foreman of the construction company, to reside.

MISS RIMMER, PLEDGE

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 14 (Spl.)—Pledge ribbons appeared on the Stephens College campus this week, as a preferential convocation brought rush week activities to a close for more than 500 students.

Each year the 17 Stephens campus sororities hold a week of "open house," followed by a week of closed parties to which the rushees are invited. The preferential meeting is then called, and the students are given an opportunity to pledge the sorority of their choice.

Pledged from Prestonsburg is Patricia Elizabeth Rimmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Rimmer, Theta Tau Omega sorority.

Briar Buck's Scratches

The views expressed in this column are those of the writer, and not necessarily those of The Times.

Prestonsburg, Ky.,

October 16, 1940

Mr. Adolph Hitler,
Bomb Shelter No. 1,
Berlin, Germany.

My Dear Adolph:

Today some 16 million young Americans signed (they think) away their freedom of action for the next year, and possibly their lives. But what actually happened is that I personally signed your own death warrant.

I hate to do this, Adolph, and it probably will hurt me more than it will you, but I've put up with your horseplay long enough.

First, you took the Rhineland which, no doubt, your country sorely deserved. Then you gobbled up Austria. Nobody hurt except Old Baldy and the Austrians. Then Czechoslovakia—well, that hurt democracy's prestige and U. S. business.

Then you scuttled Poland—say, that was a good 'un about you sending those German police dogs in there!

But, Adolph here's where you made your mistake: attacking France! Mister, we always felt good toward that country—especially towards our story-book versions of their wines and women.

Moreover, you began associating with Old Baldy and his flock of buzzards, and to cap it off, you hurried your hordes of hell-divers over to disturb our kinsmen at teatime. You knew those Englishmen were our own blood cousins, Adolph, and you should

KIDNEY STAGNATION IS WORSE THAN CONSTIPATION!

Because We Treat Constipation at The Onset, While We Neglect Our Kidneys Indefinitely

No other organ in your body is of more importance than your kidneys. For in your kidneys there are nine million tubes which must work day and night to filter the fluids and keep the system free from wastes, acids, poisons which, if permitted to remain, may cause serious kidney and bladder troubles.

It is no wonder then that Nature offers help to clean out the kidneys. So if you are troubled with Getting-Up-Nights, Leg Pains, Backache, Nervous Headache, Dizziness or Loss of Energy, due to functional kidney disorders, try KIDANS, the famous kidney remedy, which aids Nature to flush out the kidneys, to filter all wastes, to prevent kidney stagnation.

KIDANS is Safe and Reliable. Thousands report entire satisfaction. Taken according to directions, KIDANS will give you mild results. Try KIDANS. Buy it at our Special Price Offer on two boxes. Use one box. If not satisfied, return unopened box and GET YOUR MONEY BACK.

If your local druggist cannot supply you, send $1.00 to The Kidans Company, Atlanta, Georgia, for two full-size boxes on a money-back guarantee.

have realized that Uncle Sam would lose his temper and raise holy hell over John Bull's children.

Nevertheless, if matters had stopped at this point, and after due deliberation, I probably would have forgiven you your sins.

But you weren't satisfied. You just had to rub salt in the cut. You hatched up a deal by which you thought those little rice-eating yellow-bellies could bully us out of that seasonal European game of "slaughter."

Well, we don't like the durned old game, but I'll be blasted if you can make us believe a fellow who is yellow could lick us!

That was the limit. We're getting ready fast. And as soon as the other boys learn to parade well enough, we're all coming "over there." And while they kick the tail feathers out of your goose-stepping little goslings, I'll be thrashing the eternal daylight out of your hide with the butt end of a hickory switch!

Yours truly,

BRIAR BUCK.

MARTIN WINS

Briar Buck predicts that, whoever wins the election, there will be no contest over Martin's Town Board race.

Any five of the candidates would make a GOOD Board—it's now up to the citizens to choose the BEST!

DETAILS FROM THE DAM

"Ott" wants everybody to know about Sam Hatcher cutting off that bush he was holding on to, causing his 15-foot fall over a cliff.

P.S. Sam is now sufficiently recovered from the sudden stop, and work on the dam project is progressing very nicely, thank you.

WET PAINT

If you're wondering how Leo Carter, the dam painter got so much yellow paint on his clothes, here 'tis. He was trying to make a fast get-away with a couple of snitched watermelons and lost his footing.

HEAVY DEMOCRATIC

"Big Foot" Jim Nunnery, 75-year-old Johns Creek sage, said he reckoned the reason for the pear trees bearing so plentifully this year is "because everything is going so heavy Democratic."

But, pears or no pears, Mr. Nunnery intends to stick to the G. O. Party's Willkie.

POP & STUFF

Daydream: Winston Churchill consoling "Muscle-in's" widow while she mourns at Hitler's funeral. Had my first glimpse of Pete McCoy World War Hero No. 2, last week. Looked alive and human and said, "Howdy, gentlemen" . . . ahem! If Pete says I'm a gentleman, then who are you to question it? . . . G.O.P. Going Out Party. . . J. Howard Henderson gets paid for saying what he thinks while I get cussed for doing the same thing! . . . yet the only difference is in the head (if you know what I mean).

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

YARNS AT THE STORE

Felicity was just like your little village in its perpetual assemblage of perpetual loafers, who chewed tobacco, whittled on goods boxes, and told yarns. Before the days of the telephone and when the newspapers came only once or twice a week, this assemblage was the news gatherer and the news distributor for our neighborhood. A typical preamble to many a bit of news or gossip was, "I heard at the store." Actual news, pertaining to politics or religion or matrimony or business, was told and retold until it became legendary. When late news got scarce, there was always the Civil War to fall back on, for Fidelity did its share in that mighty conflict, as several of our local heroes could testify. But the cream of the talk, after all, was the yarns that were repeated to every newcomer and ever so often anyway, whether there were new ears to hear them or not. The crowd of loafers expected this and gave the cue that started the lengthy yarns on their usual course. We knew all of the incidents so well that we would halt the yarn-spinner often and remind him of something he had left out or unintentionally failed to color highly. If I could repeat all the yarns I heard there and tell them in the actual lingo used, with appropriate vocal accompaniment, I would be made in a literary way. And there are endless Fidelitys in America where the same thing would be true. All honor to the writers who can get their stories published; by far the better portion of the good stories are still traditional, waiting a master recorder or a change in taste to make them sought after by the best magazines.

Some of the yarns were distinctively masculine and could not be told here. However, many of these forbidden stories were in their way masterpieces of narration and slipping up on the unforeseen ending. Whenever a tenderfoot, as he would have been called out West, came into the village, we tried our best yarns on him to see whether he would bite. Sometimes he would, and we laughed our horse laughs until we got red in the face. Nearly always, though, he let us have our own laugh out and then caught us with one equally clever. Since he would not have a big group to help him with his laugh, we would join for company, glad to get something new to pull on the boys and men who were less fortunate and could not be at the store at that time. For days afterwards we spread the yarn until everybody had heard it a dozen times and all the nice fellows had been made to blush.

The best yarns concerned actual neighborhood happenings that had assumed traditional features. There was the haunted house, for instance, with the long story about the girl who refused to marry the man who built the house for her, about her unhappy marriage to another man and her early death, and especially about the queer noises around the unfinished old mansion for years after she had passed away. For nearly 50 years the house stood, a monument to faithfulness that made even the hardest-hearted people of Fidelity marvel. Endlessly was told the story of the tragic seining in the Tennessee river that took the lives of five of our neighbors. After we had heard for the fiftieth time this pathetic story, we felt more than ever the simple paths in the fenced-in graves of two of these victims in our little graveyard. These two men were mere share croppers, newcomers to the neighborhood, and did not have a family lot in the graveyard; the other three were natives, two of them fathers of families, and buried with their relatives. The one that raised our hair most was the story of our sleep-walking woman who went to the cemetery by night and caught a horse, which she rode in her night clothes far away into the night. Any one of these yarns, properly told, would reincarnate the old village and its inimitable yarn-spinners.

Daring Offer Made By Lexington Paper

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 19—The Lexington Herald, published in the center of Kentucky's famous horse-breeding region, today announced it will give away its entire edition every day a race on a major track in the United States.

The offer is good every day except Sunday and other days when there is no racing on major tracks. However, there is racing on major tracks nearly every week day in the year.

Although a St. Petersburg, Fla., paper makes an offer of that type—giving away its entire edition on days the sun does not shine—the Lexington Herald is believed to be the only paper in the world offering to "pay off" when its region's representatives in competitive sport fail to win.

The Herald maintains this is a gift offer rather than gambling.

Joe Harkins, Jr., president of the Prestonsburg Co-Operative Business Association, expressed appreciation for the splendid co-operation of the farmers and merchants in making the fair a success.

Leroy Combs, chairman of the fair committee, County Agent S. L. Isbell, toastmaster, Woodrow Burchett and the Rev. W. B. Garriott all expressed the thought that the co-operation between the farmers and business men will grow to big things for Floyd county.

Mr. Farrington said that in the six years he had been connected with Kentucky Agricultural Conservator work the state has received something like $9,000,000. "I am sure," he said, "we will have a permanent agricultural program with changes from time to time. The farmers' purchasing power will increase and the soil will continue to be improved."

Speaking of what may be expected during the next few years, Mr. Farrington stated we may expect serious repercussions regardless of who wins the war, and that we will have to have more co-operative groups. "The world," he said, "will be lined up in strong economic blocs. It will be cut-throat trade for years to come."

"We are sure to have one big bloc which will stand the punishment and retain the confidence in democracy—and that is the farmers," Mr. Farrington added.

The 44 farmers and business men listening to Mr. Farrington were surprised to learn that during the "prosperity" years, 1920-29, the farmers ended up worse than when they started. The purchasing power of the farmer steadily decreased, according to Mr. Farrington, during the years that the business men were thinking everybody was making money. "At the end of our 'prosperity' period," he said, "40 per cent of our farms were operated by absentee owners. Less than 30 per cent of our population are on the farms today."

The south-eastern section of the United States came in for much comment by Mr. Farrington. The south-east quarter, including the mountains, is the only section in the United States reproducing its population, he said. He also stated that at the present rate of re-population and the percentage of farm children leaving for the cities in other sections of the United States, it will not be many years until the country will be dependent upon the south-east section for farm products.

When asked if he did not believe that when speaking of co-operative efforts, emphasis should be laid on the farmers co-operating with the business men as well as the business men co-operating with the farmers, Mr. Farrington stated, certainly, the farmers could never get along within themselves and that no one group should be encouraged above any other. "The farmers and business men," he said, "have the same problems. Either they must work them out together or they will not work at all."

Red Cross Calls For Volunteer Workers

Ella Noel C. White, executive secretary, Floyd County Chapter, American Red Cross, announced this week the need of volunteer workers to complete the third quota of clothing for European refugees.

Since May 1, two small quotas have been completed and sent to national headquarters for re-shipment. Women's Clubs and individuals throughout the county have assisted in knitting, crocheting and sewing.

The newly assigned quota is much larger and more workers are needed. Any women in the county who are willing to knit, crochet or sew may obtain materials from the chapter upon request. An early date sewing rooms will be opened certain hours during each day.

The annual Roll Call of the Red Cross starts Armistice Day, November 11, Mrs. F. L. Heinze, county chairman, announces. It is hoped this will be the greatest Roll Call since World War No. 1. An innovation this year is that of foregoing a set quota in favor of securing the name and contribution of every adult member of a community.

Since September 1, Norman Davis, national Red Cross chairman recently stated, almost $5,000,000 in relief supplies have been sent to Great Britain from the United States.

Cole Chooses Death

vania. Mrs. Post told authorities that, after Cole had registered last Wednesday under the name of Bert Bentley, he began drinking. Early Thursday morning, she said, he forced her to start the long drive to this county under threat of death.

When Cole entered Ratliff's Place for a drink Mrs. Post wrote on a piece of paper which she tossed from the window: "I, Mrs. Anna Post, was forced to drive Bert Bentley to Pikeville. If I am not heard from, search for my body."

This placed federal agents on Cole's trail on the kidnaping count. Herbert K. Moss, special agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation office at Louisville, was joined in the search by a U. S. deputy marshal, State Highway Patrolmen Clifton

Stanley and Felt Russell and Constable Willie Johnson, of Wheelwright.

Cole contended, after his arrest for the killing of Curt Johnson, that the latter, following a fight on the preceding night, met Cole as he was going squirrel-hunting and that he shot Johnson after the latter had fired pistol bullets near his head.
