JUNK RALLIES TO BE HELD IN COUNTY

Citizens To Be Given Chance, August 29, To Help Win War

Floyd county citizens will be given an opportunity Saturday, August 29, to join in mass demonstrations of their patriotic desire to get their scrap metal and rubber into war production. S. L. Isbell, Floyd County Salvage Committee chairman, announced this week.

Eight towns have been designated by Mr. Isbell as places where Junk Rallies will be held on this date, and he began this week the designation of committees in the several localities to urge every farmer, housewife, school child, mineworker and all business firms to get their scrap in to the nearest center on that day.

Towns where junk will be taken, weighed and paid for by authorized junk dealers on the day of the Rally are Prestonsburg, Auxier, Martin, McDowell, Wheelwright, Garrett, Maytown, Wayland, Betsy Layne, Harold, Weeksburg, Lackey, Glo, Estill and David.

Floyd county's junk quota for the day is 50 tons. It was emphasized that this material is not to be given away; that, instead, it will be paid for at the standard price for such materials.

All bonafide junk dealers are asked to contact Salvage Committee headquarters here. "This drive," Mr. Isbell said, "is not a matter of competition to these recognized dealers. It is a co-operative effort of the people to get their scrap materials where they will do the most good in winning the war."

Co-operation of the Works Progress Administration in helping to transport scrap from central points was promised by W. A. Toney, Floyd WPA supervisor. Mr. Toney announced this week that another 50 tons of scrap gathered by WPA trucks in rural sections is now ready to be sold and that bids are being awaited. These trucks are now gathering an additional 50 tons which will be sold at auction.

Mrs. Jones Frazier, 66, Dies on Wilson Creek Of Heart Disease

Mrs. Millie Frazier, wife of Jones Frazier, died in her 67th year Sunday at her Wilson Creek home, a victim of heart disease.

A daughter of the late Dr. Allen C. and Nancy Hagans, she was a native of the Right Beaver section of this county where she had many relatives and friends. She had been a member of the Regular Baptist Church for 20 years.

Besides her husband, she is survived by one son and two daughters, Phillip Hagans and Mrs. Felix Case, both of Langley, and Mrs. Jack Ratliff, of Wayland. She also leaves one brother, Hiram Hagans, Langley, and one sister, Mrs. Artie Ratliff, of Greenup.

Funeral rites were conducted from the residence Monday, the Revs. A. L. Allen, M. C. Wright, A. J. Moore and C. F. Conn officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery under direction of the Ryan Funeral Home.

P'BURG WOMAN DIES AT 84

Widow of 'Lam' Davis, Native of Lawrence, Succumbs Tuesday

Mrs. Julia Ann Spencer Davis, widow of C. C. (Lam) Davis, died Tuesday at the home here of her grandson, Dick Davis, a victim at the age of 84 of the infirmities of age.

Born in Lawrence county, Jan. 8, 1858, Mrs. Davis was the daughter of John and Matilda Borders Spencer and was a member of one of that section's pioneer families. She had been a member of the Baptist Church for 66 years and was one of the section's best women.

She was married in 1876 and moved with her husband to Prestonsburg 51 years ago, residing here for a quarter of a century during which Mr. Davis was engaged in the mercantile business. They later moved to Allen where she remained until a few weeks ago. Mr. Davis died in April, 1941.

Only one of her three children, Mrs. Rosie Whitaker, Frenchburg, Ky., survives. She also leaves 14 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon from the residence where she died, the Revs. Isaac Stratton and W. B. Garratt officiating. Burial, under direction of the Arnold Funeral Home, was made in the Mayo cemetery at Allen.

CHILD, 7, IS VICTIM OF APPENDIX RUPTURE

Cordelia, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Martin, of Bypro, succumbed Monday at the Beaver Valley hospital, victim of a ruptured appendix.

Surviving are the bereaved parents, three sisters and one brother, Irene, Mabel, Helen June and Frank. The funeral was conducted Wednesday and burial was made in the family cemetery on Jack's Creek.

Salt Lick on Site of Present-Day Floyd Mining Town May Have Saved Lives Of Daniel Boone and Companion

Boone and Hill Camped Thru Winter of 1767-8 Where David Stands

(To Dr. M. T. Dotson, Prestonsburg, THE TIMES is indebted for material used in the following story.—Editor.)

Daniel Boone's first sojourn of any duration in Kentucky was at a salt lick where the mining town of David now stands on Middle Creek, this county, well-authenticated records reveal.

Before Harrodsburg and Boonesborough, before the intrepid explorer ever looked on the Bluegrass and viewed Kentucky as "The Great Meadow," Boone, in company with one William Hill, spent the winter of 1767-68 at the salt spring on Middle Creek which later became a source of salt for the scattered population of a mountain wilderness embracing hundreds of square miles.

Of this first winter Boone spent in Kentucky, W. R. Jillson in his "The Big Sandy Valley" writes:

PUT UP--OR SHUT UP!

(An Editorial)

So you want to know what your government wants you to do!

You're ready and willing to help win this war, only you don't know what to do. You say you're waiting to be told.

Well, you're being told.

You're not satisfied merely to buy a bond or two a month. This is a solemn, patriotic duty and a sound business investment, so you rightly feel that you should do more.

You can do more.

But you want to be told what more to do.

You're not satisfied to do business as usual, enjoy the comforts of home, the peace and quiet of your own land, doing nothing while your sons and brothers and friends are living and dying in the awful confusion of far-off battlefields.

Being a good American, and human, you feel helplessly worthless while doing nothing to help your country and the young men who are doing its fighting.

Well, if all your talk is not mere lip-and-tongue exercise, if all your thoughts are not cowardly vagaries, you can and will do something.

Saturday, August 29, Floyd county's citizens have an opportunity to go to work, get their scrap metal and rubber to central points, there sell it and see it taken away to the factories which are producing the weapons and machines with which our soldiers fight.

Remember that. You are told right here what you claim you have been wanting to be told—what to do.

The day is coming when the hell Hitler and Tojo and Mussolini have sent on the innocent will visit Berlin and Tokyo. Floyd county rubber should carry the molten hell of Floyd county metal on this inevitable and retributive mission.

You may get your hands dirty, loading and unloading this junk you're asked to accumulate August 29. But the heroes of Bataan got their hands dirty with the blood of the yellow men of Nippon. You may sweat some, getting your junk to the nearest center. But American boys are sweating under desert suns, and no electric fans are there for their comfort.

Floyd county's quota for this Junk Rally Day, Saturday, August 29, is fifty tons. Other counties have their quotas. Can Floyd county afford to fall short of its quota while others exceed theirs?

Now you have been told what to do on the Home Front. Put up or shut up!

Crippled in Mine Accident, Love Does 'Strong Man' Stunts, Risking Life Farther To Earn Livelihood

Earl Love makes a living by demonstrating very little "love" for his personal health and safety. And he happens to be doing it, he says, all because of an extremely "unlovely" mishap.

Love, 60 years old, a former miner and, at present, a resident of Crossville, Tenn., is a cripple minus a foot, one arm, thumb and finger from the other hand and some toes from his other foot. Rather than "mooch" for a living, he says, he prefers to risk his life to earn his living.

He received all of these injuries, he stated, in a slatefall April 22, 1902 at Longacre, W. Va., that cost the life of his father who was working beside him.

His apparent disregard for bodily injury was witnessed by a number of citizens last Wednesday evening as he put on his one-man show, on the streets of Prestonsburg, consisting of juggling a 533-pound barrel of water on his stomach, then tossing it off, right side up, while his body was suspended off the pavement between two beverage cases. His next act, while his body was still suspended, allowed a vol-

Mrs. Malissie Parsons Succumbs at Grethel In Her 79th Year

Mrs. Malissie Hamilton Parsons, 78 years old, died Tuesday at her home at Grethel, a victim of heart disease.

A member of the Church of Christ for many years, she was one of her community's best women. Surviving are one step-son, Frank Parsons, of Grethel; one sister, Mrs. Betty Parsons, Pikeville; two brothers, Jesse Hamilton, Amba, and John Hamilton, Stamping Ground, Ky., former Floyd County Attorney. She was a daughter of the late Logan and Sally Mullins Hamilton.

The funeral was conducted Wednesday from the residence, with burial being made in the family cemetery at Grethel under direction of J. W. Call & Son.

MRS. ALLEN DIES FRIDAY

Three Years' Suffering Ends for Beloved Floyd Woman

More than three years of suffering ended Friday morning at 5 o'clock in the death of Mrs. Rebecca Gearheart Allen, widow of the Rev. D. M. Allen, at the home near Hueysville where she had spent all the 81 years of her life.

Mrs. Allen's illness had its inception in 1939 when she was stricken by arthritis, but the direct cause of death was cancer.

A daughter of the late John Bud and Fanny Patton Gearheart, she was born Dec. 25, 1861. She was married April 8, 1900 to D. M. Allen, at that time Superintendent of Floyd county schools. In young womanhood she was a teacher in the county's rural schools.

Patience and kindness were her predominant traits, and her life was one of devotion to husband, children and home. She was a member of the Church of Christ.

Besides her son and daughter, Norman Allen, of Prestonsburg, and Miss May Allen, Hueysville, she leaves two sisters and one brother: Mrs. Catherine Gearheart, Hueysville; Mrs. Sarah Allen, Portsmouth, O., and Green Gearheart, Sr., Hueysville.

Funeral rites were conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, the Rev. Lawrence Price, of the Church of Christ, officiating, and burial was made in the family cemetery under the direction of the Ryan Funeral Home.

CARNIVAL TAX OF $1,000

Is Voted by Council; Hicks, New Officer; Salaries Raised

Prestonsburg City Council Monday night enacted an ordinance designed to reduce the number of carnivals showing locally, if not actually eliminate this form of "entertainment" here.

The ordinance provides a tax of $1,000 on any carnival or traveling show exhibiting in Prestonsburg or within one-half mile of the town's corporate limits.

The area covered by the ordinance includes the ball park, below the northern city limits, long used as a show ground. A Kentucky statute empowers councils of cities of the fourth class to enact legislation of this sort having effect as far away as half a mile from corporation limits.

Action of the Council was an aftermath of the open gambling said to have been practiced at a carnival outside the city limits recently.

To succeed T. J. Salsbury, who recently resigned as night policeman here, Dewey Hicks, former deputy sheriff, was employed by the Council at Monday night's meeting. Mr. Salsbury resigned to resume work as a deputy sheriff. At the same time salaries of Chief of Police Epp Lafferty and Fire Chief Arthur Blackburn were increased so that their rate of pay, it was explained, "will more nearly conform with salaries paid similar officials in other Big Sandy towns." Mr. Lafferty's salary was placed at $115; the fire chief's, at $100.

Salary of the street cleaning superintendent, Starling Sweeney, was raised to $70 per month.

GAS MEN SEE DARK FUTURE FOR FIELD

Say Federal Ruling Destroying Industry In Eastern Kentucky

Although the OPM regulation restricting drilling for gas to one well per each 640 acres has been relaxed to permit drilling of a well on each 160-acre block, gas men here declared this week the industry is operating at only two-thirds of normal capacity and that the future is even darker.

"Over half of normal drilling activities will be cut down by Jan. 1," Glover Spencer, superintendent of the Warfield Natural Gas Company in this field, said.

The hope for future drilling lies either in a further relaxation of federal restrictions or in the merger of leases by landowners. This latter possibility is almost as remote as the other, Mr. Spencer indicated, saying that his company had succeeded in effecting only two or three such land pools.

Jonas Miller, drilling superintendent of the Inland Gas Company, said that shallow well territory is the main hope for drilling, since the OPM ruling restricting drilling applies to wells drilled to depths below the Big Lime formation.

To illustrate the difficulty faced by drilling firms and gas companies, Mr. Miller told of his company's Ma-

Retired Coal Man Is Cancer Victim In 69th Year

S. E. Allen, 69 years old, prominent Prestonsburg man, died at the Prestonsburg General Hospital Tuesday morning at 4:15 o'clock, a victim of cancer.

Mr. Allen had been in failing health for several years, but had refused until this summer to retire from normal activity. He had been at the hospital 11 days prior to his passing.

A son of the late A. J. Allen and of Mrs. Jimma Bradley Allen, of Weelesa, Okla., Solomon Ervin Allen was born on Middle Creek, this county. He was married in December, 1895 to Miss Esther Harris, well-known Eastern Kentucky bus-

COURT BUYS OLD BONDS

Road, Bridge Bond Redemption Saves $7,500 Interest

Thirty thousand dollars worth of Floyd county road and bridge bonds, outstanding since the '20's, were bought this week by the fiscal court, County Judge E. P. Hill announced Wednesday.

The bonds, bearing 5 per cent interest, would have matured in 1945 and 1956 and their purchase at this time results in an interest saving of approximately $7,500.

"The county had more money than needed in its Sinking Fund reserve," Judge Hill explained, "and it was considered that paying of this much of the debt and the resultant saving of interest would be good business."

MAYO SCHOOL SHOP OKEHED

Work There To Cost $89,000; To Relieve Crowded Condition

Paintsville, Ky., Aug. 14—Construction of an $89,000 shop building to permit enlarging of the training program of Mayo State Vocational School here has been authorized by the War Department, Milburn Taylor, director of the school, announced today.

The school now is training about 400 students in the Army Signal Corps, in addition to 600 others in various types of skilled work, Mr. Taylor said.

The new building, which will be 130 by 150 feet, will house a welding shop, a machine shop, sheet metal work equipment and equipment for training in industrial electricity and automobile mechanics, he said.

Its construction will relieve an overcrowded condition at the school and will release other space for expansion of the Signal Corps training, he added.

Announcement of the approval of the building was contained in a telegram received by Taylor from Congressman A. J. May. It read: "School building approved and letter of necessity sent out today by the War Department."

TRAVEL BULLETIN TODAY'S ROADS

Prepared By Eastern Kentucky Automobile Club

"HOME FRONT"

The world's biggest mechanized army is right here in the United States. We mean the nation's 44,000 drivers, with their 34,000 cars, trucks and buses.

Properly used, this vast reservoir of power will give us the mobility we need for victory.

But we can't afford to waste it. Let's drive only when necessary—and then drive carefully.

Conservation today means transportation tomorrow.

SWEET NEWS!

OPA says the government's sugar rationing program is operating on a basis that probably will allow rations through the first nine months of 1943 at least equal to those at the beginning of rationing.

The "probability" is in there because the prediction is based on the proviso that the submarine situation in the Caribbean does not take a radical turn for the worse.

It is estimated that to maintain the minimum ration through September, 1943, will require a distribution of 4,173,000 tons of sugar, but that an additional $30,000 will have to be kept in the nation's larder to insure an adequate supply in all sections of the country.

Estimated receipts of sugar for that nine-month period are estimated at 3,040,000 tons, and since the total needed for distribution in that period is 5,000,000 tons, we must go into the new year with at least 1,960,000 tons of sugar on hand.

Accordingly, it has been concluded that a year-end stock of 2,300,000 tons would represent a reasonable compromise between an actual danger of shortage and an excessive use of warehouse space.

Revision of federal price controls over service industries and trades—ranging from domestic laundries to stevedoring—has been announced.

The Consumer Service Regulation (No. 165) has been changed to set up 61 major groups of services, embracing most of those important to the cost of living. The word "consumer" has been dropped from the title and the regulation is extended to cover wholesale services and commercial and industrial consumers as well as ultimate consumers. The new regulation is effective as of Aug. 19.

Work is proceeding on a maximum price regulation for certain forms of printing and for services connected with the repair, construction and maintenance of buildings.

The basic principle of establishing ceiling prices at the highest levels of last March remains unchanged, but the mechanism has been simplified.

Among the more common services covered at all levels—retail, industrial and commercial—are the repair and rental of automobiles, trucks and buses, tractors, trailers, small or portable electrical appliances, bicycles and business machinery, store and kitchen equipment, and the development and printing of photographs.

Repair of farm machinery, commission selling, grinding, mixing, bagging, fumigating and sampling of grain done on a custom basis, baling of hops, processing of vegetable or fruit nuts and the cleaning, mixing and bagging of seeds are among the farm services covered.

Shoe repairing, dry cleaning, hat blocking, repairs to hosiery, fur storage and many kinds of household repairs are also covered.

Automobile graveyard dealers in 47 counties of northern Ohio accounted for 19,569 tons of vital iron and steel scrap in 30 days.

Housewives can help materially in the war effort by demanding fewer services from delivery trucks. Incidentally, if the lives of the trucks and tires are not prolonged—well, there won't be any deliveries at all one of these days.

Mobilization of strong leadership to promote measures for better wartime protection of children will be sought by the Commission on Children in Wartime. The aims are to guard children from injury, protect them from stress in defense areas, strengthen the home life of children whose parents are mobilized for work or war, and to conserve, equip and free children of every race and creed to take their part in democracy.

You may not travel in much comfort, but you are helping the war effort by submitting to some inconveniences. Voluntary revisions in passenger schedules, services and equipment assignments in six months has released 114 locomotives and 533 passenger cars for war traffic.

A drastic reduction in the list of persons eligible to buy bicycles was put into effect Saturday.

OPA has set ceiling prices that shoe repairmen may charge for rubber heels, attached to shoes. The ceiling for men's full heels run from 65c for corded heels down to 45c for competitive grades. Ceilings for women's toplifts run from 20 to 30c, depending upon the material used.

Iron and steel necessary to facilitate the conversion of oil-burning furnaces to the use of coal have been allocated by the WPB to assure manufacture of grates and equipment before winter.

Only about 500 retailers of an estimated 300,000 in the five states covered by the OPA headquarters in Cleveland have applied for price ceiling adjustments to put them in line with competitors.

Regrooving of tires without the prior written approval of the WPB director general of operations has been prohibited.

Piqua and Troy, O., have been added to the Defense Housing Critical Area list.

An attack on the problem of reducing the 24,000,000 man-hours lost monthly on the production front will be launched through a national industrial nutrition program.

Men's work clothing will have fewer pockets, fewer buttons and buckles, and no unnecessary yard-

Rumors that OPA is going to ration certain specific commodities have arisen from the agency's plans to meet possible future emergencies with adequate rationing machinery. "Rumors thus started are not true," it was stated officially.

FERGUSONS LEAVE

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ferguson and daughter Marjie left Monday for Paintsville, having sold their home here to Mrs. W. A. Stewart. Mr. Ferguson, who for many years has been employed by the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company, expects to go to Detroit soon to engage in defense work. Few families, if any, could be more keenly missed in Maytown than this one, as the entire grog, including the son Clovis, who already is in Detroit, are talented, all of them being excellent leaders and splendid citizens. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson and Marjie as well have done outstanding work in the Maytown Methodist Church.

BRIDAL SHOWER

The lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hagans was the scene of a bridal shower Saturday afternoon, when Mrs. Hagans honored her sister-in-law, Mrs. Edward Friend, of Prestonsburg, with a miscellaneous shower, attended by a large group of friends. Mrs. Friend, formerly Miss Violet Hagans, was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, which she graciously acknowledged. At a late hour guests were served dainty refreshments by the hostess. Out-of-town guests included Miss Virginia Hall, of Hippo, Mesdames Morton McGlothen, of Sallsbury, and Steve Clark, of Wheelwright.

TRY AN AD IN OUR CLASSIFIED COLUMN—IT WILL BE OF GREAT VALUE TO YOU!

KENTUCKIANS HAVE A RIGHT TO KNOW THE RIGHT ANSWERS!

HARRY D. FRANCE, State Director

Q: Isn't strict regulation of legal beer and other beverages better than the unregulated conditions of Prohibition?

A: Positively! Prohibition's "blind pigs", speakeasies and bootleggers undermined the morals of our people and their respect for law and order. The government spent millions in enforcement, lost countless millions in revenue. Today, legally licensed beer outlets are under constant official surveillance and supervision. Gangsterism is gone. And beer alone provides the Federal Government with nearly half a billion dollars a year in much-needed tax revenue.

Q: Do present laws provide adequate control of the sale of beer?

A: Yes. Under present enforcement methods, the Kentucky A. B. C. board maintains a staff of field agents to inspect licensed retail beer outlets. Law violations result in suspension or revocation of licenses. County and municipal officials are quick to move in wherever a proprietor violates the law. The irresponsibles are being systematically eliminated.

Q: How is the beer industry in Kentucky meeting its public responsibilities?

A: By helping the authorities to maintain decent conditions wherever beer is sold. Proprietors are warned against allowing infractions. Persistent law violators are cited to proper officials by the Kentucky Committee of the Brewing Industry Foundation. With your cooperation, the remaining few undesirable beer outlets can be cleaned up or closed up—without eliminating the great majority of law-abiding beer retailers.

KEEP YOUR BONDS

BUYING war bonds is an act of real patriotism as well as a sound investment. Cashing war bonds is just the opposite. Unfortunately, there is a rather large percentage of bonds in the smaller denominations being turned in for the surrender value. Turning in these bonds not only means that the government is deprived of that much money for the financing of the war, but also means it must pay for the extra bookkeeping of a cancellation.

Of these there are some cases of real hardship, such as unexpected illness or an accident or death in the family. In such cases, no one can be condemned for surrendering a war bond to provide ready money. But those cases are rare. There are many more individuals who are buying bonds, and getting credit for the patriotism those purchases represent, who turn in the bonds for cash as soon as the bonds are eligible for surrender. They just don't want the bonds.

This is worse than shabby patriotism. It is a drain on the government. It costs something to sell bonds. It costs more for the bookkeeping involved in cancelling them. The government is the loser when an individual buys a bond and then surrenders it two months later. He loses the use of his money for two months. He gives up a sound investment. And he is guilty of a specious patriotism, of trying to get credit for a patriotism he does not really have.

It might be wise if war bonds of small denomination were issued in future with no surrender value for the first year. This would eliminate the rapid turnover which is costing the government money by taking up the time of postal employees and other persons who handle the surrender of bonds. But whether the terms of the bonds are changed or not, every citizen is urged to keep the bonds he buys. He contributes nothing to the war effort by purchasing bonds, if he does not intend to keep them. As a matter of fact, such a person is a drag on the war effort.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Gas Future, Dark

goffin county operations where a well was drilled in on the Kelly Howard lease Monday. Inland had two locations on the lease. A roadway was built to the second well while drilling was proceeding on the first. The first sand in the well being drilled was unproductive, but the second luckily paid. Had gas in paying quantities not been struck in this shallow sand, drilling on to the shale would have been necessary, making preparations for drilling on the second a total loss. Now, on this second well, if gas is not struck before the shale is reached, the company, under existing regulations, will be obliged to cap it in at a loss of around $3,500.

Mr. Miller contended that the purpose of the federal regulation—to conserve casing and other materials—is far from being achieved. On the contrary, he said, more and costlier materials must be used by the scattering of wells. "Our company," he said, "has on occasion been forced to lay a feeder line of five or six miles in order to connect up wells scattered over a wide area because 160-acre leases are few, while the average length of casing needed for a well to the shale is only 3,000 feet." The current cost of 6-inch casing used in a well is 68c per foot, and an average of 2,000 feet of it is necessary, while the several miles of pipe required to connect widely scattered wells costs on an average of 26c per foot, it was shown. "The cost of pipe used in connecting lines is much more than that of the casing in the deepest wells in this section," Mr. Miller added.

Another hardship imposed on the drilling industry arises from the fact, it is pointed out, that under the federal ruling, the laying of temporary test lines to supply rigs is necessary, such lines to be replaced by permanent lines if the wells prove productive. Before the ruling went into effect, it was stated, a permanent line could be laid to a location and if the well was a failure it could then be extended on to a nearby location on some small lease. This doubles the outlay of manpower and material costs, it is claimed. Added to the consensus of qualified opinion that the situation is "getting desperate and is killing this field," is the prediction of W. W. Cooley, an independent in this field, that gas activity will "almost be nothing within a year." If the ruling remains in effect, gas men contend, only emergency measures will keep the Eastern Kentucky gas field alive.

Prestonsburg-Drift Baseball Series Starts Sunday

Prestonsburg and Drift meet Sunday at Drift in the first tilt of a five-game baseball series which will probably end baseball in this section "for the duration," it was announced this week.

The series follows folding up of the Big Sandy league. The loop's disintegration began last month with the flooding of the Wheelwright ball park at a time when the Wheelwright team was leading the league. Later, Thealka quit when two or three of the team's best players joined the Prestonsburg team. Last Sunday, there was not a scheduled ball game played.

During the five-game series, the two teams will shuttle back and forth, each Sunday, between Drift and Prestonsburg. Location of the fifth game, if necessary, may be decided by toss of a coin.

Among "new" vegetables grown by members of homemakers' clubs in McLean county are Chinese cabbage, Bibb Lettuce and Brussels Sprouts. The cool, late spring, followed by rains, produced the best gardens seen in the county in years.

OFFICIAL UNITED STATES TREASURY KENTUCKY WAR BOND QUOTAS FOR AUGUST

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 10.—Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, today announced the August War Bond Quotas for the 3,070 counties in the nation totalling $815,000,000.

The August quota for the State of Kentucky is $7,250,000. In arriving at the county quotas for August the Treasury Department took into consideration major factors affecting incomes which in turn cause significant variations in sales during the twelve-month period.

Hereafter actual Bond sales in the various states will be compared with quotas on a cumulative basis. The amount by which sales fall short of or exceed quotas in any month will be added to or subtracted from quotas for future months. Quotas by counties are:

- Adair, $14,900; Allen, $12,900; Anderson, $20,800; Ballard, $9,600; Barren, $51,300; Bath, $9,000; Bell, $56,500; Boone, $15,900; Bourbon, $50,000; Boyd, $128,400; Boyle, $54,200; Bracken, $17,800; Breathitt, $5,600; Breckinridge, $18,600; Bullitt, $22,100; Butler, $5,500; Caldwell, $25,300; Calloway, $35,600; Campbell, $220,000; Carlisle, $12,500; Carroll, $19,300; Carter, $21,400; Casey, $5,300; Christian, $112,200; Clark, $50,000; Clay, $9,900; Clinton, $6,200; Crittenden, $13,200; Cumberland, $4,100; Daviess, $140,300; Edmonson, $6,800; Elliott, $1,100; Estill, $9,900; Fayette, $460,000; Fleming, $23,300; Floyd, $29,700; Franklin, $136,400; Fulton, $40,700; Gallatin, $7,400; Garrard, $10,500; Grant, $10,500; Graves, $75,400; Grayson, $15,800; Green, $10,900; Greenup, $20,100; Hancock, $10,900; Hardin, $91,600; Harlan, $124,400; Harrison, $40,300; Hart, $17,500; Henderson, $75,500; Henry, $31,800; Hickman, $17,700; Hopkins, $77,300; Jackson, $1,100; Jefferson, $2,897,000; Jessamine, $21,500; Johnson, $21,500.

ness man, and to this union were born four children, all of whom, except the eldest, Pearl H. Allen, survive.

Until ill health forced his retirement Mr. Allen was connected with the Martha Leslie Coal Company, the Virginia Mining Company and the Purty Cannel Coal Company. Sol, as he was affectionately known to his many friends, was of a friendly, affable disposition and his life was marked by his helpfulness to others.

Besides his widow and mother, he leaves one daughter, Mrs. Russell Pelfrey, West Prestonsburg, two sons, H. T. and Tom Allen, both of Prestonsburg, and two grandchildren, Abigail Allen and Patricia Ann Pelfrey. He also is survived by four sisters and six brothers, all of whom reside in the West: Leo, Dick, Green, John, Theo and Taylor Allen, Mrs. Daisy Montgomery, Mrs. Northea Evans, Lola and Caroline, names of whose husbands are unavailable.

Funeral rites were conducted at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the home of Mrs. Russell Pelfrey, the Rev. W. B. Garriott, pastor of the Prestonsburg Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery, West Prestonsburg, under direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

MASTER COMMISSIONER'S SALE

FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT Sallie Meade, Adm., Plaintiff Vs.—NOTICE OF SALE W. L. Stumbo, Etc., Defendant

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered and entered at the May term, 1942, in the above styled cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Ky., to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 7th day of September, 1942, at 1 o'clock p.m., same being the first day of the regular term of the Floyd County court, upon a credit of six months, the following described property, to-wit:

- 1 Jersey cow; 2 Angus cows; 2 Aberdeen Angus cows; 1 Angus heifer; 1 Jersey heifer; 2 Angus steers; 2 Poland China sows; 1 Poland China boar; 2 Poland China sows; stored crops; 150 bushels corn; 1 Jersey cow; 1 cow aged 7 years, red dem.; 1 heifer aged 2 years, red dem.; 1 heifer aged 2 years, yellow Jersey. That certain real estate located on Spurlock Fork of Left Beaver Creek, bounded on the north by the Elk Horn Coal Corporation; on the west by the property of J. M. Roberts; on the east by the property of A. L. Meade and on the south by the property of Sam Roberts' heirs, being the interest of J. P. Meade in the Tan Allen farm, located on Gun Stock fork of Left Beaver Creek.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 20th day of August, 1942.

RADIO COMMERCIALS YOU NEVER HEAR

And it is generally recognized that a second front is of tremendous importance if civilization is to be saved. Now a word about Twidgett's Bread. Mr. Twidgett claims only one thing for his bread: it is just good bread. We have been too busy baking good bread to spare much time investigating vitamins. Twidgett makes bread the best way he knows how and there have never been any complaints.

"At this time between the Washington news on a second front and the last minute tremendous news from Russia, we wish to mention Twidgett's Sugar Buns. But only a mention, not a speech. Darned good buns, we think. We do not, however, claim that our armed forces cannot win the war if deprived of them."

"At this point, after which the news of the greatest naval fight in history, don't forget Boffie's Beer. It's made like most other beer, tastes like most other beer and, as a matter of fact, IS like most other beer. We think, however, it is more popular and our sales so indicate. It will not restore hair, cure intestinal troubles, give you a new outlook on life, solve the whole problem of evenings at home, make you a success in your business or simplify your gas and rubber cares. Boffie's beer is excellent, but we don't want to seem silly about it."

"Pausing for a moment between the tremendous news from Asia and the sensational dispatches from the Near East, we wish to take a few seconds for the Green Mountain Stogies. If they were not a popular stogie where would we get the dough for this radio program? They won't do a thing for you except give you a good smoke. All we can say about the tobacco is that it's the best we can buy. Without making ourselves ridiculous with an infantile melody to the effect that without Green Mountain Stogies life is not worth living, we return to the war news, which we feel a little guilty about interrupting . . ."

"And now, while civilization battles for its very existence a word about Hunkey's Goo Goo Bars. They're a candy. The kids seem to love 'em. They don't give a whoop whether they are filled with vitamins A B C and D or not. Neither do we. We are conscientious candy makers and know our business. Our sales have doubled since we cut out our somewhat absurd commercials, ditties and jingles and just interrupted this program for a few brief, simple mention of our popular product. We wish we had thought of it before."

"This account of the gravest battle to date is now interrupted for a mention of Zigger's Cooking Grease. Just a mention. There it is. Thank you. And back to the war news!"

SERIOUSLY SPEAKING

By E. F. EPLING

There's personality in THE TIMES—and it's full of life, something you can't describe but feel, that something you experience when reading the letter from Belfast, Ireland, how a stranger like Chaplain P. W. Henderson could write to the parents about their splendid son, one of our first war casualties, in Europe.

So it came natural for him to pen such a beautiful letter, accompanying a splendid picture of a splendid young man in a great American army—upholding the tradition of the founders of a great nation.

Pvt. J. C. Frazier's letter in THE TIMES is one of the best, quoting a part of what he said: "I wish every young man could feel as I do about this thing, and that is for us boys to fight to the finish and the good mothers of Floyd county to pray. I am sure my mother will do her part."

Yes, Pvt. Frazier, it must be grand to know you have a praying mother.

Pvt. E.V.H., if we had your address we'd write you. That means the whole family would participate. That idea about the flag and stars is swell, and probably something can be done about it. And there might be more papers—The Floyd County Times—coming to you boys soon, so there'll be less smatch-grabbing.

I might be able to send the paper to a couple and, if many more will do so, you all can read about your home county. If you and your buddy share reading a paper, that's fine. And sometimes, I suppose, a dozen reads the same paper, don't they? I thank you for the compliment on my column.

In my small way, I've tried to dedicate this column to the boys in the service, whether they be on the land, on the sea, or in the air. I want to feel, at least, I've done something to help and nothing to hinder.

A red worm, or a piece of rubber, either snaps back or breaks, when stretched. So it is with Togo and Hitler. Their lines must either recoil or break. Mussolini? Why worry?

Sugar Stamp No. 8 Will Get You Five Pounds

Washington, Aug. 15.—Sugar ration stamp No. 8 will be good for five pounds of sugar in the ten-week period beginning Aug. 23 and ending October 31, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

While not changing the basic ration of one-half pound per person per week, it will enable consumers to make purchases in larger units and facilitate the disposal of five, ten and 25-pound packages.

Stamps Nos. 6 and 7, each good for two pounds of sugar, may be used until midnight, Aug. 22. Stamp No. 7 gave the consumer a two-pound bonus.

War Program Citation Awarded

A citation for distinguished service in the National War Savings Program has been awarded to L. E. Wilson, president and general manager of Radio Station WCKY, Cincinnati, by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., U. S. Secretary of Treasury. A. E. Anderson, chief of the Hamilton County, Ohio, War Savings Program Staff (left) is shown here making formal presentation.

In addition to war savings programs and spot announcements broadcast daily over WCKY, the L. B. Wilson station has been designated as a public center for purchasing war stamps and war bonds, is selling bonds among employees and is a joint sponsor of Cincinnati's Fountain Square Demolition Depot where everything from ammunition to tanks is "sold" for stamps and bonds ranging in price from 10 cents to $10,000.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D. Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

WRITING FOR THE COUNTY PAPER

MANY an old-timer who reads this column will remember how excited he was when his first writing appeared in print, the print of the most democratic institution in America—the small town county paper. I share all the same feeling, for I, too, broke into print through my weekly summary of news from Fidelity. I was just 14 when, for some reason that I do not remember now, I decided to submit a page or two to the weekly county paper. To my surprise, the scrawl was accepted, as were dozens of others that followed it. It was the custom then to write with a non-de-plume; mine was "Bugbee," a name I had picked up in some contributions to the professional magazine that one of my rural teachers received monthly. Under that name I told who visited whom, just when and where church services were held, who spoke as a candidate, who held a picnic or a graveyard-clearing or house raising or quilting or log-rolling. Sometimes I launched into "real literature," I suppose you would call it, brief parables or fables in the style of what I read in the school readers. Sometimes these parables or fables were pretty thinly veiled and got on some of the favorite corns in the community; the shoe fit a bit too well and caused the usual trouble. One was so pointed that father came near ending my literary career, for I rather patently attacked one of the neighbors for her alleged mistreatment of her aged father-in-law. My story, not any too literary, was the setting down of some neighborhood gossip that I knew nothing about then and know even less now; but it was pointed enough to cause comment, probably the first real attention that words of mine had ever had. The readers on the far side of the county probably thought I was romancing, but the neighbors knew better. As I recall it now, this unfortunate incident just about ended my journalistic career, for shortly afterwards I went away to school and was too busy with books to write often. Occasionally I returned to my first love by telling the happenings among the students who had enrolled from Fidelity and neighboring places in my home county.

Somewhere there is a file of these weekly contributions to the news of the world; I wish I had access to it, for I am sure no amount of money can do the news items justice. Names of people long dead would shine forth as if they were among the great and important ones of earth; in a way they were just this, for their names got into a paper, one of the ways by which we defeat time. Doubtless there are many names in my weekly letters that do not appear on any tombstone, that place which many a person regards as the most lasting of human inventions. Like some of the people mentioned by Homer, my neighbors seem now to have been invented just to turn an item in a county paper and then went away, as some wag has said that Homer uses names of people only to say that certain struggles between Greeks and Trojans these otherwise unknowns perished. But any old copy of the weekly paper still records in black and white on yellowy paper live, interesting facts that show that humanity lived and felt and paid visits and worked then as now.

Some months ago I picked up a copy of my old home-county paper, the successor to the one in which my first writings appeared, and discovered that one of the contributors of the early nineteen-hundreds, a contemporary of mine, was still giving week by week happenings of the neighborhood where she lived, on the other side of the county. A few lines of her news items rolled back decades and made me feel again the magic of newspaper, a sort of immortality for those who live in Fidelity or elsewhere.

MONEY TALKS

By FREDERICK W. STAMM Economist and Director of Adult Education University of Louisville

THE price of food is increasing each month, and the control of food prices has become one of the most difficult problems of wartime regulations. Since the outbreak of the war in Europe, the retail costs of supplying the dinner table of city families of average means, as reported by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, have gone up 2 per cent. This simply means that when the housewife goes to the grocery store or the butcher shop she can buy only a little over two-thirds as much with her dollar as she could before the war. When you couple this with the fact that the salaries of white collared workers have not increased much, you can recognize the problem facing many American homes.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics showed further that the cost of many foods not under price control rose sharply between mid-May and mid-June, while those under regulation declined slightly. Prices of foodstuffs not under price ceiling advanced an average of 4.8 per cent, while controlled food prices declined an average of 1.3 per cent.

A report on retail store prices stated that 20 of 65 foods went up; 28 were lower; and 17 were unchanged. An important fact is, however, that the price regulation does not affect 24 of the foods priced, which make up more than 40 per cent of the average food budget of wage earners and salary workers in the lower brackets.

The price increases were led by fresh fruits and vegetables, lamb and poultry, none of which are subject to price control.

The Office of Price Administration is faced with the job of preventing violent increases in food prices that occurred during the first World War. The report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics indicates clearly that if we are to avoid the violent price fluctuations which occurred from 1917 to 1922, we must accept regulation of all prices.

Head-On Collision Sat., Hospitalizes Woman; Police Investigate

A head-on collision between two automobiles on the twin curves on the Mayo Trail, a short distance within the southern city limits here, Saturday resulted in the hospitalization of Mrs. Sophia Clark, Martin, with minor cuts and bruises.

One of the autos belonged to Tivis Jones and was being driven by John Kendrick, brother of Mrs. Clark. It is said, while the other belonged to Vester Fraley, caretaker of the federal building here. Mrs. Clark was an occupant of the Jones car and Fraley was accompanied by his wife, Jones was not in his car.

Chief of Police Epp Laferty and Policeman Albert Horn investigated the wreck. As a result of their findings, Chief Laferty stated, "It looked like Jones' car had come across the road on the curve and hit the Fraley car head-on." He added that Jones, who appeared following the wreck, stated that he would pay the damages to both cars.

No serious injuries were reported to the other occupants of the cars.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Hitler found out that his high powered mechanized and motorized army bogged down in the snow and mud of the Russian Winter. Although our Army is largely mechanized the cavalry factor is still a highly essential factor in this mounted division and in the Field Artillery. The Army also maintains remount farms where many cavalry horses are bred and raised.

These select horses cost from $100 to $165 and our crack cavalrymen are expert riders and carry on the traditions which have followed the cavalry from the earliest days of the Army. Purchase of War Savings Bonds will insure good mounts for the Cavalry. You and your neighbors buying War Bonds and Stamps regularly every pay day can help buy these horses for the U. S. Cavalry. Invest at least 10 percent of your income in War Bonds.

Floyd County Goes To War

Where Floyd Countians in Armed Forces Are, What They're Doing Told

Jefferson Barracks, Mo., (Spl.)—Pvt. Frank Salisbury, 41, son of Rebecca Salisbury, Printer, is a newly-arrived soldier at Jefferson Barracks Col. Allen Kimberly, commanding. This historic military post, on the Mississippi river a few miles south of St. Louis, is a replacement training center for the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command.

Here recruits are given vocational aptitude tests to qualify them for important duties as mechanics, photographers, radio operators, armorers, weather observers and other jobs which help "Keep 'em Flying." Following a period of instruction in basic military training and discipline, the recruits are sent to technical schools which further prepare them for active service with the army air forces.

Salisbury was employed as a carpenter by A. L. Caupe Const. Co., Louisville, and entered the armed service as a 1-B draftee in the July quota from Floyd Draft Board No. 45.

"Home was never like this!" says Pvt. William Jones, former U. S. postal employe here, on a postcard depicting an expanse of Western mountain scenery to THE TIMES. Jones is stationed at Fort Warren, Wyoming. "Bill" will probably find it more "home-like" in the near future with a large number of Floyd county boys being assigned to his post from Fort Thomas, the names of whom were published in last week's issue of this paper.

Presumably from down in Trinidad Island, off the coast of Venezuela, South America this last definitely known location, say his parents), Luther Baldridge, Jr., son of a Prestonsburg barber and resident of Allen, writes as follows: "As for me, I had a pet monkey about three months ago but I gave it away because it looked so much like a Jap; and I can't stand a Jap, can you?" Speaking of the little yellow "sons of the Rising Sun," Baldridge continues, "If the sun ever shines for these 'monkeys' it will make history."

Remarking of general conduct and loyalty, he states, "No man here asks another to do what he won't do himself, and no man has any fear. And, Dad, when you are sitting around thinking of me and wondering what I am doing, just say to yourself, 'He's doing his part,' and you will have it right! Because I am as loyal as the next man. And, Dad, if it ever comes a time that I have to give my life to be as loyal as the next man... my life it shall be!" He cautioned his parents not to worry about him "because I am healthy and feeling fine."

Edward Ellis Hale, 30, Blue River, former teacher in Floyd county schools, arrived at the U. S. Naval Training Station at Great Lakes, Ill., and qualified for the rating of radio technician, second class. Another arrival at Great Lakes was Francis Abe Akers, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Akers, Dwaile.

Lafon Ball, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Ball, Prestonsburg, volunteered at Baltimore, Md., and was accepted into the army last week. He was assigned to Co. A., 1st Bn., Fort Belvoir, Va.

Washington, D. C. (Spl.)—Jesse Madison Prater, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex L. (Dock) Prater, Lackey, has been selected for training and enlisted Aug. 13 as a Naval Aviation Cadet, the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board informed THE TIMES Monday.

Prater was graduated from Floyd-Knott high school, Lackey, Ky., in 1937, where he was a member of the basketball team, receiving a letter for that sport. For the past two years he has been employed as an assistant fingerprint classifier by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Washington, and has also attended George Washington University and is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Mr. Prater will be ordered to report to the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School, University of Georgia, Athens, Ga., for three months of training and conditioning. After completing this course, he will be sent to one of the navy's numerous bases for primary flight training.

Fort Knox, Ky. (Spl.)—Ready to begin their basic training course which, when completed, will qualify them for duty with the armored force, Pvt. David G. Bickford, son of Lorinda E. Bickford, Auxier, and Pvt. Luther Shell, son of Mrs. Martha Shell, Cliff, have arrived at the Armored Force Replacement Training Center here preparatory to duty with the newest and fastest-moving land force of the army.

During the second and last six-weeks period of schooling, the men may find themselves in any one of the following companies: special training, light tank, medium tank, scouting and patrolling, mortar, anti-tank, machine gun, assault gun, reconnaissance.

Upon "graduation" from the training center, most of the men will go into an armored division, while those showing exceptional ability will be sent to the armored Force School at Fort Knox to become technical specialists.

Ensign Edgill V. Hall, U. S. navy, was home on leave for five days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Hall, Weeksbury. Ensign Hall, who has been on active sea duty since graduation from the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., last December, seemed in good spirit and good health.

The following newly inducted personnel of the United States army have been sent forward from the reception center at Fort Thomas, to Branch Immaterial RTC, Camp Wheeler, Ga. Curtis Crisp, Chester A. Fairchild, Martin; Wed Hatfield, Fed; Andy Immon, Garrett; William A. Lacy, Maytown; Luther L. Reed, Alva; Warren C. Risner, Bypro; Roy Tackett, Dony.

Floyd Woman To Receive Degree, August 25

Morehead, Ky., Aug. 17 (Spl.)—Mrs. Nannie Hall, of McDowell, Ky., will receive a degree of Bachelor of Arts in Education at the commencement exercises at Morehead State Teachers' College, Aug. 25. Forty-two candidates have applied for degrees.

Dr. Frank Kingdon, Newark, N. J., noted author and radio figure, will deliver the commencement address.

WAYLAND HOT SHOTS

By R. H.

Mrs. Herbert Deskins and Mrs. W. C. Price visited their father, James Hounshell, during this past week. I just guess they had to come back and get a drink of this Wayland water.

Henry Barnett and Cecil Johnson were home from the armed forces this week on furlough.

Arthur Haywood looked a little dreamy-eyed over the week-end.

Tracy Clifton will maybe take in washing to get a full day when he lays off to do his own.

"Uncle" Rufus Bussey has come to the conclusion that he is not a spring chicken and doesn't mind being called old.

The wife of that certain friend of mine is still whistling and I understand that they haven't spoken to each other in a week. From here it looks as if he'll just have to quit this honky-tonking.

Jeg Butcher says that he can settle his own grievances without having to call on the home committee.

They say "Uncle" Johnny Hicks moved one of his girls out to get to move another one in. The one he moved out got displeased about it and got married and went to Dayton, O. The other went to Portsmouth, Va. That only left Uncle Johnny, Aunt Liz and "Fudge" and their dogs and cats. Looks like it leaves another vacancy for another of their children.

"Highpeckets" Mullins still wants to know my house number. He shakes hands with me every time he sees me. It looks as if I'll have to quit this Gang Busters crew and take in boarders or tell "Highpeckets" my house number.

Some dirty rat has been poisoning our dogs and cats this last week with dog buttons. Ten died in one day. They ought to have a dose of their own medicine.

Fortune teller Tony said he boarded with a man for two years. Rabbit, rabbit every meal. He asked the man where he gets these rabbits. He said, "Me go on back porch with sick and meow, hit 'em on head with stick." He found out that every cat in town disappeared and he had been eating them for two years.

Locals Unions Must Pay Social Security Tax On Checkweighmen

Local unions of the United Mine Workers of America employing checkweighmen are employers under the Social Security Act, according to a statement made today by Elbert M. Bohon, manager of the Ashland office of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance. Mr. Bohon pointed out that whereas under the Kentucky State Unemployment Compensation Law the services of checkweighmen are not covered so far as job insurance is concerned unless the local employs four or more checkweighmen, this work does come under old-age and survivors insurance.

"In Kentucky only those employers of four or more workers are covered under the state's unemployment compensation law," Mr. Bohon said. "Under old age and survivors insurance employers of one or more persons are covered and, therefore, a local union employing one or more checkweighmen paid by union funds becomes subject to the old-age and survivors insurance tax."

Mr. Bohon said that unions that have not paid social security taxes on checkweighmen should get in touch with his office.

DEATH ENDS PIKE MANHUNT

Slayer of Damron Found; Is Believed Suicide Victim

Discovery of the body of John Frank Brown, who had been sought since the slaying of McKinley Damron and the wounding of a constable at Hardy in Pike county on Wednesday of last week, near Stringtown, Ky., five miles east of Williamson, W. Va., ended one of Pike county's most extended man-hunts of recent years, Friday. An inquest jury impaneled by Magistrate Arnold Anderson, of Pike county, decided Brown had died of a self-inflicted bullet wound in the head after having suffered a wound in the leg in the exchange of gunfire with Constable George Runyon. Damron, Brown's son-in-law, fell in the doorway of his home at Hardy after being shot near the heart. Runyon, who took up the chase, was shot four times, but attaches at a Williamson hospital said the wounds are superficial. Witnesses to the shooting of Damron reported Brown fired, after having asked his granddaughter, To avoid missing an issue of THE TIMES renew your subscription now Damron's daughter, for a drink of water. Neighbors said, however, there had been ill feeling between the two men.

Anderson said the body of Brown, still warm, was found by James Bartram, of the Stringtown district, a short time after the bullet was fired, ending his life. The Magistrate added that Brown, suffering from the leg wound and knowing he was hunted, had made himself a bed of cardboard boxes near a fence along the Tug river.

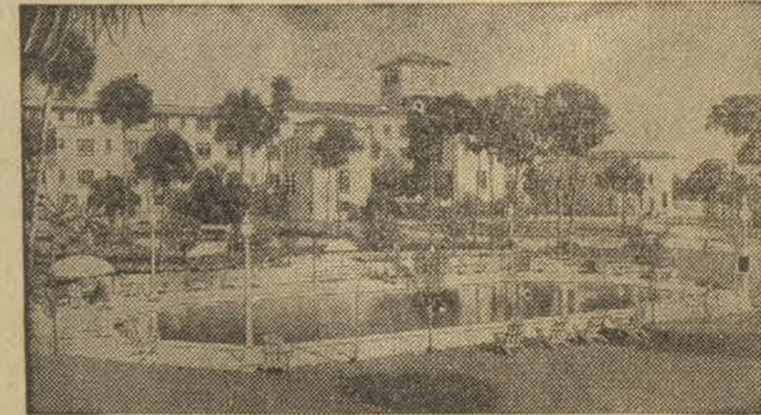

State Vocational Schools Train 80,000 for Jobs

Within the past two years the vocational schools of Kentucky have trained more than 80,000 people for specific jobs in the war effort, announces R. H. Woods, state director, vocational training for war production workers. One of the larger responsibilities for training in Kentucky is in the field of radio. The vocational schools have the responsibility of training between 20,000 and 30,000 persons to act as radio technicians for the Signal Corps of the U. S. army.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A FULL DAY'S WORK

Editor, The Times: We wish to inform you of our correct address, which is stated here. Since we're the only Floyd countians stationed here, as far as we know, you really don't know how much we enjoy reading about things that have happened back home, if we have time to read. This may sound "sorta" wacky but just look over our schedule, which follows:

- (1) 3:45 a. m.—hit the floor; (2) 4:00 a. m.—revellie; (3) 4:00-5:00—policing barracks; (4) 5:00-6:00—chow (the lines are long, the distance longer); (5) 6:00-11:30—classes; (6) 11:30-12:30—same as item 4; (7) 12:30-2:00 p. m.—same as item 5; (8) 2:00-2:30 p. m.—march to barracks; (9) 2:30-3:30—calisthenics; (10) 3:00-3:30—supervised athletics.

Since we have no union, we participate in such athletics until 5 p. m.

- (11) 5:00-6:00—same as item 6; (a much longer line); (12:00) 6:00-8:00—study period; (13) 8:30 p. m.—hit the hay—and are we tired!

MORE ABOUT THE FOX THAT CAME BACK

Editor, The Times: After reading recent "Letters to the Editor," especially the ones about the fox and the chickens, I felt it my duty to write in and shoulder my part of the responsibility. I am the one who released the foxes after obtaining them from our Fish and Game Club, and I do not want any part of the blame placed on the club for the fox slipping back at night and getting him a chicken dinner.

The Fish and Game Club had absolutely no control over the foxes after I released them. Game Warden Burke is absolutely right in saying that the club could not be responsible for any chickens the foxes may catch. Foxes are not the only animals that catch chickens and I advise farmers to keep their poultry houses locked at night. I ought to know—for it was my chicken house that was robbed.

Mrs. Florence Goble Dies at Paintsville

Mrs. Florence (Wells) Goble, 69, died Tuesday, Aug. 4, in a Paintsville hospital after a short illness. She was the daughter of the late Morgan Wells, of Odds, Ky., and was related to many people in Johnson and Floyd counties.

She had lived at Auxier after her marriage to James Goble and in later years they had made their home at Lancer, Floyd county. Nine children were born to this couple.

The body was prepared by the Jones Funeral Home and removed to the home of a son at Auxier. Funeral services were not held until Sunday, August 9, pending the arrival of a son in the U. S. Army—Paintsville Herald.

UNHAPPY WIVES FIND NEW HOPE IN SPECIAL VITAMIN COMBINATION

Clinical Tests Demonstrate Sterile Women May Be Aided—Happy Homes Are Dependent on Babies

Nothing equals a baby to bring complete unity and happiness into the home and tie husband and wife into a stronger bond of enduring love and mutual interest.

Many homes break up from lack of children and contribute to the amazing American record of one divorce for every five marriages. Unhappy wives, childless due to a vitamin-deficient functional weakness, may now enjoy the desires and activities of Nature's most wonderful creation—a normal, fully-developed, vigorous woman.

new vitamin of the B Complex group has a striking effect on sterility. Twenty-two women, with known sterility records for as much as five years were selected for the test. After weeks of heavy dosage with Paraaminobenzoic acid (a vitamin of the B Complex group) more than half of these women became mothers.

Thus it is apparent that highly fortified vitamin combination may be just the thing needed by the childless wife and quickly bring the happiness of a baby into the home.

If you are childless and have even given up hope, if you wish to eliminate one of the greatest causes of unhappy marriages, by all means give the Perlex Combination Vitamin System a short trial in the privacy of your home. To introduce this new vitamin combination quickly to a million women, the Perlex Company, 314 North Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois, will send a regular $2.00 supply for only $1.00 and a few cents postage. You need send no money—just your name and address. Perlex comes in a plain wrapper—directions are quite simple, and no special diet or exercise is required.

THE GARDEN

By JOHN S. GARDNER Kentucky College of Agriculture

THE WINTER GARDEN

By the "winter garden" is not meant the one that so many persons intend to have in the winter but do not always have the next summer. Rather, it deals with the vegetables the summer garden supplies for use in the winter to follow.

In fact almost half a garden's value lies in the inventory as of Nov. 1, of the vegetables canned, dried and stored. It is of these last that this column shall deal.

As to their storing, the vegetables fall into two groups. One includes white potatoes, beets, carrots, turnips and cabbage, the "cool" crops. The temperature at which they keep best is just above freezing, 34 to 36 degrees. The atmosphere should be moist, to slow down their wilting.

The other group, the "warm" vegetables, embraces the squashes, cushaws and sweet potatoes. Because they are harmed by even slight chilling they must be held at above 50 degrees and the atmosphere of the storage must be dry as they rot readily.

Both groups are alike in that as they "breathe," the air of the storage becomes stale and even odorous. If fresh, clean air is not occasionally admitted, the flavor of the vegetables is affected and even sometimes their storability. It is in this regard, that of ventilation, that so many gardeners fail in storing their vegetables. So, today, its principles will be discussed, and next week and the next, its application, as storage structures are described.

To make sure of complete change of air throughout the structure, there must be an air outlet and air intake. Besides the "used" air the vegetables give off, moisture passes off, too. Now, moist air is lighter than dry air, and its tendency is to rise to the ceiling, and, if means is provided, to escape. The outlet vent, accordingly, should be placed at the highest point in the storage. However no air can leave the structure unless some means is provided for other air to enter. Accordingly, to complete the ventilating system a lower opening must be provided through which fresh air may flow in. Thus, in intake vent is placed at the floorline or just above it to insure the movement of all the air in the room. Size of both vents should be the same, and in most cases should have the same area in square inches, as the floor of the storage room or cellar has, in square feet.

"...A SHARP ENEMY ATTACK WAS REPULSED DURING THE NIGHT..."

TODAY'S war communiques have a familiar ring to the men of your electric company. For years, they've been fighting cyclones, sleet, snow, lightning, and other natural enemies, all around the clock and calendar.

When real war came, they were ready. Ready for day and night duty. Ready to keep the lines hot with the precious electricity that powers America's war industries.

Tank, plane and ship production schedules that seemed fantastic a few months ago are being surpassed today—partly because these men knew their job so well. They knew the job because they learned it the hard way—the American way—from the ground up.

Experienced business management, built upon the savings of millions of Americans, has given this country by far the most and the best electric service in the world. It's the reason why the average American home enjoys cold milk and hot coffee, clean rugs and clean clothes, accurate time and accurate news electrically—all for a dime a day! Only a free people could have accomplished that.

And he doesn't have many to spare, either!) His final act here was having a half-ton truck driven upon his chest and bouncing the truck up and down with 10 men seated on it.

All that is needed for his stunts, he says, is "a weak mind and a strong back." He carries no "props" or paraphernalia with him and borrows whatever is needed for his show from local business places wherever he visits. This was his second appearance here. He is now showing in towns throughout this region and makes no specified charge but relies solely upon a collection from the assembled people after performing all but the last of his stunts.

OUR REGRETS

Because he did good work in the cause of religion, not only in Prestonsburg but elsewhere in the county, and because he didn't try to look like a homesick dyspeptic while doing it, this column regrets the departure of "Reg'lar Feller" Campbell Jeffries.

IN HIS STEPS

The story was told me this week of the conversion of a Floyd county man who later gained considerable local fame as a preacher.

It was in the days when every dotting parent hoped his or her son would be an orator. This future pulpit orator at the time was "one of the boys," only he was more gifted as a speaker and upon the slightest provocation would crawl up on a stump and deliver himself of a sermon to the amusement of his listeners.

After one such sermon, delivered between drinks, he and the rest of the gang decided to saunter over the river bank to a well-remembered spot where they had their jug hidden in the snow. Halfway down the embankment, he turned to see his young son following.

"Go back, son; you'll get your shoes full of snow," he called.

But the moppet didn't go back. "No, Daddy, I won't get snow in my shoes," he said. "See, I'm following in your footsteps."

The man carried the child home and there, we are told, knelt to promise God his footsteps thereafter would never stray.

A LITTLE MAN WITH A WILL

Estill Leo Tackett, of Hartley, Ky., is not the little man who wasn't there. He's right on the spot, raring to be of some use to his country in the current unpleasantness.

Twenty-one year-old, four-foot-ten, 95-pound Estill has been having one awful time getting into this war. He tried both the army and navy, but no dice. So he straddled his bicycle and pedaled the 50 miles or more from Hartley here to enroll for NYA defense shop training. And his burning desire to get to do something, somewhere, in this war caused NYA officials to overlook his size (or lack of it) and make an exception in his case, Goebel D. Burton, area personnel officer, said.

Since the day of his enrollment, August 5, his progress report shows that his grades have been as good as those of any trainee ever to work in the shop. He missed three days' work when a flood hit Pike county while he was at home visiting the folks. At that, he didn't exactly wait for the water to go down—he waded it up to his neck to get back to work.

He is a nephew of Joe P. Tackett, Prestonsburg attorney.

NOT BAD!

Statement of the Martin Waterworks, published in this week's TIMES, is a lesson in sound finance during the year 1941 the waterworks' total income, including its 1940 balance of $320.47, was $5,518.65. After paying all operating costs, the waterworks paid $2,900 on its bonded indebtedness that year and wound up with a cash balance of $535.89.

DENTAL DATES MUST BE KEPT

Teachers Warned Pupils Might Lose Benefits Of Free Service

Failure of teachers, parents, trustees and school organizations to perform the duties of getting pupils needing dental treatment to the modern dental unit on the day assigned any certain school district may cause children of the community to lose the benefits of free dental service, a letter mailed to teachers warns.

Dr. Marvin Ransdell, director of the Floyd County Health Department, said that when a school fails to respond and shows a lack of interest, it is almost impossible to make another appointment "because our health program for the year is complete and crowded to the fullest point."

The dental trailer, operating in Floyd county this year for the first time as a permanent service, through the cooperation of the health department and the State Board of Health, Louisville, with Dr. O. G. Pennington, Edmonton, Ky., in charge, will be maintained for indigent children or those of the low-income group between the ages of six and 10 years. A child over the age limit will be treated only in a case of emergency, Dr. Ransdell explained. The responsibility of certifying the pupils as indigent rests entirely upon the judgment of the teacher. This work will be carried on for six days a week and approximately 10 children, the average number from a one-room school requiring treatment, can be handled each day. A consolidated school will average 30 pupils needing dental work, it is estimated.

Examination of children, a preliminary to actual treatment, is now under way in a majority of the one-room schools and where it is not practical to pay a visit to the school itself, due to the condition of some of the roads which is hampering the routine work of the health department, a certain number of permit cards will be mailed to the teachers for distribution to students who are deemed, upon the teacher's inspection, in need of dental work. These cards must be signed by the parents and brought to the trailer. Dr. Pennington will not be permitted to work for children who fail to bring the permit cards. In a school where the dentist is able to pay a personal visit he will issue these cards at that time. All work will be conducted in the trailer and no work, Dr. Ransdell stated, not even examinations, can be done in the Prestonsburg office.

Actual operative work will start just as soon as the county consolidated schools start on Aug. 31. An effort will be made, it was announced this week, to get to the most remote sections first before roads get too bad.

A list of 12 tentative locations, adopted from a standpoint of children enrolled in nearby schools and the accessibility of necessary electrical current, was announced this week. These central points are David, Betsy Layne, Prestonsburg, Allen, Maytown, McDowell, Garrett, Wayland, Drift, Bypro, Auxier and Fed. No definite dates for the trailer visits can be established at the present time, due to the undetermined number of children that may be treated at the different locations, but the teachers of the various schools that will be subject to any given location will be duly notified in plenty of time, it is said, and, during the course of the year, more than one visit may be possible. Treatment, each day, will be carried on between the hours of 8 and 4 p.m.

Mrs. Edgar Adams, 26, Tuberculosis Victim At Martin Hospital

An illness of three years of tuberculosis resulted Friday in the death at the Martin General hospital of Mrs. Nora Marie Charles Adams, 26 years old, wife of Edgar Adams.

A daughter of Oscar and Mrs. Malissa Travis Charles, she was born at Torchlight, Lawrence county, but had resided with her family at Betsy Layne for several years. She was married in 1931 and is survived by her husband and three children: Waldeen, 9, Daniel Lee, 7, and Glenna Gale, 4. She also leaves her father, two brothers, one sister, two half-brothers and a half-sister: George Charles, Hager Hill; Leonard Charles and Mrs. Cora Woods, of Emma; Orle Adkins, McDowell; Wyatt Adkins, Tram, and Mrs. Effie Akers, of Dana.

Mrs. Charles was a devout member of the Baptist Church. Her funeral was conducted Sunday at the graveside in Betsy Layne cemetery, the Rev. Isaac Stratton, assisted by the Rev. Otto Woods, officiating, and burial was made under direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

DRAMA-PACKED CONVOY VOYAGE

ATLANTIC COAST—PIXPAGE—A sudden blast sank a collier that was under U. S. Navy escort in a convoy on the Atlantic coast. The blast was ascribed to an enemy mine. Here a survivor dries his face with a towel after being blinded and choked by the oily waters. A quick and efficient job was done by the Navy in rescuing survivors. It so happened that the Navy Department had permitted a photographer and several correspondents aboard, none of whom bargained for the ensuing incident on such short order.

Eighteen from Floyd Train at Lexington For Radio Work

Eighteen Floyd county men are in training as radio technicians at the Fayette County Vocational School, Lexington, Ky. Of these, 12 completed their initial training at the Mayo State Vocational School, Paintsville, three at the Ashland Vocational School, and three at the Fayette county school.

The men are Robert H. Hayes, Bernlyn R. Marshall, of Prestonsburg; Charles H. Hager, of East Point; Brady M. Collins, James F. Terry, William Terry, Jr. of Lacey; Francis A. Rose of Estill; Rell W. Roberts, of Osborn; Andy J. Patrick, Bluford Smith, of Fed; William Wright, of Wheelwright; Robert L. Spradlin, of Auxier; James A. Baldrige, of Bonanza; Elmer C. Martin, of Amba; Joseph A. Hall, of Betsy Layne; Clyde E. George, of East Point; Herman V. Harmon, Wayland, and Billy May, Cliff.

Selected and employed by the Signal Corps of the U. S. army, the men are devoting all their time to the training offered by the vocational schools. During their first training, they received $85 a month. As advanced trainees, they are receiving $120 a month.

These and the more than 5,000 other men now in radio training in the 12 vocational schools of the state, are learning to construct, operate and maintain all types of radio equipment. After completing their work in the vocational schools, they report to the Lexington Signal Depot.

Can Snakes Suck Cows?—Experts Say They Can't

Lexington, Ky. (Sp.)—Snakes can't suck cows, declare experts at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Their mouths just won't do the trick. In most instances the cow probably is sucking herself.

Another myth is that killing frogs causes cows to give bloody milk or to go dry. There is no connection between a frog and a cow.

Salt Lick Saved Lives

Their rims eaten away, yet remain in this county. D. B. Arnett, of Cliff, has one, and Amos Dotson, of Rough and Tough, another. Dr. M. T. Dotson, Prestonsburg, a brother of Amos Dotson, tells of the further use of one of these kettles. "I made sugar in it and made enough money to buy my first suit of clothes," he recalls.

The days when these kettles were in operation at the lick after having been brought overland from Virginia are remembered by several Floyd countians, all men around or above 80 years of age.

J. M. Arnett, West Prestonsburg, recalls that Jonse Whitaker and John Sluss once made salt at the lick. They credered through Morgan Lackey, pioneer Eastern Kentucky merchant, 20 kettles, 19 of which they placed in the furnace, but selling the other which is now in the possession of D. B. Arnett. Whitaker had had previous experience in the salt-making business while residing in Virginia.

The late John Joseph (who died last year) told relatives of his father, Billie Joseph, and Wiley Whitaker working at the salt works and of spending some time there himself, although too young to work. Before the lick was commercially operated, salt was brought to this section from King's Salt Works, near Petersburg, Va.

Allen Stone, of Blue River, who was born in 1853 recalls that David Hamilton, a son-in-law of Wiley Whitaker, operated the salt works for years. For the protection of the horses on which the salt was carried over rough, twisting trails sheepskin bags were used with the wool left on to protect the horses' skin.

Others who have memories of the salt-making days on Middle creek are John E. Rose, West Prestonsburg, and W. M. Dings, Prestonsburg—days when salt was as precious as rubber is in 1942. Sam May, pioneer settler, it is recalled, paid $5 for two pints of salt on one occasion.

CHILD IS VICTIM

Franklin D., three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hunter, of Woods, succumbed Friday at the Hunter home, a victim of a kidney ailment from which he had suffered for several weeks. Besides the bereaved parents, the little victim is survived by two brothers and three sisters, William J., Flora, Margaret, James and Helen Marie.

The funeral was conducted Saturday from the residence by the Rev. Isaac Stratton and burial was made in the family cemetery on Cow Creek under direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

Tobacco consumption continues to forge ahead, says the market department of the Kentucky Experiment Station. During the 11 months, July 1, 1941, to June 1, 1942 cigarette consumption increased 15 per cent; cigars, 7 per cent; and snuff, 8 per cent, over the corresponding period a year earlier.

Members of homemakers' clubs in Hart county report making at home a total of 673 pounds of toilet soap, 2,712 ounces of hand lotion and 232 ounces of tooth powder. One woman reported making 120 pounds of soap.
