

A DIS-HONOR ROLL?

Floyd countians have for the last few weeks been contributing quite liberally to the fund being raised to finance construction of the Honor Roll of those serving us here at home and the country in the armed services. They will continue to do so until all the money needed is subscribed. This newspaper is publishing, each week, the names of those who thus do honor to Those Who Serve.

Now, THE TIMES wonders how much you folks who are buying War Bonds and Stamps to the fullest extent of your resources would like to subscribe to a fund to provide another "board" bearing the names of those who are able to buy but who haven't bought any War Bonds? No, don't start sending money in—that is, just now, merely a theoretical matter. But we would like to have expressions of opinion from those who would like to see the names of these slackers emblazoned where the world could see who they are. Make those expressions short BUT SWEET, please.

ABOUT THE ADS

There may not be a lot of news in the ads this newspaper publishes. But we hope you all read the advertisement in last week's TIMES of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company. And this week—the Kentucky & West Virginia Power Company proves its patriotism by paying for an ad, to ask folks to use less of their product—"juice"—simply because it has been decided that a reduction in power consumption will mean a saving to the country as a whole in coal and other fuels necessary to power production. How many local advertisers would pay for an ad advising folks to buy fewer of the advertisers' wares? The call on the pocketbook is a real call for patriotism.

And don't forget those who help the local newspaper tell the War story.

OLDTIMER

And now the Associated Press tosses up with a dispatch from Knoxville, Tenn., which the daily newspapers printed as news, but which originated, so we heard 20 years ago, in this section. The yarn runs to the effect that a certain pore critter was elected to the office of constable. His family learned of his success in the field of politics and one of his many children inquired: "Mammy, is all of us constables?" To which the mother answered: "No, honey—don't be foolish—just me and yore pa."

HI-HAT, KY.

Incidentally, some of the folks in the vicinity of the postoffice formerly known as Fed don't like the new name given the place. It sounds too Hi-Hat, they say. Speaking of postoffices, wonder what church the fellow who named Softshell, Ky., belonged to?

MAKE IT GOOD NEWS

What's the war news? That's the question that has taken the place of "Think it'll rain?" And the boys that are fighting, that war are equally as anxious to hear from the Home Front. Let's make it good—buy more War Bonds than we've even asked to buy!

School, Farm Interests Join Others in Bond Drive Thru County

Teachers, all School Employees Notified To Meet at Allen Saturday; Workers To Organize for Community Drives

An organized assault on Floyd county's huge Third War Loan quota of $893,100 was in the making this week as representatives of school, farm, club and business interests joined in planning a sales campaign during remaining days of the month.

W. P. Mayo, county War Loan chairman, announced the following as volunteers to aid the Bond Drive: County Superintendent Town Hall, representing the county schools; County Agent S. L. Isbell, farm representative; C. L. Huttsinger and Robert D. Francis, Kiwanis Club and merchants' representatives, respectively; Mrs. W. C. Rimmer, woman's organization leader; J. D. Harkins, Sr., banking representative.

A Starter of $26,500

The total in Bond Sales for this county during this first week of the drive were unavailable.

A notable purchase of Bonds, however, was that of $25,000 on the first day of the drive by the Glogora Coal Company at Glo. Later this week, the company's manager, J. S. Hampton, bought $1,500 worth of Bonds.

"We are hoping all coal companies and all other business firms of the county will invest as patriotically," Mr. Mayo commented.

The county's teachers, vital factors in past scrap salvage campaigns and in rationing registration, were called upon this week by County Superintendent Hall to throw their energies into selling bonds.

Mr. Hall indicated that a teacher and a farmer, the latter to be selected by County Agent Isbell, may form a sales committee in every school district of the county.

To organize the teachers, Mr. Hall this week mailed letters notifying them of a meeting of all principals, teachers and other school employees to be held Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in the grade school building at Allen.

"Please do not let anything except sickness or death keep you from attending this meeting!" he wrote. "Our finest young men and our closest relatives need our help. . . . Our men in army camps and in the front lines do not make excuses! They are answering the rollcall with shot and shell, bombs and bullets!"

Full details of the work to be done through the teachers and others of the school system will be outlined at the meeting.

CONTEST SUITS ARE DISMISSED

Clearing Political Scene For November Action; 3rd Suit Is Quashed

Stripped for action in November was the Floyd county political scene this week with the dismissal by agreed order of the contest suits filed by Bill Hall and Willard May against Troy B. Sturgill, Democratic nominee for Sheriff. Dismissal of the contestants' petitions was made amicably Monday. Contest action of Elson Kendrick, of David, was dismissed Sept. 7 by Special Judge Z. Wells, of Paintsville, on motion of contestee's attorneys to quash on their special demurrer. Kendrick's suit was filed on Sunday and this was held sufficient grounds to void his action.

No proof had been taken for either Hall or May, though the 10-day period prescribed for such work began Monday, Sept. 6.

There remained nothing new to report on the investigation begun three weeks ago by a representative of the State Bureau of Identification and Investigation into the reported theft of original contest suits filed in the Circuit Clerk's office here by May, Hall and Kendrick.

QUARANTINE OF 30 DAYS

Is Placed on Dogs In County as Move To Battle Rabies

A 30-day quarantine has been clamped down by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture on all dogs in Floyd county, County Judge E. P. Hill said Wednesday he had been advised by L. L. Brech, state veterinarian.

The quarantine of Floyd county's canine population was established, it was explained, to prevent a further spread of rabies. Numerous animals and several persons have already been bitten this summer by rabid dogs, it was said.

The quarantine order became effective Monday. Violation of the order by failure to keep dogs tied or otherwise confined is punishable by a fine ranging from $10 to $50 for the first offense and from $20 to $1,000 fine or a 30- to 90-day jail term, or both, for the second offense, County Attorney W. W. Burchett said.

HOWARD FREE IN SLAYING

Commonwealth Holds Proof Is Insufficient For His Conviction

The murder indictment against John Howard, charged with the shotgun slaying on Salt Lick Creek of Melvin Bolen, was dismissed Tuesday on motion of the Commonwealth after evidence available was held insufficient to convict.

Proof in the case indicated that Howard fired in self-defense on Bolen after Bolen and another man invaded the barn in which Howard was taking refuge while the two sought him.

The only trial of the week to hold any degree of interest was that of John M. Whitaker, Hueysville, charged with mayhem in the maiming of John Castle. He claimed self-defense but was given a one-year pen term. Whitaker will carry the case to the Court of Appeals, it was announced.

Among cases dismissed were those against Bertha Hughes, West Prestonsburg woman, charged with sending a threatening letter through the mails, and Raymond Turner, of Drift, named as permitting a slot machine on his premises.

Floyd Soldier Denies His Wounds Serious; Hero Awards Made

Whether the War Department could be mistaken in reporting her son, Pvt. James A. Burkett, 21, as seriously wounded in the Sicilian campaign or whether the soldier is trying to allay her fears for his safety in reporting that he is out of the hospital has Mrs. Emory Burke, of Glo, puzzled.

The War Department's telegram, dated Sept. 9, described Burkett's wounds, received Aug. 11, as serious. His letter, written Aug. 27, stated he had been released from an army hospital.

"I don't want you to worry and be looking old when I come home," he recently wrote his mother.

Burkett and a buddy captured 54 Italian soldiers, including an officer, during the battle for Sicily and he has been awarded the Purple Heart, Mrs. Burke said.

At Maytown, a few days ago, Mrs. Elmer Rowe received from President Roosevelt the Purple Heart posthumously awarded her brother, Willis Hicks, who was killed in the battle of Tunisia. A graduate of Maytown high school, he was a son of the late Bud Hicks and a grandson of Elliott Hicks.

PREVALENCE OF TRACHOMA

Is Found Widespread In County as 172 Examined Here

Trachoma is more widely prevalent here in Floyd county than was believed, it was discovered at the trachoma clinic held in the offices of the Floyd County Health Department here, Thursday of last week.

Records of the clinic, which was conducted by Dr. Robert Sory, director of the Trachoma hospital, Richmond, Ky., revealed that 172 registered for examination, that there were 18 old cases and 18 new; 22 were advised to take hospital treatment and 98 received medical treatment.

Prevalence of the disease is such that another clinic will be held within a few months and Miss Ida Ayer, nurse sent here a month ago to conduct a trachoma survey, will remain a few weeks longer till the more serious cases are hospitalized.

From Carroll Wade to FDR-- About Bonds and Prayer

A little boy at nearby Lancer, son of an American soldier in Sicily (perhaps now in Italy), is deeply interested in this matter of War Bonds and Stamps.

He not only has bought many War Stamps and two $25 Bonds, has four-year-old Carroll Wade Moore, Jr., but he has been writing President Roosevelt about them.

Wrote Carroll Wade on August 25:

"Mr. Roosevelt, you made a good speech yesterday. Every penny I get I save it to make dimes and every dime I get I buy Stamps to kill Japs, so my Daddy will come home. I am a little boy four years old. I pray for my daddy to come home. I pray for you too. Jesus died for the Japs too. My daddy is a private in Sicily. When I get a big man I will be a soldier like my dad."

Back from the White House came the following from Grace G. Tully, the President's private secretary:

"My dear Carroll:

"That was a nice little letter you sent the President on August twenty-fifth, and he asked me to thank you for your friendliness in writing. He is pleased to know that you are helping to win the war by the purchase of War Stamps and is indeed grateful for your remembrance of him in your prayers."

Floyd Flyer Who Bombed Italy Is Victim of Cupid's Blitz

Maj. William Edward Sutton, Jr., of Langley, the first American to bomb the Italian mainland, was dunned last week by the little guy armed with the old-fashioned bow and arrow.

He and Miss Evelyn Steffan, a sister-in-law of Steve Mesner, Cincinnati Reds third baseman, were married Friday morning at the home of the officiating minister, the Rev. John H. Cowan, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Cincinnati.

The ceremony followed a courtship of 10 days.

It all started when, among a score of telephone-callers, Miss Steffan inquired if he knew, or had seen, a certain officer-friend of hers in North Africa. No, he didn't know him. Would he like to go to a ballgame? No, he couldn't, because he had to return to his mother at Langley.

When the Floyd countian got back, however, he called Miss Steffan and asked her to see a game with him. That was the night of August 31.

He saw Miss Steffan that night, and every night since then. A week later they decided to be married and he took her to meet his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sutton, of Langley. She met the aunt and uncle he was visiting in Cincinnati, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Allen.

Only one problem remained: What about Miss Steffan's career? She starred in plays at the University of Indiana. She wanted to go on the stage.

"We compromised," said the Major. It was an army compromise, though—her career will be being Mrs. Sutton.

After a wedding luncheon given by Mrs. Albert Spordler, a friend of the bride's, the major and his wife left for California where he will be an inspector for a wing of the army air forces.

At 24, he is one of the youngest majors in the army, and has 302 hours of combat flying on his record. He wears the Silver Star, Distinguished Flying Cross, Purple Heart and Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster.

Floyd Manpower Pool Feels Heavy Demand Of Month's Calls

457 Selectees To Be Called From County During September; 267 are Notified For Service Exams on Sept. 24th

Floyd county's manpower available for service in the armed forces this week began feeling the touch of the heaviest hand to be laid upon it by selective service during any single month of the war. The total number of Floyd countians to be called up before month's end will be 457.

Two hundred sixty-seven selectees were notified to appear here Friday, Sept. 24, to leave at 6 a. m., for final pre-induction examination at Huntington.

Draft Board 44 will send 215 selectees, including three transferred from other boards from the section of the county comprised of Magisterial Districts 1 and 2. All these leave Friday of next week. Board 45 will send 52 on the same date, including two transfers.

On Sept. 30 190 more—186 whites, four colored—will be called up by Board 45.

It was estimated that half of those to be sent by Board 44 are married men without children, and a large percentage of the quota from Board 45 also is from the same class. The only fathers being inducted this month, it was said, are volunteers or married men separated from their families.

Soft Drink Dealers Asked To Assist Salvage Drive

County Attorney W. W. Burchett, chairman of the Floyd county salvage campaign, said this week every store in the county selling soft drinks is being asked to serve as a collection center for salvaged tin cans, and requested that those willing to co-operate notify him at once.

The only effort required of these stores, Mr. Burchett pointed out, lies in storing the tin cans until they are picked up by trucks of soft drink distributors or bottling companies.

Salvaging of tin cans, Mr. Burchett pointed out, is an important contribution to the war effort. Cans should be opened at both ends, washed and then flattened before being taken to collection centers.

AN APPEAL FOR CONSERVATION

"Every pound of coal, every gallon of oil, every cubic foot of gas that can be saved means that our National Energy pool is Strengthened"

From a statement by Messrs. Ickes, Eastman and Nelson.

To Electric Utilities and Their Customers: The War Production Board has proclaimed that maximum war production requires the greatest possible conservation of manpower, steel, tungsten and many other critical materials such as copper, accomplished by the voluntary cooperation of all citizens of our country in the effort. It has called for the institution of a program to effect savings on all home fronts by the Office of War Production, the Office of War Utilities, and other governmental agencies. These agencies have been developing the details of the conservation objective of the War Production Board to its members and they, in turn, to their customers so that the fullest conservation may be obtained. This is a definite challenge to each operating unit and each individual in the electric utility industry to do his or her share in backing up our fighting forces. We cannot exert maximum force against our enemies if waste on the home front is tolerated. In the electric utility industry, the installed generating capacity, together with capacity now under construction, is ample to meet all foreseeable electric needs. But, it is essential to save the use of electricity wherever possible so as to reduce directly or indirectly, the demands for materials, fuel, transportation, and maintenance of the electric utility industry, both public and private, has developed a comprehensive program to achieve the objectives of the War Production Board within that industry. The desired result will be obtained through the full cooperation of millions of people in the conservation program. With everyone contributing, the effect will be tremendous in hastening the day of Victory.

Sincerely yours,
J. A. Hagg
Director
Office of War Utilities

CONSERVATION of fuel, manpower, equipment and materials is a 'must' for the United States if we are to achieve the maximum war production every American wants." This is the theme of a joint statement by Harold Ickes, Joseph Eastman and Donald Nelson. In order to accomplish this result, it becomes necessary to ask all citizens to voluntarily cooperate by avoiding waste of coal, petroleum, water, gas, electricity, transportation and communications. At the Government's request, therefore, we urge all our customers to cooperate in this voluntary conservation program.

There is no shortage of electricity as such, either for war needs or for essential civilian use, but electricity is made largely from fuel and certain critical materials are required in connection with its production and use. No effort should be made to curtail uses of electricity necessary for public safety and health, including eyesight conservation or for production purposes. You will be obeying the plea of your Government if you simply avoid waste of electricity.

The joint statement referred to concludes with these words: "The campaign will be voluntary. Cooperation of these industries in asking the public to use their services only as absolutely necessary represents a real sacrifice by them. We ask the American public to appreciate that sacrifice and to give them and the war effort enthusiastic and unstinting cooperation as this campaign develops."

YOU AND A SABOTEUR

If a German alien or a known Nazi sympathizer were to set fire to your woodland, and you were to see him fleeing from the scene of his crime—what would you do?

You would shoot him, wouldn't you? You'd readily admit the shooting; you'd be recognized as a community hero for so doing.

His act would be instantly recognized as sabotage, the act of an enemy against you, your neighbors and your country. Suddenly would be impinged upon your long-dormant consciousness the fact that his act had destroyed the trees and undergrowth and leaves that prevent the washing away from your hillsides of all top-soil which fills your neighbor's streams and which converts every normally small "rise" in the creeks which border your bottomland into a disastrous flood.

You would shoot him—and you should. The enemy has no business within our gates, although he is here.

You should not shoot yourself or your neighbor for the same offense. Yet the effects of your crime and that of your neighbor to Floyd county's woodland and fields and streams is exactly that of the saboteur when you, through carelessness, wanton or otherwise, permit fire to rage unhampered.

No shooting should be done—but legal action should be taken to prevent us all from being robbed of what nature gave us at the start. You know that. The only reason the Nazi saboteur was mentioned in the first place was to bring to you your sense of duty more quickly and clearly.

Livestock along a hundred little streams of Floyd county are pitiful groups of refugees from thirst, these days of long drouth. The main streams of the little valleys where they graze are filled with sand. The water is there—but it's far underground. Water in the "branches" to those main streams has no feeder supply as in other years when the forest was little damaged, and so they have long since become dry.

The "fire season" becomes open soon to those thoughtless, senseless individuals who want to hunt and throw matches and scatter fires indiscriminately, to those who have a bit of burning to do on their farms and take no steps to prevent the spread of fire.

The Floyd county farmer whose soil is, in the main, hillside soil has a duty to perform during the "fire seasons" of this fall and next spring. It is not to shoot the enemy at home. It is to see that he either protects others from his own little burning sprees or faces the consequences in courts which should begin to have a full sense of their responsibility in the matter.

Keep the home fires burning—but don't let them burn up the homeland!

Attentive Audience Hears Sermons of Interest To Wartime World

The big tent revival opened here Sunday night, with a very attentive audience. All seemed deeply interested in the subject, "Heaven." It is wonderfully comforting, in these days, when war has touched nearly every home, to know that there is a real place of peace and happiness for all to come to know Jesus Christ as a personal Saviour and follow His footsteps thereafter. The speaker, the Rev. J. S. Jameson, said, "I know heaven is a real place, for Jesus Christ is real, and He said, 'I go to prepare a place for you.' We can absolutely depend upon what Jesus said."

He continued by pointing out some of the wonderful and marvelous things which the angel of God revealed to the apostle John, in vision of the glories of heaven. As we listened, with John the Revelator, we learned that the city "lieth four square." "He measured the city, twelve thousand furlongs." (Revelation 21:15.) We learned that the city is fifteen hundred miles in circumference, or three-hundred seventy-five miles square. The speaker said, "The New Jerusalem has an area as great as that of the three states of Illinois, Ohio and Indiana, London, Paris and New York City, with their teeming millions, are mere villages in comparison."

On Monday night, the subject, "Hitler's Waterloo," was enjoyed. It is reassuring to our faith to learn that "no power or combination of powers of earth have ever been able to break the seven short words of prophecy, 'they shall not cleave one to another' of Daniel" (Daniel 2:43). "Upon the authority of God's word never again will the one man rule the world," the speaker said. "Charlemagne made an attempt to defeat this prophecy. Charles V had visions of ruling all Europe, but failed. The Kaiser tried it, but succeeded in sawing wood in exile. Napoleon met defeat at Waterloo and Hitler's Waterloo is just as certain." "They shall not cleave one to another." "The scripture cannot be broken."—(John 10:35.)

All were encouraged to "Have faith in God." "Cast not away therefore your confidence, which hath great recompense of reward."—(Hebrews 10:35.)

In the sermon Tuesday night, we learned that Satan or the Devil was once an angel in heaven. Though he is a fallen angel he still has power to "transform himself into an angel of light."—(2 Cor. 11:14.) He does not look as he is often pictured. His way is often made to appear easy, pleasant and beautiful. The speaker warned, "Only as you know what the Bible says and as you live in strict obedience to its commands, can you be sure you are not deceived by Satan."

Full announcement of the program for next week appears elsewhere in this issue of THE TIMES.

Floyd Trappers Named As Out-of-Season Fur Shippers

Ten Floyd county trappers have been reported to the Division of Game and Fish as having sold furs out of season and either have paid, or will be obliged to pay, a fine of $15 and costs each, L. J. Gerlach, Floyd county conservation officer, said Tuesday.

They were alleged to have shipped furs after Feb. 15, the deadline for disposing of pelts taken during the trapping season.

Mr. Gerlach pointed out that the open season on mink, opossum, raccoon, skunk, rabbit and muskrat is from Nov. 24 to Jan. 9 but that opossum and raccoon may be hunted by dog only from Nov. 1 till Feb. 1. Red fox season is during the month of December only.

SAVE POWER, WPB URGES

Saving of Electricity Sought To Economize On Fuel Resources

The War Production Board, thru its Director of Utilities, has asked the Kentucky and West Virginia Power Company to co-operate in a voluntary program to conserve fuel, manpower, equipment, and critical materials. R. E. Doyle, Jr., manager of the electric company, announced this week.

"This program is not necessitated by any shortage in the electricity supply in the area served by this company or in the nation as a whole," Mr. Doyle said. "In its appeal to all electric consumers urging them not to waste electricity, the WPB states that in the electric industry the installed generating capacity, together with capacity now under construction, is ample to meet foreseeable electric needs. But, they point out, it is essential to save the use of electricity so as to reduce directly or indirectly the demands for fuel, materials, transportation, and manpower," Mr. Doyle continued. "Before the war began we had ample facilities in this area to meet increased electrical demands. As the estimates of necessary war material were marked up and up, so the demands for electric power grew by leaps and bounds so that it has been necessary for us to substantially increase our capacities. Nevertheless, as our customers know, there has been no halt in war production for want of power and, in addition, there has been ample electricity to take care of essential civilian needs. It is therefore apparent that the basic reason for the conservation plan is to save fuel from which most of our power is made and certain critical materials required for the use of electricity.

"This program is entirely voluntary and depends for its success upon the public's patriotic co-operation in the plan to achieve maximum production for war. The function of the Kentucky and West Virginia Power Company's management is simply to disseminate to its customers the recommendations of the War Production Board," Mr. Doyle continued.

The War Production Board report indicates that conservation may impede the war effort if not applied within reason. The report on the program contains the warning that no effort should be made to curtail "necessary military, aviation and police lighting, lighting essential to public health including eyesight, conservation and safety, plant protection, transportation, and production purposes."

It is not anticipated that there can be proportionately large savings in the use of power by industries. In fact, the trend is toward greater use of electricity both for lighting and power by manufacturing plants so as to maintain or improve maximum production levels.

The WPB urges householders to eliminate all waste in the use of various appliances and to turn off lights and appliances when not needed. On the other hand, the public is warned not to curtail electrical uses necessary for safety, morale, and health, including eyesight conservation. Again in the home the savings by individual families may appear relatively small, but multiplied by millions of households the conservation of basic resources will be substantial.

The principal burden in the conservation program falls upon the commercial class of customers, who are asked to make substantial cuts in their use of electricity. A report on the whole conservation program which carries the endorsement of the WPB states that "It should be made clear to customers that the desired savings in lighting should be obtained primarily by turning off lights which are not necessary and by replacement at renewal time when lamps are burned out with lower wattage lamps."

Specific recommendations of the WPB for co-operation in this program are being mailed to commercial customers by the power company.

Industries other than electric that are asked to co-operate in the voluntary conservation program include petroleum, coal, gas, water, communications, and transportation. A joint statement by Harold Ickes, Joseph Eastman, and Donald Nelson calling on all of these industries to co-operate concludes: "The campaign will be voluntary. Co-operation of these industries in asking the public to use their services only as absolutely necessary represents a real sacrifice by them. We ask the American public to appreciate that sacrifice and to give them and the war effort enthusiastic and unstinting co-operation as this campaign develops."

REVIVAL IN PROGRESS

The Reverend Davis, of Ironton, O., is conducting a revival at the Martin high school auditorium. The public is invited to attend each service, and members of all churches are particularly invited to lend their support to the success of the revival.

Sam Abernethy always said: "Curiosity may kill a cat—but I'm no cat." Which is Sam's way of saying that when he's curious about something he goes out and gets the facts.

Seems our government feels the same way. After hearing rumors about our soldiers drinking too much—government people went after the facts. They got the evidence on what our boys drink... and don't drink.

The government found out our Army's the best behaved in history. More'n half of 'em drink beer—nothing stronger. And the government found that selling 3.2 beer in Army camps is one reason why our Army is so temperate.

From where I sit, there isn't much cause to worry about our men in the Army. Looks like they can take care o' themselves—and take care o' the Nazis and the Japs, too.
