THE WEEK IN OPA

More Gas for Servicemen

OPA has announced that, effective July 25, a member of the armed services on leave or furlough for a period of three days or more will be entitled to one gallon of gasoline for each day of his leave up to a maximum of 30 gallons. No ration will be issued for leaves of less than three days.

To receive his ration, the member of the armed services should apply to the War Price and Rationing Board having jurisdiction over the automobile he expects to drive, and present proper leave or furlough papers.

Not Necessary to Advertise

Local War Price and Rationing Boards have been advised it is not necessary for persons who lose ration books to advertise for their recovery before replacement books are issued, the Office of Price Ad tration has announced.

Food for Temporary Farm Farms, ranches and other stitutional employers of workers have been authoriz OPA to obtain allotments 5 ed foods for feeding workers hired for terms ment ranging up to 60 da action becomes effective July 26.

Farms or ranches seeking allotments of foods for seasonal workers employed 60 days or less should make application for the allotments to their local rationing boards.

A tentative list of 40 basic food items for which the prices must be posted prominently by all restaurants in the Lexington District by 0 August 16, was selected at a meeto ing of the OPA District Restaurant Advisory Committee in Lexington this week, District Director E.Reed Wilson has announced.

Posting of these items is required by the new national restaurant pricing regulation which becomes effective July 31.

The new regulation will not affect restaurant ceiling prices in the Lex-00 ington district, since they already 21 have been frozen at the April 4-10, 0 1943 levels, Mr. Wilson said.

The new regulation covers meals oo food items and beverages sold b restaurants, hotels, cafe, car delicatessen, soda fountain ing house, catering estal field kitchen, lunch wage stadium, hot dog stand. U regulation, the ceiling price coffee will be fixed at 5 cent 00 pot or cup, including cream sugar, unless the restaurant ch a higher price than five cen

ing the period of October 4-10 and has filed a statement to t effect with the local War Price and Rationing Board. Among the 40 menu items selected 16 for posting in the Lexington district 60 are ala carte items, such as sand-

BUD ABBOTT . . . Director and Conductor of WHAS midnight run, is known to listeners in every state, province, in Canada, the Caribbean area and on ships at sea as the man behind the mike when "Kentucky Calls America." From his ardent audience Bud counts fan letters by the thousands while other folks count sheep . . . and features reading fifty of them each night between request recordings.

As America wakened to the needs of war, night-shifters and up-late G.I.'s dialed WHAS to catch hourly government newscasts. Proof of Bud's popularity is the eating of it. Says he, "I live on the fan of the land." Between mouthfuls of cake, fudge, fried chicken, lemon meringue and orange cream pie, his colleagues agree. Two taxi drivers, hearing their nocturnal announcer express need of black coffee to keep awake, rushed in with steaming beakers. A farm listener in Pennsylvania sent fifty day-old chicks when Bud "aired" his ambition to become a gentleman farmer.

Female fans yearn to know Bud better . . . many write him nightly, beg for photographs, autographs, dates and personal mention on the air. If they could see their dream talking, they'd find he has deep brown eyes, hair and mustache to match. He's young, unmarried and talks with a Southern accent that came all the way from New Hampshire.

> With 50,000 watts behind him, Bud Abbott and "Kentucky Calls America," clear-channel, nightly.

You would think-wouldn't you?- IN NEW GUINEA that, with the existing dearth of qualified teachers in Prestonsburg and Floyd county, any teacher who must seek employment in another county is wholly unworthy or incompetent.

But how wrong you would be! Miss Agatha Oppenheimer, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Oppenheimer, of Prestonsburg, is a young lady in the true sense of a much-abused word. Quiet, refined, modest, she holds the deep respect of those who know her best

Would you say a young woman of this type is unworthy?

Miss Oppenheimer was graduated from Prestonsburg high school, received her degree from Morehead State Teachers College, qualified as a teacher in 1935-nine years ago. She has been highly praised by the Superintendent of Carter county as a teacher of ability.

Then would you say the young woman is incompetent?

J. L. Oppenheimer has lived in Prestonsburg for 31 years. His children were reared here. Prestonsburg and Floyd county are their home. They like to stay at home. Yet never has Agatha Oppenheimer been given a teaching position at home, in either the Prestonsburg or Floyd county schools. Except for the few occasions when she substiless applying for tires. Motorists tuted for a Prestonsburg teacher Commercial vehicle inspections due has been obliged to go to Elliott and Carter counties for schools.

GEORGE MEADE FOUND DEAD

Former Magistrate Held Heart Seizure Victim At Amba Home Friday

George W. Meade, 81 years old, former Magistrate from the Fourth district of this county, was found dead in bed at his home on Toler Creek, Friday morning of last week. He had been in failing health for some time, although not confined to bed, and it is believed he was a victim of a heart seizure.

A son of Sam and Polly Gearheart Meade, early residents of the Mud Creek section of the county, Mr. Meade was active for years in Floyd County Democratic politics. He was a member of the Christian Church and was one of hs section's best Toel Shaw came by, after a day's fishing, to make a contribution for my supper. Seemed pleased with his catch.

Not much of a fisherman myself, though I sure enjoy fish. So I got asking him how come the fishing always seemed consistently good around here. Joel tells me it's because the fishing and hunting are regu-

When Actions Speak Louder Than Words

The patriotic manner in which telephone men and women have carried on since Pearl Harbor speaks louder than words. When war started telephone workers were already in the midst of the greatest construction program ever undertaken. As war progressed their job grew more complicated. However, every war telephone service demand was met on or ahead of schedule, though it meant working long extra hours day after day.

While doing this tremendous war job, the urgent telephone needs of the public were not forgotten. There are today more than 500,000 more telephones in service in the Southern Bell territory than in 1940, and service is being maintained in spite of the fact that nearly one-third of our male employees are in the armed forces. Telephone operators are now completing more than 450,000 more calls each month than in the summer months of 1940.

Accepting their responsibilities as citizens, telephone folks have purchased millions of dollars of War Bonds and are continuing to invest more than ten per cent of their regular wages every month in bonds. You will find them doing Red Cross work-nurse's aid work-donating their blood-in fact you'll find telephone folks in nearly every civic movement designed to aid in our war effort and the betterment of the communities in which they live,

Telephone workers have accepted their wartime responsibilities, appreciating the vital part they have in the successful prosecution of the war-shouldering their tasks cheerfully and unselfishly as the men in arms shoulder their guns.

THE GREATEST OF EASE

O, dear friends, this is neither a barber chair nor a snak charming act. It is the 1869 idea of air conditioning exactly as shown on the Letters Patent as shown on the Letters Patent granted to a citizen of South Bend, Indiana, in that year. As the chair rocks, a concealed bellow forces a cooling breeze through the tube, waiting it over the person of the portly party. Why the inventor used a snake's head at the er of the tube we don't know. Perhaps it was to keep the timid ladie from using grandpa's favorite chair.

Compare this with our modern air conditioning and all the other modern electrical devices that will be available in your "Home of Tomorrow." Then buy Bonds to help make that home possible.

Ack-Ack Crews Do a Good Job Covering Yank Landings

Crews Sleepless, Fight On Night After Night Clearing Air of Axis

By Ernie Pyle

NORMANDY.-One of the most vital responsibilities during these opening weeks of our war on the Continent of Europe has been the protection of our unloading beaches and ports.

For over and through them must pass, without interruption, and in great masses, our buildup of men and material in sufficient masses to roll the Germans clear back out of France.

Nothing must be allowed to interfere with that unloading. Everything we can lay our hands on is thrown into the guarding of those ane Gillam, Julia Miller, Dixie beaches and ports. Allied ground troops police them from the land side. Dale, Janet and Willa Jean Lynch, Our two navies protect them from @ sneak attacks by sea. Our great air supremacy makes daytime air assaults rare and costly. It is only at night that the Germans have a chance. They do keep pecking away at us with night bombers, but their main success in this so far has been keeping us awake down upon you. and making us dig our foxholes

Here on the beachhead the falling flak becomes a real menace-one of the few times I've known that to happen in this war. Every night for weeks, pieces of exploded shells have come whizzing to earth within 50 yards of my tent. Once an unexploded ack-ack shell buried itself half a stone's throw from my

A good portion of our army on the beachhead now sleeps all night in foxholes, and some of the troops have swung over to the Anzio beachhead custom of building dugouts in order to be safe from falling flak.

For a long time I have intended doing a series about the antiaircraft gunners. I'm glad I never got around to it before, for here on the Normandy beachhead our ack-ack seems to have reached its peak.

Figures are not permissible but I can say that right now we have many, many ack-ack soldiers on the beachhead and that by the time everything has arrived the number will be much larger.

And that is speaking only of ackack men who do nothing else. In addition there are thousands of gunners attached to divisions and other units who double in brass when planes come over and shoot at anything that passes low.

Our ack-ack is commanded by a general officer, which indicates how important it is. His hundreds of gun batteries even intercept planes before they near the beaches. The gun positions are plotted on a big wall map in his command tent, just as the battle lines are plotted by infantry units. A daily score is kept of the planes shot down-confirmed ones and probables. Just as an example of the effectiveness of our ack-ack, one four-gun battery alone shot down 15 planes in the first two weeks.

Up to the time this is written the Germans don't seem to have made up their minds exactly what they are trying to do in the air. They wander around all night long, usually in singles but sometimes in numbers, but they don't do a great deal of bombing. Most of them turn away at the first near burst from one of our 90-mm. guns. Our ackack men say they think the German pilots are yellow, but having seen the quality of German fighting for nearly two years now that is hard

Often they will drop flares that will light up the whole beach area, and then fail to follow through and bomb by the light of their flares. The ack-ack men say that not more than two out of ten planes that approach the beachhead ever make their bomb runs over our shipping. You are liable to get a bomb anywhere along the coastal area, for many of the Germans apparently just salvo their bombs and hightail

It is indeed a spectacle to watch the antiaircraft fire when the Germans actually get over the beach area. All the machine guns on the ships lying off the beaches cut loose with their red tracer bullets, and those on shore do too. Their bullets arch in all directions and fuse into a sky-filling pattern. The lines of tracers bend and wave and seem like streams of red water from hoses. The whole thing becomes a gigantic, animated fountain of red in the black sky. And above all this are the split-second golden flashes of big-gun shells as they explode high up toward the stars.

The noise is terrific. Sometimes | lock of Coello, Ill.

low clouds catch the crack of these many guns and scramble them all into one gigantic roar which rolls and thunders like the blood-curdling approach of a hurricane.

When the planes are really close and the guns are pounding out a James George spent the past week sioner on or before Sept. 1, 1944, mania of sound, you put on your steel helmet in bed and sometimes you drop off to sleep with it on and wake up with it on in the morning and feel very foolish.

American antiaircraft gunners began playing their important part in the Battle of Normandy right on D-Day and shortly after H-Hour.

Ordinarily you wouldn't think of the antiaircraft coming ashore with the infantry, but a little bit of everything came ashore on that memorable day-from riflemen to press censors, from combat engineers to chaplains-and everybody had a hand in it.

The ack-ack was given a place in the very early waves because the general in command felt that the Germans would throw what air strength they had onto the beaches that day and he wanted his men there to repel it.

As it turned out, the Germans didn't use their planes at all and the ack-ack wasn't needed to protect the landings from air attack. So, like many other units, they turned themselves into infantry or artillery and helped win the battle of the beaches.

They took infantrylike casualties, too. One unit lost half of its men

When I started rounding up material for this ack-ack series I ran onto the story of one crew of ackackers who had knocked out a German 88 deeply ensconced in a thick concrete emplacement-and did it with a tiny 37-mm. gun, which is somewhat akin to David slaying Go-

So I hunted up this crew to see how they did it. By that time they had moved several miles inland. found them at the edge of a small open field far out in the country. Their gun had been dug into the ground. Two men sat constantly in their bucket seats behind the gun. keeping watch on the sky even in the daytime. The others slept in their pup tents under the bushes, or just loafed around and brewed an occasional cup of coffee.

The commander of this gun is Sergt. Hyman Haas of Brooklyn. ant Haas is an enth and flattering young man who was practically beside himself with delight when I showed up at their remote position, for he had read this column back in New York but hadn't supposed our trails would ever cross in an army this big. When I told him I wanted to write a little about his crew he beamed and said:

"Oh boy! Wait till Flatbush avenue hears about this!"

Their story is this-

They came ashore behind the first wave of infantry. A narrow valley leading away from the beach at that point was blocked by the German 88, which stopped everything in front of it. So Driver Bill Hendrix from Shreveport, La., turned their halftrack around and drove the front end back into the water so the gun would be pointing in the right direc-

Then the boys poured 23 rounds into the pillbox. Some of their shells hit the small gun slits and went inside. At the end of their firing, what Germans were left came out with their hands up.

The boys were very proud of their achievement, but I was kind of amused at their modesty. One of them said:

"The credit should go to Lieutenant Gibbs, because he gave us the order to fire."

The lieutenant is Wallace Gibbs of Charlotte, N. C. The other mem-bers of the crew are Corp. John Jourdain of New Orleans; Private Frank Bartolomeo of Ulevi, Pa.: Private Joseph Sharpe of Clover, S. C.; Pfc. Frank Furey of Brooklyn; Corp. Austin Laurent Jr. of New Orleans; and Private Raymond Bu-

NOW THEREFORE, THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KY., DOES OR-DAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Each and every prop-1.00 erty owner or occupant thereof shall 6.78 have the right to connect his sewage 2.20 disposal pipes from the lot owned or 42.20 occupied by him with the sewer lat-3.14 erals constructed by the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, such con-24.74 nection to be made at the property Attest: line of each owner or occupant, and MRS. F. L. HEINZE, such connection to be made subject 54.90 to the ordinances of the city and .10 to such supervision as is directed 1.00 by the city engineer.

Section 2. The owner or occupant of any property thus served by said 1.00 sewer system shall pay a monthly 1.00 rental for the use of and the service rendered by such sewer system. This rental is payable at the end of each and every month during such period 3.00 of use or service.

Section 3. All such sewer rentals or charges shall be personal obligations collectable by law against both the owner and the occupant of the lot or the building receiving the benefits of such use and service so 2.51 long as the same continues, unless the owner and the occupant, in the event they are not the same, shall give a joint written notice to the city as to which of them expects to be liable for such sewer rentals. But in no instance shall the person actually served by such connections be exempt from such liability. The owner of the property who does not occupy the same can only claim exemption by giving the written notice above referred to. Such written notice must be renewed upon each change of occupants

Section 4. In the event Jwner or occupant lans to pay this said thly sewer charge, then on the enth day of the succeeding month he city shall have the right to cut off the sewer connection at the property line at its option. If not thus cut off by the city, the liability shall continue as set out above until the use thereof is discontinued by the owner and occupant thereof and written notice of such fact riven to the city.

Section 5. The following rate or ental shall be applied and paid in the city for service rendered by the municipal sewerage system: each onsumer or user thereof shall pay flat rate of twenty-five cents per

The proudest title in the Army IT CONSISTS of two simple words. Yet every soldier who's worth his salt covets it. This title is simply: "Good Soldier." It isn't just happenstance that so many women in the WAC have earned this title-the proudest in the Army. For wherever Wacs are working, both here and overseas, there you find a job well done. And done with a spirit so gallant and fine that high Army officers everywhere say of the WAC ... "They're soldiers. Good soldiers!" "Good Soldier Good soldiers ...
