Mr. Kent in a New Role

FRANK R. KENT, syndicated political columnist, appeared in a new role last week. He lauded the President of the United States, even though the President is a Democrat.

Of course, there are extenuating circumstances protecting Mr. Kent from the wrath of his staunch admirers; for the column in which he got "out of the groove" he has so deeply etched with his hymn of hate of New Dealism and all things Rooseveltian was devoted to praise of President Truman for calling in ex-President Herbert Hoover for a consultation about food relief administration, and in the meantime he took his usual potshots at the late President Roosevelt.

THE TIMES has no criticism to voice of President Truman for consulting ex-President Hoover, a Republican. Unity is needed now as sorely as it was needed just after Pearl Harbor. The conference, it is to be hoped, will achieve some good. To this extent we agree for once with Mr.

But, while he was in mellow mood, why did not Mr. Kent try to keep in harmony with the theme of goodwill between political parties that he introduced in praising President Truman for calling in Mr. Hoover? Why write into the script these lines ?-

"What Mr. Truman has done is practically clear the air of the hate with which for a long period it had been heavily saturated. . . . During his (Roosevelt's) administrations there not only was very real hate between the two parties but there was, besides, intense factional, class and individual bitterness ..."

SUPPORT THE SEVENTH WAR LOAN! BUY BONDS!

Or, having written the lines, why did not Mr. Kent tell whence stemmed that hate which he so devoutly decries?

Franklin Roosevelt was not perfect, nor was he a perfectionist. He had the Roosevelt spirit, a capacity for anger. But hate, never. Those who wanted a scrap got it, but he left the poison of hatred to others.

Mr. Kent should remember the "hate" cult—the "hate Roosevelt" cult, in particular. He should know it well. He fos-

Does he not remember the cry of "politics" that went up when President Roosevelt called Stimson and the late Frank Knox into the cabinet? President Truman's friendly gesture to the opposition is nothing new-only, it is being more gracefully accepted than were similar gestures made by the late President.

Even in the heat of a Presidential campaign, Governor Dewey's foreign relations expert, Mr. Dulles, received an invitation to the White House and met with President Roosevelt. Any man who would meet FDR halfway was welcome; but he, ever human, was not one to toady to those who carried a chip on their shoulders or who unreasonably found no good in him.

Columnist Kent concludes with the statement, "There is nothing so helpful as tolerance at the top." He should have added, knowing that a chain is only as strong as its weakest link: "or in the middle or at the bottom."

Watkins Offers a Worthwhile Plan

CTATE Highway Commissioner J. S. Watkins' announcement of a tentative plan for development of 27,000 miles of rural roads over a period of years is encouraging, even though it is a long-view plan covering a period of from fifteen to twenty years.

When, and if, this becomes a reality in Kentucky's scheme of government, the folks up the creeks-men and women, ordinarily forgotten-will tangibly benefit. Thus, government will really reach the people farthest away from it and needing its help most.

Never till the much-maligned WPA came into existence did the "feeder' country roads of this section get worthwhile attention. Before that, an Ohio farmer could haul a truckload of farm produce into this section and sell it as cheaply as, and more profitably than, could the Eastern Kentucky farmer living on a mud road a few miles from a main highway.

THE TIMES trusts Mr. Watkins' plan will not be forgotten over the years that will be required to put it into effect.
