ALL VERY WONDERFUL

This column is indebted to Mr. L. C. Campbell, of the Koppers Company's coal division, for a packet containing several by-products of coal, together with a coal "family tree" showing all the scores of drugs, dyes, plastics and what-not derived from "black diamond."

This packet I'm talking about contained several small envelopes, inside which were powders and crystals. Accompanying these were instructions: pour contents of one envelope into half a glass of water and you have the bluest of blue ink; mix up another and you have lip-stick and which, mixed with vaseline, does the job for milady's kisser. Warm in water crystals from another envelope and you have a perfume, the most delicate aroma of new-mown hay.

All this is very wonderful. What was most wonderful to my family, though, was the fact that I conducted three of these experiments in a row without the usual explosion.

The Associated Press picked up THE TIMES' recent story about the town of Allen being a tax collector's dream and so the Floyd county town has hit the pages of newspapers round the country. Just this morning came a clipping from the Knoxville (Tenn.) News-Sentinel, with this note from a reader of THE TIMES:

"This Town-That-World, what are you trying to do—put Floyd county on the map? Everywhere one goes there's always a Prestonsburg dateline or an article from that community's paper. O.K. It's a good place to be from but a damn place to be in."

Now, I think somebody is trying to get a "rise" out of me and see in how many languages I can cuss without getting barred from the mails. Just for that, I almost declined to print that word, "damn," my Oak Ridge, Tenn., correspondent used a paragraph ago.

NO DARK AND BLOODY GROUND

Anyway, I'm glad somebody gives this newspaper credit for "trying to put Floyd county on the map." Time was when the week never passed but some citizen protested against the crime news we published. They wanted us to censor the war news at home, but we went right along printing it.

And now, there's little crime news to print—and we're glad of it. This county's homicide record last year was one of the best in Kentucky. Yep, there was a time when there was blood on the moon that lit up Floyd county's valleys, but no more. Only five homicides took place last year in Floyd county with its 52,000 population.

Sure, you can argue that 5,000 or more young men are in the armed forces and that there are many away in war work. But don't the same conditions prevail in other counties? You must admit—we've been on our good behavior.

The Courier-Journal reports that the head of a Louisville hide and tallow company denies that the odor from the plant is (gulp) stifling, as a petition signed by 60 or more residents of the neighborhood stated. Maybe the head man at the skunk works has lost his sniffer.

TO VISIT HERE SEEKING SITE FOR FACTORY

Timber Owners Asked To Report Holdings During This Week

Dr. Earl T. Arnett, Prestonsburg dentist, announced Tuesday he had received word from a Louisville industrialist saying that he will be in Prestonsburg this week-end to inspect a potential site for a plywood and plastic wood plant in Floyd county.

The Louisville man represents a manufacturing firm which operates eight plants in various parts of the country. A plant of this type employs from 200 to 500 men, it was said.

Any kind of timber is used in such manufacture, it was explained, but white oak is preferred. If a plant is located in the county, timber will be bought by the tract and moved by the manufacturer to the mill, or purchased upon delivery at the mill, Dr. Arnett said he had been told.

Timber owners, particularly those who own white oak, are asked to communicate with this newspaper or Dr. Arnett here this week.

In Prestonsburg for a few hours Saturday, Congressman A. J. May said he had been assured Floyd county will be visited by government representatives viewing possible sites for experimental hydrogenation plants. Choice of sites is not expected to be made before September.

TRAINING SHOP OPEN TO VETS

Hurst Cites Chances Veterans Have To Get Vocational Training

Opportunities for veterans desiring vocational training were described this week by Nelson S. Hurst, coordinator of the Vocational Training Shop here.

The shop has now in operation classes in welding (both arc and acetylene), sheet metal, machine shop and electrical work. Training now available at the shop particularly fits the trainee for work in the coal industry.

Training for veterans, it is explained, is available under Public Law No. 346 (the G.I. Bill of Rights) either for Vocational Rehabilitation or for Education and Training. Veterans who saw service after Sept. 16, 1940, who were disabled or who suffered aggravation of a disability in service will be paid $92 a month while in training, if single, or $103.50 a month if married, plus an additional $5.75 a month for each dependent child and an allotment of $11.50 for each dependent parent. Veterans who were not disabled or whose disability was not aggravated while in service are paid $50 a month if they have no dependents and $75 a month if they have one or more dependents.

Particulars of such training for veterans may be procured through L. O. Hinkle, veterans representative, at the U.S. Employment office here or at the veterans' Selective Service board.

The training shop here, it was pointed out, has the most modern equipment, instructors of recognized ability and is easily accessible, particularly to veterans of Floyd county who prefer to commute to and from class by train or bus.

She and her husband, Joe Davis, resided near Estill till last fall when they moved to Ohio to reside with their son, Willie Davis. Besides her husband, she is survived by several children, a brother, Woots Coburn, of Rock Fork, and two sisters, Mrs. Susan Watkins and Mrs. Rhoda Porter, both of Garrett.

Burke in Announcement To Sportsmen States Conservation Plans

E. R. Burke, Prestonsburg, who became Supervisor of Conservation in the Seventh Congressional District June 9 upon his appointment to the post by Earl Wallace, director of the Division of Game and Fish, this week issued the following statement to sportsmen of this section:

"It is my duty to supervise the conservation program in the eight counties of this district, and with the help of you sportsmen we expect to and will make it rank second to none in the state. We have the game and fish and the natural resources; with your co-operation, there could be no excuse for failure.

"We expect, among other things, to rid our streams of pollution, and in time and with the help of the Forestry Department, to control forest fires and soil erosion. With our fresh running streams (of which our state has more running miles than any other in the Union) and our forest land which comprises two-fifths of the total acreage of the state, Kentucky should rank second to none in this country and our district should be second to none in the state.

"I want to impress upon the sportsmen in this district the importance of buying hunting and fishing licenses. This is the only means that the Division of Game and Fish has of carrying on our program of re-stocking and protecting wildlife. Whether you expect to hunt or fish or not—buy a license.

"Wherever you live in this district, I have an interest there. If you have some problem there that you want corrected, or if you should have a suggestion to make that will improve hunting or fishing conditions, or both, call on me."

AUXIER, DRIFT LEAD LEAGUE

Prestonsburg Errors Help Drift; Harold Also Undeclared

Drift, David, Auxier and Harold came through with victories Sunday in the Big Sandy league, with three of the four games being hard-fought. Only Auxier, playing the hapless Louisa team at Auxier, had an easy afternoon of it, winning, 14 to 3.

Drift at Prestonsburg benefited from Prestonsburg errors and some lusty hitting at opportune moments, edging through for a 4-3 win. Emma lost at David, 4-2, in an interesting game, while Harold was winning over Weeksburg, 2-1, in possibly the day's best-played game.

The game with Harold was the second which Vasvary, Weeksburg pitcher, saw elude his grasp after

FLOYD WINS DRIVE HONORS

White as Chairman Of War Fund Work Given Loving Cup

Running second in percentage of quota raised only to Knott county in the 1944 Kentucky War Fund campaign, Floyd won top rank among all counties with a quota of $1,000 or over. Dr. Frank L. McVey, Lexington, state campaign chairman, said in presenting Floyd county War Fund Chairman N. M. White, Jr., Prestonsburg, with a silver loving cup at the state-wide meeting of the Kentucky War Fund in Lexington June 2.

"Floyd county had the largest percentage of goal of any county with a quota larger than $1,000. The county raised $21,187.56 on a quota of $11,131.50. In addition to that splendid record, Mr. White tells me that Floyd has already raised $1,000 toward its 1945 campaign for the National War Fund," Dr. McVey said in handing the cup to Mr. White.

As a newly-elected member of the Kentucky War Fund's campaign review committee, Mr. White attended the business meeting which preceded the annual luncheon to which approximately 125 people from all over the state came to hear the story of Kentucky's record achievement in 1944.

The $1,000 raised toward the next War Fund drive was contributed from money collected as strike fines from Princess Elkhorn Coal Company miners at David.

MAJ. STEPHENS WITH 7TH ARMY

Army Vet of Four Years, Prestonsburg Soldier Promoted from Captain

WITH THE 12TH ARMORED DIVISION, 7TH ARMY, Germany—James D. Stephens, former editor of the Floyd County Independent, Prestonsburg, Ky., and husband of Mrs. Willette Stephens, of 323 S. Broadway, Lexington, Ky., was recently promoted from the rank of captain to that of major.

Major Stephens, a son of Circuit Judge and Mrs. Henry Stephens, Jr., Prestonsburg, has been on active duty since April 21, 1941.

The 12th armored division earned a reputation for itself as a powerful fighting unit during the battles of France and Germany when it spearheaded swift advances of Lt. Gen. Allen, of Palestine, Texas, the 12th also became famous for its spectacular seizure of the Danube river bridge at Dillingen, Germany, its closing of the Colmar pocket with the French, and its dashes through the Bavarian Alps.

BETSY LAYNE MAN WITH JEEP CREW PLAYS COPS-AND-ROBBERS WITH NAZIS

WITH THE 100TH DIVISION OF 7TH ARMY, Germany—After a hectic three-mile midnight chase in which guns blasted between a U. S. jeep and a German Volkswagen as they sped through the quiet streets of Schorndorf, Germany, three anti-tankmen caught up with infantry regiment which had bluffing three Nazi soldiers who had floated their way through Allied lines for almost 300 kilometers, and on a lonely dirt road west of the town shot it out with them.

When the short but furious fight ended, one Nazi lieutenant lay dead, another lieutenant was seriously wounded and the third German, a sergeant, escaped into a nearby woods. The three Century division anti-tankers—Cpl. Arthur Lynch, of Forsyth, Mont., Pfc. Ray Smock, of Betsy Layne, Ky., and Pvt. Harry Plumley, of Lawrenceville, Pa., were not injured.

The cops-and-robbers fracas began shortly before midnight when the Volkswagen raced past a regimental vehicle check-point at the Cuchaven, of Hazelton, Pa., and Pfc. John W. Andrews, of Harrison, N. J., both of the 398th cannon

Crop Picture, 'Painted in Water Colors,' Losing Last Bright Spot

The Floyd county Irish potato crop, which had stood out as almost the only bright spot in the local agricultural picture, is rotting in the ground, farmers report.

A bumper yield was seen until two weeks ago but continued rains and warmer weather are destroying the potatoes underground. County Agent S. L. Isbell this week advised farmers to dig their potatoes and spread them thin in barn lofts or in other places where there is a free circulation of air so that is least part of

P'BURG CLUB HEARS LOCK, DAMS PLANS

Association Executive Says May a 'Godsend To This Movement'

Canalization of the Big Sandy river and its two forks, the Levisa and the Tug, will make seaports of Prestonsburg, Pikeville and all other river towns, with 5,000 miles of navigable water available to this section, declared Ernest Merrill, Ashland, executive vice-president of the Big Sandy Valley Improvement Association, at a meeting here Thursday evening of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Merrill, president of the Kanawha Valley Association at the time the Kanawha was made navigable by a system of locks and dams, was the principal speaker of the evening.

He was preceded by Dr. O. W. Thompson, Pikeville, president of the Big Sandy Association, who was introduced by N. M. White, Jr. Dr. Thompson pointed to the need of river canalization as a means of preventing a repetition of the disastrous slump in the coal industry of this section which followed World War I. Only one of 44 mines in Pike county operated during the "depression," he said, pointing to cheap river transport as insurance against a future coal slump.

Mr. Merrill paid high tribute to Congressman A. J. May who as chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, has led the fight in Washington for canalization of the Big Sandy. "Jack May, in Washington, is a godsend to this movement," Mr. Merrill averred, adding that

Small, Diversified Industries Needed

"THE Smaller War Plants Corporation which has aided in the establishment of a permanent clothing factory in Somerset, may," The Courier-Journal comments, "be the means of acquainting still other prospective industrial settlers in Kentucky with the many advantages of the state's least industrialized region."

The Courier-Journal was speaking of Eastern Kentucky.

Now, will someone please inform us where this Smaller War Plants Corporation is located? Months ago when this newspaper was devoting considerable editorial space in an effort to awaken Floyd countians to the need of diversified industries in the post-war years, we were told a representative of the Corporation would soon be in Prestonsburg to discuss possibilities. To date, nothing has developed.

This is by no means a criticism of the federal agency. It would seem the burden of presenting Floyd county's case rests on us of Floyd county, rather than that of any governmental agenda. We should, somehow, contrive to present the local picture more effectively to industrialists.

The recent attempt to organize a Floyd County Chamber of Commerce, with all professional and business men from all parts of the county eligible to membership, should have met a better fate. Thus would have been formed a countywide organization to do the spadework necessary to attract industries here. Its scope would have been larger than any similar group organized in any single town of the county; its over-all effect would have been commensurably greater.

Sporadic attempts of one individual, or of a few, to "sell" Floyd county to outside interests work no harm and are admirable but they too often are ineffectual. By this time we should have learned this lesson.

Floyd county's farms and mines and small sawmill operations cannot absorb the surplus of labor that is an inevitable post-war problem. The farms, unless scientific conservation and soil-building are practised, will grow less in the future as a source of revenue and employment; the mines, even in wartime and at full production capacity, are well-manned.

Then to small, diversified industries we must turn if we would stabilize our industry of the future.

It is no job for one or two, this working for the future. We all should do something about it, for it concerns us all.

You're looking at an electric "whirley" crane in action. It's placing a superstructure on the deck of a new troop transport.

This is a big, rough, tough power job. It takes a lot of "juice"—a far cry from the amount needed to make your breakfast toast.

Today, electricity is doing a lot of big jobs... helping to keep America's huge war machine roaring toward victory. And it is also doing the little jobs in the home... helping to give hard-working Americans the comforts and conveniences that keep morale high.

And all this at low pre-war prices! Your electric company is glad to have been able to keep plenty of cheap electricity on tap in these war times... and our folks pledge that an abundant supply will be ready to serve all your post-war needs.

How big is the job of beating the Jap?

No one knows. No one can say with certainty how big the job of licking him is—but this is how big the Jap is, this may give you an idea:

The Jap has a giant empire—Somehow we have always looked upon Japan as a small nation, a "little island." But—the Japanese empire is vast, huge, one of the largest in the world. It is nearly 5,000 miles long. It is over 3,000 miles wide. 400,000,000 people now live under Japanese rule—three times as many people as there are in the United States.

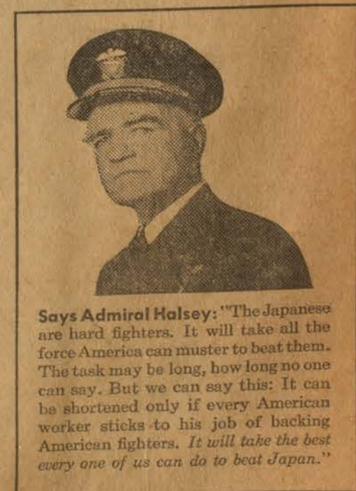

$\times 4,000,000$
 $+ 2,000,000$

The Jap has a huge army—Japan can put in the field from 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 war-hardened fighters. 2,000,000 more can be quickly called. How many is six million soldiers? Three times as many as there were Germans fighting the allied armies in western Germany.

The Jap has ample resources—In their home islands and the vast territories the Japs have taken are all the things that Japan needs to conduct a long and vicious war. The figures on Japan's resources are startling—in many cases, greater than ours.

The Jap has great production—Japan's home islands are industrialized to an eye-widening degree. So are vast areas Japan has held for the past twenty years. The Japs are building planes, ships, guns and tanks in huge numbers. Japanese workers work 16 hours a day, 7 days a week. The fiber of the Jap is tough stuff. How big is the job of beating him? No one can say. But this is how big the Jap is—this may give you an idea.

Says Admiral Halsey: "The Japanese are hard fighters. It will take all the force America can muster to beat them. The task may be long, how long no one can say. But we can say this: It can be shortened only if every American worker sticks to his job of backing American fighters. It will take the best every one of us can do to beat Japan."

To All Local Officers and Members of All Local Unions of Floyd County, Greetings:

Six years have come and gone. We have lost many good friends and foes alike, but we have one good friend left whom we are proud of. A man who has been tried and found true.

This man put Bread and Meat in our children's mouths when we were out on strike in '39, trying to get something for our labor. This man of whom we speak is W. W. Cooley, our present Circuit Court Clerk—a man you can rely upon to be your friend in time of need.

So, the time having come for his office to be open for election, and he has announced himself for re-election, we feel that Mr. Cooley has honestly and justly served the people of Floyd county, and we feel again that we could not choose a better. I myself worked for Mr. Cooley when the strike was on and was present when he opened the doors of his store to the men and stated to the miners, "If you go down we will all go down together."

If Mr. Cooley had not served the people at a time like that, I know of plenty of little children who would have gone hungry for bread. Local indebtedness alone was around two thousand dollars. So I think we as brothers should remember a friend like this one, don't you? I have visited Mr. Cooley in his office and never found him too busy to welcome me and others as well.

The miners who have been walked on and stomped on and treated worse than a dog are the men who make an honest living and a hard one. So my good brothers, I am asking that you try to remember Mr. Cooley. When it comes election time this fall just remember what he has done for you and your babies. A friend in need is a friend indeed. I am writing this letter because I feel us poor coal miners have no other way of showing him now just how we appreciate what he did for us. So here is trusting you will all give this real consideration and remember Mr. Cooley on election day.

Will be in office of Dr. J. S. Kelly, Prestonsburg, every Thursday evening. Hours 5 to 9 p.m.

To the People of the 31st Judicial District:

In making my opening announcement as a candidate for the office of Commonwealth's Attorney, I specifically stated that the fact that I served my country in World War I and the fact that four of my sons have followed in my footsteps in this horrible war, does not of itself alone qualify me for this important office. My opponent evidently doesn't particularly enjoy any reference being made to the patriotism of myself or my family, as will be noticed when his statement to the people is read. I did say, however, that with my long years of experience in the courts, coupled with my determination to make for you a good Commonwealth's Attorney, I felt like I was competent, capable and qualified for the job.

There comes to any man a certain amount of consolation and satisfaction when he has been able to render some sort of real service to his fellowman, but when a man has served his comrades (Veterans) and their dependents from day to day for 23 years in all their complicated matters with the Government, and done so without charge, as I have done, he not only realizes consolation, but he reaps genuine joy when their checks start coming in to them. I'm happy indeed to know that I am thought of by my comrades and their dependents as their friend, ready at all times to help them with their problems. It has taken a lot of my time to do this these many years; but listen, friends, I am coming to you, my comrades of both World War One and World War Two, and to your folks with a request that you now do something for me—Vote for me Aug. 4th. That won't cost you a penny and it will place me in a position to help your returning boys.

For 23 years I have worked for you and shall continue to do so, whether I win or lose this race, but if you all will stick by your guns for me I'll promise you now that for the next six years I will keep a competent stenographer on duty at all times to help me with your papers and at no time will you be required to pay one penny for that service. I'll even use my influence as Commonwealth's Attorney to get established a permanent service office maintained solely for the service of our veterans of both wars. To this service you are entitled and to that task I have long been mindful and dedicated.

Because of my services, hardships and sufferings in the other war and because of the fact that three of my sons are now on the battlefields or on their way there and a fourth son is a totally disabled discharged veteran, I cherish an abiding love for every boy who has shared the hardships of military service for his country. I therefore challenge any man who has not worn that uniform or given his son or sons to its cause, to be better qualified to serve you as Commonwealth's Attorney when our boys start coming home, and to know and understand how to receive them, than I.

When I am your Commonwealth's Attorney and our Circuit Judge, whoever he may be, appoints Jury Commissioners, I should like to hear him remind them of the noble services our women have rendered in this war. They have gone forth as WAVES, WACS, SPARS, NURSES and WAR FACTORY WORKERS, while the others have "KEPT THE HOME FIRES BURNING," waiting for the return of our loved ones. They have braved the shellfire and bombings in the front lines to render aid to our wounded and dying boys. Many of them have fallen and today sleep in heroes' graves in many foreign lands. If our noble women can render that kind of service to their country in time of peril, then why shouldn't they likewise be permitted to serve on our juries? If, perchance, one of my boys should get into our courts after he returns, I'd want no better jury to try him than the mothers and fathers of our soldiers sitting in a jury box mingled and mixed together. If I am to serve you as your Commonwealth's Attorney and some returning son of yours should get in court, I'd then want his fate placed in the hands of a like jury. If his crime was trivial, or if it was grave, no better judges of how to deal with him could be found than the rank and file of our good fathers and mothers.

In conclusion, friends, permit me to say this: If I am elected to this office, I pledge you now that I'll not prosecute any man or woman for doing anything that I am guilty of doing myself. If I get drunk, then I'm not fit to prosecute my neighbor for doing the same. If I steal, the same rule applies. If I gamble, the same rule applies. In other words, friends, I do not intend to violate the laws, nor have I done so for years. No man has the moral right to sit in judgment of his fellowman for doing the same thing he is guilty of doing himself.

May God in His own good pleasures guide each and every one of you in casting your votes on August 4th for righteous men as your public officials; and, above all, may He, out of the gracious goodness of His divine providence, speed the end of this terrible war and bring our boys back to us. That is worth more than winning any election to any office.

Yours in Hope,

Joe P. Tackett

PRESTONSBURG MAN SEES HORRORS OF DACHAU; PART OF STORY TOLD

A description of the horrors of the German prison camp at Dachau, published by the Rainbow Division, "is a true story," writes Pfc. Ray Howard to his wife here. "I know. I have seen this place," he writes.

Excerpts from the description follow:
"When infantrymen of the 42nd Division fought their way into Dachau against fanatical SS troops who met deserved violent deaths along the moats, behind the high fences and in the railyards littered with the bodies of 50 carloads of their starved victims, these hardened soldiers expected to see horrible sights. But no human imagination could have been prepared for what they did see there . . . Seasoned as they were by long acquaintanceship with stark reality, these observers gazed at freight cars full of piled cadavers no more than bones covered with skin and they could not believe what they saw . . ."

"Riflemen accustomed to witnessing death had no stomach for rooms stacked almost ceiling-high with tangled human bodies adjoining the cremation furnaces, looking like some maniac's woodpile.

"And when an officer pressed thru mobs of the forgotten men of all nations inside the electric barbed wire enclosure and entered a room where lay the dying survivors of the horror train, he wept unashamedly as limp ghosts under filthy blankets, lying in human excrete, tried to salute him with broom-stick arms, falling back in deathly stupor . . ."

When the Buchenwald concentration camp was threatened by advancing Americans, the Germans evacuated their prisoners in open flatcars unfit even for cattle, says the Division publication. After 27 days of suffering, a trainload of these arrived at Dachau, only to be left to die in the railyard.

"In these stinking cars were seen the bodies of these prisoners too weak even to get out. A few tried, and they made a bloody heap in the door of one of the cars. They had been machine-gunned by the SS. A little girl was in that car. In another car, sitting on the bodies of his comrades, his face contorted with pain frozen by death, was the body of one who had completed the amputation of his gangrenous leg with his own hands and covered the stump with paper . . . Close by was one who had been beaten till his entrails protruded from his back . . ."

INFORMATION FOR VETERANS

Compiled by L. O. Hinkle, Local Veterans' Employment Representative, U.S. Employment Service, Prestonsburg, Ky.

If you are a veteran of World War II, and have a service-connected disability, which results in an occupational handicap, you can probably be taught a new type of work in which it will be no disadvantage. Under Public Law No. 346, commonly known as the "G.I. Bill of Rights," you may be trained in college, business, or trade school, or on the job with a business firm. Tuitions, books, supplies and equipment will be provided at government expense. During training, if your pension is less than $92 a month it will be increased to that amount if you are single. If you are married, your pension during your training period will be $103 a month with an extra $5.75 for each child and $11.50 for each dependent parent.

To obtain further information along these lines you may apply to your nearest Veterans' Administration office, U.S. Employment Service office, or local superintendent of schools.

A later article will deal with information pertaining to vocational training for veterans with non-service-connected occupational handicaps.

LIVING BIVOUAC WITH DEAD ON OKINAWA, FORMER FLOYD COUNTIAN WRITES PARENTS

Cpl. Gene D. Bingham, of the Marine Corps, has literally lived in the "bivouac of the dead," he writes from Okinawa to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bingham, of Water Gap.

Explaining, Cpl. Bingham wrote: "Naval shellfire, the first day, didn't wreck them all (the tombs) but concussion blew the stone doors loose on this one. For two or three nights I, with two buddies, slept in it, along with the casket containing the bones of an old gent (dead about a year) we called 'Uncle Charley.' It was a case of breaking a custom of these people or losing my life. The bombers were in the area and till we made a suitable place we boarded with the dead."

Okinawan burial custom provides for the dead to be placed in a coffin and left in a vault for about three years, after which the bones are taken out and preserved, then placed in an urn and restored to the vault as a permanent resting place.

"We brought only the bare necessities (and I mean bare)," Cpl.

Bingham wrote, "Have not been paid for a long time and don't expect to be. By the way, this island has every known disease and is flea-bitten everywhere."
His brother, Sgt. W. R. (Bill) Bingham is now stationed at West Palm Beach, Fla., with the air transport command after service in Alaska and Canada. Cpl. Bingham's wife resides in Washington, D. C.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

"BLACK SATCHELING"
Editor, The Times:

This story comes to me at a very opportune time. According to The Floyd County Times, which I receive each week, a large number of men have offered themselves to be chosen as public servants in the coming election. This short story tells only too well one of the evils in a Floyd county election.

Recently a friend of mine, teaching school in a small Virginia town, was having a conversation with the school taxi driver. The cab driver mentioned the fact that a common acquaintance of theirs was a "black satchel." So my friend wanted to know what that made the man.

The driver explained: "A 'black satchel' is one who goes around with a little black satchel on election day loaded with money to buy votes or get anything underhanded done."

So an old preacher who was also a passenger remarked that Floyd county, Ky., was the worst place he ever saw for "black satcheling." Furthermore, he said, as a matter of fact they didn't even bother with a satchel.

My roommate was merely reminded that she owed me a letter and wrote the story as a bit of humor. But to me it hit home—as it should to every Floyd countian who wants better politics. This can only be attained by holding clean, straight elections.

Do the candidates for public offices intend to use that same underhanded method of throwing around sums of money to tempt people who have no inhibitions about selling their greatest right as an American citizen? Do these same people insist on being paid a few grimy greenbacks for the right they should exercise as a duty of a citizen?

At present I am not living in Floyd county but try to keep in touch as much as possible. As soon as the WAVES are mustered out of service, I intend to come back to Floyd county to live as I hope many more of the younger generation will do. Please don't think me forward for sticking my neck out but with my sincere interest in the growth and development of the place I call home in each and every way, I ask you to open your eyes to an unnecessary evil that has existed as long as I can remember.

People of Floyd county, both the candidates and voters, it is possible to have a clean, straight election—if each and every one of us does his part. Will the coming election be an exact replica of previous ones held in Floyd county? Or shall we stop the black satcheling that has gone on heretofore?

STAFF SERGEANT BROWNIE HICKS

REPRESENTATIVE 96TH DISTRICT

Five years in the infantry and air corps—therefore I shall be for any legislation beneficial to the returning soldiers.

Good Roads—My father has been engineer for the Department of Highways for the past seven years, giving me a special interest in roads of our district. My father was also a country school teacher for five years and has always stressed the need of improvement of the schools and the lot of the teachers. Therefore, I shall stand for any improvements or increases to the schools and the teachers, especially those of the country.

Miners—If you will look back you will find my father as financial secretary of a local back in 1919 even before they were recognized and also as a charter member of Local No. 8900. Without the coal that you have mined, we, as soldiers, could not have won the battles as we did during the 2 1/2 years I was overseas. Although I was seriously wounded by shrapnel and machine pistolfire, I am still able to put up some fight; and I hope that you will allow me to do this for you in the next Legislature.

I have nothing to say against my opponents and am leaving our race to your choice. Thank you. (Pol. adv.)

HIS Honest AGGRESSIVE OPINIONS

win the respect of The Times readers

TOM WALLACE, for fifteen years editor of THE LOUISVILLE TIMES, has his roots deep in the soil of Kentucky. A fifth generation Kentuckian, he was born at Hurricane and moved to Shelby County when he was a boy. Still a farm-dweller, at Prospect, he gets up each morning at 5:00, personally tends his poultry flock, confers with his tenants and brings the milk from his Jersey herd into town. By 8:30 he is at his desk starting his prodigious output of editorials and articles.

Wallace started out as a bookkeeper but quickly realized that his interest lay in the news world. In 1900 he began his career at The Times. Five years later he joined The Courier-Journal as editorial writer and drama critic under "Marse Henry" Watterson. In 1923 he was made chief of The Times editorial staff. In 1930 Times editor.

Concerned with conservation since he was twelve, Wallace has championed by speech and editorial the preservation of our natural resources. Almost single-handed for a time, he fought to save Cumberland Falls for the state, which won him the Pugsley Silver Medal. The annual Tom Wallace Forestry Award is named in his honor.

A world-traveler, he has for the past few years pointed his trips toward South America, especially Mexico... writing keen, sympathetic articles south of the border. This month he flew to Caracas for a meeting of the Inter-American Press Association of which he is U. S. vice president.

The Wallaces have two children, a daughter, Mrs. Leo Handel, whose son Tommy is named after his grandfather; and a son, Henry, an officer in the Merchant Marine, somewhere in the South Pacific.

twirling good ball. On the preceding Sunday he lost to Drift, 3-2. He allowed only three hits while striking out 10. Burgess, Harold southpaw, doled out only five hits and also had 10 strikeouts.

Goble pitched for David and held Emma to six hits, all singles. Three of David's eight hits were doubles by Goble, Harman and Music.

Prestonsburg took a 2-1 lead over Drift and the visitors' veteran right-hander, Kit Stumbo, in the third inning, but by end of the sixth Drift had peeked away at Bradley's offerings enough to score three more runs, with the help of Prestonsburg miscues. Drift was by no means faultless in the field and Buck Stumbo, who hurled the last four innings for the winners, was in hot water often, though he allowed only one run. Patton relieved Bradley and held Drift scoreless for the last three innings of the game.

through his work surveys and favorable reports have already been procured on the proposed project.

He quoted competent engineers as saying that lock and dam construction will provide jobs for 2,000 persons in the valley over a period of five years and that many more would be employed in preparing materials used on the structures such as cement, steel, lumber, gravel, etc. After the installation has been completed, a 20-man crew would be required at each of the 10 locks and dams; 12 to 15 tow boats will be required on the river, employing 10 to 15 men to each boat, he added. Terminal operators, office staff and miscellaneous employees will add another 100 jobs. Summing up, he estimated that at least 500 permanent jobs will be provided after the river reaches an operating basis.

Mr. Merrill, who was employed by the U.S. government to investigate and survey the coal fields of the world—Europe, China, Russia and the South American countries—and compare the quality and quantity of foreign coal with the United States, said he found the greatest coal fields are in the big Sandy valley. Based on the consumer interest and the large market already enjoyed by these coals, the speaker estimated the present consumer demand for river-borne coal in these markets is over 30,000,000 tons per annum. Inasmuch as this market would have to share with similar coals originating in the Kanawha river, it is believed that 10,000,000 tons or more per year is a fair and reasonable expectancy for the Big Sandy river project.

Surveys by engineers and geologists of the coal in the Big Sandy area reveal there is enough coal to last 300 years at a production rate of 10,000,000 tons per year, Mr. Merrill pointed out. Taking into consideration all of these factors and making wide allowances for unforeseen emergencies, it is believed that a total saving to the ultimate consumers creditable to the Big Sandy river project on the coal movement alone will total $7,500,000 per annum, $4,000,000 of which will be accomplished on the Big Sandy river between the mines and the Ohio river and $3,500,000 between Catlettsburg and the consumers. It is believed that this estimated tonnage will increase substantially.

Mr. Merrill said lower cost transportation will bring new industries to the Big Sandy valley, otherwise it cannot compete with other big coal fields on the inland waterways of the Mississippi Valley system after the country gets back to normal business conditions. Besides giving this section an equal chance to compete with other large coal fields by having cheaper transportation, Mr. Merrill said water transportation will bring new industries to the Big Sandy valley, offering additional employment after the war.

The speaker stated that at a recent meeting at Ashland three representatives from the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company reported that canalization of the Kanawha river did not hurt the railroads and made the coal mines more prosperous, as it did the rest of the country, it was claimed.

The Big Sandy project has been approved by the corps of army engineers and will go to the Rivers and Harbors committee of Congress for approval.

Probable cost of the project is not known. This is being worked out by U.S. district engineers at Huntington. A preliminary estimate of $60,000,000 has been made, it was reported here.

For the purpose of study, Mr. Merrill said, it is assumed that it will cost $5,000 per annum to operate each of the dams projected, or a total operating cost of $500,000 a year. On the basis of a total net savings to the ultimate consumer of $7,500,000 per annum, this leaves $7,000,000 each year available for amortization and interest.

A sinking fund of $7,000,000 per annum without interest will accumulate a fund of $350,000,000 in 50 years, or substantially six times the amount to provide the stipulated "economic justification" required by the Rivers and Harbors Committee of Congress, Mr. Merrill said.

THE WEEK IN OPA

"B" AND "C" GAS COUPONS EXPIRE JUNE 30
B-6 and C-6 gasoline coupons, which local War Price and Rationing Boards stopped issuing in March, will not be good for consumer use after June 30, OPA announced this week.

Most of these coupons have already been used, it was stated. The few remaining will be taken out of circulation, in line with OPA's customary policy of periodic invalidation of gasoline coupons.

Consumers who have any of these coupons that represent an unexpired ration may exchange them for valid coupons at the local boards.

Service station operators will have 10 days, or through July 10, 1945, to surrender these coupons to their suppliers for gasoline, or to their local boards for ration checks. Distributors have until July 20, 1945, to deposit these coupons in their ration bank accounts.

GAS RATION REGULATIONS FOR SERVICEMEN
Changes affecting the eligibility of several groups of persons for gasoline rations were announced this week by the District OPA office.

Servicemen returning to this country from overseas, who are issued temporary duty orders for "rehabilitation, recuperation and recovery" may obtain furlough gasoline rations.

The returning servicemen should apply to the local War Price and Rationing Boards and present both their temporary duty orders and the mileage ration record for the car that they are going to use.

Previously, the ration was given only when servicemen on leave or furlough for three days or more presented leave or furlough papers. The change was necessary because those being sent home for a period of 30 days will not be issued such papers.

The furlough ration, which will remain unchanged, provides one gallon of gasoline each day of the furlough, leave or temporary duty, to a maximum of 30 gallons.

NEW DEADLINE FOR AUTOMOTIVE OPA RECORDS
The Lexington District office of Price Administration announced this week the effective date of Supplementary Service Regulation 49 has been advanced to July 14, instead of June 14, as stated in the regulation. This regulation, which sets up time limits of 56 operations on 16 makes of passenger cars and provides for definite record keeping, applies exclusively to automotive service shops.

TIRE DEALERS' MEETING SCHEDULED
The Lexington district OPA office is calling meetings of all tire dealers in this district in the next week for the purpose of discussing the new OPA record keeping requirements which were inaugurated on June 1, the reporting of inventory of tires required by all dealers by July 10, and the necessary registration of all dealers with OPA. Failure to comply with these requirements will result in the dealer being prohibited from further dealing in rationed tires.

S. J. Yeary, district commodity price specialist, and E. Raymond Bell, district tire and automobile rationing officer, will supervise a meeting of tire dealers of Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Martin, Magoffin and Morgan counties at Pikeville June 28.

Occupational licenses expire on 30 and all such licenses should be renewed on or before that date in order to avoid the penalty.
