NOVEMBER 15, 1945

HAVE WE OUTLIVED OUR USEFULNESS?

Floyd county and Prestonsburg need something like the Unemployment Compensation that insures workers against being shunted aside like an old shoe, without pay, when they outlive their usefulness or when no longer needed by their employers.

We have come to this conclusion after learning that the Columbian Fuel Corporation, after a quarter of a century of operation in this county, plans to move the remainder of its office from Prestonsburg to Pikeville and after envisioning just such steps as possible by other firms.

After a long and profitable stay with us, the idea occurs that maybe a move to new territory should be made.

This, of course is Columbian's business to go where it chooses. It also is our business to protest against Prestonsburg and Floyd county being relegated to the role of the old shoe cast aside.

Truth to tell, we fail to see the justice in such a move. The company has approximately 100 producing wells in Floyd, Johnson and Knott counties, an area of which Prestonsburg certainly is much nearer the center than Pikeville. It has a desulphurization plant near Auxier, a compressor station on Bull Creek, a few miles from here. A score or more work in and from the office here.

The Prestonsburg office, as far as can be learned, has been operated efficiently and economically for the company. Floyd county has been kind to Columbian and its predecessor, the Piney Oil & Gas Company; it supplied the company's lines with gas long before the Pike field was ever developed; its officials and citizens have given their co-operation and aid in the years; the company has been singularly free of labor disturbances in this county, even in these days of strikes.

Allegedly "for more efficient company operation," the office now threatens to be moved. Just like that. To a county at the nether end of the field in which the company operates.

Apparently, there's nothing we can do, except regret the move and to shrivel from the day when others will quit the old for the new. Meanwhile, it's up to county officials to figure out a way to neutralize the "backlog" suggested in the first paragraph of this piece.

TO BARGAIN-HUNTER

No gold-digger is the woman who at long ago reached a divorce settlement in court here with her spouse, who had sued her. The divorce decree reads in part:

"As a final property settlement and in lieu of all her claims to alimony the defendant agrees to accept $100.00 and the sum of $20.00."

BOO!

Nobody wants to be an old kill-joy as Christmas approaches, but I for one, have nothing whatever about all these fireworks that began popping as early as six weeks before the season of Peace on Earth, Goodwill to Men. Every time one of these giant firecrackers half fetches me out of bed, I (after a bit of mulling in my head) think of nervous people and the sick in all this din and ear-splitting uproar.

I admit, there was a time, years ago, when I got a lot of fun out of passing firecrackers. But ever since the winter days when one of our children was a baby, afflicted with the colic or some particularly perturbed whim, and I each night put at least 10 miles on my yelling dogs, trying to get the brat to sleep, and every time said infant would drop off from my arms into those of Morpheus, and a window-jarring explosion would bring the young hopeful within a matter of seconds back to papa's arms, yelling to high heaven, (I know this sentence is about to get you down, but don't stop me now, I'm all worked up over this matter) --well, ever since those dreary nights, I have had no affinity whatever for such noise-making contraptions!

MUST KNOW IN A ROOSEVELT MAN

And another subscriber from out in Indiana, sending a renewal, starts out with, "Dear Alben—I mean, Norman, please renew my subscription for I couldn't live in Ohio if the Floyd County Times didn't arrive every week."

BIG SANDY RIVER DAMS ARE ARGUED

In Capital Hearing Before Army Board Tuesday, Wednesday

The army board of engineers in Washington, D. C., Tuesday and Wednesday heard arguments, pro and con, on the proposed canalization of the Big Sandy river and its two tributaries, the Levisa and Tug.

Joining the large party of proponents of the $65,000,000 project from this section were the following from Prestonsburg: N. M. White, Jr., J. D. Harkins, Jr., directors of the Big Sandy Valley Improvement Association. H. D. Fitzpatrick and Wesley Campbell, representing Prestonsburg's two banks, County Judge E. P. Hill, Jr., and County Attorney W. W. Burchett.

Arguments led by J. Brooks Lawson, Williamson, W. Va., attorney, opposing lock-and-damming of the stream, were heard Tuesday. Wednesday, proponents of the undertaking were heard.

There was no indication from Washington of the effect the divergent arguments had on the board of engineers whose final decision remains to be announced.

G. B. MARTIN STROKE VICTIM

Former U. S. Senator, Prestonsburg Native, Dies at Catlettsburg

George Brown Martin, former United States Senator who first saw the light of day in Prestonsburg, died at 7 o'clock Monday night, at his home, 2208 Broadway, Catlettsburg, in his 69th year.

Death was attributed either to a cerebral hemorrhage or a heart attack. He did not regain consciousness after being found stricken in the library of his home.

Mr. Martin, who is remembered by many of the older residents of this county and by practically all members of the legal profession, of which he was a leader, was appointed U. S. Senator by Governor A. O. Stanley in September, 1918 to serve the unexpired term of Senator Ollie M. James who died in office. Mr. Martin served till his successor took office in March, 1919. He was widely known as a Democratic leader.

He was born in Prestonsburg where the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Goble now stands and was widely related in this section and in West Virginia. His father was Alexander Lackey Martin; his mother, Nanie Brown Martin. His mother died when he was a baby and his father died in Catlettsburg when their son was about four years old. He and a sister, Mrs. Gus Hampton, who preceded him in death, were reared by their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Newman Brown, a native of Cabell county, W. Va., who moved to Catlettsburg and became judge of the Boyd circuit court.

Senator Martin practiced criminal law early in his career but for the last 30 years had mainly engaged in corporation law. He was associated at the time of his death with John L. Smith in the Catlettsburg law office of Martin & Smith. At one time he was vice-president of the Ohio Valley Electric Company, predecessor of the Ohio Valley Bus Co., and at the time of his death was a director of the Kentucky Farmers Bank, Catlettsburg. Mr. Martin was a Presbyterian and a member of the Elks and Masons.

Traditional Gridiron Rivalry Looms but Not on Turkey Day

Blackcats Hold Fleming To 13-6 Score; Play Paintsville Friday

The traditional Prestonsburg-Paintsville football rivalry is being renewed this year but the meeting will not be on Thanksgiving, as usual.

The game will be played tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at Paintsville.

Date of the game was moved up so that the two teams could wind up their football affairs early and get into their basketball schedules as soon as possible.

The Black Cats to Paintsville for their meeting with the undefeated Tigers, heartened by their showing here last Friday afternoon against Fleming, a team which earlier in the season held Paintsville to a close score. Although the losers, the Cats found something of a "moral victory" in holding Fleming to a 13-6 score.

Rainy weather prevented Fleming's ground attack from showing its full power and bogged down the Cats' aerial attack. The Cats scored on a fumble recovered by "Red" Conley on Fleming's three-yard line. Bradley carried it to the one and Tackett scored on an end sweep. Fleming scored in the last two minutes of the first half and in the early part of the third quarter. The Cats fought hard to score again, but the visitors repelled their last-minute attack. Starting line-up for the Cats was: Moore, l.e.; Stumbo, l.t.; Crain, l.g.; Hall, c.; Conley, r.g.; Hill, r.t.; Hyden, r.e.; Tackett, q.b.; Branham, l.b.; Porter, r.b.; Fannin, f.b.

SELECT TWO FLOYD FARMS

As Refuges for Quail Over 10-Year Period; 12 Others in District

Fourteen proposed quail refuges in the Seventh district, including two in Floyd county, were visited last week by John DeLime, superintendent of quail refuges, and E. R. Burke, district supervisor. The sites were selected by the sportsmen of each county.

Mr. DeLime, federal project leader, said each of the refuges is well suited for quail with an abundance of cover, a year-round water supply and in most cases plenty of food. He is to return in February and legally post the land and sign the farms up as game refuges for a period of 10 years. The Division of Game and Fish will re-stock these areas with native Bob White quail in the spring, and where needed the local sportsmen will add additional food.

Location of the projects in Floyd county are the farm of Mrs. E. R. Burke and Mrs. Valentine P. Hopkins, 708 acres, four miles east of Prestonsburg, 500 acres near Hueysville on Right Beaver, on the farm of O. J. Webb.

Two farms each were located in Johnson, Martin, Pike, Letcher, Perry and Leslie counties.

Next community meeting of the Floyd County Club will be held at the Drift consolidated school Friday evening at 7 o'clock, officials of the club announced.

Club officials repeated their invitation to all Floyd county citizens to attend this or any other meeting.

Dr. A. J. Davidson last week sold to Alex Cantrell, of Allen, approximately 20 acres of land on the east side of the river at Allen, in the proximity of the stock market, and Mr. Cantrell in turn sold about 15 acres of the tract to Town Hall, of Prestonsburg, and the remainder to John Hobson and Troy Hall, retaining a small acreage for a home.

Town Hall this week announced he will sell a part of the land he acquired in lots.

COUNTY VOTE AROUND HALF REGISTRATION

10,144 Votes Polled In Sheriff's Race; Allen Led Ticket

The total of 10,144 votes polled in the Floyd county Sheriff's race, the most hotly contested countywide campaign of the November 6 election, represented approximately 50 per cent of the county's total registration, a review of tabulated precinct returns shows.

Although no other race attracted a vote hitting the 10,000-mark, no countywide campaign, however slight the interest, drew less than 9,000 votes. The entire election was marked by a heavy straight vote for the Democratic ticket.

Only one Republican—John B. Porter, of Mud Creek—was elected to office. He defeated Grant Akers, Democrat, for Constable in Magisterial District No. 4 by a majority of 106 votes while Dewey Roberts, Democrat, was defeating Mollie Conn, Republican, in the same district for Magistrate by 218 votes. Jarvis Allen, Democrat, World War II veteran, led the Democratic ticket in its victory by rolling up a majority of 5,540 over Sgt. Elmer Bowe, Republican, for County Court Clerk. The next biggest lead was taken by Alex J. Davidson, Democrat, over Magistrate John A. Hicks, Republican, for County Judge with a margin of 4,917.

Both Constitutional amendments were approved by Floyd voters—the "Good Roads" amendment, 780 to 157; the Soldier Vote amendment, 800 to 95.

UTILITY RATE CUT PROPOSED

Reductions Would Aid Telephone and Power Users of This Section

The Public Service Commission Wednesday proposed rate cuts by 16 public utility firms which, if made effective, will affect telephone and electric power users of this section.

The Commission, in dealing for lower rates, either by revised schedules or reductions by refunds, said the change was sought because of repeal of the federal excess profits tax. The utilities paid an estimated $4,500,000-$5,000,000 in this tax last year, Commission Secretary P. H. Hyden said.

The companies were given until Dec. 4 to report excess profits tax paid in 1944, together with any amount accrued since then and any amount received in payment or credit of previous tax.

The Commission directed its study particularly toward the excess profits tax and took the position that it was an allowable expense item for the utilities.

Of the 16 firms, Louisville Gas & Electric paid the largest tax, approximately $2,900,000. Other large payers included Kentucky & West Virginia Power Company, Ashland, $678,000, and Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company, Louisville, $616,000.

Post Official's Letter Tells of Dee Pigman

Details of the death and funeral of Dee Pigman, who died recently in Dillon, Mont., are given his sister, Jamie Pigman, in a letter written by George E. Baker, adjutant of Beavertown American Legion Post there. Excerpts from the letter follow:

"Dee had many friends here and was very highly thought of. He had been in this section of Montana for eight or nine years, as near as I can find out, and held many responsible positions with several large stock ranches.

"His health had not been good for some time... Due to his health he had not worked recently and was staying at the Metlen hotel here, as he had, off and on, for years. He lived at the hotel and took his meals at restaurants, and saw his friends daily. Several of his friends likewise stayed at the hotel from time to time and he always had congenial friends around him who were aware of his critical heart condition. At least one of these friends was with him when the fatal attack occurred.

"The funeral was conducted by the Legion and interment was made in the Legion memorial plot in Mountain View cemetery. A large number of friends attended and the regular Legion burial rites were held.

"I am sure that any of his family would have found solace in the many manifestations of warm friendship and esteem that were evidenced at his passing and I know that the Post membership will want me to express their sincerest sympathy..."

During World War I Mr. Pigman served with the 323rd field artillery from April 29, 1918 till May 26, 1919.

FOUR FLOYD MEN WIN AWARDS FOR HEROIC SERVICE IN ACTION

For meritorious service in action, four more Floyd countians have been cited, recent press releases received by THE TIMES relate.

The decorated Floyd servicemen are:

T/5 Francis K. Claggett, son of Mrs. Elsie Claggett, and husband of Mrs. Bertie Claggett, both of Lackey, S/Sgt. Charles Jarrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jarrell, Prestonsburg, Pfc. Troy J. Baker, brother of Mrs. Ondzia Hunt, of Lancer—all receiving the Bronze Star; and Cpl. O. C. Howell, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Howell, of Harold, who received the Air Medal.

Cpl. Howell, a nose gunner on a B-24, is a veteran of 15 missions over Borneo and the Celebes. Notifying his parents of the Air Medal award, Gen. George C. Kenney wrote, in part:

"He was cited for meritorious achievement while participating in aerial flights in the Pacific area from May 11, 1945 to July 17, 1945.

"Your son took part in sustained operational flight missions during which hostile contact was probable and expected. These operations, consisting of bombing missions against enemy airdromes and installations as well as attacks on naval and cargo vessels, aided considerably in the recent successes in this theatre. He has been a very real contribution to victory and peace."

T/5 Claggett, a member of Major General James L. Bradley's 96th "Deadeye" division, was cited for service April 5 on Okinawa.

In decorating Claggett, Maj. Gen. Bradley cited him as follows:

"When the forward observer under whom he was fighting was mortally wounded by enemy machine gun fire, Claggett rapidly proceeded thirty yards across an open field under murderous enemy machine gun and small arms fire and administered first-aid to the dying man. With the aid of a fellow observer, T/5 Claggett dragged the wounded man back across the field to safety from increasing enemy opposition attracted by their movements. Not until the wounded man had been taken to the aid station did T/5 Claggett relieve himself of the duty he had so willingly and courageously undertaken, and seek cover from the enemy fire. T/5 Claggett's courage and coolness under hazardous circumstances reflect great credit upon himself and the military service."

DESERT-BRIDGE

Mrs. J. R. Hurt and Mrs. A. H. Mandt were co-hostesses Saturday at 1 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Hurt, complimenting Mrs. Jay Shields, Mrs. R. J. Doss and Mrs. Lem Doss. Dessert was served preceding bridge to the guests of honor and Mesdames E. P. Hill, Jr., E. P. Arnold, C. L. Hutsin-piller, J. F. Ribble, J. W. Howard, C. P. Stephens, F. L. Heinz, W. H. Jones, N. M. White, Jr., Harry Sandige, A. B. Combs, Homer Salisbury, Osa F. Ligon, T. J. May, E. R. Burke, F. H. Layne, Miss Frances Jones. Guest prizes were presented the honorees. High score was won by Mrs. T. ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES

WHEN?

On the basis of our observations, we cannot see more than a trickle of appliances flowing into the market within the next few weeks.

HOWEVER

Once production really gets rolling good, appliances will be available in ever-increasing volume, and we don't advise our customers to grab at the first thing that comes along, but rather to exercise a little patience and select a product of proven quality, even if it means a few weeks delay.

About Advance Orders

This is a problem to which we have given much thought. We have come to the conclusion that we should not accept advance orders until we have complete samples on display and the customer can see what he is going to get and know what he will pay, thus assuring customer satisfaction. Another factor that influences our decision not to accept advance orders at this time is

THE RETURNING WAR VETERAN

If all dealers should accept advance orders for appliances, this man would have to wait longest for needed home conveniences and we feel that most people will agree with us that this must not happen. In fairness to all we will, therefore, hold in reserve a fair percentage of our first shipments for these men.

We shall, as always, do our best to serve our customers in a fair and equitable manner.

SERVICE

Before the war there were not more than two or three appliance dealers in Floyd county. These few dealers were able to take care of the normal service requirements of the appliances they sold. Now, it is a different story. Because of the pent-up demand, every known (and unknown) appliance will be for sale right here in our county. Some of these new dealers will continue in business and be in position to take care of service on the products they sell. Others will quit when the demand has been met and leave their customers without a local service outlet. So you can see that while it is important what make of appliance you buy, it is also most important FROM WHOM YOU BUY.

Will they be in business when you need service? If so, will they be fully equipped to handle any service problem? Some will—many won't.

Morell Supply Company has been in business in the same location for over 45 years. We have placed orders for over $4,000 worth of service equipment. We are placing in charge of our Service Department a World War II veteran with three years' experience repairing radios on the battlefronts. He is now taking a refresher course on refrigerator service and will be on full-time duty with us after January 1.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ANY QUESTIONS?
Editor, The Times:

The Floyd County Club hereby expresses its gratitude to you for your fair presentation of the facts about the organization in The Times' editorial last week. You knew whereof you spoke, since a copy of the club aims, as outlined to date, has been in your possession for some time, awaiting space for publication. But, even then, they are only tentative. Why? asks someone. Simply because the club leaders want, and have invited from ALL communities to come to these meetings and to offer THEIR suggestions. Today, the Floyd County Club corresponds somewhat to that of the United Nations; IT IS STILL IN THE MAKING; and the groups who started it have no intention of forcing their ideas on the county. Instead, they are asking for YOUR suggestions, and have compiled in the club files, to date, proposals from many sources.

As an example: after the Garrett community rally, Mr. Ed Singleton contacted one of the club officers, suggesting that the club aims include co-operation with the county health department in eradicating venereal disease and in helping to promote an educational program concerning same. His idea was immediately incorporated in the Aims and Purposes, a worthwhile objective, entirely overlooked by the committee, who feels many heads are better than one, and continues through the press and at rallies to plead for further suggestions.

The constitution is ready for approval by the Board, which includes representatives from all over Floyd county. One of the by-laws strictly forbids any political activity, and no public official can hold office in the Floyd County Club. No club funds will be spent for or against Prohibition or any other similar issue. Club officers and members will be free to do as they please individually, with regards to such questions, the way members of other organizations do.

Movements like this are starting all over the world, in countries, states and nations. No spot is so perfect that further progress cannot be achieved; hence, the desire on the part of club leaders to see Floyd county improved and to boost it. Thousands of tourists will come here when the Johns Creek dam is constructed. Will we awake and be ready, as suggested?

The idea of this movement originated in the Prestonsburg Woman's Club, when Mrs. Minnie Grace Sutherland, in an address before that organization last spring, told what Pikeville and Pike county were doing for their veterans; planning to erect an expensive building in their honor, she said, as she described the planning board. The movement in Floyd was made county-wide from the beginning, and its major objective—the only one calling for funds—remains, some type of memorial to the boys. Several proposals have been given. To date, the one receiving the heartiest approval is a club building in Prestonsburg for city and county organizations, with rest-rooms for the public, and a shrine chamber dedicated to our servicemen, photos of those who can never return being on the walls. The bulk of membership fees is expected to go to this or some other memorial. Several organizations over the county have offered to contribute to it, too. If the city of Prestonsburg wishes to raise additional funds separately, to enlarge it, to provide a basement, or an extra floor, that is up to the citizens there.

The club plans to hold a county-wide rally at which a membership drive will be launched. We raise thousands in Floyd for worthy causes, whose funds go chiefly to the outside. No one objects. But why not raise and spend some at home? Unless something is done in the near future for the servicemen, it will never be done! Those boys who fought and died for us, for the Four Freedoms, will be forgotten! This is true, yet there are thousands who will never give a dollar nor plant a dogwood tree. And there are those so lacking in noble impulse themselves that when two of the leading organizations of the county try to promote growth and encourage development, all they can do is criticize and sow seeds of doubt in the minds of others.

As Mr. Allen stated: The club is open to all. He himself has been invited to every meeting, those of the Board as well. Why not come and see for yourselves what the organization is like? And if you have a worth-while plan, send it to one of the officers, for the organization will become what the people of Floyd county make it. There is nothing exclusive about it. The idea of its being solely for Prestonsburg is false. Every effort was made from the beginning to keep the number of officers from Prestonsburg to a minimum, to use recognized leaders from all over the county. There has been no financial failure to date, as the drive for funds has not been made, but a few citizens are ready to lead the wrecking crew because they do not know what it is all about. Instead, we should commend the foresight of people who were in advance of other sections in recognizing such a need and in being WILLING TO DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT.

The Floyd County Club would like to see:

The county fair resumed.

Health Day revived.

An annual Clean-Up Week for the WHOLE county.

The outdoor Christmas decorating by the Prestonsburg Woman's Club extended over the county.

The Hobby Show sponsored by the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club made countywide.

Semi-annual style and flower shows held.

A county field day made a yearly event.

An application to the Rockefeller Foundation for a mobile unit to conduct a parasitic survey here.

A daily vacation Bible school in every community.

A religious revival of countywide scope each year, with local talent used.

School lunch rooms or cafeterias over the county.

More community canneries.

An annual health training school open to the public.

A bureau of service to veterans.

An annual Homecoming Week so all Floyd countians who can may secure vacations simultaneously, near the Fourth of July, when the biggest celebration of the year should be held, not by a FEW patriotic ones, but by all clubs and organizations co-operating in commemoration of our deceased servicemen. The county-wide revival should come then, and during the vacation period respective communities should hold homecoming banquets for high school graduates back through the years.

A countywide festival to make Floyd famous.

Some boosting and advertising for the county, which will be no better known than we ourselves choose to make it.

SELF-REGULATION

Based on education

Education is the basis of all civilization . . . the most potent means of improving social conditions wherever improvement is needed. It encourages harmony among nations and stimulates worth-while effort in the smallest community.

Education is the fundamental principle of the Self-Regulation program adopted by Kentucky brewers over five years ago—a program which fully informs all licensed retailers of beer of their legal and moral responsibilities in the sale of this beverage of moderation—a program which provides for the prompt correction of the slightest irregularity existing in any retail outlet. It is a program which has been endorsed by local and State law-enforcement agencies. It is a program that works.

WHAT WAS NOT REPORTED

THE daily press reported last week that four forest fires in the state remained unchecked. The locations of these fires were listed as to counties. Floyd was not mentioned.

But it should have been, if the publicizing of an atrocity against nature and the hopes of civilized man helps in any way.

Two forest fires blazed brightly against the mountain backdrop to the Prestonsburg scene last week. On the northwest hillside, across the river from Prestonsburg, one burned down to within a few hundred yards of the river's edge. On the northeast hillside, a forest blaze crept to within a hundred yards of Trimble Branch. All up and around those two hills and in the swales and branches adjoining, the fire caused damage THE TIMES is unable to assess; truth to tell, it is doubtful if even the most experienced forester could make an accurate estimate of such damage.

This was one Floyd county community. In how many others did forest fires rage undeterred?

One of those fires was on the east side of the Big Sandy river which, we have been told, is under protection of the Forestry Service. It raged, we are assured, as unopposed by firefighting men as did the blaze on the west side.

Only nature itself brought the fires to a standstill. In some spots, there might have been nothing more to devour. But where the flames persisted, last week's rains brought blissful black-out.

Neither of those hillsides could spare the leaves, the trees and underbrush that gave them some measure of protection against erosion. The wild-life there needed all the cover and food the hills contained. But the leaves and the food went up in an unretarded holocaust of flame and heat; many the growing bush or mature tree died meanwhile.

THE TIMES cannot believe these fires were maliciously set; it shrinks from regarding any individual's intelligence so low as not to know better than to set such a fire. But it does see in those hill-girdling rivers of fire that were by night so beautiful to the eye a gross, unthinking carelessness on the part of somebody, possibly a hunter, mayhap a boy playing in the woods.

At the same time, we would be persuaded to become caustic toward those paid for fighting forest fires, were we not so poignantly reminded that all of us are too little concerned with such matters—occurrences which affect the beauty of this section of Kentucky, which reduce its natural wealth beyond our shallow measure, destruction which only nature can restore.

If we continue to permit man-made destruction to fight nature's restoration—what can we by any rule of sense or thumb expect but nature's retribution by way of eroded hillsides, woodland that is not, extinct wildlife—and a new American desert?

Mr. and Mrs. Val Strahan left Wednesday night for Lyndon, Ky., after learning their son, Val, Jr., K. M. I. student, had suffered a broken collarbone in a football game.

Green county fruit growers harvested an excellent crop of peaches following a widespread spraying program.

Vernon Blackburn has received his navy discharge and is here with his parents, Fire Chief and Mrs. Arthur Blackburn.

John Kirksey, of McCracken county, harvested four tons per acre of timothy, redtop and korean lespedeza hay.

Woman Found Dead Not from County, Probe Discloses

Similarity of a woman found slain in Maine in physical characteristics to one Floyd county woman and in name to another was causing County Agent S. L. Isbell trouble no end last week-end.

First of all, there was only a description of the woman, wired here Saturday. Mr. Isbell recalled the seven women who left here, several weeks ago, to help harvest the Maine potato crop, Maine authorities had accounted for six of the seven. What became of the other one was the county agent's job to learn.

He soon located her on Mud Creek. Then came word from Maine that the slain woman was Alice Simonds. Similarity of this name to the Floyd county Simonds family entered the case and Mr. Isbell immediately began a check on Alice Simonds or on a check on Alice Simonds who was located upon the first inquiry Monday; she was at home, had never been to Maine.

Now it develops that the Alice Simonds whose body was found did leave here with the harvest hands for Maine but was not a Floyd county girl. She listed her next-of-kin as C. L. Simonds, Saxonburg, Pennsylvania.

Saxonburg takes the case from here.

Miss Allen Elected Girl Reserve Head At Conference Here

Miss Polly Allen, Prestonsburg high school junior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Allen, Prestonsburg, was elected president of the Eastern Kentucky Girl Reserve Conference for 1946 at the recent conference held here.

Mrs. E. D. Roberts, sponsor of the Prestonsburg Girl Reserves, hailed the conference here one of the most successful held in this section. Seventy-four Girl Reserves representing Hazard, Hazel Green, Owingsville, Ashland, South Portsmouth and Huntington, W. Va. schools were guests. After attending Methodist Church services in a body Friday evening, a Hallowe'en party, conducted by the Ashland Girl Reserves under the direction of Miss Harriet Eaton, was given in the basement of the church.

The meeting was opened Saturday morning by the president of the conference, Miss Dorothy Stephens. The opening worship was given by the Hazard Girl Reserves. At 9:15 a.m., group singing was conducted by Mrs. Oval B. Hall and Miss Carlos Hale. At 9:45 the welcome address was given by Sylvia Helen Davis, Prestonsburg Girl Reserve. The response was given by Myrtle Boggs, of South Portsmouth.

At 10:30 a.m., the girls divided into discussion groups which were as follows: Religion, led by Mrs. J. D. Mayo, with the Rev. Gaddis as the principal speaker; on Religion and Romance; Races—Miss Loretta Sinclair, leader; Vocations—Miss Irma Betcher; Boy and Girl Friendship—Miss Harriet Eaton.

At noon a banquet was served in the grade school basement by the Home Economics Department under supervision of Miss Hazel Hill. The Owingsville Girl Reserves presented the play, "Hallowe'en Husband."

Miss Margaret Douglas Spurlock, vice-president of the Eastern Kentucky Girl Reserve Conference for 1945, and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spurlock, Prestonsburg, presided at the speaker's table. Miss Shirley Clement, Huntington, was second vice-president and Miss Sue Bailey, Ashland, was secretary. Mrs. Aida Cory, National Board of Y.W.C.A. of the United States of America, New York, attended. Miss Irma Betcher, executive secretary, Kentucky-Tennessee District Y.W.C.A. of Knoxville, Tenn., was in charge of the conference.

At 1:30 p.m., the meeting was honored to have as guest speaker Miss Claudine Gibson, University of Kentucky, Lexington.

The closing ceremony was given at 3 p.m., by the Hazel Green Girl Reserves. Sharon Bradley, Prestonsburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bradley, sang the solo part from the organization's theme, "The House I Live In."

Place for next year's conference was not decided.

And then we consider the aims of the victors in this war that is not yet officially ended. (Just now, we hear the roar of a blast from a neighboring hillside, marking that the Eastern Kentucky Girl Reserve conference when the War to End Wars was ended. A few hours ago, our radio spoke of American men in China where civil war is raging, of a bleak outlook in Germany where starvation threatens this winter, of the lack of shipping facilities to return veterans home from Europe and the Pacific.)

This Armistice Day, all men of goodwill and all men who shrink from world-raging war and all who would protect their sons and the sons of their kinsmen and friends from further sacrifice at the feet of Mars look to a way out of this terrible mess—a way along which mankind may walk in peace. Some say: crush the conquered till they may never rise again; others hope mankind, all races, creeds, and all nations—may find common ground on this road to peace we seek.

Miss Allen Elected Girl Reserve Head At Conference Here

Long before World War I, Mark Twain, America's beloved humorist, wrote a satiric prayer, noting at the time that "It can be published after I am dead, for only dead men tell the truth in this world, and I have told the whole truth in this prayer." Mark Twain thus blasted away at the spirit that prevails among many, this Armistice Day of the good year 1945.

"O Lord, our God, help us to tear their soldiers to bloody shreds with our shells; help us to cover their smiling fields with the pale forms of their patriot dead; help us to lay waste their humble homes with a hurricane of fire; help us to wring the hearts of their unoffending widows with unavailing grief; help us to turn them out rootless with their little children to wander unfriended through wastes of their desolated land in rags and hunger and thirst, sport of the sun's flames in summer and icy winds of winter, broken in spirit, worn with travail, imploring Thee for refuge of the grave and denied it. For our sakes, who adore Thee, Lord, blast their hopes, blight their lives, protract their bitter pilgrimage, make heavy their steps, water their way with their tears, stain the white snow with the blood of their wounded feet. We ask of one who is the Spirit of love and who is the ever-faithful refuge and friend of all that are sore beset, and seek His aid with humble and contrite hearts. Grant us our prayer, O Lord, and Thine shall be the praise and honor and glory, now and forever."

NOT TOO IRATE
Even when our subscribers do grow impatient, they give forth with a bit of humor. For instance, one writes from Cradenhuttin, O., this (growing impatient after 11 months): "I signed for The Floyd County Times one year ago in December. And I haven't received more than half a dozen copies. I thought it was a weekly paper." When I lived in Kentucky it was."

—v—

MOSTLY FOR GOOD WILL SPIRITS
We still don't understand all we know about this matter, but here's a statement a Left Beaver Creek woman says she received recently: "For dry cleaning, $1; hair tonic, 20c; shave, 25c; one bottle Good Will spirits, $2.75; shoe shine, 10c, mileage to the party from Cummingsville to Martin, 20c—Total, $4.50."

—v—

ARMISTICE DAY THOUGHTS
This is Armistice Day. A holiday for some folks. Not for us. Busy, we take time off to think of the day and of its deep connotations.

There, for instance, is the case of the discharged sailor, home for only a few days when Election Day in his home precinct of Tyler Creek revealed that somebody had decided by voting for one candidate to exercise for him and all the other folks there the right of suffrage that was theirs and for which he had been fighting for three years. He was "burned up"—and miserable, too, as he pondered our American Way of Life.

And then we consider the aims of the victors in this war that is not yet officially ended. (Just now, we hear the roar of a blast from a neighboring hillside, marking that the Eastern Kentucky Girl Reserve conference when the War to End Wars was ended. A few hours ago, our radio spoke of American men in China where civil war is raging, of a bleak outlook in Germany where starvation threatens this winter, of the lack of shipping facilities to return veterans home from Europe and the Pacific.)

Martin's Fate Still Mystery to Relatives, Tho 'Buddy' Contacted

Fate of Sgt. Sandy Martin, Jr., of Martin, who was wounded on D-Day, remains unknown to relatives, although a soldier who was with him when he was hit has been contacted by his aunt, Mrs. Betty Preflatish, of Martin.

Martin's companion when wounded, Sgt. Cecil Gray, of Louisville, told Mrs. Preflatish:

"We landed in France about 6 o'clock, the morning of June 6, and got more than a half mile into France from Omaha Beach when Sandy was hit. We were crawling along some hedgerows and every now and then would have to jump from one to the other. During one of these jumps, a sniper got Sandy through the kidney."

"He refused to go back to the beach to be sent to England, said he was going on with his men. He and four other boys were waiting on a plateau over a big cliff for the litter-bearers. They came and took three of the boys, leaving Sandy and one other. When they came back for them they were gone, and from that day to this no one knows what became of them. The last time I saw him, Sandy was leaning up by a post, smoking a cigarette, with his sub-machinegun across his knees, seemingly in no pain."

Sgt. Gray added that he and Martin were the only Kentuckians in Co. E, and that Martin was "a grand soldier, really loved by the whole battalion." "If" he said, "he hasn't been hit he would have been company commander soon. He ran the company, as it was."

Repeated efforts by relatives otherwise to learn Sgt. Martin's fate have proved unavailing.

"HOW'RE YOU GOIN' TO KEEP 'EM DOWN ON THE FARM, AFTER THEY'VE SEEN PAREE?"

REMEMBER that line from a 1918 song? And once again it will be a problem this time. Sure, they all want to get home more than anything else, but once there, it will be hard for these boys and girls who have travelled all over the globe to settle down to the big job ahead. This time it will be easier than it was in 1918 to keep them at home. The reason why? Sure—Electricity has taken much of the drudgery out of farming and provides a healthier more cheerful way of living. With more and more construction material available, we plan to extend our lines to more and more farms until everyone in our territory is served. As the boys and girls come back, let's hope that they will find conditions so much improved in the farm home, that they will be glad to stay and find happiness there.

DEATH CAUSE IS DISPUTED

Miner Is Claimed By Sudden Attack In Wayland Mines

Death from an unknown cause found Leander Manns, 42 years old, joy loader helper, inside the Elk Horn Coal Corporation's mines at Wayland, Wednesday of last week, and in the death cause lies a source of argument, THE TIMES was told this week.

Manns was holding a wire said to have been "alive," when stricken, other workers were quoted as saying. His widow expressed the theory he had been electrocuted. His hands were not burned; and company officials were quoted as expressing the belief he had died of a heart attack. Manns, a native of Breathitt county, lived about five minutes after having been stricken, it was said.

He is survived by his father, Arvanis Manns, of Breathitt county, his widow, Mrs. Lily Manns, five children, Earl, of the army, Clyde, Clarence, Irene and Jacqueline, all at home, and by four sisters.

Funeral rites were conducted Sunday from the home, the Revs. M. C. Wright Alex Coburn and Banner Manns officiating.

Monday, his father-in-law, Ardillion Manns, succumbed at Wayland to heart disease at the age of 70. He also was a native of Breathitt, the son of the late Jack Manns.

A former miner, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hattie Manns, and 17 children: Thomas Manns, Kenton, O. Green Manns, Wayland; Bernie and Ernie Manns, both of Rensselaer, Ind.; Jack, James, Wise, Edward, Oakie, Kenton, Gary D., all of Wayland; J. C., of Carelda, W. Va.; Mrs. Bill Howard, Salmesville, O.; Mrs. Leander Manns, Mrs. Mollie Mullins, Mrs. Burley Moore and Miss Myrtle Manns, all of Wayland.

Funeral was conducted Wednesday. Both burials were made in the Manns family cemetery on Steele's Creek, under direction of the Ryan Funeral Home.

Thanksgiving Services To Be Conducted Here
Union Thanksgiving services will be held Thursday morning, Nov. 22, at 10 a. m., at the Methodist Church here, it was announced this week.

Contributions Lagging As Reports from Mines Are Yet To Be Received

N. M. White, Jr. Floyd county chairman of the Kentucky War Fund drive, this week stressed the importance of all committees, rural and consolidated schools turning their reports into his office, the first of next week. To Seek 100 Percent School Enrollment In Jr. Red Cross

A drive for 100 per cent enrollment of all pupils of Floyd county in the American Junior Red Cross has been opened, according to Mrs. Golda Short, general chairman, and Mrs. Hazel Campbell, co-chairman. The drive will last two weeks.

All across the nation during the war years more than 18,000,000 school children joined together in the Junior Red Cross to send recreational equipment, utility gifts and other comforts to our men and women in service around the world, to wage war on waste and add their bit toward the comfort of refugee children. This year, their activities will continue to back servicemen and wounded veterans at home and abroad. Other projects are designed for the children of other nations whose lives, torn up by the war, are still difficult and insecure in peace.

Membership in the Junior Red Cross is 50 cents for each home room unit in the grade schools, $1 per hundred students in the Junior and Senior high groups. Funds from the schools help to maintain the Junior Red Cross activities in the county and contributions are sent annually to the national Red Cross Children's Fund.

Mrs. Short and Mrs. Campbell, together with the staff members of Floyd county schools, hope to enroll every pupil in the American Junior Red Cross for the 1945-46 school year.

SPECIAL

I have just purchased the bottom between the stockyards and Allen highway bridge. Since there is more land than I need for my own purposes, I have decided to sell

20 or 25 Lots FOR HOMES and BUSINESSES

Reasons why these lots are most desirable:

- 1. They are near the center of Floyd county. A man can drive to work within a few minutes over good highways. Prestonsburg is only a 10-minute drive. Lucrative businesses can be built along both highways.
2. Allen has fine church facilities. A new stone church was recently completed.
3. Allen has a splendid school system. High school buses going to Martin, Betsy Layne and Prestonsburg pass these lots.
4. Allen has a pure water supply operated by Herman Porter. Every home can have running water and a bathroom.
5. The lots are 50 by 100 feet—large enough for a garden, too.

They Won't Last Long.

No Public Auction Will Be Held.
