Two Floyd Countians On Iowa Off Japan

ABOARD THE USS IOWA OFF HONSHU (Delayed)—Elmer Clayton Peters, 24, electrician's mate, first class, Martin, Ky., and Greenley Dotson, 25, radarman third class, on of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Dotson, West Prestonsburg, Ky., fought aboard this 45,000-ton battleship when she and other Third fleet battleships, cruisers and destroyers staged a daring midnight bombardment of industrial targets on this main Japanese island, just 70 miles from Tokyo.

Standing only a few miles offshore, the Iowa hurled more than 200 tons of flaming projectiles at war factories.

A few days before this crowning achievement in her wartime career, the Iowa's big guns had wrecked the port and industrial city of Muroran on Hokkaido, northernmost of Japan's large islands.

Since she was launched, nine months after Pearl Harbor, the big battleship had taken part in virtually all naval action in the island-to-island conquest of Jap-held Pacific territory. She was in on initial blows at the Marshalls, air strikes at Truk, the Carolines, Marianas, Formosa, New Guinea, actions in the Philippines and at Okanawa.

Combs on Famed Essex In Raid on Tokyo

All hands answered reveille several hours before sunrise that morning. They had had breakfast and were waiting at their stations for the first light of dawn when the deafening roar of the flight of fighters took off one by one, followed by the bombers and torpedo planes.

Hundreds of Jap planes were destroyed on the ground, but few were sent up to challenge the attacks. The few that dared to fly out to the task force never returned.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

MORE THINGS FOR FLOYD

Editor, The Times:

Regarding things Floyd county needs:

What about a humane law for animals? The abandoned cats and dogs are pathetic. The starved, whipped mules, horses and cows which are largely responsible for the living of those ungrateful enough to mistreat them, are numerous. A progressive people should have none of this.

What about a few really "swank" restaurants? If there's one the whole length of the Big Sandy, I haven't found it. Those I've been in are pretty grimy.

A drum and bugle corps seems foolish when the money could so aptly be used elsewhere. What about a dental fund and eye treatment fund for impoverished adults? I know folks whose health is "shot" because of bad teeth, but they have no money to get them pulled.

What about more free hospitalization? And by all means a bakery. But please, a CLEAN one! Ever since being in Floyd I've longed for a good bakery.

And a re-forestation project? To see these bare, nude hills is a gruesome sight. Kentucky hills lose their beauty and appeal when the timber is taken and none re-placed. Re-forestation is done out West. Why not here?

Last but not least, "Righteousness exalteth a nation"—so why not have forthrightly religious mass meetings in the county seat? Floyd county is not lacking in aggressive fundamental ministers to carry this through.

Hall Braves Flames To Save Landing Craft In Pacific Sea Action

ABOARD A DESTROYER IN THE PACIFIC—William Wallace Hall, seaman, first class, USNR, of Auxier, Ky., has been commended by his commanding officer aboard this destroyer for his part in saving an LCT (landing craft, tank) which had caught fire in Leyte Gulf in May.

"With complete disregard for his own personal safety and by his skillful use of the equipment available, he helped save a valuable piece of government property," the commendation said.

The LCT caught fire while anchored in San Pedro Bay. Flames soon swept the vessel from stem to stern, forcing the crew to abandon ship. The fire and rescue party dispatched from this ship was one of the first to reach the burning LCT.

By then, the flames were being fed by exploding ammunition, bottles of oxygen and acetylene and a large quantity of lubricating oil. Despite these hazards, the fire-fighting party from this destroyer boarded the LCT and brought the flames under control in an hour and a half.

I. A. SMILEY FOR JAILER

Fellow-Citizens:

I come to you asking for your vote, knowing the duties and responsibilities of a Jailer.

A jail is not intended, nor should it be used, to further alienate the minds of our citizens from Law and Order, but if at all possible to make better citizens of those who may violate the law. Therefore I propose the following:

1. Give kind and courteous treatment to all prisoners and especially those guilty of MINOR violations—so as to maintain and keep their respect for the officers and the law.
2. Keep a clean and healthful jail—serve wholesome foods at all times and safeguard the health of all prisoners.
3. Keep separate as far as possible the FELONS and MINOR violators, so as to prevent the hardened criminal from poisoning the minds of our young men and girls who may get in jail, and I shall let them know I want to GET THEM OUT OF TROUBLE and not IN.
4. The jail shall be open 24 hours per day—someone awake and on duty at all times—guarding not only against escape but fire, or any need you have. The public shall be welcome at all times, and I shall be glad to help you at any time as I have in the past with your troubles. The courthouse and public rest-rooms shall be kept clean and open to the public.

I have no income or other means of support than working with and for you, and most of you already know my physical condition as well as that of my opponent.

I would have been over there in this war, had I been young enough and had I been born with two good legs and feet. However, the hand of Mother Nature saw fit to bring me into this world unable to walk on either foot without the aid of crutches, but, as can be proven by hundreds of fathers, mothers, wives and kindfolk of our soldier boys, I have never failed them in making out their papers, locating their sons, establishing their claims of dependency, regardless of money or price. I shall continue as in the past to aid them.

The office I seek is very important to everyone of us. It deals with the lives and character of the youth of our county, therefore, the best influence, treatment and reason should be exercised with them.

I promise you the best I have to fulfill these obligations, and shall be always thankful for your support.

(Pol. adv.) I. A. SMILEY

RADAR

Spotted Enemy Targets Through Darkness, Smoke or Fog

The Bell System—
The largest source of Radar for our fighting forces

THIS is not surprising for Radar development and production stems from the same roots that produced and continue to nourish this country's telephone system.

Radar, the instrument which enabled our land, sea and air forces to spot enemy targets through darkness, smoke or fog, was one of the outstanding new fighting instruments of the war.

Two years before Pearl Harbor the Government asked Bell Telephone Laboratories to put its wide experience and knowledge of electronics to work to help perfect Radar as a military instrument. From then on the Laboratories co-operated closely in the Radar program with the National Defense Research Committee, with Army and Navy specialists, and with scientists of Great Britain.

The Western Electric Company, manufacturing branch of the Bell System, became the Nation's largest supplier of Radar systems. One type it made was universally used by B-29's in the Pacific for navigation, target location and high altitude bombing. Another played an important part in aiming the guns on our warships.

If you're waiting for a home telephone, it helps a little to know that Radar is one of the reasons. For years telephone manufacturing plants were devoted to war needs.
