

This Town... That World

ONCE WE WALKED ALONE

An esteemed temporary... THE PIKE COUNTY NEWS, published in its edition of Aug. 15 a copy of the letter recently addressed by the Pikeville Chamber of Commerce to J. N. Watkins, commissioner of highways...

The letter notes that the road from Wheelwright is in "fairly good condition" but that over the mountain to Indian Creek and Pikeville, in the other direction, it's terrible.

Now, we agree that this and all other roads be placed in good condition as soon as possible, but we're not going to bust our suspenders yelling for the Indian Creek route. We remember too well when Left Beaver Creek was midbound in directions except Pikeville and when plitfully small voices in this county, including ours, asking help found no echo in neighboring Pike.

What has Pikeville that we haven't, except a mile or so more streets and a few more people? Prestonsburg is full of stores, including two wholesale firms; it has two banks, two drug stores, adequate restaurants. It has a court-house even as has Pikeville, a county and city jail, a city hall, a swimming pool (we go to Wheelwright, just as Pikeville does), no public library. Sister towns, Prestonsburg and Pikeville — sisters needing a few things, it might be said, after considering these few things neither has.

Over from West Liberty, Charles Goble doffed his "Morgan county duster" Saturday and gave forth with the following: A divinity student named Tweedle refused to accept his degree; He didn't mind being called Tweedle But couldn't stand Tweedle, D.D.

THE D.A.'S STORY This column may sound like Morgan County News. The Floyd County Times, but some of the boys here who attended the trial of Robinson in West Liberty came in contact with Combs' attorney Keck there. Keck seems to be a person, anyway, they came back telling this one and credited it to him: This story has to do with a certain man who has been married a matter

MAN FOUND IN STREAM WAS SLAIN

Is Theory Officials Hold; Clues Absent, Investigators State

The decomposed body of a man found in Right Beaver Creek at Martin last Friday afternoon by two boys was identified as that of Allen Osborne, 42-year-old West Prestonsburg man, and the discovery that he had been murdered set in motion a sweeping investigation by which authorities hope to learn the identity of his slayer.

Osborne had been missing from home since July 24, officers said they were told this week by his widow. Identification of the body was made through a physician's statement found in the victim's pocket and a tie clasp bearing his initials.

The body, first taken to the Ryan Funeral Home at Martin, was examined by Dr. J. A. Stumbo, and at the inquest conducted by Magistrate Henry Stumbo the jury held that the victim had been murdered. A blow near the base of the skull had caused a "sharp indentation," the jury pointed out. The skull was crushed. There was no water in the lungs, denoting that Osborne was dead when placed in the stream.

Capt. Blades of the State Bureau of Investigation, arrived here Tuesday to complete the probe into the mystery, a work started by County Attorney Woodrow Burchett. Both robbery and rivalry for the favors of a woman are being considered as possible motives in the case. Although Osborne was said to have left his home at West Prestonsburg with currency in his pockets, there was less than $3, all in coins, left when the body was removed from the stream. A gold coin and a copper pipe, found on the body, figured in identification of the victim.

Although Osborne's widow places the date of his departure from home as Wednesday, July 24, residents of Martin, where he went from here, say they last saw him on the night of Wednesday, July 31. Others here also said he left Prestonsburg on July 31.

Capt. Blades indicated Tuesday that he would question Mrs. Nora Bentler, 42, of Martin, Elvira Miller, formerly of Allen, who now resides near Gallipolis, Ohio, with whom Osborne is said to have gone to Martin from Prestonsburg via taxicab on the afternoon of July 31.

Henry, Martin restaurant man, said Osborne and the two women came to his restaurant but that they left Osborne there. Late

SAYS STRIKE TO HURT COAL

Homan Sees Curtailment Of Mining in Big Sandy If Lakes Tie-Up Unbroken Serious curtailment of coal mine operation in the Big Sandy-Elkhorn field was predicted last week by H. H. Homan, secretary of the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators' Association, to result from the Great Lakes shipping tie-up created by a spreading strike of the CIO National Maritime Union.

WORKERS END 7-DAY STRIKE AT DAM SITE

Wage Dispute Halts For Week Excavation, Grouting Operations

A week-long strike at the Dewey dam of employees of the Ryan Construction Company ended Wednesday with the contractors and striking employees reaching a settlement on the basis of a petition to the Wage Adjustment Board for pay increases averaging 10 cents an hour. Approximately 75 workmen representing all crafts affiliated with Local No. 189, International Hodcarriers, Building and Common Laborers' Union, quit work last Wednesday as a result of a wage dispute, suspending all work on tunnel and outcrop works excavations and grouting.

Meanwhile, work continued, although to some extent curtailed, on the embankment of the dam itself, drilling for foundation grouting and construction of the U.S. engineers' field office.

An outright pay increase could not be granted by the contracting firm, it was said, since the matter of wage pay is regulated by the Stabilization Act and must be approved by the Wage Adjustment Board.

Work was resumed today (Thursday). Although several factors have contributed to the delay in construction and excavation at the dam are proceeding "as well as could be expected," although behind schedule, it was said this week.

Robinson Gets Life Term

Robinson's Attorney Indicates 2nd Term Of Life Acceptable

Lonnie Robinson, 45-year-old slayer of Albert Horn and Orbin Moore, Prestonsburg, policeman, switched from the claim that he was innocent to a plea of self-defense when brought to trial in the Morgan circuit court at West Liberty last week, but a Morgan county jury within half an hour adjudged him guilty and fixed his punishment at a life term in the penitentiary.

Robinson was on trial for the murder of Albert Davy Horn. Remaining for trial is the murder charge against him in the killing of Policeman Orbin Moore. It was said by attorneys for both the prosecution and the defense that the jury at first polled six votes for electrocution.

WOMAN FACES MURDER BILL

After Shooting Husband At West Prestonsburg; Claims Loss of Memory

Mrs. Laura Kidd Bayes, 38 years old, is in the county jail here facing a murder charge in the fatal wounding at West Prestonsburg early last Friday afternoon of her husband, William Bayes, 41-year-old miner.

One of six bullets said to have been fired by Mrs. Bayes from a .38-caliber revolver grazed the right side of her husband's head and he at first was not believed seriously hurt. After his wife was jailed here on a charge of Federal Bureau of Investigation, she appeared at the jail to inquire about bail for her. Later in the afternoon, his condition became serious and he died at the Golden Rule hospital, Paintsville, early Sunday evening.

Physicians said a blood clot on the brain caused his death. Mrs. Bayes told County Attorney W. W. Burchett, shortly after the shooting, that when she returned to her home in West Prestonsburg her husband was drunk, that he cursed and kicked her on her head and she was quoted as saying, she had no recollection of subsequent events in connection with the shooting of her husband. She exhibited bruises to substantiate her claim that she had been struck.

TELL PLANS FOR BUILDING

The building, which will be of brick and concrete block construction, reinforced by steel, will be 65 by 72 feet. The first story will house a store and restaurant. Plans for the second story are incomplete, and depend upon availability of materials.

In memory of my dear son, Thurman E. Johnson, who died in service at Ft. Bragg, N. C., August 7, 1945:

We are glad of the memories, Of the days you were near, Each memory we treasure, Each thought we hold dear.
We remember each hour, We remember each day, You are beside us, Even though you are away.
No one knows the silent heartache, Only those who have lost can tell, Of the grief that is borne in silence, For the one we loved so well.
More and more each day we miss you, Friends may think the wound is healed, But they little know the sorrow That lies within our hearts concealed.
When I am low and weary And my thoughts begin to fall, I turn and tell my troubles, To your picture on the wall.
It's the best of my possessions, The most precious of them all, I wouldn't take a million For your picture on the wall.
Sadly missed by mother, BERTHA JOHNSON, Ligon, Ky.

Dr. Butler, Others Send to Mrs. Hyde Birthday Greetings
Mrs. Ada Burgess Hyde left the Prestonsburg General hospital where she is not a patient but merely "resting"—on her 90th birthday anniversary last Saturday long enough to pay a visit to the home of her son-in-law, Frank D. Ward, in the Porter addition, then join members of her family and a small group of friends at a birthday luncheon at the Valley Inn.

Mrs. Hyde, former teacher of Mrs. Douglas MacArthur and many others whose names are familiar to the world, enjoyed the occasion deeply but in the quiet of her room her enjoyment of letters from persons living in widely scattered sections of the country was perhaps deeper.

One such birthday greeting came from Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, former president of Columbia University, now blind and in retirement at Southampton, N. Y. Dr. Butler was a student of Mrs. Hyde's brother, Prof. John W. Burgess, a member of the faculty when the New York institution was known as Columbia College, and who is widely credited with bringing it to the status of a university.

To Mrs. Hyde he wrote, in part: "I rejoice, indeed, that on August 17 you will celebrate your Ninetieth Birthday. This is truly a great event not only in your life history, but in that of all your devoted friends, of whom I certainly count myself one."

Walter Martin, of Wayland, was a business visitor here Wednesday.

Additional Safeguards Suggested for Mine
Additional corrective measures have been proposed to supplement some recent improvements at the Sandy Valley Coal Company's 450-ton-a-day Allely mine at Water Gap, the Bureau of Mines announced in a detailed re-inspection report based on re-examination of the mine in June by Inspector Russell Shaw. The mine, employing 85 men, was re-examined prior to the adoption of the federal mine safety code effective on July 29, 1945.

Covering virtually every phase of operation, Inspector Shaw's major recommendations called for prompt advancement of permanent timbers within one cut of the face where safety posts should be used, approved roof testing, exclusive use of permissible explosives and transportation of blasting supplies separately from mantrips, consideration of a split system of ventilation utilizing recognized air-coursing devices, pre-shift mine examinations after an overnight interval, in ventilation, elimination of over-substandard haulage conditions, and unsafe practices, prohibition of smoking, and control of coal dust.

The inspector also advocated weekly examination of air courses, trolley wire guards at exposed places, safety devices for electrical equipment, guards or shields for mechanical equipment, surface-underground telephone service, universal wearing of safety apparel, formation of an active safety organization holding meetings at least monthly, adoption of more stringent underground fire protection, adoption of company safety rules, maintenance of first-aid supplies, and regular training of all employees in first-aid methods and a crew in mine-rescue work.

In enumerating improvements effected since the June, 1945 inspection, the examiner indicated that the betterments had eliminated sub-standard conditions only partially. Among beneficial changes were re-timbering of the drift portal and placing of guard boards along timbers, extensive timbering along the left haulage way, some improvement and grading of the haulage ways now adequately illuminated, safer recovery of misfires after a suitable waiting period, generally good maintenance of stoppings and closing of necessary room crosscuts in one area, provision for two flame safety lamps for gas testing, reduction of "mipping" by haulage men, use of cutout switches in branch trolley circuits, and provision for a bulletin board.

Recent improvements at the Allely mine were attributed to company initiative, employe co-operation, compliance with orders of state inspectors, and adoption of Bureau recommendations.

the night of July 31, Osborne and a man identified as Bill Smith were at the restaurant of Reynolds Dingus, near the Beaver Valley hospital.

From that point the dead man's movements have not been learned. Capt. Blades will question Smith, a former resident of Prestonsburg, now of Mind Creek.

Joe Woods, of Allen, and an associate of Osborne, was questioned Monday by County Attorney Burdett. He denied knowledge of Osborne's movements after seeing him in a fast-food here on the afternoon of July 31. He added that the taxi left here, driving downriver.

Sandy Goodman, also of Allen, told the same story. Body of Osborne is believed to have been thrown into Beaver Creek upstream from the point where found between the old county bridge near the Martin Lumber Company yards and the railway bridge.

The victim was a son of Cal Osborne and a brother of Harrison Osborne, who was shot and killed here about 16 years ago. He is survived by his father, his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Eileen Derossett, of Abbott Creek, and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Daisy Quire, Mrs. Myrtle Newsome, Melvin, Charlie and Dewey Osborne, all of Prestonsburg; and Emzie Sisco, a half-brother, of Martin.

The body was brought to the Arnold Funeral Home which conducted the burial Saturday afternoon in the Weddington cemetery here.

NEWS FOR THE VETERAN

SOCIAL SERVICE HELPS VETERAN TO ADJUST

An expanded social work program, designed to prevent cases of relapse and re-hospitalization, is assisting veterans as they are discharged from Veterans Administration hospitals in Kentucky, Ohio and Michigan.

By means of follow-through contact with every veteran who has been hospitalized in the three-state area, social workers from the VA or from appropriate civilian agencies insure that a veteran is not cast adrift without someone looking out for him.

The veteran is interviewed by a social worker before he leaves the hospital. In the case of a veteran with service-connected disability, the nearest VA regional office is notified of his release, while in the case of a veteran with a non-service-connected disability, the appropriate civilian agency is notified.

BURIAL ALLOWANCE

Legislation raising the burial allowance for veterans from $100 to $150 was recently signed by the President.

OBTAIN APPROVAL FOR LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Veterans Administration officials are advising veterans enrolled in educational institutions or on-the-job training programs to obtain advance approval from the VA before taking leaves of absence. When unauthorized leaves of absence are not satisfactorily explained, veterans may forfeit their subsistence allowance for the time they are out of school or away from training.

Ordinary leave under both the Servicemen's Readjustment Act and the Vocational Rehabilitation Act accrue at the rate of two and one-half days a month during the entire time a veteran actually is in education or training status, including the time he is on an approved leave. Accumulated leave can not exceed 30 days, and no more than 30 days of leave may be taken in a 12-month period. Approved absences covering a period of one calendar year or more will be charged at the rate of five days for each seven consecutive days of leave.

Disabled veterans training under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act are also entitled to sick leave not to exceed 30 days in each 12-month period, but sick leave includes all the elapsed time from the beginning of absence from training until the veteran returns to training.

ELIGIBLE FOR BENEFITS

Veterans who re-enter the military or naval service are still eligible for many benefits of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act. While on active duty, these veterans are eligible for education or training with tuition fees and supplies paid for by the government, guaranteed loans to buy a home, or in some circumstances, to buy a farm or business. While in the service they are not eligible for readjustment allowance or unemployment subsistence allowance while in education or training, disability pension, or VA hospitalization and medical treatment.

WHEN CONTACTING VA

Veterans are again urged when calling personally at a VA office to bring with them their original or photostatic copy of discharge and insurance or claim file number. When writing the VA, they are urged to include all pertinent identification such as full name, address, service serial number, insurance or claim file number. If no file number is available, include date of birth, date of military service, rank and organization in addition.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. Why is it necessary to have property appraised before a veteran can secure a G.I. loan?

A. The Servicemen's Readjustment Act requires that the purchase price paid for the property, or the cost of construction, alterations and improvements, must not be more than the "reasonable value." The reasonable value is determined by the appraiser appointed by the Veterans Administration. These requirements are designed to protect the veteran.

Q. I am planning to resume college studies this fall under the G.I. Bill. What forms do I have to fill out and when should I make my arrangements?

A. Assuming that you have already made arrangements with the college to re-enter this fall, only one form need be filled out by the college to authorize the VA to resume payments for your subsistence allowance. Check with the college when you return to the VA to be sure this simplified form has been made out.

Q. How long can a veteran with six months' service draw readjustment allowance?

A. The number of weeks of readjustment allowance payable to an eligible veteran is determined by the length of his active service between Sept. 16, 1940 and the end of World War II. The maximum is 52 weeks. For six months' service, a veteran is entitled to readjustment allowance for 36 weeks.

Q. Is a veteran who holds a bad conduct discharge entitled to any benefits under the G.I. Bill?

A. Since he holds neither an honorable nor dishonorable discharge from the armed services, it would be necessary for him to contact his nearest VA office for a decision as to whether he was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable. Or he may apply to the service command for revision of his discharge. Only veterans discharged under conditions other than dishonorable are eligible for benefits under the G.I. Bill.

Q. When in the army I signed a statement saying my disability existed prior to my enlistment. The disability has become worse now. May I apply for compensation?

A. The G.I. Bill waives all statements such as you signed. Only a VA rating board can determine whether you are entitled to compensation or not.

Urges Caution in Using New Weed Killers

Weed killers containing 2, 4-D should be used with caution, warns Dr. E. M. Johnson, plant pathologist at the University of Kentucky Experiment Station. He issued the following statement:

"A number of new weed killers, containing 2, 4-D as the active ingredient are now being sold throughout the state. These new weed killers probably are effective for the purpose intended. Observations and tests indicate that they must be used with caution to prevent injury to desirable plants. Some of them, especially the esters or organic salts, are very difficult to remove from spray equipment. It has not been possible to remove certain forms of 2, 4-D from sprayers with strong alkali, strong acid, and an acid solvent. This suggests that sprayers once used with the esters of 2, 4-D should not be used for other purposes.

"Desirable plants may be injured by drifts of the spray or vapors by air currents. Injury has been observed on grapes and roses at least 25 feet from where the spray was applied. It is suggested that the spray should be used when there is no wind and that, if possible, valuable plants be protected from possible drift. It is doubtful whether 2, 4-D can be used in gardens because it is difficult to prevent drift of either spray or vapors. For the same reason 2, 4-D should be used with care on lawns.

Should wives be roasted or boiled?

THIS may sound like a question for the Silly Quiz Department, but, actually, spending hours over flaming fuel stoves isn't funny and makes the cook feel roasted or boiled, or both.
An Electric Range is flameless and cooks without soot or smoke. Cool and serene, the cook can concentrate on delicious meals in the torrid weather—or if the heat gets her down, it won't be from the well insulated Electric Range. Too, she can leave a complete meal to cook automatically in the oven while she spends afternoons in recreation and pleasant pursuits.
As soon as Electric Ranges are again available, plan to have one. You need only ask those women fortunate enough to own an Electric Range to know there is no better way to cook. Electricity serves the modern home with Tomorrow's methods Today.

Diamond Elkhorn Adds Safety Measures, Report

An original inspection of the Diamond Elkhorn Coal Company's 225-ton-a-day Emerald No. 1 mine, at Northern, disclosed the establishment of several commendable safety features since the mine was opened in October, 1945, a federal coal mine inspector has reported to the Bureau of Mines. The operation, located four miles from Garrett, employed 450 men when it was examined in March by Inspector Russell Shaw.
Among praiseworthy conditions and practices noted by the inspector in a detailed safety summary issued this week by the Bureau were well-installed belt and chain conveyors, fireproof construction of surface buildings, good enforcement of the systematic timbering plan, reasonably safe blasting practices, adequate ventilation and effective use of line brattices in coursing air, well-installed, high-potential wires and sub-station equipment, wearing of permissible electric cap lamps and protective hats by all underground employees, continuous supervision of workers, and maintenance of adequate first-aid supplies on the surface and underground.
The inspector was told that a new ventilating fan is to be installed and placed in continuous operation. Urging continued maintenance of the good ventilating practices, Shaw proposed several safeguards for the fan installation and recommended consideration of reversing the air current to ventilate haulageways and active sections with intake air.
Other supplementary safeguards called for adequate fire protection, display of the timbering rules and instruction in the vibration and sound method of testing roof, safer transportation of blasting supplies, tests for explosive gas at least once weekly in an approved manner, tracks and more head room in at least one entry in each set to facilitate travel, frame grounds and overload protection for electrical equipment, prohibition of smoking, adoption of a personnel-checking plan, 100 per cent wearing of safety-toe footwear, monthly safety meetings of workers and officials and annual training of employees in first-aid methods.

Dummit Says Rural Road Program 'Grossly Inadequate'

Bowling Green, Ky., Aug. 17.—Attorney General Eldon S. Dummit today attacked the state's rural road program as "grossly inadequate."
Kentucky has had a $20,000,000 road fund for the past several years but rural roads have received only $2,000,000 worth of aid annually, he declared, and called the amount "paltry."
In an address before the Warren County Farm Bureau, Mr. Dummit blamed Kentucky's low standing in education, public health and farm income partly on poor rural roads which isolate a high percentage of the state from the outside world.
He said:
"Today, at Clay's Ferry, is being dedicated a $1,500,000 bridge that will eliminate a great and shorten by a few hundred yards the distance across the Kentucky river at that point. That improvement is in keeping with other federal and state post-war super highway plans designed to aid tourist trade."
Dummit continued:
"I'd like to see some mountain cow paths rehabilitated and some cross roads graveled. . . More than half of Kentucky's population live on dirt roads and constitute a great untapped reservoir of tourist trade."
"If we want to really raise the per capita farm income, lessen school delinquency, raise educational standards, increase tourist trade, and take our proper place among the sisterhood of states, let us focus the attention of our federal and state highway planners on a more equitable share of road building among our rural folks."

"Money spent on rural roads is truly an investment and not an expense."
Dummit told the Farm Bureau a stepped-up road improvement program would open up "Kentucky's frontier which is pitifully undeveloped."
The task of improving these roads is "staggering," he said.
There are about 47,000 miles of rural road in Kentucky not in the state system. "About 20,000 of these 47,000 miles are improved to some extent, leaving 27,000 miles unimproved. It should be clear that our present appropriation of $2,000,000 a year is grossly inadequate and does not begin to do the job," he said.
However, the situation has been improved to some extent, he said. The 1946 Legislature raised the yearly appropriation for rural roads to $5,000,000 annually "on the advice of the present Highway Department."
Some political commentators at the state capital believe Dummit will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor next year. Among his most likely opponents is J. Steven Watkins, commissioner of the state highway department.

Disabled Vets Quote Congressman's Answer Asked as Study Help

Members of both Houses of Congress were asked by the Disabled American Veterans for a study report on what they thought to be of first importance to disabled war veterans, to be used as a guide in their deliberations by delegates attending the 25th national convention of the DAV in Portland, Oregon, Sept. 2-6. The report, which will be published in the official convention program.
The following statement was issued by Rep. Andrew J. May, Sixth district, Kentucky:
"The most important things that could be done for disabled veterans would rank about as follows: 1. Secure constant lucrative employment for them so as to bring about a feeling of contentment and mental satisfaction and thus avoid brooding over their crippled, maimed, or diseased condition. Discontent is the most unfortunate thing that can occur in a man's life. 2. A system of vocational training to prepare these veterans for activities from which they can realize sufficient income to insure their happiness and freedom from want. 3. Convenient and satisfactory medical and hospital services. 4. All times reasonably convenient to them and their families."

DRY CAMPAIGN ITEMS

Rev. J. E. Felty, Jr., general chairman of the Dry Campaign Committee, presided over the county-wide rally in Garrett Thursday evening, first presenting county workers who were present: Jesse Elliott, vice-chairman; Rev. L. E. Wells, treasurer; Henry Porter, precinct chairman; Mrs. Golda Short, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. D. Mayo, women's organization, and Mrs. Edgar May, publicity chairman. The chairman then introduced Mr. Walter Hoshal, superintendent of the Kentucky Anti-Saloon League.
Mr. Hoshal held his listeners spellbound while he quoted facts and figures that have resulted in 90 out of 120 Kentucky counties going dry. He cited Trimble, Letcher and Scott counties, which voted dry three years ago by a majority of 600, and went dry again this year, when wets demanded another try, by a combined majority of over 3,000 votes! And the veterans were back to vote in 1940! The wets started another campaign in Grant county but saw defeat was inevitable, so they threw in the white towel and called off the election. The record of these four counties should prove that Kentucky citizens know a good thing when they have it, for they want to keep it. It also shows that bootleggers and moonshine are not worse in dry counties than in wet.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Citizens of Little Paine, which holds a local option election soon, will be eligible to vote in the county campaign, too, as they vote under a different unit then. Persons who registered on primary day may vote in the general election but NOT in the dry campaign unless they register NOW. Pastors, please announce this. Three church buses have been asked to run free Tuesday, September 3, leaving Wayland, Wheelwright and Auxier at 1:30 p. m., for Prestonsburg, to take DEYS to register before closing date Sept. 5. WATCH THE TIMES next week. PASTORS please announce same. If you have unanswered questions, write or call the general chairman in Allen.

Now You Can Order These Tires for Your Car

Here is your answer to, "Will today's tire stand up under a long grind at high speed?" In a test of the new B.F. Goodrich tire, test cars were driven steadily at sixty miles per hour, hour after hour, averaging over a thousand miles a day in all kinds of weather. Side by side on the wheels of these cars were prewar tires and the new B.F. Goodrich tire.

Tires were shifted from wheel to wheel so that both took the same beating. The new B.F. Goodrich Silvertowns outran the prewar tires—showed less wear—were good for thousands of extra miles. We are receiving regular shipments of these new B.F. Goodrich Silvertown tires. See us today.

WHAT TERMINAL LEAVE BILL PROVIDES FOR ENLISTED MEN

The following is a summary of the provisions of the terminal leave bill for enlisted men:

Beneficiaries under the bill are enlisted personnel of the army, navy, marine corps or coast guard, separated under honorable conditions or appointed as commissioned officers, and commissioned or warrant officers separated or released from active duty under honorable conditions.

Leave is earned at the rate of 2 1/2 calendar days for each month of active service, excluding absence from duty without leave, absence over leave, and confinement as a result of a sentence of court martial.

Leave is accumulated in an amount not to exceed 120 calendar days. Leave so accumulated does not survive death occurring during active military service. Enlisted men and former enlisted men shall be considered entitled to such leave from and after Sept. 8, 1939.

Payment to veterans will be on basis of base and longevity pay and allowances applicable on Aug. 31, 1946, or on the basis of pay and longevity pay and allowances applicable to a former member of the armed forces at the time of discharge, if prior to that date.

Enlisted men will receive allowance of 70 cents per day for subsistence. Enlisted men of the first three pay grades will also receive $1.25 per day for quarter allowance, provided they had dependents at the time of discharge.

Secretaries of the armed forces shall promulgate regulations governing the determination of the number of calendar days of absence from duty and all types of leave to be charged against such leave and will rely on such records and evidence, including application and sworn statements as to material facts, as they may deem proper. Such conditions will be final and conclusive and not subject to review by any court or any officer of the United States.

Enlisted men discharged prior to Sept. 1, 1946, and former enlisted men discharged prior to the date of enactment of the act must make application for Terminal Leave not later than Sept. 1, 1947; or, in case of any such member, or former member whose record is corrected after date of enactment to show discharge under honorable conditions, not later than Sept. 1, 1947, or within one year after the date on which such record is recorded, whichever is later.

Total leave as commissioned officer cannot exceed 120 days.

Settlement and compensation will be made entirely in cash (1) when the amount due is less than $50; (2) in the case of any enlisted man discharged prior to January 1, 1945; or (3) in the case of a former enlisted man who dies after discharge, settlement will be made to his wife and children, if any, in equal shares, and if no wife or child survives, to surviving parents, if any. If there is no such survivor, no settlement shall be made under the Act. Cash payment will also be made where the former enlisted man or any survivor is, by reason of being either under 17 years of age or under mental disability incapable of satisfactorily looking after his own interests, in which event the Secretary may settle with a proper person selected by him for the use and benefit of such former member.

In all other cases, settlement will be made in United States bonds, in multiples of $25, and in cash to the extent of the full amount of any difference. These bonds will be dated on the first day of the month following discharge and will mature five years from such date. The bonds will bear interest at the rate of two and one-half per cent per annum, which will be paid at maturity. They are non-negotiable, non-transferable by sale, exchange, assignment, pledge, hypothecation or otherwise, except:

Bonds may be used after issuance to veterans in payment of premiums or reconversion fees in connection with National Service Life Insurance, the Veterans Administrator being authorized to accept bonds for this purpose at face value, plus accrued interest.

Should a veteran who holds bonds die prior to maturity, payment in cash will be made by the Secretary of the Treasury prior to or after maturity upon application, at the option of the holder's survivors, as follows: to wife and children, if any, in equal shares; if no wife or children, in equal shares to surviving parents, if any. If there is no such survivor, the bond will be retired and the amount thereof covered into the general fund of the Treasury.

All amounts paid under the Act in cash, bonds, or both, are not assignable and are exempt from claims of creditors including any claim of the United States, are not subject to attachment, levy, or seizure by any legal or equitable process and all such amounts, except interest in the case of bonds, are exempt from taxation.

WAKE UP, KENTUCKY

By EWING GALLOWAY

No more seven-month elementary rural school terms in Kentucky! One long step from Tobacco Road. Thirty-eight counties have moved up from seven to eight months. Eight from seven to nine months. Twelve from seven and one-half to eight months. Two from eight to eight and one-half months. Fifteen from eight to nine. Nine from eight and one-half to nine.

The average advance is from 7.75 to 8.39.

The eight counties increasing the 1946-47 term two months, 7 seven to nine, are: Floyd, Garrard, Graves, Hopkins, Ohio, Pike, Washington and Webster. Seventy-six counties have increased the term. The rest of the 120 counties had nine-month terms already.

Next year many counties will move up from eight to nine months.

As State Superintendent John Fred Williams points out in a letter to your correspondent, the shortest term lengths have been in the county elementary schools and the foregoing figures do not reflect the increases in the secondary schools of county and independent districts.

Financial gains through increased school taxes should help secondary schools correspondingly.

Yes, the better school movement has crossed the Delaware, but there are still a lot of Hessians in Trenton.

Among the said Hessians are the following:

School buildings that are not only a disgrace to Kentucky but the shame of our modern American civilization.

Thousands of parents who, illiterate themselves, don't care whether their children get an elementary education or not.

Middle and upper class people who have fairly good schools for their own children and never concern themselves about the underprivileged in backward communities.

School politics includes also men and women who get on boards to secure teaching jobs for their relatives, which evil can be eliminated only by the election of well-educated and disinterested men and women with no private axes to grind.

Widespread failure of local school authorities to interest themselves in the truancy problem. Much of the indifference is due to the fact that local boards collect state funds, now $24.40 per pupil, whether the children go to school or not.

It is safe to say that 90 per cent of the school districts in the state are in some degree responsible for the fact that 22 per cent of the children of school age are not even enrolled—much less go to school.

The people of Kentucky will rout these figurative Hessians.

We are marching toward Trenton.

MINERS CONTINUE STRIKE IN ROW OVER DEPUTY

Whitesburg, Ky., Aug. 22—A strike at the Hemphill, Letcher county, mine of the Elk Horn Coal Corporation continued today with Mine Foreman George Webb expressing little hope for an early settlement.

Webb said the strike started 10 days ago by the workers who demanded removal of Deputy Sheriff Jim Short. Webb said the miners were protesting against alleged mistreatment of an Elk Horn employee, George Thomas, by the deputy whose removal they are demanding of Sheriff Herman Combs, Whitesburg.

DAIRYING BOOSTED

Owners of nearly 1,000 dairy cows have signed up in the artificial breeding association to have headquarters at Williamstown in Grant county. This includes 55 cows in the edge of Scott county, to be transferred to Grant county because they are closer to Williamstown than to Georgetown.

of 50 years without issue. Finally, he consulted a doctor.

"Doc," said he, "I'm getting along in years and Marthy and me have no children. I've decided we should have at least one heir when I pass on. What can you do?"

"How old are you and your wife?" the doctor inquired.

"I'm 70; she's 68."

Whereupon the physician delivered himself of this weighty decision: "I'm sorry, uncle. You and Marthy may be heir-minded but you aren't heir-conditioned."

VIGNETTE FROM LIFE

This is the story told me this week:

A few months ago, a little girl came with her mother to Prestonsburg and at a store here saw a doll that she wanted so very much. It was a beautiful doll, even as the child that coveted it was beautiful. But the little girl's mother did not have money to make the purchase.

"You'll have to wait, honey, and save till you have enough to buy the doll," she said. And the little girl, bravely repressing the tears, agreed. She must save her money. "I'll get the dollie," she confidently concluded.

Several weeks passed. Then, one day, two men came to the store. They called for the doll—for the little girl.

She had saved her money. That day was to have been her Big Day, when she would come to Prestonsburg and get her heart's desire. But the two men had come instead.

"The little girl had become suddenly ill, the night before. Now, she was getting her beautiful doll—to be buried with her."

BALLAD-HUNTING

Anybody remember the words of the old ballad, "Farewell, Sweet Beaver," by Mart Hays? If you do, mail the ballad to Margaret Mayo, 550 Riverside Drive, New York City, who is anxious to make a recording of it.

Miss Mayo herself is good, old Floyd county stock, so there's no "damsyankee" connections to this. It's just a matter of one of us being interested in things indigenous to Floyd county.

The only good thing about this guy Tito is his name; it's short enough for a headline.

The army this week discovered a 75-year-old recluse on the Ft. Lewis, Washington artillery range, unruffled by three years of shelling. When found, the hermit was tinkering with a pump organ. Doubtless getting ready to play his favorite, "Home on the Range."

FARM HOUSE REMODELED

Home Agent Margaret Cully tells how Mrs. W. A. Thompson, of Scott county, re-modeled her home. Running water was installed, a side-porch was made into a bathroom, fireplace torn out and double windows put in dining room, wall and fireplace removed to enlarge living room and fireplace built in outside wall.
