Many of us, within the next week or so, will be seeing sons and daughters return for their first taste of school. Many of us are doing as I am, permitting the boy or girl to attend the school of his or her choice, making no attempt to dictate that choice on the assumption that it's their job, as well as being a subject of the big task of getting an education.

In our case, our daughter for some unaccountable reason has an idea she wants to study journalism (a fairly long word that's badly abused as well as being a subject that often is badly neglected). That being the case, and assuming that she's irrevocably fixed in her purpose, she should spend at least one of those first college years at a school like Dr. Cabarrus's Wetherspoon or Caneys or Lees.

A year of life in such a school--clipped into, not as a dilettante but as one of the gang, with the student desperately trying to "do all right" in everything--is a liberal education, in itself, in sociology and that even greater study most folks never learn--the humanities. Not the textbook kind. The living humanities.

Some of you kids who expect to write and say and do things that, a few years from now, may really mean something in the lives of others--you should consider this part of your education. Let some of your preparation for service be where gifted men and women are doing great work. Officially see and take part in the hard, grueling fight for finer things. Remember--you can't learn the very fine art of living by reading about it.

WE TAKE 'HIT' AND GET HIT
The only reason we are printing this piece from our "valued country-bout" J. is because we know he would tell others he had written it and that we couldn't "take hit."

After much tongue-chewing, Joe insults us, as follows--and we hope his tongue chokes him, some day: Dere edditter: Yore last weeks paper got here finely this week and I want yu 2 no Serry had threde 1 ft waitt anuthur ever sence last Frida when the male boy arrove and no paper. She had convinced me that hit is mist soarly in hour umbil home and I hearye register my just rite 2 speke out aginst sich declays.

Following the presentation of Eastern Kentucky officials, Governor Willis and Mr. Watkins will deliver addresses. Music will be rendered by the Ashland high school band and other school bands of the section.

Governor Willis and party will visit West Liberty, Salyersville, Paintsville and Louisa during Friday and Saturday and tour rural roads of those counties. The itinerary does not include Floyd county.

SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY

PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

SEPTEMBER 5, 1946

Labor Day Crowd Here Estimated at 30,000

THRONG JAMS P'BURG, PARK THROUGH DAY

Two-Hour Parade Launches All-Day Program of Events

A crowd from every part of Eastern Kentucky jam-packed the baseball park and overflowed the town till the park fences bulged out and the town's walls, if it had had any, would have done likewise as the United Mine Workers of District 30 celebrated Labor Day in Prestonsburg.

The throng was variously estimated at 20,000 to 30,000 persons. Beginning of the all-day program was marked by a two-hour parade which included three high school bands, floats, clowns, performing dogs, banners and marching workers--all led by the Prestonsburg fire department and Mayor E. P. Arnold.

At the baseball park the day's events included band concerts, first-aid and mine rescue demonstrations, wrestling matches, an amateur show, a two-hour stage show by a company from Chicago, a performance by an aerialist and addresses by labor leaders.

The stage presentation, "Broadway Echoes," was witnessed by its greatest "house" as the thousands stood shoulder-to-shoulder over every inch of the ball park, and received the acclaim of all who saw it.

FLOYD-CO. VET KILLED IN PIKE

Letcher Officer Slays Earl Hall, Is Placed Under $10,000 Bond

Deputy Sheriff Jim Bryant, of Letcher county, was named in a willful murder indictment this morning (Thursday) by the grand jury of the Pike circuit court for the fatal shooting late Sunday afternoon, near Shelby Gap, Pike county, of 24-year-old Earl Hall, veteran of 43 months' service in the Italian and French theaters of war and following his return to civilian life a garage operator near McDowell.

The officer executed $10,000 bond. Hall's spinal cord was severed by Bryant's bullet which entered his throat, it was said at the Ryan Funeral Home Wednesday. Commonwealth's Attorney J. A. Runyon said at Pikeville that his skull had been fractured by a blow from Bryant's pistol. He died in Jenkins hospital at 2:50 a. m., Monday.

The shooting took place at the end of a chase by Bryant and an unnamed officer of Hall's brother, Hargis, of Minnie, and their brother-in-law from Cumberland mountain, near Jenkins, into Pike county.

Commonwealth's Attorney Runyon was told the shooting took place when Earl Hall left the car to protest against the arrest of his brother when the officers overtook the Floyd county car. Bryant was quoted as saying he struck Hall a blow with his revolver, hitting Hall on the forehead, and that his weapon was accidentally discharged.

VOTERS RUSH TO REGISTER

For Wet-Dry Election; Dummit Gives Ruling On Voter Eligibility

Registration of voters at the County Clerk's office is probably the heaviest since the days when the original registration was held under the then-new law, it was said this week as Drys and Wets marshal their forces for the showdown September 30.

Only voters regularly registered hitherto or registering during this registration period ending Sept. 6 will be eligible to take part in the local option election, the office of the Attorney General wrote County Clerk Jarvis Allen this week. The opinion points out that those who registered at the precincts in the primary election are not eligible to vote until the November election.

P'BURG COPS LEAGUE FLAG

Play-Offs Begin Sunday; Drift at Prestonsburg, Wayland at Paintsville

As the Big Sandy Baseball League representatives and officials prepared to arrange for the play-off series starting Sunday, W. A. Malone, of Allen, league president, announced that Pikeville, runner-up to Prestonsburg for the pennant, will not enter the elimination series.

This decision was reached, he said, by Pikeville Mayor Bill Stone, manager of the team there, after the loss of several regular players. Fielding a team sprinkled with high school players, Pikeville has lost its last five games to drop half a game back of Prestonsburg as the curtain on the 1946 playing season fell on Labor Day.

As a result of Pikeville's decision not to play in the opening series, Wayland will benefit by moving up from the fifth position to a spot in the select four and will meet second-place Paintsville in the two-

VACATION-TIME ENDS HERE FOR GRADES; OTHER SCHOOLS OF COUNTY TO BEGIN MONDAY; CATS OPEN ON FRIDAY 13th

Happy vacation days ended here Tuesday morning for approximately 650 grade school children, and next Monday all high and grade schools in the county will open their doors for the 1946-47 term.

The grades here began with three new faces on the faculty: Mrs. Docia Woods, first grade, Miss Billie Moore, fourth, and Mrs. Ruth Willis, seventh. Chalmers Frazier severed his connections with a life insurance firm in time to resume his work as principal of the grades.

On the second day of school the luncheon inaugurated last year by the Parent-Teacher Association was in operation. This will probably be the only school in the county operating under the state luncheon program this year. County Superintendent Palmer L. Hall said practically all other schools lack facilities for preparing and serving meals.

CONGRESSMAN A. J. MAY THIS WEEK wrote the Mead war profits investigating committee in Washington, volunteering to submit to questioning--either immediately at his home here or later in Washington when his condition permits.

At the same time, Mr. May made public a prepared statement which he said would have been read to the Senate committee on July 26, had not his illness prevented his appearance. This statement was accompanied by an audit of his account with the Cumberland Lumber Company for the years 1945-46, showing receipts of $28,634.07 and disbursements of $29,239.38, with the company due him $605.31.

Judge Emphasizes Need for Jurors

GRAND JURY NAMES FOUR

In Woman's Death From Bullet Wound; Husband-Slayer Ill

Four persons, one her husband, were named in a willful murder indictment returned by the grand jury today (Thursday) after an investigation of the mystery surrounding the recent death of Mrs. Maud Lewis from a revolver bullet wound sustained at Lancer, near here.

Lewis was in the courthouse after the indictment was filed but was not placed under arrest. At the time he was under bond to answer to the grand jury action. Bench warrants for all four were issued later.

FIRM SELLS MINE CAMP

Ex-Magistrate Wills Buys Houses, Land At Bull-Cr. Mine

Sale of 32 houses and approximately 350 acres of land by the Prestonsburg Coal Company, Water Gap, to Ex-Magistrate W. A. Wills was announced this week. The purchase price was not announced.

The real estate, as well as coal holdings, have been under lease for years, with the Sandy Valley Coal Company operating the mines and renting the houses to miners.

Miners at the Sandy Valley operation returned to work today (Thursday) following a strike of a day and after a navy representative and Bart Bloomer, of the United Mine Workers' office at Pikeville, conferred with the miners. J. R. Hurt, mine manager, said the strike resulted from deductions made from some workers' pay after they had loaded dirty coal.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Spurlin have returned from a business trip to Cincinnati.

Robinson To Return Here September 26; Now at Winchester

Lonnie Robinson, already under life sentence following his recent conviction in the Morgan circuit court for the murder of Policeman Albert (Davey) Horn here, will be returned to Prestonsburg September 26 to stand trial for the murder of Policeman Orbin Moore whose body with Horn's was found in the police department patrol car January 10, last.

Commonwealth's Attorney John Chris Cornett, on whose motion Robinson's first trial was shifted outside the county on a change of venue, said Wednesday that the trial will be held in Prestonsburg. "It is not the purpose of the Commonwealth to have murder cases changed to other counties as long as there seems to be a chance for a fair trial," he commented.

Until the trial date here Robinson will remain in the Clark county jail at Winchester.

His attorney, B. M. James, recently said his client would accept the life sentence given him at West Liberty without seeking a reversal from the Court of Appeals if the Commonwealth would agree to a second life sentence in the slaying of Moore, the two sentences to run concurrently.

This offer apparently has been spurned by the Commonwealth.

TRIAL OF TROY and Oak Mills, Wayland and Garrett officers, charged with murder, was continued Tuesday in jail on 9.

Convictions in court as of noon Tuesday.

Only One Accident Reported in Heavy Labor Day Traffic

The unusually heavy Labor Day motor traffic here and on highways converging on Prestonsburg was singularly clear of accidents, State Highway Patrolman T. J. Salisbury said Tuesday.

The highway patrol investigated one mishap, the wreck of the auto occupied by E. S. Fugate, his wife, son and two others, Mrs. Fugate suffered a dislocated hip as their car left the highway near the top of Abbott mountain, on the Little Paint side, and plunged over the hill a distance of approximately 40 feet. Although the car was reduced to wreckage, others in the party escaped with minor scratches and bruises.

LIFE-TERMER'S 2ND TRIAL SET

Robinson To Return Here September 26; Now at Winchester

Commonwealth's Attorney John Chris Cornett, on whose motion Robinson's first trial was shifted outside the county on a change of venue, said Wednesday that the trial will be held in Prestonsburg. "It is not the purpose of the Commonwealth to have murder cases changed to other counties as long as there seems to be a chance for a fair trial," he commented.

Until the trial date here Robinson will remain in the Clark county jail at Winchester.

His attorney, B. M. James, recently said his client would accept the life sentence given him at West Liberty without seeking a reversal from the Court of Appeals if the Commonwealth would agree to a second life sentence in the slaying of Moore, the two sentences to run concurrently.

This offer apparently has been spurned by the Commonwealth.

TRIAL OF TROY and Oak Mills, Wayland and Garrett officers, charged with murder, was continued Tuesday in jail on 9.

Convictions in court as of noon Tuesday.

Rastus Rogers, gaming, $20 fine; Tuley Salisbury, carrying a concealed deadly weapon (under old law), $50 fine and 10 days in jail on each of two charges; Bill Hall, Jr., shooting on the public highway, $100.

Trial of Rastus Rogers on a charge of possessing moonshine whiskey resulted in a hung jury and the case was re-set for trial Jan. 6.

No murder indictments had been returned at Wednesday noon. Among the true bills returned, three named Floyd countians named are Mack Little, Stanley Lazar and William McKinley Hall. The carrying concealed deadly weapon bill returned against Lester Turner did not specify the date when the offense occurred.

Other indictments: Eugene Powell, breaking into railway car with intent to steal; Henry Ellis will be 17 Jan. 23.

At Both Memorial hospital, Covington, where Billy was confined from shock and exposure and what the resident physician said was "temporary mental illness," the youth and his bride-to-be whispered "sweet nothings" in each other's ears after his mother and her grand-

HILL ORDERS ATTACHMENTS FOR TRUANTS

Asks Jurors To Weigh Evidence Offered Them; Hits Floyd Murder Rate

Instructions of Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill to the grand jury upon the opening of the September term of court here Tuesday emphasized in word the importance of jury service and during his empaneling of the grand and petit juries preceding his instructions he gave emphasis to this duty of citizens by his official acts.

He ordered attachments issued for six men who had failed to appear for grand jury service and for eight absent without leave from the petit jury. Two others, Graydon Howard, of Pyramid, and Monroe Newsome, of Teaberry, were not named in attachments when they failed to appear to answer grand jury summons because they are postmasters.

"We must adopt some system to get people to court in obedience to processes of the court; we will have to impose some penalties," Judge Hill commented.

"The law on the selection of grand and petit juries is well-defined," he commented as the names of jurors were called and several failed to appear. "That method is to roll their names from the wheel. I certainly do not want to deviate from the law. If I had my way and were it not for the law, I could pick out juries of good, graybearded men. . . . Jury service is not based on compensation--it is a patriotic duty. I realize that it is a hardship on a lot of men to leave good jobs and come here, but it is the job of all and it is your duty to serve."

In his formal instructions Judge Hill declared, "Murder has become so commonplace that our people take it as a matter of course," adding that "outside publicity" is often cruel and sometimes deserved. "Many times," he asserted, "it would seem easier to come clear of a murder charge than of being drunk."

Speaking of jury service, he reminded jurors that they should try hard to determine who is telling the truth and who is telling a lie in an attempt to defeat the purposes of justice.

Commenting on the new two-to-five-year pistol law, and associating pistols with the murder rate, he declared that this law will be enforced.

Legion Post and UMWA Post Reward in Theft Of Street Decorations

Floyd Post, American Legion, and District 30, United Mine Workers of America, said Tuesday each would pay a reward of $25 for the arrest and conviction of the persons who stole 30 pennants owned by the Legion and used in street decoration by the mine workers in preparation for the Labor Day celebration here.

The pennants disappeared during Sunday night. Their cost totaled approximately $175, Tom Jones, Floyd Post commander, said.

FORMER GARRETT BOY LEAPS INTO OHIO, IS SAVED, WINS PERMISSION TO WED GIRL

Billy Paul Allen, who moved with his mother, Mrs. Sally Allen, from Garrett to Covington five years ago, and whose leap from the center span of the C. & O. bridge at Covington into the Ohio river, Aug. 25, won parental approval for his wedding plans will be married to his 16-year-old sweetheart when he becomes 18 on Nov. 10.

Mrs. Thelma Lindley, step-grandmother of the girl, blonde and pretty Ella Lindley, said the ceremony would be held at the girl's residence Ella will be 17 Jan. 23.

At Both Memorial hospital, Covington, where Billy was confined from shock and exposure and what the resident physician said was "temporary mental illness," the youth and his bride-to-be whispered "sweet nothings" in each other's ears after his mother and her grandmother gave their blessing. Billy's mother and the girl's grandfather, Clarence C. Lindley, decided that "if it is this serious" they can be married.

The romance, begun two years ago when, according to Ella, it was "love at first sight," almost ended tragically when Billy, who lives with his mother and two brothers, John, 12, and Earl, 20, at 733 Burns street, leaped into the Ohio.

He was rescued by Earl Murphy, of Covington, who was rowing nearby. Mrs. Allen, who was herself married at 18 and whose husband died 10 years ago, described Billy, who has been employed for the last year at the Zeto Company, weatherstripping concern, as a "spoiled child with plenty of temper, but good-hearted."

After the Barren county school board decided to discontinue the Etolle school, 4-H and homemakers clubs of the community bought the building for a recreation center. In anticipation of abandonment of the school, the 4-H club under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Jones had saved enough money to pay its part of the purchase price. Purchase of the Etolle school building was the second step in establishing community recreation centers throughout Barren county. The Utopia club last year leased the Jefferson Seminary School building for a community center.

Substandard Conditions Still Preval in Mine, Says Federal Report

Although some improvements have been effected recently, numerous sub-standard conditions and practices again were reported by a federal coal mine inspector following a re-inspection of the Lambert Company's 300-ton-a-day Lambert mine, at Hi Hat, according to a detailed report issued by the Bureau of Mines. The operation, employing 44 men, was re-examined in June by Inspector Harold Doctorman prior to the effective date of the Federal Mine Safety Code on July 29, 1946.

Inspector Doctorman said officials pay greater attention to timbering practices and roof-testing. Underground workers have been instructed in the vibration-and-sound method of testing roof, permanent timbers are kept reasonably close to working faces, and the company plans to adopt and display systematic timbering rules. He urged, however, that safety posts be set promptly in working places, broken crossbars be replaced when detected, and relief be given to overloaded sets.

Noting an insufficient volume of air in one set of entries, the examiner suggested several changes in the ventilating system and urged consideration of a split system in future development, prompt closing of necessary crosscuts to facilitate ventilation, sealing of entries holed into an adjoining mine, and use of air-locks in coursing air.

Other suggestions called for approved tests for explosive gas at least once weekly instead of bi-weekly, cleaner haulageways free of stumbling hazards and with adequate clearance and shelter holes, improved brakes and re-winding equipment for locomotives, curbs on risky haulage practices, additional trolley wire guarding, frame grounds and other safeguards for electrical equipment, shields for exposed gears and belt drives, more underground fire protection, prohibition of smoking, replacement of open-flame cap lamps with permissible electric cap lamps when this equipment is received, adequate fire protection and control of coal dust in the surface plant, universal wearing of safety-toe footwear, maintenance of first-aid supplies underground, formation of an active safety organization holding meetings at least monthly, adoption and distribution of company safety rules, and instruction of all workers in first-aid methods and a crew in mine-rescue work.

In addition to improved timbering, betterments reported since the August, 1945 inspection included safer storage of lubricants and orderly storage of other mine supplies, continuous operation of the main ventilating fan and frame-grounding of the fan motor, reduction of "nipping" and backpolling by haulage, adoption of an efficient checking plan, supervision for the night shift, placing of a handrail on the stairway along the coal chute, and signing of the daily record book by the mine foreman.

City Bus Line Worth Re-Considering

ALTHOUGH Prestonsburg's City Council not long ago turned thumbs down on a petition for a city bus line charter, THE TIMES hopes the Council will give the matter further consideration. It would suggest that final action might well be withheld until Council has had time to make a thorough study of the benefits, if any, accruing in neighboring Pikeville and Paintsville through operation of such a transportation system.

Failure of the Sparks Brothers Bus Company to operate effectively for one reason or another, for most of the last five and a half months might add to the importance of a city line. Particularly so, if it is true that a city line may operate over highways radiating out of Prestonsburg a distance of ten miles.

If service through such a line could accommodate the public over such an area, bus service from Prestonsburg to Allen, to David, to East Point or to the Dewey dam would be possible.

THE TIMES is not interested in any individual or group benefiting from such an enterprise. Its interest is in service to the public.

Prestonsburg has a large number of taxicabs which offer transportation, but this system is too costly to the public. Some charges are reasonable, some exorbitant, some downright outrageous. A case in point is a charge of a dollar from the West Prestonsburg railway station to Prestonsburg.

Pikeville's city line operates toward Prestonsburg as far as Betsy Layne at a total round-trip cost of 35 cents to the passenger.

THE TIMES does not seek to curtail the legitimate business of cab operators, nor does it, per se, seek competition for them. It is maintaining, simply, this: The City Council is elected to represent the people of Prestonsburg and to act in their behalf; and, therefore, Council should give full consideration to this and any other proposal that might help the greatest number of people.

A Miracle on Saturday Night

By WM. D. STEVENS

Saturday night, with its gaiety, bright lights, hustle and bustle—when all the world clamors for a good time! That's the usual picture.

But let us take a look at Madison Square Garden in the heart of New York City. Madison Square Garden, the scene of the Lewis-Conn fight, the center of many sporting events. Twenty thousand persons have packed it and more than 10,000 others have been turned away for lack of space.

But it isn't a sporting event this time. A familiar strain of music can be heard, then joyful singing. Some one is about to speak. It's Jack Wyrzten, a former dance orchestra leader. What is he saying? The entire audience leans forward to catch every word. There's power in the man's words, a power that penetrates deep into the hearts of the audience. They sit almost spell-bound. He has almost finished speaking.

But what's this? A young man steps out of his place and goes forward. Another follows—and another—and still another. From all over the audience they come. What has this young man said that has stirred and challenged this audience so?

Jack Wyrzten is asking one of them to speak. It's a young girl. Her face is radiant with an inner beauty. With eyes that look deep into the audience, she says with a clear but steady voice, "I am not ashamed of the power of God unto Salvation to everyone that believeth." A hush falls into the hearts of all. A clean-cut young fellow steps forward and in a simple, earnest manner says, "We trust in the living God who is the Savior of all men, especially of those that believe."

Can this be possible? Young people, on a Saturday night, taking a firm stand for Christ? Yes, it's really true and here's the way it started.

After experiencing the saving knowledge of Christ, Jack Wyrzten quit his work as orchestra leader. He became burdened for the youth, especially in New York City. He knew what young people were looking for—something to satisfy that longing for a deep peace in their hearts. Constantly they were seeking and so many were not finding it. Jack Wyrzten had found the answer in his own life and he longed to present it to others.

After much prayer the way opened up. A weekly Youth for Christ meeting each Saturday night—in the most ideal spot of New York City—Madison Square Garden.

And it worked! Thousands throng to the auditorium, they sing the stirring songs, they hear thrilling testimonies of others in word and in special music, they listen to the message and are accepting the challenge of the gospel of Christ as it is presented in an appealing way that "drives" home with them.

All over America the Youth for Christ movement began to spread. In Chicago with Terry Johnson, director of Chicagoand Youth for Christ, meeting weekly in Orchestra Hall; in Washington, D.C., a former All-America football star, Glenn Wagner, director; John Huffman, dynamic leader of Boston Youth for Christ; Luther Price, founder of Youth for Christ on Iwo Jima, and many others in almost every city of America.

It is rapidly spreading to other countries of the world. The movement is burning into the hearts of the youth today.

A miracle? Yes—from God. Young people are finding the happiness and good time that satisfies and are saying with the Psalmist, "Our heart shall rejoice in Him, because we have trusted in His holy name."

Woman's Club Presents 3-Act Mystery Farce

Stansifer; Laura Dawson, another maid, Mrs. Wayne Bradley; Madame Zola, who sees all, knows all, and tells nothing, Carlos Haywood; Mrs. Edward Dunning (Cynthia), a neighbor, Jane Wallace; Portia Lark, a female lawyer, Edith Kendrick; Omar Caves, a successful business man, Palmer L. Hall; LaSalle Johnson, his colored servant, Hubbard Francis; Johnny Rogers, engaged to Joy, Dallas Sammons; Slick Conway, who adds to the mystery, Monroe Wicker.

The play was directed by Mrs. J. W. Sutherland, assisted by Mrs. Harry Ranier.

A juvenile style show directed by Mrs. Chalmer Frazier and Mrs. Arthur Haywood, with Mrs. Monroe Wicker as announcer, was enjoyed.

The following were models: Terry Lee Webb, Joy Cyrus, Leslie Ann Shaw, Barbara Ann Carter, Elizabeth Archer May, Rosemary Hall, Anita Clark, Nellie Akers, Judy Ann Allen, Georgia Lee Archer, Martha Paulette Scott, Mary Loretta Goble, Kay Ann Frazier, Sandra Sue Spurlock, Diane Schroeder, Penny Beth Whitten, Bill Jones, III, Jim Carter, Wm. Prestonsburg, Ky.

On Saturday, August 10, in the Allen Baptist Church, Miss Katherine Grace Porter, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Porter, of Allen, became the bride of Mr. Olin Elliott, son of Mrs. Paris Hayes, of Dayton, Ohio.

Prior to the wedding Miss Lois Jean Buky, of Louisville, Ky., sang, "I Love You Truly" and "Always," with Miss Virginia Lee Cowan, of Carlisle, Ky., at the piano. To the strains of the Wedding March from Lohengrin, the attendants entered down two aisles, where alternating pews were marked with large white bows from which fronds of trailing ivy fell with baby satin streamers. The bride followed on the arm of her father, who gave her to the groom at the foot of the steps leading to the chancel, where the Rev. John E. Felty, Jr., was waiting. The bride and groom stood beneath a giant wedding bell, topped by a satin bow and streamers, while lighted tapers burned in twin candelabrae. As he spoke the impressive words of the double ring ceremony, Rev. Felty united them in the bonds of matrimony after which the bridal party marched out to the recessional from Mendelssohn.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white, with bodice and peplum of Alençon lace, sweetheart neckline, pointed wrists to her long sleeves, and tiny covered buttons down the back of the waist. The full skirt of net over tulle ended in a long train. Her veil of illusion fell from a Juliet cap of delicate embroidery. She carried an arm bouquet of white rosebuds, with an orchid, tied with wide satin ribbons.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Forrest Short, of Allen, aunt of the bride, was gowned in blue net over satin with a head-piece of white. Her flowers were shell pink snapdragons, edged with baby's breath and Queen Anne Lace, dyed to match her costume.

Little Miss Betty Lou Crisp, of Allen, flower girl, wore a floor-length frock of blue net, and carried a straw bonnet with ribbon streamers on her arm, from which she scattered petals.

The six bridesmaids included Miss Elizabeth Ann Wellman, of Lexington, Ky., cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Ruth Ann Black, Florence, Ky., a college classmate of the bride. POST-MORTEM

Last season when those University of Kentucky Wildcats ate up the ground with first downs in mid-field, only to be first down, literally speaking, when they got within striking distance, this question oft arose on the afternoon air, sometimes punctuated with a chorus of co-ordinated "hics" that gave the listener, if any of those fans could be accused of listening, a start: "What's wrong with them Cats?"

The answer seems to be the all-embracing "Plenty!" Why, last year's regular center couldn't even make the team this year and wound up a student manager.

PRAVDA, PLEASE COPY Although we are not going to recommend Edgar Stephens' explanation of the atomic bomb to any scientific magazines, we will admit it is the only one either we or our sometime friend Joe have ever been able to wade into past the first paragraph. Come, my children, and listen and learn.

This great cataclysmic discovery of the atomic bomb and its worth as the weapon of future wars has the entire world in such a quandary that we are already fighting a future World War III. Here is set down the entire secret for Pravda to copy.

This family—every family—is vulnerable. Cancer makes this statement of fact: 1 out of every 8 persons now living is doomed to die a victim of this killer UNLESS SOMETHING IS DONE ABOUT IT. There are eight happy people in this group. Before 1946 is ended, one will die of cancer. Which one? No one knows! Cancer respects neither age nor sex. Cancer will kill 175,000 Americans in 1946. It is the greatest killer of women between 35 and 50. It kills more men than women of the types common to both. It kills more children between 5 and 20 than Infan-

Drys Challenge Floyd County
Taxpayer's League

By MRS EDGAR R. MAY
Publicity Chairman for Drys
(Brother, don't miss this one!)

The Drys hereby challenge the Floyd County Taxpayers' League to sign their names to wet articles! Also to list their officers! Many Drys are taxpayers in the county. A child knows no representative group of taxpayers is wet! Not with the wets' own poll showing a dry majority. On Tuesday, Aug. 27, in the Printer Methodist Church, from the speaker's platform, the writer predicted that wet articles would soon appear under the non de plume mentioned above and used by the wets in 1943. This was before the Times WENT TO PRESS last week.

ing forward to certain victory, beneath the blood-stained banner of the Cross of Calvary. We invite all good citizens to vote Dry, and to join with the Christians in the infantry on the firing line, where the most good can be done towards helping to defeat the enemy in our camp.

SCOTT COUNTY CITED BY WETS

Last week the Wets cited arrests from Scott county court records while dry and wet. The report was in their favor. But ask them to tell the whole truth about Scott. They did NOT give the records from the city police courts, which are altogether separate. They NEVER quote these, since city court records always leave them in the RED for the county total. Everybody knows most of the drunks go to the cities on sprees; most of the arrests occur there. Such records must be obtained from the city police court judge. Add these to the county totals in Scott and see the difference! Johnson, Boyd, Menifee and Magoffin counties all show a marked decrease in arrests since going dry. Magoffin has a reputation of seven to one in favor of the drys! Let's demand the WHOLE truth from the wets. But try getting it!

SAM MORRIS COMING

Sam Morris' itinerary for Sunday, Sept. 29 follows: all meetings in school auditoriums, Prestonsburg 11 a.m., Wheelwright, 2:30 p.m., McDowell, 4:30, Martin, 8. PASTORS in surrounding vicinities of each locale are asked to dismiss services and urge everyone to hear Morris, greatest anti-liquor speaker in America. More details and ushers announced soon.

WATCH THE TIMES

Dry officers have signed reports, with names, of much illegal registering being done by the wets who are sending youths under age to register. Drys have a perfect checkmate on this and MEAN TO USE IT. Beware! Pastors, please announce that all persons voting before attaining FULL AGE are subject to HEAVY FINE, or JAIL SENTENCE, or BOTH, KRS. 124.150. Dry challengers who know each precinct will catch illegal voters, and PROSECUTION follow, if the case has to be taken to the Court of Appeals, where the DRYs of Kentucky have not lost an election for years.

FALSE PROPAGANDA
Floyd citizens will not believe wet lies that old-age pensions will cease when liquor revenue ends, since pensions are still being received in the 60 counties of Kentucky that have gone dry to date.

DRY BOOTH OPENED

Every PASTOR see and know his precinct is fully organized, ready to function. Dry election officers and challengers watch The Times for announcement about school to be held for you. PASTORS take notice.

PASTORS NOTICE

Has your church sent its campaign denotation? Do so NOW. Churches that have not donated will appear in The Times next week. Make checks to general chairman, since Rev. L. E. Wells, treasurer, is leaving, and must be replaced at the next meeting. The Drys regret losing Bro. Wells, whose work has been most outstanding in every way.

NEWS FOR THE VETERAN

VETERANS SOON MAY GET HOMETOWN DENTAL CARE

World War II veterans in Kentucky, Ohio and Michigan who have service-connected dental conditions soon may receive hometown dental care when Veterans Administration dental clinic treatment is not "feasible available." It was announced recently at the VA's Columbus, O., branch office.

The VA is negotiating agreements with dental societies in the three states, setting up a fee-schedule program by which VA will pay for service-connected dental treatment when veterans cannot be taken care of in VA clinics.

The new plan should be in operation in Ohio and Kentucky about October 1 and in Michigan somewhat later. Under the new plan, a veteran needing treatment for a service-connected dental condition must file a claim at the nearest VA office. If VA treatment is not "feasible available," the veteran may be authorized to receive treatment from any of the participating private dentists, with VA paying the bill. In all cases, treatment by a private dentist first must be authorized by VA.

Recently, VA considers a dental disorder as service-connected when it can be shown that the disorder developed after the applicant originally was inducted into service and prior to his discharge, or that the disorder was a result of a specific action while in service. Determination of service-connection will be made by VA rating boards.

VA HOSPITAL TO GET BICYCLES

Bicycle riding, as a wholesome form of recreation and exercise, will become a phase of the recreational and entertainment program in VA hospitals in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky within the next few weeks, according to VA's Columbus branch office. The VA Central Office in Washington has contracted for delivery of 1,000 bicycles which will be distributed among the various VA hospitals in the nation. The first shipment will be delivered in October.

VA TO MAKE TB CHECK OF HOSPITAL EMPLOYEES

All employees of VA hospitals and homes in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky will be given initial and annual X-rays to detect tuberculosis infection in its incipient stage in order that proper steps may be taken to avoid serious and prolonged illness and dissemination of infection, according to a nation-wide VA ruling received by the Columbus, Ohio, branch office for the three states.

Recently, VA initiated a similar program for all patients in VA hospitals and homes and the program now is being carried out in hospitals at Cleveland, Brecksville, Dayton and Chillicothe in Ohio, Ft. Custer and Dearborn in Michigan and Outwood, Lexington, and Louisville in Kentucky.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. I am carrying National Service Life Insurance to which I subscribed while in service. Do the recently revised provisions of this insurance law provide for any changes in premium rates?

A. No. The rates as announced for the NSLI Act of 1940 are still in effect and unchanged.

Q. What new types of policies will be available under the revised National Service Life Insurance Act?

A. The new types available are 20-year Endowment, Endowment at Age 60, and Endowment at Age 65. Other policies still available are Term, Ordinary Life, Twenty-Pay Life and Thirty-Pay Life.

Q. I recently was discharged from the service and would like to attend some school this fall under the G.I. Bill. What should I do first?

A. You should immediately contact your nearest VA office and apply for a certificate of Eligibility. Take your honorable discharge with you.

Q. I plan to enter school this fall under the G.I. Bill. Is it true the VA will pay me $500 a year for tuition and books?

A. No. The VA will pay the school where you are enrolled the tuition, cost of books and other fees charged other students in the same course, up to $500 maximum per school year. The veteran does not receive this money.

Q. I already have converted my National Service Life Insurance. Will I be able to again change to one of the new endowment plans?

LEES JUNIOR COLLEGE
JACKSON, KENTUCKY

Dear Friend:

The need for college trained men and women is becoming more urgent every day. The Atomic Age makes a college education a necessity. For the first time in the history of this great land there are not enough colleges to take care of the young men and women who wish to enter this fall.

Financially many of you have at your disposal governmental aid for your education, others of you may need financial help and still others of you can pay your own way thru college. Lees College is able to accommodate you no matter to which of these groups you belong.

We want all of you to give careful consideration to the special advantages offered you by Lees College. We are listing these advantages below so that you may keep them in mind while making your decision.

- (1) Lees College is near your home.
- (2) The costs are reasonable. In the larger towns you face extremely high costs. Lees College is in a small town where costs are maintained at reasonable levels.
- (3) Lees College is a fully accredited educational institution.
- (4) The basic subjects necessary to complete whatever professional training you might wish later will be offered; such as Physics, Mathematics, Algebra, Biology, Chemistry, English, History, Government, Psychology, Geography, Education, Typing, Shorthand, Music and Art.

The colleges of Kentucky are rapidly completing their enrollments for the coming semester. Many of them are already turning away prospective students. We urge you to make your decision quickly and write to us for accommodations in our dormitories.

You will be interested to know that Lees College has an excellent athletic field and stadium. Our new athletic coach is looking forward to a successful season.

We hope that we may hear from you and that we may have the pleasure of having you as a student for the coming semester, beginning on September 9th.

Cordially yours,
J. O. VAN METER,
President

To The Public:

The impression has grown in some places, as a result of misunderstanding, that the members of our union are responsible for the bus tie-up that now is inconveniencing this section.
We want to assure the people that this is not true. We have been ready to work at any and all times since the signing of our present contract with the Sparks Brothers Bus Company. We were ready to work on the morning of August 14, the day after the meeting at which we voted not to accept the membership of two drivers in whom the company is deeply interested.

That morning, we went to Mr. McKinley Sparks' home and asked for the keys to the buses so that we could go ahead with operation of the bus line. We were bluntly refused.

THIS IS NOT A STRIKE. IT IS A LOCK-OUT BY THE SPARKS BROTHERS BUS COMPANY.

On yet another occasion we asked Mr. Sparks for permission to work. He told us we were all wrong and refused to work and to permit the two drivers we rejected for membership to work. We suggested that this arrangement be followed during a period of 30 days while we left the whole matter to arbitration.

We assured Mr. Sparks at that time that, if the Board of Arbitration held that we are wrong, we would abide by its ruling and, moreover, we would pay the two drivers for every day they had lost because of our action.

To all our pleas and offers Mr. Sparks' answer is a flat refusal to operate his buses until these two men are accepted for membership in our union.

We ask you—Is this our fault? The people are without bus service. The public is not being treated fairly. But the blame does not belong to us.

We leave the matter to any fair-minded person to judge and we invite openly expressed opinion.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for the kindness shown us during the illness and upon the death of our beloved mother, Clary Hall. We especially thank the Revs. Will Horn, Dewey Hampton and Mr. Shortridge for their consoling words and the many others who helped in any way and those who sent beautiful flowers. We also thank the Arnold Funeral Home for its efficient service and Local Union No. 3256, United Mine Workers of America—Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hall.

TO THE PUBLIC:

The news of a man who has a little trouble of his own: I know the good people of Floyd county have heard of part of my trouble. I want to tell the good people that Buell Wright, my loving second wife, is not in fault at all. She has always given me good advice. There is a crook somewhere in the nearby counties was cause of the rest. I advise all good men to leave crooks and whiskey alone. I hope to be free again and pay my just and honest debt and take care of the ones I really love.

"Doggone, Mrs. Spaniel, you've got a fortune there!"

"Wonder how much, friend Foxhound?"
"I'd say a hundred bucks apiece, charming lady!"
"Flatterer! Why, when my grandpa was a pup, he brought only $25. That was 20 years ago, of course, but he became a Champion!"
"My good woman, don't you realize how much prices have gone up since then? Look at hamburger, for instance..."
"Oh, Mister, how I'd love to look at hamburger!"

"Stop it—please! My point is that the price of nearly everything has gone way up in the last 20 years. Except electricity. And us dogs don't use electricity. That's unfair. I'm going to raise a howl about it!"

"But we do use electricity in lots of ways. It cooks our food and warms our baths and whisks our spare hairs off the furniture."
"Hm—guess you're right, gorgeous gal... And it'll please you to know that the average family gets twice as much electricity for its money today as it did 20 years ago."
"Twenty years ago—when Grandpa was a pup—and hamburger was... how much did you say hamburger was?"
"I'll have to scratch up the exact figure for you. But now I must run along and pick up a scent. Electricity and I—forgive me—do a great deal of work for a cent. Yip, yip! Good day, Mrs. Spaniel."

Though this story's all fun, its facts are all true. Many things are scarce and expensive these days, but electricity is plentiful and cheap. One reason it's so cheap is because of your wider use—but another big reason is because America's business-managed electric companies constantly seek and find new ways to keep it so.

THE PASSING OF AN ERA—II

WHEN you consider that the passing of our well-known customs is contemporary with the passing of free land and the closing of the frontier, you begin to see what happened to us is no mere local event, interesting only to those concerned. Until 1890 there was a frontier, to which the restless spirits were forever going, a frontier that was a sort of safety valve for all the country. As long as it existed, the same cycle of development was likely to recur endlessly. The scouts arrived to hunt or explore; the settlers came in behind them; log cabins were succeeded by boxed houses, and these by frame and brick structures, the muddy trail through the woods became a road that by and by was paved, the railroad plowed its way through half-opened land. And every farmhouse had to be a veritable establishment, self-sufficient, even through a long, hard winter. Sugar and coffee represented about the extent of the purchases, but even these could be dispensed with when very severe weather came.

"Raise it, make it, or do without it" might have been taken as sage advice to the average person in those days. Anything not from the farm itself became a positive luxury that nothing today can even remotely resemble. I can recall how thrilled we were to buy some tasteless jelly in a bucket, tasteless, that is, except for the taste of the bucket. We canned quantities of preserves and jellies of all the known kinds, but this stuff seemed like nectar and ambrosia to our palates, jaded by contact with home-made preserves and jellies. Equally thrilling it was to purchase "brought-on" salt pork or bacon or cabbage. "Baker's bread" was almost the supreme mark of daintiness, to be expected only on some rare occasion, like quarterly meeting dinners on the ground. Shoes, it is true, were no longer made by hand, but ordinary cobbler's work was common for repairs; there were few of us who could not half-sole a pair of work shoes. The one-crop system, though it was ruining all the soil elsewhere, was never a very serious menace to our little world. The nearest approach to it was the importance attached to the tobacco crop. The few people who raised tobacco and sold it to buy feed for their stock were looked upon as freaks. Corn for the stock and for our own larder, sorghum molasses, hogs for the smokehouse supply of meat and for sale, cattle, chickens, sheep and numerous minor things we had, usually in sufficient quantities for our own needs and enough for the unobserved charity that shared what we had with less fortunate people.

We watched the picturesque life we were leading, unconscious of its being on the verge of extinction, like Poe's beautiful young women that formed for him the only subject for great poetry. What we knew and practised had been before our time, it was the common experience of our ancestors as far back as we could trace, and we had no fears that the institutions so hallowed would soon be lost to the world. Sometimes we longed for the strange things that we read about in the papers and books that came to us from a more modernized world; basically I know that we feared that anything else besides our ways was undesirable and probably wicked. The few who had been away on a train bragged cautiously, for even they were not sure that these things were to last, such things had not been in existence in Bible times; they might even be forerunners of the Judgment Day. Abraham and Isaac and Jacob had lived only a little more primitively than we; the successors of Moses and Joshua certainly had houses and lands. Our own agrarian instincts identified the land with God's purpose for His children. How we could ever come to discarding our cherished ways was beyond our dreaming.

By EWING GALLOWAY

One of the guards at Kentucky Dam the other day told me the average number of visiting sightseers on Saturdays and Sundays was about 2,000 a day. I thought that was pretty good. Then I took a look at the license plates on long rows of cars in the parking area. Instead of finding cars from all over the middle west I discovered that practically all of them were from west Kentucky counties, say within 75 miles of the dam.

On the way from Henderson, via Route 60 as far as the Tennessee river bridge, I was impressed by the absence of road signs telling where Kentucky Dam was and how to get to it. The only sign I could find on that trip and on two subsequent journeys to the dam, returning by different routes each time, was at the junction of the Paducah-Hopkinsville road with a short blacktop that leads directly to the dam. It was put up when the dam was under construction, and is now so badly faded that it is hard to read at a distance of 200 feet.

This absence of road signs telling about the greatest, most picturesque man-made thing in Kentucky solves the mystery of the absent sightseers from outside the Purchase. The state had learned next to nothing from advertising. They got the publicity by word of mouth. The Murphys went to see the dam, and told the Joneses about it, the Smiths went, and told the Clarks. Effective, this oral advertising, but too slow to reach Maine and Oregon and Arizona in this generation. I am telling this story to re-emphasize a previous contention of mine that when it comes to bidding for tourist trade Kentuckians are practically mute.

In Evansville, Ind., a few days ago, the State Highway Patrol stopped me and gave my car a thorough once-over. Examined my brakes, lights, dimmer-switch, everything involved in safe driving. Then they had me put a sticker on my windshield so that I would not be held up again. When I got back to Henderson I asked the Kentucky Highway Patrol if they had orders to inspect all cars. A patrolman said that was the plan. It was nationwide. I hope the Kentucky authorities really mean to do the job thoroughly.

What a lot of people can't understand is why, in view of the annual motor vehicle accident toll of about 35,000 lives a year in the United States, inspection of cars shouldn't have been carried in for the past 35 years. There are several reasons.

Compelling people to have their cars repaired might alienate votes. Another reason is that inspecting all cars and trucks, say twice a year, would involve a lot of work on the part of the highway patrol, possibly necessitating the hiring of more patrolmen. During three decades of motor car accidents which killed or crippled thousands of people in the state, next to nothing was done until a nation-wide crusade against dangerous cars and trucks got under way.

Half a dozen years ago New Jersey enacted a law requiring semi-annual inspection of all motor vehicles. The highway patrol did the work at convenient places. Car owners were not held up by chance. They had to go to the highway police. If a car had anything the matter with it the owner was given notice to get the repairs done and report back. During the first year under this law 3,800 cars were condemned and ordered junked. The New Jersey law may not be as good as it ought to be, maybe the next Kentucky Legislature can enact a better one.

"With a taxi garage superintendent, it's mileage that counts in tires," says Mr. E. L. Gueldin, superintendent of Yellow Cab, Louisville, Ky. "Taxi tires take a beating. And there's no better test of a tire than to try it out on taxi fleets. Our cabs have gotten more miles of service out of the new B.F. OUTWEAR PREWAR TIRES

It was the same story everywhere the new B.F. Goodrich passenger tire was tested . . . on taxis, police cars, the B.F. Goodrich test fleet, and in the laboratory.

Under all conditions, even at high speed, on test cars driven steadily at 60 miles per hour, hour after hour, averaging over a thousand miles a day, the new B.F. Goodrich Silvertown was a superior performer. It outran prewar tires . . . showed less tread wear . . . gave thousands of miles of extra service. Why? One reason is that the wider, flatter tread puts more rubber on the road to share the wear. But under that tread is another reason . . . a stronger tire body made with better cords and more of them. That's why this new tire stands up better . . . and outwears prewar tires. So here's a tip. Come in today.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC!

LESS THAN 2 CENTS

WHY?

90 COUNTIES DRY
 "The record now stands with 90 counties dry, totaling 2,510 precincts, including 75 precincts in 12 wet counties, 1,716,030 people or 60 pct. of the population living in dry territory, 32,190 square miles, or 80 pct. of the state's area dry, and 60 pct. of all voting precincts. Kentucky's population living in dry territory is equal to the entire population of the states of Wyoming, Nevada, Vermont and Delaware, with Washington, our national capital, added for good measure.

"In the last three years 42 counties have voted dry and only 11 wet. MAKE FLOYD THE 91st DRY COUNTY. If we are not satisfied we can go back wet in 3 years. Fair, isn't it? Let's give it a trial.

Per Person Is All We Will Lose In State Revenue When

Floyd County Votes Dry September 30

FOR LESS THAN 2 PENNIES...

Would you vote to make drunkards of the boys and girls of Floyd county by keeping liquor under their nose everywhere they go?

When Floyd County votes dry, it means a loss of less than 2 pennies for every man, woman, and child in the county in revenue from the state's liquor consumption and license taxes.

Did Three Counties Vote To Remain Dry This Spring?

Three years ago Trimble, Scott and Letcher counties voted saloons out by a combined dry majority of 655. THIS SPRING these same counties voted to keep saloons and roadhouses from coming back by a combined majority of 3,000. And the soldier boys were all back home.

Let the Liquor Boys Answer That One.

Prohibition is a Success. No Better Proof Than This.

IF YOU WANT THE PROOF

READ THE REPORT OF KENTUCKY'S DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE YEAR CLOSING JUNE 30, 1946:

THE TOTAL WHISKEY CONSUMPTION TAX RECEIVED BY THE STATE—

From all sources, fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, was .....	$4,450,769.46
Total State beer consumption tax, same period, was .....	$1,554,058.82
Total State wine consumption tax, same period, was .....	$ 116,285.45
Grand Total consumption tax for this period was .....	$6,121,113.73

THIS TOTAL CONSUMPTION TAX OF $6,121,113.73 RECEIVED BY THE STATE IF DIVIDED BY THE 2,845,627 PEOPLE In Kentucky, would amount to $2.15 for every man, woman and child in the State.

AT $2.15 PER CAPITA, FLOYD COUNTY'S 52,986 POPULATION PAID INTO THE STATE'S GENERAL FUND, for the year ending June 30, 1946—

A total liquor consumption tax of.....	$113,919.90
She sent the State for whiskey license fees.....	3,000.00
Her state beer license fees at $25.00 per store were .....	2,350.00
Her grand total sent the State for liquor revenue was .....	$119,269.90

THIS $119,269.90 IS THE SUM THE STATE WILL LOSE AND NOT FLOYD COUNTY WHEN THIS COUNTY VOTES DRY SEPT. 30. This county is only one of the 120 counties of the State sharing in the general fund. So this county will lose ONLY her 120th part of this $119,269.90 which totals $993.91. This $993.91 is this county's only loss in state revenue, less than 2c per person.

NO LOCAL REVENUE IS LOST

TAXPAYERS WILL SAVE THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS WHEN FLOYD GOES DRY SEPT. 30. THE SMALL LICENSE FEES charged the beer and liquor saloons by Floyd county, to help pay for the damage the liquor outfit creates, NEVER HAS paid for the care and maintenance of the DRUNKS THE SALOONS MAKE.

FLOYD COUNTY "WET" OR "DRY"

WILL CONTINUE TO RECEIVE HER SHARE OF $11,759,419.45 IN LIQUOR REVENUE POURING INTO THE STATE'S GENERAL FUND FROM 73 DISTILLERIES, 6 BREWERIES, 150 WHOLESALE DISTRIBUTORS AND 4,000 beer and whiskey saloons. A COUNTY VOTING DRY DOES NOT GREATLY DISTURB THIS REVENUE. Dry Floyd will get her share.

FLOYD'S LIQUOR BILL IS $1,720,555.42

FLOYD COUNTY'S LIQUOR BILL LAST YEAR WAS APPROXIMATELY $1,720,455.42. THIS EQUALS $32.47 FOR EVERY man, woman and child. Figure for yourself how much this staggering sum would have contributed to the peace and prosperity of this county, had this amount been spent for useful things.

WHO PAYS THE LIQUOR REVENUE — THE CONSUMER OR THE LIQUOR INDUSTRY?

It's an old and truthful saying that "the consumer always pays the freight." The liquor outfit loves to boast of the revenue they pay. As a matter of fact, liquor revenue is 99 per cent based on consumption. Whiskey is made for 50 cents per gallon. Where then does the fabulous price of from $15 to $25 per gallon to the drinker come in? Very easy. Uncle Sam grabs $9.00 per gallon as his share of the boodle. Kentucky gets $1.20 per gallon, the wholesaler gets his "take" and the retailer is happy because he higher tax, the more profit he gets. And the retailer is right. The Kentucky Fair Trades Act gives the dealer the right to base his profit on a percent of the cost and the tax. The higher the tax, the more profit. That is why the industry never squawks when the tax is raised on liquor. Why should they when the consumer pays the tax? Judge Wm B. Ardery in passing on this fair trade act at Frankfort, said it meant millions more in profit to the dealers and that liquor had a knife at the public's throat. The drinkers pay the revenue and NOT the liquor industry. Yes! Saloons get the money — the drinker contributes the profit and settles for the revenue—the public gets the headache and the taxpayers pay the bill for damages in crime, drunkenness, misery, broken homes and pauperism. Are we foolish or just plain crazy?

NATIONAL AND STATE REVENUE NOT AT STAKE IN FLOYD'S FIGHT

Every time a county votes on local option in Kentucky, the liquor outfit gets the jitters and drag in the state and national revenues. It doesn't fool the voters because the counties keep right on voting dry. We know that Floyd voting dry will not cause a ripple among the nation's billion dollars in liquor revenue received from the 48 states. Neither will it materially affect the $11,759,419.45 pouring into Kentucky's general fund from 73 distilleries, six breweries, 150 wholesalers and the 4,000 saloons over the state. Floyd, wet or dry, will continue to receive her share of this revenue. We are not voting a dry nation or even Kentucky—just Floyd county. So why worry over the state or national revenue. As a matter of fact, when Floyd votes dry, less than 2 cents each is all we lose in state revenue. If you are afraid of losing any local revenue, just take your pencil and figure the jatter's expense for the drunks. Include the cost of liquor crimes in our circuit court calendar. And don't overlook the families on relief, because the saloons get father's money. Of course, there are other tragedies caused by liquor that money can't patch up. For instance, broken homes, ruined girls, blasted characters, drunken drivers and misery. As a matter of fact, for every dollar we get in liquor revenue we taxpayers pay out ten dollars for liquor's damage in crime, pauperism and suffering. Think this over.

In 1945 Kentucky's Dry Counties Saved the State over sixty-one million dollars. An average of $21.53 saved for each man, woman and child. Because of the dry counties Kentucky drank less liquor for the year closing June 30, 1945 than 38 other states of the Union, and less than half consumed in the ten top states, led by Nevada and Michigan with 27 gallons per capita. The National average for all intoxicating liquors for the year 1944 was 20.7 gallons per capita. Taking only the National average as a comparison, Kentucky's 12.17 gallons per capita was eight gallons less last year than the National average, saving the state $61,266,349.31 on her drink bill.
