MUST NAME LAWBREAKERS

Officials Comment As Unsigned Letters Tell of Violations

Anonymous letters reporting liquor law violators are giving officials here food for thought but no means of doing anything about such matters.

"We can't write folks who don't sign their names to letters," County Judge Alex L. Davidson said, "but we would like to get word to them that I have an ample supply of search warrants and if they will swear to some of these, I guarantee that officers will search all these places and those caught will be given trial."

Up-the-creek bootlegging, drinking and "horse jockeying" are reported in letters received. One letter received from the Mud Creek section said children were chased from the road by drunken horsemen, that a flying stirrup jerked a woman's comb from her hair and that drunks had members of the writer's family afraid to go to church and Sunday School.

"If officers were to go to these places without search warrants," Davidson commented, "chances are they would find things as quiet as a Sunday School convention and not a law violator in sight. The people will get what they come out in the open for; they will have to swear to warrants and name names."

4,000 ATTEND 5th FISH FRY

Morning Rainfall Fails To Reduce Crowd at Event

Despite a heavy rain that did not stop until late Sunday morning, the Floyd County Fish and Game Club's fifth annual fish fry at the Beaver Valley Golf Course, Allen, was attended by a crowd of "at least 4,000," it was estimated.

Financially, the event was the greatest in the history of the club. As entertainment, the hundreds present declared it superb.

Ken Beegle, world-famed marksman, teamed with his wife to give a remarkable exhibition of marksmanship. Art Nuss, bait and fly-casting champion, demonstrated to followers of arling the art that has made him nationally known, and Al Thorwart, Kentucky and Greater Cincinnati archery champion, provided the amazing accuracy that can be obtained with the bow and arrow.

Only planned features of the day that were omitted because of the rain-shortened program were addresses by well-known speakers and music numbers.

Forty Isaac Waltons of the state competed in the bait-casting contest, with Winston L. "Winkle" Burke, of Prestonsburg, winning the first prize, a Shakespeare "President" reel, with a score of 98. Glen Reynolds, of Hazard, posted second high score, a 95, and received a Shakespeare Wonderrod. Harlan Bentley, Prestonsburg, was third with a 91 and received a True Temper "Perfect" rod.

Other prize winners, their scores and awards received: Robert Bunting, fourth, 89, South Ben rod; Paul Long, Wayland, and Bernard Baldrige, Langley, 88 each, Long placing fifth in a playoff and receiving a thermo set and Baldrige, in sixth place, winning a Coleman G.I. stove; Ed Stephens, Lancer, seventh, 87, Ocean City trolling reel, and Jesse Hagewood, Prestonsburg, eighth, 85, "My Buddy" tackle box.

Winners of other awards: Clark Shepherd, Pikeville, 14-foot Alma-Craft boat; Harry Baldrige, Auxier, 5.8 horsepower Evinrude motor; J. L. Hays, Whitesburg, Remington "Sportsman" shotgun; Kendall Moore, Garrett, L. C. Smith shotgun; Bill Bunting, Prestonsburg, Ithaca repeating shotgun; Alex Hall, Sr., Prestonsburg, Colt "Woodman" pistol; Bill Shepherd, Alphoretta, Dynamic rod and Pfeuger "Supreme" reel; Chas S. Williams, Salversville, Winchester .22-caliber automatic rifle; Kendall Moore, Garrett, castmaster rod and Marhoff reel; Craft Bevins, Canada, Ky., American Challenger rod and Wonderel.

HAYES, HALE, STUMBO WIN LOCAL RACES

Last Precinct Counted Before Clements Edge In County Determined

As early as Saturday night, the state trend foretelling the nomination of Earle C. Clements on the Democratic ticket for Governor was established—but not so in Floyd county.

Not until the last precinct of this county's 54 was counted Tuesday morning was it known if Clements or Harry Lee Waterfield had received a majority of the Floyd vote.

When it was all over, Clements had carried the county by 31 votes. The difference in the two candidates' total was slimmer in this county than any other county in the state, it was said. In giving Mr. Clements a majority Floyd county, for one of the few times in a quarter of a century, had aligned itself in the primary for the Democratic gubernatorial nominee.

On the other side of the house, John Fred Williams, of neighboring Johnson county, easily led the Republican nominee for Governor, Eldon S. Dummit, 1,008 votes to 261.

The primary drive for votes was hot among Democrats of the county and the result was watched closely, but at the polls and during the count there was no sign of disorder.

Next in the matter of tenseness was the close Democratic race for Representative from the 96th district, which saw the defeat of incumbent, W. G. Biggers, and Ray R. Allen by Henry C. Hale, of Goodloe. Hale polled 1,102 votes to 935 for Biggers and 877 for Allen. Biggers had the endorsement of labor groups and Allen that of Floyd county dry forces.

CHIEF JUSTICE IS TO SPEAK

At Memorial Dedication To Be Held Next Sunday Near Louisa Birthplace

Louisa, Ky., Aug. 3—Speaking from the front porch of his birthplace, Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson will dedicate the Vancouver Memorial Marker here next Sunday afternoon.

The marker is across the street from the building that formerly was the Lawrence County Jail, where Vinson was born 57 years ago. His father was jailer at that time. The building since has been converted into quarters for Louisa's American Legion post.

The marker, constructed under the Louisa Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution, commemorates the founding of the first white settlement in this area by Charles Vancouver in February, 1789. An attack by Indians, however, caused abandonment of the settlement a month after it was founded.

Vinson also will be principal speaker and guest of honor at an American Legion banquet at the high school gymnasium here Saturday night. Vinson was the first commander of the Legion post here.

State Legion Commander John F. Hagner, Louisville, Ninth District Legion Commander James Igo, Mount Sterling, and other Legion officers are expected to be here for the banquet.

Wheelwright To Be Coal Mining Town And Not a Lump of Coal To Be Seen; Preparation Plant To Be Miles Away

A mining town with only the dark mine entries to remind the visitor of its industry—no rattle of cars or jarring noise of coal in sight. Little more than two years from now, that will be the picture at Wheelwright, this county.

This will be possible through a complete coal preparation plant to be erected at Price, this county, by the Inland Steel Company, it was announced Tuesday. This expansion of Inland's operation in the area has just been approved by the company and follows previously reported additions to Inland's coal holdings.

Price, Ky., is on the Left Beaver Creek branch of the C. & O. railroad, one-half mile from Gearheart postoffice, and eight miles north of Wheelwright. It was named for

Directors of Two Clubs Slate Meet

A joint meeting of the directors of the Beaver Valley Golf Club and the Floyd County Fish and Game Club will be held at the club house at Allen Friday evening to consider plans for operation by the two clubs of the golf clubhouse and grounds.

The golf course has been the site for the last five years for the fish and game club's annual fish fry, and a plan to add to the grounds for its use will be studied, it was said.

TRUCK MINE OWNERS QUIT

Unusual Strike Called In Letcher Protesting Prices Paid at Ramps

Whitesburg, Ky., Aug. 4—An unusual "strike" of nearly 400 truck mine operators, employing some 6,000 miners, was called today by the Letcher Truck Mine Operators Association.

Operator spokesmen said the strike was unusual in that it involved the operators and the ramp owners entirely and did not involve the United Mine Workers union except that the miners were out of work while the operators were striking.

Luther Bates, operator of four mines near here, said the association voted today to call a general strike against the ramp owners, who buy the coal from the operators, load it and sell it to the market.

Bates said the operators asked for a higher tonnage price to meet the cost of the recent nation-wide coal contract between the UMW and the operators.

The prevailing price for coal throughout Letcher County is $4.40 per ton, Bates said, and he contended that the ramp owners sell the coal for between $5.75 and $8 per ton. The operators asked that the profit be shared with them.

Chemical Weed-Killer May Make Farming More Popular

The back-to-the-farm movement may be accelerated by word that a new chemical, given large-scale trial this year in Henderson county, will probably eliminate the man with the hoe.

The chemical weed killer has saved many Henderson county corn crops that a little than a month ago were given up for lost.

Late in June excessive rains prevented cultivation of thousands of acres of bottomland. Weeds had grown so rapidly they were higher than much of the corn. Despairing farmers figured they might as well plow up their fields, if the rain ever stopped, and replant with a short season crop.

Then the weed killer was put into use. The weeds wilted and fell over within four days. The corn remained unharmed. And now farmers expect to harvest the normal yield of 50 to 60 bushels an acre—$2,000,000 worth. Use of the weed killer cost the farmers $10,000.

The application of the weed killer in Henderson marked the first time it had been used on corn, and the first time anywhere on a large scale. Technically, the weed killer is known as butyl ester of 2,4-D. It was developed by agricultural specialists of the Sherwin-Williams Company, the Cleveland, Ohio paint concern.

32 PLAYERS GREET COACH

T-Formation To Be Stressed by Eibner, New Blackcat Mentor

Thirty-two players, each enthusiastic about claiming a starting position on the Prestonsburg Black Cat football team, reported for physical examinations Monday morning and the subsequent chalk talk given by the team's coach, John R. Eibner, stressing the "T" formation.

At the opening session of the pre-season training schedule Coach Eibner emphasized knowledge of football rules, diet, conditioning and the desire of each individual to play. Motion pictures of the professional league game between the Philadelphia Eagles and the Washington Redskins were shown Tuesday morning to acquaint the squad with the powerful "T".

Two practise periods daily have been prescribed for the boys—from 10 a.m., till noon and from 2 to 5 p. m.

The best-conditioned and best-equipped gridiron team ever to represent the school is the aim of the new coach. Every boy, he said, who sticks out the period between last Monday and the opening of school will be ready to give a good account of himself for his school, regardless of the competition.

"Prestonsburg will have one of the best equipped high school teams in the nation," Coach Eibner said.

The new equipment, besides the 35 uniforms purchased, includes 40 pairs of Reddell shoes, 30 pairs of Goldsmith shoulder pads, 30 pairs of Goldsmith hip pads, 35 white silk pants, 35 red silk jerseys, with numerals in white, 35 red-and-white plastic head gears with chin guards such as is worn by Army's eleven.

Transportation for players living outside Prestonsburg is being provided by bus or cab, or both, so that they may return home after practise sessions in the afternoon.

WATERFIELD PLEDGES AID IN NOVEMBER

Hatcher Is Believed Only East Kentuckian To Gain State Victory

Earle C. Clements vs. Eldon S. Dummit...

There is the gubernatorial line-up for the November election, as arranged by the voters of Kentucky at last Saturday's primary.

Officially, the primary fight ended for the Democrats Tuesday when Harry Lee Waterfield, Clinton publisher, congratulated his victorious opponent, Mr. Clements, and pledged his support to the Democratic ticket "with the same regularity and consistency with which I have always supported it."

The Clements victory margin, with only 291 scattered precincts unreported out of a total of 4,045, stood late Tuesday at 29,961.

Attorney General Dummit's margin over State Superintendent John Fred Williams, of Volga, Johnson county, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination was 10,765 votes with 333 precincts yet to report Tuesday night.

Of the five natives of this section of Kentucky seeking Democratic nominations for state office—William H. May for Lieutenant-Governor, George Glenn Hatcher for Secretary of State, Henry C. Stephens for State Treasurer, Woodrow Wilson Friend for Commissioner of Agriculture, and Ernest "Hop" Hopkins for Railroad Commissioner—only Hatcher was leading Tuesday night. At that time he was on Ora L. Adams, of Harrodsburg, and his nomination is expected. Mr. Hopkins was trailing both T. Jeff Moore and Addison L. Everett with 1,245 out of 1,703 precincts in the district reported, but Wednesday morning was said to be in a strong position.

Ben Kilgore, Franklin, campaign manager for Waterfield, congratulated his own adversary. In a note to Tom Underwood, Lexington, manager of the Clements campaign, Kilgore wrote:

"Congratulations to you and Earle. You beat us. I didn't think you could, but you did. "Here's hoping you win in November. You have my support and best wishes for a Democratic victory. "Harry Lee Waterfield, Phil Ardery, and our other leaders have seen this letter and concur in its content and spirit."

In a general statement of thanks to those who supported him, Waterfield said:

"I stand in defeat as I stood in anticipation of victory: A free man with a profound desire to see progressive, constructive governmental services rendered to the people of Kentucky. I am very grateful to those who fought with me and by my side in the campaign. We have fought a clean fight for all the people. Let us be of good cheer and

TEACHER PAY UP $50,000
Board of Education At Meeting Tuesday Approves Schedule

Floyd county's 338 teachers will receive approximately $50,000 more pay this year than last as a result of the salary schedule adopted Tuesday by the Floyd County Board of Education.

Superintendent Palmer L. Hall said the pay raise primarily benefits teaching veterans and those with college credits, and offers encouragement to teachers to stick with the profession and to seek higher qualification.

Any retroactive fund appropriated for teachers of the state by the present, or a future, state administration will be shared in equally by all teachers, it was said.

The lowest salary to be paid any Floyd county teacher presently employed will be around $125 this year, Mr. Hall said. Top salary will be $200 a month for the rural teacher with a college degree and eight years' experience. Maximum salary for teachers in consolidated school grades will be $190. The additional $10 paid rural teachers is intended to reimburse them for extra services rendered in schools where there is no janitor service and the like.

The schedule adopted Tuesday provides pay of 50 cents per college hour as compared with 40 cents last year, and $2 a year up to eight for teaching experience, as compared with the same pay for the 1946-47 term which extended up to only five years.

Mr. Hall said the salary schedule provides for paying Floyd teachers this year for an aggregate of 1,800 years' experience and 28,000 hours of college credits. Teachers of the county this year have to their credit approximately 2,000 more college hours than a year ago.

The September 2 opening of the county's consolidated schools concurs with the beginning of the school term here.

L. A. Conley, of Abbott Creek, was awarded contract for the construction of the one-room school building on Simpson Branch of Left Beaver Creek on his bid of $2,990.

Four new teachers, 15 school bus drivers and 18 janitors were hired at the board meeting.

The new teachers and schools to which they were assigned: Lurle Reed Vanderpool, Wayland grades; Jean Reed, McDowell high school; Martha Alice Welman,

WILLIAMS MAY CONTEST VOTE

Poll Irregularities In Jefferson County Suspected, Is Report

The possibility of an election contest in Jefferson county was hinted Wednesday, as nearly complete tabulations from Saturday's primary virtually settled all but one state race.

The Louisville Times, said supporters of John Fred Williams were considering a contest of the election because of "suspected irregularities in Jefferson county." The story said Williams backers would take complete tabulations to Frankfort today (Thursday) for a conference with Gov. Simeon Willis.

The governor, who supported Williams' candidacy, was unavailable for comment, but his executive secretary, Forest Hume said, all Republicans "resent the use of a supposed Republican organization to sabotage the party through the fraudulent manipulation of a party primary."

The new teachers and schools to which they were assigned: Lurle Reed Vanderpool, Wayland grades; Jean Reed, McDowell high school; Martha Alice Welman, Dummit carried the county by more than 11,000 votes.

Standard Printing Co. (1)

Imagine such a contest talk heard comes Louisville—believe it or not! supporters smell an over-ent in that five-to-one Dummit in the Kentucky metropolis. Well, there ain't a taint about in the Mountains where supposed to be up to no good around election-time. Down Louisville, they even lost the ballot of one precinct—temporarily. What's wrong with these infallible voting machines? Are they using in Louisville? If they're fool-proof and so perfectly adapted to clean elections, why the need recourse to a contest to get the polls?

This outlander gets a kick out of the big city machines making a toy of the voting machines.

Watkins Says New Board Expedites Legal Action Against Road Employees

Frankfort, Ky., July 31 (Spl.)—Too many law suits are being directed against employees of the highway department which could be handled by Kentucky's new Board of Claims, J. Stephen Watkins, commissioner of the department, said today commenting on a bulletin being distributed to division directors and district engineers for the department. Persons having claims against the department not exceeding $1,000 involving "negligence in the construction, reconstruction, maintenance and policing of the highways" can now obtain action through the new board, authorized in the 1946 session of the General Assembly.

"Many people who have small claims against the department are not informed relative to the new board," Mr. Watkins said. "Prior to its creation, to sue the state it was first necessary to obtain the sanction of the General Assembly. Some suits have been filed making individual employees of the department defendants, claimants being unaware of the simple and expeditious processes of the new board."

"Frequently, accidents happen wherein the aggrieved party is entitled to damages and yet the circumstances are such that the employee should not be the subject of disciplinary action. He should not be required to appear as a defendant in an action at law by reason of the accident."

The bulletin urges heads of divisions and engineers to acquaint all personnel under their supervision with the provisions of the new law.

IN MEMORIAM
Our precious little darling,
He came, and we loved him so;
For only a little while he stayed,
And then he had to go.
The Master knew this wicked world
Was no place for him to stay
And so He called our little one,
And now he has gone away.
Our hearts are sorely grieving now;
Yet in that glad tomorrow,
If we have lived here as we should
There'll be no more of sorrow.
Our baby boy will live again,
Our precious little son;
God grant that we may be with him
When our life on earth is done.

To the People Of Floyd County:

I wish to extend my thanks and appreciation to the good people of Floyd county who so loyally stood by and assisted me in putting our county over the top for John Fred Williams. Our margin of victory at the polls—1,008 to 263—proves to the rest of the state that we in Floyd county stick by our own kind.

To our opposition may I say there certainly is no ill-will. Our support this Fall will be as one united group.

WANTED—Locations For Plants in State

Kentucky communities are urgently requested to furnish information about their available plant facilities to the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, Louis Quinn, secretary, said today.

"Our office is getting inquiries every day from out-of-state manufacturers looking for suitable plant locations," Quinn said, adding that "they usually want buildings with from 15,000 to 50,000 sq. ft. of floor space."

Quinn stated that the number of inquiries had been steadily increasing for the past month, and that any information his office received would be immediately passed on to the interested parties. He appealed especially to city officials and to officers of Chambers of Commerce and other civic bodies to cooperate in furnishing this information.

From Floyd County Earn Cash Awards

The fact that it pays to think was proved by 33 Ashland division employees of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway who received cash awards for their successful suggestions during the past few weeks.

Among those receiving awards were B. F. Roberts and Sam Kearns, M. Sterling, Chester Powell, T. E. Stewart, J. C. McNeal, R. B. Faulkner, James Milburn and L. L. Harris, Lexington; L. F. Fannin, Morehead; H. H. Knorz, Olive Hill; W. R. Dempsey, Winchester; Earl Brooks and Abe Barber, Paintsville; D. C. Childers, Lockwood; Jeremias Tackett, Dorton; C. H. Osborne, Martin, and O. E. Lowe, Ivel, Ky.

According to suggestions supervisor J. D. Mansfield, Ashland, the Ashland division leads all the other C. & O. system divisions in the total number of suggestions submitted by the employees, over 1,700 having been turned in since the suggestion system was established several months ago. Under this system employees are presented with cash awards for their constructive ideas for improving the operation of the railroad and working conditions of the employees.

Several thousand dollars have been paid to employees of the Ashland division, and a number of employees have won as many as six awards, ranging from $10 to $130.

There is no limit to the number of suggestions an employe may make.

continue the fight for the people." Both standard bearers for November are men experienced in government and politics. Clements now is serving his second term in Congress from the Second District. He was in the State Senate in 1942 and 1944, and was majority leader the last session. He has been sheriff, judge, and clerk of Union county.

Dummit is attorney general in the Administration of Governor Simeon Willis, and has practiced law for 25 years. He has been state commander of the American Legion, and president of Optimist International.

Each candidate is 50 years old, each studied at the University of Kentucky.

The two opponents for lieutenant governor will be Lawrence Wetherby, Louisville attorney, Democrat, and Orville M. Howard, Harlan, Republican. Howard was commissioner of revenue until he resigned to make the race running mate to Williams. He was the only winning member of the Williams slate.

For secretary of state, the race in November will be between E. E. Hughes, Smithland, Republican, George Glenn Hatcher or Miss Adams. Hatcher and Miss Adams are running neck and neck and the outcome will be in doubt until the last precincts are counted. Miss Adams now is assistant secretary of state, and Hatcher was Secretary of State from 1939 to 1943.

The same indecision prevails in the Republican race for Commissioner of Agriculture, with Samuel R. Guard, Louisville, and Frank Irwin, Morganfield, in a dead-heat finish. The winner will face Harry P. Walters, Shelbyville, Democrat, in November.

The November race for Attorney General will be between A. E. Funk, Frankfort Democrat, and William Dixon, Wooton. Funk was the nominee for this office in 1943, but lost to Dummit.

November opponents for superintendent of public instruction will be B. B. Hodgkin, Winchester, and W. M. Slusher, Pineville. Both are school men.

The race for Treasurer will be between two Louisville men — Edward F. Seiler, Democrat and C. A. Mann, Republican.

H. E. Kinser, Brownsville, is the Republican nominee for auditor, but the issue still is in doubt on the Democratic side between Harry N. Jones, Lexington, and June L. Suter, Warsaw.

Charles K. O'Connell, Louisville, was unopposed for the Democratic nomination for clerk of the court of Appeals, but he must fight it out in November with Pleas Jones, Williamsburg, Republican.

know how I feel about women's hats!

quietly sipping a milk shake at Doc Carrol's drugstore, this cloud of feathers blows out of the revolving door. Now feathers in a milk shake I don't like. So I stop the door, and fall these two strange birds and a strong-voiced chick. "Women's hats," shouts the one with the King-size lower. These birds don't know that the size of their bill tells whether it's a bargain or not. "That chin-borne fish bowl's warped his mind," breaks in the other. "I judge a bargain by how far down the price has gone." "You boys are out of your depth," cackles the chick. "Any man knows a bargain is what you get for what you pay. Am I right, Charlie?" "On women's hats, no comment," I replies. "But you're all right if you think of the bargain everybody gets in electric light." "When the movies were still silent, you got only about half each electricity for your money as you get today—so your bill BARGAIN every month." "But Ossie's right, too. While the price of most everything has gone up, the price of electricity has come down. "And score this one for the chick. What you get today is the best and the best electric service in this peace-torn world. And that you can thank the business sense and the common sense of people who built and manage the electric companies."

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our dear son, Thurman Johnson, who died in the service of his country at Fort Bragg, N. C. on August 7, 1945.

We've a son now in glory. Whom my heart doth long to see; How we love his precious memory. When with us he used to be.

Broken is our family circle. Our dear one has passed away. Passed from earth and earthly darkness Into bright and perfect day.

Sad and sadder was the call At one so dearly loved by all. It's sad but true, we wonder why. The best are always the first to die.

We are sad within our memory. Lonely are our hearts today. For the one we loved so dearly. Has been forever called away.

We think of him in silence. No eye may see us weep. But many silent tears are shed. While others are asleep.

More and more each day we miss him. Friends may think the wound is healed. But they little know the sorrow Lies within our hearts concealed.

But we all must cease to languish O'er the grave of him we love; Strive to be prepared to meet him In the better world above.

Son, dear, we are lonesome. For we have missed your loving face. Still you left us to remember. That no one else can take your place.

Deep in our hearts lives a picture Of a loved one laid to rest. In memories we shall keep it Because he was one of the best.

What would we give his hand to clasp. His patient face to see. To hear his voice, to see his smile. As in the days that used to be.

But some sweet day we'll meet again. Beyond the toil and strife And clasp each others hand once more. In heaven that happy life.

Just a thought of sweet remembrance. Just a memory fond and true. Just a token of affection And a heartache just for you.

And we think of you in silence And your name we often recall. There is nothing left to answer But your picture on the wall.

We feel so lonely without you But it was God's blessed will; While we love you, oh, so dearly, God loved you better still.

Your cheerful ways, your smiling face. Our pleasure to recall. You had a kindly word for each. And died beloved by all.

In the silent grave sleeping. Under the sod and dew. Never for a moment forgotten. In silence we think of you.

But again we hope to meet you. When the toils of life have fled. And in heaven with you to meet for Where no farewell tears are shed.

And I know on some glad morning. When the mist has cleared away. We shall see you our precious son. In the love of endless days.

Sadly missed by his mother, Bertha Johnson Shell, Ligon, Ky.

TO OUR TRADE

Dear Patrons and Customers who have supported me and given me your trade and friendship since I have been in business:

As you all know, the grocery business has been a hard go for the last year or so, but I have done my best in trying to keep at all times what you needed in the way of groceries for your families. But now I suppose that you all pretty well know that I am no longer able to go and serve you as before, as I am laid up at home and confined with an illness beyond my control. My fate lies with my Almighty God, in whom I have great faith.

Just how long it will be before I shall be able to serve you all again, as in the past, I do not know. But I am going to run my business on, with the help of the people and my small son and my wife and with the help of the good Lord. It has been some time since I have rightfully been able to work, but I continued on in order to make an honest living for my family and me.

I would like to say to all my customers, old and new, who have loyally given me their patronage in building my business, I will thank God for the privilege of again saying, "Thank you all for your support," and since I have been down and out, those who have given me a helping hand will never be forgotten. I am pretty sure it will be a hard job on us to keep on hand at all times what you need, but we assure you all that we will do our best, and we ask that you all be patient with us for the time being, as I hope that things will turn out better in the near future for me.

'Triple-A' Program Resumes Operation

The AAA program is now operating on the same basis that it was before the suspension on May 23. James Stephens, Floyd county A. C. A. chairman, said this week. Farmers who have not taken up their 1947 allowance may obtain lime and phosphate at the county AAA office and orders should be placed at once for fall delivery, Mr. Stephens added.

less than a dollar per acre. He said hoeing by hand to remove the weeds would have cost about $10 an acre. Some 20 leading U. S. Department of Agriculture and State university agronomists visited Henderson county to inspect the results. Dr. Gilbert H. Ahlgren of Rutgers University predicted the day may not be far off when it will be possible to grow corn without cultivation. He envisioned the planting of corn from the front end of a tractor and, at the same time, protecting the crop against weeds with spray equipment on the rear of the machine. He said it also might be possible to make the corn rows closer, if the need for cultivating machines were eliminated increasing the yield per acre. Dr. David L. Taylor of the University said he found root structures of corn plants in treated fields healthier than those of untreated fields. He predicted an increase in yield of 20 per cent over corn in fields that had not been sprayed.

Highway Department Warns Sign Owners Of Proposed Action

Owners of billboards signs or buildings erected to encroach upon the state highway rights-of-way are to be warned that such structures will be removed by the state at the owners' expense, Stephen Watkins, Commissioner of the Department of Highways, said this week. Encroachment is only permitted in cases where sufficient right-of-way is available to prevent obstruction of view in the interest of traffic safety. "In a number of recent cases we have found that people have erected signs, billboards and even three-story buildings on the state's right-of-ways," Mr. Watkins said. "It is the policy of the department to permit temporary structures where sight-distances are not impaired, but such distances must be made by our own staff of engineers before the work is started. Those who contemplate building dwellings, stores, gasoline stations, billboards or the erection of signs along the highway should first determine the property lines. A permit will not be granted for encroachment on the state's right-of-ways unless the circumstances warrant."
