

G.O.P. NAMES DEWEY ON THIRD BALLOT

This Town-- That World

GOOD GOIN'

If Governor Clements would match all his other official acts with the excellence of his appointments to the Board of Regents of Morehead State Teachers, he would quit office Kentucky's greatest Governor. We know only two of his appointees, but these two, E. R. Price, of Wheelwright, and Jimmy Norris, of Ashland, are of such outstanding quality that the other two just have to be the right sort.

UNAPPRECIATED TALENT

Policeman Ray Collins has a bird dog puppy which is a natural retriever. Monday while the family was away from home, the youngster began "setting" the policeman's flock of young fryers, and forgot to quit settin' till 30 of the fryers were dead. When the officer arrived home he found that the dog had retrieved each bird and had piled them neatly in a small circle on the lawn.

But for some reason the dog's owner didn't appreciate this great natural talent.

THEY REQUIRE MODERN CONVENIENCES

Now, it may be all right to give your wife a choppin' axe for her anniversary, or the newest in grubbin' hoes for her birthday. And you might get by with making her carry water a hundred yards uphill, if you're man enough. But don't push your luck too far, son. The little woman might rebel, and that might lead to trouble no end for you, as was the case of a couple litigatin' around the courthouse here this week.

In the presence of her husband the complainant, or plaintiff—anyway, there was considerable of the "plaint" about it—told of the trouble she'd seen. And her cross she had borne without undue complaining, she pointed out. Until her one-time lord and master set her to carrying water uphill to his moonshine still. Well, even that would not have been enough to drive her into the divorce courts, but he didn't even provide a bucket for totin' purposes—she had to carry the water in a lard can. And at that she got her back up, before it was plumb broke.

Hubby was very repentant and promised her that, did she only quit this lardin' and return home with him, never again "will you have to lift your hand—unless a snake tries to bite you."

The missus cried upon hearing this tender promise, but indicated she had had enough and that was that.

NO—NOT "THE PUBLIC BE DAMNED!"

One of our oldtime capitalists who was known in some quarters as a "robber baron" went into high dudgeon one day when reminded that the public deserved some consideration; then gave forth with this bit of unsocial verbal spleen:

"The public be damned!"

Well, the old boy got by with that, times being what they were. But times have changed since then, thank Goodness.

With which preamble we amble into the question, "What of the public during this current bus shutdown?"

Call it strike, lockout, no contract.

EMPLOY CONN ON POLL TAX

Court To Pay Deputy One-Third of Taxes; Poll Tax List Larger

The fiscal court has named Deputy Sheriff Harold Conn special collector of delinquent poll taxes, in an effort to make the poll tax more of a reality than the dog tax in this county.

Less than 40 poll tax bills above polls charged on land tax bills were collected by Sheriff Troy B. Sturgill last year, A. B. Meade, who was appointed by the court to settle with the Sheriff, said recently. For years, little or no effort has been made to collect poll taxes from persons without real estate holdings, authorities said.

Conn will be paid a commission of one-third his collections.

This year, with approximately 7,000 poll tax lists in addition to poll taxes listed on regular bills, the county stands to lose from $1,500 to $2,000 unless a real effort is made to collect, County Clerk Jarvis Allen pointed out recently. The expense incurred in the poll tax matter includes fees paid the Tax Commissioner for listing, the printing and binding of tax bills and the making out of the bills by the County Clerk.

NEGRO SLAIN AT W'WRIGHT

Dice Game Quarrel Saturday Evening Ends in Shooting

A quarrel over a dice game was climaxed early Saturday evening with the slaying in the colored clubhouse at Wheelwright of John Johnson, negro, 24, by Isaac Smothers, about 50, also colored.

A single revolver bullet which entered Johnson's hip and ranged through his body resulted in his death within a few minutes. Smothers was arrested, shortly afterward, by Policeman Earl Blackburn, of Wheelwright, and brought to jail here.

"He was abusing me," Policeman Blackburn quoted Smothers as saying when arrested.

The officer said an investigation of the slaying disclosed that, after the argument in another negro's room where the dice game was in progress, Johnson went across the hall to his own room, that Smothers followed, with the shooting taking place shortly afterward.

A hearing before County Judge Alex L. Davidson was slated today (Thursday).

Johnson, formerly of Jenkins, had worked at Wheelwright about three months. His slayer had resided there almost a year and was said to have come there from Harlan.

NEW WAGE TERMS TOLD

Nationwide Shutdown In Mining Industry Averted by Pact

It's happy vacation time for the miners.

When they return to work after vacation, they will be paid $1 a day more in wages and their pension fund will draw 20c royalty per ton of coal loaded instead of the present 10c.

These figures were decided upon today (Thursday) as a new coal contract was reached in Washington, averting a nationwide strike in the soft coal industry.

The $1 increase would make the miners' basic pay for eight hours $14.05, the country's highest industrial rate.

Soft coal contract talks began anew in Washington Tuesday, just eight days before the present agreement ends and only a few hours after John L. Lewis, UMWA leader, had scored a sweeping victory in a court presided over by his old nemesis, Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough.

Lewis' victory lay in Goldsborough's ruling upholding the $100-a-month pension for aged members of the union.

Lewis and the operators came together at the suggestion of a presidential board of inquiry investigating the dispute.

The two sides came together first before the board itself. This group was named by President Truman under the Taft-Hartley Act to determine by tomorrow whether the contract dispute threatens "national health and safety." If the board so finds, an injunction against a strike is regarded as likely.

Lewis and Charles O'Neill, operator spokesman, both protested to the board, headed by Atty. David L. Cole, of Paterson, N.J., that each side is willing to bargain in "good faith"

Plan Celebration, Homecoming For Valley Here on July 5th

WAR VETERANS OF 3 COUNTIES TO BE GUESTS

Miss Floyd County Contest Is Feature Of Plans Announced

An Independence Day celebration dedicated to more than merely "making the eagle scream," is planned by Prestonsburg civic and service clubs for Monday, July 5, it was announced this week after intensive planning and much groundwork for the national holiday observance had been made in a series of meetings.

In addition to the holiday celebration, the day will be devoted to a renewal of acquaintances from a wide territory, with the event being styled, The Big Sandy Homecoming.

The valley-wide aspect of the day will be manifested in the parade opening the celebration as members of American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts from Floyd, Johnson and Pike counties swing into the line of march behind Floyd county high school bands.

State and national interest will be added by the appearance in addresses on the high school campus of John Young Brown, Lexington, aspirant to the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator, and U.S. Senator John Sherman Cooper, who is a candidate for re-election.

An outstanding feature of the days leading up to the celebration will be the countywide voting for most popular girls for the title of Miss Floyd County. Tickets will be placed on sale in all towns of the county within the next few days, with each purchaser entitled to 1,000 votes for the girl of his or her choice.

Some purchaser of these tickets will be awarded a $200 bond during the day-long celebration, July 5, and the winner of the title, Miss Floyd County, will receive in cash 5 per cent of the ticket sales. This lucky young woman will be crowned, with proper ceremony, at midnight, July 5, during the dance at the high school gymnasium.

Other highlights include a baseball game at 2:30 p.m., and a donkey baseball game at 5:30 between the wild riders of the Wayland Lions Club and the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club. This latter "contest" is pure comedy and attracts large crowds all over the county.

An unusual display of fireworks will be seen at 8:30 p.m.

Between these feature events will be a variety of timehonored contests, including the largest family, the ugliest man, the oldtime fiddlers, the

SUES TO HALT SCHOOL BOARD

In Proceedings Began To Condemn Land Here For Playground Area

U.S. District Attorney Claude P. Stephens filed suit in the Floyd circuit court Monday asking that the City Board of Education of Prestonsburg be enjoined from condemning a portion of his lot here to be a part of the playground.

His action followed a condemnation suit filed by the Board in county court. The land at issue faces 50 feet on Highland avenue and extends 180 feet with the school board property which is planned as a part of the playground.

The plaintiff alleges that the board is not interested in acquiring the land for school purposes and that its name is being used when it is not an interested party, the real party being the Floyd County Playground, Inc.; that the Board does not have available funds with which to purchase or condemn the land and has not authorized the expenditure of any sum of money whatever to be used for the purchase or equipment of any playground.

CABIN SITES UNAVAILABLE

Corps of Engineers Say Bids Filed Now Cannot Be Accepted

The U. S. district corps of engineers is convinced of the widespread interest in recreation facilities in the Dewey reservoir area—in fact, applications for cabin sites have been so numerous that the engineers' office in Huntington would call a halt to the matter.

It is premature to apply for private cabin sites at this time, it was said this week. Development has not reached the stage where it can be ascertained what facilities will be made available and what areas can be allotted to private cabins. For that reason, it was pointed out, such applications made at this time serve no purpose.

The Corps of Engineers stated that public announcement will be made when the time for receiving these applications arrives.

Although applications for private building sites should not be made till a later date, requests by civic organizations, the Boy Scouts and similar groups may properly be made at this time, it was said.

MINE CRIPPLES TO CALIFORNIA

Four from County In Party Entering Oakland Hospital

Fourteen Eastern Kentucky men, four from Floyd county, who are paralyzed from the hips down as the result of back injuries suffered in mine accidents left Lexington today (Thursday) for the Permanente Foundation hospital, Oakland, Calif., for treatment procured for them through the United Mine Workers' welfare fund.

The 14, all of whom suffered broken backs in accidents, were listed by Noble Hobbs, district representative of the miners' welfare fund, as:

John Scott and Walter Little, both of Wheelwright; William C. Short, Prestonsburg; George Vanderpool, Garrett; James Whitaker, East Point; Sherman Burke, Spelght; Arnold Casebolt, Virgie; Albert Meade, Boldman; Rudolph Sifers, Praise; John Russell Taylor, Ritchie; Arthur Adkins, Lothair; Kenneth Caudill, Carcassone; Henry Vanhoose, Amberg; Paul Hurley, Chavies.

These paralytics joined a group arriving in Lexington from Knoxville and another from Ohio to go by train to the California institution. Dr. John Newdorp, Washington, D.C., was recently sent at welfare fund expense to examine each of the stricken men at their homes or in hospitals.

In the first group of crippled ex-miners sent recently to Oakland was Leonard J. Parrigan, of Wayland.

BLACK CATS OUT OF MEET

Kentucky Champions Drop Second Straight At Lakeland, Florida

The Prestonsburg high school Black Cats, Kentucky baseball champions, bowed out of the Southeastern invitational high school baseball tournament at Lakeland, Fla., Wednesday night in dropping their second game of the meet.

The Cats lost their first-round game to the Decatur (Ga.) Bulldogs, 6 to 5, Tuesday night, though Howard Burchett and Leon "Blue" Childers hurled three-hit ball. Ten walks and three errors, with erratic baserunning, were blamed for the initial setback.

They were eliminated Wednesday night when they lost to Avon Park, Florida, 9 to 3. Further information on this game is lacking.

The team traveled by school bus the longest distance covered by any nine in the tournament. They left Prestonsburg Saturday morning and did not arrive in Lakeland until late Monday. Other states represented were Florida, Georgia, Tennessee and Mississippi. Coach John R. Eibner, delayed because of his work at the University of Kentucky in summer school, flew to Florida Monday night to join the team. Gerald Leslie, of the high school faculty, accompanied the team by bus.

The trip was made possible for the boys as a reward for their capture of the state title at Louisville by contributions from Prestonsburg citizens and business firms.

The score by innings in the first game:

Three Injured as Car Hits Motor-Scooter

Carlos Evelyn Horn, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Horn, sustained multiple fractures of her ankle Tuesday afternoon when the motor-scooter she and two others were riding was hit by an auto at the Mayo Trail corner near the Pure Oil service station here.

J. D. Garrison, Huntington, W. Va., driver of the auto, was released later in the afternoon after he had accompanied the children to the Prestonsburg General hospital.

The girl's ankle was broken, it was said, in four places. Cut and bruised was Martha Catherine Greenwade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Greenwade, and Ronald Kirtley, Huntington, W. Va., cousin of Carlos Evelyn, suffered loss of teeth, but neither was considered seriously hurt.

MORGAN FLEES, IS RETURNED

Dennis Morgan, of Gearheart, was back in jail Monday after four days of liberty gained last Thursday when he fled the custody of Assistant Jailor Bill Potter as he was being returned to jail from the office of County Judge Alex L. Davidson. His father returned him here.

Morgan, who was first jailed here June 15 on a charge of indecent exposure, caught Potter's attention momentarily relaxed, stepped behind him in the hallway of the courthouse and was gone around a corner of the building, seconds later. Potter immediately missed him and instituted a fruitless search.

Isaac Keathley, of the Mud Creek section, was booked for grand larceny when jailed over the week-end, although officers said his most recent offense was connection with a moonshine still. The grand larceny charge grew out of his conviction in circuit court of stealing chickens from an elderly neighbor. His pen term was probated, but authorities said his recent brush with the law will result in probation being revoked and in Keathley serving the sentence.

Ireland Adkins was jailed Sunday by Deputy Sheriffs Harold Conn and Epp Lafayette on a cutting and wounding charge. Others jailed on major charges:

Harry Mullins, improper driving; Dave Leslie, peace bond and drunk driving; Heston Scarborough, pecco warrant; Beverly P. Hignite, drunk driving.

3 CANDIDATES ADDRESS CLUB

Hill, Hall, Coldiron Shun Politics Sunday At Pecco Club Meet

Three of the five Democratic candidates for the Seventh district Congressional post appeared as guest speakers Sunday evening at the Hotel Brown meeting of the Pecco Club of David.

The three, Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill, of Prestonsburg, Dr. Paul B. Hall, of Paintsville, and Dr. J. C. Coldiron, Hazard, spoke briefly and informally but eschewed any reference to the campaign now brewing.

In the absence of State Senator Doug Hays, McDowell, and Carl D. Perkins, Hindman, the other two Democratic candidates, and Congressman W. Howes Meade, Republican candidate for re-election, members of the club refrained from questioning the candidates present as to their attitude toward certain pertinent topics.

Lon C. Hill, president of the club, presided at the business meeting which followed dinner at Ball's restaurant. Russell Harman introduced the speakers.

Dr. Coldiron, first of the three speakers, cited two dangers confronting the nation today—the spectre of inflation and the threat from Soviet Russia. "This is not the One World Wendell Wilkie spoke of—it is two worlds, and one is behind the Iron Curtain." He declared the United States must have an air force, an army and a navy strong enough to meet any threat from any nation or combination of nations.

Dr. Hall in informal vein told the foreman of his trip as a Rotary Club

JUDGE SAYS KENTUCKY IS GETTING RID OF ITS CROOKS WHO GO TO OHIO

As he sentenced four Kentuckians to imprisonment for thefts Tuesday, Judge Dennis J. Ryan, presiding in criminal court in Cincinnati, said that "the good people of Kentucky are getting rid of their crooks and they're coming to Ohio."

One of four men sentenced was listed as Charles Hall, of Estill, who was given a sentence ranging from one to 20 years on his guilty plea to theft of an automobile. In passing sentence on the former Floyd count-

ian, Judge Ryan said, "You know what they did to horse thieves? They used to shoot them."

His statement saying Kentucky is getting rid of its crooks and adding them to Ohio's population was made when he sentenced Neal Hurley, 23, and Otis Smith, 19, both of Manchester, Ky., to indeterminate terms in Ohio reformatory. He also sentenced Randall Rose, Louisville, on a plea of guilty to auto theft,

HOWARD BUYS 8,000 ACRES IN VICINITY

C. & O. Plans Rail Line To Tap Rich New Field; Open Fork Route, 'Out'

James D. Francis, Huntington, W. Va., president of the Pond Creek Pocahontas Company, one of West Virginia's biggest coal producers, announced to THE TIMES today that his company has entered into an agreement to lease from E. J. Evans and associates approximately 20,000 acres of land on Spring fork of Quicksand Creek in Breathitt county, and plans, as soon as railroad facilities are available, to construct a mine on the property to develop the No. 3 Elkhorn coal seam.

The Times also learned that J. W. Howard, Prestonsburg attorney, has purchased from the Kentucky Union Company 8,000 acres of land on Big and Little Caney forks of Quicksand, in the general locality of the Pond Creek Pocahontas tract.

The Pond Creek Pocahontas mine will be located on the upper watershed of Spring Fork, it was said. Approximately one-third of the 20,000-acre lease is underlain by the Elkhorn No. 3 seam.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company has applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to extend its line which runs from Paintsville to Royalton and Carver to the mine locations on the Quicksand property. This would mean, it was pointed out, that the railroad would go down Hawes Fork on Spring Fork and up Spring Fork to mine locations.

"Thus are set to rest rumors to the effect that the railway company is studying two other routes, one of which is up the Open Fork of Middle Creek. The Open Fork route is definitely out," was local comment following Mr. Francis' announcement.

It will be necessary that automo-

PHONE RATES TO BE UPPED

Southern Bell Plans Third Rate Increase In Eighteen Months

The Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company this week served notice it will raise its rates on July 10 throughout Kentucky.

Typical raises proposed are those of Prestonsburg and Allen: Individual business line from $5 to $5.50; individual residence phone from $2.75 to $3.

At Wayland the charge for an individual business line will be $4 and for an individual residence line, $2.25.

Word of the raise came Monday when telephone company officials notified the Public Service Commission of its intention and asked approval of new rate schedules for the 158 exchanges over the state.

The commission immediately set a hearing for July 27. Meanwhile, the company will post bond to cover refunds to subscribers if the new rates are rejected after a hearing.

The first rate increase was made in January, 1947, and the second became effective last August after Southern Bell workers had won in a strike approximately $600,000 wage increases.

According to J. M. McAllister, Southern Bell's Kentucky manager, the increased rates will add $3,055,000 to Kentucky's total phone bill. Although the increases will vary throughout the state, the rates on residential phones will be boosted as much as 50 cents a month, business phones as much as $2.50, and long-distance tolls within the state from 5 to 15 cents each.

Many Improvements Need of Conn Mine, Inspector Reports

Recommendations suggesting improvement in nearly every phase of operation are contained in a Bureau of Mines safety report issued and based on an original inspection of the Conn Coal Company's 150-ton-a-day No. 3 mine, at Harold. The mine, employing 20 men, was examined in April by Inspector W. R. Stewart in accordance with the Federal Mine Safety Code.

A systematic method of timbering has been adopted for the mine and roof is tested frequently by workmen, but Inspector Stewart said the timbering plan should be complied with in additional places, temporary roof supports be set at faces and permanent posts advanced promptly, and some unsafe roof observed should be removed or supported.

Although commending the circulation of sufficient air through last open cross-cuts, the inspector proposed offsetting the fan at least 15 feet and providing a stoppage-signal, a suitable gauge, and pressure-relief facilities, incombustible main stoppings, maintenance of an additional permissible flame safety lamp, and making of pre-shift mine examinations and at least weekly air measurements and tests for explosive gas and other hazards.

Pointing out the dangers of using black blasting powder, Inspector Stewart said if continued in use on the off shift, blasts should be fired with electric squibs and an electrical blasting unit. He also proposed safe surface and underground storage, carrying of blasting supplies in approved containers, and firing of all shots singly when shot-firers are in the mine.

Additional recommendations called for removal of coal dust accumulations from haulageways, rock-dusting rooms and entries to within 80 feet of the working faces, unobstructed clearance and clean shelter areas along haulageways, effective car-blocking, insulators for power wires and electric light wires, frame grounds for electrical equipment with overload protection for cables, adequate first-aid and fire-fighting equipment, adoption of a personnel-checking plan, and wearing of protective hats and footwear by all employees and goggles by those in eye-hazardous work.

While endorsing many recent safety advances in the 1,000-ton-a-day Stephens Elkhorn mine at Mantion, a federal coal mine inspector recommends additional rock-dusting and ventilating safeguards. Operated by the Stephens Elkhorn Fuel Corporation, the mine employed 150 men when Leslie Shaw re-inspected it in April and May.

All rooms, entries, and haulageways had recently been rock-dusted to within 80 feet of the faces, but the inspector pointed out the need for more rock dust in several sections to minimize dust-explosion dangers, in addition to dusttight motors for dusty tippie locations. Commending the pre-shift examinations and the incombustible stoppings, he also suggested more air through the last open crosscut in the 2 east entries, air-lock doors or attendants at single doors, warning signs at abandoned workings, and further safeguards for the Nos. 2 and 4 ventilating fans. No gas was detected during the inspection.

To improve timbering, blasting, and haulage, Inspector Johnson proposed setting permanent timbers and safety posts in accordance with the timbering standards, frequent roof-testing and the removal of some loose roadway roof, added precau-

MINERS URGE DEFEAT OF 2

Brand Meade, Chapman Labor's Foes Because Of Taft-Hartley Act

United Mine Worker leaders called Friday for the defeat of Seventh district Congressman W. Howes Meade, a Republican, and Virgil Chapman, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

Carson Hibbs, District 30 representative for the union, and Tom Raney, international board member, disclosed the adoption of two resolutions by local leaders of the U. M. W. at a meeting in Hazard, Ky.

Chapman was declared to be the "hand-picked" candidate of Governor Earle C. Clements, and was described in one resolution as "the most notorious enemy of labor in Kentucky." The same resolution termed John Y. Brown, Lexington attorney, "an outstanding and unselfish friend of labor."

The resolutions, withheld two days before their release, announced also the formation of a "labor education committee" to work for the defeat "of enemies of organized labor" in the August primary election.

Referring to Congressman Meade, Paintsville, the second resolution said:

"In the last Congressional election, the United Mine Workers of America sponsored the election of Mr. Meade, and when the votes were counted, he had won by a big majority. In a public statement to the Louisville Courier-Journal, he gave the U.M.W. full credit for sending him to Congress, and pledged his support to legislation beneficial to labor.

"Mr. Meade, however, has been taken in by the enemies of labor. He voted for the Taft-Hartley bill."

The some 50 local union leaders who signed the two papers endorsed no opponent of the incumbent for election.

Opposition to Chapman had been announced by the miners two weeks ago. Raney said in a statement June 5 that in protest against Chapman's candidacy, union members of the Seventh district were boycotting the county Democratic organization meetings.

Meade is opposed for the Republican nomination in the primary by Herbert Rowland, Whitehouse. Five candidates seek the Democratic nomination.

Inspection of the mine for gas before and after onshift blasting in conveyor sections, firing all shots or series immediately after charging, unobstructed clearance along haulage roads, and more shelter holes. Permissible explosives were used for all blasting, he said.

Recent improvements also included tests for gas before and after blasting in hand-loading sections, bans on getting on or off moving cars and coupling them by hand, discontinuance of smoking and carrying flame-making devices into the mine, and several electrical and mechanical safeguards.

Mrs. Underwood Dies, Believed Heart Victim

Mrs. Zona Dove Underwood, 63 years old, mother of Mrs. Raymond Hopson, of Hueysville, and Raymond Underwood, formerly of Prestonsburg, was found dead in bed at her home in Mullens, W. Va., early Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grade Hubbard, of Prestonsburg, who were visiting their daughter, Mrs. Raymond Underwood, at the home at the time, said she apparently died of a heart attack while she slept. She had been in falling health for the last few years.

Mrs. Underwood was a native of True, W. Va. She was a member of the First Methodist Church at Mullens. Besides her husband and son and daughter, a second son, James Monroe Underwood, of Logan, survives.

Former Allen Resident Gunshot Wound Victim

Vernon McIntosh, 54 years old, former resident of Allen and father of J. W. McIntosh, of Prestonsburg, was found dead late Tuesday afternoon in the yard of his home at Winchester, Ky., a shotgun wound in his chest. The shot, it was said, was self-inflicted.

Mr. McIntosh at one time was employed at Allen and for several years had been connected with a gas company at Winchester. Besides his widow and son, two daughters survive.

The funeral was conducted today (Thursday) and burial was made in Winchester cemetery.

What the New Draft Act Means

These are some pertinent questions and answers on the peacetime draft bill which Congress passed Saturday night:

Q. Who will be drafted and for how long?
A. Within the next two years, a maximum of 606,882 men, 19 through 25, will be drafted for 21 months each. The army estimates it will need 200,000 to 225,000 draftees the first year. The navy and air force hope to keep up their strength through volunteers.

Q. When does the draft bill take effect?
A. President Truman has until a week from Wednesday—10 days from the bill's passage—to sign it. Any time after the 90 days immediately following the signing the President may, upon recommendation from the armed forces, make a draft call. The first call is likely to come in September.

Q. Who must register and when?
A. Most males through 25, except members of the regular armed forces and their active reserves; diplomatic officials and their families. Registration may start at any time after the signing of the bill, provided the draft machinery now being organized can be put into operation.

Q. Who is exempt from the draft in addition to those who need not register?
A. War veterans—those with at least 90 days of service between Pearl Harbor (Dec. 7, 1941), and VJ Day (Sept. 2, 1945), or 12 months between Sept. 16, 1940, and the day the bill becomes law, regularly ordained ministers, students studying for the ministry and conscientious objectors.

Q. How can eligible men avoid the draft?
A. Men 19 through 25 may do so by joining the National Guard or other active drilling reserves of the armed forces before the President signs the bill. For youths of 18, a one-year enlistment, to be followed by six years with organized reserve units, or the National Guard, is required.

Q. Who can be deferred?
A. High school students until they are graduated, quit school or become 20. College students are deferred for one year if enrolled on or before the date the President signs the bill. The President also may defer at his discretion (a) Men with dependents; (b) Men essential in agriculture, industry, government and research; (c) Scientific and medical students. Students who have completed their freshmen and sophomore ROTC training are deferred so long as they continue in those courses. If they graduate and receive their commissions as reserve officers, they will then be subject to possible call.

Q. How about draft boards?
A. Probably the same organization used for World War II, with local boards appointed by Governors. However, there probably will be only 4,000 boards compared with wartime total of 6,442.

Q. Who will be called first?
A. This has not yet been decided, but the lottery system probably will not be used. Drafting by age groups, starting with 21-year-olds, is a probability.

Q. Who will run the system?
A. Probably a revived Selective Service office, perhaps headed by Wartime Draft Chief Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey. The office of Selective Service records now is in charge of planning.

Q. What about training?
A. The army has stopped disposing of its wartime training camps and is examining their usability. Draftees may also train with regular army divisions now located at camps Ord, Calif.; Campbell, Ky.; Hood, Texas; Dix, N.J.; Jackson, S. C. Some draftees may go overseas as soon as they finish their basic training.

Q. What veteran benefits will be available?
A. Regular peacetime benefits, including hospitalization, disability compensation and death pensions.

Q. What is the purpose of the draft?
A. To help enable the United States to carry out its occupation mission overseas, and to maintain an adequate home defense.

A Study of the Figures Might Help

THERE are some figures THE TIMES would prefer to have in its possession before going into the matter to be discussed here. This data we need is the record as taken from those traffic-counting devices the State Highway Department uses.

We would like to have the figures on Left Beaver Creek traffic, also the dope on the traffic over various other roads of the state. Then we would have factual support of our belief that Left Beaver Creek's is, for its length, one of the most traveled routes in Kentucky.

That information at hand, we might be able to appeal to those who have control of these matters to let contracts on road repair where necessity dictates, presuming, of course, that the matter of need and service to the greatest number enters into such matters.

Left Beaver Creek was surfaced, after a fashion, after years of shabby treatment. During those years, that section, particularly its upper part, was so segregated from the remainder of Floyd county that it was Floyd county in name and on the map only. Pike county reaped, and is still reaping, a rich harvest as the result of those long years.

Now, Left Beaver's road has literally gone to pot. It wasn't built for the heavy traffic it undergoes and to withstand winters such as that of 1947-48.

A minor patching job by a maintenance crew which admittedly is unable to do the work right is all the road has received this year. Unless Frankfort begins thinking of individual roads, their importance to the public and to business, and of such matters as public injustices, that is all it will get this year.

THE TIMES is not unaware of the tremendous task the highway department faces. It has no quarrel with its decision to devote this year, mainly, to highway maintenance rather than to new road-building. And it is not saying the department has relegated Left Beaver Creek again to the political limbo.

But it does want to point out these facts:

Other roads, routes less traveled and of less importance to business, have been let to contract for thorough repair. No "cobbling." Other roads of less importance will doubtless be let to contracts in the months to come. Good business and common justice demand that a road such as this no longer be neglected.

Those of this county who have influence with the present state administration will serve their county well if they will impress such facts on official Frankfort.

Better than sending us the figures, let the highway department consider them.

Truck Driver Seriously Injured In Accident

Huntington, W. Va.—A train-gasoline tank truck collision near here Wednesday seriously injured the truck driver.

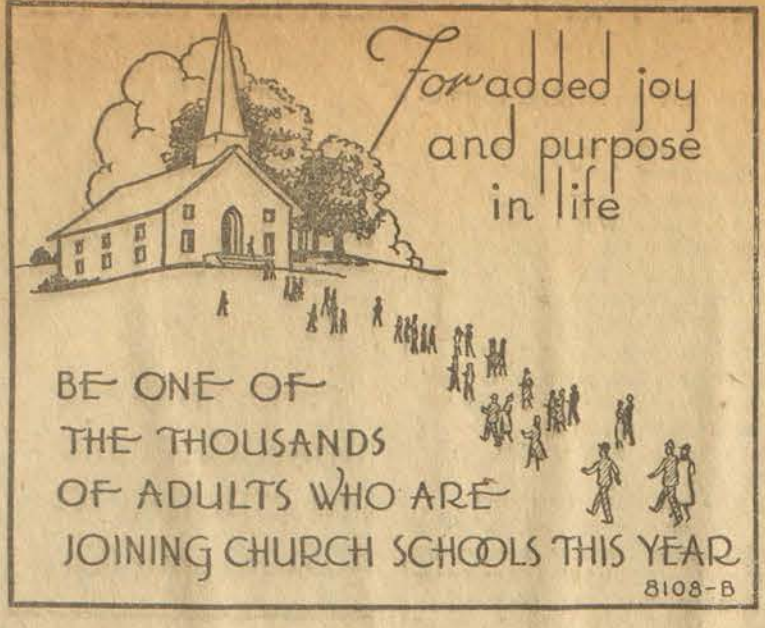

State Police Corp. P. R. Pritchard identified the driver as Martin Picklesimer, 31, Paintsville, Ky. He was hospitalized here.

The accident occurred at a crossing on U.S. Route 52 near Dickson, about five miles south of here. Picklesimer either jumped or was thrown from the truck cab as his vehicle went over a 15-foot embankment. The truck did not burn.

Boyd county seed dealers estimate that more than two-thirds of the seed corn sold this year was U.S. 13, followed by Ky. 193 yellow and Ky. 203 white corn.

Roscoe Teague, of Knox county, produced 185 crates of strawberries on one and three-fourth acres.

or what you will—the public is getting no consideration from either side in this dreary squabble.

The Times is always loath to criticize either side in a labor dispute. There are more angles than one to be considered, and many of these angles are completely missed by the reading public because their newspapers cannot gather them all.

We are appreciative of the industry and sticktoitiveness of the Sparks brothers in bringing their bus line from an old touring car to a flourishing business. As men who staked their time, years of it, and their financial future on a new business in this section when roads were just getting started in Eastern Kentucky, they definitely have their rights.

And we are no less sympathetic with the men who are driving their buses and who apparently have done for Sparks a damned good job. These men must live, and they have their rights. Regardless of what their employers have achieved in the financial world, these men have families to support, their own lives to live; and are not to be considered mere pawns in the game of making money.

But what of the public? Somebody is wrong in this dispute. And there is a strong possibility that everybody—everybody but the public—is wrong.

It's time now, and past, for the public to get aroused about such treatment. There is a public service due the people, and they are not getting it. City officials over the county and the county officials would do well to get with the bus company, its employees and with those whom they are reasonably expected to serve—for an adequate charge, of course—and get this thing thrashed out.

To do its part toward getting the story to the people, without favor to either side in this dispute, THE TIMES invites both the union and the bus company to state their cases for publication. Make it short and stick to the facts. If only one side of the matter is presented next week, the other will not be our fault.

What we want is an understanding of this long and injurious labor dispute. In the overall picture, this shutdown counts for very little; but it affects the people we know. And these are the people that count with us.

ble and truck roads as well as railroad facilities be provided for the development of this territory in order to make the mines accessible to the citizens of Breathitt and Magoffin counties who will want to work on this property. "It is the hope of our company," said Mr. Francis, "that the greater part of the employees can be citizens of the local communities and that the state and county will furnish roads to make it possible for these citizens to live in their present homes in this neighborhood to get back and forth to work easily at this new mine. This mine should provide employment for 400 or 500 men when it is fully developed and should add very greatly to the payrolls and the building up of the surrounding community. Our company will have to cooperate with the local community in any development plan for roads, schools and other community activities and purposes."

The Tiptop coal seam, which averages five feet in thickness, underlies a part of the acreage acquired by the Prestonsburg attorney, and West Virginia interests have leased this coal for stripping operations. For this development a 40-acre siding has been built at Tiptop, Magoffin county.

In addition to this coal, Mr. Howard acquired all surface and timber rights to the 8,000 acres and a one-eighth interest in whatever oil deposits it may have.

German Student Tells Floyd Friend His Views Of America and Future

In his tight, exact handwriting, striving for expression in a language yet something of a trial to him, a 20-year-old German student at Frankfurt University, in the U.S. zone of Germany, exchanges in a recent letter to Harry Stambaugh, son of Mrs. Lottie Stambaugh, of East Point, and now a student at Berea College, views which, these days, are claiming the attention of a large part of the world's population.

For an insight into a German student's thinking, as expressed to a young man whom he has never seen but whose views interest him, the letter of the young German, Herr Reinhold Lind, is here published without editorial revision:

Wolfgang 8 March 1948
 My Dear Harry:

Some days ago I received your most welcome letter and with a great interest I read it. Thank you very much. I am sure that I find your letter at least as interesting as you found mine for it is very instructive and interesting to hear something about the conditions in other countries in relation to people, school, etc., and you were right when you wrote at the end of your letter that understanding is the first step to a good and everlasting peace, to a peace which the best of all people in all nations dream since hundreds of years a peace which it's a pity never was realized. It was always the same, the peace was used by one part of the people to cure the wounds of the last war (and some wounds never can be cured) by another little part to prepare another war, which meant for a few profit but for millions hunger and death, and misery. We all hope that the last cruel great war has done one good thing, that it has convinced the nations that war is the father of all misery (and not as Hitler told us: "The father of all things.") I firmly believe that the German people after the experiences of the last war nothing hate and detest more than war (of course some Nazi idiots exist at all times) that the German people after twelve years of force and oppression nothing like more than liberty and independence.

You have written that you find it interesting to hear how the German people feel toward the American people as a whole, especially towards the American occupation forces. Oh! Let this be the theme of my letter.

How does a German feel towards the American people? First of all he envies each member of the U.S. because he didn't know this misery of the last years and of the present. But don't understand this wrong, please. Because of these better conditions we don't hate the American people. By the way, there are so many former Germans in the States that each German knows one American at least and so a hatred is impossible.

A great difference between the American and the German character, I have noticed. A German is more serious, more severe, more earnest and he can't understand the typical American predilection for sensation, thrilling excitement. The difference is this certain: "Take it easy," this light mind. (You see this difference if you compare an American picture with a German one). Exceptions prove that the rule is right! All this strikes an observer in Germany even more because he sees Germans all oppressed by sorrows at one side and young sorrowless Americans at the other side. So one can understand that Germans (especially older people) call the Americans a type unfamiliar to us and "etwas verrückt" (something like foolish or crazy) But this isn't the worst. One thing I see as very bad. It's a pity that you always don't send the best of you to Europe and some Americans don't make a good propaganda for America and don't feel like representatives of a great nation. You must know in America that people of other nations judge about America as they judge about the Americans they meet in their lands. You must know in the U.S. that there are people who want to make hatred against everything that smells like America.

I don't tell you that to write something bad about Americans but because I have the same opinion about democracy as you and see that America's task is made more difficult as it is by such an attitude of a few. For it is America's task to defend the ideas of a Washington and of a Roosevelt against certain might. That's it, what the majority of the German people expect from you and this is the way millions of people feel toward the American people. It is not necessary that our common ideals must be defended by a war. But believe if the development in world politics runs the way as we have seen it since 1945 a war between Russia and the U.S. can't be prevented in the next eight to 10 years. May be you will smile about this. But you are some thousands of miles distant from the spot where they are belligerent, the diplomatic war, the potential war, the "cold" war. We in Germany have the better insight like a man who knows a picture better than another who has read about it only. Don't be too careless and pay attention in political affairs. Know that the future of America will not be decided in America but there where democracy and communism touch, in Germany,

Very sincerely yours,

greasy pole, and the greased pig, piecating contest, horseshoe pitching, a bike race and the three-legged race.

The celebration is said to be the only one of its kind planned in the upper Big Sandy, and residents of neighboring counties are being invited to join Floyd county here for the entire day.

Sponsors of the celebration and homecoming are American Legion Post 129, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Kiwanis Club, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Prestonsburg Woman's club and John Graham Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

NEW ASSIGNMENT
 HongKong Between 25 and 30 former officers of the British Palestine police will be recruited for HongKong's police force. The Palestine police was disbanded when the British mandate came to an end.

Spain, China, Greece, Finland, Etc.: If you don't help Finland immediately it will be the next Russian province. Two weeks ago the communists have overtaken the control of Czechoslovakia. Remember 1938 when Hitler overtook the control of Czecho-Slovakia? This was one year before the great war started.

I don't know whether the responsible American politicians perceive this great danger. If they do they don't counteract firmly enough (it's my opinion). Misery is the best soil for communism, for a communist wants a revolution, a revolutionary feels unsatisfied, and where is a man unsatisfied if not in hunger and misery? Therefore it must be the first task to mitigate the misery in Europe and especially in Germany. (for here are the communists stronger than they seem to be after the last elections.) Since 1945 the misery became greater and greater and no step forward!

"The Americans can't help us, or they don't want to help us," most of the Germans say. We hope for the Marshall Plan, but we read about it only. Why so slowly? Your enemies act very quickly! "You have forgotten, my German boy," you will say, "that we have sent our food and raw materials, that we have assisted you already." Dear Harry! Germany is like a starving man five minutes before his death, and your help of course we could need it very urgently, and thousands were saved and they thank the American taxpayer) was like a piece of bread, which postponed his hour of death, but which couldn't save him and make him healthy again. Germany needs a great start—help, that our industry can work again, that we (and not you) can pay our food and change slowly misery in prosperity. And we will work, we will pay the war-debts, but we will also live, live in liberty and (later) in prosperity. This is what your last President Roosevelt had promised all people, that's why the American soldiers fought or not?

But why didn't you destroy the misery in Europe within the last three years? Don't you politicians see the great danger growing out of it? Oh, yes, I firmly believe that Mr. Marshall, Mr. Vandenberg, Mr. Dulles see it. Can't you help us? O, yes. America is a very rich land and has spent during the war much more money than for an assistance of Europe would be necessary, and the U.S.A. will be forced to spend a larger sum in some years if you don't fight against Europe's misery now. Don't you want to help us? Do you know what the communistic newspapers say? They fear your industry as a rival firm and that's the reason why they don't wish to help you. They want to ruin you. I know this is exaggerated. The reason I see is this: The tradesmen who pay the greatest part of this assistance-money (communists call them "capitalists") are too anxious to lose some money, and they don't see the consequences which will happen if the Marshall Plan fails. Such "capitalists" possess too a great influence on the American foreign politics (direct or indirect). You have read about Mr. Marshall's and Mr. Vandenberg's struggle against a shortage of the sum of the Marshall Plan in the Congress. Or are the Communists right this time if they say, "These capitalists fear a rival firm." (They say, "capitalists" and not the American people, or "the responsible Am. politicians.") They shouldn't be too cautious and too anxious. We Europeans will work hard and pay back the money. Give us a chance! In the great fight for the western democracy you have won the first round (against the "brown bomber") but you are going to lose the second if you don't assist the European reconstruction immediately.

And this is the way most of the Germans and most of the Europeans feel towards the American people as a whole. You know what they expect from you and what they hope. And because they can hope they like you, as an ill and sick man likes the doctor who is able to help him.

But now I will stop writing. Excuse me please that I wrote a letter of this kind, but I think this is a very important matter because all other things in our life are dependent on these questions I had formulated. Politics means more than a hobby of some people, it means more than a business. Politics is a question of existence.

Very sincerely yours,
 REINHOLD LIND

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

A total of 2,483 seriously disabled World War II veterans in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky have received vehicles at government expense under the "autos for amputees" program, Veterans Administration Tri-State Branch Office in Columbus, O., reported recently.

Cost of the vehicles has been $3,947,700. The totals include: Ohio, 1,133 vehicles for $1,802,853; Michigan, 913 vehicles for $1,449,833; and Kentucky, 437 vehicles for $694,914.

Under the present law, enacted by Congress in 1946, eligible veterans have until June 30, 1948, to submit applications. However, VA advises that they should apply at least 15 days before the deadline to allow ample time to process their applications.

The present law provides an automobile or other conveyance at a cost not to exceed $1,600 for any World War II veteran who lost, or lost the use of, one or both legs as a result of the ankle as a result of service-incurred injuries.

Veterans who saw service in both World Wars I and II are eligible for U.S. Government and National Service Life Insurance protection in a combined amount not to exceed $10,000, insurance officials at the Veterans Administration Branch Office in Columbus, O., stressed this week.

Two-war veterans may carry $10,000 in either type of insurance or may combine their policies up to the $10,000 limitation, VA officials said. It is possible for these veterans to carry their World War I insurance on a term basis and their National Service Life Insurance on a permanent plan. Veterans should consult their nearest VA office for detailed information concerning government insurance.

Veterans who become permanently and totally disabled, even though their disability has no connection with war service, may be entitled to a minimum pension of $60 monthly. This pension is payable to eligible veterans whose annual income is less than $1,000 if they have no dependents, or $2,500 if they have dependents. The pension automatically is increased to $72 monthly after a

The district attorney also contends in his action that the playground group as a corporation was not formed for the purpose of promoting education, intellectual or school or physical training but to engage in commercial enterprise . . . chiefly . . . in the name of education only."

No person representing the Board has approached him in respect to sale of the lot, the plaintiff alleges. The suit also claims the Board does not need a large tract of land, that the property it now owns is adequate. Continuing, Stephens contends that the lands sought are not suitable for a playground, football or baseball fields, etc., and will require "an enormous expenditure of money to put in condition." The noise incident to games will destroy the value of his property and all other property nearby for residential purposes, he claims.

The injunction action, it was said, is set down for July 6.

Another condemnation suit filed by the Board of Education names Mrs. Johnny Hollifield as defendant. An amicable settlement is being reached with Douglas Fitzpatrick, of Garrett, owner of property adjoining the Stephens lot. It was said. The same is expected in negotiations with Mrs. Wilson Clarke, J. E. Conley, owner of two lots, has been paid for one lot. The other he donated to the playground.

representative to the International Rotary convention in Rio de Janeiro recently. He described the capital of Brazil as a beautiful city, with a small part of the population incredibly rich but 99 per cent of the people terribly poor. Little of democracy is visible to the visitor, he declared—the average pay of the common laborer $1.25 a day, skilled labor at $3, a few "so rich they don't know their wealth" and these determined to keep the other 99 per cent poor. "The outstanding thing I learned," he said, "was this: Eastern Kentucky is the grandest place of them all, the United States is the greatest nation on earth—and I want to do my part to keep them that way."

The domination of government by pressure groups and powerful, selfish individuals was condemned by Judge Hall, who closed the discussion. "We have many men elected to office who have good intentions," he asserted, "but they yield to pressure. We should clean house and elect officers, from constable to president, who stand for the common people and for fairness to other countries as well as our own." This weakness of lawmakers and executives in the face of pressure he blamed for much of the trouble with the national economy. One case in point, he cited, is the tax on oleomargarine, imposed at the behest of a powerful lobby to protect one industry to the harm of millions of the common people.

WERE ALL PECULIAR

Society is composed, not of "average" people but of people who are abnormal in one or more respects. So states Dr. Roger J. Williams in The Reader's Digest for July, appraising the "deep-seated physiological differences that make each of us act, think and feel differently from everyone else." Dr. Williams is director of the Biochemical Institute, University of Texas. The article is condensed from his book, "The Human Frontier."

In such everyday sense-reactions as taste, smell and the stimulus of color, wide differences between individuals have been demonstrated. Marked variations in reaction to drugs are known to exist. Sleep requirements vary from "almost none" for some people to many hours daily for others.

Contending that such physical differences indicate a comparable range of variance in mental abilities, Dr. Williams says that humans cannot justly be classified as "dumb" or "intelligent." Each human mind is a mixture of perhaps 300 distinct mental abilities and traits, any one of which may be possessed in high or low degree.

Idiot-savants, who are very weak in certain mental resources, very strong in others, are "simply extreme caricatures of you and me." The author cites the unusual mechanical ability of one man who, by ordinary intelligence tests, rated as a low-grade moron. Another "feeble-minded" was able to memorize the city telephone directory. Such an acknowledged genius as Albert Einstein was backward in arithmetic when in school and, as a child, unusually slow in learning to talk.

Educators have not sufficiently recognized these human variations, Dr. Williams believes. The importance of considering each child as an individual with widely different aptitudes has been obscured in our schools' mass-production methods of teaching.

"Are your bees getting ready to swarm?" I inquired.

"No, that's the cooling system at work. Some of the bees are fanning fresh air into the hive. They work in relays. One crew will fan the hive with their wings for a certain length of time, then another crew will take over. This goes on all night, or until the temperature eases down. The relay system is timed perfectly. It could not be better if the bees had a clock."

There are no labor troubles among honey bees. No strikes. No picket lines to keep willing workers away from their jobs. And every member of the colony works for the common good, for the welfare of the community. Even when young bees swarm and go out in search of a new home, there are no disputes, no disagreements. Maybe it is discipline. You may call it instinct. Whatever it is that determines the action of bees, we know these insects have something human beings have too, life. If we humans here in Kentucky had one-tenth as much communal cooperation as bees, the state would be 10 times as good a place to live in.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE
 By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.
 Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

TREES IN THE YARD

A SUDDEN WINDSTORM in the early spring of 1947 toppled over one of the largest trees in Bowling Green, a real remnant of the first trees that grew up after this area ceased to be prairie, after the settlement by white men kept down most of the destructive grass fires. I could not help feeling a bit of sadness at the passing of this giant oak, which for years has been carefully guarded by its owners against disease and against mutilation by unthinking people. I began to think about trees in the yard, trees that have meant so much to our houses and to our memories.

Some years ago, when I vacationed in New England, I was struck with the beauty of American elms two to four feet in diameter, which seem to be common everywhere. Old houses, reminiscent of the Revolution, such as the one where I stayed in Lexington, Massachusetts, stood far back from the winding streets, with wide, rolling lawns in front. Every one of them had American elms, with graceful umbrella tops, as impressive as any trees that I have ever seen. No other tree seems capable of giving such a distinctive setting to colonial houses with green shutters.

In Fidelity and in the surrounding country there was seldom a yard that did not contain some of the native trees, standing right where the seeds had sprouted: oaks, hickories, chestnuts, and such delightful things as the wild crabapple that grows down there in profusion. Nearly all yards had, too, some maples that had been brought as small sprouts from the creek bottom and set out, some of them a long time before I could remember. Cedars were so scarce that it was regarded as distinctive to have a big, wide one in the front yard. A sure mark of old-house places was an old cedar, almost as definite a mark as the patch of wild pines. Beech trees grew only in the bottoms around Fidelity, but since I left there, the nuts have gradually been taken into the hilly country, and now beautiful young beech trees are found among the commoner oaks and hickories on the uplands. For quick growth nothing beats a box elder, but most of the ones I have known were short-lived. However, I recently saw one in the yard of a lovely old country home that was merely a skeleton of its former self but was reputed to be well over a hundred years old. It had outlived two generations of people who had made the place their home.

One of the odd things about people and trees is that sometimes excellent forest trees, already large and healthy and thoroughly adapted to the soil, are cut down when a house is built; then very small and very young native maples or else nursery stock are started, with ages ahead of their being shade trees in any real sense. One such place I know of had a row of tiny sugar maples out among the stumps of fine old oaks. Now, 46 years later, the maples are beginning to take the places of the oaks in making shade, but the children who grew up in that yard are now middle-aged and never knew before they left home what it was to have grateful shade around the house in the hot days of summer.

Just across the street from me is the campus of the college where I have taught for 36 years. No part of it is any more beautiful than the small area that used to be the campus of Osgood College, for the last 20 years a part of Western. Years ago a great variety of native and nursery trees were set out and carefully protected. The old gentleman who caused most of this to be done died many years ago, but his handiwork lives on, a small campus that is a virtual arboreum. Norway maples, ginkgo trees, cypress, water maples, sugar trees, oaks of several species, rugged pines, native and English lindens, and many other are near neighbors, each with its distinctive leaves and fruits, its shape pattern. What was a bleak lot when the Civil War was over is today one of the beauty spots of my town because of its many, many trees.

KENTUCKY ON THE MARCH

By EWING GALLOWAY
 This is an essay on bees and human beings, with some pointed comparisons, and I hope the little honey makers won't be offended.

I became an apiarist the other day. An amateur, of course. Two hives would hardly qualify anybody as a professional, would they?

Noticing much sweet clover growing on the place, Cousin Roy Galloway, out here to fish in our ponds, remarked that we ought to capitalize the clover nectar by putting bees to work making honey for us. He even volunteered to give us a couple of swarms.

Our clover fields had been furnishing raw material for Editor Leigh Harris' urban honey makers, which flew four miles for it. Bees, you know, will go four to five miles for nectar, if they have to. Scout bees fly long distances in search of blossoms, and upon finding them in worth-while quantities, they return to the hive and report their discoveries. Then the whole colony gets busy.

We are providing runways at the little arched doors of the hives—landing fields, to be exact. A bee can take off anywhere, but when returning heavy laden with nectar it is like an overloaded airplane.

Honey bees achieve perfection in team work as well as in manufacturing the finest sweets we humans know about. The only members of the swarm that do no industrial work are the king and queen, whose function is propagation. No loafing is tolerated. Every worker bee has his job to do. And cooperation is just about perfect.

One extremely hot night I was with Editor Harris in his aptly named and heard a steady buzzing coming from one of the hives.

"Are your bees getting ready to swarm?" I inquired.

"No, that's the cooling system at work. Some of the bees are fanning fresh air into the hive. They work in relays. One crew will fan the hive with their wings for a certain length of time, then another crew will take over. This goes on all night, or until the temperature eases down. The relay system is timed perfectly. It could not be better if the bees had a clock."

There are no labor troubles among honey bees. No strikes. No picket lines to keep willing workers away from their jobs. And every member of the colony works for the common good, for the welfare of the community. Even when young bees swarm and go out in search of a new home, there are no disputes, no disagreements. Maybe it is discipline. You may call it instinct. Whatever it is that determines the action of bees, we know these insects have something human beings have too, life. If we humans here in Kentucky had one-tenth as much communal cooperation as bees, the state would be 10 times as good a place to live in.

Voters of the 7th Congressional District:

A large part of the population of our district is composed of miners, and it is natural that they and all others should want to know exactly where we candidates for Congress stand on matters affecting Labor. If it's the Taft-Hartley Act that the voters would like to question me about I am frank to state that I join President Truman, Senator Barkley and many other friends of Labor in opposing it. Moreover, if elected to Congress, I will work for its repeal. The Democratic party has always been the friend of the Working Man and the Common People as opposed to vested interests. It continues to be. And I maintain that I am as good a Democrat as the party has. I believe in the system of free enterprise, with all classes having a chance at a livelihood and at a future free of trouble. I do not believe in oppressing either Capital or Labor, and these two can and must live together in peace and prosperity if the system of free enterprise is to exist. I am in this fight to win, and I ask all my friends and the friends of the Common Man to join me. Sincerely, DOUG HAYS Democratic Candidate for Congress (Pol. adv.)

FLOWERS FOR EVERY OCCASION

Yes, pennies from a piggy bank are riches untold to a pigtailed six-year-old. Naturally, she wants to be sure they're safe.

Because even the smallest account is important to a bank, Nancy's pennies will be wisely invested. Some of them will go into utility securities—into business-managed electric light and power companies. Like our own. That will make Nancy one of our owners—an indirect owner. And, if you have a savings account or life insurance policy (most people do), it's almost certain that you're an indirect owner, too.

There are thousands of direct owners as well—people from all walks of life who have invested their savings in this company. All kinds of people—your friends and neighbors—the man across the way, the housewife next door, farmers, mechanics, doctors, industrial workers, teachers, craftsmen, nurses.

Yes, your electric light and power company is owned by the people it serves.

Mine Bureau Cites Lessons Taught by Deaths, Injuries

The lessons learned in two mine accidents in which four Floyd county men were killed and five others were burned are pointed to by the U.S. Bureau of Mines in its official reports of the separate occurrences. Excerpts from the reports follow: Lethal carbon monoxide, given off by 15 heavy charges of explosives fired almost simultaneously, caused the deaths of four inexperienced miners in a poorly-ventilated truck coal mine near Blairtown, Ky., last Feb. 25, according to the findings of federal coal mine inspectors.

Opened less than four months before the disaster, the 25-ton-a-day mine had been advanced only 100 feet into the coal bed and it was dependent upon natural ventilation to remove blasting smoke and fumes and provide fresh air for workers, the Bureau report states. The mine is known as the Southern Elkhorn mine, operated by the Southern Elkhorn Coal Company. After the men had lit the fuses on the explosives charges, they apparently retired to a crosscut to await the blasts and for the smoke and fumes to clear, the federal inspectors reported, where they were overcome by the deadly carbon monoxide. The bodies were discovered the next day by wives of the four victims.

Inexperience of the four miners and their lack of knowledge of ventilation requirements and poisonous gases given off by explosives were contributory causes of the disaster, the inspectors stated. The owner of the mine, who died with his three helpers, had less than six months of mining. The other three had worked in coal mines less than two months.

Natural ventilation of the mine was not sufficient to carry away the smoke and fumes from the explosives, it was shown in the report prepared by Federal Inspectors M.

L. Davis, J. E. Jones and G. E. Reed. Under "lessons to be learned" from this disaster, the inspectors stated: "Dependence upon natural drafts for ventilation, even in a mine only 100 feet in depth, is foolhardy. Inexperienced persons should not be permitted to work underground unless accompanied by one having practical knowledge of mining and its attendant dangers."

The firing of several shots of black blasting powder—a dangerous and non-permissible explosive used in some coal mines—ignited the coal-dust explosion in which five men were burned at a small mine near Ligon.

Nine men were in the 150-ton-a-day mine known as the J. M. Hall No. 5 mine, operated by the Jack's Creek Mining Company at the time of the explosion. Three were burned critically, two less seriously, and four escaped unhurt. Federal Inspectors Leslie Johnson and John E. Jones were making a routine inspection of another mine in the vicinity and proceeded to the Hall mine upon learning of the explosion.

A blown-out blasting shot—one that blows out of the drill hole without breaking down the coal—ignited the cloud of coal dust which had been raised by three other shots fired a few seconds previously, the federal inspectors learned. Blasting was being done "off the solid" without cutting the coal, making the coal more difficult to blast down and increasing the chances of a blown-out shot. Flames and heat from the explosion spread into other parts of the mine.

The use of permissible-type explosives, a thorough rock-dusting of the mine to neutralize the explosibility of the coal dust, and the removal of coal-dust accumulations, would have prevented this explosion, in the opinion of the federal inspectors. Even though the poorly rock-dusted mine was partly wet, coal dust was solely responsible for the explosion, they pointed out. There was no gas in the mine.

Summarizing salient features of the accident, the federal inspectors said:

"Blasting coal off the solid, especially with black blasting powder, is a hazardous practice and the cause of many fatalities. That damp coal dust can and will explode in a so-called 'wet' mine has again been demonstrated. Natural moisture must be supplemented by rock dust to prevent the propagation of an explosion."

WHY "Stepping Down" IS SO IMPORTANT TO YOU

Hudson amazes motor-car world by using vital "step-down" zone—not available in any other car—to bring you riding qualities and safety beyond anything known before!

Word's going 'round—and fast, too—that Hudson gives you a "sweet," smooth, safe ride that is a new high in motor-car performance!

Perhaps you've heard pleased and proud Hudson owners talking about this exciting new experience, but here's something you may have missed hearing:

The key to this amazing new ride lies in that area just under the floor of the average car, which in the New Hudson becomes the "step-down" zone—as illustrated in the sketches at the right.

This "step-down" zone is all-important, because experience has shown that the lower to the ground a car can be built, the better it will handle, the more stability it will have, the safer it will be, and thus the more enjoyable and comfortable will be your ride.

Hudson, and Hudson alone, has accomplished a near miracle of low-built streamlining and smooth, safe, comfortable riding with a new type of base frame which surrounds the passenger compartment, and thus permits the floor to be lowered down within it. Recessing the floor creates the "step-down" zone and a center of gravity that is the lowest.

in any American stock car—yet road clearance is ample!

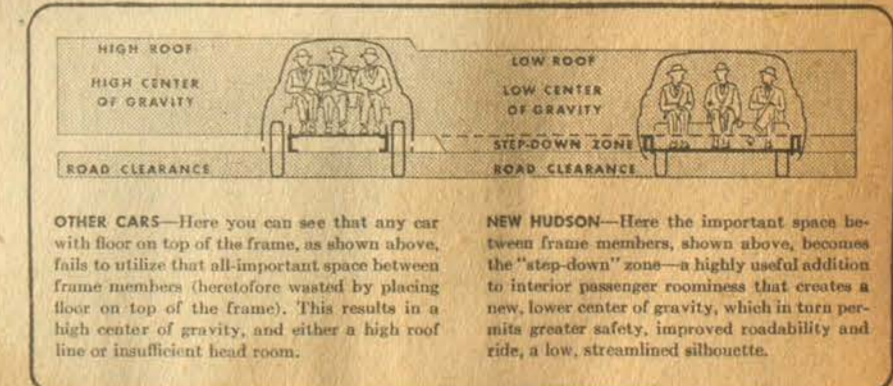

That's why Hudson has a hug-the-road way of going, even in cross-winds, and on every conceivable kind of highway. When you see how this car takes even the sharpest curves, it will spoil you for any other type of automobile! You sense this delightful conformity to the road the minute you begin your ride; and this stability, plus the protection of riding encircled by a sturdy box-section steel frame, gives you a grand feeling of safe well-being.

Sitting in this car is as downright satisfying as stretching out in your favorite easy chair. You ride on seats that are lowered and cradled ahead of the rear wheels and, even with its low silhouette, this breathtakingly beautiful motor car gives you more head room than any other mass-produced car built today! Hudson's use of the vital "step-down" zone in its exclusive, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame is a development that required years of engineering work, the perfection of new production techniques, and millions of dollars in highly specialized new plant investment. Perhaps this explains why Hudson alone offers this new design principle today.

The nearest Hudson dealer has a booklet—yours for the asking—which explains how "stepping down" brings you advantages beyond anything known before! Hudson Motor Car Co., Detroit 14.

SPORTS AFIELD TWO TEAMS IN RUN ORGY

By TED KESTING
 Float fishing has gone modern. It is no longer considered kindergarten angling, according to Joe Bates, Jr.

In many parts of the country fishing with floaters has become a scientific method useful for taking trout and other game fish with nymphs, tiny flies or live bait.

Float fishing has become a partner of the fly rod and plug-casting rod. And to a seven greater extent it has become an important adjunct to that new angling fishing method, spinning.

There is a peculiar fascination in watching the little bobber drift with the wind or current, to see it suddenly sucked under, signaling that a feeding fish has taken the lure beneath.

Floaters are many and varied in type. They can be made at home, purchased at tackle stores or improvised on the stream.

Float fishing opens up a new field of usefulness for all types of freshwater angling. Floaters allow a wide selection of lures. They make possible long casts and the fishing of runs and glides on the far side of a stream. They keep the lure at a predetermined depth below the surface and allow the lure to move naturally in the current. Under certain conditions, they help an angler to cover more water.

In all forms of fishing the float tends to make the current of a stream a servant of the angler, rather than an adversary. Since the best fish usually lie in or near the fast currents, float fishing, used properly under the right conditions, should help any angler to hook more fish.

P'burg and Wayland Run Up High Scores; Harold Wins 2 Games

The baseball teams of Prestonsburg and Wayland let fly with their Sunday punches last Sunday in running up the biggest scores of the year in the Big Sandy Baseball League while winning doubleheaders.

Wayland, on its home grounds, massacred Clear Creek in the first game of a twin bill, 33 to 0. At Paintsville, Prestonsburg teed off in an abbreviated five-inning nightcap, 25 to 4. Prestonsburg won the first game, 10 to 9, and Wayland won its opener, 4-1.

Elsewhere in the league: Harold trounced Weeksbury in both games, 11-3 and 5-3; Pikeville dropped Garrett twice, 6-2 and 8-3, and Elkhorn City downed Van Lear, 7-1 and 4 to 3.

Big Sandy league follows this week halled last Saturday night's 3-2 victory of Wayland over Wheelwright, of the Kentucky-West Virginia League, at Wheelwright. They also pointed to a recent victory of Harold, of the Big Sandy loop, over Pikeville of the more highly rated circuit. The Wayland-Wheelwright encounter was a hurlers' duel between Adkins for the winners and Bailey and Stumbo for the losers.

Pikeville won its first game in the last inning when, with the score tied at 2-all, Lyons, Garrett twirler, lost control, walked two and was hit safely four times for four runs.

The second game of the Prestonsburg-Pointsville bill was called at the end of the fifth at the losers' request and after Paintsville's centerfielder had called it a day.

Keeping Open the Doors to Higher Education

People once had the idea that a man stopped his education when he enlisted in the Army. Today just the opposite is true. As a matter of fact, the man in uniform has almost unlimited opportunity to achieve a higher education than he had when he entered the Army.

The Army maintains some of the finest technical training schools, teaching scores of skills and trades. There are specialized courses in advanced subjects. No matter where a soldier may be stationed throughout the world, his schooling goes with him.

In addition, there is the U. S. Armed Forces Institute, which teaches a broad range of courses by means of standard texts, self-teaching texts and correspondence methods. Many thousands of Army men have gotten high school and college credits by this spare-time study.

It is a splendid thing for the youth of America, many of whom have been disappointed in their educational ambitions, that the Army is doing so much — so well — to keep open to all young men the doors to higher education.

VOTE FOR
CARL D. PERKINS
Democratic Candidate
For

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

On AUGUST 7, 1948, you will select your Democratic nominee for Congress.

I am a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the Seventh Congressional District of Kentucky. I have always since boyhood wanted to go to Congress and represent the people from this mountain district. I feel that you should know something of my personal history, and some of the things that I stand for.

I was born and reared in Knott county, Kentucky. Attended school in Hindman and at Caney Junior College, Pippapass, Ky. I am the son of J. E. and Dora (Gill) Perkins. I served as your Commonwealth's Attorney in filling out the unexpired term of O. C. Hall in 1939. I am a former state Representative from Knott and Magoffin counties, was elected two terms as County Attorney of Knott county. Since January, 1948, I have served as Assistant Attorney General assigned to the Department of Highways. In World War II, I saw service as an enlisted man in the European theater, participating in several battle campaigns.

I am for the establishment of reciprocal trade agreements with other nations, better social security laws, legislation that will give greater opportunities for the average American, and for federal aid to schools.

If nominated and elected, I will work for the repeal of the "Taft-Hartley Act," and the enactment of legislation that will be fair to both labor and capital.

Between now and the primary, I will discuss the various questions affecting the people of your county and this district, both in the press and with you personally.

I have four opponents in this race. They are all fine men. All of us can't go to Congress. I still want to go to Congress and trust you will help send me.

My papers were signed in Pike county by W. T. Smith, Circuit Court Clerk, F. P. Keese, County Attorney, J. A. Runyon, Commonwealth's Attorney, J. E. Sanders, F. M. Burke, James W. Wine, Jr., G. R. Blackburn, in Letcher county by Dr. B. F. Wright, Jesse Bates, County Judge Arthur Dixon, W. B. Adams, and State Representative Robert Collins.

I earnestly solicit the support of every individual group and organization in this district, and assure you, if elected, that I will represent the interests of all the people of this district to the best of my ability.

Thanking you for your support in this campaign,

am,
Yours for good government,
