

This Town-- That World

A SURE CURE FOR ALL ILLS

The newspaper headline informing all and sundry that a surgeon has found a way to cure drug addiction almost instantly by drilling holes in the side of the addict's skull recalls to mind how "Uncle Wile" Patton, famous practical joker of years ago, once upon a time was said to have cured a case of "the holler horn" from which a neighbor's cow suffered most acutely.

Oldtimer had done everything that wasn't in the books except split the cow's brisket and insert a piece of leather. The patient was sinking fast when Uncle Wile appeared on the scene, so the story goes, and the owner of the family provider was desperate. Called upon for advice, Uncle Wile, as was his wont, cogitated and ruminated, then admitted his "doctor books" exactly described such a condition. It was the deadly holler horn, quoth he.

What to do? The old-timer wanted to know.

"Only one thing to do—bore her," the amateur veterinarian replied. "Go get me a gimlet."

Soon the auger was at hand. Owner of the animal held the patient by one ear, a neighbor held the other. Uncle Wile set the bit squarely in the center of the cow's forehead and started "spudding."

This went on till, eventually, as might have been expected, the drill reached the brain.

The patient sank alarmingly. "Hold 'er, boys," yelled the owner. "Believe she's fainted!"

MAKE IT TWO TANKS!

This is the kind of column stuff I like to do—the kind somebody else already has done, with no copyright to keep me from flitching it. I will reimburse by giving an unnamed contributor to The Pike County News credit.

It has to do with these hell-for-leather nit-wits who are permitted to drive automobiles, despite driver's tests, the Kentucky Highway Patrol, deputy sheriffs, deputy constables, etcetera, ad infinitum. And it reads, in part:

"It's so bad now that when I see some emaciated little fellow coming, driving hell bent for death, his adenoids protruding through his nose, breathing through his tonsils, his cap hanging askew on a knot on the side of his head, his bloodless thin lower lip dangling a cigarette and stretched taut on a long schooner chin, and bent forward as a jockey whipping and spurring the winning horse to the rope by a hair, I catapult my car off the road, screech the brakes to a sudden grab that wrenches my back, automatically spring from the car and dash up the nearest tree. And I usually don't come down until the next day, either; for if he missed me he's not going on down the road. He's just going far enough to slow down and

BUSES IDLE THIRD WEEK

Negotiations Off As Firm, Drivers Refuse To Yield

Today, after exactly three weeks of idleness because of contract differences, the Sparks Brothers Bus Company and its drivers were no nearer agreement than they were on the night of April 15 when the buses ceased to run.

Employers and employees have not met since last week. And there is no need of meeting, it was pointed out this week. "We can't pay more," the company is quoted as saying. Equally adamant are the drivers in their contention that they must have a pay increase.

Services of a federal conciliator are not available in the Sparks bus line case because the company is not engaged in interstate traffic. Local officials may seek a settlement of the dispute which is seriously affecting travel and business over the county.

FLOYD ROAD REPAIR BIDS BEING ASKED

Building of Roads This Year To Wait As Repairs Planned

The State Highway Department will receive contractors' bids on May 20 for improvement of 300 additional miles of Kentucky roads and for construction of a new bridge on the Cadiz-Julian road over Little river in Trigg county.

The department said the majority of the 300 miles of roads to be resurfaced were damaged by the freeze-and-thaw weather of the past winter. Bituminous surfacing will be used to restore the highways and place them in a condition to withstand future severe weather.

The resurfacing projects in this section:

Floyd county—The Hindman-Lackey road from end of rock asphalt east of Maytown to beginning of rock asphalt west of Maytown, 631 miles; the Lackey-Wayland-Beaver Gap road from Lackey to Wayland, 2,467 miles.

Knott county—The Hindman-Lackey road from the southwest and of bridge at Hindman to northeast city limit of Hindman, 1 mile; the Hindman-Lackey road from northeast city limit of Hindman to the Floyd county line, 13,980 miles; the Hindman-Hazard road from the southwest city limit of Hindman to the Perry county line, 11,249 miles.

Perry county—The Hazard-Jackson road from bridge at Duane to Dwarf, 4,020 miles; the Hazard-Hyden road from Junction Ky. 80 to the Leslie county line, 8,973 miles; the Hazard-Hindman road from Junction Ky. 15 at Dwarf to the Knott county line, 1,105 miles.

Kentucky's road program for the remainder of 1948 must necessarily be one of highway maintenance and moderate spending, rather than widespread road building, Highway Commissioner Garrett L. Withers said.

BATES LEARNS COURT RULING

Affirming Pen Term While in Jail Here; Others Taken to Pen

While a prisoner in the county jail here after having been returned to this county as a trial witness, Charles Bates, of Bevinville, learned Wednesday that the Court of Appeals had affirmed his 21-year manslaughter sentence in the slaying of Theodore Scott. Bates had been serving his pen term pending result of his appeal from the Floyd circuit court verdict.

Today (Thursday) he and four others were taken to the LaGrange reformatory by Sheriff T. B. Sturgill and deputies. In the group were Mack Lewis and Charley Compton, who had been returned here from LaGrange as witnesses during last month's court term. New prisoners in the party were Basil Compton, under eight-year sentence in the slaying of Mrs. Helen Parsons at Betsy Layne, and Ernest Moore, who was given a two-year term on a rape charge.

Taken to LaGrange Tuesday were Dewey Gibson, under 21-year sentence for the slaying of Taylor Blackburn, and Herbert Branham to serve a one-year term for motor vehicle theft.

The Appellate Court opinion upholding Bates' sentence noted that Scott, the victim, had been drinking and had refused to return Bates' watch. Bates claimed Scott threatened him with a knife and that he fired at Scott's leg but the bullet accidentally hit the other in the stomach, the opinion recounted.

Floyd Airborne Infantrymen To Take Part in Mock Battle

At least two Floyd countians will take part in the biggest military show since World War II which starts Saturday at Camp Campbell, Campbellville, Ky.

The Floyd pair are T/5 Lawrence Bray, of Prestonsburg, and Pvt. Art's Stone, of Estill, both members of the 504th airborne infantry regiment.

More than 30,000 troops will participate in the mammoth war games to be put on jointly by the Third Army and Ninth Air Force.

It has been designated "Exercise Assembly" and will feature an airborne operation in which an imaginary invader will be repulsed. This enemy theoretically has infiltrated the southeastern United States from the Caribbean area.

Forty-three army and air forces units representing military bases from coast to coast already are planning for the operation.

The initial phase of the exercises—and by far the most spectacular—is scheduled for Saturday when thousands of 82d Airborne Division troops will be dropped on the Camp

PLAYGROUND CENTER HERE OPTIONS PLOT

Corporation Formed, To Start Drive Anew For Funds, May 11th

The Floyd County Playground Center, Inc., moved this week to procure property in the vicinity of the grade school building here for the playground project initiated, a few weeks ago, by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and other interested citizens.

The Center took an option on property of Ex-Sheriff B. L. Sturgill which fronts on Route 23 here and extends back to join that of the Prestonsburg Board of Education.

This move followed approval last week by Secretary of State George Glenn Hatcher of the Center's articles of incorporation as a non-profit organization and formal organization of the corporation at a meeting held at the courthouse Tuesday evening.

Dr. George P. Archer, Jr., was named chairman of the board of directors at Tuesday's meeting, and County Attorney W. W. Burchett was chosen vice-chairman. Other directors are Marvin Music, Carl H. Corbin, Chalmer Frazier, Bert T. Combs and N. M. White, Jr.

Fred Francis was elected secretary and H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., treasurer. Following the organization meeting, Bert Combs and C. H. Corbin were directed to procure a 30-day option on the Sturgill property.

Next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Center officials announced, a parade of school children here will be staged, with prizes to be awarded the two children bearing the most attractive banners. These prizes will be $10 and $5 in cash.

Next morning, a "kick-off" breakfast will be held at the Methodist Church, and from there volunteer solicitors will go out on a whirlwind campaign for funds.

The Sturgill tract of approximately one acre is available, it was said, at around a third of the price asked for another site considered for the playground and is considered ideal for the purpose. Adjoining parts of lots owned by C. P. Stephens, Doug Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Wilson Clark, Mrs. B. C. Hollifield and J. E. Conley will be sought to widen the field so as to accommodate baseball as well as football and all facilities for a modern playground.

A few days' work done recently when the playground idea was first promoted resulted in between $5,000 and $8,000 being contributed or pledged by local residents. That figure is expected to be doubled within the next few days.

Got the Owl—and How!

Mrs. Ova Jarvis, Cow Creek housewife, was caught by an owl early Monday morning and she bears the marks of battle to bear witness.

Gathering coal at a "coal bank" near her home, she saw the owl, a big one, on the ground nearby. She picked up a rock and let fly. The rock hit the bird squarely in the head and it hit the ground as if dead.

Mrs. Jarvis thereupon decided to take her kill home to surprise her children. As she picked it up the owl suddenly recovered and seized the woman by her wrist, sinking his talons deep in to the flesh.

Mrs. Jarvis didn't drop the owl—she couldn't. Clutching the bird by one foot as tightly as the owl's other foot held her wrist, she walked homeward. Not till she met a neighbor who calmly crushed the owl's head was she freed.

G. I. TRAINEE PAY RAISED

New Salary Ceilings For 'On-Job' Vets Range from $210

President Truman signed Tuesday legislation raising "ceilings" for "on-the-job" trainees under the G.I. Bill. The measure will have the effect of boosting monthly subsistence allowance checks for many of the 479,000 veterans in job-training establishments.

Ceilings have been $175 and $200 a month for a veteran with no dependents and with one or more dependents respectively.

The new ceilings are $210 (with no dependents), $270 (with one) and $290 (with two or more).

This means a single veteran training on the job may in most cases earn up to $145 a month and still draw the full $65, government-paid, subsistence allowance. (Heretofore the allowance was cut back as soon as earnings passed $110 monthly.)

Veterans with dependents may earn correspondingly more in wages before their $90 allowance is reduced.

Government May Seize Rails If Strike Called

Federal seizure of the nation's railroads became a possibility Tuesday after a collapse of mediation efforts to avert a strike called for next Tuesday.

Soon after the collapse of the talks, the three unions issued strike instructions and said that union members would continue to operate troop trains, hospital trains, and milk trains when and if the strike takes place.

Attempts of Frank Douglass, chairman of the National Mediation Board, to settle the wage dispute between carriers and three operating brotherhoods broke down.

Douglass, who said that neither side had budged during five days of conferences in Chicago, announced he would go to Washington to report to President Truman.

The President was reported by White House assistants to have been watching the Chicago mediation efforts closely.

General Counsel Francis A. Silver of the Office of Defense Transportation is still on the statute books making it possible for Mr. Truman to order federal operations of the railroads.

FINAL PHASE FINISH SEEN DURING 1948

Gas Pipe Line Re-Routing Among Work Necessary Before Lake Is Formed

With concreting of the barrier across the valley is scheduled for completion this calendar year, although unforeseen difficulties could force a delay in the contractor's timetable.

The final phase of the operations at the dam itself brings on a big moving job this week, the R. L. Spradlin home, a short distance above the dam site, was being torn down. Other buildings in the vicinity of the barrier have been sold and are being, or will be, moved.

One big moving job is scheduled to be started May 15 when a contractor for the United Fuel Company will begin relocation of approximately eight miles of the firm's 20-inch gas line in the reservoir area. The big line, extending from Warso, this county, to Kenova, W. Va., will be moved in that section above the high water stage of the reservoir and will skirt the west shore from Brandy Keg to a point near the mouth of Burchett Branch.

Choosing to cross the lake rather than to lay 22 miles of line around it, the company will direct its contractors, it was said, to lay three 12-inch lines across the valley at Burchett Branch, the multiple lines affording a means of cutting from one to the other in the event of damage to either line.

In addition to this work, United Fuel expects to plug six or seven gas wells drilled in the reservoir area and to relocate numerous small connecting gas lines. The same work will face the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company but this firm could provide no estimate of the number of wells to be affected by the water.

Relocation of families which will be routed from their homes as the water rises is another problem facing individual home-owners in the area this year.

Federal appraisers said this week 741 graves in 141 cemeteries of the area are to be moved. Negotiations for one new cemetery on the Auxier road are well under way and others will probably be sought.

successful attempt to burn the home at Harold of Deputy Sheriff Harold Conn.

A perjury indictment growing out of testimony in the slaying of Arthur Hall by Deputy Sheriff Conn was lodged against Rubin Layne last week. The indictment noted that Layne told the grand jury investigating the slaying that he was in the kitchen of B. H. Toler when the shooting took place in the front portion of the building. In Conn's trial, it also noted, Layne testified he was standing by the pin ball machine when the shots were fired.

Also indicted for perjury was Mrs. Mary Hale after the grand jury had held erroneous her statement that her son, Richard Hale, did not work because he was shellshocked while in army service. The statement was made in the trial of her son, it was said.

Homar Parsons, for the slaying, near Betsy Layne, of whose wife Charley and Basil Compton, brothers, have been given pen terms, was indicted of shooting into a motor vehicle at the time of his wife's death. Charley Compton told the grand jury that Parsons fired a shotgun and bullets of two revolvers at the car he occupied.

Uel Joseph was charged with unlawful conversion of property after Former Circuit Judge Henry Stephens had stated he invested with Joseph a total of $1,185 upon representation by Joseph that the two would form a partnership and buy pin-ball machines. He added that the investment was without profit.

Other major indictments returned last week:

Malcolm Adams, damaging and destroying property; Leo Kelly, child desertion; Adrian Akers, unlawfully and feloniously converting property (accused by Gwynne Ford, Prestonsburg drycleaning plant owner, of taking $485 worth of clothing, of which $200 worth had not been recovered at the time of the indictment); Stewart Sherman, grand larceny; Anna Louise Stratton, child desertion; McKinley Turner and Billy Hinton, striking and wounding with intent to kill; Howard Castle, child desertion; Roger Morrison, seduction under promise of marriage; Ernie Isaac, selling liquor.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ASSAULT SCHOOL CONTRACT Editor, The Times:

Approximately two years ago I appeared before the Floyd County Superintendent and Board of Education in an attempt to have a four-room school building built in the community of David which would accommodate the one hundred fifty odd students enrolled in this district. When I told the Board of Education of our needs, which was already known by all concerned, I was told that $20,000 was all the money they could spend for a school building of this size. Bids were asked for and a contract was awarded B. B. Shepherd for the construction of this building which was to include four classrooms, principal's office, modern indoor toilets to accommodate all the students, and furnace heat. The cost of the building was $26,005. I know that we have one of the best conducted schools in the county and I believe one of the best buildings.

An article in last week's Floyd County Times states that a contract for construction of a school building at Lackey to contain six classrooms and a principal's office was awarded Town Hall and Mitchell Preston for the appalling sum of $97,796.65. It is my understanding this is the same Town Hall who was County Superintendent approximately two years ago and told me $20,000 was tops for the building here at David. I accepted this at face value and recommended to Princess Elkhorn Coal Company that they pay the excess of $6,008, which they did. I cannot understand how our representatives in the school system can justify such an expenditure on a building of this size when the needs throughout the rural sections of Floyd county are so great.

For the people of Lackey I have nothing but the greatest of admiration for their ability in influencing the County Board to award a contract of this proportion. The successful bidders are to be commended as good business men in securing the contract. For the County Superintendent and Board of Education I have neither admiration nor commendation. They are our representatives whose duty it is to provide the best school system for all our children that can be had from the funds derived from our taxes. They are the people we must hold accountable for their spending of our money, who it seems from the amount of this contract merely closed their eyes and uttered, "Me, too!"

Yours very truly,
RUSSELL HARMAN

Safety Additions Approved, Others Are Recommended

Numerous safety improvements are recommended in a reinspection report on the No. 1 mine of the Cooley Elkhorn Coal Company at Garrett, released by the Bureau of Mines. The report also cites a number of recently-adopted safeguards. The mine employed 48 men and produced 300 tons of coal a day when Leslie Johnson and John E. Jones examined it in March.

Timbering had been improved between inspections, the inspectors said, but they advised better timbering in one room, frequent roof-testing by face workers, and removal or adequate support of some loose and doubtful roadway roof.

To increase safety in the storage and use of permissible explosives, the inspectors proposed improvements to the surface magazines, firing all on-shift blasting shots or series immediately after charging, testing the roof and faces immediately before and after blasting, and other precautions.

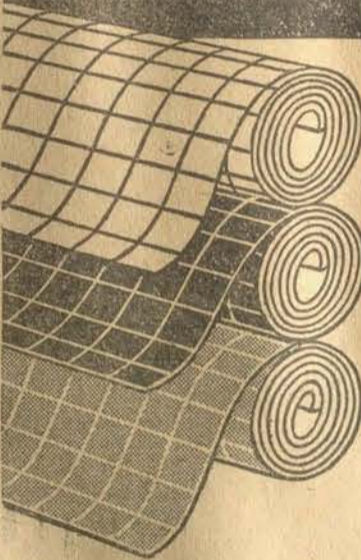

Ventilation had been improved since the last inspection, but the inspectors suggested offsetting the main ventilating fan from the drift opening, installing it in a fireproof housing and equipping it with a fireproof air duct and other safety devices, making pre-shift examinations, and providing air locks or attending single doors.

Observing that most of the mine had been rock-dusted, the inspectors advised rock-dusting all of it, using more in some areas, and allaying dust raised during cutting.

To help reinforce the safety measures established recently at the Pike Elkhorn Coal Company's 450-ton-a-day Tram mine, a reinspection report by the Bureau of Mines recommends more effective rock-

THE State Highway Department's decision to repair freeze-damaged roads on Right Beaver Creek in this county is heartening, but THE TIMES hastens to remind the Department that it failed to schedule for improvement the Left Beaver Creek route, one of the most travelled in this section and one of the section's worst after last winter's ravages.

Surely, this road will not be neglected many weeks longer. Right Beaver Creek highways, and many more elsewhere, need repairs but none worse than that which serves the Left Beaver section.

The Kettle and the Pot

OHIO has long expressed concern over the gambling situation in Newport, across the river from Cincinnati.

Many Ohioans profess to eye Kentuckians with dread as "wild hillbillies" with an appetite for blood and a yen for gunsmoke.

This newspaper has never sought to defend Newport or any other city or town in Kentucky in their open disregard of the law. Nor has it condoned the acts of violence which Kentuckians, as well as residents of other states, have committed.

But it does wonder why Ohio does not become concerned about Ohio. There's something rotten in that Buckeye. Take Lawrence county, Ohio, as a shining example of glossed-over crime, activities outside the law which must, surely, have been given some protection from forces within the law to survive so long and so prosperously.

There was the White Slave ring which flourished in Ironton until federal forces moved into the picture. Those panders, procurers, madames, etcetera, occupied no insignificant part in that city—how long, we have no way of knowing. And all moved along placidly, with nobody particularly disturbed about this unholy traffic until the FBI cracked down.

Then there was the recent eye-opening incident in which patrons of the Club Continental in Chesapeake, still in Lawrence county, O., were robbed of around $100,000. After that happened, officials became suddenly aware that somebody had been doing some big-time gambling thereabouts. Over a vast area of hundreds of square miles common folk, even those who do not patronize such places, knew you could change a quick dollar at the Continental. But the good state of Ohio had been concerned not at all with such matters until it was "unofficially" reported somebody had robbed the joint.

All of which, however, does not wipe out our own guilt. This is merely to point to the fact that both Kentucky and Ohio have problems of their own and that attending to their own business will keep both busy.

KENTUCKY ON THE MARCH

By EWING GALLOWAY

If the columns of newsprint about teen-age delinquency in the last five years were pasted together end on end they would reach 400 miles, from Ashland to the mouth of the Ohio river at Cairo, Illinois, and public speeches on the subject in that period probably exceeded 100,000. Yet I don't recall hearing the main cause of delinquency emphasized half a dozen times.

Poverty and idleness were muffled by reformers and would-be reformers searching for the main cause of crime among children.

Many small boys have turned thieves, housebreakers, burglars, because they didn't have 50 cents a week to spend for movies and soft drinks. In some cases parents were too ignorant to realize that in these luxurious times it is deeply humiliating for a child never to have spending money.

Do you, dear reader, remember wanting a quarter so badly it hurt? If you do, maybe you can imagine what goes on in the minds of thousands of Kentucky children whose parents give them no money and who up to now have not had a chance to earn money. And you can understand why some youngsters break the law to get things unavailable to them from honest sources.

Apparently the framers of the new Kentucky child labor law understood a good deal more about the causes of delinquency than most writers and public speakers the public has been listening to these past several years.

The new law, enacted by the recent Assembly and signed by Govern-

Lewis Asks Court To Throw Out Suit To Block Pension

John L. Lewis asked the Federal District Court Wednesday to throw out a coal-operator's suit for an injunction to block payment of $100-a-month pensions to retired soft-coal miners.

The United Mine Workers president charged that Ezra Van Horn, who filed the injunction petition, was only trying to "frustrate" and "delay" operation of the pension plan.

Van Horn is one of the three trustees charged with administering the $34,000,000 Miners' Welfare Fund, which the operators have built up for the union by paying royalties of 10 cents a ton on all soft-coal production.

dusting, as well as further timbering and haulage safeguards. The mine employed 43 men at the time of the March safety survey made by Inspector C. L. Sawyer.

Inspector Sawyer revealed that "most places" in the mine were inadequately rock-dusted, and he recommended that all dry areas be dusted in full conformance with accepted coal-dust-control standards. Use of water to allay coal dust during cutting operations and cleaning coal dust from roadways also was proposed.

To help reduce roof-fall and haulage hazards, the inspector advised prompt erection of safety posts in the face areas of the 2 right section, setting of permanent timbers closer to some working faces, more frequent roof testing by face workmen and more effective control of loose haulageway roof, clearing of obstructions from one haulageway, use of enclosed trip lights, discontinuance of certain risky haulage practices, and secure blocking of standing cars.

More than a dozen safety improvements had been completed since the preceding examination, Inspector Sawyer disclosed. These embraced construction of a suitable detonator magazine, offset installation, fireproof housing and pressure-relief doors for the main fan, pre-shift mine examinations, rock-dusting of the "greater part" of the mine, several electrical safeguards, surface-underground telephone service, and adequate fire protection underground.

told a group of county judges in Frankfort last week.

"Road building conditions in Kentucky now are not good," the Commissioner said. "Concerning our financial condition, a false impression has been formed that we have a large surplus. The surplus which was accumulated during the war years, was spent to this year."

Approximately 30 judges were assembled in the Commissioner's office in response to his request for a meeting at which county and state road problems might be discussed directly with county officials.

"If we are careless about building new roads now without keeping in mind maintenance of existing roads, the state will eventually have more roads than it is possible to maintain satisfactorily," Mr. Withers said. "We must be cautious and businesslike in the building of new roads and continue the policy of first roads first."

The Commissioner pointed out that none of the revenue from the increased gasoline tax will be spent before next year and there is a probability that the next federal appropriation of highway money may not be available before July 1, 1949.

"Congress now is considering a plan whereby future federal-aid grants will be withheld until next year so that the states may accumulate revenue with which they may match federal grants," he said.

The Commissioner said the revenue department's budget for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1949, placed total highway revenue at $38,368,420, of which $8,400,000 would accrue from the increased gasoline tax.

"This anticipated revenue must cover all phases of highway department expenditure including construction, maintenance and administration," he added. "The department this year budgeted $9,000,000 for regular maintenance. We anticipate that in addition it may take as much as $7,000,000 to repair damage caused by the unusually destructive freeze and thaw weather of the past winter. As yet we have not determined the total amount of that damage."

The county judges were told a workable formula must be completed, roads agreed upon and necessary surveys and plans prepared before the department will attempt to spend on county roads the revenue from the increased gasoline tax.

Regarding the expenditure of any county road money, the Commissioner stressed the importance of employment of a county engineer for each county. "At present at least 100 of our counties do not have county engineers. We hope to work out a plan whereby counties will have their own engineers or at least will be assured of the services of a competent engineer," he said.

"We are going to watch this money and you judges will be asked to help us work out a formula for spending it most profitably. We are concerned not only with getting Kentuckians out of the mud, but with keeping them out of the mud. Let our roads be investments for Kentucky rather than liabilities."

nor Clements, is by far the most important approach to the child delinquency evil in Kentucky that I know about.

This law permits employment of children in gainful occupations who have passed their 14th birthday, with ample safeguards, which forbid interference with schooling, heavy work, or labor in any unwholesome environment. These latter particulars are too numerous to put into this brief article. Parents of children of any age between 14 and 16, or employers desiring the services of teen-agers, should have their County Attorney interpret the law for them. County Attorneys are paid to do such things free of charge.

The all-important fact is that the new law is liberal, a big improvement over the old one, which latter was enacted under pressure of a reform wave in the old sweatshop era when industrial concerns converted the toil of children into dividends, a time when public indignation got the upper hand of common sense. The old law forbade the use of youngsters in many occupations that neither injured their health nor their morals—occupations that really were character-building.

The old law itself was poorly drawn, but fear of it by people who didn't understand it probably did more harm than the statute itself. Hence, the suggestion that, both parents and employers consult their county attorneys.

WOULD SHELVE FEDERAL CODE

Mines Safety Chief Claims Abolishment To Lower Fatalities

Washington, May 1—Daniel Harrington, retiring safety chief of the Bureau of Mines, recommended today that the federal safety code for coal mines be abolished. You can't shove safety down people's throats, he said.

Stepping down four days after his 70th birthday from the position he has held since 1926, Harrington told a reporter the code should be replaced by "tentative standards" like those in effect before the code was formulated.

If the code is retained, Harrington said, the Mines Bureau should not have the authority to enforce it or to make inspections under its provisions. He would have the bureau recommended and advise on safety practices.

Harrington, regarded by many industry leaders as having done more for mine safety than any other man, long has been opposed to the official bureau view that the safety code is a good thing and the bureau should be given power to enforce it. Until his retirement, however, he felt he could not speak out without offering to resign which—since he liked his work—he chose not to do.

In an interview that provided an opportunity for a parting broadcast at the code and its implications, Harrington also observed that:

- 1. As long as coal is mined in the quantity this nation demands there will be disasters such as that which killed 111 men at Centralia, Ill., over a year ago.
2. Nevertheless there has been a steady reduction in the rate of coal and metal-mine disasters, accidents, injuries, and deaths since 1910.
3. The Bureau of Mines has done more than any other single agency to prevent mine accidents.
4. The irreducible minimum of major accidents in coal mines has not yet been reached, but is near.
"The over-all fatality rate in coal mines declined from about six deaths per million tons of coal produced, in 1911, to 1.72 last year," said the former safety chief.
"It will continue to go down. If we didn't have a coal-mines safety code, I'm of the opinion it would go down faster.
"I want to make this plain. I think the Bureau of Mines, given enough funds to put competent men in the field, can do a better job of safety work by giving service along educational and recommendatory lines than it can ever do by shoving safety down people's throats.
"We should have tentative standards with the Bureau of Mines making recommendations as to practices on the basis of its 30-odd years of experience.
"The operators should take the recommendations they want and leave the ones they don't want. Ultimately most of the proposals would be adopted because of the force of public opinion—and because practices that are realistic today are practical tomorrow.
"Whenever we have a code, we have to stay in a rut, because this code is a compromise and very difficult to alter.
"The Bureau of Mines today recommended a number of safety improvements for several Kentucky coal mines.
They included the Luzerne-Graham Mining Corporation's Skibo mine near Luzerne, the Pike Elkhorn Coal Company's pit at Tram, the Glomaw No. 1 mine at Glomaw, and the Black Star Coal Corporation's No. 4 mine at Alva.
The bureau said the mines have placed some safety measures into effect recently, but that further inspection showed the need for additional safety measures.

When I retire from my business . . . and I shall retire early enough to get the most zest out of my retirement . . . I shall buy the biggest battle tank in the world, mount it with four heavy guns, and go on the road with it in Eastern Kentucky. Every time I see the ENEMY coming (he's the driver that acts as if the road was made for him only) I shall take a dive for him with all four guns opened up."

AN AMERICAN TRAGEDY

Last week, eight Marines were refused the privilege of carrying to his last resting place the body of a comrade who died of wounds received on Iwo Jima.

This happened in Jersey City, N. J., the Associated Press reports. The Marines were denied their solemn duty, their dead comrade and his family were denied honors only men who wore the uniform in which he fell could bestow—all because the eight were not union palbearers.

A rule of the United Funeral Chauffeurs and Helpers Union in Hudson county, N. J., prohibits amateur palbearers from handling a coffin. So the Marines, in their honored blue-and-scarlet, were obliged to stand by while six four-dollars-a-job union palbearers stood in for them.

Now, The Times has always been a friend of union labor, in the broad principle of fair wages and better living conditions for the men and women who produce with the work of their hands. It has always contended that labor has been, over the years, more sinned against than sinning. And, even now, it would not cite this one isolated example to condemn all unions.

But, for the love of God, what has become of the rightness of things in this country, that men wearing their country's uniform cannot bear to an honored grave a martyr to the cause that men remain free?

The only union this Marine who died was thinking of, over there on Iwo Jima, was the Union which is this United States of America. He paid no fee to enter the Marine Corps, he drew a serviceman's pay, marched long hours, fought overtime—gave his life.

Shall the miracle of birth be attended by a midwives' union barring non-union doctors, or the sanctity of marriage be forced to wait upon

Woman To Visit Parents Of War Dead She Tends

Frankfort, O., May 1—Mrs. Mary Kriger, of Holland, arrived here today on a tour through Ohio, Kentucky and Missouri to visit parents of G.I.'s whose graves she has been tending near her home village.

Three of these war dead came from this little community which plans a community reception for Mrs. Kriger Friday.

Later she will visit the M. F. Patrick family at Salyersville, Ky., and hopes to call upon the Rev. John Whit, Paris, Ky., whom she knew when he was a chaplain during the war. Mr. Whit now is pastor of the First Baptist Church of Paris.

Lee Countians Battle Six Hours; Only One Casualty Reported

Beattyville, Ky., May 3—Police sought today to clarify stories about a shifting, six-hour gun fight in Beattyville that resulted in the wounding of one man and the arrest of three.

The wounded man was identified as Charley Thomas, Lee county. He was treated at a Richmond hospital for gunshot wounds in the head and shoulder.

Thomas was one of those arrested on charges of shooting with intent to kill. Sheriff Shelby Kincaid said. He identified the others as Millard and Clayton Stamper. The three posted $1000 appearance bonds for a later hearing.

The sheriff said the men were charged with shooting into an automobile in which Claude Shanks, Martin Little, and an unidentified man were riding. No charges were filed against these three, he said.

State Patrolman Carl T. Newland, Richmond, who came here to assist in the arrests, said:

"It was something that had been brewing for some time. I understand it resulted from a grudge of long standing and they had been threatening each other." He said automobiles of the participants "were shot up pretty bad."

Officers said the battle broke out about 10 a. m., yesterday in the edge of the downtown district and shifted through the town until 4 a. m. today.

Twenty Teams Form Blue Grass League

Larger than ever and apparently stronger, the Blue Grass Baseball league embracing 20 teams from Eastern and Central Kentucky opened its 1948 season Sunday. Attendance at some of the games approached 2,000 spectators.

Nearby towns of West Liberty and Jackson are represented by teams in the baseball loop.

League entries are:
Western division—Lawrenceburg, Eminence, Harrodsburg, Stanford, Versailles, Somerset, Campbellsville, Nicholasville, King's Mountain, Lancaster.

Eastern division—Winchester, Salt Lick, West Liberty, Owingsville, Beattyville, Berea, Renfro Valley, Mt. Sterling, Jackson, Irvine.

The Boston Red Sox, picked by many sports experts to win the pennant this year, led the American League in one department last year. They won 28 games by one run and lost 20 tilts by the same margin.

They faded in the home stretch of the flag race last year after finishing strong to take the title in 1946.

W'Wright, Pikeville To Meet in Opener Of Ky.-W.Va. Loop

Wheelwright, Floyd county's representative in the Kentucky-West Virginia baseball league, opens its new loop season Sunday at Pikeville.

The other Kentucky team in the league is Stone. West Virginia is represented by Williamson, Logan and Omar.

Lights are being installed at the Wheelwright ballpark and night games soon will be played there. All teams in the league, except Pikeville, will be lighted. Pikeville will play all Sunday games at home and midweek games away, it was said.

Jimmy Vance, Prestonsburg, will catch for Pikeville in its midweek games and for Elkhorn City of the Big Sandy league on Sundays.

State Champion Jack Moyle will try to make it three titles in a row when the third annual Kentucky State Chess Tournament gets under way Saturday at Veiture Hall in Louisville.

FLOYD PLAYER RECEIVES SHOTS OF INDIANS' BOB FELLER

Shown above with Bob Feller, Cleveland Indians' pitching great, is Joe Weddington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weddington, of Emma, while the two were edging westward with the Indians from their California spring training camp.

Weddington, now 23, rejoined Cleveland last week after having been called home by the illness of his mother. He expects to play this season in the Texas League with a Cleveland farm club.

The Floyd countian, a catcher, has caught Feller and other members of the Cleveland staff. Says he: "The nearest approach to Feller in speed that I have ever caught is big Ray Patton." Patton, a resident of Estill, formerly was a member of the Louisville Coloreds' mound staff.

In a game at Hollywood, Calif., March 16, Weddington caught Feller while the latter was striking out five Pittsburg batters in a row. In spring games the Emma boy had a batting average of .267.

Sixty Floyd Boys Expected To Enjoy Dale Hollow Camp

Junior Conservation Club members of the Seventh district, including approximately 60 from Floyd county, will enjoy the week of June 20-26 in a summer camp at Dale Hollow Lake, it was announced this week by Winston Burke, district Junior Conservation Club supervisor.

During the summer approximately 2,000 boys will enjoy such outings at Dale Hollow and Kentucky Lake under the guidance of supervisors, conservation officers and counselors.

Each camp will have four landing barges from which Junior Sportsmen will fish and on which they will take nature study trips. At Dale Hollow camp will be pitched on a 35-acre island.

The only cost to the Junior Sportsmen is $7. Each boy must also supply a mattress cover which can be filled with straw, or a sleeping bag, also fishing tackle, mess kit or pan, eating utensils, toilet articles, towel, bathing suit, camp clothing and, if available, an empty 22-calibre rifle.

The Division of Game and Fish will supply life preservers, cots, tents, cooks, landing barges, motors, ammunition and other recreational equipment. The program for the week will include outdoor motor instruction, safety on the rifle range, archery range safety, fundamentals in camping, nature trips, swimming, stream and bass fishing, fish and game laws, mosquito shooting, bait-casting instruction, campfire discussion.

Couldn't Give Almanac Away-- He Throws It at All of Us

(Editor's Note: The following was written by Charles Spradlin as a review of a fishing Almanac after he had tried in vain to give the almanac away.)

Going fishing in Mother Nature's wonderland is getting more like filling a blind date on ye olde alma mater's campus!

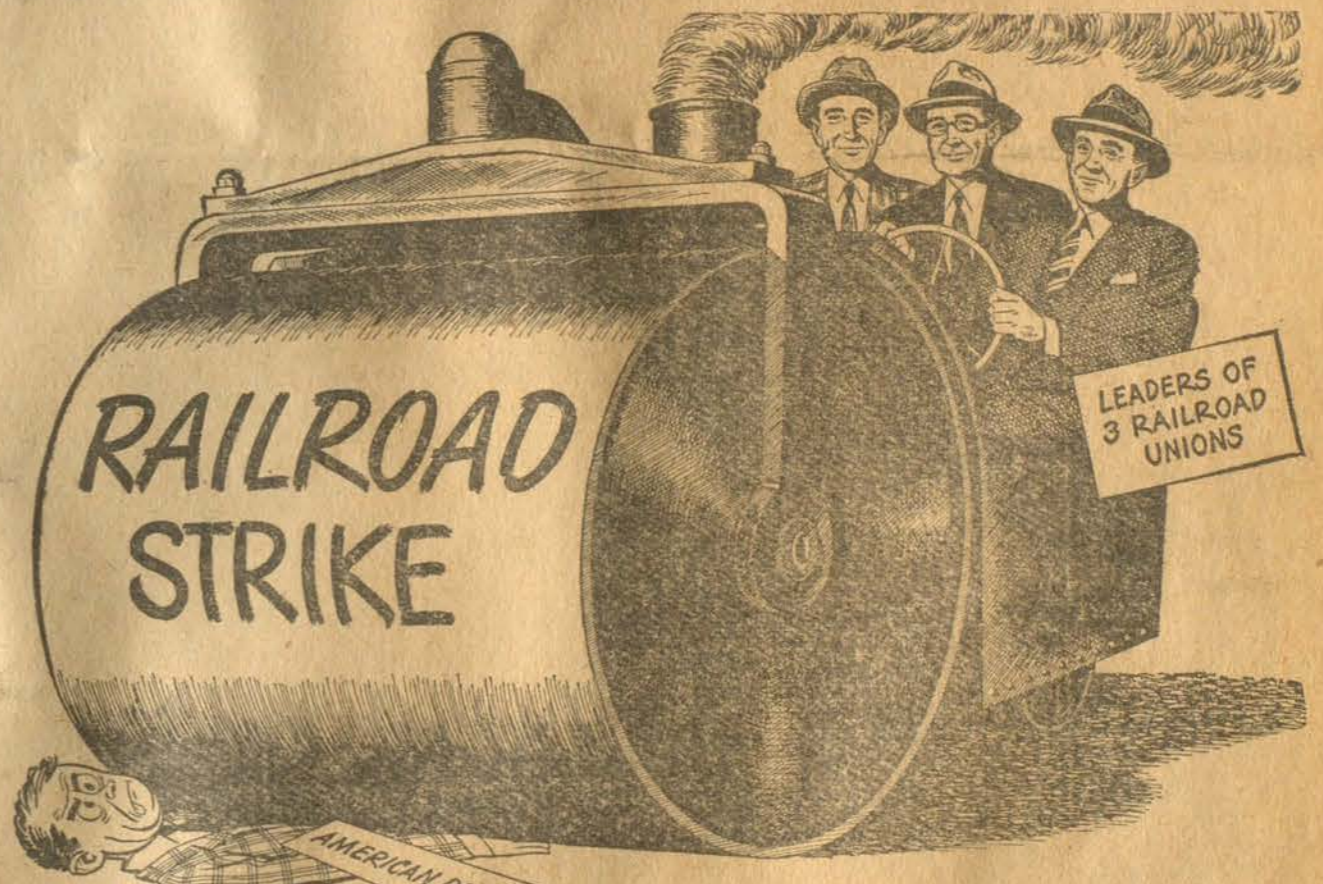

The modern would-be Isaac Walton arms himself for the foray with the data of fishing almanacs, fishing calendars, even some fishing calculators and what not. He marches forth with assurance to a stream scientifically selected, bolstering himself with a certain never-failing theory of his favorite professor of fishology, the sage advice of experienced anglers and an accurate time table of the fish's everyday life, where he will be apt to be, what he's going to be doing at a certain hour and even to his choice of food and drink and his favorite color.

The mot remote corners of his every aquatic hideaway have been thoroughly explored and each little detail of his private life is an open book (and you can buy it and a dozen like it on the open market.) Read up on the subject and you learn that a certain fish will be at a certain spot at a certain time and—oh, brother, you can't miss! (It says so, right here in the book!)

I've just bought one of these books and for just thirty cents it runs second only to a full four-year nature study course at the state university. Blondes, brunettes and red-heads to one side now, this info deals strictly with the squirmy big-heads! Amidst the barometer readings, weather forecasts and a world of knowledge reaching into the annals of scientific perplexity you learn that Mr. Fish will be there waiting for either you or somebody else without the procedure of formal introduction.

In preparing for this fishing date, the good book says, "select a time when the Sun and Moon forces are low and the Graph Peak (more about this graph business later) is high during the time you want to fish. Any angler should know that many species of fish have a certain time when they prefer to feed . . . for instance, the catfish is a natural night feeder, the bass prefer morning and evening while the northern pike and musky go for plenty of sunshine with their meals." This text reminds you that others may not give a hoot about the time but are very particular about other things that may be going on . . . they are not the suckers, mind you!

To know in advance whether you should or should not go fishing and, if so, when, you devise your own fishing secrets by getting acquainted with the Forces of Nature (16 natural forces, says the book, but it doesn't identify them.) These forces are listed in two categories: one called Retarding Forces which are detrimental to good fishing and can be evaded by calculating the sun, moon, wind, sky, water and the Look who gets squeezed!

Union leaders representing less than one-tenth of railroad employees reject recommendations of President's Emergency board—refuse to negotiate except on their own terms—threaten to paralyze nation by strike!

THE LEADERS of three railroad unions, representing less than one-tenth of all railroad employees, have called a railroad strike that would paralyze the nation.

These leaders refuse to accept a 15 1/2 cents an hour wage increase retroactive to November 1, 1947. This increase was recommended by an impartial Emergency Board appointed by President Truman.

This increase of 15 1/2 cents already has been accepted by the 19 other railroad unions. But the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Switchmen's Union of North America won't accept what more than 90% of all railroad employees have accepted. They have called a strike to get more!

Unions refuse rules discussion
Certain rules changes demanded by these union leaders—which would increase wages still further—were recommended by the Board. But the union leaders want more—they demand that the railroads put into effect ALL the changes they asked for, including those the Board felt should be denied.

On top of this, they insist that certain rules changes proposed by the railroads be withdrawn—in spite of the fact that the Board recommended them! These union leaders have refused to negotiate except upon these arbitrary terms.

Greater wage increase not justified
Engineers and firemen are among the highest paid of all employees in America, as figures in the box show. This strike threat doesn't justify giving a greater increase than other railroad workers received.

Emergency Boards are a means provided by the Railway Labor Act in the public interest to avoid strikes. The President's Board, after hearing evidence for 33 days, made recommendations based on all the facts in the case. The railroads have accepted these recommendations.

Who's to blame?
Although they deplored so large an extra cost burden, the railroads accepted the report of the Board because they felt it was in the public interest to uphold the spirit and intent of the Railway Labor Act.

In contrast, this small group of railroad union leaders are attempting to flout the intent and spirit of the Railway Labor Act, and dictate their own terms.

They have dictated a paralyzing railroad strike.

You will be the victim!

How long will the American public stand for the undemocratic, arbitrary, and abusive use of the right to strike and the disregard of the obligation to provide transportation? How long can the American people permit a few dictatorial union leaders to defy the processes provided for peaceful settlement of disputes?

Force seldom produces settlements that are either fair or lasting. Moreover, a point is often reached when personal interests must be held subordinate to the greater public welfare. That is why the railroads have accepted the Emergency Board recommendations. That is also why the leaders of these three unions should reconsider their decision to call a paralyzing strike.

Compare these wages with what you make!

Here is a comparison of average annual earnings of engineers and firemen for 1939 (pre-war) and 1947. Also shown is what 1947 earnings would have been if the 15 1/2 cents per hour increase, offered by the railroads and rejected by the union leaders, had been in effect throughout the entire year 1947.

'JEEP' 2 AND 4 WHEEL DRIVE TRUCKS

Cut Hauling Costs

Powered by the War-Proved Willys-Overland 'Jeep' Engine

TWO GREAT LINES—2-wheel-drive "Jeep" Trucks (4700-5300 lbs. GVW) are built for long service and low operating costs for medium-duty hauling. 4-wheel-drive "Jeep" Trucks (5300 lbs. GVW) meet a real need for a low-weight vehicle with all-wheel traction to get through mud, climb steep grades and operate off the road.

DESIGNED TO CUT COSTS—Every feature of these postwar trucks is designed to lower operating and maintenance costs. They are powered by the war-proved Willys-Overland "Jeep" Engine, world-famous for gas and oil economy, easy repair and long service. They are ruggedly built of quality materials to stand up. No body frills that add non-essential weight and decrease payload. FUNCTIONAL BODIES—"Jeep" Truck body designs not only cut weight but also make maintenance and servicing easier. Note the hard-to-damage fenders, which make it simpler to change tires or put on chains. Wide hood opens from fender to fender, with engine and battery easy to reach. Lights are in protected position.

Come in and see the other features of 2- and 4-wheel-drive "Jeep" Trucks, including the roomy cab, large windshield and windows, short turning radius and popular body styles—pick-up, canopy, van and platform-stake.

Looked at and looked up to

This is the one, of course, that you spot at a glance.

This is the one that sends a string of facts racing through your mind — if you know automobiles — the instant you see the name ROADMASTER spelled out on its fender.

Up to one hundred and fifty Fireball horsepower. Eighteen feet big — and spring-colt lively.

Gorgeously finished. Coil-spring cradled on all four wheels. Shod with oversize tires that take extra low pressures for added comfort.

Convenient too — with push-button controls not only for the top, but for door windows and the front-seat adjustment as well.

This, too, is the only passenger car in this country where the power plant does what gears used to do.

Here's the one place you'll find Dynaflo Drive,* in which liquid replaces not only the clutch and manually operated low, second and high, but mechanical gear-changers as well.

In short — here's liquid ease and smoothness in delightful new degree, through a sort of "magic muscle" that lets you forget about gear-changing practically entirely.

No wonder, then, this car is looked up to.

Looked up to for impressive appearance — looked up to for superlative ability.

Looked up to for what's newest in engineering advances.

If your standards call for a real performer — and for quality a cut above the ordinarily good — specify ROADMASTER when you see your dealer (with or without a car to trade) about getting an order in.

BUICK alone has all these features

- * DYNAFLOW DRIVE (Optional, Roadmaster Series)
- * TAPER-THRU STYLING (Super and Roadmaster)
- * VIBRA-SHIELDED RIDE * SAFETY-RIDE RIMS
- * HI-POISED FIREBALL POWER
- * ROAD-RITE BALANCE * RIGID TORQUE-TUBE
- * QUADRIFLEX COIL SPRINGING
- * SOUND-SORBER TOP LINING (Super and Roadmaster)
- * DUOMATIC SPARK ADVANCE * FLEX-FIT OIL RINGS
- * TEN SMART MODELS * BODY BY FISHER

WHAT'S DIFFERENT ABOUT DYNAFLOW DRIVE?

To an efficient new pump (left above), Buick engineers have added a true turbine (right) and an ingenious new super-charging assembly (in hand) which produce a torque-booster result in starting and accelerating. The result is the first device on any American passenger car which employs liquid to fill the function of both the clutch and the usual low, second and high gears. The clutch pedal is eliminated and a simple control gives you direction. *Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster models only.
