

This Town-- That World

THE DIF

The difference between that baby in Buckingham palace and the youngster at Joe Doaks' house is this: The royal baby may, as a royal descendant, become King of England; the Doaks baby, by ascendancy, could become President of the United States.

PRIZEWINNERS

This column failed to report the election night gift of the Lions Club to Sheriff Troy B. Sturgill and County Judge Alex L. Davidson. Ducks were the "prizes" won by failure to attend meetings. This week's winner: Johnny Burke. And he gets to keep the duck three whole weeks.

LIGHT NEEDED ON THIS SUBJECT

A badly needed piece of equipment in the Prestonsburg schools is one of those lamps which show up ring-worm. The infection is widespread this year, as last. And your best friend won't tell you you've got it, because he won't know till he's scrubbed heads with you till he has it himself.

FOR THE LIVING

This column sincerely trusts nobody wants to know, after reading this, what Town-World has against the florists, for we have nothing against them. Florists, it occurs to us, are engaged in what should be a pleasant business, and a profitable one. Nor would be so crass as to demean the beauty, in color and sentiment, of flowers. Buy more of them, send more of them to your loved ones, say we.

But we cannot deny you an idea expressed, not long ago, by a prominent man.

This man suggested to his relatives and friends that when his days on this troublesome planet are ended they send not flowers but books. And that these books then be donated by his widow or other survivor to schools and libraries.

Thus this man, thinking more of others than self, thought of a memorial that not only lives but which will never die as the printed word leaves his pier, not to wither, but to flourish in the minds of boys and girls, men and women, and from them to others, with the outer limitations of the widening circle all most lost in infinity.

Yes, for me the beauty of poetry rather than roses, the deathless prose of good books instead of flowers that fade--then all these lasting things preserved for the delectation of others and the enriching of other lives.

A REAL CHRISTMAS GIFT

The Christmas season is a time for giving. Weeks before the Day, folks begin compiling Christmas shopping lists, hoping to find something which will make the recipient happy.

This Christmas-time and at every Christmas, there is a gift which, though not personal, means more to many thousands than any other. Those in need are sick men and women, sick children, all with suffering with them constantly, all with the spectre of death no distant thing but imminently threatening.

The gift is the Christmas Seals every one of us should buy. For the money we spend in their purchase goes, all through the year, to the fight against tuberculosis, one of mankind's greatest scourges.

The Floyd County Tuberculosis Association is now starting its Christmas Seal drive. When you receive your Seals, please do not delay--buy and pay for them. If you do not receive Seals, ask for them.

FOR FLOYD COUNTY'S POOR

Any of us who have old, discarded clothing should contact the Rev. H. C. Church, Prestonsburg. The Free-will Baptist movement in Floyd county is collecting clothing for the poor children of Floyd county, and he will call for your contributions.

P'BURG LEVY UNCHANGED

Sparlock To Collect Taxes; Council Asks Power Service Here

The tax levy for Prestonsburg, made by the City Council at its Monday night meeting, stands unchanged--75 cents per $100 valuation on all real estate and personal property and $1.50 poll tax.

For the present tax collection job the Council named Clyde Sparlock, who will have his office at the police station. C. E. Friend was named to prepare the tax books.

A resolution adopted by the Council called on the Kentucky & West Virginia Power Company to locate in Prestonsburg a service man as it has done in Paintsville and Pikeville, and also to replace transformers in the lower section of Prestonsburg which are regarded as too light for the load they are carrying.

Three ordinances were enacted--one fixing the tax levy, a second providing that taxicab owners' names be displayed on cabs and another prohibiting the transfer of any city license.

GAME REFUGE UP FOR SALE

Strip Mining Renders Pike Preserve Unfit, Division Head Says

Earl Wallace, director of the State Game and Fish Division, said Wednesday strip mining operations are forcing the state to sell the 2,000-acre Flatwoods game refuge in Pike county.

He has asked the State Purchasing Department to advertise for sealed bids on the area. It has been a refuge for grouse, raccoon and quail.

Wallace said the state owns only the surface rights to the land. Mineral rights are owned by the Big Sandy Land Company, and the Heller Coal & Coke Company, Pikeville, and the Consolidation Coal Company, Jenkins.

The tract was purchased in 1935 for $10,500 from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. "In the past few years, its value as a refuge has been sharply reduced by the stripping operations and further coal-mining operations will make it practically useless," Wallace said.

He indicated, however, the state would get more than the original purchase price for the tract.

Sale of the surface rights was authorized by the Kentucky Game & Fish Commission on October 31.

The Flatwoods refuge has another drawback in that it is almost inaccessible by road, he said. The game on the land will eventually be dispersed as coal operations break up their cover. The money obtained from sale of the refuge will be used to establish another one in a more accessible location, Wallace said.

HALF-MILLION G.P.'S TO LOSE

VA May Withhold Part Of Dividend Checks On Overpaid Vets

Some 500,000 ex-G.I.'s may be out of luck when the Veterans Administration pays service insurance dividends.

It was disclosed that the VA may withhold all or part of the checks of two groups of World War II veterans. They are veterans who have received overpayments for education training subsistence, and those who have defaulted on G.I. loans.

Assistant Veterans Administrator Frank W. Kelsey said there are now about 600,000 veterans who have been overpaid for subsistence, and have not made refunds.

Although the number is being reduced gradually, he said, it will be more than 500,000 a year from now. That is the latest guess on when the National Service Life Insurance dividend checks will go into the mail to some 16,000,000 G.I. policy holders.

There is approximately $7,000,000 in the fund. After it is estimated how much of a reserve is necessary, the surplus will be paid to policy holders as dividends.

The surplus has been estimated at between $1,500,000,000 and $2,000,000,000. The exact figure is to be announced soon. This surplus resulted from overcharges on premiums, because of faulty actuarial tables.

Kelsey, head of the VA finance, said subsistence overpayments amount to about $52,000,000. They were made, he said, when veterans stopped training courses and the institutions failed to notify the Veterans Administration.

Kelsey said the $52,000,000 is not a loss. It is being repaid by veterans and a huge sum will be recovered when the insurance-dividend melon-cutting season arrives.

Under the law, VA is allowed to withhold pensions and other payments to veterans except in cases of death or hardship.

THURSDAY

VALLEY ASS'N LEADERS TALK CANALIZATION

Effect of Election On Locks and Dams Is Discussed Here

Directors of the Big Sandy Valley Association, moving force behind the fight for canalization of the Big Sandy river, met here Saturday afternoon at the Brown hotel in a routine business session which developed a discussion of the valley's industrial plight and hope of improvement through a waterway.

Dr. O. W. Thompson, Association president, spoke briefly, reviewing work already done and what remains to be done. Ex-Congressman A. J. May discussed the recent election results and their possible effect on the river improvement. He also told how the new Congress will be organized and discussed leaders who will head committees vital to the Association's aims.

Congressman-elect Carl D. Perkins, of Hindman, was prevented from attending the meeting, as scheduled, by a court session.

Added to the board of directors were W. B. Ward and W. R. Richmond, of Martin county, and James W. Wine, of Pikeville.

An all-out fight for the Big Sandy project looms at the coming session of Congress, it was said.

TO LAUNCH SEAL DRIVE

Good Response To Insure Fulltime Nurse in Floyd For Tuberculosis Fight

Floyd county's Christmas Seal drive to raise funds for the fight against tuberculosis begins the day after Thanksgiving, it was announced this week by Mrs. Edw. P. Hill, Seal Sale chairman.

The Floyd County Tuberculosis Association is hopeful that this year's returns from the drive will exceed even those of last year when Floyd county's purchases of Seals drew high commendation from the state tuberculosis association officials. A more generous response, it was pointed out, will insure employment of a nurse for fulltime tuberculosis work. Last year, Seal purchases totaled slightly in excess of $2,000.

Seals will be mailed out to residents of the county this year, as last. Association officials urged the people of the county to buy freely and asked any person who desires seals and who may be missed on the mailing list to write either Mrs. Hill or the association here.

'King Coal' Minstrel Cast Begins Rehearsals

"King Coal," the Kiwanis Club minstrel which will be presented at the grade school auditorium Dec. 3, was in rehearsal this week, with Franklin W. Moore in charge.

A cast of 15 local players will take part in the production which is planned as a playground benefit. Performances will be given, both matinee and night. Music at both performances will be supplied by the high school orchestra.

FLOYD DENIES PIKE'S CLAIM

To Much-Wanted Man Held Here and Sought For Pike-co. Jailbreak

Floyd county authorities Tuesday refused Pike officers custody of Curtis Carroll, of the Mud Creek section, who is wanted in Pike for jailbreaking and horsestealing.

Floyd county has the more recent claim on him, and, said one official, "besides, we think we can get quicker and better results in our courts than they can in theirs."

Carroll was arrested Sunday by Deputy Sheriffs Mitchell, Case and Akers on a grand larceny charge. Authorities said he is accused of a series of lootings.

Although officials here are convinced that the auto he was driving is "hot," they also believe Trambie Tackett is innocent of the transaction and that Arlie Hays, who sold the car to him, acquired it as an innocent purchaser. Investigator followed Tackett's arrest on a drunk charge. The car, a Ford, bears a 1949 license plate issued for a Plymouth, officers said.

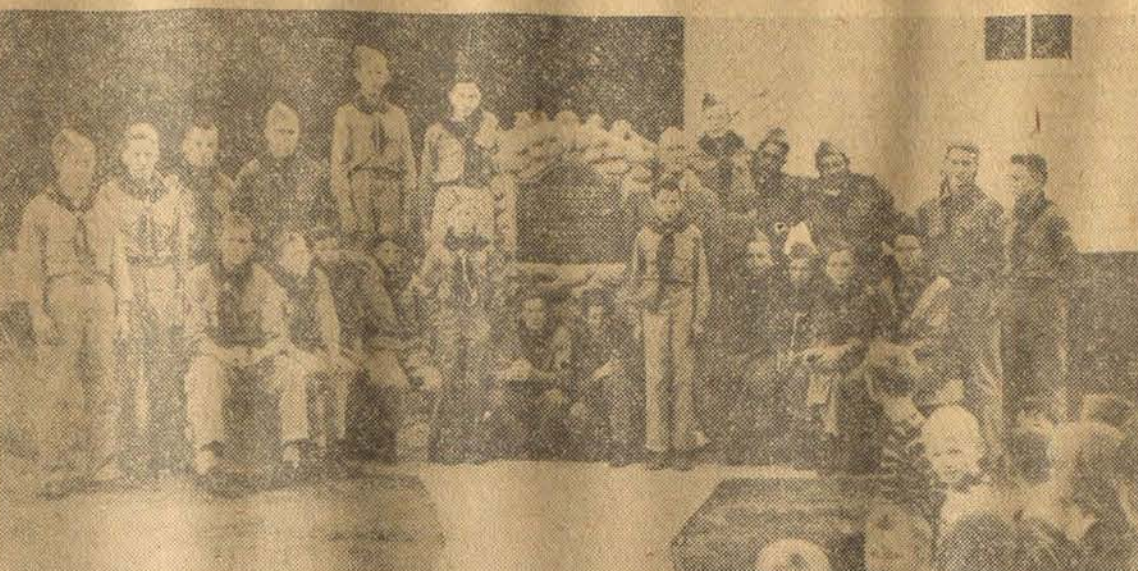

Buster Mullins and Johnnie Belcher were jailed over the week-end and booked, respectively, for possession of whiskey and beer.

Kiwanians Here Talk Sesqui-Centennial Celebration Plans

Discussion of plans for observance next year of Floyd county's sesqui-centennial was continued at last Thursday's meeting of the Kiwanis Club here which hopes, with the cooperation of other organizations from all parts of the county, to conduct a homecoming of two or three days' duration commemorating the county's founding.

Although the sesqui-centennial is now only in the "talking" stage, plans thus far developed envision every community in the county taking part, with each contributing its own bit of history, its own products and the like.

FALL FESTIVAL SPONSORED BY P.-T.A. NEXT TUESDAY EVENING TO HIGHLIGHT SCHOOLS' PRE-CHRISTMAS FESTIVITIES

Prestonsburg schools, which passed up the Halloween carnival this year, have planned their big event for next Tuesday from 5:30 till 9 with a fall festival sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association.

The festival, as planned earlier in the year, will shun all hint of chance-selling and rely on other means to raise the funds it seeks for benefit of the school lunchroom.

The evening will start with a chili supper in the cafeteria. Immediately thereafter in the school auditorium three local talent shows of approximately 15 minutes duration each will be staged. One of these will be a style show featuring school-girls, then a home talent version of the Grand Ole Opry and, lastly, a minstrel.

Club Hears Story of Work Of State in Fish and Game

The Prestonsburg Lions Club Tuesday night heard from E. R. Burke, Prestonsburg, Seventh district supervisor, Division of Game and Fish, the story of Kentucky's advancement in the work of propagating and conserving wildlife.

Five years ago, said Mr. Burke, Kentucky ranked last in the nation in this work. This year, four years after the Division of Game and Fish was placed under civil service regulations, Kentucky ranks 10th.

And, he said, Floyd county is a leader among the 120 counties of the state. This county is No. 1 in the Junior Conservation movement, with 10 clubs. Over Kentucky 20,000 boys are members, and the Seventh district has more Junior clubs than any other in the Commonwealth.

Mr. Burke gave comparative figures which follow, the first applying to the fiscal year ending July 31, 1942, the second to 1948:

Hunting and fishing licenses, 196,000; 715,000; arrests of game and fish law violators, 918, 2251; convictions, 491, 2,014; Pittman-Robinson projects for propagation of deer, bear and other large game, 1, 9; game refuges, 3, 162 (four of which are in Floyd county); quail production, none, 57,000; bass production, almost nil in 1943, 9,121,186 in 1948; farm ponds, none in 1943, 2,200 in 1948.

Referring to the high percentage of convictions on game and fish violation arrests, the speaker commented, "That speaks mighty well for our courts. In the Seventh district we have the best cooperation in the state from the courts."

"On your next hunting or fishing trip," the speaker suggested, "take your boy with you. Or, if you do not have a son, take some other boy. He will be better for the experience and you will have a better time."

Mr. Shuts, of the New Lexington, O., Lions Club, spoke briefly as a visitor.

Tuesday night's was the second prepared program for the club. The first, two weeks ago, was led by Walter Scott Harkins, who described court martial procedure in the army.

STORE OWNER TO REBUILD

Dermont Places Loss In Fire at $150,000; Opens in New Location

S. D. Dermont, owner of Dermont's Grocery, which was destroyed by fire at Martin last Friday morning at an estimated loss of $150,000, started reconstruction work this week.

Steel from the original structure was sold as junk, the debris is being cleared away and on the original 40 by 80-foot foundation a two-story brick building, similar to the original structure, will be erected.

Mr. Dermont said this week his insurance coverage was "only a very small percentage" of his loss. His stock of groceries, meats and feeds, one of the largest in this section, was a total loss. Eight months ago, he had installed new fixtures at a cost of $18,000, eliminated his drygoods department and converted his store to the self-service system. All accounts also were lost.

Mr. and Mrs. Dermont escaped from the early morning blaze with only scanty wearing apparel, as did Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gilson who occupied an upstairs apartment.

Mr. Dermont is opening a grocery store today (Thursday) in the Dr. G. C. Collins building, adjoining the scene of the fire. He expects to complete his new store within the next year.

The Collins building itself was saved.

Highway Department Expected To Award Contract Dec. 3rd

The Department of Highways will open contractors' bids Dec. 3 on five federal-aid construction projects and two state-financed jobs, one of which is the concrete superstructure for a bridge on the Melvin-Weeksbury road.

Among the federal-aid projects to be let to contract is the Williamson-Pikeville road, beginning at bridge over Tug fork at Williamson and extending toward Pikeville, 0.43 mile, grade, drain and high type surface.

MINING FIRM TO ENTERTAIN

With Fish Fry Friday As Wilson Cr. Portal Readied for Opening

The Stephens Elkhorn Fuel Corporation of Manton will entertain visitors to a fish fry at its newest mine portal on Wilson Creek Friday afternoon, it was announced this week by A. H. Mandt, general manager. Approximately 150 guests are expected during the afternoon.

The new portal will begin operation Monday. Its opening marks the completion of an extensive building and mine development project on Wilson Creek where the coal company purchased 175 acres of land from Magistrate John May.

A new shop, bath house and supply house, all-metal buildings, have been erected on the tract. The coal produced from the new portal will be hauled through the mountain for loading over the company's Stephens Branch tippie.

Mr. Mandt said approximately 95 per cent of the coal now being produced by Stephens Elkhorn is from its Wilson Creek acreage.

OPENS OFFICE TO AID VETS

VFW Post Offers Help Through Office Here Three Days Weekly

The office will be open three days a week, Thursday through Saturday, from 9 a.m. till 4 p.m.

It was stressed that VFW membership is not necessary for a veteran to receive help or advice through the office. Announcing opening of the office, an official of the Post said, "The parents of disabled veterans also are invited to avail themselves of this assistance if necessary. We will gladly aid draftees in completing their questionnaires and veterans, of course, will be given help in filling out any forms on which they need assistance."

Saturday To Start the Shootin' In Kentucky's Woods and Fields

Kentucky's nimrods will fire their first volleys Saturday, when the 1948-49 season on quail and rabbits opens. Hunting of these two species will be legal until January 10, which brings to a close a 51-day period of hunting in Kentucky.

All hunters are required to possess a hunting license, the Division of Game and Fish points out, and pump and automatic repeating shotguns must be plugged so that the barrel and magazine combined will hold not more than three shells, with the plugs of such type which can not be removed without disassembling the gun. Statewide licenses, which are valid in any county in Kentucky, may be obtained for $3, while a $1 county license permits the hunter to take game only in the county so designated on the license.

Bag limit for quail this season is 10 per day per hunter, the Division points out, while the possession limit is 20 after the first day, provided the hunter has hunted two or more days. Limit on rabbits is eight per day, with 16 being permissible after the first day, provided the possessor has hunted two or more days. The Division warns hunters...

ROAD CHANGE PACT READY FOR SIGNING

Government To Pay County $225,000 In Installments

Ready for approval of the Floyd fiscal court is the contract with the federal government providing for relocation and reconstruction by the county of sectors of road in the Johns Creek reservoir area for $225,000.

The parts of road to be relocated and rebuilt cover a distance of approximately nine miles in all and are below the minimum 655 feet elevation necessary to place them above waters of the lake to be formed by the Dewey dam. The work, the contract specifies, is to be completed within a year from date of signing of the contract.

All monies paid by the federal government to the county for this purpose are to be placed in a special fund for use on this project only. A minimum roadway of 15 feet, including ditches, will be provided, with at least a light gravel or stone surface.

The federal government will pay the $225,000 total in three installments--$100,000 soon after the contract is officially closed; $100,000 after discontinuance of affected roads is made and $25,000 after the work is completed.

The government agrees to convey all rights-of-way and to supply all material, labor and equipment for construction of the 22-mile by-pass road around the construction area at the Brandy Keg dike.

Road projects to be undertaken by the county are: Goble Branch access road, 1.23 miles of new highway to connect Hager Gap road with the existing Goble Branch road.

The Stratton Branch access road, approximately 1.55 miles of new road to connect the Brandy Keg and Stratton Branch roads.

The Souders Creek access road, 1.65 miles of new road to connect the county highway along Cern Fork of Brandy Keg with the Souders Creek road, the new route to be constructed across the ridge.

Copperas Creek access road, .77 mile from a point on the Johns Creek road south of Copperas Creek to connect with the existing Copperas Creek route.

Johns Creek road, 2.65 miles, relocation and/or construction of the existing road between German and Thomas to raise all sections to the minimum 655-foot elevation.

The same work for 27 mile of the Buffalo Creek road.

Deputy, State Police Find Whiskey; Alleged Owner Among Selectees

Deputy Sheriff Hillard Mitchell and state patrolmen found 8 1/2 pints of whiskey Wednesday in Clark's restaurant and poolroom at Wheelwright Junction but did not make an arrest when the only person in charge of the poolroom where the liquor allegedly was located was a 14-year-old boy.

The poolroom, officers were told, was leased to one "Bo" Johnson but Johnson was in Ashland at the time for an army examination.

Today, officers prepared to return to Wheelwright Junction to serve a warrant on Johnson.

A warrant was also issued today for the capture on a liquor possession charge of Buster Mullins who was arrested at his place of business on Abner Fork, along with several others, Saturday night by Deputy Sheriffs Hillard Mitchell, Ike Case, Grant Akers and Matt Johnson as drunk. Mullins was also booked at the jail for liquor possession. Deputy Sheriff Mitchell said there were 28 half-pints of whiskey in the building and that Mullins had a can of beer in his hand when he entered the place.

FHA Director Cites Changes In National Housing Act

Roscoe R. Dalton, state director of the Federal Housing Administration, Louisville, this week announced important amendments to the National Housing Act with respect to insured mortgage financings in connection with the construction of residential units.

A new provision has been added for a maximum mortgage of $6,000 for a term not to exceed 30 years where the property is approved for mortgage insurance prior to beginning of construction. The dwelling on the property must be a single-family residence and the percentage of loan to valuation for an owner-occupant may be as much as 95 per cent of the appraised value, but not to exceed $6,000. A brief outline of the changes follows:

1. On valuations up to and not exceeding $7,000 where the property is approved for mortgage insurance prior to beginning of construction, the term of the loan can be for as much as 25 years and the amount of the loan not to exceed 90 per cent of the appraised value. The mortgagor must be the owner-occupant and the interest rate not to exceed 4 1/2 per cent.
2. On valuations exceeding $7,000 but not exceeding $11,000 where the property is approved for mortgage insurance prior to beginning of construction, the term of the loan can now be as long as 25 years instead of 20 years under former regulations where the property is approved for mortgage insurance prior to beginning of construction. The maximum term for existing construction remains at 20 years. In either case, the maximum loan obtainable is 80 per cent of the valuation and the interest rate not to exceed 4 1/2 per cent.

Floyd County To Get $489,441 from State For Aged, Unemployed

The divisions now composing the Department of Economic Security will disburse $38,726,000 during the first full year of their operation within the Department—$16,233,000 by the Bureau of Employment Security and $22,503,000 by the Bureau of Social Services, Vego E. Barnes, commissioner, announced this week.

Of this amount, a total of $489,441 will be disbursed in Floyd county—$327,661 to public assistance recipients, $161,780 as unemployment insurance.

Prior to July 1, the divisions of child welfare and public assistance were in the Department of Welfare. The Unemployment Insurance Division was an independent agency, while the employment service was in the Department of Industrial Relations. All four programs are financed under the federal Social Security Act. The 1948 Kentucky Legislature grouped all of these state programs under one department.

At present there is approximately $112,000,000 in the Unemployment Insurance trust fund available for the payment of benefits to Kentucky's 564,000 insured workers should they become unemployed, Mr. Barnes said. He explained that this amount represents the combined employer reserve accounts of 13,700 employers which accounts for approximately $88,000,000, and the pooled account which is composed of employe contributions, interest and penalties, amounting to approximately $26,000,000. This fund, which is invested with the federal treasury in Washington, is earning over $2,000,000 in interest annually, he said.

In addition to this amount, there is in the Unemployment Insurance administrative fund approximately $546,000 available and partially earmarked for the erection of an office building which the department sorely needs, Barnes added.

Worker contributions, which, until July 1, 1942, were the principal source of income to the pooled account, are no longer collected. The repeal by the 1942 state Legislature of that provision of the Unemployment Insurance law requiring worker contributions has resulted in a savings for Kentucky workers of approximately $30,000,000 since July 1, 1942, he said.

(This exemption of workers was sponsored by Jerry F. Howell, of Gearheart, this county, who at the time was a state Representative.)

In the Department's Bureau of Social Services the Division of Public Assistance during August, 1948, paid an average old age assistance check of $17.61 to more than 52,000 recipients. During this same month an average of $14.80 per child was paid for aid to dependent children. These benefits were available to about 33,000 children in Kentucky.

"Aid to the needy blind during this period averaged $18.58 for the 1,950 recipients under this program. It was possible to pay these amounts which approximate the average payments during the previous fiscal year, because Governor Clements transferred $57,000 from his emergency fund to the Department. For the month of October, 1948, and for the rest of the quarter the average old age assistance checks will be increased to $20.90; aid to dependent children checks to $15.60; and aid to the needy blind checks to $22 per month. But for the fact that it was necessary to absorb a deficit incurred by the previous administration, this additional amount would have been available for expenditure during the present fiscal year. This would have resulted in an average old age assistance payment of approximately $24," Barnes explained.

In addition to the above services and programs of the Department, the Division of Child Welfare renders services in various forms to between 2,600 and 2,500 children each month, he concluded.

Robert Skillman and Wathan Ross of Breckinridge county have built modern milking parlors in their dairy expansion program.

Social Security Pay To Floyd Countians Is $12,957 Monthly

Figures released by Horace Godbey, manager of the Ashland office of the Social Security Administration, show that a total of $67,527 is being paid monthly in insurance benefits to 4,422 people in the 13 counties of this area by the federal system of old-age and survivors insurance. These figures are for June 30, 1948, as disclosed in a report for the end of the fiscal year.

The area of the Ashland office includes the following counties: Boyd, Carter, Elliott, Floyd, Greenup, Johnson, Lawrence, Lewis, Magoffin, Martin, Morgan, Pike and Rowan.

In Floyd county there are 83 persons receiving a total of $12,957 each month.

Mr. Godbey said that every effort is being made to inform persons covered by the Social Security Act of their rights, but payments may be lost by persons, otherwise eligible, because they delay filing, or fail to file claims for these benefits. The place to file a claims application is the field office of the Social Security Administration. The Ashland office is located in the Second National Bank building. A representative of the office is at Prestonsburg every Thursday at 2 p.m.

Court of Appeals Holds Forfeiture Of Property Valid

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 16.—Forfeiture under local-option laws of a lot and two buildings owned by Austin Beavin in Cloverport was upheld by the Court of Appeals today.

The opinion stated Beavin was sentenced to jail for 30 days and fined $50 on pleading guilty to illegal possession of liquor at his place. Beavin did not appeal his fine and sentence but contested forfeiture of his property. The opinion said the sheriff and other officers entered Beavin's place and saw him with liquor, but later could not produce a search warrant. There was testimony from others that he had sold liquor on previous occasions.

In upholding forfeiture of the property, the opinion eliminated the lower court's ruling that neither Beavin nor his agent could bid for the property at the sheriff's sale.

"No such provision is contained in the forfeiture statute," the court explained.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.
Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"COME TO THE FAIR"

Today's Sunday paper contains a good-sized advertisement that takes me squarely back to Fidelity and the very earliest days of this century. A GREAT CIRCUS IS COMING! It is even advertised as combining the "new look" with the old-time circus feeling, as if anyone wants a circus to be anything but a circus. There are hosts of elephants, marvelous horses and their riders, trapeze artists, bareback riders, cowboys, clowns, trained animals, a band, and on and on. How much like the older ads it sounds! I can see one of the old, unsightly stores in Fidelity all covered up with the big sign, with animals that Noah evidently left out of the ark, and certainly the circus left out, too. I can hear the callopio and see the clowns and hear the rumble of the gilt-decorated wagons, and catch an occasional glimpse of some wild creature peering out through the iron bars. And I can see the throngs, too, and smell peanuts and see pink lemonade and balloons. And all this is for one dollar plus tax, not too much more than the circus I attended in 1905. It almost tempts me to set aside my classes, wade through the crowds and dust, and get a look at and smell of the circus, the "greatest on earth."

Many of you read, as I did, the excellent article on the really big circus in a recent issue of The National Geographic Magazine. Among other things I learned from that article is that the American people like their circus straight. For example, clowns never vary in the pattern of marks they put on their faces or the queer dress they assume. Once clown of that sort, always a clown. The public expects it, and that where the money comes from. Not to see a clown dressed as a clown would be like seeing Hamlet without its leading character.

And yet, with all the quickened pulses, I wonder whether the dust-covered throngs that will come here to a circus can ever know how much they missed by being born in an age too late. I know that pink lemonade or a reasonable facsimile will be consumed, that the balloon man will do a thriving business, that games of chance will somehow get by the authorities, that elephants and other animals will do their tricks as planned, but the visitors have lived their whole lives in a circus already. They have automobiles and radios and telephones and record-players and school buses and basketball games and F.F.A. and 4-H clubs and summer camps. They have been to Louisville and Nashville and, some of them, to New Orleans and Chicago and San Francisco and Japan and France and Germany. They have visited zoos, ranging from a few mangy animals at a roadside park to the wealth of animated nature in Rock Creek Park in Washington. They have played with modern machinery all over the fields where other people used to creep behind some jack-rabbit-sized mules. I hope that they will enjoy the skill of the riders and the corny jokes of the clowns and the strange antics of the varmints in the animal tents. But how could they feel the thrills that we of other times, who knew only the farm animals and a few wild ones, felt when we paid our hard-earned half dollars and went in to see the gnus and nyghaus and camels and elephants? I am afraid that many of the people who come to this year's circus a few weeks from now will be trying hard to catch again some appeal that Father and Grandfather used to tell us about, but I rather doubt whether the circus will loom so large in Son's life as it did in my Father's. I am pretty certain that Son will not give free bulletins on the circus for the 10 or 12 weeks after it is over and act out the clowns and some of the animals. Son may pay his money and see the sights, but he is too sophisticated to let a little thing like a circus shake him loose from his nonchalance.

"Come, come, let's go to the circus.
The sun is a-shining to welcome the day,
Heigh ho! come to the fair."

FBI Agents, Deputies Search on Johns Creek For Wells in Slaying

FBI agents and Floyd county deputy sheriffs made a fruitless search of the Johns Creek section in the vicinity of the Dewey dam last week for George Elmo Wells, who is wanted for the 12-year-old slaying of a girl on the Berea College campus. The Federal Bureau of Investigation entered the case in 1937 and since that time has sought Wells under the law against unlawful flight. The 11 years the Floyd man has evaded the federal agency is one of the longest periods for a person to baffle the FBI.

Inspectors Report Safety Work at 2 Floyd-co. Mines

Reports of federal mine inspectors on the Kathryn Elkhorn Coal Company and the Beaver Coal & Mining Company Mine No. 1, both at Drift, have been released by the Bureau of Mines. Timbering had been made satisfactory at Kathryn Elkhorn except in three working places where safety posts were not set at the face, the inspector reported, and the only deviation from the federal mine safety code's explosives and blasting provisions would be corrected by using covered cars or special containers for transporting permissible explosives underground.

Sufficient air now reached all the working faces, and pre-shift and on-shift mine examinations were made, Inspector Vititow remarked approvingly, but he advised offset installation, suitable gages, and automatic speed alarms for two ventilating fans. The mine was well rock-dusted to within 30 feet of the faces, he said, but he advised removing coal-dust accumulations from the haulageway in the tunnel and using water or other means to allay dust during cutting.

Recently-instituted safety measures by Beaver Coal & Mining Company embraced removal of deteriorated explosives from the explosives magazine, safe installation of the No. 2 main ventilating fan, cleaning of coal dust from conveyor lines and roadways, removal of refuse from haulageway shelter holes, adequate clearance along all entry switches, use of enclosed trip lights on the main haulage trips, and surface-underground telephone service. Inspector Jones also listed such partly-completed improvements as removal of most obstructions from the haulageways, replacement of 35 wooden main-entry stoppings with concrete-block stoppings, as well as overload and frame-ground protection for certain electrical equipment.

Although noting that the mine was generally well rock-dusted, Jones, recommended application of more rock-dust on the roof, floor and ribs of one room and increased rock-dusting at several places. Use of water to allay coal dust during cutting also was proposed.

Car Salesman Tells Committee Of Trade-Ins and $500 Tips

Rep. Macy (R.-N.Y.) said this week it's up to the automobile makers, rather than Congress, to police their industry and prevent unscrupulous dealers from fleecing the public.

He offered that comment as his special House Committee on Unfair Trade Practices delved deeper into new and used car deals in the Washington area. It heard testimony of $500 "tips" being paid to automobile salesmen and of trade-ins being undervalued several hundred dollars.

Macy told reporters the motor industry could handle the problem in much the same way the steel-makers are dealing with the so-called "gray market" which his committee recently investigated.

The New Yorker said he expects to turn over the committee's findings here and elsewhere to the automotive industry with recommendations for a "reasonable and effective solution."

The House group spent hours examining the transactions of the Kearney Oldsmobile Company of Washington. It turned up this testimony by Raymond J. Kearney, co-partner in the agency:

(1) His firm takes in used cars as trade-ins on new ones "for as little as we can" and sells them "for as much as we can." Kearney said, "I think it's a good business."

(2) He sells new car buyers "all the accessories I can." Generally, he said, he will not remove any accessories that come on a new car. If a customer doesn't want the car as is, he'll sell it to someone who does, then order another for the original customer.

(3) Some trade-ins have been resold immediately to used car buyers for up to $600 more than the amount allowed the customer for his old car.

William Manuel, a salesman for the Kearney Company, testified he always expected a "tip" when he sold a car and that he often received $500 which he didn't think was excessive.

The committee asked Manuel to return with records to show his receipts from tips.

We can then estimate proper charges, immediately, adding nothing by guess-work. When your watch is repaired, we check it again, assuring you of "proven" efficiency of our work—faster, too!

DANIEL BOONE, IN COMPANY WITH WILLIAM HILL, SPENT THE WINTER OF 1767-68 HUNTING AND EXPLORING ON THE UPPER WATERS OF THE BIG SANDY RIVER. THEY WERE FORCED TO MAKE CAMP NEAR THIS SPOT DURING THE SEVERE WINTER MONTHS CLOSE TO THE SALT LICK WHICH FLOWED FROM A SPRING JUST ABOVE HERE. GAME WAS PLENTIFUL AND THE TWO HUNTERS HAD ONLY TO WAIT IN THEIR LITTLE SHACK FOR THE DEER AND OTHER ANIMALS TO COME TO LICK THE SALT. THUS THEIR SCANTY SUPPLY OF AMMUNITION AND FOOD WAS CONSERVED, AND THIS SALT LICK PROBABLY PLAYED AN IMPORTANT PART IN SAVING THE LIVES OF THE WOODSMEN.

ANOTHER FAMOUS AMERICAN THE GREAT ORATOR AND STATESMAN HENRY CLAY IN PARTNERSHIP WITH JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE, WAS THE FIRST OWNER OF A GREAT BOUNDARY OF THIS LAND, BUT SOLD THE AREA SURROUNDING THE SALT LICK FOR A VERY SMALL SUM TO MEN WHO REALIZING THE COMMERCIAL IMPORTANCE OF THE SALT DEPOSIT, BEGAN EXPLOITING IT IN 1795. FROM THEN ON UNTIL AFTER THE CIVIL WAR SALT WAS MADE AND SOLD. RESIDENTS IN THE AREA WOULD BRING THEIR FAMILIES AND CAMP HERE FOR WEEKS UNTIL THEY HAD MADE THEIR OWN YEAR'S SUPPLY. SHORTLY AFTER THE CIVIL WAR THE SALT LICK WAS ABANDONED, BUT THE LEGEND OF DANIEL BOONE LIVES ON.

KENTUCKY ON THE MARCH

By EWING GALLOWAY

Atop the Ashland-Coal Grove bridge a big neon sign tells motorists from distant places that they can visit Ashland over a free bridge. The sign was bought by the Ashland Junior Chamber of Commerce.

In itself, the sign is not front page news, but it is important to Kentuckians because it is evidence that we are waking up to the value of publicity.

State authorities assure us that roadside signs directing strangers to the Kentucky Dam will be set up in the near future, and that the attention of travelers will be directed to all but forgotten Mammoth Cave.

Illustrated literature glorifying the state's many scenic attractions is being sent to hotels and filling stations all over the nation.

All these things should be the beginning of a big publicity movement.

Let me take you 35 years into the past and a distance of 2,500 miles. I was going by train from Portland, Oregon, to San Francisco. Soon after the train crossed the line into the Golden State I began to see huge billboards high up on mountain-sides. They were so high I wondered how the sign builders ever got the material up there. One sign would say Siskiyou county marketed empty million board feet of lumber annually. Another proclaimed the production of hundreds of thousands of sheep. And so on.

I don't know when California started publicizing itself. In all probability there were born press agents among the Forty-niners. Anyway, there are about three million people in the state now who could be classed as first-rate press agents. And after hearing Californians ballyhoo their state for a century, Kentuckians are just now beginning to realize what publicity means.

What did California have in natural resources 100 years ago? Some gold mines and timber were her chief assets. The land that now helps to feed a very large part of the country's population was desert and had to be irrigated with costly water.

The desert land needed people from this side of the Sierra Nevada mountains to work it. And the ballyhoo got them—got them from Kentucky and other states where fertility was high, water fell from clouds, and markets were 2,000 miles closer.

California became a magnet through advertising. Capital, brains, ambition, courage, the assets California needed were lured from regions that had better natural resources than the Pacific coast could naturally offer.

During the century California has been getting richer and richer. Kentucky has been lagging behind the more progressive states. And one of the main reasons is that our people just haven't realized the value of nationwide publicity. But, thank goodness, we are waking up.

NEWSPRINT USE GROWS

Montreal, Nov. 18.—Apparent total consumption of newsprint in the United States in October was 498,950 tons, an increase of 46,546 tons over October, 1947, the Newsprint Association of Canada reported today. Approximately 75 per cent of newsprint used in the United States is made in Canada.

If you will write or otherwise contact him at Prestonsburg, though you may not think so, there are children in this county who will be pleased with anything you will give.

What goes on here?

Referee makes first down—or did he really just miss it? Field judge blocks out the nearest tackler—or was it clipping? If the officials call 'em—and play too—what kind of a game is that?

You wouldn't stand for that sort of thing on a football field—but it happens every day in the electric light and power business. Government not only regulates the electric companies—but is in competition with them at the same time.

The catch is that government sets up two different sets of rules. The government's electric agencies pay little or no interest on the money they borrow, and pay no Federal taxes—but electric companies do, and expect to. When government-in-the-power-business can't make ends meet—it gets a handout of tax money from the U. S. Treasury. Who foots the bill? American taxpayers—of which you are one.

If government can get into the light and power business this way—it can get into any other business the same way.

In sixty-odd years, the self-supporting electric companies have built for America the most and the best electric service in the world. While costs of everything else are way up (including the costs of making and delivering electricity) electric service is still the best bargain in the American family's budget . . . it does so much, and costs so little.

This is a good record for the thousands of people who work in power companies, and for the millions of people who invest savings in them.

Don't you think these men and women deserve a fair break?

The answer is yours to make, for government money is your money.

Long Runs Feature Cats' Win In Game With Paintsville Hi

For three and nine-tenths quarters of their annual football game the Prestonsburg Black Cats and the Paintsville Tigers fought on even terms here last Friday night, with the Tigers apparently on the way to providing a major Big Sandy Conference upset with a tie game.

Then, with the clock ticking inexorably toward the close of the contest, the Cats spread across the field in a razzle-dazzle line-up. It was now or never—at least, not till 1949—for a touchdown scoring play. Quarterback Eddie Hill took the ball from center, quickly flipped it out into the flat to Durham, right end. To the accompaniment of a roar from the Prestonsburg fans composing larger part of the crowd, Durham raced, untouched, 53 yards for the winning touchdown.

Before that, Paintsville, fighting doggedly, had the Cats almost in the doghouse. The Tigers scored first, with Marvin Vanhoose, sophomore quarterback, going over in the first 10 minutes of play after a Prestonsburg fumble had given the opposition the ball. The extra point was made and Paintsville was ahead, 7 to 0.

In the first quarter the highly-keyed Cats fumbled five times. Meanwhile, the visitors lost the ball in that rash on only one time.

In the second half Mike Horn, who was used in the backfield on offense and in the line on defense, broke loose on a 40-yard run for a touchdown, with Joe Stanley converting and tying the game.

Thus matters stood on through the third quarter and deep into the fourth. During the seaway struggle Paintsville, a team which had won only one game and tied one through the season, appeared to be anything but the set-up to the comparative scores indicated. As expected, the Tigers were full of fight for their Prestonsburg visit.

The victory placed Prestonsburg in a tie with Fleming for the Conference championship. A meeting will be held in Pikeville Sunday, it was said this week, to determine the status of the leaders.

The Black Cats lost only one Conference game, and that to the Belfry Pirates of Coach Ted Benedett's brother Bill. Over the season they won six games while losing four, and among the four losses were defeats by St. Xavier, Everts and Louisa, all three known to fans as "powerhouses."

Friday night's game was the last high school gridiron appearance for six Prestonsburg players: Harmon, tackle; Nesler, center; the Spears brothers, Durham, end, and Stanley, halfback. Gene Boyd, who also graduates this year, was forced by injuries to watch from the bench his last chance to play in high school football.

The big crowd was naturally noisy but was orderly. The Prestonsburg high school band staged a spirited halftime performance and in the chill of the night was declared "the hottest thing on the field."

Prestonsburg VFW Drops Two Straight

The Prestonsburg team lost again Thursday night to Garrett, 54 to 11. Adrian Blackburn led in scoring with 17 points. "Greasy" Hughes led the winners with 15 points.

Prestonsburg's VFW basketball team dropped their first game last Wednesday night in their first encounter of the season with the Wayland Independents. Wayland won, 50 to 41.

Prestonsburg played without the services of Adrian Blackburn, one of the team's highest scorers. His brother, Tommy, led both teams in point-making with 17 but his teammates failed to produce space with DeCoursey, Campbell and Hicks, Wayland's big guns.

HOMECOMING UNCLOUDED

As Martin Fives Win Over Maytown High Before Big Crowd

Martin high school's homecoming was an unalloyed success Saturday as both basketball teams, first and second, won over their old rivals, the Maytown Wildcats, before a capacity crowd, and as the old grads gathered from over a wide section for a luncheon at which an alumni association was formed.

The Purple Flash defeated Maytown, one of the county's stronger net fives, in surprisingly convincing fashion, 48 to 29. The second team defeated Maytown's reserves, 24 to 17.

The Martin team was led by McCarty, who scored 12 points, with E. and D. Laferty, brothers, adding nine points each. Wendell Jones at a forward position for the losers scored 12 points and Boyd was in the runner-up position in scoring with six points.

Martin's next game is Saturday night, with Hindman the foe.

LIONS ENLARGE WAYLAND GYM

$7,000 Expenditure Increases Capacity; Church Aid Planned

Wayland high school's gymnasium, enlarged and its seating arrangement re-modeled as a Wayland Lions Club project, is now the largest in Floyd county with room for the "comfortable" seating of 1,500 fans, club officials said this week.

The work was done at an outlay of approximately $7,000. Dressing rooms and showers were torn out and moved into an addition to the rear of the gym, leaving additional room for seats. Seats of the floor level have been banked.

The Lions Club there has suggested the gym as a logical site for the county basketball tournament. Wheelwright is due to be host to teams of the county this year, but the gym there is admittedly inadequate to accommodate the huge crowds attending this annual athletic event and so the tournament in all probability will be transferred to some other location, it was said here recently.

The gym improvement completed the Lions Club at Wayland is not ready to turn to another undertaking. Now planned is a full basement for the Wayland Methodist Church, the only church in the town proper. The work is planned as a civic enterprise, inasmuch as the church serves as a community church. Help from the American Legion and other organizations will be sought, a Lions Club official said.

Wayland Trips Auxier In Opener, 63-21, Friday

The Wayland Wasps won their opening game against Auxier Friday night. The score was 63 to 21. Wayland scored on the first play of the game and never was behind. Charles Fraley was the leading scorer for both teams with 16 points. Wayland's next game is against Maytown at Wayland Friday night.

Tribute and a Summons MEMORIAL DAY of this year, General Omar Bradley was in Longmeadow, Massachusetts, to pay homage to Cpl. Edward Wilkin, a Congressional Medal of Honor soldier who died in action on April 18, 1945 in Germany.

This soldier died as many thousands of other young men died. What General Bradley said at his grave could be said at the grave of any other of all those thousands. The stern warrior spoke of the dead and to the living in words so moving that THE TIMES re-prints them here as the march of world events daily produces occasion for thinking back to the soul-searing, tragic days of mortal combat between nations and forward to days when the price of freedom must continue to be eternal vigilance.

Solemnly spoke this soldier of America: "Here on the long green meadows of this tranquil New England town, we have come to do honor—not alone to one brave soldier—but to the generation of earnest young men who left their homes to defend them at Concord, Antietam, San Juan, the Argonne—and in the snows of the Ardennes.

"For as long as free men have lived, worked, worshipped and reared their families under these elms, so long have their sons been summoned to arms against those who would covet or destroy them. In generation after generation they have been forced to quit these quiet homes in this peaceful valley to fight—and sometimes to die—in conflicts visited upon them by issues remote from their everyday lives.

"From the chancelleries of London, Paris, Berlin—Rome, Tokyo and Moscow, those bitter struggles that have scarred the progress of all mankind eventually spanned the seas to invade the snug parlours and warm kitchens of these colonial homes. And as these world struggles have wasted the youth and resources of nations, they have also left behind women and empty chairs in the houses on this green.

"It is easy for us who are living to honor the sacrifices of those who are dead. For it helps us to assuage the guilt we should feel in their presence. Wars can be prevented just as surely as they are provoked and therefore we who fail to prevent them must share in guilt for the dead.

"I have not come here today to consecrate war and its evils for the sacrifices war has produced. For every man in whom war has inspired sacrifice, courage, and love, there are many more whom it has degraded with brutality, callousness, and greed.

"Rather we are gathered here to take comfort and strength from those of our dead who have already given this nation so much. We have come to learn—if we can—how men might live as charitably together in peace as they died for each other in war.

"We have come to ask why it is that our young men must spend their bodies against the Siegfried Line—why it is men cannot live as bravely as they die.

"In our hatred and renunciation of war, we must not forget that the roots of conflict flourish in the faults and failures of those who seek peace just as surely as they take shape from the diseases and designs of aggressors.

"While the American people have within themselves the moral strength, the power, and wisdom to marshal their forces against aggression in whatever form it affects—we cannot feign innocence through indifference or neglect of struggles that bring on wars.

"We have suffered enough in two world wars to know that non-involvement in peace means certain involvement in war.

"Either we shall employ or strength, power, and conscience boldly and righteously in defense of human dignity and freedom or we shall waste those reserves for peace and default to the forces that breed new wars.

"This lad we buried today is partly the victim of your folly and the folly of all peace-loving peoples who turned their backs on the ills of the world. For at the very time those aggressors at whose hands he met his death conspired against the peace of the world, we blinded ourselves to their threats and by our shameful inaction countenanced their starting attack.

"Secure in distant and peaceful towns like these, clinging to comforts, refusing risks, seeking safety in refuge and refuge in words, we recanted power and conscience to side with those who sought peace at any price. Too late we discovered the price was too high; and to keep our freedom we paid in the bodies of our young sons.

"If the United States ever again stoops to expedient to avoid the difficult decisions that come with leadership, the heavy burdens that come with defense we shall once more run the dangers of all halfway measures and waste our strength and conscience as a weathervane rather than a force.

"If we cringe from the necessity of meeting issues boldly with principle, resolution and strength, then we shall simply hurdle along from crisis to crisis, improvising with expedients, seeking inoffensive solutions, drugging the nation with an illusion of security which under those conditions cannot exist. If we are to scamp from crisis to crisis, fixing principles and policies to the change of each day, we shall place ourselves supinely and helplessly at the mercy of any aggressor who might play on our public opinion and decimate our forces at will.

"To live bravely by convictions from which the free peoples of this world can take heart, the American people must put their faith in stable long-range policies—political, economic and military—programs that will not be heated and cooled with the brightening and waning of tension.

"The United States has matured to world leadership; it is time we steered by the stars, not by the lights of each passing ship.

"On this Memorial Day, as we take leave of this brave soldier—Corporal Edward Wilkin, Army of the United States, Medal of Honor—we pay homage as he would have us do, to all his fallen comrades—to the strong, the weak; the leaders, the led; the brave, the fearful; to all who perished where only God could witness their charity to their fellow men.

"Proudly—but reverently, sadly—we honor them. We pray they will ever rest in peace."

Opportunity and A Challenge ONE thing Carl D. Perkins, the district's Congressman-elect, cannot afford to neglect either as a public servant or as a success in the field of politics.

This matter which demands his attention, without delay, is the canalization of the Big Sandy river. It cannot be denied, Congressman W. Howes Meade, whom Mr. Perkins defeated at last week's polls, worked effectively toward this end. Mr. Meade picked up where Ex-Congressman A. J. May, of Prestonsburg, left off and the two, working at different times and separately, probably advanced the cause of canalization farther than the public realizes.

Within recent months Congressional committee leaders whose support is vital to the conversion of the Big Sandy into an important inland waterway have visited the section, seen for themselves the region's potential and what water transportation can mean to the valley and, through the valley's rich resources, to the nation.

From that point on, it is Mr. Perkins' job to work as assiduously as did his predecessors.

The next Congress will be predominantly Democratic. It and the Administration are not unfriendly to waterways improvement. Neither the Congress nor the President will be frightened away from this or any other needed public improvement by the shibboleth, "free competition."

GARRETT (Last week's correspondence) Miss Garnet Cox, of Garrett, and Dr. Ralph W. Auburn, of Bryson City, N. C., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Webb, of Hazary. Mrs. Will Boggs, Mrs. Wayne Cox and Garnett Cox were shopping in Paintsville Friday. Mrs. Laura Patton, of Garrett, has been very ill in the Beaver Valley hospital the past week, and will be returned there this week for treatment.

PONTIAC

Above everything else.. a good car!

Pontiac has one manufacturing principle which takes precedence over all others: Pontiac must always be a good car! There is no other motor car quality which people value so much as goodness. That's why Pontiac engineers and production specialists spend so much time and energy and money to insure Pontiac quality. Pontiac cars must last long—and they must last well—and they must function through the years with a minimum of upkeep cost.

Owners have been quick to appreciate this. Some of the testimonials they send to the factory, and to Pontiac dealers, tell of performance feats that seem almost impossible of attainment. Pontiac has many other outstanding virtues, of course. It is a wonderful performer. It is delightfully comfortable and easy to handle. It is a great beauty, and unusually distinctive in appearance. But its greatest virtue is goodness. This year, or any year, you just can't beat it for faithful performance.

Come in, try Hudson with the all-new, high-compression Super-Six engine (the most powerful American six built today) or the masterful Super-Eight. Both provide wonderfully alert power for a new type of motor car with an exclusive "step-down" design.

Millions say the New Hudson is the reigning beauty in the automobile parade—but you can't really know this great car until you drive it—and you're invited to do just that—now!

Hudson, with the new, 121 h.p., high-compression Super-Six engine or the masterful Super-Eight, takes you away with new zip, and outstrips the field with staying power.

But amazingly alive engines aren't the whole story of this star performer for '49. Hudson has a new lug-the-road way of going in cross-winds and on every conceivable kind of highway.

This all happens because—as is widely known—the lower to the ground a car can be built, the more stability it will have. Hudson has the lowest center of gravity in any American stock car!

This remarkable car has floors recessed down within a base frame (Hudson is the only car you step down into), enabling Hudson to build the lowest car on the highway, only five feet from ground to top—while maintaining more than adequate head room!

You sense a delightful conformity to the road the minute you begin to ride, and this gives you a grand feeling of safe well-being! This feeling is further enhanced by the ease with which this car is operated, and by the quiet with which Hudson glides along.

Come in, let us show you why Hudson's great engines and fabulous "step-down" design principle put this car so far ahead it is a protected investment in motor car value!

The many important advantages in Hudson's new "step-down" design are explained in a booklet available at the nearest Hudson dealer's.
