Jenny Wiley Pageant May Be Re-Enacted; Prominent Men Here

The Floyd county story was told in drama, song, costume and custom over the four days beginning with last Saturday and ending July 4 as the 150th year of the county's existence was celebrated here.

A gaily bedecked Prestonsburg was host to daily crowds from the present Floyd and other counties of the original Floyd and to many homecoming native sons and daughters now residing in other states or other sections of the Commonwealth.

Events which concentrat ed the largest crowds of the four - day Sesquicentennial celebration were the Religious Singing Jubilee on Sunday night, the dramatic Jenny Wiley pageant on the following evening, and the Fourth of July parade through the streets of Pres tonsburg.

Facilities for Treatment Of Mine Injuries Cited As Part of Equipment

Plans for a $1,200,000 county hospital were discussed by County Judge Henry Stumbo during the course of his talk on the Monday afternoon program here of the Floyd county Sesquicentennial celebration The 88-bed hospital has already received federal government approval, the county official said, but will not become a certainty until the county's share of the cost-approximately $400,000-is supplied by a bond issue voted by the people the county.

The question of a bond issue will be put to vote at the November election.

Judge Stumbo explained that the hospital would be equipped .es ecially to care for workers injured in coal mines of this section. Its facilities would attract specialists to practice in Floyd county, it has been pointed out here,

Site on which the hospital would he located has not been selected. A large oil painting depicting the architects' conception of the hospital building was prominently displayed at the courthouse during the Sesquicentennial celebration.

Dr. W. E. Dingus Dies At His Home At Hite After Long Illness

Dr. W. E. Dingus, of Hite, died at his home at 12 o'clock on June 29th after an illness of many years Born at Hite, January 18, 1893 Dr. Dingus was the son of Phillip Marion and the late Dolly Osborne Dingus. He was a graduate of Cincinnati College of Veterinary Medicine, and of the Clifton Forge, Virzinia School of Laboratory and X-Ray Technology, and became a specialist in x-ray and anesthesia. He served as 2nd lieutenant in World War I, and was a reserve officer until 1937.

Dr. Dingus was associated with the Beaver Valley Hospital for many years when it was under the ownership of Drs. Edward and W. L. Stumbo. In 1926, he accepted a position with a hospital in Cambridge, Md., and remained there until 1937 when he became ill.

Dr. Dingus was a member of the Masonic lodge, the Maccabees, and the American Legion. He is survived by his wife, Gennette Marcum Dingus: one daughter Jean; his father, P. M. Dingus; one sister, Mrs. L. E Crisp, of Hite; and five brothers, Lacey, Russell, Wes, all of Hite, Ray, of Mare Creek, and Clyde, of Martin

"BRAVE MEN, LIVING AND DEAD"

N Associated Press news release of a few days before Memorial Day 1950, made a deep impression on me. It announced that of the Confederate veterans only 23 were still alive; of the Union veterans, only 16. More than three million men fought in the two armies.

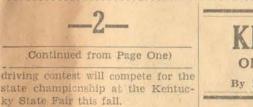

All my life has been lived with this almost-past institution, the Civil War soldier. Most of the older men in the Fidelity neighborhood were veterans, all of them Confederate. It was as casual to hear of Shiloh or Gettysburg or Appomattox as it is now to hear some young man mention Guam or India or the Philippines. We youngsters locked upon to the hospital facilities althese remnants of the two great armies as aged, away back in the 'nine- ready-here. ties. Now I am sure that most of them were fifty or younger. The ones I knew seemed so aged that I would trivial matter. If this county not have been astonished if they had mentioned knowing George Washington. Since the war ended 85 years ago, it is mathematically impossible for any living veteran to be less or much less than a hundred years old.

As far back as I can remember there had grown up around the "old boys" a sort of halo that nobody else had. Some of our veterans were the finest of hospital equiphardly heroic in stature or in neighborhood achievement, but we hardly ment-all this designed to dared breathe such a thing. 'A radically new idea in electric range design has been introduced by Frigidaire in this compact, 30-inch "Thrifty-30" model equipped with a giant oven that stretches clear across the porcelain-finished cabinet. The big oven will bake six pies or 10 loaves of bread at once, and is heavily insulated for most economical operation. In addition, this smartly-styled range is equipped with four new "flat-top" cooking units, a waist-high broiler and automatic oven controls, cooking lamp, appliance outlet and super-size utensil drawer.

"If the fire is not hot enough for baking, I turn on the electric oven unit to raise the oven temperature. The automatic temperature control is then in full charge. I never have a baking failure.'

YES, MONARCH'S "DUO-OVEN" operates efficiently with coal or wood . . . with electricity . . . or with BOTH. The automatic oven control regulates the amount of electricity needed to maintain desired baking temperatures. Cooking top is also half electric, half coal-wood. Entire range requires only 46" of wall space. An exclusive model built only by MONARCH. Stop in and see it.

The Gar that puts your Best Foot forward

WE think you'll agree that the whole story of an automobile isn't told in its power, its room, its styling, even in its ride.

There is the all-important point about what a car does to youand that's where ROADMASTER really shines.

For you can't slip into this bonny beauty's broad seats without feeling like somebody pretty special.

When you take its neat wheel in your hand-when you cut loose, with a toe-touch, the rich baritone of its big Fireball straight-eight power plant-when you feel the smooth surge of its. Dynaflow-cushioned take-off-

Man, then you know you've got a real automobile!

And don't overlook this:

That graceful sweep of chrome along the fender-found on no other car made today - is a mighty eye-catching note of distinction.

Those four Ventiports, too, cause many a head to turn-they mark you unmistakably as the owner of the biggest and best Buick built-a car as fine and rich as any man has need for.

There are a lot of good, solid, dollars-and-cents reasons for making ROADMASTER your choice over any other car:

Its size. The commanding performance of its 152-hp Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight engine. Dynaflow Drive standard. A ride that's quite matchless in its gentle softness. Distinguished styling from bold, protective front end to gleaming "double bubble" taillight.

But if you're ready for a car that's more than just an automobile-if you want one that puts your best foot forward in any company-that's the real reason for seeing your Buick dealer quickly-to talk turkey about a ROADMASTER.

I REMEMBER

I remember days of childhood Round the fireplace long ago. We could hear the church bells Ringing through the valley soft and low,

Bells of Zion, Mother called them As their chiming filled the air Calling us unto the church house Where we'd meet for evening prayer.

I remember well the morning That they placed her 'neath the

And the church bells rang so sweetly As to welcome her to God. But through faith in precious Jesus I could hear a sweeter sound Hear the bells of heaven ringing As they laid her 'neath the ground.

Now as evening shadows gather And I go to God in prayer, I can hear the bells of Zion Ringing softly in the air, Softly chiming with a promise That I shall meet her by and by. And they will ring the bells of Heaven

When I meet her in the sky. By FRANK MUSIC Completed Aug. 3, 1942 1t-pd.
