Sesqui Preparations Near-Complete

This Town-- That World

Frankly, I am all a-dither. I have become so Sesquicentennial-conscious that, otherwise, I am dazed and unconscious.

THE BEARDED KENTUCKIAN

Yet I still faintly squeak about the Sesqui... Montaine Clark and Mrs. Clark are just back from New York, and it's obvious that Mr. Clark took a mutton chop-goatee combination and a beard with him. The Sesquicentennial thereby got a lot of advertisement there in Bill ole Noo Yawk, whether it does any good or not. It seems that everybody was a bit nervous about the beard the guy from New York was wearing, and that, of course, brought on explanations. It is fun the Prestonsburg man and his whiskers was with the fair sex. The men paid him no heed, but the gals paused on the Avenue to stare. This the burly Mr. Clark permitted as long as he cared, then he would draw himself up proudly, darken the countenance and give with a "Hah!"

WHAT HAIR?

Mr. Allen M. Trout probed in vain in his GREETINGS column in The Courier-Journal this week to explain why it is that I never fail to catch the aroma of fresh-cut ripe watermelon when I pass a lawn being mowed but never, never get any such odor of Araby the best when I myself am at the business end of the mower.

The ingenious Trout thought the thing through rather laboriously and came up with the idea that I use hair tonic or some other dandified lotion on my hair, and that when I get a sweat worked up the smell of watermelon just simply is smothered out.

BEAVER MAN SHOCK VICTIM

Home Extension Light Carries Fatal Voltage To 'Buster' Turner, 20

A defective light fixture was blamed for the almost instant death by electrocution of Arthur H. (Buster) Turner, 20 years old, early Friday night at the Northern residence of his mother, Mrs. Mandy Turner.

Attempting to connect a pipe to a water heater, Turner was using an extension light while he worked beneath the floor of the home. He called from the darkness for his mother to plug in the cord. As she did so, she heard him scream. The terrified mother ran to the nearby home of Jack Turner and summoned help. The body was recovered, approximately 20 minutes later.

It was held that a short in the light and dampness of the ground on which Turner was lying caused the tragedy.

Mr. Turner is survived by his widow, Ruth Hall Turner, and one son, Arthur H. Turner, Jr. Other survivors are his mother, Mrs. Amanda Preston Turner, wife of the late Jacob Turner; and four sisters, Mrs. Olive Dingus, of Martin, Mrs. Paul Jarrell, Mt. Sterling, Mrs. Fletcher May, of Langley, and Mrs. Robert Waddles, of Eastern.

Mr. Turner was employed at the Dermont Store, Martin, and was widely and favorably known.

RADIO SHOW HERE, JULY 2

Celebration Feature To Be Re-Broadcast Over State Hookup

A program originating at the Prestonsburg playground as a Floyd county Sesquicentennial celebration feature Sunday at 3:15 p.m. will be re-broadcast on Thursday, July 13, over a 29-station radio hookup as a Salute to Prestonsburg, it was announced Wednesday by Jimmy Young, of Station WLAP, Lexington.

The broadcast will be the second of a series sponsored by the Ashland Oil & Refining Company and known as "The Romance of Kentucky Quiz." The first will be from the state capital at Frankfort.

Scope of plans for the Sesquicentennial was such that the radio show was attracted here, ahead of schedule, in order to make it a part of the four-day program.

To appear on the program in special recognition of Prestonsburg as scene of the Sesquicentennial celebration are J. B. Faulconer, sports announcer for the Ashland Oil & Refining Company, as quiz master; Henry Allen, production manager at Station WLAP, and David Parry, well-known organist.

Theme of the radio show will be, "Know Your Kentucky Better," and Prestonsburg, Paintsville, and Pikeville will each be represented on the quiz-program by two residents selected for their knowledge of the section's history.

The re-broadcast will be heard over radio stations in Pikeville, Paintsville, Frankfort, Lexington, Maysville, Paducah, Bardonia, Covington, Henderson, Louisville, Bowling Green, Ashland, Hopkinsville and Owensboro.

3 Prestonsburg Scouts Attending National Meet

Three Prestonsburg Boy Scouts, Martin Holbrook, David Stephens, Jr., both of Troop 20, and Johnnie Thompson, of Troop 21, left Tuesday afternoon to attend the Boy Scout National Jamboree, June 30-July 7, at Valley Forge, Va.

They are a part of the 60 Scouts and leaders attending from Lonesome Pine Council. The group is under the leadership of Rev. Robert Anderson, Betsy Layne, and Scoutmaster Richard Wampler, Coeburn, Va.

Approximately 42,000 Scouts and leaders are in attendance at the Jamboree which is held once every 12 years under the sponsorship of the National Council. Many important visitors, including President Truman and General Dwight D. Eisenhower will be guests and take part in the activities of the Jamboree.

STATE COURT RULES FRALEY OUT OF OFFICE

School Administration Forces in 3rd Setback; Allen Case Is Pending

Floyd school administration forces met their third legal setback in a row Friday as the Court of Appeals held that Special Judge Jean L. Auxier, Pikeville, was correct in ruling that Ray Fraley, Wayland, had abandoned his office as a member of the Floyd County Board of Education and that a reinstatement attempt was void.

The decision came on the last day of the Appellate Court's session. Left undecided was the administration's appeal from the decision of Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill who refused to oust from office Dr. J. H. Allen, of Langley, because he had received a pass from the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company.

The court's adjournment was made, however, subject to recall by the Chief Justice, and it was said here this week that a final decision in the Dr. Allen case may be expected by July 10.

On the decision in this case depends future as well as present make-up of the Board of Education. If Judge Hill's decision is affirmed, the Board will stand two members, Dr. W. D. Osborne and Alonzo Stratton, for the Administration, and two, Dr. J. H. Allen and James Green, opposed. If the decision is reversed, the Administration will hold a 2-1 edge in appointing two new Board members.

If the deadlock develops, and if the four members remaining on the Board fail to agree, appointment of a fifth member would be made by the State Department of Education.

Joe Hobson, attorney for Dr. Allen and James Green, said an immediate mandate has been asked on last Friday's decision. The court's written opinion in the case had not been received here this week.

Meanwhile, teachers for the rural school term, which is scheduled to open July 17, have not been named.

PAGEANT GETS AUTHENTICITY

In History, Background And Characters; Script Written by Henry Scalf

Authenticity is the keynote of the Jenny Wiley Pageant which will be enacted here Monday evening, July 3, as a feature on a feature-studded program of the Floyd County Sesquicentennial celebration.

The Jennie Wiley pageant, which was written by Henry Scalf, Floyd historian, is not only true to the spirit of the events portrayed, but is setting and cast is unusually authentic. The same hills will look down on this re-enactment of Jenny Wiley's story that witnessed her flight and rescue in 1789, for the setting chosen is only a few miles from the original Harmon Station, which is now Blockhouse Bottom at East Point.

The cast is made up for the most part of direct descendants of the persons originally connected with the capture and rescue of Jenny Wiley.

Those in the cast are: Mrs. Rose Wiley Chandler, of Paintsville, as her great-great-grandmother, Jenny Wiley; Mrs. W. H. Brown, a descendant of the pioneer Thomas Sellards, as the mother of Jenny Wiley; Jack Sellards, of Banner, as Jenny's father; Herbert G. Salisbury, Jr., as Thomas Wiley, husband of the heroine; Frank Heinze as Chief Black Wolf; Homer Baldrige, who is of Cherokee lineage, as a Cherokee chief; Russell Harmon, a direct descendant of Matthias Harmon, portrays that founder of Harmon's Station; Mack Harmon and Roy Ramey, sons of Matthias; Dr. Forrest Skaggs; Thomas Leake as Harmon Leake; Belvard Friend as Asbloom Lusk; Carl Horn as John Horn; Hubbard D. Francis, Jr., as Lazarus Dameron; Cliff Latta, Jr., as John Borders;

GOING HOME? IT'S A GREAT IDEA

(An editorial)

THIS week, THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES joins the Floyd County Sesquicentennial Committee and the citizens of the present-day Floyd in extending a welcome home to the residents of all those other counties which originally were within this county's borders, to those of the region now residing in other parts of the Commonwealth or in other states and to all those who would come a-visitin' as we celebrate the 150th anniversary of the founding of the original Floyd county.

Here remain, as we look backward to the Founding Fathers days, many of the old customs, much of the early Chaucerian speech, precious relics of Gregorian music forms, and, despite industrialization, a pioneer quality possessed by few other sections of the land. All this we want the stranger to see and feel; but, more than that, this we want our native people to recognize and to cherish.

It is well and good that we pause, in the hurry-scurry of this precarious age, to stop and tot up these resources of ours which lie outside and far beyond the realm of the materialistic. It is fitting that we look back to those days of a century and a half ago in a spirit of thanksgiving, of gratitude to the sturdy men and women who blazed new trails and made these the hills of home.

Also good is this, that we have worked together in planning and making possible this Sesquicentennial celebration. Some have worked faithfully, others have rendered service even beyond the call of duty. Many have made financial sacrifices. All have benefited from association with others, working in common cause, in a community of purpose.

There is a name for a beautiful song, and the name is more beautiful even than the melody. It is "Going Home." The burden of this song is of melancholy. Its quiet far-awayness touches the listener with sadness. But the title itself connotes anything but sadness.

Going home? Please come, Floyd county and your friends will be looking for you.

COUNTY'S BEAUTY PRINCESSES FROM BEAVER CREEK SECTION

The Beaver Creeks of this county have supplied the two beauty princesses who will represent the present Floyd county in competition with as many beauties from each of the other 14 counties of the Original Floyd for the title of Sesquicentennial Queen.

They were chosen at the county beauty contest held at the Martin Theatre, Monday evening.

The Floyd county princesses, selected from a field of six reigning beauties in as many communities, are Miss Mary Louise Osborne, Wheelwright, and Miss Alcie Ann Howard, Wayland.

Miss Osborne is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Osborne, and as a law student at the University of Kentucky promises to become a "fair Portia" indeed. Miss Howard is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noah D. Howard, and is a student at Virginia Interment College.

Miss Betty Martin, chairman of the Sesquicentennial Beauty Contest, said high interest which developed in this county in the local contest is being matched elsewhere in the area and that every county in the original Floyd is expected to be represented here by two princesses of beauty. The Sesquicentennial queen will be crowned, July 1, and will represent the region in the Pageant of Beauty at the Kentucky State Fair. The winner there goes to Atlantic City for the renowned Miss America contest.

Annual Ten-Day Vacation Begins Sat. for Miners; May Extend to July 17

The annual 10-day vacation for miners will begin Saturday, with the mines due to resume operation July 11.

C. & O. HONORS 2 FROM FLOYD

Smith and McGlothen Among Rail Veterans To Get Pass Permits

They've been working on the railroad 17,500 years—or over 6,387,000 live-long days!

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway announced, Wednesday, that it is issuing special gold emblem passes, good for travel on any of its passenger trains, as a reward for long service to 350 of its veteran employees who have been on the job a full half century or more each. Passes will also go to the men's wives, a total of 595 passes in all, signed personally by Walter J. Tuohy, president of the railroad. Of the recipients, 313 are on the Chesapeake & Ohio District of the C. & O. and 89 are on the Pere Marquette District.

Actually, the service of the veteran railroaders totals well over 17,500 years, since most of them have been in the C. & O.'s employ since before William McKinley was president.

Among the Kentucky railroad veterans with 50-year service records who will be so honored are: W. P. Smith, Martin, boilermaker, and Millard McGlothen, Printer, veteran section foreman.

SEVENTH SUIT IS FILED HERE

To Seize and Sell Property Involved In Liquor Traffic

Filing this week of another suit to confiscate in the name of the Commonwealth the property of persons alleged to have been guilty of the illegal sale of whiskey in dry Floyd county brought the total of such cases instituted within the last 10 days to seven.

Named in this action were Ercel and Ella Blair, of Abner Fork.

Yet another suit was filed, but it was later discovered by County Attorney W. W. Burchett that the defendants were owners of the property in which an alleged bootlegger had operated and were not, themselves, engaged in selling intoxicants.

Since owners of property in which bootlegging has been, or is being, practiced are to be warned before confiscatory action is taken, this suit will be dismissed, it was said Wednesday. Failure of property-owners to rid their premises of bootleggers will, however, result in future suits also in charge of stage decorations.

Flash! The Postman Does Not Ring Twice

The postman does not ring twice—not in the Prestonsburg residential section at any rate. Mail deliveries to the residents of this city are now being made only once each day.

More bad news for those mail-starved individuals who anxiously await letters, is this: effective July 1, the postoffice will discontinue window service at noon, Saturdays. This is a result of economy measures taken by the budget-conscious U. S. Postoffice Department.

Ending on something less than a blue-note, is the fact that Dingus street and the new section of Central avenue have been added to the city mail service route.

TWO CONFESS PIKE ROBBERY

Youths Take Savings Of Blind Woman, 81, Detective Reports

Two Pike county cousins have confessed to the robbery of 81-year-old and blind Molly Akers at her home on the head of Little Robinson Creek, early Sunday of a part of her old-age pension savings. State Detective J. E. Combs, of Garrett, announced here Tuesday.

The robbery took place across the mountain from Tinker Fork of Mud Creek, this county, where the aged victim is widely related.

Jailed at Pikeville were Merlin Howell, 17, and Bill Howell, 19, of Little Dixie, on the head of Island Creek.

Following an investigation by State Troopers James C. Goble, of Prestonsburg, and Ira Taylor, the cousins were arrested by a Pike county deputy constable at their homes, Sunday night.

Almost 12 hours after their arrest, Detective Combs discovered the two had secreted in their rolled-up shirt sleeves $38 remaining of the $64 they had taken from the aged woman. It was then that they confessed.

They said they had spent $26 of the money. Mrs. Akers, however, complained of losing only $65. She said she had two pocketbooks, one of them contained a total of $290 but the youths dropped this as they fled.

Detective Combs said he learned the two had watched the home until around 9 a.m., Sunday, when they ascertained the aged woman was alone. Entering the house, one of them seized and held her while the other tore off her apron in which she carried her money.

P'BURG PREPS TO PLAY HOST TO THOUSANDS

State Police Detail To Help with Traffic; Courtesy Is Keynote

Prestonsburg, county-seat of 150-year-old Floyd county, was a hubbub of activity this week as preparations were being rushed for the entertainment during the four-day Floyd County Sesquicentennial celebration beginning Saturday of what is expected to be the largest crowds ever to gather in a single spot in this section. Today (Thursday) all arrangements were near-completion for this to become the hub of Eastern Kentucky holiday activity.

Sesquicentennial committee members have estimated that more than 100,000 persons will visit Prestonsburg during the celebration which will continue through July 4.

State Police Commissioner Guthrie Crowe has assigned a special detachment of Kentucky state police to assist local officers in handling traffic. Through traffic will be routed via back streets through town as main thoroughfares will be closed to motor transportation. State officers will set up temporary barracks here for the festival.

Prestonsburg's Mayor Curtis Clark this week called on all residents of the town to leave their automobiles at home during the Sesquicentennial, thus relieving traffic congestion and helping visitors find parking space. He suggested that visiting motorists park as near the edge of the city limits as possible.

He called on local residents to extend "the traditional Kentucky hospitality" to our guests. The Mayor added that the Prestonsburg police department has been instructed to act as an "information bureau" and to extend every possible courtesy to Sesquicentennial visitors.

Business and public buildings have been decorated, floats prepared, a log cabin built as a stage property for the Jenny Wiley pageant, a program readied for appearance of local, state and national dignitaries—and the work of preparation still goes on.

Augmenting the crowds will be 500 visiting high school band members, including bands from Paintsville, Pikeville, Virgie and possibly other schools.

The pioneer spirit, first evidenced by the growth of beards by the men and the foregoing of cosmetics by their ladies, becomes even more evident with the appearance of coonskin caps, buckskin "britches" and coats and frocks of other days.

The celebration, hailing the birth of Floyd county in 1800 when the nation was in knee-pants, will climax more than a year of planning and two months of intensive preparation for the event. The efforts of more than a hundred volunteer-workers have been devoted to the successful outcome of the event both as an anniversary of the founding of the original Floyd county and as a homecoming for natives of the area who now reside in distant sections of the country, Sesquicentennial Chairman Franklin W. Moore said.

KNOTT JUDGE VOIDS SUITS

Suits asking a total of $40,000 damages of former County Judge C. B. Bates, of Knott county, were dismissed in the Knott circuit court Monday by Circuit Judge Prater.

The suits were filed by Mrs. Luma Hicks, 45, wife of Riley Hicks, Emmalena, Ky., and her infant son, now a year old. Mrs. Hicks asked $25,000 and $15,000 damages were asked for the child.

The action grew out of the imprisonment, in March, 1948, of the Knott woman and her baby when she was held in contempt of court. Mrs. Hicks also alleged she was pregnant at the time she and the baby were sent to jail for six hours.

Judge Prater dismissed the suits after hearing plaintiffs' testimony. It was said here.

The National Geographic Society says Dr. Thomas Walker in 1750 disclosed the importance of Cumberland Gap as a way to the west.

U. S. cotton production has moved west in recent years so that Texas, Arizona and California now account for nearly half the crop.

$11,000,000 Expected In State Income Taxes Increase for This Year

Frankfort, Ky., May 8—Stronger law enforcement and better compliance by citizens will bring Kentucky about $11,000,000 of state income taxes this year, William G. Herzel said recently while acting as Kentucky Revenue Commissioner. Last year $10,000,000 was collected by the state on personal incomes.

Herzel said $9,179,000 had been received on 1949 earnings by the end of April. He estimated there is $1,125,000 of unprocessed returns in the mail bags at the Revenue Department.

Late returns and penalty payments will bring the total up to $11,000,000 he predicted.

Herzel said 102,000 persons paid state income tax in 1948 and 143,000 in 1949. This year about 180,000 will pay, he said.

He attributed the large increase of taxpayers to the Revenue Department's enforcement efforts by its field agents and to the program of public education.

Motion picture shorts explaining the tax and showing who is liable for it were shown in many Kentucky theatres. Herzel said the press and radio have cooperated in the compliance drive by disseminating stories about the tax.

He said many people have voluntarily come into the department and settled their income taxes for the years in which they were liable but failed to pay.

In Memoriam

(In kind remembrance of Muriel Baldrige who was brutally killed on June 27, 1949, this day one year ago.)

No one knows how we miss our dear Muriel in our home. We miss her voice and sweet smile. Oh, how we loved dear Muriel, but God loved her best and took her away.

The grief in our hearts today is just as sad as the morning she was found slain. Her dear voice called to us but we failed to hear.

We know her friends and school-mates will think of her this day. How sad it is, but she has only gone before to be with God, and someday we hope to meet her in Heaven.

The wicked one who killed our child has no faith in God. They have broken the laws of God and they cannot buy their way into Heaven. They may not confess here on earth, but the day will come when confession will be made to God. It may be too late. How sad to be lost to go down into eternity.

We want to thank each and everyone for the kindness and sympathy that has been given us in our sorrow and trouble.

The Baldrige Family.

Army Recruiting Service Open to Veteran Salesmen and Public Relations Men

It is now possible for men with sales or public relations experience to enlist directly for recruiting service, according to an announcement made this week by the U.S. Army and Air Force Recruiting Station, Paintsville.

Authority has been received from higher headquarters to enlist men whose initial assignment will be at the Portsmouth O., recruiting station to serve in the capacity of recruiting salesmen. Personnel enlisted for these assignments will, in addition to their normal pay, receive per diem allowances.

The mandatory qualifications are that the men chosen for recruiting duty must have returned from overseas assignments within the last 18 months, and be authorized to enlist in the grade of corporal or above.

The commanding officer said recruiting salesmen are more or less independent on their jobs, and are on their own as long as they produce recruits for the army or air force.

Men interested in enlisting for recruiting duty are urged to contact M/Sgt. Carpenter, Station Commander, Army and Air Force Recruiting Station, Room 205, Postoffice Building, Paintsville, for additional information.

FOR RENT—one sleeping room. See MRS. JOE P. TACKETT, Phone 3461. 6-22-4t.

A MIGHTY DOCUMENT!
The Birth Certificate of a Mighty Nation!

The Declaration of Independence was signed in Philadelphia on July 4, 1776, only 24 years before the birth of Floyd county on the first Monday in July, 1800. The United States was still in its infancy when Floyd county was born. The county's 150-year lifetime has marked the progress of the nation and through its resources has contributed greatly to a mighty nation's progress.

We were not there, in material presence, on either occasion nor have we witnessed all the progress. But our Elgin watches existed then and have timed each step of progress since.

Today a fourth generation of craftsmen working with the most modern and scientific watchmaking equipment in the world produce Elgin watches made in America by American craftsmen.

IT IS OUR PRIVILEGE TO PAY A TRIBUTE TO AN INTEGRAL PART OF A GREAT NATION BY JOINING IN THE FLOYD COUNTY SESQUICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION, JULY 1, 2, 3, 4.

Moore, Stephens Vows Said Here on June 24 At Methodist Church

In the Methodist Church here on Saturday, June 24, at 1:30 p.m., against an altar background of greenery, six seven-branched candleabrae holding white tapers, and baskets of white gladioli, Miss Evelyn Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moore, became the bride of Mr. George Lindsey Stephens, son of Mrs. Lucy Stephens.

Mrs. Palmer L. Hall was at the organ and Miss Kay Skaggs, former roommate of the bride, soprano, was soloist. Mrs. Hall's selections included "Always," "Clair de Lune," "O Promise Me," and "I Love You Truly," and the traditional Wedding March and recessional. Miss Skaggs sang "I Love Thee" and "Because."

During the double ring ceremony in which the Rev. Wm. Hugh Smith united the young couple, Mrs. Hall played "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" and at the conclusion of the ceremony Miss Skaggs sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's gown of white satin was styled with a fitted bodice waist. The yoke and fitted sleeves which ended in points over the hands were of chantilly lace. Her finger-tip veil of net, which was edged with venetian lace, was held in place with a coronet halo beaded with seed pearls. She carried a heart-shaped bouquet backed with tulle and lace and centered with a single white orchid from which fell a shower of white satin ribbon streamers tied in lovers knots of strophitis. She was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Alice Ryan, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a pink net gown over taffeta fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and off-shoulder sleeves. Her pleated mitts and bonnet matched her dress, and she carried a bouquet of deeper pink roses backed with tulle and lace.

Bridesmaids were Miss Lois Jean Wheeler and Miss Betty Jo Whitte, former roommates of the bride. Their identical gowns were blue net over taffeta and they wore matching mitts and bonnets. They carried bouquets of yellow roses backed with tulle and lace.

Little Miss Rose Mary Hall, flower girl, was dressed in yellow over taffeta with matching mitts and bonnet. She carried a white satin basket of yellow roses and rose petals.

Harris Stephens Howard, cousin of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Gordon and Edsel Moore, brothers of the bride, Ralph Rorrer, cousin of the groom, and Barkley Sturgill.

The mother of the bride wore a two-piece printed blue sheer with white accessories and a corsage of white roses. The groom's mother wore a white nylon sheer, with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The bride's table was beautifully decorated with a low arrangement of ivy and miniature bridal bouquets which surrounded the three-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Woodrow Greenwade assisted at the table and Mrs. Cora McHone was at the punch bowl.

Mrs. Stephens was graduated from Prestonsburg high school and from Morehead State College where she received her degree in music. For the past year she has been director of music at Wheelwright high school. Mr. Stephens was graduated from Prestonsburg high school and from Morehead State College where he received his degree in Business Administration. BSL Schedule-Makers Arrange Games for Sesqui Celebrators

In order to provide sports-minded Floyd County Sesquicentennial visitors with a suitable bill of fare to whet their appetite, Big Sandy baseball league schedule-makers, prior to the 1950 season opening, arranged playing dates so that Prestonsburg could offer three games on two consecutive home-playing dates, W. A. Malone, league prexy, revealed this week.

"Otherwise," he explained, "The league teams customarily alternate each home game with a game played away."

First of the Sesqui ball games finds Martin here at 2 p.m. Sunday for a single engagement and the second Sesqui date, Tuesday afternoon, July 4, brings Allen to the countyseat for a double header.

Other Big Sandy league July 4th doubleheaders take Price to Drift, Martin to Harold, Hi Hat to Elkhorn City and Henry Clay to Indian Creek.

Prestonsburg this week occupies an unusual position in league standings which seems like one of those "now you see it—now you don't" things.

Prestonsburg is in third place by virtue of an official percentage standing of .714 and Elkhorn City is in fourth place with a standing of .700 in the percentages. Yet, Prestonsburg is one and one-half games out of first place and Elkhorn City is only one game back of the leader which is, incidentally, the same game margin of second-place Allen at .750.

This is an oddity due to the difference in the number of games played by the various teams. A number of games were rained out and have to be played over. So the peculiarity can be blamed on the weather and it happens regularly in the best of leagues!

Prestonsburg won its fourth consecutive victory by downing Drift, 10-5, there Sunday as second-baseman Amen Childers had a perfect day. He was up five times, drew one walk and connected with four hits for four charged tries and scored one run. Hubbard connected for a two-bagger in the ninth to show three hits for five. Bill Goble, pitcher, added batting power with a double in the sixth.

Drift's Goines got three for four, Pack tapped two for three and P. Stumbo rapped out two for four. Pack tallied two of Drift's runs. Price put distance between itself and Henry Clay Sunday when "Deacon" Meade's charges humbled the Pike Countians, 10-4, to get a firm grip on fifth place. Price also has one of the one and one-half game margins out of first place.

Ky. City Classifications Enumerated By KML Group

Farm-Land Price Drop Noted Since March '49

Lexington, Ky.—A decrease of 3.4 per cent in prices of Kentucky farm land since March 1949, was reported recently by the Department of Farm Economics at the University of Kentucky.

Land prices have followed changes in cash incomes especially with respect to tobacco, the department's report said.

Only people who have lived in Monaco for four generations can become citizens.

Milk Production Estimated

Enough milk is produced annually in America to fill a river 3,000 miles long, 40 feet wide, and 3 feet deep. If all of the annual milk production in the U. S. were put into quart bottles side by side, the bottles would extend almost 140 times around the earth.

Sheep Have New Rival In Wool-Producing Chore

Artificial wool can now be made from corn, and this product is being looked upon with favor by textile manufacturers. Made from a protein called "zein," derived from corn, this artificial wool is being produced at the rate of about 100,000 pounds a month. This should be interesting news to corn producers facing acreage allotment cuts.

Health Films Now Available Free To Floyd Countians

Dr. Marvin Ransdell, county health officer, announces that a cooperative arrangement has been agreed upon whereby the people of Floyd county may borrow films free of charge from the Central Film Library of the State Department of Health. The library has just recently been centralized under the Division of Public Health Education.

At present there are approximately 250 films on a variety of health subjects which are available for statewide distribution. The only cost to the borrower is for return postage and insurance. Civic organizations or schools wishing to borrow films should notify the Floyd county health unit well in advance, so that the film library may have at least three weeks' notice. It is also advisable to list alternate films in addition to those requested in case the ones desired may already be in circulation.

Films should be returned as soon as possible after being shown. Special permission is necessary if films are to be kept longer than a week. Not more than two films should be borrowed at one time, unless a program requiring more films is planned.

Dr. Ransdell stressed the importance of allowing ample time in ordering films. "In this way," he said, "the person or persons wishing to borrow the film may avoid last minute disappointments."

Operators Licenses Go On Sale in July Throughout Kentucky

Frankfort, Ky., June 27, (Spl.)—Renewals of Motor Vehicle Operator's License for 1950-51, commonly referred to as "operator's licenses," will be on sale at the circuit court clerk's office in each county during July, Paul Boyd, of the Operator's License Section, Department of Revenue, announced today.

Boyd called attention to two important changes in the law. Kentucky Military Extension Permits become void on July 1, 1950. Operators' Permits from the United States are good only while operating official vehicles in the course of service. Military personnel must have a regular State Motor Vehicle Operator's License the same as a civilian, when operating any privately owned vehicle on the highway. On and after July 1, the holder of a Military Extension can surrender State's are good only while operator's license without an examination.

The other important change is that no operators license of any type can be issued to anyone not 16 years of age. Licenses issued for operating a 5 HP Motor vehicle or a motorcycle will be identified as such on the face of the license and cannot be used for the operation of a regular automobile.

Applicants for any type of operator's license between 16 and 18 years of age must have the father or legal guardian sign that he assumes responsibility under the Operator's License Law, Boyd said.

WHEELWRIGHT FLOYD SHOWS IN 1ST PLACE IN ELKHORN IN ELKHORN

Mullins pitched Wheelwright to victory over Omar, 6-0, Sunday to gain a full game lead in the Elkhorn baseball league. Mullins' shut-out was a two-hitter.

Drift smothered Harold, 8-5, at Pikeville to entrench itself in second place while Stone outlived Weeksbury. Score of the latter game was not officially reported.

Harold committed six errors when players found the pellet too hot to handle in the infield.

It was the heat and not his age that almost got veteran John Thornsby, the Drift pitcher, who has for years been one of the most outstanding ball players in eastern Kentucky.

"Long John" hit a triple and collapsed at third base. Given a courtesy runner, he soon revived on the sidelines and went back into the contest proving the old saying "You Can't Keep A Good Man Down!" He was good for a run and a hit in two times at bat.

Pepto, Drift, secondbaseman, sparkled at the payoff with three runs and only two times charged at bat.

LOOKING FOR GAME

The Prestonsburg Girls' softball team has many days of practice to their credit in preparation for the summer season but no opponents in prospect for games.

Some games were slated before the practice sessions began but, for various reasons such as vacations and summer school terms, would-be opponents suffered disintegration, one of the girls announced.

The girls stated that they will play anytime and anywhere with any opponent under satisfactory conditions. They want to play ball—period.

Members of the team are Barbara Spradlin, catcher, Jackie Conley, pitcher, Katie Greenwade, firstbase, Angie Miller, secondbase, Ann Whitaker, shortstop, Nancy Hughes, thirdbase, Hattie Literal, leftfield, Pauline Hereford, centerfield, and Lois Taylor, rightfield. Maurice Pace is coach.

Any team desiring a game with the Prestonsburg girls may contact Katie Greenwade or Pauline Hereford.

In Tax Assessments Over Preceding Year, Says Clyde Reeves

All but 19 of Kentucky's 120 counties showed tax assessment increases for the last year over those of the preceding year and that among these 19 is Floyd county.

This, H. Clyde Reeves, Commissioner of Revenue, announced at Frankfort Wednesday in releasing statewide assessment figures.

Floyd county's assessment total of $18,159,920, it was stated, is a drop of $190,207 from the preceding year. Reeves announced that the July 1, 1949, assessments of the 120 county tax commissioners totaled $3,160,508,856, an all-time high.

This is a gain over the previous year of $116,484,000. It also is the twelfth straight year that local tax values on property have shown increases.

The July 1, 1949, assessment is the basis for the 1950 tax bills, which will come due September 15 and must be paid before January 1, 1951, to avoid penalty.

There will be no assessment of property this year on July 1 because of changes in the tax calendar by the 1940 General Assembly. Instead, property will be listed for taxation in January and February next year, valued as of January 1, 1951.

Reeves said all but 19 of the state's 120 counties showed local assessment increases in 1949 over the preceding year. The 19 with lower assessments are Butler, Caldwell, Clinton, Cumberland, Edmonson, Floyd, Gallatin, Harlan, Henderson, Johnson, Knott, Letcher, Metcalfe, Monroe, Rowan, Todd, Union and Wayne.

The greatest loss, $2,369,000, was recorded in Union county. But Reeves explained this was largely because the Western Kentucky Coal Company moved its home office from Union to Hopkins county. Hopkins county's valuation was up $4,125,000.

Metropolitan Jefferson county showed the greatest gain. Its 1949 assessment was $44,913,000 more than in 1948.

Boyd county surprisingly nosed out Fayette county with the second-largest assessment increase. Boyd's gain of $1,019,000 was attributed by Reeves to recent expansion of Ashland Oil & Refining Company operations there. Fayette county's valuation climbed $11,008,000.

Menifee county has the state's smallest assessment—a total of $1,153,000, but a gain over the previous year of $32,281. Two other counties had assessments below $2,000,000. They are Owsley county with a total of $1,850,000, and Wolfe county with a total of $1,647,000.

Other tax-calendar changes put into effect by the Legislature in 1949 was the shifting of the taxing date on bank deposits from July 1 to September 1, 1950. The state tax of a cent on each $10 on deposit remains unchanged. The bank deducts the tax from your account.

The new law moves the assessment date to January 1, 1951, for all property, including whiskey in bonded warehouses, but excluding bank deposits. Franchise companies, which are assessed by the state, will continue to be assessed as of December 31.

Further, starting this year, local tax commissioners are required to list, but not for taxation, all tax-exempt property owned by churches, schools, and other non-profit organizations. This will enable the state to determine how much of this type of property exists and will help account for some of the "missing acres" now unlisted.

The gains in local assessments over the last 12 years have been accomplished locally without the help of the new 1949 legislation permitting the state to help counties reassess their property. The new assessment in 1950 should show a substantial gain over 1949 as a result of the legislation.

STUMBO'S ORDER

This week, on the eve of the celebration, County Judge Henry Stumbo restored to the county an honored order which had almost been lost with the passing of time and which, now decreed to be permanent, may become as famous as the Kentucky Colonel.

Thus brought forth from beneath the cloak of antiquity, viewed and found good and made a part of Floyd county and its future was the Order of Grand Sir.

And the title will be pronounced, as in olden days when it was conferred on prominent early settlers, "Grondsir," with the accent on the first syllable.

Formal certificates of the honor will be conferred during the Sesquicentennial, which begins here Saturday for four days, on distinguished visitors. For this Sesquicentennial (150th) year of the county, the number of persons so honored may run no more than 150. In future years, the membership may include those citizens of the county who have "contributed materially to the well-being or development of Floyd county, or who have achieved greatness in their respective fields of endeavor."

Origin of the title, which apparently came to Floyd county from Virginia and North Carolina with those earliest venturesome folk who sought homes in the wilderness that now is represented by 15 Eastern Kentucky counties, is obscure. Some hold it may have been a variation of the title, "Sire," with which nobility was addressed in Europe; others, that it was originally "grand sire," meaning grandfather. Anyway, it is known that there was a "Grondsir" Straton and a "Grondsir" Vaughan among the leaders of those pioneering families, and even today these two patriarchs of large Floyd county families are mentioned by their descendants as "Grondsir."

The order of Judge Stumbo reads: "IN THE MATTER OF THE ORDER OF GRAND SIR. Be it known that there are a number of distinguished men who have contributed to the health, welfare, and culture of Floyd County, Kentucky; and that the Floyd County Court desires to express its appreciation to those prominent citizens who have so contributed to the development of Floyd County and in furtherance of said feeling of friendship, there is hereby established by the County Court of Floyd County Kentucky, the Order of Grand Sir, whose membership shall be limited to distinguished persons who have assisted in the growth and development of Floyd County.

"It is further ordered by the Court that, after the Order of Grand Sir has been bestowed upon any person, they shall henceforth be known, recognized and greeted by the title of Grand Sir, instead of the usual manner of Mr. And it is further ordered and adjudged by this court that all persons in addressing the members of this order shall use said term of Grand Sir.

"It is further ordered and adjudged by the Court that a membership committee, composed of Curtis Clarke, Henry P. Scalf and W. W. Burchett, be appointed for the purpose of presenting to this Court the names of the distinguished persons eligible to become members of this order.

"That the members of this order may, from time to time, prescribe such constitution, by-laws, and rules of government, as it may deem fitting and proper with powers of succession and election of officers.

"It appearing that this is the year 1950 A.D., which is the 150th year of the County of Floyd, it is therefore, ordered that the membership in this Order not exceed 150 persons for the year 1950, and that thereafter the membership may be increased to include those citizens who have contributed materially to the well-being or development of Floyd County, or who have achieved greatness in their respective fields of endeavor.

"It is further ordered that suitable certificates of membership be presented to the members hereafter accepted."

Frankfort—A fall from a kitchen table yesterday killed Homer Hardin Spillman, six-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Spillman. His mother had bathed him and placed him on the table. She turned away to get his clothes and he rolled off and hit the floor. Death was attributed to a fractured skull.

Blackbottom Not at Bottom, Future Is Bright in Softball

Blackbottom is nowhere near the bottom and its future looks bright rather than dark in the Prestonsburg independent softball league according to the loop's current official standings after a second full week of play.

The boys from the north end of town took three victims in tow, Gulf, Hughes and West Prestonsburg, to maintain their undefeated pace. Their closest call came at the hands of West Prestonsburg Tuesday night. Eight innings were required to win, 14-13. West Prestonsburg led 9 to 1 going into the fifth inning.

Another Tuesday night game saw Hughes win its first game by trimming Music's Gulfs, 15-14. A seventh-inning hit stretched into a triple by Allen opened the gate to victory. The rally of the lower half of the frame overcame Gulf's four-run lead.

The Eagles "lit" on David, 9-6, Monday night and Hereford's disposed of Francis, 8-5, Friday. Both winners have unsullied records with three wins to the credit of each.

David held its own through the week by downing Cooley's, 14-4, before the loss to the Eagles. Arrowwood bettered its standing at the expense of Cooley's, 18-2, on Monday night.

League officials announced that scheduled games for the Sesquicentennial period are suspended until a later time. Results of games played since Wednesday of last week, are:

HOW'S YOUR HEALTH?

Summer is the season for Sunday School picnics, family unions, lawn fetes and week-end camping trips. Food always plays an important part in such outings since eating in the open seems to stimulate appetites and give added zest to even the most commonplace menu.

It is particularly important during summer months to make sure that the food served at such gatherings is properly refrigerated. Many cases of food poisoning are reported annually because certain foods—salad dressing, cream filled pies, milk, fish, jellied foods and meat, for example—have not been given the proper care. Chicken salad is probably the most dangerous of all food served. Due to the fact the chicken is usually cooked the day before the salad is prepared and not properly refrigerated.

Before packing the picnic basket, it is always wise to make sure that potato salad, baked beans or sandwich fillings are put into clean closed containers and kept cold until they are used. Insulated bags, such as those used by food markets when selling frozen foods can be used for such a purpose.

Unless some special care is taken, food poisoning may result. Many of the cases reported to the Floyd County Health Unit can be traced to occasions when food is prepared in large quantities by persons not experienced as food handlers.

Food poisoning is caused by the growth of germs in food. These germs multiply rapidly in certain foods at room temperature. Remember food may be unfit to eat and still show no change in taste, appearance or smell.

For suggestions as to summer dishes that are safe to serve in hot weather, several excellent nutrition pamphlets are obtainable from the Floyd County Health Unit.

Turner at Fort Bragg For Artillery Training

Among those attending the six weeks Field Artillery ROTC summer camp at Fort Bragg is Billy J. Turner, of Drift, a student at Eastern State College, Richmond. He is one of a group of 600 cadets from 21 colleges and universities located in the eastern half of the United States.

These cadets have all completed one year of theoretical training at their respective schools, and will now undergo practical work as field artillery junior officers. Upon completion of the camp most of the students will return to their schools for a further year of theoretical work after which they will be commissioned second lieutenants in the field artillery reserve. The other cadets, approximately 30, have already completed their two years of school work and will receive their commissions at ceremonies at the end of camp.

Father of Floyd Man Dies Monday in Pike; Rites Held Tuesday

Elisha Johnson, 80 years old, father of Willie Johnson, Bypro, and a Pike county merchant and farmer, died at 4:45 p.m. Monday at his home at Zebulon after an illness of two weeks. Death was attributed to a heart condition.

Son of the late Elisha Johnson, Cr., he was born in April, 1861, at Ashcamp, N.C. He had lived at Zebulon for two months and was a member of the Christian Church.

FINAL PLANS SET FOR REA ANNUAL MEET

Final plans have been completed for the biggest annual meeting in the history of the Big Sandy Rural Electric co-op., Dr. J. Gambill, manager has announced.

The meeting will be held at Prestonsburg for two days next week, July 6th and 7th.

"We have done everything possible to make this year's meeting the most educational and entertaining one on record," Gambill said.

"The second day will be the big one for the co-op members, although that doesn't mean they aren't just as welcome on the first day—it's their meeting all the way through," the manager said. He explained that special events for town friends of the co-op have been arranged for the first day and the first night.

Manager Gambill added: "There will be something of special interest to members and their friends every hour—contests, demonstrations of the latest farm and home equipment, good music, speaking, and prizes. Attendance prizes will be as big and as valuable as last year with some extras added."

The business meeting, when co-op members will elect a board of directors and transact other necessary business for the year, will be held the afternoon of the second day, just before the big prize drawing, the manager said.

Present Big Sandy Rural Electric Cooperative officers and directors, which includes four Floyd county residents, and their addresses, are: Johnnie Childers, Thelma; Woodrow Burchett, Prestonsburg; Glen Burchett, Woods; William Hicks, Haysville; Cort Daniels, River; Clabe Bingham, Prestonsburg; G. C. Glen, Inez; Luther J. Conley, Swamp Branch.

TO THE PEOPLE OF FLOYD COUNTY:

On this occasion of the 150th anniversary and sesquicentennial celebration of Floyd county, it is appropriate to mention the importance of family relationships in the mountains of Kentucky, and the part they have played in the lives of our people since pioneer days.

My great-grandfather on my mother's side was David Cooley, who came to this county in the year 1799, and married Lida Webb, Emerson, and was one of the first settlers of Prestonsburg. James Cooley, my grandfather married Julia Auxier, daughter of Nathaniel and Hester Mayo Auxier. My grandfather on my father's side was Samuel Stephens, one of Floyd county's oldest pioneers. He was married to Florence Patton and settled at Stephen's Branch more than 170 years ago. My grandfather, Morgan Greenville Stephens, married Myllinda Mosley Hale, daughter of John and Kate Mosley Hale, and settled on Bull Creek more than 100 years ago.

I am the widow of the late Joe Jarrell whose grandfather, Ansel Jarrell migrated here from Virginia and settled in the wilds of Beaver Creek and Bull Creek over 100 years ago was married to Betsy Allen Frazier.

Floyd county people, I'm interested in my son-in-law, George Glen Hatcher, son of the late George and Mary Fairchild Hatcher, and who is a native Floyd county, born and reared on Abbot Creek and who is now the present Secretary of our State of Kentucky. Hatcher now is making the race for senator against Earle C. Clements, the present governor of Kentucky. The man who promised the good roads to Floyd county, an increase in teachers' salaries, a bonus for the veterans, an increase in taxes, also to back labor, I'll let you be the judge whether or not this has been done.

You good people will be surprised to know we have a few Floyd county politicians who are supporting a man like this, and opposing your own Floyd county boy, I hope you remind them of a few of these promises when they come around to make more promises to you. I think this little poem would be good to recite to them:

The truth itself is not believed,
From those who often have deceived.

I have too much faith in you good people to think you would oppose your own interest. I know you too well.

Thanking you in advance for your support in the August primary, I am your friend at all times.

COURT OKEHS WET VICTORY

Pike Circuit Court Rules Elkhorn City Wet-Dry Election To Be Valid

If a ruling handed down Monday in the Pike circuit court stands, Elkhorn City will become an alcoholic oasis in a local-option desert.

Special Judge John D. Noland, Richmond, Ky., held that the victory claimed by the wet forces of Elkhorn City was valid and that the election—originally claimed by the wets by an 11-vote majority—should be allowed to stand.

There was a rumor around the courthouse that the wets would not contest the election further, but the law firm of Wine, Venters & Stephenson, representing the wets, had not come to a conclusion on that score late Monday.

If the sale of liquor becomes legal in Elkhorn City, a mining community about as far as one can go in Kentucky without invading Virginia, it will be the only wet spot in the Big Sandy valley east of Catlettsburg.

After hearing testimony in the case two weeks ago, Judge Noland heard arguments of both sides last Monday and took the case under advisement until Monday.

Results of the election were entered in the county clerk's records April 3, with the wets claiming a majority of 11.

Suit to void the election was filed by A. B. Person, John Ford and William Rowe, Sr.

They claimed that the wet majority was obtained by persons voting openly before election officers and others, by persons who did not reside in the precincts in which they voted, by underage persons, and by persons who accepted money or other valuable considerations for their vote.

There were 323 registered voters of the town who requested that the election be held. The vote showed 293 for the sale of alcoholic beverages and 282 against it.

Defendants in the suit were members of the Pike County Board of Election Commissioners, Roy Conway, chairman, and J. Ervine Sanders and Frank Scott, members.

Curtis M. Caudill, mayor Elkhorn City, probably will be appointed alcoholic-beverage administrator for the town, which is designated as Elkhorn City by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, but is shown on postal maps as Praise, the name of the postoffice.

In making hay the water content of grass is reduced from about 75 per cent to around 15 per cent.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D. Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"I Told You So"

No neighborhood is complete without its examples its models. I suppose that few children were reared in Fidelity who did not have held up as examples—commendable or horrible—certain people who had lived there, I have never had any way of knowing how many of the examples knew that they were such things. It would be a fine thing to have some sort of magic power, such as the ability to follow up the people who used to be mentioned as illustrations, to see whether their later lives had been prophesied by their earlier ones. Suppose we take a bad boy, for instance. I knew plenty of them and do not have to imagine details.

One of our worst boys was an only son of a relatively wealthy family. He was handsome, likable, and wholly lacking in morals. Girls fell for him as they do now for movie heroes. He was the right word here, for that is literally what some of them did. Horrified mothers held up this young fellow as a horrid example and prospected dire things for him. And they were right. He led a wild life and died an unnatural death from dissipation. To the end of his forty years or so he was still the likable, daring, unmoral animal. I attended his funeral and wondered why he did not use his assets for good citizenship better.

Another boy I knew, younger than this one, went the same road and came to the same end. Society contributed to his downfall somewhat by laughing at his errors because he was such a personable fellow. His more moral brothers seemed much less interesting to most people; somehow they have succeeded in remaining above the littleness of their tragic brother. But you rarely hear anything about them. They were and are plain, honest, hard-working fellows, neither saints nor sinners. And society, whether at Fidelity or Hollywood, somehow does not like such folks. They do not have a good advertising value.

These bad boys were bad enough at best and are to be pitied for their weakness in being unable to adjust themselves to a world where some moral firmness is needed. The brats that most of us hated wholeheartedly were the models, the ones who had the best (artificial) manners. We lay awake at night studying ways to find weak spots in the armor of these redoubtable. It was often not very hard to do this, for polish, always under suspicion at Fidelity, quite often was a cover-up for something not too good. My charming, much-travelled cousin who seemed so good and who had his parents so completely fooled lived until he was middle-aged before being found out. Again, his ordinary brothers and sisters, who went on their ways with a good deal of calm and assurance, were almost ignored until tragedy stalked the polished one who had no great depth of character. I did not rejoice when the charming fellow fell, but I wanted to resort to that old, old "I told you so," for as a little boy I had heard him bragging, to some other big boys, of his numerous daring exploits that his father and mother had never suspected.

In a county seat town where I have often visited lived a young lady who was so exquisite of manner that mothers of young girls used this young lady as a model for their families. You can guess the hidden fires that burned against the model. No great calamity has ever happened to the polished dream girl of the small town; in fact, she is middle-aged and gray and wrinkled now. But time has a way of taking some of the starch out of most of us. Her manners would hardly attract attention now, though they are worth a carload of the ones she used to own. There are hundreds of younger people who are in the limelight now; polished exteriors do not take as they did when the century was new. Grandma can just sit back and recall her former triumphs and let natural, attractive grand-daughter get the praise now.

State Health Dept. Begins V. D. Control With Mass Testing

Mass blood testing of school children and a new filter paper blood test for babies are the new techniques inaugurated by Dr. Robert Hansen, director of the division of venereal disease control of the State Department of Health, in the drive against congenital syphilis in Kentucky.

Since the majority of congenital syphilis is not detected until the child is past infancy, Dr. Hansen has begun mass blood testing in public and private schools and orphanages, through cooperation of the State Department of Health and the county health units.

The filter paper blood test is a simple, easy-to-obtain test that has been developed by the U. S. Public Health Service.

Out of 27,287 cases of syphilis reported in Kentucky the past five years, 973 have been cases of congenital syphilis—the type that is passed on to innocent babies by their infected mothers.

"This figure represents only an estimated one-third of the cases of congenital syphilis in Kentucky. Unfortunately, too many cases are unknown or unreported," said Dr. Hansen.

Since penicillin appeared on the scene in 1945, the discovery and cure of other types of syphilis has sent those statistics on the decline. But no comparable decline has been shown in congenital syphilis.

This situation has alarmed national and state public health authorities and has sent Dr. Hansen on the trail of congenital syphilis in Kentucky.

"The cruelist and saddest aspect of syphilis concerns the babies who are born with the disease," Dr. Hansen said. "The disease is transmitted from the infected mother to the unborn child sometime after the fifth month of pregnancy."

"Treatment when started before the eighth month prevents the transmission of syphilis from the mother in at least nine out of ten cases. If the infected expectant mother receives no treatment, the child stands only about one chance in eight of being born healthy," he emphasized.

"When no treatment is given the expectant mother, the child is often born dead, usually prematurely. If born alive, the infant may die shortly after birth," Dr. Hansen added.

Children found with congenital syphilis may obtain treatment from their family physicians or the Kentucky Rapid Treatment Center in Louisville. When infected children fail to get treatment, the disease often strikes them in their teens or in adult life with blindness, deformity, insanity, heart disease or crippling paralysis.

LAKE NEEDS NO STOCKING

Fisheries Biologist Says Bass Plentiful; Tests Made This Week

Dewey lake needs no stocking of bass, Bernard Carter, fisheries biologist, Kentucky Division of Game & Fish, declared here Monday.

He arrived at that conclusion after only two sweeps of a net. A seining crew dipped into the Tandy's Branch "slew" Monday afternoon, and what they saw convinced them this year's natural hatch of fish in those waters is heavy.

"The bass reproduction in the lake," said Mr. Carter, "is extremely good. Natural reproduction is not only high; the condition of the fish is good."

To add bass fry from state hatcheries or to buy adult bass for the lake would be a waste of money and might throw the fish population of the waters out of balance, he added. "You might add a million fry to the lake for the carp and gar to feed on, and the result would not be as satisfactory as the natural reproduction which already is going on," he commented.

The Division of Game & Fish added 3,000 largemouth fingerlings to the lake, Saturday.

Plans of sportsmen over the section to purchase adult bass in an effort to hurry along heavier catches in the reservoir have been discouraged by Minor Clarke, superintendent of fish management for the state Division of Game & Fish.

Five thousand adult crappie are scheduled for release in the lake next month.

Last week's heavy rains brought the reservoir several feet above the conservation stage, and it is still a foot or two high. As a consequence, few bass have been caught within the last week.

STATE OFFERS HEALTH SHOW

To Be Held July 6-7 Featuring Exhibit On Heart Disease

Something new in health education will be offered visitors to the Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation's farm show caravan when it arrives in Prestonsburg for a two-day "stand," July 6-7. Besides the attractions planned by the RECC, the State Department of Health will have exhibits on heart disease, venereal disease, tuberculosis and sanitation.

The show will open at a site on the main street of Prestonsburg at 1 p.m., on July 6 and run until 10 p.m. The second day, the schedule is from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Feature of the heart exhibit will be the movie, "Be Your Age," which will run continuously. The 11-minute short tells the story of how one man recovers from a heart attack and learns how to adjust himself to living with a handicapped heart. Everyone who visits the booth will be urged to weigh to determine any degree of overweight, an important factor in heart disease.

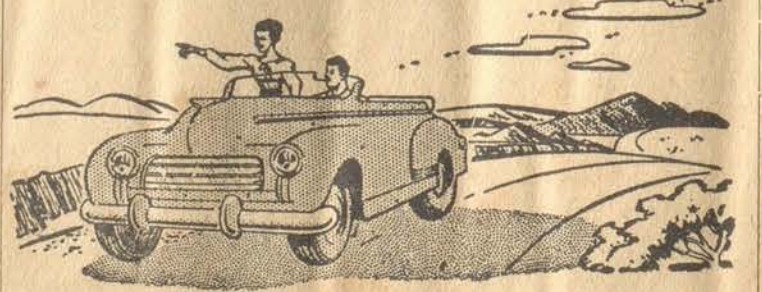

A special auditorium tent set up on the grounds will show top-grade movies on venereal diseases. "These movies have been seen by thousands of Kentuckians who have found them both entertaining and informative," said Dr. Robert Hansen, director of venereal disease control.

The mobile x-ray unit of the division of Tuberculosis Control will offer free x-rays for all over 15 years of age.

Sanitation will be represented by a model farm home complete with septic tank and cistern. Lights flash to show pure water coming into the house and waste water leaving. Sanitarians from health units in the area will be in the booth to confer with those interested.

Coffee grounds make a good sweeping compound for concrete floors.

Human Icicle To Be Frozen In Ice at Floyd County Sesquicentennial Celebration Opening

Pinkie Pinkerton, billed as "the coldest man alive" and "the human icicle," will try to break the world's record set by the late Houdini for a human to be frozen in a solid cake of ice when he appears at the playground in Prestonsburg as one of the attractions for the grand opening of the Floyd County Sesquicentennial celebration Saturday, July 1.

Pinkerton will be sealed in a two-ton block of solid ice where he will try to remain longer than the 17-minute record set by Houdini. Dressed in nothing but a pair of trunks, Mr. Pinkerton will expose his body to the below-freezing temperature inside the ice.

A doctor, nurse and ambulance will be standing by in case of an emergency. Should an accident occur, it is understood by Mr. Pinkerton and his promoters that the Sesquicentennial officials will not be held responsible.

Knitting, fishing, sheep-herding and farming are the industries of the Shetland Islands.

GIANTS SEEK LOCAL TALENT

To Conduct Tryout Camp
 At Ashland, June 27-29,
 For Baseball Prospects

The New York Giants are probing Eastern Kentucky for baseball talent, according to an announcement released by the club this week through their representative, O. H. Goodin, former Martin high school athlete and more recently with the Baltimore Orioles in 1940-41.

Goodin, in a club press release to The Times, stated that the Giants will operate a tryout camp and school at Ashland, June 27, 28, 29, in an effort to discover future greats for the Giants in this territory. Due to the successful amateur operation of the B.G. Sandy and Elkhorn leagues in Floyd and adjacent counties, he said, club representatives felt reasonably assured that this territory held some excellent young prospects.

The camp and school, scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. on each date mentioned, at Central Park, will be held under the direction of Tony Ravish, Giant baseball scout for this section of the state. He will be assisted by Dale Alexander and John (Hans) Lobert, two well-known baseball men.

There are no tuition charges or entry fees of any kind. Candidates will have to pay their own transportation expenses in coming to Ashland and returning home, if they are not signed to contracts with clubs owned or affiliated with the New York Giants organization. They will have to pay their living expenses while attending the camp. However, candidates who are signed to contracts with clubs owned or affiliated with the organization will be reimbursed to the extent of their living costs and transportation from their homes while attending the camp.

Because of the existing agreements between the National High School Federation and the American Legion Organized Baseball High School, undergraduates and players who are still eligible for Junior Legion competition will not be admitted to the camp.

All boys reporting to the camp are requested to bring their own uniforms and equipment. Balls, bats and catchers outfits will be furnished by the Giants Baseball Club.

Any boys in Floyd and adjacent county, desiring further information about the camp and school may contact O. H. Goodin, 4021 Skidmore St., or phone Oak 2964, Ashland, The Times was informed.

KENTUCKY ON THE MARCH

By EWING GALLOWAY

You may recall my nagging at Henry Ward, conservation commissioner, about getting more road signs to help people from outside the state find the great scenic wonders in Kentucky.

Well, everything is jake now. At least for the present. No more bronx cheers. Mr. Ward gets the kind of cheers that thrill the souls of actors and cause many public speakers to keep on talking when they should shut up and sit down. From your humble correspondent a lot of amens and hallelujahs.

Mr. Ward says he has had his own troubles getting the signs. That was to be expected in view of the fact that special arrangements had to be made.

A letter from Commissioner Ward follows:

"I appreciate your interest in continuing to point out that adequate signs have not been placed directing visitors to Kentucky Dam and Kentucky Lake. You may be surprised to know that 30 signs have been erected along the highways, not the two that you mentioned in your article recently.

"The trouble is that there are so many highways which must be considered, that 30 do not make a dent in the picture. Twenty-five new signs have been on order for several months, and I have just placed an order for 40 additional. These will be large metal signs in Scotchite, so that they will be effective at night as well as in the daytime.

"The delay in acquiring signs has arisen from the fact that the Highway Department has been unable to furnish us with signs and arrangements had to be made for their manufacture elsewhere.

"I hope that you will continue watching this situation and calling attention to any shortcomings."

Maybe in a year or two we can get all the signs that are needed to direct people to the big scenic attractions in the state. That might mean 500 metal signs 16x20 inches. That number wouldn't make a dent in the state's treasury.

Signs directing people to Mammoth Cave and Kentucky Dam should be over the border in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Tennessee. I believe I have seen one or two Mammoth Cave signs in Indiana.

Road signs are the cheapest advertising the state can buy.

IN MEMORIAM

Dear Agnes,

You are gone but not forgotten. I loved you in life. I will love you in death. God only knows that I tried everything in this world to try and make you well, but it was all in vain. God wanted you and He called you away on the second day of June 1950. You had arthritis that there was no cure for, and how you suffered death a hundred times.

You told me six months ago you were going to die, but I did not think so. At that time you told me that it killed your brother, Bill, and that it was going to kill you. God knows best, not I.

Your husband,

JOHN H. HAYES.

P. S. And I want to thank all the good people for what they have done for me and my wife when she lived, and for what they did for me when she lay a corpse, and for all the good things to eat.

JOHN H. HAYES.

Kentucky Home-comers Must Pay Way to Fair

Frankfort, Ky.—Kentucky's home-comers will have to pay their way into the State Fair this year. Ralph Gilbert Stone, Louisville attorney, asked whether the State Fair Board can issue free tickets to such groups. Assistant Attorney General Squire N. Williams, Jr., pointed out State law forbids free tickets to the Fair or to any horse show held on the grounds.

Hey Brooklyn! Boy—what Dem Bums could do to this one! No kidding, Birmingham, Ala., baseball fans are going to celebrate "Umpire Appreciation Week" July 9-15. City league umpires will be admitted free to all Birmingham Baron games at Rickwood during the week. Southern Association arbiters will receive a shower-of presents, not pop bottles—one night. The Birmingham News is sponsoring the tribute to the men in blue, including those who might be in various stages of "black-and-blue."

W. G. Biggers, chairman of the speakers bureau for the four-day celebration which begins next Saturday, said formal invitations have been or will be sent to King George of England, Churchill, Atlee, Marshal and Madame Chiang Kai-shek, Tito, President Aleman of Mexico, Premier Louis St. Laurent and former Premier McKenzie King of Canada, the Agha Kahn, Aly and Rita, Peron (and Eva) of Argentina, King Rama IX, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, and Alfalfa Bill Murray.

Biggers announced with a perfectly straight face that the invitations are actually being mailed. They read:

"You are invited to attend a real old-fashioned Kentucky Politics Day (of which, sub, there is none whicher) on our grand and glorious July 4, 1950. You may talk politics all day long. Free speaking stumps on every corner. With that hospitality to be found only in the deep heart of the green hills of Eastern Kentucky, we most cordially extend this invitation to you."

Governor Earle C. Clements and four former governors of Kentucky will share honors in the rededication of this valley of the Big Sandy. Clements will make the principal address opening the sesquicentennial at 11 a.m., Saturday. The Governor will speak during the same part of the program on which Charles I. Dawson, Louisville, former U.S. district judge and candidate for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate, is scheduled to speak. Dawson is co-chairman of the Come-Home-To-Kentucky-in-1950 celebration, sharing his duties with Thomas Graham, Louisville.

Clements is seeking the Democratic nomination for the Senate. Also scheduled to speak during the same

SPORTS AFIELD

The primary purpose of streamer, bucket and spinner flies is to get big fish, and big fish lie deep. Getting a fly down under the current is the first lesson in this type of fishing.

An obvious method of sinking a fly deep is to weight it. The best form of weighted fly has a split BB or other metal ball clamped on the head of the fly in the making. Others are weighted in the body. A fly not preweighted can be fixed by winding the long shank of the hook with strip lead.

Yet a fly, no matter how it is weighted, will plane to the surface with the line and leader when it is under tension across or against the current. The way it is handled in the water makes the difference, claims fly fisherman Dan Holland.

For instance, when a fly is cast across current, it should be allowed to float free for some distance on an almost slack line. If the current is strong enough, the fly should be cast quartering upstream instead of across to give it a chance to get down.

Another method is to drop the fly in the current where it surges over a rock and cuts under the surface beyond it. Or if it is dropped on the dividing line between current and backwater, it will sink readily.

In any case, once the fly is down under, you'll get the most killing action with a series of short twitches, although all types of retrieves should be tried through any likely looking spot. Work the fly slow, especially where interested in walleyes, bass or pike. Even with large trout, you'll have better luck with a slow-moving fly.

Often the current will grab the belly of the line and race the fly along in spite of everything. To counteract this, the angler must concentrate on the opposite; a slow retrieve.

No matter what fly you use, make the stream work for you. Let the current take charge. It is bound to carry the fly in the channels where fish expect food.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS

In last week's paper notice was given that "due to some difficulty (local) in obtaining the necessary temporary loan, 9th month salary checks have not been released."

Here are the details of the difficulty. The Board of Education voted to issue bonds to pay $45,000 on the Melvin school building. The Superintendent did not properly check title to the building site, and suit was filed by heirs claiming the property, making floating the bonds impossible.

The Board voted to pay the building contractor, thinking the money was to come from the bonds. When that was impossible the Superintendent paid the contractor, anyway. Therefore, there was no money left to pay the teachers.

The Superintendent tried to borrow the money to pay the teachers but the bank refused the loan because the law in the absence of an emergency permits borrowing only when there is revenue coming in for that year to cover the loan. There is no more revenue for this school year.

The State Board was then asked to declare an emergency so that the legal provision above could be avoided. It complied and I have signed a note on behalf of the Board of Education borrowing $45,000 to pay the teachers.

The mistake in selecting property with a questionable title, followed by payment of the contractor, has cost the teachers money, for many of them have had to discount their last month's salary. Also this mistake brought about the added expense of 6 per cent that must be paid for the loan by the school system.

IDLE CLAIMS REACH COURT

As Fraud Alleged; Five Floyd Cases Are Under Probe

Of more than 50 cases of fraudulent claims for unemployment insurance benefits which have been prosecuted in Kentucky since January, one was prosecuted in circuit court here, and among the numerous others being prepared for prosecution or being reviewed to determine if such action is justified, at least five are from this county.

As a result of the probe of alleged claims frauds in this county, those workers under investigation, though not prosecuted, are held ineligible for further benefits from the time the fraudulent acts were committed, it was said.

One worker was fined $10 and costs in circuit court here, a few months ago, suspended from further benefits and obliged to repay the $80 he had collected in benefits.

Prosecution, O. B. Hannah, director of the Unemployment Insurance Division, said, are in line with the agency's firm policy of "cracking down" on would-be "chislers" on the unemployment insurance rolls.

The agency's field investigation staff, specially organized to check on possible fraudulent claims, is currently preparing 27 additional cases for prosecution and 29 others are being reviewed to determine if the violation was of such proportion as to justify similar action, Hannah said, adding that another 45 cases are under investigation.

Hannah disclosed that since the first of the year, a total of 436 "suspicious" cases of fraudulent claiming has been investigated. Of this number, 233 were found to have claimed benefits with fraudulent intent while the remainder were absolved.

These totals are exclusive of violations of the Servicemen's Readjustment Allowance Act which the Kentucky agency administers for the federal government, Hannah asserted, explaining that although the agency makes the investigations, the offenders are prosecuted by the federal government.

"Although these totals seem large," the agency head explained, "they, in fact, represent a very small proportion of those claiming benefits and emphasize the fact that by and large the average claimant is honest. As in all programs, however, there is a small majority who look upon the job insurance program as an easy way of collecting money to which they are not entitled." It is to weed out this small segment that our investigation unit was created.

Many claimants apparently are unaware that earnings from partial employment, part-time or odd job work does not necessarily bar them from receiving benefits, Hannah explained, although claimant's benefit check is reduced by 80 percent of such earnings.

"Claimants sometimes conceal their earnings from other than full-time work because they are afraid they will be denied benefits completely if they report them, whereas, in fact, very often they would still be entitled to some payment even after the proper deduction for such earnings is made from the benefit check," Hannah emphasized.

Each week for which benefits are fraudulently claimed in a separate offense and is punishable by a fine up to $50.00 and jail sentence up to 30 days. It is not necessary that benefits actually have been collected to constitute an offense. It is the attempt to collect illegal benefits, whether successful or not, that is a violation of the law.

In addition to running the risk of prosecution for fraudulent claiming, any person determined to have made false claims for benefits suffers forfeiture of all future rights on his claim and must make full restitution of any amount illegally collected.

Rev. Garriott To Preach At Methodist Homecoming

Upon the completion of work on the church building begun one year ago, the Prestonsburg Methodist church invites all church members, far and near, as well as friends, former members and pastors, to be present Sunday for "Homecoming" and a basket dinner.

The completed work includes roof repair, painting, changing from coal to gas heat, remodeling the church kitchen, rewiring of the entire building, installation of fluorescent lights in the basement, refinishing of the floor in the sanctuary, and installation of new pews and rug, together with a few other minor improvements.

The Rev. W. B. Garriott, former pastor here, now of Flemingsburg, will preach at 10:55 Sunday morning. His many friends of Prestonsburg and vicinity are urged to be present for both worship and dinner.

Sven Sjogren, Kristina Bergens-traelie, Tam Ich Vu, Yilmaz Altug, and Chandra Raj Amarsingham are students at the University of Kentucky, and they come from the countries of Finland, Sweden, Indo-China, Turkey, and Ceylon. They and nine other students from foreign lands are attending U.K. on scholarships. The chance to study in an American university will mean a lot to them, but it should mean even more to the Kentucky boys and girls who will be their classmates. Have you ever noticed how much better you like a fellow after you get to know him?

Mark Warren, editor of the Woodford Sun, Versailles, once asked me how it should be written: Blue Grass or blue grass or Bluegrass or bluegrass, and I promised to delve into the subject for him. This extensive research project has now been completed and I can report the following, source being Webster, N. Collegiate Dictionary Fifth Edition: "bluegrass. 1. Any of several grasses (genus Poa) having bluish-green culms (further research revealed that culms are jointed stems); esp. a valuable pasture grass (P. pratensis) called Kentucky bluegrass. 2. (cap.) With the, The Bluegrass region of central Kentucky." In other words, Mark, and anyone else who might care, if it's the grass itself, it's bluegrass; if it's the region, it's Bluegrass; in either case, it's all written together—so Mr. Webster says.

Speech Therapy Awards Go to Five Teachers

Award of scholarships in speech therapy to five Kentucky teachers—two from this section of the state—was announced this week by Mrs. Viola Morey, executive director of the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children. The teachers will attend classes this summer at the University of Kentucky. The scholarships were approved for: Miss Savannah Anderson, Science Hill; Miss Jo Anne Brashear, Viper; Mrs Lena K. George, Vanceburg; Miss Henrietta Gibson, Ambury; and Mrs. Cecil T. Robertson, Maysville, who expects to teach in Fayette county. Mrs. Morey said the Kentucky Society included the speech therapy scholarships for teachers as a part of its work for handicapped children in local communities. She said the classes would include instructions on aiding children who stutter, stammer, have crippling speech disorders, and cases of arrested speech development.

J. DAN BALDWIN

Louisville, Ky., June 12 (Spl.)—J. Dan Baldwin, marketing director under former Agriculture Commissioner William H. May, who is a native of Prestonsburg, assumed his duties here Wednesday as the new Kentucky State Fair manager.

He was appointed to the post on May 29, according to Smith D. Broadbent, Jr., president of the State Fair Board.

Upon taking over his new position, Baldwin said that he regarded the position as a challenge to him. He said, "I'll do all I can to make an outstanding Kentucky State Fair."

A native of Hopkins county and 42 years old, Baldwin is a graduate of Western State College, Bowling Green, and did graduate work at the University of Kentucky. He taught school after leaving the University and was vocational-agriculture instructor at Hawesville before his appointment as marketing director under Agriculture Commissioner May in Frankfort in 1941.

After May's term ended, he went to the marketing department of the University of Alabama in 1944. By appointment of the present Agriculture Commissioner Harry F. Walters, Baldwin came back to Kentucky, May 1, 1948, to his former post as state marketing director. He held this position until assuming his new duties as Kentucky State Fair manager.
