

OF FISHIN' AND SUCH
IMPORTANT MATTERS

Grudgingly we record here for posterity the fact that we not only did not catch the first fish from Dewey Lake in 1951 but also that we were not the first to go fishin'. That man Joy, as far as I can determine from scattered and incomplete returns on this early-season angling, brought in the first one Saturday—a 13-inch bass. The big 'un got away, Judge Hill tells me, from somebody whose name escapes me even as did the fish from him.

The fact that I have not braved the wintry blasts with an early start on my 1951 fishing has shaken the Little Woman's long-standing belief that mebbe I'm a bit "tetch-ed," but, confidentially, I'm still a fit subject for the booby-hatch. The only reason I've not been fishing is, my boat isn't shipshape and I'm having trouble getting the chandler to do his stuff.

NO DEADLINE SLAVE, HE

Newest of publications, hereabouts, is the Floyd County Health Department's "Health News," an attractive and interesting mimeographed "sheet." The editor, Dr. Ransdell, shows considerably more forethought and discretion than most of us who dabble in printer's ink by stating in his first edition:

"We will have no set time for 'going to press' but you may expect your bulletin about the last of the month."

HARD GOIN'

This one, or a reasonable facsimile thereof, is told of Governor Clement's visit last summer to the Breaks of the Mountains area.

The Governor had just been introduced to a lanky individual who was native to those parts. He was trying to make conversation and was getting little help from his new acquaintance.

"This is rugged, beautiful country, isn't it?"

"Yeah."

"You folks deserve a good road into the Breaks."

"Yeah."

"Folks around here have had few of the luxuries of life, I take it."

"Yeah. And what they git ain't fit to drink."

SHUCKS!

Now, let's get this business of names all straightened out, since we don't know as much about them as we thought we did. This has to do with Shorty Jamerson Day at Henderson, Ky., last week. The

BOARD WILL ACCEPT VOLTS

Number of Volunteers
For Army Will Count
Against Draft Quota

Young men, 18 years old and not more than 25, may now volunteer for army service through their local Selective Service Boards, it was announced here by Draft Board 25 this week upon receipt of new Selective Service directives.

Whatever number of volunteers the draft board here receives will be credited against its quota for inductees, it was said.

The Board had no new pre-induction or induction quotas to announce for this month.

Although the volunteer is required, if possible, to appear at his own draft board, he may, as he lives at such a distance from his board that appearance there would work a hardship, volunteer at the draft board at his new address. In that event, the board with which he is registered would receive credit against its inductee quota.

Army recruiters will continue their work of accepting volunteers for the army and the army air force, but army volunteers they receive will be credited against the local board's quotas.

POLICE SEEK
MISSING CAR

Report Says Officers
Looking for Floyd-co.
Auto in Louisa Case

Kentucky State Police have been told that the man who shot Chief of Police Earl Moore, of Louisa, through his arm Friday night was in an automobile believed to bear a Floyd county license plate, it was said here this week.

The car was described as either a new Chevrolet or Ford, cream-colored. Two men were in the auto, Chief of Police Moore said.

The official said he had a tip that the car would pass through Louisa with a quantity of whiskey, and that when it entered the city he gave chase in the police cruiser.

The car, which was traveling south, sped through the main part of town at a rate of about 70 miles an hour, the chief stated. He pursued it and it slowed down just above the city limits. As it did so he pulled alongside, and one of the men emptied a .45 calibre revolver.

His left arm was shattered and may have to be amputated. Moore said the car, which sped away after the shooting, had the back seat loaded, presumably with beer and whisky.

CANALIZATION
LOSES AGAIN

U.S. Engineers Repeat
Claim Cost Too High;
Perkins Plans Hearing

The U.S. Corps of Engineers this week repeated to Congressman Carl D. Perkins its decision not to approve canalization of the Big Sandy river.

Congressman Perkins recently asked the Engineers to reconsider an earlier decision holding cost of the project in relation to benefits to be gained is too high.

Col. W. E. Potter, acting assistant chief of engineers for civil works of the corps, wrote Congressman Perkins Wednesday:

"No more economical route under present conditions can be provided on the Big Sandy or its tributaries than the railroad and highway facilities that already exist along the banks of these streams."

Despite this new setback, Perkins said he would continue his stubborn fight for the canalization.

"The project is sound and I intend to keep on trying until we get it."

The Corps of Engineers has estimated that construction of the project would cost $161,818,000.

Potter declared that "no local transportation savings can be achieved through navigation of the Big Sandy when the cost of canalization is taken into account. The physical limitations of channel alignment and water supply were found to preclude the development of a waterway even approaching Ohio river standards."

Total costs of canalization, Potter added, would "surpass the cost of moving freight via existing railroad facilities."

Perkins said he is hopeful of getting

COURT ACTION
TO BE TAKEN

To Curb Forest Fires,
Ranger Promises; Says
Talk to Offenders Fails

For the 76 forest fires Floyd county suffered last year only nine persons have been fined or have paid the cost of suppressing the blazes, but the ratio of assets and convictions will be much higher this year, Palmer Crum, Betsy Layne, ranger heading the Floyd county unit, Division of Forestry, declared this week.

Said Mr. Crum:

"The Division of Forestry has been operating in Floyd county about four years. We have tried to talk to all the people about letting fires get beyond their control and haven't been doing much in the way of prosecution. It appears that our talk has not done very much good. So, in 1951 every fire will be investigated not only once but two or three times if necessary, and those persons responsible will be prosecuted if they are found at fault."

The ranger made this request: "When a fire breaks out in your community, let your ranger or deputy warden know about it as quickly as possible, and cooperate with him when he investigates these fires. It is every person's duty to help in the work of protecting your forests, or what is left of them. Without the cooperation of the public, we can't do very much."

Fined $10 in circuit court here Saturday for carelessly burning woodland or fields was Luther Thornsby, of Buckingham. This was for a 1950 offense. Ranger Crum listed as charged with a 1951 fire was Ballard Hayward, of Dock.

Five forest fires were reported as recently as last Saturday.

SCHOOL BOARD
TALKS PLANS FOR BUILDING

22-Classroom Structure,
With Gym-Auditorium
May Cost $350,000

Plans for a new high school building on the property purchased here a few months ago by the Floyd County Board of Education were studied at Tuesday's special meeting of the Board, and Gordie Young, assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction, is being asked to come here this week to confer with the Education Board on the general building scheme and site.

Although detailed plans have not yet been prepared and cost estimates cannot be made with accuracy, it is believed the school plant will entail an expenditure of $350,000 or more.

The plans, prepared by Hayes & Lusk, Ashland architects, provide for a two-story building to contain 21 classrooms, plus a gymnasium-auditorium, a study hall and library.

One plan envisions a gymnasium, with seating accommodations on the floor level and in the balcony for between 1,500 and 1,600. The other provides for a gymnasium-auditorium, with seating space on either side of the playing floor and from the auditorium for around 1,400. Sliding doors would separate the gymnasium proper and the auditorium, and for sports events these would be opened to provide unobstructed view from the auditorium. An additional 400 seats are possible, it was said, through extension of the building at the back approximately 15 feet.

The County Board of Education purchased, a few months ago, a tract of land in the Arnold-Spradlin Addition here which fronts 479 feet on U. S. 23.

SCOUT GROUP
PLANS MEET

Wampum Confab, Feb. 3,
To Study Finance Drive
Preparations by Council

A wampum conference designed to supply friends and leaders of Boy Scouting in 15 counties of Eastern Kentucky and Virginia the "know how" of Scout Council financing will be held at Pikeville College, Feb. 3, it was announced here this week.

Invitations to the meeting, one of the most important in the Scout year, are being sent to community and civic leaders as well as to workers in the Scout movement.

To be discussed at the conference are these topics:

A Council budget, planning and promoting a finance campaign in the local community, recruitment of campaign personnel, publicizing a campaign, how to do the job, supplementary financing by the coal industry and the planning and building of a Scout camp in the Dewey reservoir area.

Discussions will be led by top men in the field, Scout experts from the regional and national offices and some of the top volunteer leadership in Lonesome Pine Council, including E. F. Reed, Drift, Council vice-president and Finance committee chairman, Virgil Picklesimer, Whitesburg, Council president, E. R. Price, Wheelwright, National Council representative, and others.

Registration for conference will convene at 9:30 a.m. The two discussion periods and the budget planning conference, ending at 5:15 p.m., will be followed at 5:30 by a Victory banquet for which an outstanding speaker is being sought. At 8 p.m., those interested in basketball will have the opportunity of witnessing the game between the teams of Pikeville and Ashland high schools.

Plans for Floyd county participation in the conference were made Friday evening in a meeting at the Martin Christian Church. Ambrose H. Mandt, of Manton, Floyd district chairman, presided.

Legion Post To Sponsor
Benefit Net Game

To replenish its child welfare fund which was depleted through Christmas purchase for children of the community, the Martin American Legion Post is sponsoring a basketball game at the Martin high school gym Sunday night at 8 between the All-American Red-Heads and the Martin Legionnaires.

The touring Red-Heads present trick shot and foul shot artists, and a general line-up capable of defeating top-notch male teams.

Laburnum had a labor agreement with the Richmond Building and Construction Trades Council, Robertson said, and therefore hired men from an AFL carpenters local

Father of Two Child-Victims
Says They Did Not Starve

ASCribES DEATH OF HIS ELDER DAUGHTER
TO MEASLES COMPLICATIONS; DOCTOR
SAYS MALNUTRITION DEFINITE FACTOR

"My children did not starve to death!" That statement Allen Prater, 42-year-old father of two children who died last week at the Prater home on Town Branch, across the river from here, made to The Times Monday when questioned about circumstances attendant on the death of tots.

The interview with the father was sought after daily newspapers and radio stations had given wide publicity to a doctor's statement to the effect that malnutrition was a factor in the children's fatal illnesses.

Shivering as a sharp January wind penetrated his thin clothing, Prater, who was working Monday on a roofing job, declared he and his wife kept milk and orange juice and crackers "a-plenty" for their children, "even if we sometimes didn't have enough for ourselves." He explained that his daughter, Elizabeth, 2, first had measles, becoming ill on Jan. 6, and after that would not take more than a sip of milk or orange juice at a time.

"God put too many good people in these mountains," said Prater, "for anybody to starve to death if they knew they needed something to eat."

While he talked the police squad car stopped and Chief of Police E. P. Laferty told him Ann Arbor, Mich., was calling him. "They always try to believe the worst of us people and make it look as bad as they can," Prater said after receiving this news. "I wish they had called me at the start, so I could have told them the truth."

"Elizabeth was never sick a day in her life till she had the measles," the father said. "I think it was pneumonia that killed her."

Dr. O. T. Stephens gave tuberculosis meningitis as the direct cause

NEW TAX LAW
TO BE COSTLY

For Those Neglecting
To List Possessions,
Warning Given Here

Ignorance of the new tax laws can be very, very costly to taxpayers, Floyd Tax Commissioner Clive Akers pointed out this week. Of particular importance to property-owners, Akers said, are provisions of the new law setting penalties for failure of taxpayers to list their property with the Tax Commissioner at some time between Jan. 1 and March 1.

(Elsewhere in this edition of The Times appears a paid advertisement citing sections of the law governing assessment of property.)

Mr. Akers said he is making an effort to see as many taxpayers as possible, but added that the time for this work is so brief that he "can't begin to see them all." The assessment must be completed by March 1 and a preliminary recapitulation of the assessment prepared and submitted to the Department of Revenue at Frankfort by April 1.

"It," commented Mr. Akers, "that Legislature had gone ahead in patterning the new tax law after Ohio's and had included the Ohio statute which makes it mandatory that a real estate transaction must be recorded for tax purposes before a deed can be procured to the property, the assessment job would be comparatively simple. FLOYD WOMAN
HELD SUICIDE

Mrs. Creed Martin, 51,
Is Victim at Eastern;
2,000 Attend Funeral

A Floyd county woman, whose gentle nature had throughout her life shrunk from firearms, last Friday morning fired a gun for the first time in her 51 years, and the bullet she fired ended her life.

The victim was Mrs. Maude Turner Martin, wife of Creed Martin, well-known Eastern man, whose body was found in a barn, a short distance from her home. The bullet of an automatic pistol had passed through her head.

An inquest jury empaneled by Magistrate M. C. Wright held that the tragedy was a suicide. Although the exact time of the shot was not known, Mrs. Martin left the house for the barn, between 9 and 10 o'clock Friday morning. She left no note. Relatives said she had suffered recently from nervousness but that there had been no hint of suicide.

A daughter of the late John and Rhoda Gearheart Turner, Mrs. Martin was born and reared on Salt Lick Creek near Hueysville. She was widely related in this county and held the deep regard of every acquaintance.

Surviving are her husband, two daughters, Marjorie, a student at Berea College, and Ida May, and one son, Ballard Dale. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Sallie Martin, Hueysville, and Mrs. Rebecca Martin, Allen, and six brothers, Joe, Green, Willie and Kendall Turner, all of Hueysville, Tom Turner, Willard, O., and Gorman Turner, Plymouth, Ohio.

Approximately 2,000 friends and relatives gathered for the funeral rites Sunday morning at the Wilson Creek Baptist Church. Officiating ministers were the Revs. W. S. Akers, M. C. Wright, Mitchell Chaffins, Banner Manns, A. J. Moore and M. F. Blanton. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Eastern under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

FOUR TEAMS
GAIN FINALS

Martin, Betsy Layne,
Meade, Virgie Quints
Play Here for Crown

For the Big Sandy Conference basketball title it will be Martin, Meade Memorial, Betsy Layne and Virgie Quints playing here, Friday and Saturday nights.

Martin and Meade Memorial met Wednesday night at Oil Springs for the championship of the northern section of the conference, and Betsy Layne met Virgie at the same time at Betsy Layne for the southern championship.

Winner of the northern sectional tourney will play the runner-up in the southern, and vice-versa, Friday night.

Martin won its way to the northern finals by spurring ahead of Van Lear in the last two minutes of play Monday afternoon to defeat the Johnson countians, 60-50, then snowing under Wheelwright Tuesday night, 67-39. Meade Memorial ousted Prestonsburg Monday night, 60-56, then topped Paintsville in a low-scoring encounter, 36-31, Tuesday evening. Wheelwright won its first round game with Oil Springs, 41 to 37, and Paintsville downed Flat Gap, 62 to 44.

In the southern section there were only five teams entered, Pikeville and Whitesburg being ineligible for competition because they had not played the required number of Conference games. Virgie opened the tourney there by eliminating Pikeville College Academy, 43 to 37, and went on to the finals by defeating Jenkins Tuesday night, 59-37. Betsy Layne, the host five, swamped Fleming, 61 to 40, in its only game before the sectional title round Wednesday night.

In a prepared statement addressed principally to university students, their parents and faculty members, Dr. Donovan stated that the call for a physical examination is being "wrongly construed by some students as an induction order."

MOTHER GETS WRIT FOR SON

Charges Him in Break
Into Her Home; 2 Men
Jailed in Theft Case

"Inside jobs" resulted in two men and a boy being in jail here this week.

Jail officials said 12-year-old Richard Shockey, colored, was transferred to jail here Wednesday from Wheelwright where his mother had sworn out a warrant in police court charging him with breaking into her home. They said the boy told them of his mother's action.

A few months ago, the boy and other children of the family charged their step-father with torture.

And Morell and Cecil Jacobs were jailed Sunday on a charge filed by Arthur Bentley, Lackey merchant, accusing them of hiring his young son to steal coffee from his store. Jail attendants said the boy allegedly sold the coffee to the men for 50 cents a pound and that they then resold it at a considerable "mark-up."

After he had been jailed Saturday by Deputy Sheriff Cline Mitchell, T. Hall and W. Hall on charges of drunkenness and carrying a concealed deadly weapon, Allen Stone, of "Winchester," near here, was further penalized by action of Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill. Judge Hill revoked the probation of Stone's six-month jail sentence which was imposed in April, 1950 on a charge of shooting at without wounding.

Buddy Huffman and Gilford Owens were jailed Wednesday and booked on a breaking and entering charge in connection with the burglary of a 5 and 10-cent store at Wheelwright Junction. They were arrested by Deputy Constable E. H. Hatfield.

Teenager Gets Appetite Back; Thanks Hadacol

HADACOL Supplies Vitamins B, B₁₂, Niacin and Iron Which Her System Lacked.

According to Sara Loraine Beck, Box 253, Coker, Alabama, when a person is only 15 years old and feels terrible, can't eat or sleep the way they should, it's mighty bad. That is the way Loraine says she used to feel, but that was, of course, before she started taking HADACOL. Loraine said that taking HADACOL helped her system overcome deficiencies in vitamins B, B₁₂, Niacin and iron, which HADACOL contains.

Here is Loraine Beck's own statement: "I was run-down, sick and skinny, and weighed only 90 pounds before I used HADACOL. I would not eat because I had no appetite. Now I weigh 123 pounds and have an appetite. I feel a lot better. I have been taking HADACOL 10 months and am still taking it. I am 15 years old. HADACOL has done me lots of good."

COAL MINING UP IN FIELD

Big Sandy Coal Increase For Last Year, 39 Pct.; Gain for Area Is Less

Pikeville, Ky., Jan. 18—The five high-volatile fields of Southeastern West Virginia and Eastern Kentucky mined 31 per cent more coal in 1950 than they did the preceding year, according to figures released here today.

These fields, which include the Big Sandy and Hazard fields of Kentucky, produced 73,495,752 tons last year, an increase of 17,453,942 tons over the 56,041,810 tons produced in 1949. And indications are that the upward trend will continue in 1951.

The greatest percentage increase of the group was shown by the Hazard field, which mined 52 per cent more coal in 1950 than in 1949. This field produced 3,420,000 tons last year as against only 5,331,600 tons the preceding year.

Next, with an increase of 39 per cent, was the Big Sandy field, which produced 14,862,210 tons last year after mining but 10,661,740 tons in 1949.

The Logan field in West Virginia showed a 30 per cent increase with a 26 per cent increase by the West Virginia Kanawha field, and an increase of 20 per cent by the Williamson field in West Virginia.

During the year 1950 these five adjacent fields produced 13.63 per cent of the nation's coal, a substantial increase over the 11.74 per cent produced in 1949.

In the Big Sandy field, according to H. S. Homan, executive secretary of the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association, the new year started off with a slight increase over the shag end of 1950. During the first week of 1951 the field produced 238,950 tons, whereas the tonnage was 235,000 for the last week of 1950. However, the average number of working days dropped from 3.32 to 3.05.

The new year started with a buyers' market, Homan said, with the buyers shopping around to get the best coal at the lowest price. This tendency, he said, is hard on the small truck mines which can't compete with the large, machine-operated mines because the truck mines lack the expensive processing equipment to sort and clean their product.

Homan expressed a hopeful attitude toward the coal industry over the country in general for 1951 and estimated that the nation's total production this year would exceed the 1950 production by some 10,000,000 tons. It is estimated that the total 1950 coal production in the United States was approximately 500,000,000 tons, a considerable increase over the 1949 output.

Coal production in the Hazard field for the week ending January 13 was 161,350 tons, an increase of 11.2 per cent over the corresponding week of last year, according to William B. Sturgill, executive secretary of the Hazard Coal Operators Association. The field's production for the first two weeks of 1951 has been 24 per cent over the first two weeks of last year.

Cats Lick Owingsville There Friday, 69 to 55 But Lose in Tournament

Prestonsburg's Black Cats went on the road last Friday to defeat Owingsville high school, 69-55, but failed in the Big Sandy Conference meet at Oil Springs Monday night, despite a fast finish.

The Cats trailed all the way against Meade, and with three minutes to go was behind 14 points. Suddenly, they began clicking and Meade barely staved them off, 60 to 56.

The Cats are idle this week-end while the Big Sandy Conference finals are being played here. Next Tuesday night, they will go calling on their old athletic rivals, the Paintsville Tigers, and the following Saturday they will be host to Wayland, a team which has been defeated only one time this season. Moore Didn't Travel Far To Get Big One of the children's death but said malnutrition was a contributing factor.

A 17½-inch smallmouth bass, taken from Right Beaver Creek, near his home at Eastern, won for Jones Moore the Pfeuffer Supreme reel offered by the Floyd County Fish & Game Club for the largest bass caught in Floyd county during 1950. Winner of the President reel offered by the club for the largest fish caught in the pike division was George W. Newman, of Hi Hat, president of the club. His catch, a 23-inch walleye, was taken from the Big Sandy.

The club plans to continue its annual fishing contest. It was said this week.

The bereaved father blamed nobody for the circumstances under which the children died. He said he called Dr. Stephens, the night before Elizabeth's death, but was told the doctor could not come at that time. Dr. Stephens told The Times he had illness in his own family at the time and also had promised calls to make. The following night, another call was made to the physician, who set the following morning for the time he would visit the home.

The older child died that night. The baby was taken to the office of Dr. M. T. Dotson. Mr. Prater said both Dr. Stephens and Dr. Dotson advised him it would be useless to take the baby to a hospital. The infant at the time was suffering convulsions, he said.

Dr. Stephens said that at the time he visited the Prater residence there was no food in the house.

County Judge Henry Stumbo said the condition of the two children and the pitiable plight of the family was first called to his attention Thursday night. He added that he could not locate either Dr. George P. Archer or Dr. John G. Archer, of the Prestonsburg General hospital staff, but that he was told by Mrs. George Archer the children could be immediately admitted without a county order. This information, he said, was relayed to the Prater family.

Told that help would have been forthcoming from local citizens as well as organized groups if he had appraised them of the situation, Prater said he had never asked anybody for help.

A worker in the Prestonsburg office of the Kentucky Department of Public Assistance said Prater had not asked for help there. "He did come to the office, a year or more ago, and ask about work," said the informant. "He mentioned the fact that there was a new baby at his house, and Mrs. Burke (head of the department) gave him some clothing for the baby."

Prater works at odd jobs. He said he could not find nine employment because he could not pass required tests. His wife is 23 years old, and they have one other child, Sarah Martha, 5. Prater has three other children of a previous marriage; Shirley, 18, Luther, 16, and Harold, 10.

Burial of the two children was made Saturday under direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

Disabled Vets of War In Korea Are Entitled To Rehabilitation Aid

Regulations outlining conditions under which veterans, disabled after fighting started in Korea, may be entitled to Public Law 16 rehabilitation training, have been announced by the Veterans Administration.

This training, previously limited to World War II veterans, was extended to many veterans disabled on or after June 27, 1950, by Public Law 894, signed by the President in December.

Newly eligible veterans will follow procedures similar to those in effect for World War II veterans. The same application forms will be used.

Under the new law, a veteran must have been disabled after the Korean conflict began and prior to a date yet to be fixed. It is required that the disability be such that VA may pay compensation at full wartime rates. Such rates are paid for disabilities or injuries resulting from armed conflict, or during extra-hazardous service, or while the United States is engaged in war.

The new law provides that the July 25, 1956 deadline for Public Law 16 training will not apply to the newly-disabled veterans. Instead, they will have nine years from the end of the current emergency in which to train. The new law also states that veterans who already had GI Bill or Public Law 16 training as a result of their World War II service, may be entitled to additional training, if found necessary because of new disabilities.

Courier-Journal said that the football star's special guests were his girl-friend, Miss Virginia (Buddy) Osborne and her mother Mrs. W. D. Osborne, of Wheelwright, and his sister, Miss Mary Louise Jamerison. "Aha!" cried somebody around this office. "The good and great C.-J. has got these gals all mixed up. Why, that's our Mary Louise Osborne we know so well they're talking about, and they've switched first names on her and Shorty's sister, so they have."

Now, knowing the score, we lapse into deep silence to meditate on the vagaries of names, the whims of fate, the tides of fortune, etcetera. Just put it down that The Courier-Journal had it right, to start with.

IN THE MAIL

This from Rebecca Burchett Blaney, of Rome, Ohio, last week:

"Arthur Godfrey is my favorite, yes, but I like to read the home-town paper, too. How come I didn't get my Floyd County Times this week?"

Just for that kind inquiry, we took a special look to see that her paper is going, as the somewhat errant mails permit, to her every week.

RATS!

A Cornell University nutritionist has found that coffee doesn't hurt white rats a bit, and opines that if men and women react accordingly they can drink all the coffee they like without shortening their lives. In fact, says he, the brew might add a few years to the women-folks' lives—this opinion being reached through laboratory observation that female coffee-drinking white rats live longer than their sisters who abstained.

Now I like my coffee (sugar, yes, and cream, too, please, ma'm) but I have enjoyed it all these years, (thinking it was harmful. Years ago I saw an old woman sa'c'ring her coffee, her hand trembling so badly it was touch and go whether she would make it or not. She was pointed out to me as a pitiful example of the state of nerves the stuff would bring a-body to, and ever since I've been expecting to start shaking.

With this announcement from dear old Cornell, I've decided mebbe youthful innocence was taken for a ride and that the old lady suffered from nothing worse than palsy.

On the other hand, I'd like for somebody to explain to me, in the interest of all concerned, what connection the constitution of a rat has with that of a human being, even though some of the latter have traits in common with all the former. And, if things which help or harm one will do the same to the other, I'd consider it a favor if humans should stand on their heads in garbage cans, of nights, to get their daily quota of vitamins.

ing a hearing before the House Public Works Committee on his canalization bill sometime this spring.

"With canalization, Eastern Kentucky would be a natural for defense industry," Perkins said. "It should be government policy to disperse industry. Eastern Kentucky has an oversupply of manpower and outstanding natural resources such as oil and gas. I have been calling attention of various government agencies to these facts."

Perkins displayed correspondence urging that Eastern Kentucky be considered for new construction by these agencies:

The Atomic Energy Commission, the Army Chemical Corps, the Department of Interior, and the Army Corps of Engineers.

The Interior Department's Bureau of Mines recently reported to Perkins that a survey of Kentucky as the possible site for a synthetic-liquid plant will be completed in several months.

The other agencies replied that Perkins' arguments for Eastern Kentucky would be given consideration as additional sites for installations are required.

Members of the City Board of Education sat in on Tuesday's discussion of building plans here.

The Board also instructed Superintendent Palmer L. Hall to confer with architects on revision of plans made some time ago for a gymnasium at Martin. If State Department of Education approval is given, this may be a second building project for 1951.

Amending a previous order requiring the Superintendent to list the agenda of coming Board meetings in advance of the meeting date, the Board Tuesday voted an order specifying that the Superintendent include on the agenda of meetings a listing of all bills due except salaries, utilities and gasoline for the transportation system, this to be submitted to Board members at least five days previous to the date of meeting. Another order requires that the Superintendent supply each member of the Board copies of minutes for all meetings since last March.

Building plans must be rushed, Board members said here this week, in order to avoid the growing scarcity of materials, particularly steel.

Go See It.. For an Inspiration!

You ought to go see the new Cadillac. You ought to walk all around it and look at it from every angle—and you ought to open the door and get in and sit down.

You ought to slide over behind the wheel and look out over that jewel-like dash into the exciting beyond.

And you ought to do this, whatever the car you own today—and whatever the car you expect to own.

For it will lift up your spirits and add to your faith in America's industrial enterprise and productive ingenuity.

You look at those beautiful, flowing lines—and you can't escape the conviction that America's industrial artistry in metals is unsurpassed in all the world.

You look at the fabrics that tailor the seats and cushions—and you realize that America's manufacturing genius is unapproached for bringing luxury into everyday life.

You look at the flawless execution of every structural detail—and you have the comforting feeling that America's industrial craftsmanship is in a class by itself.

But your greatest inspiration is yet to come.

You ask the price of the lowest-priced Cadillac model—and you find that it's easily within the means of hundreds of thousands of American families.

Where else, in all the world—you ask yourself—could there be such a blending of luxury and practicality?

And the answer, of course, is—"nowhere." It's strictly an American "monopoly."

Yes, here is the new standard for the automotive world. It is new in beauty, in comfort, in luxury and in performance.

So come see it soon—and come with your hopes high.

June, if then. Upon being ordered to take the physical examination, the student should request the dean of his college to write his Draft Board and indicate his student status.

This policy is expected to remain in effect during 1951, according to the university president.

University registrar office records show that 382 students have dropped out of school since the start of the current semester in September. Of this number, 154 went into military service. Total student registration at the university now is 6,511.

There were 229 withdrawals during the 1949-1950 school year when 7,687 students were enrolled at the university.

Students now taking advanced R.O.T.C. training are draft-exempt and may continue their schoolwork, Dr. Donovan said. Sophomore applicants accepted by their military departments for advanced training also are exempt so long as they do satisfactory work and the same will hold true for successful freshmen applicants who are soon to be designated for this training, he said.

Referring to volunteers, the university president said he had been assured in Washington that those who volunteer next summer or even later may expect the same privileges they now have of selecting their branch of service. Certain recruiting appeals made over radio stations have "tended to give students the erroneous impression they must volunteer immediately if they wish to select their branch of service," he said.

Reservists, according to Dr. Donovan, may have their active-duty orders postponed if they fit into any of these categories:

1. College or university student within six months of graduation.
2. Pre-medical, pre-dental, and pre-veterinary students who have been formerly accepted for entrance into an accredited medical, dental, or veterinary school.
3. Any elementary or high school teacher whose call to extended duty would work a hardship on his community.

at $1.75 an hour. No one bargained for common laborers and their pay was "arbitrarily fixed" by Laburnum at 90 cents an hour, Mullen alleged.

Two other companies were working in the area, Codell Construction Company and Allen Codell Co., he said.

About July 1, Hart contacted Laburnum common laborers and a number of them signed. Either July 13 or 14, Hart called Laburnum in Richmond, asked to talk with the man in charge and said he would like to confer on union recognition and bargaining for certain employees, Mullen said. Hart made no threat, he added, and the company gave no answer.

July 19 employees at Codell struck and at a later union meeting attended by six or seven Laburnum laborers, it was agreed the striking Codell employees would go to the Allen Codell job where they would stop work and then over to the Laburnum job, Mullen said.

They set up a picket line which the carpenters' representative had said would be honored, there was no drunkenness... no mob... no one saw any guns... "it was entirely a peaceable matter," Mullen added.

Mullen argued the "sole blame rests... on Laburnum" and Bryan could have stopped any trouble by agreeing to negotiate.

In the afternoon, Bryan took the stand and testified Laburnum has done an aggregate volume of construction work of over $20,000,000 in the last 10 years.

He said he made a detailed study of the construction of the UMW and its official publication, District 50, he added, represents employees in almost every line of endeavor except coal mining which UMW covers. District 50's slogan is to "organize the unorganized," he said.

Counsel for defendants objected to a number of questions Robertson asked Bryan. Bryan testified that A. D. Lewis is chairman of the District 50 organizing committee and a brother of John L. Lewis.

Bryan and Kathryn Lewis are secretary-treasurer of this committee. When the relationship was asked, counsel for the unions objected. The jury was excluded while technical questions were discussed.

WHO RECEIVED PAY AND WHY?

Are Questions Asked As Officials Named In Highway Probe

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 20—Depositions filed today involved two high officials of the State Highway Department in the $6,000 cash payment admittedly made here last February by a Lexington road-equipment dealer.

The depositions, filed in Franklin circuit court, raised this key question:

Who received the $6,000 in cash the dealer, Tom Catlett, brought to Frankfort on February 18, 1949?

A former employee of Catlett testified that Catlett told him he paid the $6,000 to Charles Gorman, Flemingsburg road contractor, in the presence of John A. Keck, state commissioner, of highways, and Emerson "Doc" Beauchamp, state commissioner of rural highways.

But Catlett testified he handed the $6,000 to the late W. S. "Scoop" Sherwood, Frankfort lobbyist and close friend of United States Senator Earle C. Clements, then the Governor.

William J. Henry, Lexington, the former employee, testified that Catlett told him he paid the $6,000 to ensure Catlett's firm, Bogie Equipment Company of Lexington, the sale of 20 road graders to the Highway Department.

Catlett testified, however, that he paid the $6,000 as a donation to the campaign to pass the salary amendment at the November, 1949, election.

The testimony of Catlett and Henry agreed only on the point that the $6,000 changed hands in the Capitol hotel here.

On cross-examination, Catlett admitted he did not know Sherwood very well, and that he never received any receipt, or a written word of acknowledgment from anybody.

The depositions, totaling 102 typewritten pages, were taken December 20 in the law office of William L. Wallace, Lexington. The civil suit against Keck and the Bogie firm is being tried with depositions instead of direct testimony.

The suit was filed December 6 by former Federal Judge Charles I. Dawson, Louisville, the Republican whom Clements defeated November 7 for the U. S. Senate.

The suit seeks to recover, for the state, all profits Bogie Equipment Company made on Highway Department sales after the $6,000 allegedly was paid. The suit estimates this profit at $100,000 based on sales grossing $623,000.

Dawson first aired his charges of corruption in a campaign speech at Lexington four nights before the election. There he said Bogie Equipment Company sold the Highway Department only $21,673 worth of equipment in the 12 months before February 18, 1949, but sold $623,146 worth in the 19 months after that date.

The suit charges Keck or his agent got the $6,000. This Keck has denied. The case was passed to the April term when called January 3 in Franklin circuit court. On January 8, however, Judge William Ardery ruled that it was to be practiced by depositions, instead of at a hearing in court.

The Franklin county grand jury is now investigating the civil suit to determine how much, if any, criminal blame is involved.

In the depositions, Robert M. Larkin, Lexington, another former employee of Catlett, testified he overheard a conversation between W. A. Tinscher, director of equipment for the Highway Department, and N. H. Bogie, then a member of the firm being named.

Larkin said Tinscher assured Bogie that "it might be possible to throw everything his (Bogie's) way that was possible to furnish." Catlett denied everything that Henry and Larkin testified.

Seymour Sammons, 80, Dies Wednesday Night; Rites Slated Saturday

Seymour Sammons, 80 years old, retired farmer, died Wednesday night at the home on Arkansas Creek of his son, Bennie Sammons, a victim of a glandular ailment.

Mr. Sammons was a native of this county and was a son of Sol and Caroline Ann Sammons. He had resided on Arkansas Creek about 30 years and for the last 15 years had been a member of the Christian church. His wife, Nannie Hall Sammons, preceded him in death about 45 years ago.

Surviving are his son and one daughter, Mrs. Alex Sammons, of Martin, two brothers, Newt and Lee Sammons, and two sisters, Mrs. Vick Walk and Mrs. Maude Sammons, all of Arkansas Creek.

Funeral rites will be held Saturday morning at 10 from the Martin Christian Church, the Revs. Roy Hall, Henry Parsons and Robert Martin officiating. Burial will be made in the family cemetery, the Hall Brothers Funeral Home directing.

KENTUCKY ON THE MARCH

Early last summer I asked Maurice D. Bement, one-time co-worker of mine in the Committee for Kentucky, for two or three meaty paragraphs about the National Citizens Commission for the public schools. Bement is regional representative of the organization, with jurisdiction covering all the Southern States. He gave me some excellent generalizations, but I decided the material wasn't what I needed for this column.

The Citizens Committee sent out its first monthly news letter recently, and it contains material enough for half a dozen columns. One item that seemed to be in my alley was a letter from a director of Administrative Services in Gross Point, Mich., telling about a school bond election.

"We held a special election in 1949 to secure approval to issue bonds and increase the mileage," the director writes. "We took a two to one licking. In 1950, we again went to the voters and won by a better than two to one majority. Why?"

"We analyzed all the criticisms. We attempted to determine what mistakes we had made. Then we went to work. The Board of Education met with the councils of the five municipalities and presented the proposed program. The board met with some of the best financial brains in the area and discussed the relationship of the debt to the assessed valuation, possible interest rates of bonds, etc. The board and staff spoke to every group in the community—that would listen to them. The two local papers backed the campaign.

"A pamphlet entitled 'Here Are The Facts' was prepared with the cooperation of advertising executives who were residents. These pamphlets were mailed to every registered voter... A public relations expert employed by a local industry suggested we obtain the names and addresses of 400 people who would agree to endorse our program. On the day before election we delivered to each home by block worker a leaflet which included the names and addresses of the people who had endorsed the program. On election day 800 block workers used the telephone to urge people in their block to vote.

"We came to one conclusion—get the facts to the citizens and they will vote intelligently."

Last month Frankfort voted favorably on four projects, one of them a new school building; second, the enlarging of another school. A bond issue for a new high school for Henderson and work on some grade school buildings was defeated. Frankfort gave them some facts but depended heavily on generalities. A survey like the Grosse Pointe report would have won in Henderson.

The Grosse Pointe kind of campaign would win almost anywhere. (Syndicated by The Union County Advocate)

Floyd Countians' Kin Succumb at Pikeville Tuesday, Heart Victim

Ira Tackett, 55, of Virgie, died Tuesday at 12:09 a.m., at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville. He had suffered from a heart ailment for the past year and his condition had been acute for about two weeks.

Mr. Tackett was a son of Matthew and Elvira Martin Tackett, and had lived at Virgie all his life. A former school teacher, he was a bookkeeper at the time of his death.

Surviving him are two sons, John Harold, and Ira Tackett, Jr., of Detroit, Mich., a daughter, Mrs. Nellie Ann Ratliff, also of Detroit. Also surviving are four brothers, Milton Tackett, postmaster at Pikeville, Silas Tackett, Martin, J. A. Tackett, Madisonville, John M. Tackett, Chicago, Ill., and two sisters, Mrs. Laura Tackett, Weeks-bury, and Mrs. Celia Tackett, Melvin. Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. today (Thursday) at the Regular Baptist Church on Long Fork Creek, the Rev. Frank Hopkins officiating. Burial was made in the Tackett cemetery there under direction of the Baker Funeral Home.

To Gain Needed Support Of Non-Communist Europe, Mowrer Urges Partnership

(From The Readers Digest for February, 1951)

"We can count on the full support of all non-Communist Europe if—and only if—we are prepared to offer it full partnership," states Edgar Ansel Mowrer, foreign correspondent and Pulitzer Prize winner, in an exclusive article in the February Reader's Digest.

The nations of Europe are preponderantly on our side, Mowrer says, and will resist communism if convinced that America will cooperate with the rest of the free world "to a degree far beyond anything ever attempted." In the absence of dynamic American leadership, however, "they will slump into the enemy camp."

Communism in West and South Europe is receding, Mowrer states, reporting on each nation he recently visited. In Britain, he found that except for a small "imperial" fraction of the Conservatives and some Labor extremists, the nation "stands squarely behind the United States." Though the Dutch are traditionally a sea power and reluctant to cut down their navy in favor of land army, they convinced the writer at The Hague that they "would carry out whatever is expected of them."

The three major political parties in Belgium all insisted they are eager to contribute to Europe's defense. West German leaders "favor any reasonable rearmament plan," and almost all East Germans are violently anti-Russian and anti-Communist. In France, the leaders of the coalition government "could not be more firmly on the side of the West." The Swiss are again mining their roads, preparing to defend themselves against invasion. Italy has overcome the Communist threat, Count Carlo Sforza, Foreign Minister, leaves no doubt about Italy's reliability. In Greece, thanks to American aid, Communism "has been beaten—I think for keeps," Mowrer says.

Carrying our defenses beyond Europe, a worldwide peace coalition, within or without the United Nations, is imperative, the author urges. All members must be pledged to fight for the defense of one another, as are members of the Atlantic Pact. The brunt of defense, in event of "local incidents" provoked by Communists, must fall on those in the area invaded, with U.S. intervention reserved for the "ultimate crisis of direct Soviet attack."

Heretofore the United States has dealt individually with each area. The fallacy of this principle has been shown in Korea. There, under Mowrer's plan, a coalition of Far Eastern countries would have been prepared to deal with Red aggression—the Philippines, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand, India, Nationalist China and Japan. Such secondary defense against secondary aggression would save the United States from being bled to death all over the globe and give us a chance to build up our own forces. And it would discourage Soviet stooges from starting further "brush fires."

"We have the physical means to save civilization and human freedom, without war and without appeasement," Mowrer concludes. "Have we the imagination and the will? The answer to this is the answer to the world's future—and to the question: 'Who is with Uncle Sam?'"

Dennie Combs and Bee Moore were jailed Monday by Oble Ousley and Ed Amburgy, who booked them for possessing whiskey. A soldier, Bill W. Adams, was booked by Deputy Sheriff W. J. Sloan as a.w.o.l.

Others jailed within the week, charges on which they were booked, and the arresting officers follow:

Clyde Vaughan, false pretenses, Deputy Constable Bill P. J. Sloan; Belmer Hall and Paul Durcka, contributing to juvenile delinquency, jailed by D. E. Blackburn; Arthur Smith, breaking and entering, jailed by Officers Daniels and J. Hall.

Wade Holbrook, who was arrested several days earlier on a liquor charge, was fined $20 and given a 30-day jail term upon trial in county court. The same court gave Emmitt Newson a $49 fine and 40 days in jail for possession of liquor.

February 1st Set For Highway Talk With Floyd Group

County Judge Henry Stumbo said this week he has received from Emerson Beauchamp, Commissioner of Rural Highways, an invitation for a Floyd county delegation to meet with highway officials in Frankfort next Thursday to discuss the Floyd county secondary road program for 1951.

Copies of the letter were mailed to County Attorney W. W. Burchett, Senator Doug Hays and Sheriff A. B. Meade.

The entire Floyd fiscal court plans to attend the conference, it was said. Although the Rural Highway Commissioner did not name specific road matters to be discussed, it is expected that the county's share of the gasoline tax as well as its part of the rural highway fund will be considered.

CINCINNATI — The Cincinnati Park Board decided a conscience-stricken Nebraskan needn't pay $1 because he broke a twig off a city park tree for use in winter roasting. Members disclosed they received a letter last month from a man who signed himself as Darrell K. Noah, of Gordon, Neb., asking if it was unlawful to break off tree limbs in city parks. He was advised the breaking of limbs was not allowed so they then received $1 from Noah. The Park Board sent back the dollar.

Sheriff, Deputies To Watch As Slayer Baptized, Sunday

When Millard Cochran, accused slayer of his wife and son, is baptized Sunday by a minister of the Church of Christ, a large gathering will witness the rites from the banks of the Big Sandy, near Pikeville, and in that crowd will be Pike county Sheriff Esta Conway and all her deputies.

For the white-haired man who allegedly killed his wife and son because of their night-time church-going will not be handcuffed when he is led into the water.

"I think it's hardly fair to handcuff a man who's going to be baptized," said Mrs. Conway, who succeeded to the Sheriff's office her husband, Roy Conway, victim of an assassin's bullet, a few months ago.

The 58-year-old Cochran, who keeps a Bible and a New Testament handy in his Pike county jail cell, denies that he "got religion" after the shooting in which he wounded a second son and a daughter.

He told Jailer Lacy Goodman that he's been a Christian nine years—just never got around to joining the church.

The church he'll join is one of two in the Feds Creek community where he resided. It's the same church to which his murdered wife,

Cynthia, 51, and son, Chester, belonged.

But it's not the one that he objected to them attending.

That church, he told Goodman, is a "private pocket church."

"They just let in so many people," he explained. "Then they close the door. That way, it wasn't open to all sinners. It wasn't right."

Why did he kill his wife?

"They was always shoutin' in that church," he told the jailer. Then he quoted from First Corinthians 14. "... And if they will learn anything, let them ask their husbands at home: For it is a shame for women to speak in the church."

Cochran said, he shot the children because "they was all in it with her"—in the "wrong" church with his wife.

Cochran will go on trial in Pike circuit court next Monday on two charges of murder. He's also accused of assault with intent to kill and malicious shooting and wounding—charges stemming from the wounding of Sturgill Cochran, 23, and Sarah, 14.

Sheriff Conway said Circuit Judge E. D. Stephenson approved Cochran's temporary release for baptism after it was requested by a sister.

here Tuesday on a charge of shooting into the automobile of James Allen, and was fined $250.

Trial of Leo Justice on a charge of obstructing justice by making a later-repudiated confession in the Muriel Baldrige murder mystery, was continued till Jan. 1. This was made necessary, it was said, by the absence of Commonwealth's witnesses, Troy B. Sturgill, Sheriff at the time of the investigation, and his chief deputy, Harold Crum.

Tom Parsons, who had through error gained respite from a pen term upon his conviction on a shooting and wounding charge, was sentenced to five years in the state reformatory Monday, and his removal to LaGrange was ordered.

Two were fined and jailed on liquor possession charges — Ella Blair, $50 and 30 days; James Boyd, $49 and 30 days. Rudolph Lewis drew a $15 fine for reckless driving, and $10 was assessed of Luther Thornsbury for carelessly burning woods or fields of another.

The $50 fine and 30-day jail term of Virgil Conn, convicted Jan. 16, was set aside by motion of the Commonwealth.

Cases dismissed: Vernon Blackburn, carrying concealed deadly weapon, insufficient proof; Ervin Salisbury, shooting at without wounding, lack of evidence; Toy Johnson shooting and wounding, lack of evidence; Carl Reed and Chester Wiley, storehouse breaking, insufficient evidence; Chester Wiley, grand larceny, insufficient evidence; Glad Stumbo, forgery, obtaining money under false pretense and cold check, lack of prosecution; Johnny Warren, cold check, gone to Indiana; Hawley Stephens, selling mortgaged property, subject to be redocketed.

Social Security Law May Now Affect 100 Floyd Farm Workers

Regular farm workers—perhaps a hundred of them in this county—came under the federal social security law, beginning January 1, according to Horace Godbey, manager of the Ashland office.

Dairy farming will lead to old-age and survivors insurance protection for the largest number of farm people in this area, Mr. Godbey believes, with cattle farming next. He emphasizes that it is the regular farm worker who is paid cash wages who will come under the law—not the itinerant, seasonal or part-time worker.

A new leaflet, "Notice to Farmers with Regular Hired Help," explains how the farm operator can tell whether any of his employees are covered by the law. Issued by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, the leaflet is available from the Collector of Internal Revenue at Louisville, the Social Security Administration at Ashland, or from offices of county agents or Production Farm Marketing Administration. Many banks also have copies of the notice.

In addition to explaining just what workers are covered, the leaflet contains a tear-off slip, Form SS-4a, which the farm owner should complete and mail if he has employees who will be covered by the law. Further information about making the quarterly tax reports, and copies of the reporting blanks, will be sent to farmers who mail this form to the collector of internal revenue.

"Not all farm workers are covered by the new law," Mr. Godbey emphasizes. The farm operator himself does not receive the protection of old-age and survivors insurance, nor do farm workers who work less than five months for one employer.

Before he can be covered by the law, a farm worker must work for an employer during a qualifying period of one full calendar quarter. This may be the last calendar quarter of 1950—October, November, and December.

TO MOBILIZE KY. MANPOWER

Barnes Asks Recipients Of Public Aid Volunteer Services in Emergency

In an all-out attempt to marshal the available manpower of Kentucky for the national defense program, Vego E. Barnes, commissioner, Department of Economic Security, has called on recipients of public assistance who might be qualified for employment to volunteer their services to help in the present emergency. A letter to this effect from the department's Division of Public Assistance was sent to each recipient along with the January public assistance checks.

"The President has declared a state of emergency," the letter to recipients said, "and additional manpower will be needed to carry on the expanding defense program. The department's Division of Employment Service is the official agency for supplying manpower to defense industries in Kentucky. This division is making a special effort to utilize all available manpower skills."

"The employment service has offered its specialized skills, in cooperation with the Division of Public Assistance, to get jobs for the aged, the blind, and the otherwise handicapped who want to help out their country and at the same time increase their income," Commissioner Barnes declared.

He pointed out that in December, there were 67,751 persons receiving old age assistance, at least 24,007 adults drawing aid for their dependent children, and 2,441 recipients of aid to the needy blind. "While there is no immediate manpower shortage and there are still many active job seekers registered with the employment service," Barnes said, "undoubtedly many of these public assistance recipients possess useful skills which, if given the right direction, will constitute a great reservoir of manpower for Kentucky employers to draw upon."

"There are indications that many public assistance recipients have already been absorbed by expanding defense industries," he continued. "The Division of Public Assistance reported that December brought a major drop in application intake, undoubtedly resulting from the improved employment situation following the start of the Korean conflict." He noted that there were 661 applications for old age assistance in December as compared to 1,427 in October, and 523 applications for aid to dependent children last month against 941 in October.

All employment service offices were alerted by the department to give special consideration to the placement of recipients of public assistance. The letter to recipients also reminded those who received employment to report the fact to the division at once. According to the letter, in cases where a grant of assistance is discontinued, that persons re-application will receive priority consideration at the end of the employment period.

Barnes emphasized that by accepting employment during the mobilization period, many aged persons can acquire wage credits under the amended Old Age and Survivors Insurance law. The new Social Security law provides that persons 65 years of age and over who have worked at least a year and a half in an industry covered by OASI and have earned at least $50 in each six months are eligible for retirement benefits. The old age assistance recipient can't lose, Barnes said. In cases where OASI benefits do not meet the minimum budget established by the Division of Public Assistance, supplemental assistance checks will be issued to maintain the standard of living.

RAPS PHONE FIRM'S RATES

Discrepancy in Rates Within State and Out, Cited by PSC Figures

The staff of the Public Service Commission this week took issue with accounting practices of Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company, which is seeking a rate increase of $2,732,538 a year in Kentucky.

Written testimony filed by James M. Honaker, special consultant, and six members of the P.S.C. staff, became the public's case in that rate-increase application that has been pending since June 12, 1950.

Southern Bell presented its case August 13.

P.S.C. witnesses will be cross-examined by Southern Bell counsel February 1.

The higher rates have been in effect since July 6. Southern Bell has posted bond of $1,800,000 to insure refunds in event the commission decides not to grant the increase. Kentucky law restricts this temporary arrangement to 240 days. The time limit will expire March 20.

Honaker's testimony criticized South Bell's distribution of costs between interstate and intrastate business and that 20 per cent of revenue is derived from this source.

But, he added, operation costs charged to interstate business fall as low as 2.55 per cent.

The economy of interstate toll rates, as compared with the high cost of long-distance calls inside Kentucky, was shown in the testimony of Robert C. Wiederhold, P.S.C. statistician.

The examples he cited were based on person-to-person day calls from Frankfort. A few of his examples are:

1. It costs the same to call Atlanta, Ga., as it does to call Middlesboro, Ky., two fifths of the distance.

2. It costs 45 per cent more to call Louisville than Jeffersonville, Ind., one airline mile apart.

3. It costs 50 per cent more to call Middlesboro than Cumberland Gap, Tenn., which is only two airline miles farther.

4. It costs $1.35 to call Catlettsburg, and only 90 cents to call Kenova, W. Va., right across the state line.

5. It costs $1.25 to call Albany, and only 85 cents to call Byrdstown, Tenn., just over the state line.

Honaker made this comment on the disparity of interstate and intrastate rates:

"In my opinion, such disparity is detrimental to the best interests of Kentucky industry. The Department of Motor Transportation is attempting to eliminate such disparity in motor-truck rates, due to the fact that high intrastate rates put Kentucky industry at a disadvantage within the State."

Farm NEWS and VIEWS

By HAROLD B. RICE, Floyd County Agent

Community Meetings

Most of the time it is hard to figure out what the future holds for you. Now I don't claim to be a fortune teller but I think you all will agree that we will have tomato blight and bugs next year. This means that you gardeners will have to be smarter than the bugs if you raise any beans. The blight hit suddenly last year and wiped out the tomatoes. It may do it again this year.

You need to be ready to fight the bugs and blight this year. Several meetings have been scheduled for communities in the county to consider sprays and dusts that will help control these things. One of these may be in your community, so plan now to attend it. If one is not scheduled for your community and you think it would help your neighbors, contact the county agent. You can help a lot and help the county agent get acquainted in your community.

Community meetings have already been held at Bonanza, Little Paint, Cow Creek and Prater Creek. More meetings are scheduled for Hueysville, Jan. 29; Allen, Jan. 30; Maytown, Jan. 31; Big Mud Creek, Feb. 5; Little Mud Creek, Feb. 6; Branham's Creek, Feb. 7; and Prestonsburg, Feb. 12. All meetings will be held at 7 p.m. They are usually held in the schoolhouse. If we work together we can be more successful in controlling blight and insects.

Korean Lespedeza

In an experiment covering 11 years' study at Lexington, Ky., Korean Lespedeza fixed a total of 2,265 pounds of nitrogen, and alfalfa fixed 2,452 pounds. This proves that lespedeza is almost as good as alfalfa in taking nitrogen from the air and putting it in the soil. Since the atmosphere is 80 per cent nitrogen there is an unlimited supply available to farmers if they have a good stand of lespedeza or other legumes in their pastures and meadows. Korean lespedeza is widely adapted and should be included in nearly all pasture mixtures for Floyd county.

IT'S A GOOD WORLD

BY WILMAY

Maytown was overjoyed to help Mary Jo and Herman Halbert by shower and gifts, because the Halberts have been so generous themselves.

Nursery catalogs arrive in every mail, and these warm days make us yearn to putter in the garden on flowers. Gardening on paper is a peck of fun, and easy on the pocket-book, too.

The reference last week to teachers made the "Better Half" insist his favorite is still his first—Floyd county's beloved "Miss Sallie" of yesteryear, now Mrs. O. J. Webb, of Lackey. At the last Maytown Homecoming more than one who had journeyed from afar recalled the times he or she had had tears dried while perched on Miss Sallie's lap in McGuffey reader days.

Miss Biddle is another everybody loves. She is the wife of Dr. M. M. Collins, Lackey, who is the oldest practicing physician in Kentucky. Besides rearing three strapping sons, they adopted one son and two daughters, to whom they gave every advantage.

A friend from the city and her small son were our houseguests. The child was familiar with urban life only. His mother decided to walk to town and asked if we wished to go, too. We replied we would stay and dress a chicken. "Do you want to go, Charles?" his mother called. "No, ma'am, I'm going to stay and watch Mrs. May put the dress on the chicken," he replied.

The Courier-Journal editorial on Paintsville was "swell." It shows what one individual can do when others will cooperate. A youthful mayor with vision started the ball rolling. Power and progress are found in cooperation. "People without vision perish."

Be sure to remember Dr. Gordon Seagrave, the Burma surgeon, just sentenced to six years in prison. He is the fourth generation of his family who have done mission work for Baptists in Burma. Dr. Seagrave, who suffers from amebiasis, plans to appeal, and asks that Americans not judge all Burmese by those who tried him.

They say it is still true, that old maids know more about "raising" children than anybody else in the world.

According to report, when Savage Cooley discovered some guy had helped himself to his spare tire and wheel, plus everything else valuable in the rear compartment of his car, Savage did not utter Sunday School words. It did not take him long to get on the trail of the right one, however.

"Uncle" John Allen, here at Warco, passes his eighty-first milestone Monday, the 22nd. He is a familiar figure, who still gets around rather well, despite the infirmities of age and high blood pressure. Friends and relatives remembered the occasion in various ways. A visit with him always reveals the good, homespun philosophy that has motivated his life.

Newspapers Credited With Hanging Up 1950 Home Selling Record

New York, N. Y., Jan. 18 (Sp.)—Newspaper advertising was credited today with breaking the nation's all-time home selling record in an analysis of the 1950 sales performance of Levitt & Sons, Inc., the country's largest home builders.

Eighty-one per cent of the purchasers of $7,990 homes in Levittown, L. I., last year—4,005 out of a total sales record of 4,945—were first attracted to the community by reading about it in newspapers, the firm's sales records show.

bad weather kept Wayland, Garrett, Emma, Wheelwright and Bull Creek from being represented. We hope those absent will be able to attend next month. Those on the program were Sandra Tingue, Glennis Ramey, Charlotte Maggard, Barbara Patton, James and Bonnie Hopson, Morris Maggard, Jeannette, Mildred and Mary Lou Manuel, Dorothy Lee Hawkins, and Sandra Sue Patrick. 11 VICTIMS IN EXPLOSION

Kermit, W. Va., Scene Of Mine Blast; Gas Blamed for Tragedy

Kermit, W. Va., Jan. 18—Eleven men were killed today by an explosion in the Burning Springs Collieries Co. coal mine just outside the east-limits of this West Virginia-Kentucky border town.

It was originally reported that eight men were killed but rescue teams located three more bodies, confirming reports that 11 men had been trapped.

Two others caught in the blast, 4,000 feet back in the mine, were injured, one of them critically.

State Mines Chief Arah Alexander, who hurried to the scene from Charleston, said the explosion was caused by a "gaseous condition" in the mine.

Although state mine inspectors earlier this month reported the mine in good condition, Alexander said, federal inspectors had reported the gaseous condition, just this week.

The known victims were: Sherman Fields, Lashly Mounts, an electrician, Charlie Porter, John Chafin, a section boss, of near Kermit.

Conrad Dalton and his brother, Delbert Dalton, both of Inez, Ky. Tom Moore and his son, Tom Jr., of Kermit.

Walter Johnson, of near Inez, Ky. Charles Sparks and his son, Proctor Sparks, both of Kermit. The injured men were William Bowers, of Steptown, W. Va., and Joseph Hinkle of Wartfield, Ky.

Bowers suffered burns, concussion and possible skull fracture, and a back injury.

Hinkle, knocked unconscious by the blast and removed from the mine in a dazed condition, was not believed to be seriously hurt and may be released from Williamson, W. Va., hospital, tomorrow, a spokesman said. Hinkle said he could not tell what happened.

"I just don't remember," he told a newsman. Knocked out by the blast, the 34-year-old miner said the first he knew "they were carryin' me out."

He had been an employe of the Burning Springs Co. about six years.

Company officials kept a tight ring around the mine while the rescue operations were under way. At first word of the blast, guards were posted at the head of a hollow leading to the opening, and none but ambulance workers, rescue crew members and doctors were permitted near the opening.

Long after the bodies had been found, crew members continued on the job, making repairs to restore ventilation in the blast area, and cleaning up other damage.

Jest Among Us...

By Jack Wild

I don't know why I find it so utterly easy to doze off in a barber's chair. Maybe it's the dry drone of words and words, or the ho-hum-hum and snippy-snip of clipper and shears, or maybe it's just a case of blinky-eye in the hairy air of the shop. But doze I do. And then the sheety apron is whisked away and I'm startled awake and the white-froked figure is bowing and saying, "Yes, sir!" and "Next!" and I have a pang of remorse for I know I have slept through another learned discourse on the intricacies of fly casting, the peculiarities of woman and what's wrong with the world.

This sleepytime lament brings to mind the story of the old darky who was asked why he never seemed to have a worry. "Well, suh," Sam replied, "reckin' it's 'cause evah time Ah sets down an' starts thinkin' 'bout troubles, Ah goes to sleep." Which might be a good thing for all of us worriers to do now and then.

SAWING WOOD—Down in Eastern Kentucky there are over 4,000,000 acres of forest land and about 15,000 landowners with lumber interests. Many of the small mill owners are trying to get along with an automobile engine for power. The trouble is, either the engine runs too fast and something goes wrong or it doesn't put out enough power to run the saw properly. In the engineering research laboratories at the University of Kentucky, a dual power plant has been developed and tested. Two rebuilt Plymouth engines were hooked up with belts and pulleys, and on 18 gallons of gasoline the unit will cut 12,000 board feet of lumber in an eight-hour day. That adds up to a heap of sawdust, it seems to this amateur wood chopper.

While we are not building "mouse traps," we are building better new tires from old ones.
We invite you to call, inspect our modern plant, see the high class work and materials that go into your tires at as reasonable prices as possible.
Due to increased government demand for rubber, steel, rayon and cotton, vital materials used in the manufacture of tires, new tires will become scarcer.

Lt. Pandzic Is Leader
Of Platoon in Famed
Airborne Combat Team

With the "Angels from Hell" in Korea—First Lt. Eckener Pandzic, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Pandzic, Wheelwright, Ky., is serving as a platoon leader in Company "D" of the 187th airborne regimental combat team in Korea.

The 22-year-old infantry officer joined the 187th at Kimp'o air base in Korea shortly before the unit staged an airborne invasion of the Sukchon-Sunchon area in North Korea, Oct. 20. Jumping behind the enemy lines, the 187th cut off 28,000 Communist soldiers fleeing the Red capital city of Pyongyang, and set free a number of American prisoners of war.

Following this action the 187th defended and governed Pyongyang and guarded the main Eighth Army supply route from there to the 38th Parallel. Later, they were committed as a rear guard as the United Nations withdrew south.

Lt. Pandzic entered the army in August, 1946, receiving his commission during July, 1947. He attended the Pathfinder School at Fort Benning, Ga., for the training of advance airborne elements who jump before the main parachute drop to guide the rest of the troop-carrying planes to the drop zone. Before coming to the 187th he was assigned to the 511th Parachute Infantry of the 11th Airborne Division at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

He wears a Parachute Badge and has earned the Combat Infantry Badge in Korea.

SPORTS AFIELD
By TED KESTING

Keeping warm is the No. 1 winter problem of most outdoorsmen in this country. So let's consider how it can best be done without carrying along some heated bricks.

We can start by disposing of two fallacies. One, drink is a fine social practice but it is of no value in keeping a person comfortable outdoors. Two, a small fire will not keep you as warm as a big one. If I want to get warm quickly in cold weather, I increase the size of the fire as quickly as possible.

Now one thing sportsmen too often overlook is the importance of food in heating the body. I have seen deer hunters take only a cup of coffee for breakfast and then wonder later why they were so chilly even in moderate weather. The reason was plain; they hadn't stoked the furnace, they had failed to put fuel in the stomach.

To keep moving also means to keep warm. Certainly, no one has ever frozen to death in our temperate zone while moving. Therefore, all winter clothing should be worn with one purpose in mind—keeping warm when not on the go.

Veteran outdoorsman Bill Wolf thinks two things are most essential—to have warm cloth next to the body, and an outside shell of something windproof and, preferably, waterproof. The best materials are wool.

Next most important is dressing in layers. That is, it is warmer to put on two or three light shirts and a light hunting coat than it is to don one heavy shirt and one heavy hunting jacket, even though these weigh more than several light garments.

As for socks, I don't agree with those who advise wearing a pair of silk or cotton under woolen hunting stockings. I much prefer soft wool athletic socks. Wear a clean pair daily if possible; clean wool is warmer. Follow the insulation-by-layers principle here, too, by using two or more pair of socks. As for the outer boot, leather is warmer than rubber. But in wet country or when snow is on the ground, wear rubber-bottomed shoes or all-rubber pacs.

If you use down bags or blankets, get down to earth when sleeping outdoors in winter. Cots, or anything that raises you above the ground admits air underneath and this can chill the marrow in your spine and associated regions.

Betsy Layne Defeats Gate City Quint, But Loses to PCA, 60 to 59

Betsy Layne, Ky., Jan. 22 (Spl.)—After distinguishing themselves by defeating the Callettsburg Wildcats on the Boyd county team's floor, 68-52, the Bob Cats of Betsy Layne ran into trouble Saturday night at Pikeville, and there saw the end of a fine winning streak, the Pikeville Academy Cubs defeating them, 60-59.

Callettsburg, a team which recently pushed Pikeville's high-ranking Panthers to the limit fell far back as Betsy Layne put on a great second-half scoring show. Frankie Crum led both teams in scoring with 32 points.

Returning home, the Bob Cats defeated Oil Springs here, 66 to 40, with Crum tossing in 27 points. The following night's defeat was complicated by a resalcitrant timepiece which had the exact playing time in doubt for several minutes. Wallace and Crum led the Betsy Layne attack with 16 points each, but J. Carter's 20 points was high for both teams, and S. Carter was only three behind him.

Aureomycin Highly Effective Against Boils, Carbuncles

Sufferers from eruptive skin boils and carbuncles are offered new hope for relatively quick, safe relief by the use of aureomycin, the "golden wonder drug."

Early tests with this versatile antibiotic drug indicate that it is the most effective agent yet developed for combatting these types of skin infection.

Most of these carbuncles are caused by staphylococci and streptococci germs, which enter the skin through the hair opening or through a very small scratch. While these infections are almost always localized, there is a strong chance that low resistance or amateurish tampering will push the germs into the blood stream and cause serious illness, possibly death.

Much suffering and possible complications can be avoided if the infected person visits his doctor as soon as local inflammation is detected. Advanced cases of boils and carbuncles require surgical treatment.

Aureomycin has proved vastly superior to penicillin and the sulfa drugs in treating these particular infections. In addition, there is no evidence that germ organisms build up a resistance to aureomycin, as they do to many other drugs. It is claimed that aureomycin is effective when swallowed in capsule form rather than injected with a needle, as is often necessary with penicillin and other drugs of this type.

Mayo School Five Wins
Over Favored Marshall
Freshman Team, 93-83

The Mayo Vocational School Pirates defeated a highly rated Marshall College freshmen five, 93-83. The score does not indicate the facts of the game. It was a nip-and-tuck, dog-eat-dog affair until the final whistle blew.

This was the seventh straight win for the Pirates which holds a 9-3 record against strong junior colleges and independent opposition.

Mayo played without the services of its coach, Grover Salyer, who was called to Louisville on account of illness in family. Junior White, of Williamsport, led the scoring parade for both teams by amassing 34 points. D. Butcher and D. Martin hit the nets for 16 and 15 points, respectively. Morris led the Little Green attack with 23 points followed closely by Georgetown who ripped the cords for 22. Belden, the big six-foot-nine center, hit for 17 points. Mayo will play the strong Cumberland Junior College in the Paintsville high school gymnasium, Friday night at 8.

U. S. "Naked" Against A-Bomb

(From The Reader's Digest
for February, 1951)

"The United States is naked—incredibly naked—against a Russian atom-bomb attack," declares Henry J. Taylor in the February Reader's Digest.

In an article condensed from the radio program, "Your Land and Mine," Taylor states that, though Russia possesses the atom bomb and the largest air fleet in the world, we have no more national defense for the United States than Hawaii had on the day of Pearl Harbor.

Not a single radar-equipped picket boat is on constant duty anywhere offshore to warn our coasts of an attack and to aid our air force to meet it. Thanks to Red spies, the Kremlin has maps of our skimping radar network. A good electronics expert, of which the Reds have many in the Communist party here, "can tell within a few per cent of error any detector's wave length and frequency channel. These Russian agents keep Stalin's maps up to date."

We would be lucky to stop five to ten per cent of Soviet bombers before they reached here, our air leaders admit, and Stalin knows it. Against the RAF's much better defenses, "on the best day of the Battle of Britain," only 30 per cent of Hitler's bombers were knocked down. Had those that got through dropped atom bombs there would be no England today.

Our Air Force is not to blame, Taylor emphasizes. In the fall of 1948 the Armed Forces asked funds for a preliminary radar network. Months later, on March 30, 1949, Congress authorized $85,500,000 for this purpose—less than one per cent of the funds already consumed abroad by the Marshall Plan. But Congress never appropriated the money. In desperation, the Air Force finally diverted $50,000,000 from its other appropriations to get the job started. In the fiscal year starting July 1, 1950, Congress appropriated an additional $75,000,000, but that appropriation still remains on paper.

As vulnerable by sea as by air, all our major ports are open to sneak attack by enemy cargo vessels carrying atom bombs. Searching Iron-Curtain ships, as we recently searched Red Poland's SS "Bat-ory," is officially admitted to be futile.

To date, we have spent less effort and money in protecting our homeland from atom-bomb attack than we have sent to Greece, Taylor states. And we have spent more money buying peanuts to keep up the price of peanuts than we have spent buying interceptor planes.

Floyd County Times

Official Organ for Floyd County, Ky

Published Every Thursday by Prestonsburg Publishing Co

Entered as second class matter June 18, 1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Ky., under the act of March 3, 1879.

Our Weakness Is Not Heartlessness

UNEDUCATED, his tongue untrained to facile expression, Allen Prater, the father of the two children whose deaths here last week resulted in widespread publicity of the unfavorable sort for the community and Floyd county, said:

"My children did not starve. . . . God put too many good people in these mountains for anybody to starve to death if they knew they needed something to eat."

And so was given effective answer by one of the two persons qualified to speak in the matter to all those calumniators of Eastern Kentucky.

Of course, every thinking man and woman in this community feels a sense of guilt. Medical aid should have been made available, earlier. This tragedy should not have occurred. Had we but known, perhaps it could have been avoided. Perhaps we are at fault because we did not know. But how could we know?

Those are some of the things we are thinking about this week.

But it is not given to humans to be omniscient, and it was a wise God who made them so. Knowledge of all the tragedies and heartaches of the world would be a burden so crushing that the human mind would sink into madness.

Those who would pick out this isolated tragedy and indict a whole people for it are of a type of the Communists who search for and find such instances and brand this nation with heartlessness.

Those who would rail against the churches for their work of foreign missions—while, they say, our own are suffering—are usually the type who never gave either to foreign or home missions.

Those who would lay the blame at the feet of this or that charitable organization are, in all probability, those who have given least to the work of charity.

Let us all realize that these heart-sickening tragedies are taking place all over the world—in New York and Detroit and cities of other lands as well as in these hills. Let us accept our part of the blame in that we failed, as humans forever will, to foresee and meet the needs of all.

But never accept for the people of Prestonsburg, Floyd county or any other county of this section the stigma of heartlessness which some would apparently like to place on us.

Let the Chips Fall . . .

JUDGE Charles I. Dawson appeared to the ordinary person during the recent Senatorial campaign as something of a curmudgeon, with a hint of the cantankerous about him, and at first his charges against State Highway Administration officials were widely regarded as rumblings of pure political "cussedness."

But he has gone ahead, with the election over and his defeat admitted, with his charges till now depositions are being taken. And two deponents have testified that none other than Highway Commissioner John B. Keck and Rural Highway Commissioner Emerson "Doc" Beauchamp saw $6,000 change hands under highly questionable circumstances.

And so we are all for Kentucky's "old curmudgeon," regardless of his motives. Even if he should be devoting his time and energies to the less-than-noble task of getting even with somebody, a full and complete investigation should be made.

If state officials are innocent of wrong-doing, they should be proved so by an honest investigation. And if they are guilty, they should be so branded, so known to all Kentucky and by Kentucky made to suffer the consequences.

ALL-STAR LINE-UP FOR '51!

NOW ON DISPLAY

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated, are subject to change without notice.

Your first eye-smacking look at the line of lovelies pictured here tells you that they've got what it takes in visual charm.

But the fellow who said a picture speaks louder than a thousand words wasn't talking about these superbly able 1951 Buicks.

Sure, they're smart to look at—smart in style and smart in dress.

But they're also smartly powered—smartly engineered—smartly priced. And it would take a book to describe in full their deep-down goodness.

What's been done for '51 is to take the best automobiles that ever bore the Buick name—and top them;

†Optional at extra cost—available on most models. (Not presently available in California or Massachusetts)

Come, look them over, and you'll see what we mean.

There's the SPECIAL which can accurately be titled "the newest car in the world"—new in structure, new in power, new in dimensions, new in thrift—and potent in price appeal.

There's the SUPER—that looks and is a smart new edition of its "best seller" forebear.

Then there's the ROADMASTER—that coddles your anatomy on luxurious new fabrics and cloud-soft cushions—pampers your pride with its lordly bearing—shoots a delicious tingle right up your spine by the exuberance of its power and action.

We could go on and on. This is the car that "breathes through its nose." This is the car that sports a brand-new front-end styling. This is the car with new high-visibility instrument dials, more easily read at night. This is the car with glare-and-heat-reducing glass and a host of other news-making features you can't afford to miss.

So your No. 1 date this week end is with your Buick dealer. It won't take you long to conclude that he's offering the smartest buys of the year.

SHIRTS
REFRESHED
$1.50

...so some gentlemen wore dirty shirts!

During California's Gold Rush, a clean shirt was worth its weight in gold. Forty-miners gladly paid $1.50 to have a shirt washed . . . and waited four weeks for delivery!

Nowadays, you can wash two tubfuls of shirts—or anything else—for one penny. And in minutes! Easier washdays are just one of the many benefits of electric living.

Think about it for a moment. How many jobs has electricity helped you with during the past 24 hours? How many comforts, conveniences and pleasures has it made possible?

And yet your electric service is the biggest bargain in the average family budget. Its cost? Less than a pack of cigarettes a day! Sound business management of companies like this one made this value possible.
