This Town--
That World

NOT ALL DEAD
This is not an old chestnut, nor did anybody pull 'em out of the fire. The handful of chestnuts E. B. Brown brought to this office Tuesday grew on a tree in his yard here. The tree is about five years old and has been untouched by the blight which devastated this section's fine chestnut tree growth, several years ago.

GRAND STUFF
Why Bill Crawford has to Shanghai me into Kiwanis attendance neither of us will ever know, for the club invariably has a program I enjoy. First it was the David Teen-Agers who sent me away in lyrical mood, then it was Kathryn Frazier's fine boys' group and last Thursday evening it was Edith James, Mrs. Claude P. Stephens and Laura Virginia Roberts with their ballads. Now I know what they mean when a melody is described as "haunting."

ANOTHER CANDIDATE
Election campaign time always has its crop of gags, old and new, and anecdotes which may or may not be apropos. A few years ago there was a campaign running its torrid course in this county, and it seems that every other office-seeker was a doctor. Placards heralded their candidacies, handbills and newspaper ads had their names big in the public mind. Even the children were aware that the doctors were racing with something besides the stork.

Finally came the afternoon when a Dr. Pepper truck rumbled up a country road and a youngster wanted to know, "What's Doc Pepper runnin' for?"

THE GREEN-EYED MONSTER'S GOT ME
The butterfly season has seen hectic activity on our street. My youngsters and the Johnson children across the street had themselves a time, armed with nets, snaring the creatures, dunking them in a solution which had tetrachloride as part

MINOR CASES
GROW SERIOUS

After Probe of Drunks;
Auto and Wire Thefts
Alleged by Officers

Two men arrested in autos on Floyd highways within the week on rather routine charges wound up accused of more serious crimes.

Wine Eugene Mullins, of Letcher county, was nabbed Saturday at Allen by Deputy Sheriffs Frank Parsons and Ransie Marcum it appeared that his only offenses were drunk driving and driving without an operator's license. A subsequent look into his car disclosed the fact that it was well-loaded with copper wire. As a result, he was released to the sheriff of Letcher county.

Several days earlier, Deputy Sheriffs Ransie Marcum, Frank Crum and F. Stone found one Lizzie Stanford sleeping it off in a car, near the end of the Cliff bridge. Investigation showed the car had been stolen from Frank Adams, of Prestonsburg.

Others arrested during the week on major offense:
Odys Hays, reckless driving, jailed by Deputy Sheriffs Scott Compton, Ed Ambury and Jim Burchfield; Ballard Little, possessing untaxed liquor, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Willie Johnson; Clarence Mollett, drunk driving, and Keen Goodman, possessing moonshine whiskey, both arrested by Deputies Scott Compton, Obe Ousley and Ed Ambury; Beverage Wallen, possessing gin, jailed by Deputies Ransie Marcum and J. Hall; Woodrow Crager, contributing to juvenile delinquency, arrested by Deputy Frank Parsons.

HENRY HELD
OF ROBBERY

Alibi He Was Elsewhere
Night of Jan. 13 Gets
Support of Witnesses

Willis Clay Henry, of Mt. Sterling, produced an ironclad alibi to win an acquittal Saturday at the hands of a jury of the Floyd circuit court of a charge of armed robbery and unlawful imprisonment in the holdup of D. C. Stephens, Prestonsburg dental laboratory owner, last January 13.

The jury deliberated little more than half an hour before adjudging Henry not guilty.

Against the testimony of Stephens himself, his wife, Mrs. Dora Stephens, and his secretary, Miss Hazel Green, alleging that Henry was in Prestonsburg on the night of January 13, last, when the $30,000 was reported to have been taken, was that of the defendant and others contending that Henry was not in Prestonsburg that night but was in Kermitt, W. Va.

Stephens testified that Henry had approached him with a story of a man "caught" with gold bullion and proposed that they buy it, Stephens investing $30,000 in the deal. The plan was to sell the gold through Mr. Stephens' contacts with refineries and the dental profession. He borrowed $20,000; had $10,000 which he had earned, he said. The entire $30,000 was in $100 bills.

The complaining witness told the jury that on the night of January 13 a man who he later learned was named Robinson came to his laboratory here. Robinson apparently was the man "caught with the gold bullion." After they had talked a few minutes Henry arrived. The two visitors held him at gun's point, searched the premises for the cash which they found about 45 minutes later in a drawer of a desk. Then they locked him in the vault of the laboratory, he said.

Mrs. Stephens and Miss Green told of seeing two men, one of whom they identified as Henry, leaving the laboratory as they drove past, around 10 p.m. Assuming, they said, that Mr. Stephens was working, and suspecting nothing amiss, they returned to the Stephens home. At 4:15 a.m., when Stephens yet was absent from home, they returned to the laboratory where they found him in the vault, they testified.

Stephens under cross-examination by John Young Brown admitted he had known Robinson for some time and that there had been eight conferences about the gold

Next Easter; Notables
Invited for the Future

H. L. Donovan, president of the University of Kentucky, will respond to the welcome address to be given by James Salisbury on Pageant Day at Martin next year, it was stated by a director of the Pageant Board this week.

As evidence that the sponsors of the pageant are looking forward to the perpetuation of the passion play it was announced that R. G. Tourneau, millionaire layman and who says he is God's business partner has been invited to speak in 1953 with President Donovan but that for 1954 Eddie Martin, outstanding Kentucky evangelist, has been invited. Dr. Billy Graham, world evangelist, cannot accept for any time prior to 1955 for which date he is invited.

A town meeting for everyone interested in the pageant, and all old and new characters is set for Sunday, Sept. 28 at 2 p.m. in the school auditorium, so instructions as to further taking of pictures for magazine use, may be given by the director, Miss Blanche Dingus. All associate directors and coaches are asked to attend. Individuals not yet assigned a role for 1953 may come and receive one. Roles for 1953 same as those for 1952 when possible.

Persons in the county who can and will play the accordion or dulcimer, or other ancient instruments, are requested to contact Mrs. E. R. May, Langley, if they have not been notified that their help is desired.

Copies of the new script in outline form, with scripture quotations, will be available for distribution at the meeting on the fourth Sunday.

Surviving sons and daughters are: Jake, James and Lucy at home. Surviving sisters are Mrs. Amy Simpson of Cliff; Mrs. Eddie DeLong and Mrs. Alta Delong of Lawrence county, Kentucky. Also surviving are 28 grandchildren.

COURT ORDER
FORBIDS ADS

On County Property
After Republican Sign
Provokes Resentment

The Floyd fiscal court, on recommendation of County Judge Henry Stumbo, Friday ordered the Jailer, Guy Horn, to cause to be removed any political advertisements on the courthouse or county property and to prevent the posting thereon of any such advertisements in the future.

Only Republican advertisements had been posted when the action was taken.

At the same time the office of Magistrate J. E. Harris had been selected as Floyd county Democratic headquarters. Another location for the headquarters was selected, however, and the move from the courthouse was made this morning.

Republican signs referring to "the mess in Washington and Floyd county" were removed, a week ago, on order of Jailer Guy Horn. The sign was taken across the street to Republican headquarters and later moved from there by the Republicans on their own initiative.

600 CALLERS
AT HOSPITAL

As Open House Is Held
By Drs. Archer; Guests
Inspect Many Features

Six hundred persons were guests of Dr. George P. Archer and Dr. John G. Archer Sunday afternoon as the two doctors threw open the doors of their new Prestonsburg General hospital in an open-house welcome to the public.

What the 600 saw they pronounced good—a hotel building reconstructed and converted into one of the most modern hospitals in Kentucky.

Guests were conducted on tours of all three floors of the 50-bed hospital and shown these features: Twelve private rooms with baths; seven rooms with connecting bath; six three-bed patient units with bath; eight bassinets, two incubators; the new air-lock incubator, third to be installed in a Kentucky hospital, especially designed for premature babies or infants whose breathing is not normal; a hospital-wide sprinkler system, fire doors at entrances and stairways and two fire escapes which render the hospital as fireproof as it can be made; the hospital elevator (42 seconds from the first floor to the third); operating, delivery, labor and central supply rooms; the new bed-pan sterilizer, an ice machine, the intricate telephone and intercommunication system; on the second floor, the nurses' station, oxygen panel, three bed wards with bath, fracture room, service room, public bath, diet kitchen, formula rooms and its special equipment; and on the first floor the doctors' lounge, fracture room, X-ray room, kitchen, laboratory, offices of the doctors and the reception room.

Of special interest was the special room furnished with Florence Nightingale furniture by the doctors in honor of the late Mrs. Emma Archer, mother of Dr. John, and Dr. Ernest E. Archer, father of Dr. George. Conducting hostesses were wives of the two doctors. Glass ash trays were given guests as mementoes, and refreshments were served in the reception room.

RECEIVES TREATMENT

THREE DRAW
PRISON TERMS

Only Henry Trial
Lends Court Drama
In Week's Session

Although three defendants received pen terms in circuit court, there was little of the courtroom drama during the week, with the exception of the Willis Clay Henry trial which ended Saturday in the Mt. Sterling man's acquittal.

Those given pen terms: Arnold Artrip, child desertion, two years, later granted probation for a five-year period; Gomer Little, shooting and wounding, two years; Gomer Blackburn, two years on his plea of guilty to a charge of grand larceny.

Others convicted were charged with lesser offenses. These and the penalties assessed of them follow: Vernon Flannery, assault and battery, $10 fine Eugene Lewis, throwing stone into a building, $50 and 20 days in jail; Junior Cecil, breach of peace, $25 fine; Charlie Jones, cutting and wounding, $50 fine, less credit of $16; Clay Daniels, cold check, $25 fine; Afton Martin, transporting moonshine whiskey, $50 and costs on plea of law and facts; Charlie Stout, selling liquor, $100 and 60 days; Ernest (Cat-Tail) Campbell, selling liquor, $50 and 30 days.

Peace bond of $1,000 was required by Circuit Judge Hill of each person convicted on a liquor charge.

These defendants won acquittals: Steve Smith, assault and battery; Noah Justice, selling liquor, on directed verdict; Alfred Lewis, breach of peace; Edward Hoover, grand larceny.

The rape charge against Herman and Royland Gray was dismissed for lack of evidence, but dismissal of the charge against Royland was later set aside and trial set for Sept. 24.

OFFICIALS SIGN
BOND FOR 12

Perkins and Meade
Among Those Signing
For Accused UMWA Men

Among those joining Pike and Letcher county officials Wednesday at Pikeville in signing bonds of $1,500 each for 12 men charged with molesting nonunion miners last May were Congressman Carl D. Perkins and Sheriff A. B. Meade, of this county.

Others signing as bondsmen to insure appearance of the 12 at the criminal term of U.S. district court which will convene Oct. 13 at Pikeville were Commonwealth's Attorney J. A. Runyon, of Pike county; Mrs. Jessie Arnold, Pike County Court Clerk, and Circuit Clerk Charles Wright, of Letcher county.

Two of the 14 men indicted September 8 by the federal grand jury at Richmond failed to appear. No reason was given. The two who didn't show up were Tilden Johnson, Pike county, and Charles Minton, Letcher county.

Among those giving bond were four former county officers, Milburn, alias Cootie, Hall, former Letcher county deputy constable, and Dock Bartley, Dial Mullins, and Ralph

UMWA Welfare Settles
Millionth Hospital Bill

A check for the millionth hospital and doctor bill was mailed Tuesday by United Mine Workers' Welfare and Retirement Fund to cover cost of the birth of twin boys at the Beckley, West Virginia hospital August 16. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodrow Giles, of R.F.D. No. 1, Scarbro, West Virginia.

The check was for $147 and went to the Beckley institution to pay for hospitalization and physicians' fees for the twins. The fund has paid out more than $80,000,000 to meet the one million hospital and medical bills submitted under present Fund regulations beginning July 1, 1950.

The twins, Darrell Gay and Harold Ray, boost to eight the number of children in the hill country household of war veteran Giles and his wife. They reside in a mountainous pin high hopes for further reducing the toll on its program of building ten hospitals in areas of Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia where facilities have been declared inadequate.

Purgation Failure Cause
Discussed; Board Named

German Vance, Democrat, chairman of the Floyd County Registration and Purgation Board, has been re-named to the board for a four-year term, and Eugene Allen, Republican, has been named the second member. These two will name the third member, it was said here this week.

New county Election Commissioners also have been named, Marion Martin, Drift Democrat, and W. B. Boyd, Prestonsburg Republican, receiving the appointments.

The purgation board of this county recently ended its 20-day post-primary session without removing any names from the voting lists. Because it considered the time too short for checking the names intended for purgation and for advertising names of those to be purged before taking final action, it dispensed with the 15 days' additional time given it after the full board had completed its work.

The board has upwards of 4,000 names listed for purgation, including many notices which were not mailed. The work done is not lost, because the notices prepared and information gained can be used later, it was emphasized.

KIDNAP CASE
JURY 'HANGS'

Second Trial of Blonde
Set for November 7th
In Circuit Court Here

A circuit court jury refused to believe unanimously that blonde Gloria Kramer kidnaped Nolan Worley, 35, of McVeigh, Ky., on the right of Aug. 26 and forced him at gun's point to drive her to this county, and was discharged as hopelessly disagreed this afternoon.

Court officials said 10 of the jury were agreed, however, as to her guilt. Her second trial was set for Nov. 19.

The 23-year-old woman testified she threatened Worley with a pistol only after he had made improper advances to her and that he later agreed to drive her to Louisville where her mother resides. She also claimed he gave her whiskey on the way, and that she fell asleep, awakening only when Floyd County Deputy Sheriffs Frank Crum and John Hopson arrested her at Betsy Layne.

Her claim that she gave Worley a dollar to pay his expenses back to McVeigh was corroborated by several others and went unchallenged.

Worley's testimony that he had gone to a Williamson hospital for treatment on the night he was held up was corroborated by that of his wife. His story followed the lines of that originally told after the girl's arrest—that she had threatened the man with a .30 Luger automatic and told him to keep driving. He denied that he had been drinking. The arresting officers told of finding the woman with the automatic as she lay slumped asleep in the car which Worley abandoned at Betsy Layne.

MRS. TAYLOR, 111

Reed Tells Kiwanians
But Shutdown Possible;
Cites South's Problems

There may be a coal strike, but if there is this will be one strike neither management nor labor wants.

Thus did B. F. Reed, of the extensive Reed mining interests in this county, report to the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club last Thursday evening, a few hours after he had returned from Washington and a look-in on the situation brewing there between negotiators for the two groups.

Asked to give the club his views of the situation, Mr. Reed reminded the Kiwanians, "Contrary to what we read in the newspapers, Mr. Lewis has never made any definite demands. He has spoken mildly of needed improvements, of more need for the welfare fund and of a shorter work week. But he has not stated exactly what he wants."

Melvin Boy Paralyzed,
Is 19th Polio Patient

The 19th known Floyd county polio sufferer is 14-year-old Bill Hall, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hall, of Melvin, who was stricken Monday and is reportedly in a critical condition. The boy was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Lexington, and placed in an iron lung. His father told Dr. Marvin Ransdell, director of the Floyd County Health Department, Tuesday that the youngster is paralyzed from his neck down.

REEDS, SWING
BUY UTILITIES

Group Acquires Coal,
Improvements, Land;
Prepare To Operate

A deal completed last Thursday after several weeks' negotiations transferred ownership of the Utilities Elkhorn Coal Company holdings at Martin and gave promise that the idle workings will be in operation again within a few days, providing a potential of employment for 150 men.

The transaction involved purchase by C. D. and B. F. Reed, of Drift, and P. B. Swing, Cleveland, O., of the equipment and supplies of the coal company and 2,700 acres of coal, approximately 70 acres of land and improvements of the property lying on Buck's Branch owned by the Beaver Creek Consolidation Coal Company.

Amount involved in the deal was not stated. John Bowman, of Pikeville, headed the Utilities Elkhorn Coal Company. Its mine on Buck's Branch had been idle since May 30, with the result that upwards of 150 men had lost employment.

Included in the improvements are a modern coal tippie and a few miners' homes. The mine, it was said, will normally produce 700 to 800 tons of coal a day, and it has a capacity of 1,200 tons daily. The operation is not mechanized.

Preparations for operation of the mine were under way this week and mining of coal may be resumed by week's end, it was said.

The new doctors at the hospital are Dr. Joseph Allan Offen, Boston, Mass., surgeon and gynecologist, and Dr. Joseph Crowley, Brattleboro, Vt., pediatrician and cardiologist, who will be the nominal head of the Martin hospital.

Added to the hospital medical staff are Dr. Rutledge, Dr. J. C. Preston and Dr. Gene Combs radiologist, all of Pikeville.

Dr. John J. Sherman, who has been surgeon at the hospital during recent months, is doing further advanced work in the field of surgery, in Pennsylvania. FISCAL COURT
HIRES AUDITOR TO STUDY PAY

Of County Officials
Over Minimum Period
To Cover Five Years

The fiscal court at its meeting Friday rescinded its order authorizing the County Judge to employ an auditor to make an accounting of county officials' pay over a period of years and then, acting as a group, accepted the proposal submitted by the William Cootton Company, Louisville accountant firm, to audit the various offices.

The Louisville firm's offer was to audit the offices at a fee ranging from $1,000 to $1,250 for each year covered by the audit. This was explained as a proposal to audit all of the offices for a period, say, of five years for a fee which would be at least $5,000 or at most $6,250. The offer was considered the best submitted, one or two others asking a fee of $50 a day, plus expenses, for the time covered by the audit. This type of proposal was not considered definite enough for the court to arrive at any definite figure of the cost an audit would entail.

Work on the audit, it was said Tuesday, is scheduled to begin today (Thursday).

The court's order called for an audit of the county offices "for a period of at least five years, and such additional period of time the court may deem necessary or expedient."

dent." It also provided that the auditing firm start work immediately and complete the job "with reasonable dispatch."

William Cotton & Company, it was said, is one of the state's largest firms of its kind and is widely remembered by its former firm name of Cotton & Eskew.

Naming of an auditing firm by the court is not expected to deter audit plans by the Floyd County Good Government Taxpayers League. The League this week was raising funds to finance an independent audit of one official and to institute suit to collect from him any funds he may be due the county, it was learned.

Registered letters were mailed Wednesday by the League to each of the members of the Floyd County Board of Education and to County Superintendent Virgil O. Turner, calling to their attention that Troy B. Sturgill, former tax collector, is due the board a certain sum and ask that it be collected.

The League also requested a detailed statement of the joint-sponsorship by Floyd and Knott counties of the Wayland and Lackey schools. "We have information that leads us to believe that Floyd county taxpayers are bearing more than their proportionate part of the expense of these schools," the League wrote.

William C. Johnstone Appointed to Staff Of Ky. Bankers Ass'n

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Ralph Fontaine, executive secretary of the Kentucky Bankers Association has announced the appointment of William C. Johnstone as agricultural representative on his staff. Johnstone, field agent in agronomy, Extension Service, College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky, assumed his new duties July 1, 1952.

Johnstone was born in South Carolina and moved with his family in 1904 to a farm in Jessamine county, Kentucky. He attended the University of Kentucky where he received his Bachelor of Science in 1916. From 1917 to 1922 he was agricultural advisor to the Brazilian government.

In 1923 Johnstone began his career with the Extension Service of Kentucky's College of Agriculture as county agent in Taylor county. A year later he moved to McCracken county where he served for 13 years as county agent. In 1937 he was appointed field agent in agronomy with the Extension Service.

One of his best known activities has been in connection with pasture improvement especially with the introduction of Ky. 31 fescue, and the organization of the highly successful Kentucky green pasture program of which he was the official leader.

Among many honors bestowed on Johnstone are the following: in 1946 he was awarded a citation by the Progressive Farmer Magazine as "Man of the Year in Service to Kentucky Agriculture". In 1949, the same publication selected him for "Man of the Year in Service to Southern Agriculture". In 1951 farmers and business interests presented him with a new automobile and gold watch as an expression of their regard for him. He is in constant demand in all parts of the state as a speaker for farm and agricultural meetings.

Johnstone is well known in Floyd where his efforts to promote Kentucky 31 fescue sold the farmers on the desirability of the grass for pasturage.

Ratliff, former Pike county deputy sheriff.

Four others, Carson Hibbits, Joseph Davis, Harry Radcliff, and Bob Newsum, are field workers employed by District 30, all stationed in Pikeville.

The others, reported to be members of the union, are Sherman Maggard, Pike county, and Carl Conley, T. N. Fleming and M. B. Bloomer, all of Letcher county.

In signing one of the bonds Commonwealth's Attorney Runyon commented, "Persons interested in the prosecution of this case also have an interest in a civil suit in Virginia against the U.M.W."

The indictment charged all 14 defendants with "conspiring to injure and intimidate citizens in the free exercise of constitutional rights, conspiring to violate a law of the United States, and subjecting an inhabitant of a state to deprive him of his rights under the color of law."

The "color of law" refers to the four defendants who were county officers at the time of the Cumberland Mountain incident. The site is on U.S. 23 in Letcher county, near the Virginia line.

In detail, the three-count indictment charges the defendants and "others unknown" with threatening nonunion miners working in Virginia in an attempt to force them to join the U.M.W.A.

It charges that they beat one of the nonunion men "with fists and feet in an effort to force him to join their union."

Slayer of Blackburn Draws 10-Year Term Despite Defense Plea

Jay Meredith, Catlettsburg, slayer of Harold "Hobby" Blackburn on April 23 received a 10-year sentence last Friday afternoon in the Boyd circuit court. The shotgun victim was a son of Dodge Blackburn, formerly of the Johns Creek section of this county.

Several defense witnesses testified that Meredith had received repeated threats on his life from Blackburn.

Meredith told the court he shot Blackburn "to keep from getting shot."

Other witnesses told of threats by Blackburn to kill Meredith if Meredith interfered with his plan to set up a bootlegging and gambling joint in a room of the Kozy Korner Tavern located on the ground floor beneath Meredith's apartment, and under lease to Meredith and his brother, Haskell Meredith.

Meredith said he had objected to Blackburn about the place because of noise which would come from such an establishment.

He said he talked with Blackburn about 30 minutes before the shooting. Blackburn had been drinking, he said, and became angry. Blackburn, he continued, went to his car and got a pistol from it.

Meredith said he then went to his apartment upstairs and shortly afterward heard a pounding below. He said he decided to go and protest against the noise to his brother. He took a shotgun from his case, loaded it and went down.

"When I first knocked on the door no one answered," he said. "I knocked again and Jess Hamilton, a carpenter, opened the door and came out around me as I went in."

"I saw my brother first, then saw Hobby behind him. He had a pistol in his right hand and a can of beer in his left. I fired to knock the gun from his hand."

Robert Meredith, another brother of the convicted man, Nathan Murphy and Charlie Ross, all of Catlettsburg, testified they had heard Blackburn make threats about killing Jay Meredith.

deal. He testified $10,000 of the sum taken represented his savings and that the remainder was borrowed from Lawrence Edwards, of Pikeville. The loan was secured by mortgage dated Dec. 16, last year, and recorded in February of this year, it was testified.

Henry's testimony, heard on the last day of trial, contended it was Stephens, not he, who proposed the gold deal. He produced a letter from the Prestonsburg man which suggested that they buy gold bullion. Henry said he first agreed to the transaction, then backed out on it "because it looked shady."

Reiterating his denial that he robbed, Stephens, Henry told the jury that he spent the night of Jan. 13 in the Liberty hotel which he owns at Kermit, W. Va. He said he operated, as a regular business routine, his liquor store in Mt. Sterling, Monday till Friday afternoon, and then went to Kermit for a week-end of gambling, returning to Mt. Sterling on Monday.

Henry's alibi that he spent the night of January 13 in Kermit, W. Va., was corroborated by testimony of several persons.

Frank S. Doriot, Huntington, W. V., a restaurant-equipment dealer who once was an assistant football coach to Knute Rockne at Notre Dame, told of meeting Henry in Kermit that night. Doriot said he talked with Henry about some equipment for the hotel restaurant. Police Chief Oscar Kirk of Kermit told the jury that he visited the hotel on his tour shortly after 10 p.m. and that Henry asked him to buy him some cigars at a store further down the street. Kirk said he later delivered the cigars.

Ken Kirk, a Kermit businessman and taxicab inspector for the State of West Virginia, said he had coffee with Henry in the hotel restaurant about 10 p.m.

About eight persons testified in Henry's behalf.

Special Judge R. C. Littleton of Grayson gave the jury two choices in returning a verdict—guilty or not guilty of the charge of armed robbery and unlawful imprisonment. If the verdict were guilty, the judge said, the sentence could only be life in prison or death.

Henry who formerly operated the Club Rustique here, was recently sentenced to three years in prison and fined $2,500 in Federal court on a liquor charge.

The jury for the trial was empaneled last Thursday, and the Commonwealth began questioning its witnesses Friday. Both Stephens and Henry were represented by a battery of lawyers.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

"Across the Creek"

Scattered all over the state are little streams that we drive across today on the highway, frequently not even noticing the flow of water. But there was a time when some of the smallest of these had an importance all out of proportion to their size. They were often the boundaries between communities, seemingly as important as legal state lines.

Such small barriers as a small creek meant much at Fidelity when I lived there. Social lines were often drawn at the ford or the bridge that separated the two communities. Actually there were people on the two sides of the creek who never saw each other through a long life; I myself left home at 18 without knowing all the people whose houses I could see from the hill above our house. I knew people farther away on our side of the creek, but the small stream and its marshy bottom formed a barrier that I seldom crossed.

As I have watched bridges of all sorts grow up, I have wondered how long it will be until we will seriously set about bridging other gaps that should be no more difficult than it was to build the first wooden bridge.

There were people on the other side of those streams that I should have known; they should have known me, too, for both of us would have been better for having torn down a wall that had no business to exist. I often marvel at how much philosophy Robert Frost has packed into the first line of his poem, "Mending Wall": "Something there is that does not love a wall."

Since bridges have been built across the Ohio river, it has come as a surprise to many people on each side that we are startlingly alike. Southern Indiana and Illinois are so much like Kentucky—or is it the other way?—that we wonder how well this likeness survived through the generations since the first settlements, when Kentuckians and Virginians flocked across the Ohio to the fine new lands. The river itself, the unpleasantness of the Civil War and its preceding slavery struggle, and the fact that highways had a way of being built east and west instead of north and south—all these widened the gap that really did not exist.

The Rubicon, a very small stream, was the boundary of Julius Caesar's province; when he crossed it, he defied the authorities and made a new world. None of us are wise enough to appraise properly the Roman Empire, but even the smallest ones of us can see that world civilization as we know it, might never have come or might have been long delayed had not a Roman governor disregarded a flimsy barrier.

Boy Scouts To Collect Clothing Next Thursday For Distribution to Poor

Prestonsburg Boy Scouts will pick up discarded clothing at homes of Prestonsburg residents at 4 p.m., next Thursday, to supply the Goodwill Mountain Mission with wearing apparel needed by the poor, it was announced this week.

"This apparently will be one of the worst winters in the matter of need in years," the Rev. Howard C. Church, head of the mission said. Circumstances of many families are worse because of unemployment.

Clothing already is being distributed by the mission, the Rev. Church said, to two churches and one Floyd school, which in turn are repairing the garments before distributing them to the needy. A $50 contribution to the mission was given recently by the Men's class of the Methodist Church here.

"Not charity but a chance," is the slogan of the mission. "If the recipient can pay something, even a dime, for a garment, he should pay it and thus not be a plain charity case with attendant loss of morale," it was explained.

of the name, and then mounting them. I couldn't see it, but they could, and were quite happy, and so that's that. Even the smallest was twisting his tongue around long, scientific names about which he knew nothing and cared less.

Well, this went on through the hot season, till either the butterflies quit fluttering or were all caught. Came signs of relief. But hold! That didn't stop 'em. They merely turned to a new field: caterpillars. Oh, brother! If those jars upstairs ever come un-caterpillar-tight and those weird worms escape over the house, I'll be moving out without taking time to pack.

One of the things they've got imprisoned up there is a lovely, lovely pack-saddle. They may call it by some other name, and I have on occasion called it something less complimentary, but most of us know the stinging worm as a pack-saddle. The kids tell me it'll make a beautiful moth. I shall not sit up nights to see.

Only yesterday, there was a great clatter of feet up and down the stairway, and I finally became curious and wanted to know what in tunket was comin' off up there. Finally one of them gasped, "The chrysalis has opened—and it's a yellow moth!"

Yes, we have a blessed event at our house, almost every day. And more are on the way to join the Cloudless Sulphurs, Variegated Prillaries, Red Admirals, Viceroy's, Painted Ladies, et al, which already have gone into what I call "the pickling jar" and from there to the mounting board.

If I seem a bit greener than usual, these days, put it down to jealousy. Yes, I'm jealous of the dernek caterpillars. The things have robbed me of my No. 1 fishing partner.

Black Cats Defeat Irvine High For Second Victory of Season

Prestonsburg high school's black cats quickly dispelled the myth of Irvine high's football prowess last Friday night by scoring a quick touchdown in the first quarter, going on to add three others and meanwhile keeping their own goal inviolate for the season.

Irvine had, on the preceding Friday, defeated Paris (Ky.) high, 13 to 0, and the word received here had the fans skeptical of the Cats' ability to withstand the opposition. But all the bogey-man tales were quickly forgotten.

One thing Irvine did bring here and that was in the person of Wolfenberger, fullback playing his last high school football as his 20th birthday was only a few hours away, whose soaring punts ranged great distances. He was also the visitors' main scoring threat.

As in the Whitesburg game, the Cats gave ground to open the game, but quickly rallied. But for the last half when the Prestonsburg team distinguished itself mainly by drawing penalties, the game would have been an utter rout. Three touchdowns—two brilliant 75-yard runs by John Delmar Hughes—were called back. The adding machine broke down, but it is estimated the Cats were penalized 145 yards.

The first touchdown was scored when Delmar Hughes' pass for 10 yards was caught by Woods, big Prestonsburg end. The scoring play was set up by Dixon's 30-yard jaunt on a delayed buck. A yawning gap was opened in the Irvine line, and Hughes at quarterback faked superbly on the play to upset the defense. Delmar Hughes kicked the extra point, with his younger brother, Lowell, holding. This kicking combination converted after all four touchdowns except on the one occasion when the pass from center was low.

The second marker was scored by Lowell Hughes on a three-yard drive over center. A pass from D. Hughes to Hill, who lateralled to Dixon, set up the touchdown.

The third touchdown was one of the game's most sensational plays. Dixon received one of Wolfenberger's towering punts, cut across the field and faked a hand-off to D. Hughes but kept the ball himself. Behind excellent blocking he raced 65 yards to score.

Chaffins scored the final marker on a 65-yard pass play originating with D. Hughes. Outstanding in the big Prestonsburg line were Prater, Goble and Hill. D. Hughes and Dixon were best in the backfield, but for the first half at least the entire team functioned in great form.

The Cats are away from home Friday night for the first time this season to meet the West Liberty high school team, an eleven about which little is known here. The Morgan countians usually are tough.

Air Defense Speaker To Be Here, Friday

Capt. John Williams, of the Air Defense Command, Ground Observation Corps, will deliver a lecture, with illustrative pictures, at the courthouse Friday evening at 7:30. It was announced by Tom James, head of the Prestonsburg ground observation post.

New equipment for use by civilian observers also will be exhibited, Mr. James said. All members of the ground observation posts are being asked to attend the meeting.

PORTER PASS TO BARKER

In Early Curtain Raiser Aids Morehead to Win In Game With Evansville

The aerial accuracy of "Chunkin' Charlie" Porter, of Prestonsburg, coupled with a recovered fumble and Sonny Adkins' dazzling run gave Morehead a victory in the season curtain-raiser with Evansville Saturday night in Morehead's Jayne Stadium.

Just minutes before the first half ended, Porter threw a 21-yard touchdown pass to End Harold Barker, of Catlettsburg, who stepped into the end zone unmolested. Clarence Payne, 300-pound freshman from Ashland, then kicked the first of his two extra points.

In the second half, Morehead's hard-charging line showed the results of good instruction by Coaches Johnson and Radjumas by finishing the downfall of the Purple Aces from Evansville. In all, the Aces fumbled five times, the last resulting in a touchdown for the Eagles. Frank Bloss, stellar fullback from Wayne, W. Va., recovered the ball on the Evansville 14-yard line and in four plays pulled his way across the double stripe for the second and last Morehead T.D. Payne again split the uprights for the 14th point.

Coach Johnson was well pleased with the Eagles' showing and is confident they will surprise Marshall Saturday night, at Huntington, W. Va.

Ed Reed, a junior and first-stringer, from Dayton, Ky., will be out of action possibly for the remainder of the season due to an ankle tendon injury received in the Evansville game. Irwin Spencer of Louisville, defensive and offensive tackle, and Louis Tolle, returning letterman from Cynthiana, are temporarily out of action with the Eagles squad. Spencer is in the hospital with appendicitis and Tolle is suffering from a torn ligament in his left knee.

Message In Words of great importance to the people of Floyd county from Curtis Clark, Republican candidate for Congress.

In all sincerity and with no idea of mud-slinging in this campaign for Congress, I ask you voters to bear with me as we discuss a few words that are loaded with great meaning to ourselves, our children and Floyd county.

TOLERANCE—The meaning of this word definitely applies to us citizens of Floyd county. It simply means "To have patience with others." Years have passed under the guidance of my Democratic opponent. You have voted for him, accepted him as your representative and depended upon him for aid to our county and its people in its great time of need.

HAS YOUR PATIENCE BEEN REWARDED? How much sincere effort has your present Democratic representative made to obtain the canalization of our Big Sandy river? Has your present representative put forth any effort to get us any new roads or to improve Route 23? How many in Floyd county are out of work? Look around your own community. Are there any new factories and industries in Floyd county that would employ our many jobless people? Has our Democratic representative really tried to have and to recommend that new industry and new factories come to our county?

Yes, we in Floyd county have truly practiced tolerance these past few years!

TOLERATE—this word means simply to ENDURE. How much longer can Floyd county and its good people hold out? Ladies and gentlemen, I humbly beg you to wake up and look around you and face the plain facts as they are today in our home county. Jobless men and women are abundant, families are being forced to leave their homes in search of work.

WHY is this happening to our rich county? How much longer can we in Floyd county endure the present situation?

TOLERATION—Friends, this word means the "Act of permitting to go on without interference" and the "Acceptance of something not entirely approved."

Do not let the meaning of this word apply to you. Haven't we in Floyd county been tolerant long enough? By working together, we can have new industry and new factories come to our county. We can have new roads and improved roads and more state and federal aid. This is your home. This is the county you love. This is the home of your children. Floyd county is where your people and friends live. Consider the facts, think seriously and wisely and then on election day vote as your conscience dictates.

By your vote you can banish the meaning of the word Toleration as it now applies to us people in Floyd county. We are free people. We are not compelled to accept anything we do not approve of. By our vote we are permitted to interfere with those things we do not approve of.

Floyd county is my home. Being born and raised in this county, I am qualified to know the needs of our people. I know its people and I love its people.

Ladies and Gentlemen, if elected to represent you in Congress I will support all legislation for the benefit of veterans and pledge an unceasing fight for the rights of veterans of World War I, World War II and the present Korean War. I will fight for and plead for, without reservation, the canalization of the Big Sandy river. New and improved roads will be fought for, new industries and new factories and more aid from state and federal funds will be fought for with vigor and down-to-earth determination. I will support any reasonable law bringing security to our people past 60 years of age.

For these principles I pledge to fight unceasingly and unhesitatingly and unafraid.

We in Floyd county can and will accomplish these pledges by working together.

I humbly thank you. CURTIS CLARK Republican Candidate for Congress

FISH AND GAME NOTES

The rabbit and quail hunting season was made eight days longer by the State Game and Fish Commission at a meeting held in Frankfort on Monday.

The season will open on November 20, the same as of last year, but will continue through January 18. Last year the season ended on January 10. The bag and possession limits, however, were unchanged. The limit for quail is 10 or a possession limit of 20 after two or more days of hunting. For rabbit the daily limit is eight, with 16 the possession limit after two or more days of hunting.

The ruffed grouse season also was extended but the bag and possession limit left at two and four. Last year the season on this species opened on Nov. 29 and extends through January 18. The season for trapping furbearers, raccoon, opossum, mink, muskrat, skunk and red fox, also was unchanged. The season was set to open on Nov. 20 and extend through January 18. Last year the season opened on Dec. 1 and continued through Jan. 31. In addition to this the Commission voted for a legal season in which raccoon and opossum may be taken with dog only. This season opens on Oct. 21 and continues through November 19.

In extending the season on quail, rabbits and grouse it was pointed out that indications are that the supply of these species will be greater than for last season and that the additional days of hunting will not seriously affect the populations. The Commission also reminded that the changes will afford an extra eight days of hunting in January when usually some of the best hunting weather is experienced.

The recent appointees to the commission were sworn in by Acree Austin, Clerk of the Court of Appeals. Those taking the oath were Dr. A. W. Bolt, Ft. Thomas, who was named to succeed himself; Tom Baker, Cadiz, who replaces Dave Sigler, Paducah, and Al Cockerill, Frankfort, who was named to succeed Robert Sparks of Lexington. Following the swearing in ceremonies the commission elected the following officers: Tom Theobald, Grayson, chairman; Noble Lanier, Franklin, vice chairman, and Roscoe Davis, Hazard, secretary.

Next time someone tells me to go to h—, I'm going to tell him I've already been there" . . . Pvt. Frank Music of the army: "This base is strictly infantry. Our Own Perplexing Problem

THE TIMES is walking a tight-rope, these days. For these are days when a movement begun by the Floyd County Taxpayers' League has created a situation in which The Times finds itself hard-pressed to do justice to all concerned. Certainly this newspaper is anxious that the Taxpayers' League succeed in its broad aims, which are described as non-partisan and unprejudiced, with the common good its goal. It wants the League to continue to work not only now but also for years to come in a cause representative of the better instincts of the county's best citizens.

For this reason we are inclined to publicize the workings of the League and to give space to views of persons who are, or who profess to be, interested in its work. On the other hand, The Times has always had a distaste for any semblance of partiality or vindictiveness as they may affect any individual to the exclusion of all others. As matters now stand, one man is the target for every action and practically every verbal barb that is hurled. If he alone were guilty, or reasonably supposed to be the only one to whom guilt belongs, we should not fear that, for all the good intentions of many, an injustice is being done.

But, just now, this one individual stands alone. Others who may belong in the roles of defendants are at least temporarily escaping the merciless glare of the spotlight of public opinion. If he is guilty, others are guilty. While time passes and we mark time for future actions, should we be an "innocent party" to the pillorying of one individual? How far can we publicize—as is our duty—a matter of great public interest and not surrender our aim of seeking to avoid working an injustice between one individual and another? How can we avoid doing so and yet perform the functions of a newspaper? Yes, ours is a job of walking a tight-rope. We teeter precariously. We get criticism from both sides. We grow tired.

Will the State Department Protest?

THE TIMES has always entertained, and on occasion expressed, a profound dislike of intolerance and bigotry in all their forms. Its disapproval of this form of hatred has, in a word, amounted to intolerance of intolerance.

We have, in particular, had little use for the religious intolerance which in itself makes a mockery of religion and which loses sight of the Christian ideal. In this section much of this intolerance has been aimed at the Catholic Church, and we have been somewhat mystified by the bitterness devout men and women have expressed for this part of the Christian world.

But now comes word from Rome of flagrant intolerance which makes mere talk pale beside violent bigotry. There a group of missionaries working under the auspices of the Church of Christ have fallen afoul of a fascistic law and into the hands of authorities who are apparently inspired in their intolerance to close churches and meeting-places because another part of Christianity has dared to expound its theory of Christ, and His teachings within sight of Vatican City.

Thus does the Catholic Church invite the criticism of all the people of the world who deary bigotry and make of itself a fair target for all who revel in intolerance. These missionaries are Americans. They are worshipping God according to the dictates of their consciences. They are seeking to convert others to their faith. Martyrs again preach in the streets of Rome. Americans, these, who face arrest and imprisonment unafraid, firm in their faith, as perhaps are those who misguidedly oppose them with force.

These are American citizens—and what is our State Department going to do about that? Will it protest to the Vatican and the Italian government against this show of hatred and intolerance? We shall see.

The Politicians Give Us An Idea

THIS IS wastebasket-filling season as the rival political camps unlimber their typewriters and pens to turn out reams of copy and cartoons by the score, also pictures and statistics and slogans—all to beat the drums for their favorite candidates and to beat into the earth their adversaries.

We eschew such material pretty consistently, but sometimes we happen upon something worth printing.

Such was the case this week when state Republican headquarters sent along a sizeable parcel of material favorable to their man Cooper. What interested us was this paragraph:

"The senatorial candidate closes out the week Saturday at Central City where he will appear at a public hearing called by the Green River Valley Citizens League. Officials of the League also have invited Senator Underwood, Senator Earle Clements and Albert Gore of Tennessee to attend and discuss plans for flood control and soil conservation in the Green River area."

Now do you begin to see wherein the Republican release was interesting?

The Big Sandy Valley Association might follow the Green River group's example. Now would be a fine time for the Association to invite those who are Senators, and who aspire to be, as well as the Seventh district Congressional candidates, to talk about Big Sandy.

We should want to know, at every propitious opportunity, about soil conservation, flood control and locks and dams for the Big Sandy. Last week coal began moving out of the Kentucky River by barge. This coal was, first of all, hauled by truck 29 miles from the mines to Beattyville, there loaded onto the barges, towed to Clay's Ferry, and from that point unloaded and shipped again by truck to Lexington.

This causes one to wonder if, maybe, we haven't been shooting too high, here on the Big Sandy. Perhaps we should temporarily abandon the plan for a system of locks and dams covering the whole river, with its forks, for a plan which would put back into operation the locks which once were operated and which could throw slack-water to within a few miles of Paintsville. Some dredging, maximum use of installations long ago built, a dock at Catlettsburg, and we might have a makeshift water transportation system by which this section could survive till the Corps of Engineers and the Congress as a whole are convinced that the products of this section—and we do not refer only to coal—are vital to the country.

If Kentucky river operators can haul coal 29 miles to Beattyville by truck, Big Sandy operators should be able to do the same to a river port on the Big Sandy.

IT'S A GOOD WORLD

BY WILMAY

And it will be a beautiful one for all who attend the Maytown Flower Show this Saturday in the gym. Bring your posies and enjoy seeing the arrangements by flower-lovers. Entries may range from gardenias to Jimson weeds.

By the way, who changed precious baby's face to precocious baby face in this column last week? Do not blame it on the writer, since that one was typed. The ones from Mississippi in the summer were penned, and a Philadelphia lawyer would have had a time figuring them out, but this past week had at least three errors not found in the carbon. Now that we are trying to teach English (emphasis on trying), such leaves a poor impression on our readers.

Thanks to the out-of-state reader for the nice letter of comment. And to Rev. Benedict, Charles Clark Alice Owens, Mrs. Jarvis Allen and others who confess to reading IT'S A GOOD WORLD. The old noggin swells so we can barely get through the door when someone says it is the first thing they read. All of us enjoy hearing such, even if folks do not mean it!

We are pulling hard this week for Regina Mayo to be chosen as the first citizen of Kentucky on the 22nd when she attends the dinner in Lexington as our nominee. The honor and award would mean so much less to her than the joy that has come through a job well done. How different any county would be if each community had just one individual with the vision and tirelessness of Mrs. Mayo!

Teaching in Martin last year with a grand principal and a fine faculty who pulled together was so wonderful that we did not think any other place could equal it, but we are just as happy in Wayland with another swell group who makes every newcomer welcome and at home. Mr. Price has the patience of Job and the kindness of any saint to be named. To date we have put in some good time quizzing Thelma Daniels and Lassie Hatcher, two teachers who are synonymous with Wayland high. By asking them many questions we hope Mr. Price will think we are just half as green as we actually are.

We agree with County Superintendent Turner, who says we need more school buildings of medium price in preference to fewer that cost a prohibitive sum and are the last word in elegance! Twenty-eight years ago we had him in Caesar or Cleo during his junior year of high school, and now he is our boss for a change.

Everyone is interested to learn that Palmer Hall plans to study medicine, according to reliable reports. He may prove life begins at forty.

A giant bouquet goes to our Times editor for his recent splendid editorial about locating new industries in this valley. He told why Portsmouth got the atomic plant and how two other communities will get two more plants in the near future. Portsmouth defeated Ashland because the former city went after the government plant one hundred percent strong. In many instances our failure to do such has been responsible for heavy loss to this section. Some of our best educated and most wealthy families are completely devoid of community interest and pride; hence, limited progress. Take the Mountain Passion Pageant in Martin, for example: a comparatively few citizens there are doing all the work, and, actually, those who are doing the most are the busiest people. One hears every excuse for failure to help ut Dr. Wade Mahood, a star performer, is past eighty and in there pulling all the time.

Ronnie and his wife are here for a short visit. They promise to make us grandparents in December. My father always said grandchildren are called that because they are grand. Our only protest is that it is a long, long time to wait. ER wants a girl. Libby hopes for a boy. Ronnie does not say (it's unnecessary). Edith and Mom do not care, just so it is a baby!

Among the animals native to Kentucky during pioneer days were the eaver, bison, wolf, panther, and passenger pigeon.

WAYLAND

LACKEY-GARRETT CLUB MEETS

The Lackey-Garrett Woman's Club held its regular sewing meeting, Sept. 11, at the home of Mrs. Otto Martin, Wayland, with Mrs. S. M. Martin as co-hostess. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Frank Rasnick, the vice-president, Mrs. George E. Evans, presided. She welcomed the two new members, Mrs. Glenn Pack and Mrs. E. C. Brewer, courtesy member Mrs. J. C. Wells distributed the new year books.

Mrs. John Feild brought forcefully before the club the need for highway safety signs to be placed at either approach to the school at Wayland and directly in front of it. The club voted to sponsor the project, agreeing to buy one sign and securing funds from other organizations and individuals for the others.

It was unanimously decided to present Mrs. Thomas Hatcher for district recording secretary at the annual Seventh district convention this fall. Mrs. J. C. Wells and Mrs. Otto Martin were appointed to work on the president's report, or skit, to be presented at the convention.

Groceries were brought by each club member to be donated to a needy family. At the conclusion of the business session a dessert course was served by the hostesses to the following: Mesdames Felix Coburn, C. S. Hornsby, E. C. Blanton, H. J. Sherman, Earl Castle, Willard Castle, J. C. Wells, George Evans, John Feild, E. C. Brewer, Glenn Pack, C. B. Ison, L. B. Price, and Miss Marie Coburn.

The next club meeting will be held Sept. 25, with Mrs. Gorman Collins and Mrs. D. C. Baldwin as hostesses.

AFTER BACK TAXES

Commissioner of Police Charles C. Oldham announced appointment of Clarence E. Lopez, St. Matthews as counsel for the State Police Department to succeed Seth T. Boaz, Jr., Mayfield, who is to resign Sept. 30 to re-enter private practice of law in his home town.

ALLEN

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The Allen-Martin Woman's Club met for its first meeting of the new year, Sept. 8, at the home of Mrs. Ray Allen, of Martin, with the new president, Mrs. Ben Short, presiding.

Huddleston made a motion that we have a representative of the League appear before the club, Sept. 22, and the motion was passed.

A letter was read from Mrs. A. C. Harlowe, chairman of the nominating committee, expressing appreciation of our endorsing Mrs. J. D. Mayo, of Prestonsburg, as the outstanding community leader for 1952. An invitation was read from the Drift Woman's Club inviting our club to its meeting, Oct. 20.

Mrs. Hatmaker's motion that the club give the Brownies and Girl Scouts of Martin $25 for Scout movement and help Allen get started with Girl Scout work was passed. The president appointed Ann Scott and Carole Webb to give a report on Girl Scouts for Allen at the next meeting.

Refreshments were served to the following members and guests: Mesdames Boone Hall, W. D. Huddleston, William Lyon, Ann Scott, John Snodgrass, German Vance, John P. Sammons, George Sims, Fred A. Martin, Jr., Belford Reitz, Virginia Short, William Martin, Louis Warren, Earl Martin, Ray Allen, Maurice Mitchell, Charles Marshall, Rrq Beckham and Fred Gross, visitors.

Counties Should File Primary Claims Now

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 15 (Spl.)—A request that county officials file expense statements for their counties for the August primary was made here today by Thomas P. Rogers, state director of Accounts and Control.

Only about 25 counties have filed, Rogers said, and he would like to have all claims in before the general election. In the past, some counties have waited until near the end of the fiscal year to file. Forms for filing are available here.

The state pays half the cost of all elections up to $20 a precinct, and itemized statements of cost must be filed before the counties can collect.

Family Famous As Frontiersmen Pioneered Settlement of Valley

Heinrich Adam Harman was born in Germany, on the Rhine, about the year 1700. He was the ancestor of all that hardy race of frontiersmen bearing his name that helped to people Southwest Virginia, North Carolina and Kentucky. He came to America, either in the year 1728 or 1727, and his name and the names of his children are proud legacies of our frontier story.

The name Harman is stamped upon the court records, in the military annals and interwoven with the economic development of Southwest Virginia, Southern West Virginia and Eastern Kentucky. The story of the family, as with that of many, begins with old Adam. The first written record is his old Bible.

He made the entries in German and the first is of his marriage to Louisa Katrina, on the banks of the River Rhine.

"I Heinrich Adam Herman, married Louisa Katrina, October 8, 1723 and have together begotten eleven children, and have lived in matrimony as true married folks should up to the year 1749 when my dear wife died March 18th and was buried the 21st, which fell on Monday. The blood of Christ cleanses us of all our sins. Amen."

The old German Lutheran Bible is an invaluable record of the family of Heinrich Adam. It descended through generations of Harmans until it came into the possession of the historian, John Newton Harman, Sr., of Tazewell, Va. It was sent to him by a branch of the Harmans from Arkansas.

In 1726, possibly 1727, Heinrich Adam and Louisa came to America. Adam, the eldest son, had been born in Germany. They had stopped along the way and on the Isle of Man, a second son, Henry, Sr., was born. George was the first son born in America (in 1727) but he died in 1749, the same year his mother died. Daniel was born in Pennsylvania, in 1720.

Mathias, the frontiersman who rescued Jennie Wiley, was born near Strasburg, Va., in 1736. It was Mathias who built the first cabin on the waters of Big Sandy in the year 1755. This was probably the second cabin built in the state of what is now Kentucky. Dr. Thomas Walker on his exploring trip to Kentucky in 1750 built the first cabin by only five years. Walker built his cabin near the present Barboursville. Mathias Harman built his hunter's cabin at the mouth of Johns Creek.

Another son of Heinrich Adam, or just plain Adam, as he began to be called, was Valentine. He settled on the Clinch river in 1771 but moved to Kentucky about 1774. He was a member of Henderson's legislature at Boonesboro in May, 1775. This was the first legislative body in Kentucky.

To return to Adam. He settled in Pennsylvania and owned lands there. He came into the Valley of Virginia in 1733. He was residing on the New River three years before the Ingles and Drapers settled at Drapers Meadows in 1748. This penetration of the western woods by Adam Harman resulted in the building of the first settlement of a permanent nature on the waters of the Mississippi River. The historian, William Elsey Connelley, upon being shown certain court records in regard to Adam and his whereabouts on the New gave it as his considered judgment that this was the first permanent settlement on the waters of the Mississippi.

In 1746 Adam and his brother Jacob were on a hunting expedition to the headwaters of the Clinch and Tug rivers. They were accompanied by George Draper and a hunter named McGary. In a fight with an overwhelming party of Shawnees, Draper and McGary were killed.

Waddell's Annals of Augusta county details an Indian robbery of Adam's cabin. This was in 1749. "A party of Indians robbed the house of Adam Harman, probably on the New River, of nine deer skins and one elk skin; the next day six Indians robbed the same house of 14 deer skins and one elk skin; and the day following a number of Indians came and took away 73 deer skins and six elk skins. This shows that game was abundant and that Harman was a famous hunter. This is said to have been the first depredation by Indians on the whites west of the Allegheny."

This quotation from Waddell shows most certainly that Adam was a great hunter. It leaves the inference too that the famous Indian fighter and hunter was away from home, probably on a hunting trip.

It was Adam and his two sons who rescued Mary Ingles after her escape from the Indians at Big Bone Lick in 1755. Mary Ingles had travelled hundreds of miles from Big Bone Lick in Kentucky, up the Ohio Valley, up the Kanawha and over onto the headwaters of the New in one of the greatest records of physical feats by women on the border. She and an old Dutch woman were the first white women to set foot on Big Sandy River. When Mary Ingles halloed to a man using an ax in a pioneer field Adam and his sons were on the alert for Indians. The fact that Adam had built his cabin here on the headwaters of the New saved Mary Ingles' life. Just as the building of Harman's Station in Blockhouse Bottom by his son Mathias, at the mouth of Johns Creek, saved the life of Jennie Wiley.

In 1758 we find Adam in Captain Robert Wade's Company. The duties of this military outfit seem to have been the protection of the border. Indians were prowling all over the western border of Virginia. Five of the savages came under Capt. Wade's notice and he passed sentence of death upon them. Adam Harman with his son Daniel and eleven others were sent out to execute the Captain's orders. They intercepted the band at a ford, two miles from Dunkard's Bottom. They killed four and a fifth was wounded. Episodes like this made the Harman name a terror to the savages.

Heinrich Adam Herman died on the New River in 1767. John Newton Harman, Sr., the historian, writes of him: "As a pioneer he was first among those who sought a home in the wilderness for himself and family and with his distinguished sons blazed the way for his descendants and others to enjoy the comforts and embellishments of civilized life . . . Peace to their ashes."

When old Adam Harman died his son Henry picked up the old Bible of his father and wrote in German: "My father, Adam Harman, died in the fall of the year 1767. The blood of Jesus Christ cleanses us of all sins. My Lord Jesus, yours forever."

It would require volumes to detail the story of the descendants of Adam Harman. His son Mathias built the first settlement on the Big Sandy when he erected Harman's Station at Blockhouse Bottom, near the mouth of Johns Creek. The descendants of Mathias were prominent in the coal development on the headwaters of Tug River. In Tazewell and near the ancestral seat of the family they were prominent. Other Harmans emigrated westward and helped build new lands as their forefathers had built Southwest Virginia and Eastern Kentucky.

Daniel Harman, Sr., is the ancestor of the Eastern Kentucky branch. He was a son of Adam and Louisa, born in Pennsylvania, as stated. He was present when his father and his uncle (or brother) Jacob when the fight occurred on Tug River and Draper and McGary were killed. He was present when his brother Valentine was killed by the Indians in 1757. He stated afterwards that he was standing within one foot of Valentine when he was killed. Daniel was taken prisoner but escaped.

Daniel married Anna Bughsen in Rowan county, North Carolina. He lived there until 1773 when he moved back to Virginia, settling on the Clinch. He made a trip with Peter Harman down the Sandy in 1777. While on this trip they were attacked by a band of 40 Indians but escaped. He died either in late 1819, or early in January, 1820, and his will was probated in Tazewell county.

One of the children of Daniel, Sr., was another Daniel. For some reason he was called Col. Daniel. In 1805 or 1806 (others say 1797) he moved to Big Sandy, settling on Shelby Green. He killed the last Indian slain on the waters of Big Sandy river. Tradition is that after he did he refused to allow the dead savage to be buried on bottom land. "Take him up on the hill and bury him. Don't waste good land with him," he is reported to have said. Tradition goes further to state that this was Black Wolf, one of the captors of Jennie Wiley. As to that we have no authority except tradition.

Daniel Harman married Rosannah Spurlock and to this union were born five sons: Adam, William, Aquilla, Dow and Mathias, according to John Newton Harman. This Aquilla was the father of Rev. Aquilla Harman who married Louise Keith, Feb. 16, 1858, and after her death married Cynthia Stratton. Aquilla, son of Col. Daniel, was referred to as Old Aquilla, to distinguish him from his son, Aquilla, Jr. The late Will (Squire) Vaughan, of Prestonsburg, had distinct recollections of Old Aquilla and was probably the last person in Floyd county to have personal reminiscences about him.

Adam Harman wrote from Cadmus, Lawrence county, Kentucky, to Mrs. Anna Harman Stumbo in one of the finest examples of Spencerian hand on Dec. 3, 1929: "Your father's great-grandfather's name was Col. Daniel Harman who emigrated from Tazewell county, Virginia, about the year 1797. (This is contrary to what John Newton Harman, Sr., says, for he gives the date as either 1806 or 1807). He settled near the mouth of Shelby Creek. . . . His wife's name was Rosannah Spurlock. They had six children, five boys, one girl, viz: Mathias, William, Adam, Aquilla, Dow and Rachel." John Newton Harman does not list Rachel, but we are inclined to believe this writer is correct.

Again on March 17, 1930, he wrote: "My father's name was Daniel J. Harman, born in Pike county, Feb. 23, 1823, died in Lawrence county, Ky., March 6, 1870. Your third great-uncles settled the Blockhouse Bottom and rescued Jennie Wiley. My grandfather's name was Adam Harman and he heard the report of the gun that killed the last Indian in Big Sandy valley."

Old Aquilla's children were Mathias, Robert, Adam, Richard and Aquilla, Jr. Aquilla, Jr., was the father of Daniel O. Harman, the Prestonsburg teacher, and the grandfather of Guy Horn, Floyd county jailer.

The Harman story is one of the best documented of family records emerging from early America, although some work remains to be done on the Eastern Kentucky branch. It is a proud story and is a saga of pioneer America.

Taberculosis Hospitals May Train Internees

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 15 (Spl.)—Kentucky's six state tuberculosis hospitals have been approved by the State Board of Health for medical internship training. It was announced today by Executive Director Joe D. Miller, of the State Tuberculosis Sanatoria Commission.

The six hospitals—including the Hazelwood Sanatorium and the five comparatively new institutions at Paris, Ashland, Glasgow, Madisonville and London—are now operating at full capacity.

The approval for internship training should aid the state materially in procuring doctors with which to operate the institutions, Miller said.
