This Town... That World

THE CHIN AND I

For the last 10 days I have occupied what may be an absolutely unique position. In that time not an acquaintance has bailed me with a comment on the weather, and I maintain that is something of a record.

The reason for this is, they've all been busy inquiring what happened. You see, the old chin and areas adjacent thereto have been under two or three coats of an outlandish blue-purple stuff which is designed to cure it of whatever ails it. So the folks have been letting the weather be and have been solicitously inquiring if it hurt when the wife hit me, or if I had slowed up so much I couldn't duck in time, or if I'd stuck my chin out once too often, etcetera, etcetera.

Thanks for such sweet solicitude. With the aid of a medical man I've diagnosed the case as impetigo. What's that? folks want to know, and I tell 'em it's a skin ailment fairly common to children, and they poke back. "In your second childhood, eh?"

Well, it's a kind of fungus infection. I now learn. Let's compromise—just call me Jungle Jim.

AMEN!

Now I can salaam three times, bow toward my mecca (Dewey Lake), with a quick sidewise glance toward the river, and say my orisons every morning to get the day started off right. Dick Feiler, home from vacationing with his wife in North Carolina, brought back with him, for me, this prayer which I have hung on the wall to peer at through a non-existent forelock as I answer the muezzin-call:

"Lord, give me grace To catch a fish So big that even I When talking of it Afterwards May never need to lie."

CANCERMOBILE VISIT SLATED

At Martin High School Next Week; Clinic Here For Crippled Children

Two public health clinics—one devoted to children, the other to persons of all age—will be held in the county during four days of next week, beginning Tuesday.

The first will be the crippled children's clinic to be held at the Prestonsburg high school building next Tuesday by Dr. M. D. Garred, Ashland, of the Kentucky crippled children's commission.

The other will be at the Martin school, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, of the Cancermobile of the Kentucky division of the American Cancer Society.

Most crippled children previously registered have been notified by letter to attend the clinic here, and parents of those not registered and who cannot be notified because they are unknown are urged to bring their children here for examination next Tuesday. The clinic is under sponsorship of the Floyd County Health Department.

The unit which will spend three days at Martin is the only Cancermobile in the world. Persons desiring examination during the clinic must be sent by their physicians.

Danger signals of cancer are listed as these:

Any sore that does not heal, particularly about the tongue, mouth or lips; a painless lump or thickening, especially in the breast, lip or tongue; irregular bleeding or discharge from any natural body opening; progressive change in the size or color of a wart, mole or birth mark; persistent indigestion; persistent hoarseness, or unexplained cough or difficulty in swallowing; any change in normal bowel habits.

4TH PRISONER FROM COUNTY IS RELEASED

Boyd, Others Relate Stories of Cruelties Inflicted by Commies

The number of Floyd countians released from Korean prisoner of war camps rose last week to four as the repatriation of Cpl. Charles Ray Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Worley Boyd, of Prestonsburg, was announced from Freedom Village, Korea.

News of the 21-year-old soldier's return to freedom was received by Mrs. Boyd as she sat, anxiously watching a television report of the names of repatriated prisoners. "Thank God—I've waited so long," she exclaimed.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd had heard from their son several times since he was taken prisoner, but the mother explained she had a little doubt of his return because she feared he might have been killed in camp. "He always told me not to worry about him, that they were treating him well," she said.

Once in friendly hands, however, Cpl. Boyd joined other repatriated prisoners in telling of punishment of prisoners so cruel it whipped strong men into whimpering boys, caused others to commit suicide rather than face another day, and sent hundreds continually to the brink of "cracking up" under the strain.

The Prestonsburg soldier, who spent almost three years in Prison Camp No. 1 at Pongson, said there were cases of men in his unit suffering fits three times a night, for periods lasting from 20 minutes to two hours each time.

"They didn't know where they were," he said. "They just cried and cried. Sometimes the Chinese gave them sleeping pills but most of the time they left them unattended."

Pfc. Charles J. Wolfe, 21, of Wallace, W. Va., described how one U. S. prisoner went insane on a forced march and was bayoneted and trampled on by Chinese guards.

Wallace said the Reds had to set up machineguns to keep other Americans from going to his aid. Another prisoner reported the death of an American soldier on the way from his prison camp to Kaesong to await repatriation.

The soldier reportedly threw himself from the train carrying him to freedom because he "went out of his mind" when he was confronted with the challenge of returning to "civilization."

Young Boyd fought his first battle in the Inchon invasion, Sept. 15, 1950. He was captured Nov. 13, that year. His cousin, Cpl. Donald B. Disney, of Ashland, who became a Red prisoner the same month, was released Aug. 6.

The other Floyd prisoners who have been freed are Sgt. Raymond Shepherd, of Pyramid, the first Kentuckian (and now believed the first American) to be freed, Pfc. Fred Cloyd, Wheelwright, and Cpl. Fred Harper, of Wayland.

Other Floyd countians remain to be repatriated.

HITS HANDLING OF FOODSTUFF

At Fish Fry; Clark Says Public Support Needed To Bring 1954 Changes

Montaine V. Clark, Floyd County Health Department administrator, expressed deep concern this week over what he termed sanitary negligence in the handling of food and soft drinks at last Sunday's fish fry at Allen, and suggested careful planning for the 1954 fish fry in the interest of public health.

"I am a paid member of the Floyd County Fish & Game Club and wish we could raise enough money to restock Dewey Lake with five to eight thousand keeper bass, but I would not be willing to do it at the cost of just one person being infected with t.b., even though he would have a chance of getting cured," he said.

He cited tuberculosis, polio, the common cold and other infectious diseases as threats to the public from lack of preparation to handle foodstuffs and drinks. He listed these as insidious conditions, conducive to disease spread as existing at the fish fry:

Four new outdoor toilets, none of which was of the sanitary type; pouring of soft drinks into paper containers which had been set open end up, with the dust so heavy it was visible; preparation of food in

West Prestonsburg Has Its First Playground

West Prestonsburg youngsters this year are enjoying their own community playground for the first time.

With Councilman Watt Hale given some assistance by the city and with free labor and some cash contributions, swings and seesaws have been installed for younger children. Basketball, horseshoes and softball are played by older groups. Lights recently were added at the playground.

5,000 ATTEND 11TH FISH FRY

Beauty Contest, Prizes Among Features of Day At Allen Golf Course

An estimated 5,000 persons visited and enjoyed the all-day program Sunday of the Floyd County Fish & Game Club in its 11th annual fish fry at the Allen golf course.

And 50 or more of these found the day doubly enjoyable, for they were winners of valuable prizes in contests and as plain guests of the club.

A beauty contest was added this year, and out of this emerged 16-year-old Phyllis Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Martin, Jr., of Hi Hat, as the Sportsman Queen and the recipient of a $50 cash award. Eight girls entered the contest.

The crowd saw, too, a dog to which winning is becoming a habit. Buckeye Spot, the hound owned by Arthur Mullins, of Pikeville, for the second year in a row won all trial heats and the final in the coon drag.

Special events were the tumbling and balancing act of the Canton Trio, of television and stage fame, and the magic arts of the Mystic Mountaineer. The anti-rabies clinic which starts in the county this week and the Floyd county forest wardens had special exhibits.

Snoopy, the forest-ranger bear, and his animated warning against forest fires drew good crowds through the day.

The Mountain Anglers, as expected, made a clean sweep of all

FAIR EXHIBIT HERE PLANNED

Public Health Phases Planned as Features At County Fair Here

An educational feature of the Floyd county fair to be held here, Oct. 1-3, will be the Floyd County Health Department's exhibit stressing three phases of public health.

One exhibit will emphasize sanitation, and models supplied by the State Health Department will depict a farmhouse, septic tank, out-buildings and their location to insure sanitary conditions.

The immunization phase of the health department's exhibit will be a complete clinic all three days of the fair, with a nurse to give any immunization inoculation supplied by the department. This will be available to any person asking such service.

The third part of the exhibit will cover the work done in this county in the field of tuberculosis. Mrs. Regina B. Mayo, of the health department, who was fulltime t. b. nurse in a highly effective anti-tuberculosis program sponsored by the Floyd County Tuberculosis Association with state aid, will be in charge.

If the grade school auditorium is available, the health department plans to exhibit, during the fair, motion picture films on all three subjects.

Meat Scraps Disposal Is Subject of Survey; Barnes Warns Feeders

A survey was made last week to determine what disposal was being made of meat scraps from city restaurants, groceries and hotels. The survey, conducted by Dr. A. S. Barnes of the Bureau of Animal Industry, was for the purpose of preventing the spread of vesicular exanthemas, a communicable disease of hogs contracted by eating infected meat scraps.

Dr. Barnes advises all hog-feeders to cook these meat scraps before feeding them to the animals. He will return in three weeks to continue the work and will visit hog raisers. Failure to cook these scraps before feeding may result in a quarantine, he said.

POLICE STUDY JOHNSON CASE

Former Floyd Countian Confesses Slaying Wife But Proof Still Lacking

James Roy Johnson, 33-year-old Floyd county native, has confessed murdering his wife in New Orleans, La., 30 months ago, but police there are unable to uncover proof to substantiate the confession and Johnson now says he can't explain why he made such a statement.

Johnson, a machinist, was returned to New Orleans after Columbus, Ohio, authorities said he confessed the murder of Mrs. Bessie Nina Johnson, 25-year-old burlesque dancer.

The half-nude body of Mrs. Johnson, strangled with her brassiere, was found in an apartment in New Orleans February 8, 1950.

Johnson said he was unable to explain why he made a statement that he had killed his wife except that he had been drinking several days.

Detectives said Johnson had been unable to give them any physical evidence to corroborate the confession, but said he could not remember where he was at the time of the slaying.

Detective Philip Niceaud said, "We want to see this through either for or against Johnson. He's been working just as hard to prove he's innocent as we are to prove he's guilty."

Game Law Violations; Net Eight Convictions; District Total is 25

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 20 — Twenty-five arrests for fish and game law violations were made in the Seventh district during the month of July, the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources reported today.

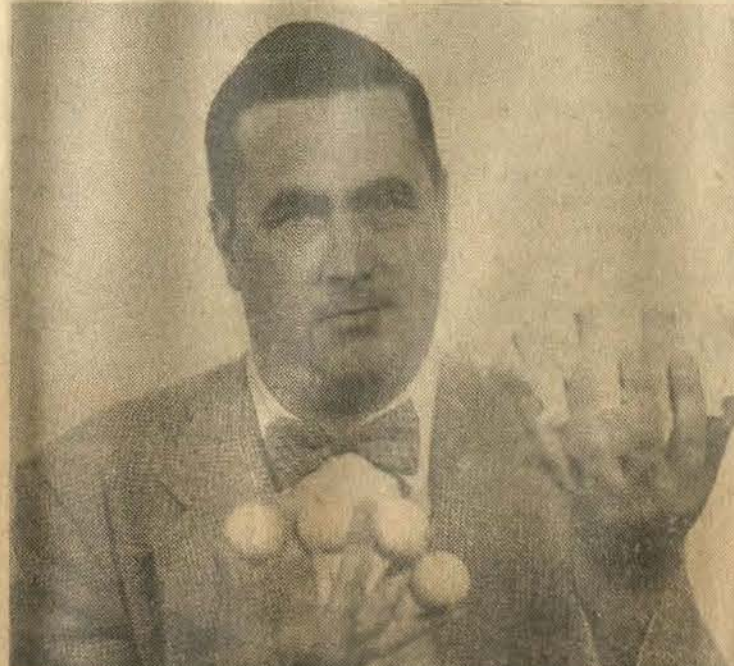

The Seventh district is comprised of 10 counties, among them Floyd county.

Of the 25 arrested, 25 were convicted. In this county, Conservation Officers Raymond Copley and Bernard Baldrige had 8 arrests and 8 convictions.

Arrested and convicted were: Three out-of-state fishermen and Joe Bob Thornberry, Mouthcard, Ky., illegal fishing; C. L. Blanken-

No Magic Beats the Hills, Mystic Mountaineer Finds

Ferry T. Hall, the Mystic Mountaineer and Magic Oiler, snapped as he performed.

Perry Hall, the Mystic Mountaineer, took the golf ball, held it up between his forefinger and thumb for your observation. There was only the one. He threw it up in the air and in a twinkling of an eye, or less, another ball appeared from somewhere. Up went the two and soon you lost count, there were so many juggled balls. Where they had come from you could only wonder. The golf balls disappeared the way they had come—one at a time, and you saw only the one he held between a forefinger and a thumb.

It was a masterpiece of the magician's art but it was old stuff to Hall. He had been practicing that trick since at the age of nine he sent a coupon to a coffee company and received a ball and magic instructions. Today, the trick, improved and elaborated upon, is only one of scores which are acknowledged by professionals the country over to be masterpieces of magic.

Labor Day Celebrants To See Ground Broken

HARLAN, PIKEVILLE UMWA HOSPITAL WORK TO START; McDOWELL PROJECT TO FOLLOW BY MID-AUTUMN, IS PREDICTION VOICED

Thousands of coal miners, celebrating Labor Day in the Kentucky communities of Harlan and Pikeville, will see ground broken for two more hospitals in the chain of 19 sponsored by the United Mine Workers Welfare and Retirement Fund.

By mid-autumn construction of the entire loop of modern structure, including the UMWA hospital at McDowell, will be under way to provide medical care for Fund beneficiaries. Beyond meeting primary needs of miners and their families, the hospitals to be administered by Memorial Hospital Associations in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia, will serve the communities in general insofar as accommodations permit.

CITY COUNCIL STUDIES PLAN

To Elect Police Chief Here by Popular Vote; Decision Expected Soon

The Prestonsburg City Council will have before it at next Monday night's meeting the matter of deciding if the town's chief of police shall be elected this year by popular vote or if he shall continue to be named by the Council.

The question was discussed at some length at last Monday's meeting, but Council members deferred a decision until next week, by which time they hope to sound public sentiment on the proposed change.

During recent years, the chief of police has been appointed by the Council. Years ago, the official was elected. The popular vote method is still used at Pikeville.

Except for the employment of W. B. Boyd as policeman, no business of consequence was transacted at the Monday meeting of the Council.

'Walk-In' Blood Donors Prevent Failure of Visit Of Bloodmobile at Martin

Sixty-three blood donors who had not signed donor cards but who walked in, unheralded, saved the Martin community last Tuesday from a bloodmobile visit in its attempt to meet its blood quota.

Eighty-five persons had signed donor pledge cards, but of these only 19 appeared. Twenty were rejected. With the "walk-ins," the contribution of blood was 62 pints, eight of which was to replace blood previously given those in desperate need.

The next visit of the bloodmobile to the county will be on Sept. 9 when the Veterans of Foreign Wars will sponsor the blood procurement drive here.

The Harlan ground-breaking ceremonies, according to plans, will be presided over by Dr. Warren P. Draper, executive medical officer of the Welfare Fund and a former deputy surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health Service.

The Harlan hospital, designed by the architectural firm of Sherlock, Smith and Adams, of Montgomery, Alabama, will be a six-story, fire-resistant structure with 192 patient beds and 30 bassinets for newborn infants.

Upper stories of the building will be enclosed by the type of window wall construction developed for the first time for this type of project, consisting entirely of glass window panes and enameled steel sections—entirely eliminating all brick and masonry from outside walls above the second floor.

A large first floor with a smaller superstructure will support a second floor set back behind the building line of the upper stories. The architects' purpose in providing this set back has been to assure that no patient room will look out directly over a roof which would tend to reflect unwelcome glare into patient windows.

The Harlan hospital is one of three base hospitals being constructed in the miners' program. The other two base hospitals are to be located at Williamson and Beckley, West Virginia. Community hospitals to be affiliated with the Williamson Medical Center will include those at McDowell and Pikeville, and at Man, W. Va. The small hospitals to

1952 MARGIN IS NARROWED

In Coal Production Of Big Sandy Field; Idle Pay Load Heavy

The big difference between the volume of coal loaded this year and that loaded in the corresponding period last year, in the field represented by the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association, is slowly narrowing. On July 4 the difference was 10,603 cars of 50 tons each. On August 8, it was only 2,901.6 cars.

The figures show the gradually diminishing differences. July 11, the figure was 9,298.4 cars; July 18, 7,118.4; July 25, 4,341.6; August 1, 2,808.4. The difference of 33.2 cars between the figures, 2,901.6 and 2,868.4 is attributed to the fact that the field loaded an unusually heavy tonnage in the corresponding week last year.

Twenty-one mines worked full time and one worked six days during the week ending August 8. Seventeen mines have now equalled or exceeded their tonnage for the corresponding period last year. Cars loaded at this time last year were 151,787.6 and this year 148,888. Truck mine operations picked up in July but skidded some in the last week. The week ending August 8 was the best from the trucker's viewpoint, in several months.

At the Kentucky Unemployment Service office here the case load remains heavy, as it does in every coal-producing county of this section. And the demand for labor from other states is light.

Rain and cool weather have slowed canning factory operation, and only 20 persons have been sent from this county to do this type of work. As many as a hundred may be needed this month, Glenn S. Anderson, manager of the state office here, said.

Cheerleaders To Get All Profits Saturday Of Station Operation

Charles Crum's Pure Oil Service Station here will have half a dozen pretty attendants at work, all day Saturday—and with good reason.

Mr. Crum is giving the six cheerleaders of Prestonsburg high school all the profits from the day's business, to help them buy new uniforms. So these girls mean business: Martha Archer, Sally Hill, Cassie Waddell, Minerva Arnett, Barbara Clark and Mary Lynn Mahan.

DOCKET LISTS 33 DESERTION CASE HEARINGS

Three Days of Term Required for Trials; No Murders Docketed

Thirty-three child desertion cases—almost a third of the entire docket—are set for trial at the term of circuit court which convenes Sept. 7, and this offense appears so often on the docket that three days of the term have been set aside as "Child Desertion Days".

The days which will be entirely devoted to trial of such cases are Sept. 16, Sept. 22 and the last day of the term, Sept. 28.

On the whole, the September term will be on the colorful side. Not a murder case is docketed, and to date there is not a murder to be investigated by the grand jury. The murder rate in Floyd county has dropped to an all-time low, and is currently one of the lowest in the United States, court officials note.

The docket includes only one case of shooting and wounding, one of shooting at without wounding. Whatever pugnacity that may remain in the county is not reflected in the court docket.

Liquor next to child desertion, provides the largest number of cases set for trial during the term, and there are only 12 of these, including all defendants charged with possession or selling.

Despite the almost universal use of automobiles and the number of persons arrested over the year on charges of drunkenness, only four are slated for trial for drunk driving. The number of cases in which carrying concealed deadly weapons is alleged dropped to four.

In all, 101 cases are docketed for trial.

Five Floyd residents were receiving gamma globulin this week after the illness of five-month-old Patricia Ann Lafferty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Lafferty, of Garrett, was diagnosed Monday by Dr. Lon Hall, of Paintsville, as polio.

It was the second polio case officially reported in the county this year. The child became ill Saturday.

Gamma Globulin, the new polio preventive, was recommended by Dr. Hall and issued on order of the Floyd County Health Department to the little sufferer and four contacts, her brother, Arthur David, sister, Mariene, and the 12 and 18-year-old brothers of her father.

Gamma Globulin is issued from 12 distribution centers designated by the State Department of Health. The center serving this area is located at Hazard. To procure such treatment, the sufferer's doctor must apply to the County Health Department, certifying that the patient has at least four of the six symptoms of polio. The County Health Department then orders gamma globulin from the distribution center. It cannot be bought by anyone; whenever issued, the service is free of charge.

Only household contacts of polio sufferers can procure the treatment. Household contacts, it is explained by Montaine Clark, administrator of the Floyd health department, are those who live, eat or sleep with one having the disease. Those who are not household contacts may procure gamma globulin only through application to the State Department of Health.

Gamma globulin was issued to the Garrett child, because it is held that treatment of a sufferer in early stages of the disease may reduce its severity and prevent serious paralysis.

Allotted to Kentucky, to date, are only 2,400 10-cc. doses of gamma globulin. Ten cc's is the dose for an adult; less, for a child, depending on weight. Half of the 2,400-dose supply already has been used in this state.

PRIMARY HAS NO CONTESTS

Suit-Filing Deadline Brings Relief; Knott Recount Only Action

The August 1 primary election, which resulted in scant victory margins for Democratic candidates in both Floyd and Knott counties, will stand without challenge through contest.

The deadline for filing a contest passed without any defeated candidate in either county taking action. The law requires filing of a contest suit 15 days after the election, and the deadline here was anxiously watched and was greeted with relief by at least one winner.

The Democratic County Attorney's race in Knott county resulted in a recount which ended late Tuesday with Dan Martin the winner over the present County Attorney, Cordell H. Martin, by 18 votes. Absentee ballots which previously had been rejected for tabulation were counted, with Special Judge Winn, of Mt. Sterling, ruling that these would be subject to subsequent attack in the courts.

After all the ballots were counted, County Attorney Martin congratulated the winner.

The 17-vote victory of Jailer Calvin Huff over Lemuel Ambury in Knott was unchallenged.

From Alpha to Omega, Doorway to Paradise Runs the Sometimes Romantic, Oft Mundane List of Postoffice Appellations in State

Kentucky's postoffices are a strange list of names given in honor of great cities, historical figures, animals, birds, foreign countries and Biblical personalities. Begin with Alpha in Clinton and run the list to Omega in Pulaski. You find all these and more, too.

Mountain counties lead all the rest of the state in picturesque names. Outshin in Leslie, Doorway in Perry, Softshell in Knott, Democrat in Letcher, Paw Paw in Pike, and Sacredwind in Lawrence are some of these. Others are The Ridge, Vest, Public, Fisty, Jump, Thousandsticks, Traveller's Rest, Relief and Wisdom. There is a Whittle in Russell, Equality in Ohio, Cash in Hart, Falls of Rough in Grayson, Halfway in Allen, Ginseng in Larnie, Arthurnabel in Magoffin. We understand Arthur was the postmaster and Mabel was his wife.

In your mental traveling about the state you could stay in Owsley or Stopover in Pike. You would meet a Baptist in Wolfe, find a Beehive in Letcher and a Biscuit in Pike. There is a Hatfield in Pike but you would have to journey to Breckinridge to find a McCoy.

In naming postoffices in the state the Bible was never neglected as

Wherein We Failed

It has come home to us, as we all should have known it would. Floyd county now has its polio and its polio contacts who are receiving gamma globulin. The polio sufferer, her brother and sister and two others are receiving this miracle of medical science which prevents an attack of the disease and which also is credited with alleviating severity of polio, once it is contracted.

But if the county has an epidemic such as last year's and hundreds of gamma globulin doses are needed—what then? The entire state of Kentucky has been allotted only 2,400 10-cc. doses. The occurrence of the disease in other counties has already become so severe that wide-scale inoculation has been necessary. As a result, there may be a distressing shortage of gamma globulin if the spread of the disease continues.

And we, the fathers and mothers and the adult kin of the children who are most susceptible to this dread ravager of young bodies, would be to blame if there is a shortage. For too many of us have turned deaf ears to every plea to give the blood from which gamma globulin is produced.

Many of us are unable to see the needs of others. And some, seeing, do not care enough to stand the mere prick of a needle to provide blood for such a purpose as this and for that grave, urgent purpose of supplying blood for our wounded and the sick. Surely we will redeem ourselves at the next and subsequent visits to the county of the Red Cross bloodmobile.

HUGHES STARS IN EAST WIN

Black Cat Graduates Help Underdog Eleven To Upset 14-13 Victory

Two touchdown passes thrown by All-State, All-Southern John Delmar Hughes, of Prestonsburg, to Ashland's Ivan Curmutte gave the East a thrilling 14-13 upset victory over the West last Saturday night at Lexington in the football game that had been billed as "the battle of the quarterbacks". The game had been locked on as a test between Hughes, East quarterback, and Hornung, of Flagg, general of the heavily favored West eleven. And both lived up to all advance notices—Hornung by his running, Hughes through his passing. After the game, Lexington newspapers decided the "battle" with the headline, "Hughes Wins Battle of Quarterbacks". The East-West basketball game played earlier in the evening resulted in an overtime 57-56 victory for the underdog East. Prestonsburg high school was honored by having two players on the all-star East football team. Big John Gordon Goble, who also was named to the all-state eleven last year, played the entire game for East on offense, and was a tower of strength in the line. Both Goble and Hughes are ticketed for play this year with the University of Kentucky Wildcats.

The game was played before 9,000 fans. In addition to hurling the two scoring passes—both to the speedy Curmutte—Hughes kicked both extra points. After the East had received the ball on the kick-off opening the game, Hughes flipped a pass good for 48 yards to Curmutte for a touchdown that gave the East a 7-0 lead. The West, however, struck back quickly in the second quarter for two tallies and a 13-7 halftime lead. Here, Flagg's Hornung sparked as he generated and ran the West stars to their margin. This half, Hornung had carried the ball five times for 73 yards, averaging almost 15 yards a carry. However, five of his tosses were incomplete. The lines battled it out in the third quarter, and when the fourth came around it was the East that was stronger.

Democratic Nominee Thanks Floyd Voters

I wish to thank each and every Floyd countian for the loyal support that they gave me in the primary election which made it possible for me to receive the Democratic nomination for County Attorney. Such an honor could not have been possible without you who worked so faithfully for my success and I shall always be grateful for your kindness and your support.

To you who chose to support another candidate, you did so because this is a free America where no one dictates and every one makes his own decision. I highly respect you for following your own conscience.

Now that the primary is over, I solicit your support for the coming November election. To my opponents I still have the same high regard as before the vote was counted.

the open, without cooking quarters screened in; use of common towel and water by cooks and waiters in washing their hands; paper containers for serving of food stored, open side up, and thus subjected to contamination by dust and by human breathing and coughing.

Floyd county, Clark said, has 62 diagnosed t. b. cases. He estimated there are 100 active cases in the county, many of whom do not know they are infected. "How many of these were walking around the grounds at the fish fry? How many times did they have to cough and expectorate on the ground?" he asked.

"What I am trying to say," he added, "is that by proper cooperation of county health officials and the Fish & Game Club officials a much safer job could have been done. We were all negligent. But when are we going to do something about it? Talk alone won't do any good. Some one has to act."

A request for supervision by the health department in planning the 1954 fish fry, he said, and support of the public, will make the event as profitable as this year's and much safer and more enjoyable.

A LOOK AT WHAT WE MAY HAVE

If any of you have, as I did, difficulty in envisioning the transformation a state park will make at Dewey Lake, you should drive over to Natural Bridge State Park and see for yourself. I'd say you should see this park, even if you had never thought of Dewey, because you need to get back of and beyond whatever you're worrying about this moment.

Over there (this is just outside Slade, Ky., a few miles from Camp-ton, and a drive of two-three hours from this county) they hooked a state park onto one show item: Natural Bridge. This span, hewed out by natural forces, is worth looking on, but there are plenty of people living today who ten or fifteen years ago, would have sworn the place would never be more than a head-of-the-hollow scenic spot for the most vigorous to scamper about.

This park is, indeed, a long way up-hollow. A small stream that amounts to no more than what we call a good-sized branch has been dammed to form a pretty, little lake where folks enjoy boating (without motors), fishing (and there are fish) and swimming. In the little level land available they placed their boat-and-bathhouse, their curio stand and picnic grounds. Down to the edge of the close-trimmed grass of the bottom-land the forest itself creeps from the hills that tower all around. Pleasant ways lead around and up every hovering mountain. And in the center of the acre or so of level land available is an island in the lake that is so inviting with its carpet of grass, its rustic bridge, its trees and shade that the unimaginative could never see that place as it doubtless was, a few years ago, matted with briars and weeds.

There is no horseback riding at Natural Bridge for one simple reason: There's no place to ride where a horse could go, unless you would want to take to the one highway leading in. Outside that, this sheltered spot, far from hoot of train-whistle, almost lost in the loveliness of nature, has all that Cumberland Falls has to offer.

The main lodge is up there two or three hundred feet on the mountainside, deep in the trees. The cabins—they are of the best, I am told—also are dotted along the mountain, out there in the tall timber, each with a well-kept driveway leading to it.

This is the sort of place that does a country boy good to find. But we started out to try to give the reader an idea, by describing something of one park, what park development will mean to our own lake area.

At Dewey the park people have a beautiful expanse of water to hook onto, and nothing attracts people like water. Cabins such as the Division of Parks will build, a fine lodge such as those at Natural Bridge and Cumberland Falls, and woodland trails—all overlooking the lake—will attract and please thousands. Dewey has both rolling hills and steep slopes. It will adapt itself to entertainment for the vacationist and tourist in more varied ways than either Cumberland or Natural Bridge, for it will have motorboating and water-skiing as well as swimming, fishing, horse-back-riding and wooded trails for the hiker.

This section has something for the future, and for all Kentucky, in a state park at Dewey Lake.

Come around, five years, say, after they start developing a state park at Dewey, and give me the pleasure of saying, "I told you so."

RETURNED BY REQUEST

The following has gone the rounds for years, in the process making this column once upon a time, but at the request of Jaller Guy Horn, himself a defeated candidate, we print it again:

Lament of the Candidate

Lost four months and 20 days canvassing; lost 1,200 hours of sleep thinking about election; lost 49 acres of corn and whole lot of sweet potatoes; lost two front teeth and much hair in personal encounter with an opponent.

Donated one beef, four shoats, five sheep to barbecues; gave away two pairs of suspenders, five calico dresses and 15 baby rattlers; kissed 228 babies; kindled 14 kitchen fires; put up eight stoves; cut 14 cords of wood; carried 24 buckets of water; gathered seven wagon loads of corn; pulled 475 bundles of fodder.

Walked 4,060 miles; shook 9,080 hands; told 10,091 lies; talked enough to make 10,000 volumes; attended 26 revivals; was baptized four times; made love to nine grass widows; got dog bit 29 times.

And then got defeated.

VET GRATUITY PAYMENTS OUT

As President Signs Law Providing for Suspension Applicable after Aug. 31

The Veterans Administration this week announced that in compliance with Public Law 194, 83rd Congress, gratuity payments will not be made to veterans who obtain GI Loans after August 31.

This law, approved by the President on July 27, provided for the suspension of GI Loan gratuity payments during the ten-month period, September 1, 1953, to June 30, 1954.

Previously, veterans who obtained GI Loans were given a gratuity payment equal to 4 percent of the guaranteed portion of the loan up to a maximum of $160. These payments were credited to the veterans' loan accounts by the lenders.

Where loans have been initiated prior to the cut-off date, VA said that gratuity payments may be made after August 31, 1953, only if the loans fall within the following categories: (1) A loan on which VA has issued an evidence of guaranty or insurance or has issued a certificate of commitment dated prior to September 1, 1953; (2) A loan which has been closed and actually paid out in full prior to September 1, 1953, by a supervised lender; (3) A VA direct loan which has been closed or VA has issued a notice of approval or a commitment prior to the cut-off date.

VA said it was urging all lenders participating in the GI Loan Program to avoid any delays in processing loan papers which may result in a veteran being deprived of his gratuity payment.

Duck Season To Last 55 Days in Kentucky; Slight Changes Made

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 12 (Spl.) — A 55-day waterfowl hunting season for Kentucky has been assigned by the Fish and Wildlife Service, with the opening day being November 17 and the closing day January 10. The season is the same length as for last year but with some minor changes in the bag and possession limits and seasons granted for woodcock and jack snipe.

Earl Wallace, commissioner of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, pointed out that Kentucky could have had a split season of 23 days each, but in accepting these it would have sacrificed five days of hunting. It was decided then to accept a continuous season and thereby gain the five extra hunting days.

Shooting hours for this season are to begin one half-hour before sunrise and continue until sunset, Central Standard Time, except on opening day when shooting will start at 12 noon. Last season the shooting was stopped one hour before sunset.

Duck season for this year begins on November 17 and continues through January 10. The bag limit is four with a possession limit of eight, which may not include more than one wood duck. The season on geese is the same as for ducks, with a bag and possession limit of five which may not include more than two Canada geese. The dates of the cool season are the same as for last year with bag and possession limit again being ten. A 40-day season was granted on woodcock, to begin on November 20 and continue through December 20. The bag limit for this species is four per day and a possession limit of eight. A jack snipe season also was assigned, for the first time since 1941, to begin on November 20 and continue through December 4. Bag and possession limit for jack snipe is eight.

COURT FIGHT IS RENEWED

On Proposed 400 Miles Of New Electric Lines To Serve Ford Plant

After two and a half years of litigation on the question whether East Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative could build 400 additional miles to serve its $30,000,000 generating plant at Ford, in Clark county, an affirmative answer was given by the Court of Appeals last Saturday. Almost immediately a new court action was instituted.

It required 2½ years for this question to run its first course through Public Service Commission, Franklin Circuit Court, and the Court of Appeals.

But three private utilities fighting R.E.A. expansion filed a new appeal in which they asked Franklin Circuit Court:

1. To invalidate the June 24 order of P.S.C., allowing East Kentucky to build the lines.
2. To invalidate the July 14 order of P.S.C., allowing East Kentucky to borrow an additional $947,000 from R.E.A. at Washington to offset a deficit caused by delays in building the lines at issue.

The fresh appeal started today could well extend the litigation for another year, perhaps two. And in their new petition, the utilities again call judicial attention to a proposal they made in the final stages of the first cycle of litigation. It is:

That the private utilities and the R.E.A. generating plant use one integrated system of transmission lines.

The R.E.A. project is designed to generate electricity at Ford, then distribute it over 597 miles of its own lines to 19 co-operatives serving 82 counties, mostly in East Kentucky.

Briefly, here is the course of the first cycle:

1. On January 18, 1950, East Kentucky asked P.S.C. for permission to build the generating plant and transmission lines.
2. P.S.C. approved the project December 7, 1950. The utilities appealed to Franklin Circuit Court, which upheld P.S.C. in October, 1951.
3. The utilities then appealed to the Court of Appeals. On November 13, 1952, the high court upheld the generating plant but ordered re-examination of whether or not the transmission lines would be feasible.

4. Circuit Court sent the case back to P.S.C. December 10, 1952. P.S.C. re-examined the question posed by the Court of Appeals and, on June 24, decided the lines were feasible. And, on July 14, P.S.C. authorized East Kentucky to borrow $947,000 additional money for the transmission system that, in all, is estimated to cost around $8,000,000.

These, then, are the two decisions the three utilities want the courts to reverse. As to the June 24 decision, they claim it is contrary to what the facts warrant. As to the July 14 order, they claim it was made:

1. Without formal application to P.S.C.
2. Without investigation or a hearing.
3. Without notice to the protesting utilities.

Your Friend,

JAMES J. CARTER

TO ALL FLOYD COUNTY CITIZENS:

My family, my friends and myself have kept our integrity, self respect and honor, although we have been defeated. These characteristics are more valuable to us than a victory won by sacrificing them.

We fought a clean fight, asking your support upon our record, and are happy and proud of the race we made. My race proves that I have hundreds of friends who cannot be deceived, coerced and driven away from me by threats of being discharged from honorable positions or promise of employment to others made by men who now are holding public office.

This sincere friendship and faith you have in my family and myself is the most valuable possession man can have. We shall never forget you, we will always be anxious to serve you.

A malicious, vicious and degrading campaign filled with falsehoods and misrepresentations in order to deceive the voters was made against me by those who were desperate and saw defeat staring them in the face. I refused to degrade myself, although persuaded by many of my friends to place before the public not falsehoods but a proven court record that would have put those who falsely smeared me to shame. I had too much respect for their families. I would not resort to these low and base tactics. I shall discuss three of the many false rumors in this campaign.

1. The mansion you heard so much about. Men who hold positions of honor and public trust went over this county and in the hour insinuating that this home Dorothy and I had waited 32 years to have was built by stolen money. They failed to tell you that our home is mortgaged. Those of you who spread this know it was base and degrading to you and a shameful disgrace to your wives and children. Every record proves that every penny of public money collected by me as Sheriff was accurately and honestly accounted for. Every accusation or law suit against me has been proven false and untrue. This record will stand untarnished until the day of judgment. If I had wanted tainted money, I was offered $100,000.00 to set up the election machinery in the local option election of 1946, so that the county would be voted wet. I kept my honor, I did not sell. Instead, my family and me made a dry fight, and as a result our county was overwhelmingly voted dry. We would perceive the same course tomorrow.

Dorothy and I have worked hard and sacrificed much to educate and train our four children to be useful, honorable and Christian mothers and fathers in the communities in which they live. We will let the evidence of their lives prove to you the job we have done.

2. I have the utmost respect and sympathy for the Baldrige family. I dislike very much to mention and bring back to the memory of the family this horrible crime. Having two daughters, three granddaughters and four sisters who could at any time be the victim of a heinous criminal similar to or the same one who committed this crime. It would not be fair to my children, my friends and myself not to answer this ruthless, shameful and ridiculous accusation made against me in this campaign.

This is the second campaign this case has been made an issue. Promises being made that it would be solved. The best law enforcement agency in the United States was employed to assist in the investigation. They did not and could not solve it. Four long years have passed and it is still unsolved. This case has been disgracefully used to deceive and get the sympathy of the public.

The facts are and the truth is which can be proven by every honest person connected with the investigation that the entire Sheriff's force and myself did everything possible to bring about the arrest and the conviction of the guilty criminal. Every suspect was arrested, every witness promptly brought before those in charge of the investigation. No person, no evidence, no witness was suppressed, destroyed or protected. Those who it was said were protected voted for me.

against me on August 1. I spent more than $800.00 of my own money. My deputies and myself traveled hundreds of miles to Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Virginia checking information that might lead to the arrest and conviction of the guilty. This was done while those who spread these false, base and filthy rumors were peacefully resting with their families. Not once did they offer any assistance.

3. The slate that was printed and spread during the dark and quiet hours on the morning of the primary was another, attempt to defeat me and I am sure it did the job.

I was never on any slate, was not associated with any candidate or group of candidates. On the other hand because of relationship I was fought by all of their opponents. The tabulation of precincts show that I did not get the support of any of the candidates.

My friends insisted and offered much financial support for a contest in the primary. I discussed with able attorneys the law and the evidence as we heard it would be. I have no doubt that I could have thrown out certain precincts which were voted solidly against me but I steadfastly refused to enter a contest suit.

I am a Democrat. I have no ill will toward anyone. Those who have participated in this degrading campaign will have to make their own answer for their acts. I am indeed grateful to all of you and I will be the same everyday in defeat as in victory. When I can help you, whether you voted for or against me I will gladly be at your service.

PRICE, LOSER TO VANCEBURG

In State Tournament At Drift; Lewis Team Enters Wichita Finals

A scrappy Vanceburg team, playing behind able pitching, won the Kentucky semi-pro baseball tournament at Drift, last week-end, winning all three of its games and outstaying Price in the title Sunday, 6 to 4.

Vanceburg won the first game over the Floyd county All-Stars by the same score as the championship game. Jack Elkins started for the All-Stars. He was relieved in the fourth by Carl Jones, who gave way to Joe Weddington at the end of seven when the losers were trailing, 6 to 3.

Price defeated Allen, 16 to 13, with Amon Childers starring on the defense for Allen and contributing two hits, as did Lincoln Brown. In the semi-finals Vanceburg trounced Price, 17 to 4, with Gilbert the winning twirler.

The veteran Nelson Truitt, Vanceburg moundsman, held Price in check, 6 to 4, in the championship game. The winners were awarded the Ray DuMont trophy as Kentucky state champions for 1953, and will represent the state in the American Baseball Congress tourney at Wichita, Kansas.

Major league scouts saw some of the tournament play at Drift, and were much impressed by the performance of Harold Conn behind the plate for the Floyd All-Stars. After he had hit safely four times and driven in three runs one scout remarked, "One year in triple A and he's ready for the major leagues." Conn, who already is under contract to the Cleveland Indians, plans to shift from the outfield to catching, next season. Scouts also were interested in Jim and Dan Gilbert and Ron Pellegriam, of the Vanceburg team.

The tournament was poorly attended, and was a success only through generous concessions made by the Turner-Elkhorn Coal Company.

The all-state baseball team, selected at end of the tournament, follows:

Man Who Lost Leg To Wound Is Jailed For Extra Measure

John M. Gibson, who lost his leg as the result of a shotgun wound suffered when found in Belcher's restaurant at Garrett, a year or more ago, was jailed here last Thursday by Deputy Sheriff Frank Parsons.

He is charged by owner of the restaurant with breaking entering.

Three charges were lodged against Arthur Bentley, Lackey restaurant man, who was jailed the following day. One of the charges alleges armed robbery. The other accuses him of selling beer and of operating a public nuisance. Victim of the alleged robbery was Vernon Rice, it was said.

Others booked at the jail within the week:

Ell Smith, child desertion, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Frank Crum and Constable George Hall, Jr.; Joe Boyd, grand larceny, later released by order of Judge pro-Tem Paul E. Hayes; Buddy Mark Henry, grand larceny; Jack Abshire, carrying a concealed deadly weapon and assault and battery; Joe Martin, carrying a concealed deadly weapon.

Joe Martin and his kinsman Ray Patton were jailed on peace warrants and the hearing for both was set for Wednesday. Patton was released on bond prior to the hearing.

SOIL CONSERVATION

By L. R. Johnson

Many farmers are buying seeds to be sown for cover crops. Joe Hicks, Left Middle Creek, states that he is going to prepare a seed bed for his cover crop. Early seeding and application of fertilizer and prepared seed bed will all help in getting a good cover.

Emmitt Hamilton, of the Teaberry community, has begun his tile line, which is 480 feet long. Many farmers will lay tile this fall. It is best to begin early. Contact one of the Floyd county Soil Conservation District Supervisors or L. R. Johnson if you plan to put in tile.

The District will broadcast over WPRT, Prestonsburg, each Saturday at 5:30 in the evening.

Turner and Clark Attend Annual Leadership Meet To Study School Needs

County Superintendent Virgil O. Turner, Prestonsburg, and Charles Clark, principal of the Garrett consolidated school, attended the fourth annual K.E.A. Leadership Conference at Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond, last week.

During the three-day meeting nearly 400 school superintendents and teachers studied and endorsed the proposed foundation program which is under consideration by the state advisory committee on educational policy. The group also passed a resolution endorsing the proposed "Good Schools" amendment to Section 183 of the State Constitution. The amendment, which deals with the common school fund distribution, will be brought to a vote in the November election.

Featured speakers at the event included Wendell P. Butler, State superintendent of public instruction; Robert Mills, head of the Bureau of Administration and Finance; and N. C. Turpen, superintendent of Fayette county schools.

CARTER EXPRESSES THANKS

I wish to take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation to the people of Floyd county for their support and votes, and to all of you who worked so hard in my behalf.—The large majority by which I was nominated for Coroner on the Democratic ticket is the result of your votes, work, and support. Words are inadequate to express my feelings of gratitude—all I can say is thanks from the bottom of my heart.

I have no ill will toward my opponents and I am confident of their support in the November election.

I feel certain, you, my many friends throughout the county, will bring about an even more overwhelming victory in November.

I wish to express here my deep appreciation to the Democratic voters of Magisterial District No. 1 for their support in my race for the Democratic nomination for Magistrate, and also would acknowledge my debt to all those who helped make my fight.

The campaign my opponents and I waged was such that, I am sure, we all remain friends after the election. I tried to treat each of those in the race against me as gentlemen, and I appreciate the courtesies they showed me.

In the coming November election I solicit the support of all the voters. As Magistrate I will work to the full extent of my ability for all the people in my district.

Respectfully,

GROVER C. HOLBROOK

HENRY C. HALE
EXTENDS HIS THANKS TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY

I want to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to the good people of Floyd county who supported me in my race for County Court Clerk and even though I did not win the Democratic nomination I want to assure each of you that I shall always remember the confidence and trust you placed in me by giving me your votes. I shall stand ready to serve you at all times in the future as I have in the past.

Now that the race is over I want to say that I hold no ill feelings toward anyone but I would like to clear up a few misunderstandings that were caused by "mud-slinging".

I became a candidate for this office as a result of my own decision and not through the urging of any group, clique, person or official. I was, and am, my own boss, and no one was running me for this office. I was not, nor am I now, a puppet with someone else pulling the strings.

When I announced my candidacy I decided to run a clean and honest race, and in spite of several instances of malicious rumors and "mud-slinging" directed against me, I did run a clean and honest race. I am extremely proud of this fact.

Contrary to the articles which were published alleging that I had worked for the Old Age Lien Law I want to state that I did everything in my power to defeat this law. In my three terms as your representative I worked steadily for increased benefits for the aged and the blind, and during my six years tenure as your Representative I am happy to state that the old age payments were doubled.

Regarding the allegation that I had worked for the liquor interests I want to put you good people straight on that. I don't recall any specific bill in which the Wets or Days were particularly interested but I want to assure you that every act I did as your representative for the past six years was performed, after careful consideration on my part, in the interests and welfare of the people of Floyd county.

Perry T. Hall is a professional magician. He is also an officer for the Boldman compressor station. These two vocations are made necessary, because there is little opportunity for a professional magician to earn a living in Eastern Kentucky. He could leave the hills and take billing on some of the top shows over the country but life in the mountains, where he was reared, holds the dominant lure. He would rather stay here, exhibit his art at schools, civic meets and employee outings, and earn the major part of his income from the gas company.

He was born in 1922, at Pikeville, the son of John and Lee Hall. His father operated a grocery, and Perry, struck by the opportunity offered by Beechnut coffee, sent in a coupon and got his first magic trick. From that small beginning he has grown to the top of his profession, the friend of top magicians in the United States and Canada, and people like the dancer Patricia Wymore, wife of Errol Flynn. He corresponds regularly with Eddy Edwards, who was cast in "Sound Off".

His father moved to Harold and operated a grocery when Perry Hall was a youngster. He sold case after case of the coupon-bearing coffee and Perry acquired trick after trick from the manufacturer. Soon he was the star in school events at Pikeville. Having no equipment that assists the professional magician to perform feats smacking of the supernatural, he relied upon what has been termed "the pure magician's art". By this is meant the performance is done with little paraphernalia or "props". The performance must be backed up by skill and ingenuity only. It was invaluable training for a budding magician.

After a year in college he married Irene Stapleton, a neighborhood girl. He thinks getting her to say "yes" to his proposal was quite a trick in itself. The first child was Linda Carol. When she was ten months old the army tapped him. Ripley, in his pictured oddities, states the matter for the Mystic Mountaineer. In a drawing appearing in his syndicate "Believe It or Not" during the war Ripley said: "Pvt. Perry Hall, Box 44, Harold, Ky., was drafted by Local Board No. 44, assigned to the 44th Inf. Div., A.P.O. 44, was 44th name on the roster, lived in tent No. 44, shipped overseas in 1944, and was wounded 44 days after landing in France".

He had lots of experience before he received his wound and whether the mystic number 44 had anything to do with those events he does not know. He became useful to the entertainment unit which was trying to keep Uncle Sam's nephews happy at the front. He was assisted in getting together a lot of magic paraphernalia and he, with an assistant, would put on shows under the pound of heavy guns. He performed for the Red Cross canteens, and in hospitals.

It was in southern France that he was wounded. He was carrying a bazooka as a member of an anti-tank battalion when he ran into mortar fire. His legs and an arm were shot up with shrapnel. His assistant, who had charge of the stage equipment, under the stress of battle, buried the magic paraphernalia in a Normandy garden. He never saw it again.

Perry likes to think about that stuff being dug up by the Norman farmer. There were several hundred dollars' worth of things, odd, tricky, unusual and grotesque. "I like to think of what that farmer thought when he dug that stuff up," Perry says. "He probably thinks the Devil buried it there."

He lay in the hospital ten months. While there he received cards, letters and souvenirs of friendship from people in and out of the army. It was an event that he was to recall in later years when he edited a mimeographed newspaper at Harold for sick and convalescent magicians in the United States and Canada. That paper, The Happiness Herald, goes out regularly in the mail.

He came home from the army and decided to forget, not only his war experiences, but magic as well. He disposed of the few remaining articles he had. He forgot until one day he picked up a Billboard and read about the illness of Fritz, the Wizard (Harley Williams). He wrote Fritz a letter and the correspondence dragged out long enough to awaken his former interest. Soon he was back performing for church, civic and business groups.

Perry is a member of the International Brotherhood of Magicians and a member of the sick and convalescent Committee. Perry's publication, The Happiness Herald, is contributed to by top magicians. Rudy J. Lenzer contributes to the front page. Walt C. Griffiths writes "Canada Reports". It is full of laughs and good cheer. Not only does Perry edit the Happiness Herald but he does a column for The Magnet, "the only magic newspaper in the world".

The Happiness Herald is an indication to Perry's character. He is jovial, wants the world to be happy. That is why he has a string of youngsters at his heels at any moment he appears in public and there is the least indication he will perform for them. He has given his fellow employees at the compressor station enough show time to have brought, at professional prices, a tidy sum. At lunch or on any occasion he pulls from his large assortment of magic tricks some feat that brightens the world.

They call him "the Magic Oler". One of his stage costumes is a Ke-fauver cap and a pair of overalls. He wears an evening suit with the bearing of a man who was born to one. But to see him in one of his comic outfits, with an exaggerated long necktie, and watch him pull rabbits, milk bottles and dead chickens out of a silk shawl is to see him at his best.

He has been the subject of articles in trade magazines. A recent issue of The Linking Ring had an article about him, as did The Pipeline, employee magazine of several gas distribution systems. The Pipeline reproduced nine pictures of him, one as the front page. One of these pictures was of him and his two daughters, Brenda Kay and Linda Carol, in his magic shop. In this magic goods shop he makes and sells tricks. He gets orders from all over the United States.

But at present he is not doing much in the way of making magic things. He built a home on U. S. 23 and put his shop in the attic. He went away for a two-weeks vacation and returned to find a load of mail. He piled it on the stairway until he can get time to read it. Then, too, it is a little warm in the attic shop this August.

One thing about Perry Hall is his versatility. He is a magician of the top class, an artist whose skill was in demand by the army when he was in service. Not only does he perform magic and draw but he has learned to live. He has discovered himself and adjusted himself to life. At the compressor station he is the Magic Oler. At parties, professional meets and public gatherings, he is The Mystic Mountaineer. At home he is easy and informal. You sit in the swing with him or trail through the house to look at things a magician would like for you to see. He enjoys life and would like for everyone to do so. That is why he takes such an interest in the sick and convalescent magician and edits The Happiness Herald.

We understand him and his life when we read what he says in a recent issue of The Herald. "The blessings we seek are not long years away, but are always abundantly here".

FUNDS MAY BE INVESTED
Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 17 — Funds of the Teacher Retirement Board may be invested in indirect obligations of the Commonwealth, such as toll bridge bonds, Assistant Attorney General Jo M. Ferguson advised the Board.

The law, he said, limits funds of the Board to investments in governmental obligations—either of the State or of any first, second or third class city and certain voted obligations of school districts.

EXPRESSES THANKS

I wish to express my appreciation to the many people who expressed confidence in me by giving me the loyal support in my recent campaign for Sheriff.

Although we lost, I like to feel that our efforts will emphasize the desire of a great number of people for better government in Floyd county. It has been said that the world owes much to those who succeed, yet it owes more to those who fail but never give up.

We made a clean, hard, honest fight and I would like to point out that I did not buy any of the votes which I received. For this record I feel that one can justly be proud. I realize that a great many people did not know me when the campaign started. Several of these people expressed the desire to support me but felt that their effort would be in vain. This feeling was understandable and I have only the highest respect for men who follow their better judgment. That is a man's birthright and should be exercised freely by all men.

It behooves no one to be bitter in defeat. If we are to accomplish our purpose of improving Floyd county, then we must all work together in support of the successful candidates and wish them the best of luck for the next four years.

PRACTICE ILLLEGAL

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 17 — The practice of certain salaried personnel of the Louisville Board of Education who have been allowed $900 a year for "expenses" was branded illegal by Assistant Attorney General M. E. Holtfield.

The Assistant to the Attorney General held that flat sums for "expenses" were outlawed in 1950 by the General Assembly which required that such items be for actual outlay for public purposes—and that such accounts must be fully itemized.

Reports said at least 1,000,000 persons have been made homeless by flood waters of the sacred Godavari River in central India.

GOOD SENSE

I go to church. I am a father. I love my children. I give them six days of hard work every week. Sometimes, I am tired on Sunday, but I can't get away from the fact that God expects me to be on the job as a Father for my boys and girls on Sunday as well as other days. I may be old-fashioned, but, somehow, I can't help but feel that God is going to hold me responsible for my children, and if so, I need the help that the church can give and that I can get nowhere else.

Defense Investments Total $217,858,000

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 17 (Spl.) — Through last Jan. 1, Kentucky had received 97 new defense industries during the Korean struggle, involving an estimated investment of $217,858,000—fourth largest among the 11 southeastern states, according to studies of the State Agricultural and Industrial Development Board.

Board Executive Director George W. Hubley, Jr., said the figure does not take into consideration defense-stimulated expansion by railroads, utilities, gas transmission lines and other facilities of an interstate nature for which state-by-state breakdowns are not available. The study included only privately-financed industries. The only states in the area to top Kentucky were Louisiana, Florida and Alabama—with Louisiana showing investments of $659,175,000 in 121 new or expanded facilities; Florida, $307,589,000 in 64 facilities; Alabama, $230,767,000 in 118 facilities. Total for the area was $2,360,000,000 while the nationwide total was $15,300,000,000.

You look out and down through a wide, curved, one-piece windshield. The panoramic rear window and big side windows provide a clear view in all directions.

You get more power on less gas

That's because Chevrolet's two great valve-in-head engines are high-compression engines. In Powerglide* models, you get the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field — the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame." Gearshift models offer the advanced 108-h.p. "Thrift-King" engine.

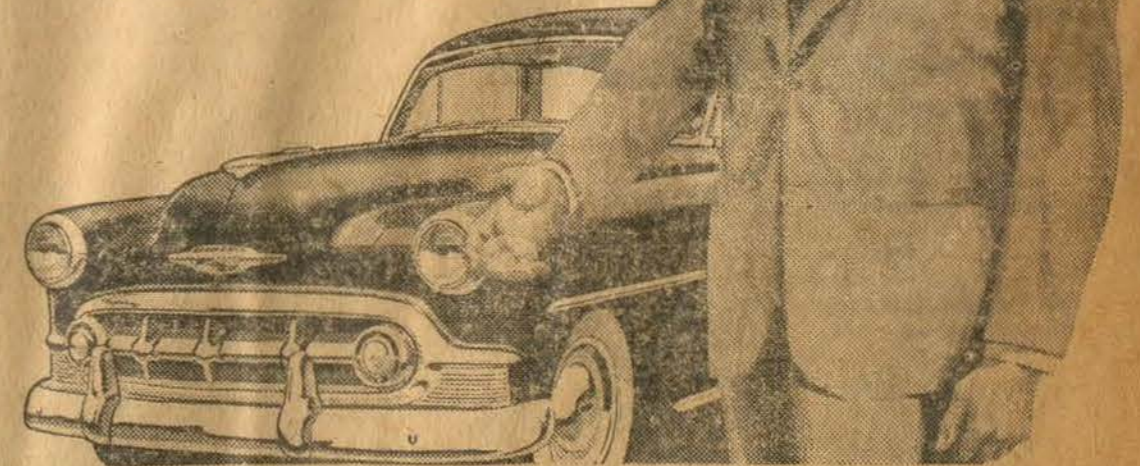

Biggest brakes for smoother, easier stops

An easy nudge on the pedal brings smooth, positive response — right now! Chevrolet's improved brakes are the largest in the low-price field.

I was ahead in every way after this demonstration!

I figured on paying about $200 more for a new car . . . until I discovered all that Chevrolet offered me.

It's heavier for better roadability

You're in for a pleasant surprise at the smooth, steady, big-car ride of this new Chevrolet. One reason is that, model for model, Chevrolet will weigh up to 200 pounds more than the other low-priced cars.

You get greater getaway with the new Powerglide*
A lot finer performance on a

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.
Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"ENEMIES OF FOLKLORE"

Let me say to begin with that not all folklore deserves preservation or is in any sense artistic. But some of it is artistic and basic in our culture and should receive protection against would-be-wishers of the race who are never satisfied to let humanity enjoy itself and work out its problems in its own way.

Recently I read an excellent study of the religious songs of the islands off the coast of Georgia, which have been studied lovingly and in a scholarly way by Lydia Parrish, a musician and folklorist who has lived for many years in this romantic back-country area of the South. The author laments that the Negro's spiritual songs have been laughed at by educated members of the race, have been scorned by white missionaries and travelers, and have usually received not one word of praise by musicians who should have known better than to ignore such a valuable cultural asset to the Negro and his white friends. The colored young people who went away from the islands to college tried to forget any distinctive things that their age-old culture had brought them and hoped to become a part of a standardized culture that was wholly of white origin. Without question, many of the customs and songs and dances are left-overs from a civilization in Africa that was ancient when our white ancestors were ignorant savages and in no sense the proud race they try to be today. But the island-raised children regard, too often, their cultural heritage as tacky and old-fashioned and Negro; these hard words can not be fought; consequently, the younger people have no desire to look into the colorful origins of their people's customs.

PROCK HAYES

WADSWORTH, Ohio — The family of Cpl. Joe E. Hononia, released as a prisoner of war, wondered how to break some bad news to him when he gets home. His father died last September while Joe was in a prison camp. "That kind of spoils some of our gladness," said the corporal's sister, Mrs. Margaret Moyer. "We've never told him about it in any of our letters."

Of course, one of the worst enemies to folk music is the so-called musician who takes the sacred melodies and tries to make them ridiculous. Not knowing how deeply spiritual many of these old tunes are, he quickens the tempo and brings out a cheap version that is about as great music as would be a jazzed-up version of "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The rage for hillbilly music has strangled many a tune that should have lived to a ripe old age. People who never saw a mountain or a cotton patch or stand of primitive timber take what they believe to be the central thing in a folk song and make it a lot of syncopated noise. Folk music is one thing that has great treasure value, but enemies, actual or accidental, often ruin what should be a permanent contribution to the whole human race.

State Sets Record For Tree Distribution

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 17 (Sp.)—Kentucky's Division of Forestry distributed 2,439,000 seedlings for planting on private and public lands last fiscal year, according to a report made today by Forestry Director Harold B. Newland.

The figure is a new record, exceeding the total of 1951-1952, the previous high year, by some 470,000 seedlings.

The report shows that trees were planted on nearly 2,500 acres of land as a result of the program. Seedlings were sold from two nurseries belonging to the division—at Dawson Springs and Louisville—and also imported from out-of-state nurseries for sale.

The Louisville nursery, located at the State Fair Grounds, was closed during the year and all nursery activities are now at Pennyrile State Forest, Dawson Springs.

Species of seedlings distributed were white oak, black locust, red and white oak, white, loblolly and shortleaf pine, yellow poplar and black walnut.

Pines were the most popular species with 1,187,000 shortleaf, 404,000 loblolly and 183,000 white seedlings being sold.

In addition to its own program of distribution, the division distributed 621,000 seedlings provided by the TVA for seven far west Kentucky counties during the year.

LACKEY SALISBURY

For COUNTY JUDGE

Member Local Union 6691 UMW of A.
Veteran; World War I.

At the beginning of my campaign, I will introduce myself to the voters of Floyd county. I was born and raised in Floyd county, and am related by blood and marriage to a great number of our people. I am the son of Joe Salisbury and Rebecca Osborne Salisbury, both deceased. In order that my kinfolks will readily recognize their relationship to me I will give the names of my grandparents. On my father's side my grandparents are Lackey Salisbury and Peggy Justice, on my mother's side, Dave Osborne and Mary Stephens. I married Lula Allen, daughter of C. S. Allen, and we have 9 children—two boys and 7 girls. One of my boys went 4 years to college and he was called to the army before he graduated; my other boy went one year and the army got him. Two of my daughters are college graduates. My two boys are now in the army—one in California and one in Korea.

My wife's grandparents are George Allen and Rhoda Halbert, Dave Allen and Ella Preston.

If elected, I will do my best to make this county a better place for all of us to live.

The county finances will be honestly administered.

It will not take law suits to make me do the right thing.

Rich and poor alike will be given the benefit of law.

As my opponent will be running on his record, I will from time to time during the campaign discuss this record at length, so that the voters may judge which is the most worthy of their support.

I stand for HONEST, CLEAN Government.

Your vote and support will be appreciated.

BETSY LAYNE

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

Betsy Layne Woman's Club held its regular monthly meeting August 13, at the home of Mrs. Lon Roberts.

Miss Alice Williams, program leader, presented a program entitled, "The House We Live In." Miss Williams first gave a review of the objectives of the American Home Department, Family Living Division, as outlined by the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs. November 9-15 has been designated as Family Solidarity Week. Clubs are urged to concentrate on a concrete contribution to their community during Family Solidarity Week, keeping in mind family arts and crafts. Clubs are urged also to contribute something more concrete to their communities than posters and advertising. The Betsy Layne Woman's Club pledged itself to follow the plan of the American Home Department, KFWC and to incorporate these ideals in every day living. Next, Miss Williams briefly discussed the planning and building of a house, stressing that the family budget and likes and dislikes should be carefully considered.

The next feature of the program was a picture story of "The Houses We Live In." Houses from Maine to California were shown and a discussion followed the showing of each picture. Next the group was taken inside the house, via pictures.

Following the picture story, Miss Williams gave a brief talk on what else it takes to make a successful home besides a house. Among other things, she said that the home creates a social, spiritual and physical environment, in which each member can grow in ability, understanding and ideals. All this calls for the cooperation of all the members of the family. She concluded the program by reading the following quotation from Goethe, "He is happiest, be he king or peasant, who finds peace in his home."

Mrs. Beecher Hardwick presided at the business session. A card from the Jackson Woman's Club announcing Mrs. Ray Salyer for the office of Governor of the 7th District, KFWC was read. Mrs. Edward Lykins was appointed to serve on the Floyd County Fair Flower Committee. Mrs. O. J. Williams, Governor 7th District, KFWC, installed the following new officers: Mrs. Edward Lykins, president; Mrs. W. P. Howell, vice-president; Miss Alice Williams, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Williams used the flower ceremony and the roses used were from the rose garden of Mrs. T. J. Chandler. Mrs. Hardwick, outgoing president, was presented a gift, a sterling silver lemon set, by the club members in appreciation of her successful work and of their sincere and deep appreciation for her services. At the close of the meeting a salad plate was served the following: Mesdames Beecher Hardwick, W. P. Howell, Edward Lykins, T. J. Chandler, C. H. Dickerson, O. J. Williams, Elizabeth Prichard, Miss Alice Williams, the hostess Mrs. Roberts and guests Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hayes, London, Ky.

The next regular meeting will be Thursday night, September 10, at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Prichard.

If You Remember . . .

They said that the old sugar trees had fallen in the night's storm, that the decayed trunk had crashed, to break into pieces, some as short as a man's arm. Not many years ago it had shown the first signs of age. It seemed to the old man that it had not been very long ago when he had drunk from the vernal flow of sweet sap oozing out of the great cut in the trunk.

That cut had been in the side of the giant tree since he was a mere boy. The day he first noticed it, his brother Bill, then full-grown, was coming up the creek and suddenly turned to climb the small embankment and drink from the chopped out cavity. He had followed suit and later had inquired why the place was chopped. He learned his father had intended to bring it to earth and saw it into logs. Father had found the inner heart decayed and left, his task unfinished. Since that day, years and years ago, the tree had weathered many a storm, bowed only in the great winds, and succumbed when decay had eaten out its heart. It had been a beautiful tree, there by the side of the road, and ever afterwards the road was not the same.

There were other trees the old man liked to recall. Some were full grown now. One a tall, straight persimmon, stood on the edge of the field. In a few decades it would reach maturity and having reached the fullness of treehood, it would rear its head towards the sun and the sky for a generation or two. The persimmon stood there by the grace of an old man who had long ago perished with age. He had stood by it, surrounded with felled trees in a clearing, and put his axe on the trunk, inquiring if the landlord wanted it cut. He had said no. Now when he looked at the tall persimmon he saw a white haired old man standing nearby, his axe against the trunk.

There were the oaks around his home. An early tenant had wanted to chop them down but insistence had saved them. Today they were leafy with foliage, their spreading arms throwing off the rays of the August sun. Gazing into their branches and at the sky he thought of Joyce Kilmer and his love for trees. Only a poet, whether he wrote rhyme and verse or not, could love a tree. "Poems are made by fools like me, but only God can make a tree," Joyce Kilmer had said. Trees, like a poem, were beautiful, a part of the rhythm and song of life itself, he mused. They leafed and flowered in the spring, stood strong and protective against the heat of the day in summer. In the autumn their foliage turned to gold.

He mused on a life spent wisely, of years rich with work and service, of a strong manhood and now, the autumn of life. He thought no more of poets, but only of himself and the tree.
