Electricity costs less today

than when this was the latest fashion...

Latest fashion in lighting

No longer is it smart to skimp on lighting. And why should it be ... when you can use a 100-watt bulb three hours for less than a penny!

Fashions have changed a lot since 1932—and so have prices. Nearly everything you buy costs more. But one item in your family budget costs LESS today than it did 20 years ago!

The sound management of your electric company... technical advances... your greater use of electric service... these things have kept electricity bargain-priced in an era of rising costs.

Miss McComas Heads Allied Youth Group In High School Here

Miss Anna McComas was named Friday as president of the Allied Youth Post recently organized in Prestonsburg high school.

The Post, which has 29 members, also elected:

Franklin Conley, vice-president; Clara Burchett, secretary, and Pat Peifrey, treasurer. Mrs. Elizabeth Goble and Mrs. Irene Stephens are teacher-sponsors of the organization.

Allied Youth is a national organization with individual posts over the county, and it provides a program for young people which is both educational and recreational, pointing for them a way of life without the use of alcohol. One of the lessons youth draws from the program is how to say, "No" to the pressure brought on them to indulge in social drinking.

The Allied Youth Post here was formed in December when W. Roy Greg, executive secretary of the national organization, spoke before high school students. Although he was brought here by a woman of the Presbyterian Church, it is emphasized that Allied Youth is not a church group. In many places in Kentucky, it was explained, Parent-Teacher Associations, civic and church groups sponsor posts.

The penalty, he said, will be that the trout will have to read an editorial of mine three times at one and the same sitting. I told Lenna I'd print that, and I'm going a step farther—b'gosh, I'm gonna write the editorial right now.

The Floyd County Times

Official Organ for Floyd County, Ky.
Published Every Thursday by Prestonsburg Publishing Co.

Entered as second class matter June 18, 1927 at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Ky., under the act of March 3, 1879.

Give for the Children!

If the people of Floyd county, with the disturbing experience of a polio epidemic only a few months behind them, are not aware by this time of the need for their dollars in support of the March of Dimes, they will never be.

So let this editorial merely serve as a reminder to those of us who intend to help but are inclined to delay.

Hospitalization for the youngsters of this county who last summer were stricken by polio has piled up bills against Floyd Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which now exceed $6,000. And all the children are not yet out of their hospital sick-rooms. More expenses are ahead, but even now the Chapter is behind approximately $4,000.

Had not last year's March of Dimes hit a new record for the county, the Chapter's financial plight would be even worse. If the county fails this year, and if there is any recurrence of polio during coming months, the situation will be distressingly worse. For both Floyd Chapter and the National Foundation are already deep in debt as a result of the 1952 epidemic.

A contribution of 20 cents per person in this county would supply in excess of $10,000 for the fight on polio. It isn't too much to ask of anybody, but everybody can't be depended on to give. So it's up to us who will to give and give generously.

This Was Needed

THE TIMES happily records the fact that the Floyd fiscal court this week took steps to provide at least a reasonable means of preserving old and valued records in the office here of the County Clerk.

This is an expenditure of public funds to which, surely, none will object. Some of these records, dating back to earliest days of the county, and destined to become more precious with each succeeding year, have long been in a sad state of disrepair. New stitching and binding will render the record books stable and attractive. This and their removal from the dank confines of an under-stairs vault into the Clerk's office proper will make them available to the public use for many years without further expense.

BANKERS PLAN FOREST TALKS

For Meeting at Hazard Slated Next Wednesday, P'burg Man To Preside

Blackburn denied seeking trouble and said he struck the woman only after she had first scratched his face and struck him with a bottle.

The defendant's testimony was largely that appearing in an affidavit which he submitted to show that former Policeman Nelse (Pie) Gilliam would have testified, had he been in court and permitted to appear as a witness. Gilliam is under indictment, charged with malfeasance in office for permitting the attack on the woman.

Blackburn's affidavit as to what Gilliam would have testified was admitted as evidence. It stated:

Gilliam was standing in front of the restaurant when Mrs. Laferty called to him to come inside and arrest Blackburn. Gilliam walked up behind Blackburn, laid both hands on his arms and said, "Come on, let's go." Blackburn said, "I will not wait till I get my hot-dogs and change." While Gilliam had Blackburn under restraint Mrs. Laferty scratched Blackburn on the cheek and hit him on the shoulder with a Coca-Cola bottle. It was after this took place that Blackburn broke free from the officer and slapped the woman. After this, Blackburn ran behind the counter to prevent Mrs. Laferty from throwing more bottles at him, the statement continued.

Another assault and battery case against Blackburn which arose from an altercation with Walter Caudill was continued till April 7. Two other charges against him arising out of the restaurant trouble, reckless use of a deadly weapon and resisting arrest, were continued generally.

The two malfeasance in office cases against Ex-Policeman Gilliam were continued, with bench warrants to issue. He had been listed as a key defense witness for Blackburn but failed to appear here for the trial.

A printing error in prepared forms used by the grand jury resulted this week in the indictment against W. J. "Happy Jack" Ratliff, charged with the rape of a Martin woman, being quashed. The printed form read, "with her consent," when "without her consent" was intended. Discovering the error, Commonwealth's Attorney Burnis Martin asked the indictment be quashed, to be re-submitted to the grand jury. The case was continued till Jan. 26.

Other court actions: Phillip Carr, charged with selling mortgaged property, trial set Jan. 19; Scott Compton, Floyd Deputy Sheriff, accused of malfeasance in office, trial set Jan. 24 with former Circuit Judge Henry Stephens, Jr., presiding by agreement; Woodrow Crager, child desertion, dismissed.

The grand jury will resume work Monday.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FOR SCHOOL BOARD MERGER

Editor, The Times:

Against the proposed merger of the Prestonsburg school district with the county system there is a small minority which contends that the county, or country, students have different needs than the town students in the way of educational advantages.

Such narrow-minded arguments need not be answered. It is sufficient merely to point out the high percentage of business men in Prestonsburg who grew up outside town—"country boys," if you will, from Beaver Creek, Bull Creek, Johns Creek, Cow Creek, Mud Creek, Middle Creek, Little Paint and Abbott.

All fair-minded citizens will agree that children living in the city and children living in the county school district should have equal educational advantages and opportunities. Presently the city school system has certain advantages and the county school system has others. It is not the desire or intention of anyone to lower the standards of either.

The goal of all advocates of consolidation is to bring the best of each system under the administration of one responsible Board. For in unity there is strength—and economy as well.

The savings which will be effected by consolidation in administrative costs, teaching, transportation of students, purchasing, etc., will go a long way toward eliminating any inequalities and bring closer to realization a modern, progressive school program for the benefit of all our children.

G. R. FANNIN

Notice to Taxpayers Of Prestonsburg, Ky.

In the difficult work for which our City Council has employed me, I want to be understood. I should really like to be appreciated rather than deprecated.

I am profoundly obligated simply to carrying out instructions. In this, I am to recognize neither friends (I trust I have many) nor foe (I hope I have none). I depend upon those friends who may be—for one reason or another—on the delinquent tax list to help me do my duty.

This is the declared policy of the City Council: that every delinquent taxpayer must pay the sums listed against him or her, plus the legal penalty. (To this under no circumstances is there to be a single exception); that no interest will be charged against anyone who pays promptly upon contact of the collector without requiring legal pressure; that those who delay or refuse to pay will be at once subjected to appropriate legal procedure and will be compelled to pay both penalty and interest, together with other charges. We look for a response that will make this unnecessary.

Cordially yours,
M. ROBERT REGAN
Delinquent Tax Collector,
City of Prestonsburg.

Polio 'Lung' Cases Need Long Care

A great many people in the United States are condemned to imprisonment each year although they have committed no crime. They are the iron lung victims of polio.

Although at one time a patient in an iron lung faced almost certain permanent confinement, the prospect for persons stricken during the past two years is considerably brighter, thanks to the March of Dimes.

Much progress in improving a patient's chances of liberation from breathing dependency is being made, according to a report by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Survey of Patients

A spot survey of America's respirator patients revealed that of 260 long-term patients being treated at five respirator centers supported by the March of Dimes, 81 have been freed during the past two years from tank type iron lungs to other less-confining breathing devices. An additional 52 have been released from all types of artificial respiration, while all but 14 others enjoy prospects of at least partial liberation.

The survey also disclosed that the majority of respirator patients under 20 years of age were boys, while most of those between 20 and 39 were women. Medical authorities will hazard no explanation for this baffling statistic, the March of Dimes organization said.

Of every hundred polio patients living in respirators, 15 have been confined for three years or longer, 13 for two to three years, while 16 have been respirator patients for one to two years, the report revealed.

16 Hours a Day in 'Lung'

The average iron lung patient spends 16 hours each day in his iron home. One out of four can rely partially upon a chest respirator or a rocking bed for a portion of the breathing assistance he needs.

While some of these cases, especially those who require 24-hour nursing service, cost the March of Dimes as much as $50 per day, the average is $18 every 24 hours. A respirator weighs 600 pounds and, without extras, costs $1,500.

Increasing the chances of escape for more iron lung victims is one of the prime targets of the March of Dimes drive now being conducted here and throughout the country.

TRUTHS, FACTS AND RECORDS

Vs.
FALSEHOODS AND MISREPRESENTATIONS

An eminent American religious leader once said that it was a waste of an individual's time and that of his friends to answer malicious, false charges of a ruthless, mean accuser who would destroy the reputation and character to gain personal and political advantage. This sort of person would destroy the church, the state and the nation.

I at first decided to follow the above advice. After careful consideration I decided it would not be fair to my family or myself to remain silent.

There is an organization in Floyd county known as the "Good Government or Taxpayers' League." I have taken no part in any way for or against this organization. It is my opinion that there are hundreds of our best people who are members of this organization. They are honest, God-fearing people. On the other hand, there are members of this organization who are motivated by selfish and political reasons that are selfish, ruthless and unscrupulous. I feel that every good citizen is interested in rearing his family in a community and county that has good, honest government. I think the way we live, rear our children and engage in public affairs is the best evidence as to how we stand on the subject of "good government."

I will be satisfied to let my life and that of my family who have lived among you and my neighbors be the judge of our record. If our record is good, we deserve your respect and commendation. If it is bad, we deserve the ruthless, smear accusations that have been made against our character and reputation. I will leave the decision to those of you who know us best. We have today a small group of men hiding behind the iron curtain that threatens to destroy the life of the whole world in order to gain monetary and political power. May I suggest that the "Good Government League" of Floyd county place in charge of the organization men and women who are interested in good, honest government. Those who are not interested in the election or defeat of any individual or group for a public office may their motive be good government and their motto "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." I shall give my wholehearted support to an organization of this kind.

On December 27, 1952, a petition was filed in the Floyd Circuit Court and appeared in a recent issue of The Floyd County Times. This petition alleges that I owe Floyd county $1,504.88 due from collection of taxes for the year 1949. It further alleges that an agreement of collusion, etc., was entered into by me, Judge Henry Stumbo, Magistrates M. C. Wright, who has been a minister of the gospel for forty years (never accused before during his entire life of being dishonest), Ellis V. Martin, one of our leading business men (who has never been accused of being dishonest), Edgar Howell, who also is a minister and has never been accused of dishonesty or wrongdoing, Milt Stanley, a leading citizen who has always lived an honest and upright life, J. E. Harris, former Magistrate, whose reputation for honesty and integrity has never been questioned. These people had the confidence and respect to be placed in public office by the voters of the various districts. Do you think that to slander the reputation and character of these good citizens and their families, whose lives are open books, is motivated by good purposes and good government, or do you think the motive is purely political? I think I can answer that in my own mind. Following is a complete statement of settlement and a matter of record of the 1949 tax collection matter, the best evidence to determine and arrive at a just conclusion being records.

The record shows that I do not owe Floyd county but Floyd county owes me. I never owed an obligation or debt that I did not pay when I could. I have had, and have now, obligations that I could not pay as quickly as I would have liked to. I am of the opinion that most people have had the same experience.

I suppose there will be a lot of charges offered in the local paper or by gossip between now and the August primary. I do not intend to take my time and the time of the public to indulge in this sort of stuff. I have a private and public record. If I should ask the voters of Floyd county to support me as a candidate for public office I will ask your support upon these records. I may, from time to time, comment between now and August on my records. May we turn the searchlight upon our conscience and let our conscience be our guide.

If You Remember . . .

A sense of personal tragedy does not always display itself upon the surface of a man's life. Sometimes it is buried so deeply that you are aware of it only after a careful piecing together of events.

It must be thus with Garland Garrett, for he talks little of things that made life stark and dark, and then his words are carefully weighed, laconic answers. When he was told that another major operation would be necessary to save his life after the first a few days previous had failed, he asked: "When?" The surgeon said it would have to be done as soon as he would be able to stand the shock, perhaps in a day or so. He answered only, "Well." There was no sigh of deep finality but only the calm acceptance of things by saying, "Well."

Things, in reality, had never been well for years. When he was young he had been strong. Not so long ago by the calendar for he was only thirty now. In those early days he worked in the mines and on the farm. Today he still works on the farm and if there is a job to do he does not evade it by recalling the many times he submitted to the surgeon's knife.

He lives by the grace of modern miracle surgery and is watched over by specialists of the United Mine Workers' Welfare department. He sees them semi-annually. For a year or two now they have not told him to anticipate any more operations.

It is inconceivable that he would need any more, for there have been two on the kidneys. There have been others for various other things, all serious. One operation removed a lung. All told there have been nine.

BETSY LAYNE

The Betsy Layne Woman's Club held its regular monthly meeting Jan. 15 at the home of Mrs. T. J. Chandler. The program leader was Miss Alice Williams. The program was in the Public Welfare department, Health division. Miss Williams presented the plan of work of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, one of the objectives being to improve conditions in communities and a campaign for clean public rest rooms. Next, some of the goals of the General Federation of Women's Clubs Health Division were presented. Among these were the recruitment of future nurses to relieve the nursing shortage, good medical care for all and expanded public health service in all parts of the county.

Miss Williams presented Mrs. O. J. Williams, who told how a practical nurse-training program in one of our larger cities was started in a public vocational school with the cooperation of six hospitals. This program was very successful and the situation worked out well both in hospitals and private homes. Following this discussion, Mrs. Beecher Hardwick gave some facts on the costs of this training, both to communities and the student. The cost to the city under discussion was $40,000. This included six hospitals, with a paid supervisor in each. The cost to the student was approximately $65, with tuition free if she lived in the city.

Miss Williams concluded the program with a short resume of the discussion and mentioned that Kentucky now has licensure for practical nurses.

Mrs. Hardwick presided at the business meeting. She read a letter on highway safety from Mrs. Henry J. Burt, Safety chairman KFWC, stressing the importance of safe driving practices and urged members to make every day a deathless day on the highway. Mrs. Hardwick reported that she had placed March of Dimes collection containers in the business places of the community. Members present contributed to the March of Dimes campaign. A report was given covering the sale of gift articles during the month of December. A letter from Maude E. Bryan, the Red Cross YAWA representative was read, in which she expressed appreciation for the Christmas stockings sent to Veterans hospitals at Christmas. Mrs. Hardwick read an invitation to the club to a benefit card party sponsored by the Drift Woman's Club and everyone was urged to attend.

A letter from Governor Wetherby was read in which he acknowledged the club's interest in inaugurating a driver-training class as a part of the regular curricula in the state's high schools. The KFWC music contest, sponsored by the Music Division of the Fine Arts Department, Mrs. I. C. Gousha, chairman, was presented.

The group was reminded of the Easter Seal campaign, March 5 to April 5, sponsored by the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, the only state-wide private agency which cooperates with and ties together the work of all agencies providing services for crippled children. Mrs. Hardwick reported one entrant in the short story contest, sponsored by the KFWC Literature Division of Fine Arts. Miss Alice Williams will represent the club at the mid-winter Board meeting in Lexington, Jan. 21-22, 1953.

Mrs. O. J. Williams, governor of the Eighth district, KFWC, presented the qualifications necessary for nomination for State Mother to the club and suggested that they discuss the matter and try to find a nominee in the community or surrounding area.

At the conclusion of the business session a dessert plate was served to the following: Mesdames Albert Greenwald, O. J. Williams, Elizabeth Prichard, Beecher Hardwick, Glenn Blackburn, R. L. Anderson, Miss Alice Williams and the hostess, Mrs. Chandler.

The regular February meeting will be at the home of Mrs. T. J. Chandler, with Mrs. Beecher Hardwick, program leader.

KAUFFMAN NAMED
Governor Wetherby reappointed H. Clay Kauffman, Lancaster, to a four-year term on the Public Service Commission. Kauffman first came to the Commission in January, 1949, by appointment of then Governor Earle C. Clements.

Auto License Violators Subject to $100 Fines

Frankfort Ky., Jan. 17 (Sp.)—Violators of Kentucky automobile license laws were warned by State Police today that they face fines of up to $100 if caught.

The violations have been especially noted in border areas of the state where many residents often buy their tags in neighboring states to avoid paying Kentucky's usage and property taxes.

State police and Department of Revenue officials said that Kentuckians who use out-of-state tags are subject to fines of from $10 to $100.

According to Kentucky statutes all residents must purchase their auto licenses in the state. The law also applies to out-of-state persons who move to Kentucky and to Kentuckians who buy out-of-state cars.

Departments of Police and Revenue also noted that it is illegal in Kentucky to use tags on cars owned or used personally either by auto dealers or their employees.
