BUCKEYE APPLICATION

After having been nominated to Allan M. Trout's more or less famous Knuckle Head Club, I have waited patiently two weeks now for my buckeye, which at this writing is not at hand.

The Western powers propose a way to peace. Molotov throws up a road-block. Then Molotov proposes a free election for Germany, and our side scoffs.

THERE'S HOPE, ANYWAY

We found no end of encouragement this week in the announcement that some sort of electronic brain is on the way to give infallible weather predictions.

All winter long we have listened and watched these prognosticators give confident assurance of fair weather or foul, and on mornings when fair weather was to be expected wound up at nine-top depth in snow.

FOUR INJURED IN COLLISION

Three Highway Workers, Allen Man Hospitalized; Three Hurt on Mud Creek

Four men were injured, one seriously, early this morning (Thursday) when a Kentucky highway Department truck skidded across the highway at Emma and was struck by a truck en route to Prestonsburg.

The four, all of whom are at the Prestonsburg General hospital, are Graydon Howard, Pyramid, highway foreman, Bill Stumbo and Frank Stephens, both of West Prestonsburg, highway employes, and Jimmy Goble, of Allen, an employe of the Home Appliance Company here.

Stumbo was most seriously injured of the four. He has a fractured pelvis and broken ribs. He is a son of Ex-Sheriff M. T. Stumbo. Howard and Stephens suffered bruises, and Goble was cut about the face and his chest was bruised.

Slippery condition of the road during the morning snowfall was blamed for the collision.

Billy Hall, of Mud Creek, was brought to the hospital here Tuesday with a broken back, the result of an auto wreck. Details of the wreck are unavailable. The injured man is a son of Lang Hall, of Betsy Layne. He was taken to Veterans hospital, Louisville, for treatment.

Another Mud Creek wreck last week sent two Grethel men to the Prestonsburg hospital. Azzie Newsome remains a patient here suffering a severe head injury. Melvin Adams, who sustained a shattered jaw, was taken to St. Mary's hospital, Huntington. The two were injured in the wreck at Beaver of the auto of Daniel Akers, of Grethel.

MARTIN LOCAL OPTION VOTE SET MAR. 6

Registration of Voters In Town Closes Feb. 24; 1948 Act Repeal Asked

Saturday, March 6, was designated this week by County Judge Henry Stumbo as the date for the special local option election to sound the wet-and-dry sentiments of the town of Martin.

A petition filed with the county court by proponents of legalized liquor sales in Martin had asked February 27 as the election date. Dry forces represented by their attorney, Joe Hobson, argued the time for presenting the case to the people was too brief and sought a later Friday date for the election. March 6 was accepted as a compromise.

Authenticity of signatures appearing on the petition filed here was not attacked by dry forces, and the scheduled hearing developed little interest.

Because of the special election the registration books for the two precincts affected, New Martin No. 41 and John Postum No. 12, will close at midnight Feb. 24, County Clerk DuRan Moore said. This closing of registration to precincts taking part in a special election is in compliance with the statute requiring suspension of registration 10 days prior to the special election.

The election at Martin is possible under the 1948 act of the General Assembly allowing cities of the first four classes to hold local option election apart from the remainder of the county in which the city is located. Martin was declared a fourth-class city by vote of the General Assembly.

This week, Senators Ed P. Warriner, Albany, Ky., and Wendell VanHoose, Tutor Key, Johnson county, both Republicans, introduced a bill to repeal the 1948 act. Its passage would restore the county-unit rule on local option elections, which means that an entire county would have to vote on the question. Bills similar to the Warriner-VanHoose measure have failed at each Assembly session since 1948.

The 1948 law breaking the county-unit rule became effective June 17 of that year. Since that day, 54 local-option elections have been held in Kentucky. Of that total, 22 have involved cities of the first four classes.

Seven of these cities voted wet. But Dawson Springs and Catterburg later voted dry. Elkhorn City voted twice--wet both times.

The net result of the 1948 act is: Legal sales are permitted in Nicholasville, Elkhorn City, Cumberland, Vanceburg, and Eminence.

Legal sales were banned in Prestonsburg, Pineville, Martin, Earlington, Corbin, Sturgis, Falmouth, Ashland, Owingsville, Williamstown, Dawson Springs, Middleboro, Jenkins, Catterburg, and Pikeville.

Of the 120 counties, only 27 are wholly wet. Eighty-four are dry, and nine are "damp," containing some precincts that are dry and some that are wet.

Area Survey Next Week To Include This County

Victor Roterus, chief of the Area Development division, United States Department of Commerce, and Gustav Larson, assistant chief, will arrive in Frankfort Monday and from there will visit Prestonsburg and other towns of this section in a survey next week of Eastern Kentucky's industrial facilities and development needs.

The survey of unemployment areas will be made at the request of U. S. Senator John Sherman Cooper. Representatives of the state Agricultural & Industrial Development Board and the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce are expected to accompany Roterus and Larson on their visits to a dozen towns where conferences will be held with local leaders.

The A. & I. D. Board will outline plans for development of the Big Sandy and Kentucky rivers, and will make available to the Washington visitors information on Eastern Kentucky employment, population trends, industrial sites and buildings, manufacturing facilities, transportation, industrial water sup-

REED TAKES PRICE'S POST

On Board of Regents At Morehead, Replacing E. R. Price Who Retired

B. F. Reed, drift coal operator and civic leader, was sworn in as a new member of the Morehead State College board of regents at a meeting of the group on the campus this week. He replaces E. R. Price, of Wheelwright who resigned recently.

M. K. Eblen, Hazard, was chosen vice-chairman of the board, a post formerly held by Mr. Price.

President Charles R. Spain gave a financial report on the operation of the college for the past quarter. In addition to routine business, one personnel change was approved. Nolan Fowler, associate professor of history, was granted sabbatical leave to do graduate work at the University of Kentucky this summer.

Present for the meeting were Reed, Eblen, W. W. Ball, of Maysville, and J. T. Norris of Ashland. Wendell P. Butler, Frankfort, was unable to attend.

JOB-QUITTING VEXES BOARD

County Board Decides To Keep Record on Why Teachers Resign Posts

The Floyd County Board of Education was concerned mainly at its Monday meeting with filling vacancies created by teacher-resignations.

Resignations, many without warning and for all sorts of reasons, have become so widespread that the board discussed means of discouraging teachers from quitting their schools in mid-term. Besides urging teachers to see their jobs through, the board plans to keep close record on all who resign--the time in the term they quit and the reason for quitting. This information, it was inferred, will be available for future consideration of teacher applications.

While Superintendent Turner was reviewing the work of the board Monday, he received a telephone call from a teacher named to fill the vacancy created in the head of Turkey Creek school by the resignation of Billy Osborne. The teacher advised he would be unable to accept the appointment, and the possibility exists that a teacher may not be found soon for the school.

Nine-Year Old Girl Earns Money for March of Dimes; Awarded Merit Certificate

Nine-year-old Barbara Seeling was honored with a certificate of merit from the Floyd County Chapter of the Infantile Paralysis Foundation this week for her contribution to the March of Dimes. Having no funds of her own to contribute, she began the making of pot-holders which she sold to her neighbors and friends. The March of Dimes fund is $3.45 richer from little Miss Seeling's efforts.

She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Seeling, Riverside Drive.

NO PRECEDENT IN COST RULE

Says Stewart in Reply To Query from Tackett On Road Case Appeal

There is no precedent as to who pays the cost of the appeal of the Commonwealth's Attorney for the state to the Court of Appeals, Zeb A. Stewart, assistant attorney-general, has written Joe P. Tackett who acted as Commonwealth's Attorney pro-tem in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Judge Henry Stumbo.

Stumbo was jointly indicted with Mill Stanley and Glenn Burchett several months ago over a road situation existing on Middle Creek. The case against Judge Stumbo was dismissed by A. J. May, special judge, who directed the jury to find for the defendant. May granted an appeal but not at county expense.

"Unquestionably under Section 350 of the criminal code the Commonwealth's Attorney has the right of appeal and the Attorney General's office is willing to cooperate with you to the end of having a certification of the law involved," Stewart wrote Tackett. "However, the troublesome question presented is who is to pay the clerk the cost of the record and the official stenographer for a certified copy of the evidence."

Stewart advised Tackett he had consulted with the Chief Justice and that together, after a search for precedents, they could find none. He wrote that if a favorable certification of the law were made on the question then of course the expenses of appeal would be borne

Court Hires Firm To Do Audit Work For $1,200 a Year

The accounting firm of Ray Allen and Nat H. Hager was employed by the fiscal court Monday as county auditors at a salary of $1,200 a year.

In addition to the general county audit, the firm is to make other audits as the court may direct. The contract was made retroactive to Jan. 4, this year.

The court also renewed its contract with the Division of Forestry under terms existing in the previous agreement by which forest fire protection is given by the division.

The 2-cents-an-acre levy on forest land to supply the $1,769.48 fund contributed by the county for this service also was renewed.

Balloon-Launching To Demonstrate Here, Feb. 12, How Freedom Crusade Carried Truth Behind 'Iron Curtain'

Demonstrating a successful technique used by the Crusade for Freedom to carry news behind the Iron Curtain, Aerie No. 2860, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will conduct a spectacular balloon launching here on Lincoln's Birthday, (Feb. 12) to signal the opening of Freedom Week. It was announced this week by Samuel Hale, Aerie president.

"Large plastic balloons similar to those used by the Crusade to carry messages of truth, hope and encouragement to Soviet-oppressed people of Europe will be released from the football field at 12 o'clock," Mr.

Hale said. Impressive civic ceremonies are planned to precede the balloon launching.

"Each of the balloons will carry a special message from our Aerie, inviting the finder to join the Crusade for Freedom and enlist the help of friends and neighbors. Small envelopes are enclosed in the balloons in which they can mail their Truth Dollars," he said.

"The balloon launching, called the Eagles Flight for Freedom, is one of hundreds of similar events taking

FISCAL COURT VIEWS REPORT

Committee Recommends New Courthouse, Jail; Cites Work Necessary

One of the items of business at the meeting of the fiscal court here Tuesday was a study of the four-page report made to the grand jury by a committee of three on improvement needs of the jail, jail kitchen and courthouse.

The report, signed by Jailer Prock Hayes, County Sanitarian John Milton Stumbo and J. Y. Goble, of the Home Appliance Company here, recommended a new courthouse and jail. But, it added, until new structures can be had various improvements should be made. The grand jury in turn recommended that the April grand jury indict those responsible for complying with the recommendations, if the improvements are not made.

The committee pointed out that the foundation of the courthouse proper is in a weakened condition and that some of the second-story floors have "shrunk away" as much as half an inch. In the jail the presence of naked wires was noted along other unfavorable conditions.

These were the recommendations offered: For the two restrooms in the courthouse, repair of floor drains, patching and painting of plaster, ventilation of the men's restroom,

THREE NABBED IN RUM RAIDS

Sheriff, Deputies Take Liquor, Beer; 4 Soldiers Booked on A.W.O.L. Writ

Raids by Sheriff Gorman Collins and deputies last week resulted in three arrests and the confiscation of 11 pints of whiskey and almost five cases of beer.

Deputies Willie Johnson, W. J. Sloan, Frank Blackburn, Lee Stumbo and J. M. Hall arrested T. A. Bates at Bypro, Sunday, and found 21 cans of beer. He was released under bond by Magistrate Ellis Martin. Another Left Beaver Creek man Henry M. "Chunk" Justice, was nabbed when three cases of beer and three half-pints of whiskey were found on his premises by Sheriff Collins, Deputy Sheriffs W. B. Boyd, Amos Gray and Willie Johnson. The third man arrested was Clyde Jones, of Martin, from whom 13 half-pints of whiskey were taken Friday night by Sheriff Collins and Deputy Sheriffs Amos Gray and Willie Johnson.

Search of a car by Deputy Sheriff Johnson netted three pints of whiskey and a case of beer, but the owner was not found, it was said.

Jailed here within the week were four soldiers booked as absent without leave. They were listed as Charles G. Casebolt, who was arrested

Fishing conditions could be better in Dewey Lake, and they will be, was the opinion expressed Monday at Maytown by Bernard Carter, biologist, Kentucky Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources, in an open forum conducted by the Floyd County Fish & Game Club.

The forum was originally scheduled to settle rumors that the reservoir "has no fish in it" and the contention that it should be restocked with bass. Minor Clark, director of the Division of Fisheries, was slated to appear with Mr. Carter but was prevented from attending the meeting by illness in his family.

"I have an optimistic outlook--I think everything is going to be fine," Carter said, summing up his views after a detailed discussion of conditions.

He was emphatic in expressing the belief that restocking of bass is not needed, will produce no more bass for fishermen and, in fact, may have a harmful effect, since no body of water will produce and maintain a fish population larger than its food supply. The biologist pointed out that all available records show that only 5% of the harvestable fish are taken by fishermen from any impoundment, leaving the others to die of old age, disease or starvation.

By way of explanation of the necessity of a population balance with the food supply, he said, "You have enough, say, for only four people. But eight people go to the table to eat, and if they continue to go to the same table they starve and die."

Failure of shad to spawn as expected the last two years has cut down on the food supply at Dewey, Carter said.

Rev. James Roark, 69, Former P'burg Minister Dies in Carter County

The Rev. James Roark, 69, retired Methodist minister, and a former resident of Prestonsburg, died at the Stovall hospital, Grayson, Sunday evening, after an illness of six years.

Mr. Roark was born Sept. 25, 1884, in Carter county, a son of the late Charlie and Permelia Roark. He was a pastor in the Prestonsburg circuit for 25 years.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at the Grayson Methodist Church. The Rev. J. H. Finch officiated. Burial was made in Grayson Memorial cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Myrtle, one daughter, Mrs. Irene Harris, Columbus, Ohio, three brothers, John, Robert and George, all of Olive Hill. Two sisters, Mrs. Magby Criswell, Olive Hill, and Mrs. Bill Bailey of Grahm, Ky., also survive.

Scouts To Plant 20,000 Trees As a Conservation 'Good Turn'

A conservation good turn for the Boy Scouts of the Lonesome Pine Council will be one of the feature activities this year, Jack Hodge, Scout executive said recently. At a meeting held recently, plans were made to plant 20,000 trees at Camp Shawnee, a three hundred acre tract located on Dewey Lake, leased from U. S. government engineers. The following experts will act in an advisory capacity to help the Boy Scouts with their conservation project: L. R. Johnson, Soil Conservationist, Prestonsburg; A. B. Rogers, Area Conservationist, Hazard, Ky.; and O. E. Boggs, County Agent, Prestonsburg, Mr. Boggs will serve as chairman of the conservation committee.

Other projects to be undertaken by the Scouts will include the planting of trees and shrubs on private land in all districts of the Council. Each Troop will be encouraged to practice fire prevention under supervision of the forest warden in each county.

Each Scout will be encouraged to do a minimum of four hours conservation work to make him eligible to wear a conservation patch on his uniform.

This Conservation Good Turn is being undertaken by the Boy Scouts of America at the request of President Eisenhower who has as one of the major aims of his administration the Conservation of our natural resources.

In addition to the trees planned for Camp Shawnee planting, another 30,000 are to be planted on Floyd county farms, if plans work out successfully, according to Hodge. Farmers and land-owners may order the trees from the State Forestry Division and the Scouts will set them out for one cent each. This small cost, Hodge says, will about pay the transportation cost of the Scouts to the farm. The tree variety, will of course be selected by the land-owner, Hodge says.

The Lonesome Pine Council was first out of 43 Councils in

Studies made at the lake every year since its impoundment revealed these facts, he said:

In 1950 there was a heavy spawn of bass, crappie, shad and carp. After 1950 there has been no carp spawn.

In 1951 two studies revealed a similar picture, though the bass and shad reproduction was lighter but still about average. Bluegill spawn heavily every year. The 1952 studies showed the bass reproduction down somewhat and a very light shad spawn.

Last year, the bass reproduction was disappointing, and there were few young shad. As of this date, the bass population is described as "somewhat low."

Asked what is expected for 1954, Mr. Carter said, "We expect a terrific spawn of both bass and shad in 1954, especially if we get the five more feet of water."

All preliminaries to deepening of the lake by five feet have been completed, and addition to the water has been slated for April 1.

After this year, the biologist told club members, the picture at Dewey should be clear and the Department will know exactly what is needed, if

COUNTY TOPS FUND QUOTA

$3,025 Bookmobile Check Goes to Louisville Office; Unit Expected Next July

A cashier's check for $3,025--enough to purchase one Bookmobile--was sent from this county Monday to the Kentucky Bookmobile committee, Louisville.

The fund raised during the bookmobile drive in the county was transferred after a meeting of the Floyd county committee at the Center Grill, Monday morning, and only a few minutes after receipt of the check which sent the drive past the $3,000 goal.

The Bookmobile check was taken to Frankfort by Representative Lon C. Hill, and from there was transmitted by a member of the state committee to Louisville headquarters.

As a result of the success of the drive conducted in this county under the leadership of B. F. Reed, of Drift, Floyd county is expected to be assigned one bookmobile unit next July.

Cost of operation and maintenance has not yet been provided. Help from the state, fiscal court and county board of education are expected to cover this expense. Another work yet to be done is that of conducting a county-wide book drive.

Showing Made Monday At Bloodmobile Visit To Guide Future Work

On the showing made here Monday, Feb. 8, when the regional Red Cross bloodmobile makes its first visit of the year to Prestonsburg, continuance of the blood program in Floyd county will heavily depend, it was said this week by Miss Ella Noel White, executive secretary of Floyd Red Cross chapter.

For that reason workers are making an extra effort to enlist enough donors to assume the 125-pint goal for this visit.

How badly the county has failed in meeting its quota was emphasized by these figures: The county's blood quota for the year beginning July 1, last year, and ending next June 30 is 1,400 pints. With six months gone, at the end of December only 375 pints of blood had been procured from the county.

This is the second successive year the membership has increased. In 1952 the Council received National recognition for growth in Rural Scouting. The next highest Council was Four Rivers at Paducah, Ky., with a 19 percent increase in membership.

The Kentucky River District, including Knott, Breathitt, Leslie, and Perry counties, showed the largest gain in membership with a 40 percent increase. Other districts showing a gain were Jenny Wiley, including Floyd, Magoffin, Martin, and Johnson counties, Pike, in Kentucky, and the Breaks of the Cumberland District, including Dickenson and Buchanan counties, and the Wise-Lee-Russell District in Virginia.

BUSINESS MEN OFFER FUNDS FOR BUILDING

Dura Company Choice Of Sites Down to 2; P'burg Is Included

Prestonsburg's desire for new industry is so urgent that its business and professional leaders are backing up their search for a manufacturing plant with money of their own.

Following a mass meeting at the courthouse Monday evening, the community was well on the way toward subscribing $150,000 for the purchase of a plant site and the construction of a factory building. And enthusiasm in this show of local initiative was so high that no doubt lingered in the minds of leaders about the community's ability to raise the entire $150,000.

Monday night's meeting was called by Mayor Curtis Clark to have the community ready for whatever offer of new industry location may come. The Dura Electric Lamp Bulb Manufacturing Company already has inspected several sites in the Prestonsburg vicinity and is known to be interested in locating here. If it selects the community, the fund raised will be used to assure the company a site and building under terms of a lease. If the Dura firm selects some other location, a holding company will have the funds ready for the next interested company and also will be in a position to go out in search of new business, with funds ready to provide a site and building as an inducement.

Actually, it was said, Dura has narrowed possible sites to two, one of which is Prestonsburg. The firm industrial firm. But lesser men with such resources have done nothing, or have failed to convince their superiors that anything needed to be done.

We like to think, too, of Wheelwright's fine library—the only public library in Floyd county; of its Community Church, of its swimming pool and golf course where once existed a community eyesore.

The record of Wheelwright's achievements under the guiding hand of the man who retired as of last Sunday is long and monumental. But none, perhaps, is more lasting or more creditable than the spirit of goodwill and cooperation that has been created and carefully fostered there.

And, retiring, Mr. Price has been careful to leave in capable hands the work to be done there. His successor is Mr. J. T. Parker, long his close friend, a man who has been his strong right arm in carrying on a progressive program of industry and life in the community.

Youth Fights Alcoholism

By MRS. WALTER FERGUSON

A few weeks ago at Buck Hill Falls, Pa., members and teachers-sponsors of the Allied Youth Conference met to report upon the affairs of their organization, composed of high school students and founded some years ago by Dr. Daniel Poling.

The conference concerns itself with the social and moral problems of young people. It specializes in an educational program designed to teach the dangers of alcoholism.

These teen-agers are banded together to make social drinking un-fashionable. It is the only intelligent approach to the issue. Preaching and moralizing have failed; legal restraints are ineffectual.

The only course left us is to convince youngsters that their health and future success are endangered if they become habitual drinkers.

Surely the only sensible way to put that idea across is to persuade the majority to believe that it is neither cute nor smart to drink.

At this year's conference the group also heard Mrs. C. E. Swanbeck, of Huron Valley, Ohio, chairman of the American Home Department of the Federation of Women's Clubs, tell them that five million American women are prepared to support them in their efforts.

Groups of homemakers and teen-agers, aided by Alcoholics Anonymous, make a formidable army which could become a potent force for temperance in the nation.

There were religious overtones to the conference. Americans are becoming increasingly aware of efforts which lack spiritual significance.

Older men and women cannot improve conditions without the cooperation of young people. We must bridge the chasm which separates the thinking of two generations—for together we face tremendous perils.

Alcoholism is one of them. It is an enemy to life, health and morals. All high school students must be convinced of that if we are ever to be a temperate people.

Do you know there is an Allied Youth Post in the Prestonsburg high school? And that Mrs. Elizabeth Gobie and Kathleen Meade attended the above mentioned conference last November?

If parents are concerned about the drinking habits of their teen-agers, they should urge them to join this forward looking organization.

Why Get Chest X-Rays—

Tuberculosis is a communicable disease which strikes without warning and rarely is its presence known to its victims before the disease reaches an advanced stage and grave damage is done.

Any one of us can get tuberculosis. And anyone can keep a check on the health of his lungs without waiting for the obvious symptoms of advanced TB. For signs of tuberculosis can be detected in an early stage by means of the chest X-ray. The X-ray is a first step in searching out the disease. Once X-ray shows suspicion of illness, additional tests should be made to determine if the person has active tuberculosis.

Since the X-ray does have this power, it seems strange that so many people neglect getting an annual chest X-ray, a practice that would give a person his best chance of finding TB, should it strike, in an early stage.

Some who neglect chest X-rays do it through procrastination. People keep putting them off because they have "more important" things to do. Yet these things would have to go undone if ill health intervened. A few moments before the X-ray machine once a year may prove to be the "stitch in time."

Another type of person gambles on his outwardly healthy appearance. A person may know a number of people who have been stricken with tuberculosis and yet feel "it can't happen to me, I'm too healthy." Tuberculosis can happen to anyone, healthy or frail. As a matter of fact, many people look and feel healthy when TB first attacks—until the disease becomes advanced.

A third type of person might neglect X-rays because he thinks tuberculosis is inherited and he has "never heard of TB in the family." No one inherits TB. It is passed on by people who have the disease to those who are well.

Some won't bother with X-rays because they think tuberculosis is incurable. Such people feel that it wouldn't do any good if TB were found, and what they don't know won't hurt them. But tuberculosis can be cured even in advanced stages, although the disease is easier to cure when found in an early stage.

If every unknown case of tuberculosis were found and placed under treatment, we could eventually stamp out tuberculosis in this country. And these cases of tuberculosis would be found if every adult 15 years of age and over formed the habit of getting an annual chest X-ray.

three new floor-type urinals for this restroom; main floors of courthouse swept daily and a strong disinfectant applied to mop water at least twice a week.

Jail improvements recommended included: Handles and valves for lavatories and shower faucets; cleaning daily of commodes and lavatories; mopping of restroom floors with a strong disinfectant twice a week; tight-fitting lids for all garbage cans; repair of wiring outlets; hot water plumbing connections for all lavatories; pillows destroyed, and if any are to be used to be replaced by foam-rubber pillows, or covers provided for feather pillows; at least 20 new mattresses and washable mattress covers provided; replacement of gas heaters in the cell heaters, for hot water radiators.

Recommendations for the jail kitchen were: Plastic trays and cups instead of tin pans and cups for prisoners; a three-compartment sink instead of the present sink of two compartments; a water-impervious covering such as linoleum for the cabinet around the sink; patching of kitchen walls and ceiling, also repainting work; replacement of the kitchen rug with asphalt tile; replacement of the present two cook-stoves with one large hotel range.

When the Kentucky Bookmobile Project was organized several months ago most Kentuckians probably thought the idea of traveling libraries was fairly new in the state, but a University of Kentucky librarian claims otherwise.

Mrs. Frances Dugan, of the UK library's Department of Archives and Special Collections, has discovered that a Kentuckian proposed a plan similar to the Kentucky Bookmobile Project more than 120 years ago. This information came from a letter recently acquired by the Archives Department.

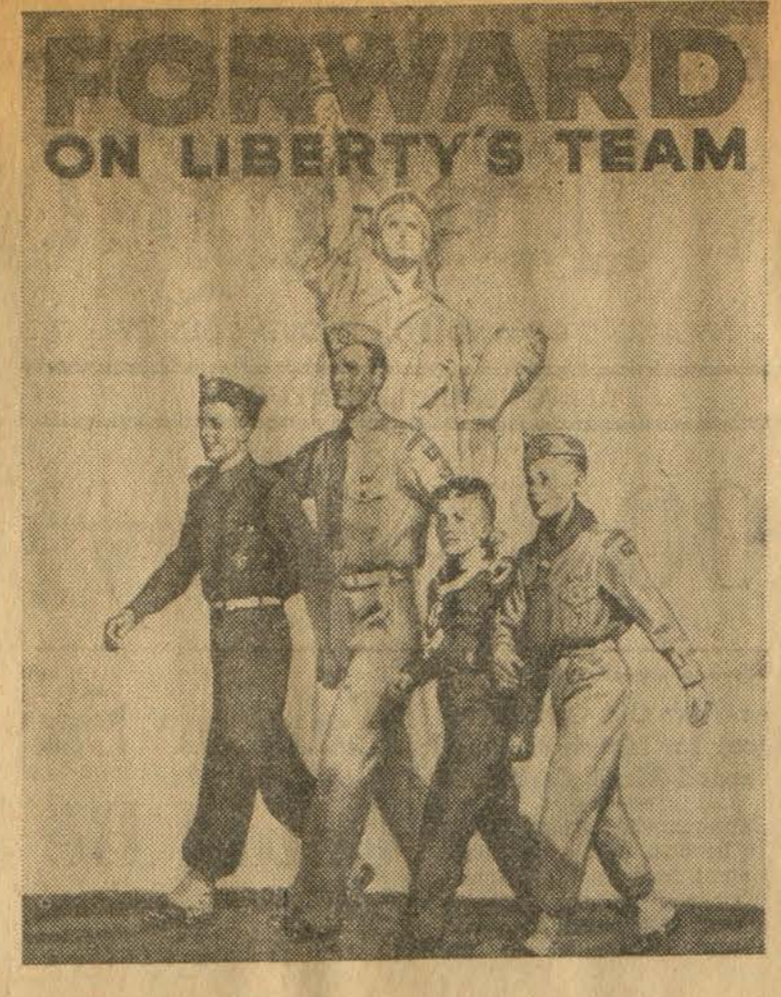

The Kentuckian "born 120 years too soon" was Benjamin Orrs Peers, a young educator-clergyman of Lexington, when he suggested in 1831 that books be circulated in all communities of the state. According to the letter, he appealed to both the state legislature and Eastern philanthropists to accept his idea.

Under Peers' proposed plan, there would have been ample funds "to pay for the transportation and final distribution of books by agents." The proposal continued:

"Supposing the average cost of the books in New York to be 30 cents a volume, an advance of three and one-third cents would import and circulate the books in any given neighborhood."

Peers described his project as a "scheme embracing the nation and its posterity in its influences." In another section of the letter he declared that "a good teacher can get anywhere in this county $16 to $20 a year tuition." He added that "there is pecuniary inducement for young men to qualify themselves for becoming teachers."

In reading the letter, one gets the feeling that Peers would approve of the modern trend to provide the public with classics in cheap editions. He contended that the best method of improving "popular intelligence" was the "publication and circulation of cheap books."

Floyd County Historical Notes

By HENRY P. SCALF

Sometime early in the year 1821 five men of Eastern Kentucky were notified that by an act of the General Assembly of Kentucky, they were appointed commissioners to meet on the North Fork of Kentucky River and select a site for the permanent seat of justice of the newly formed county of Perry. Two of these men were Floyd countians—Henry B. Mayo and Harry Stratton. The other three were Hugh White and Daniel Garrard of Clay county, and Hezekiah Bronson of Harlan. Stratton lived near the mouth of Tom's Creek, at the present Ivel, and Mayo lived in Prestonsburg. The two were Floyd county justices of the peace.

Thus begins the story of a county ably told in a book written and published by the Hazard (Kentucky) Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. It required considerable research on the part of the group but when completed the book was acknowledged, by men like Thomas D. Clark, University of Kentucky, to be a fine contribution to Eastern Kentucky history. Clark says: "This is the story of one of the most colorful communities in the Appalachian mountains." Right, he is, indeed.

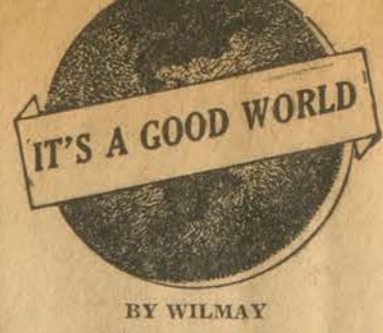

"Perry County, Kentucky—a History" is full of the romance and legend of men who built a civilized community in the heart of a landlocked wilderness.

Stratton and Mayo met on the fourth Monday in April, 1821, with the other commissioners at the home of Elijah Combs on the North Fork, now the present site of Hazard. They were in the center of a vast isolated semi-wilderness empire that stretched from the upper reaches of the Appalachians southward across mountainous terrain to where the highlands began a gentle slope to the sea and the Gulf. East of them, back through steep escarpments and canyons, through a jumble of terrible hills, was Virginia. In all of this vast transmontane country, the area that was to become Perry county, was the most isolated, the most difficult of access or egress. Even after the section became a county it remained the same for nearly a century.

The first settlers of what is now Perry were staunch, aggressive and determined. That had to be to survive in the new country. There were the Combes, Eversoles, Cornetts, Smiths, Lusks and Isons. There was a knight of England—Sir William Francis Patrick Napier who, born in Ireland in 1785, and after tarrying awhile in Virginia, plunged into the wilderness of Eastern Kentucky and built a home. The Napiers of Eastern Kentucky counties are descendants of this old knight who died in 1866.

No family did more to people a county than the Combes. Nicholas (Danger) Combs and his brother, John Combs, brought their large families to a tributary of the Kentucky River. John had eight sons and in Perry they were known as The Nine. Mason, the oldest, reared a large family. He named several of his sons for generals—Washington, Tarleton, Bonaparte and Preston. Henry Harrison Combs settled, in later years, in Old Big Bottom, now East Hazard. He was a pioneer river man and his flatboats ran from the mouth of Troublesome to as far away as New Orleans. Jesse Combs was one of the three Sworn Chain Carriers who made the first survey of Hazard. The history of Perry for a long time is largely a history of the Combs family.

Jacob Eversole settled in Perry sometime in the last decade of the eighteenth century. He built a large two story log house that stands today, the oldest in the county. We know that the Cornetts were early settlers for records of William Cor-

We hope everyone read the superb article, on Big Sandy by Mr. Scalf, who is rendering a real service. He showed in a nutshell what is wrong here, as many have been doing all along.

Years ago, less than a dozen of the outstanding leaders in the county organized the Floyd County Club. Its major aim was to promote progress and attract industries. Bishop Darlington was brought from Huntington as the first paid lecturer in the county, many said. A blueprint for detailed plans to put the county on the map was made.

When regular meetings were held, less than 30 persons responded—30 out of thousands! At that time no one had ever heard of the committee for Kentucky, which was not yet in existence. Later, when it was established it did not get even a nibble from this county, though it tried to interest us in moving forward, as many counties did then. Minutes of the Floyd County Club are still intact. These reveal scores of excellent ideas which the Committee for Kentucky itself used elsewhere, for great minds run in the same channels. The fine young men heading the Floyd County Club had the ability and foresight to go places. Three of its main leaders are doing just that today in other counties. The livewire young man who was president is now teaching in a big college that would have located in Floyd in 1922, had ENOUGH citizens here cooperated.

Just as the club stood on the threshold of accomplishment it died from one stroke of Political Pressure, which means some here did not want progress. It failed from the powers that be. When that occurs any movement goes into a tail-spin. Club leaders were blameless, and unsurpassed in vision.

Had their suggestions been followed, Floyd would have been a model for the rest of the state. It would have been FIRST, as an example of inspiration. The county is an example of another kind today, standing in the halls of government, pleading for help, as Mr. Scalf wrote.

Having had charge of the county relief office for a while during the depression, we share the heartaches many now have. At times then our caseload was the heaviest in the state, always high.

What have we done in the meantime to make the county one of diversified industries? How many of us now are willing to donate one pay day to bring a second factory into the county, to be located centrally? Our posterity will find a more prosperous county if we do this, while letting Prestonsburg place one there. Need we expect outsiders to do these things if we ourselves do not manifest sufficient interest to do our part?

We agree with the editor about waiting for a firm that employs more than 75. We agree with the leader who said the county needs firms that employ men more than those using women. We agree with those who say some prejudices must go if we get much help anywhere.

A man from one state opened a business in Floyd. He said in a few months he and family were "lawed" on every hand, and had never been before. There was enough business for him and competitors. Incidentally, the competitors who welcomed him, helped him, worked with him, are still going strong. Some others have folded up, or might as well.

Recently one eminent man in the state wrote that mountain ideology is nothing except isolation. The hills developed an attitude of suspicion and distrust of outsiders, because of unpleasant experiences with a few. It has been a sad and costly process, especially since many in the hills were the victims of mistreatment from some of their own people, as is often apparent in law suits described in our paper. The truth is, there are good people everywhere, and more good than bad. There always have been and always will be. But today we are caught by this old attitude. We need the outsiders now, and most of them are aware of mountain philosophy that many entertain. Plenty do not feel this way.

Clannishness is decreasing, but the section is still hidebound by its own mistakes that can yet be remedied. If we can get the type of leadership and organization behind the industrial program that characterized the fight for the Minimum Foundation Program, we shall arrive at the desired goals quickly.

At least their method of honest appraisal and candid reporting is in use, and many more are interested than ever before. Community rallies are an ideal feature, but leaders are stymied when a mere handful appear.

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A cigar-smoking, baby-faced State representative from Floyd County who raises hogs and bird dogs at home, E. H. "Ted" Stumbo, has been known to raise Cain in the House when he gets mad.

But Stumbo rarely reaches a high pitch of anger, even in the Legislature; and then he classifies his emotional state as righteous indignation.

Now serving his second term as a representative, Stumbo caused a commotion during the 1952 session when he cut loose with an oratorical tirade against some of his fellow-members.

It was a memorable occasion, with the galleries jammed with proponents of the Prohibition cause, mostly women and a liberal sprinkling of ministers. They had come to hear the discussion of a bill that would further limit the Kentucky areas enjoyed by the wets.

Playing obviously to the galleries, a parade of representatives took the floor and sanctimoniously praised the virtues of the bill and the dry cause in general. Some of the speakers were not particularly famous for their sobriety.

All this time, Stumbo sat and fidgeted, getting a little madder with each pious outburst. Finally, when he could stand it no longer, he took the floor, addressed his remarks to the galleries and shouted "Three fourths of these speakers who are telling you how much they hate liquor and how much they love the cause of Prohibition have been drunk nearly all the time they have been in Frankfort."

Then he pointed out certain members, called them by name, and asked them to explain where they were the night before. No answers.

Stumbo explained that he was neither a wet nor a dry.

Proud to be called a mountaineer, Stumbo operates a general store and a small farm at the little town of Harold, on the Mayo Trail near the Floyd-Pike county line.

Personable and usually quiet-spoken, Stumbo claims to be the only member of the Legislature who ever was a prisoner of war. And he didn't like it very much, either.

As a result of his service in World War II, Stumbo is entitled to wear the Purple Heart and the Air Medal, which he won when the B-17 in which he was the radio operator was shot down in Germany. That happened on February 3, 1945, a date he is not likely to forget.

Within a few minutes after his crippled plane came to a halt in an open field near an air base in North Germany, the eight-man crew was taken prisoner by enemy soldiers, who locked them up in a one-room jail. Stumbo said he was a bit scared at first, but began to feel a lot better the next morning when he heard a German soldier outside singing "It's A Long Way to Tipperary" in English.

Stumbo was not mistreated by his captors, he recalls, but he didn't fare so well at the hands of German civilians as his crew was being transferred from place to place. And his greatest danger was from strafing and bombing by American planes.

After three months in various German P.O.W. centers, Stumbo and his seven companions were released by General George Patton's Third Army. He was mustered out of the service in October, 1945, and hightailed back to the Big Sandy Valley, where there were no strutting, monaced German officers. He had seen enough of them to last him a lifetime.

Having attended four colleges without quite earning a degree, the young gentleman from Floyd—he is only 31—still hopes to become a lawyer eventually. He had just completed a semester at the University of Kentucky after his war service when he had to quit because of his father's death. Before the war, he attended Pikeville and Lees Junior Colleges and Morehead State.

He hopped around from college to college, he said, because he enjoyed "just roving around." But after roving around in Germany as a prisoner, he is willing to settle down. Legislative pyrotechnics, he finds, are less likely to be fatal than bullets and bombs in a hostile land.

Like so many of his neighbors, Stumbo is a member of a pioneer family. His forebears, who spelled their name Stambaugh, settled in what is now Floyd county so long ago that they had to fight off the Indians. They came to Kentucky from Pennsylvania.

Although he had opposition in primary and general elections both terms he ran for the legislature, Stumbo didn't have to work too hard to be elected. In fact, he made no speeches at all, but did a lot of handshaking.

Right now, he is interested in "getting the old-age lien law repealed." His other main objective this session is "to have the Public Service Commission hold its hearings in the places where the squawks come from."

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 1 — The game of college football has a very long and glorious history during which time those in charge of rules making have introduced a good many innovations that have improved the way the game is played.

While many of us in the coaching profession cannot always agree with the merits of these changes, we like to think that the faults of some proposals are outweighed by the contribution they make to the enjoyment of football by the fans.

This desire to make the sport more attractive to the spectators leads me to suggest a few minor alterations in the game that have been in the back of my mind for some time. Briefly, I would like to see the "elimination" of the half-time, the moving of the goal posts cross bar up to the goal line, a change in the method of scoring for points after touchdown, and an overtime period to eliminate tie games.

The tie game business is never satisfying to either side or the fans. I would prefer to see the game go into "suddendeadth" overtime in which the first team to score would be declared the winner.

In regards to elimination of the half-time, my thought is not that the players go without rest but rather that the third period start in much the same way as the other quarters—that is elimination of the kickoff which only starts the game over instead of allowing the teams to progress from the point they had reached at half-time. My suggestion on moving up the goal posts is based on the belief that it would promote a more extensive use of the crowd-pleasing field goal attempt.

Lastly, I figure that giving a point after touchdown the same value regardless of how it is scored is unfair and that greater values placed on different methods of making this extra point would make the game more interesting and spectacular. My plan would give one point for a PAT scored by kicking from the five yard line, two points for the more difficult feat of completing a pass over the goal line, and three points for running the five yards with the ball.

FARM NOTES

By O. E. BOGGS, County Agent

The poultry situation is such that we can well afford to give it serious attention during the next few months. Storage stocks are not great, the feed situation both as to supply and price is favorable and egg prices, while they may be slightly lower than last year, are expected to be favorable.

As you know, we must produce eggs from June to January and take advantage of rising prices and the demand for good eggs if we are to make the most from our laying flock, since most, if not all, of our present layers will be marketed before June, we must get our eggs from then on from pullets. These pullets should be in the brooder house just as soon as we can possibly get them in. Figure on seven months to get the pullets raised and in production to where they will be returning a good profit; so you see the need for buying your chicks early.

There are several reasons for buying your chicks early. I believe you will agree that you have more time to care for them early than you will when plowing and planting time comes. Chicks grow well during the cold weather, they are less likely to come down with coccidiosis, they will be able to use pasture when it is young and tender and thereby enables you to grow them cheaper; but best of all, they will produce those late-summer and fall eggs that bring the best price.

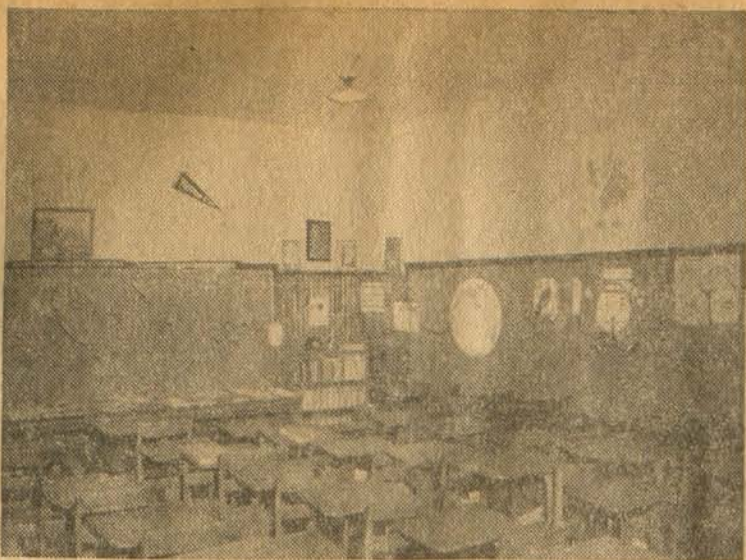

A few decisions should be made at once if we are to get our chicks when we want them. We must decide how many we want, the breed wanted, whether to buy sexed pullets or straight run, and where we are to get them. Then we should get our order to the hatchery right away. Remember, "cheap chicks don't cheap long," we must expect to pay a reasonable price to get a high quality livable chick. It is a good idea to buy as near home as you can. If you can sell your cockerels as fryers to good advantage, straight run will be cheaper. However, if the cockerels cannot be sold readily, it will be better to buy sexed pullets. Be sure to specify that you want a laying strain when ordering, otherwise, you may get the broiler strain that will not lay so well.

The brooder house should be clean and dry with six or more inches of litter on the floor.

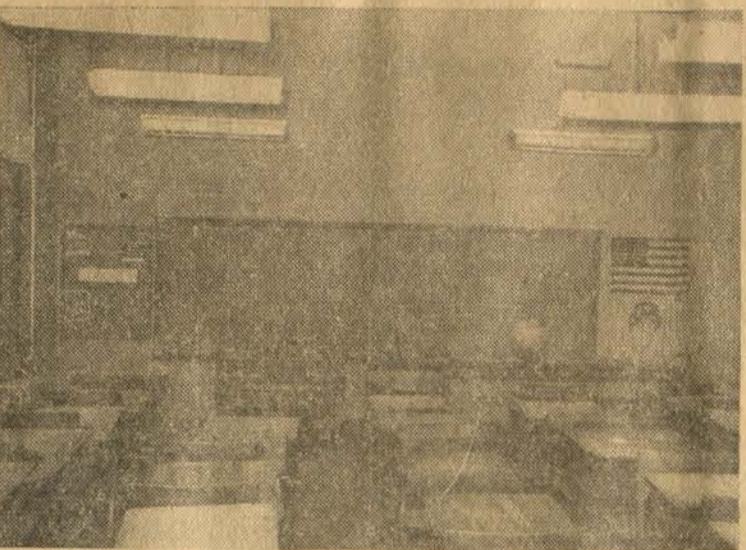

The number of horses on American farms were reduced from 25 million in 1919 to around 5½ million in 1953.

MODEL WRIGHT SCHOOLROOM MAY INSPIRE WIDER CHANGES

An ordinary classroom in the Wheelwright school before remodeling.

The same classroom after remodeling by community cooperation.

Transformation of an ordinary classroom into a model room has been achieved in the Wheelwright school, and the school and community are anxious that not only residents of that vicinity but other parts of the county see it as a possible stimulant to the local initiative that might make big changes in other schools.

At Wheelwright the result achieved has pointed up the needs in other rooms of the school so vividly that school and civic leaders have enlisted the aid of the Floyd County Board of Education in similar work there on a wider scale.

Open house will be held at the school Saturday afternoon from 2 till 4:30 and Saturday night from 8:30 till 9, so that the model room may be inspected.

A "home away from home" was the ideal sought when the Parent-Teacher Association began work on the room. In making the improvement the P-T-A. received generous support, particularly in free labor. All materials used were purchased by the Association at a total cost of around $375. These improvements were made:

Fluorescent lighting installed, giving the model room from seven to eight times the light in other rooms of the school; the walls and woodwork painted with a soft green, the ceiling painted white; chalk boards painted with non-glare green; coat closets remodeled and made more practical; a seven-foot bookcase and cork bulletin board added; electric outlets installed for operation of a record player or other electrical equipment; the floor covered with inlaid linoleum from wall to wall.

The Parent-Teacher Association hopes Saturday's open house will so point up by comparison the needs of other rooms that volunteer labor and funds will be forthcoming from citizens of the community. Several members of Wheelwright civic groups already have indicated keen interest and have expressed a desire that their clubs undertake certain phases of improvement in the school.

would start off by employing 25 women on each of three daily shifts.

To encourage financial support by local interests, Burl Sparlock, executive vice-president of the First National Bank, told Monday night's gathering his bank would loan money at a rate of interest less than the legal rate for the purpose of subscribing to the proposed fund. The loan would be made over a period of five years. In turn, those investing in stock of the holding company to provide the fund for buying a plant site and erecting a building would be guaranteed their share of rent from the company which would pay back the amount invested in 20 years, plus 3 per cent interest.

The proposed building would have 27,000 square feet of floor space and would be of concrete block construction with brick veneer and built-up roof. It would include an air-conditioned cafeteria and office. Equipment the Dura Company proposes to install is valued at $565,000, it was said.

Although the circuit courtroom was packed to the standing-room-only limit for this week's meeting, there actually were no more than 50 business men present. The others were persons from a sizeable area understood a factory representative would be present to sign up men to work.

"You think you know about conditions and the need for work, but you don't till you see the need in men's faces," Mayor Clark commented after talking with those whose hope of employment had brought them here.

Mr. Clark presided at the meeting, and talks were made on the question at issue by Marvin Music, Dr. George P. Archer, Homer Wright and Joe Hobson.

Discussing facilities for a possible garment factory here, Mr. Hobson told the group the second and third floors of the I. Richmond Company building here could be made available if such a business could be attracted to Prestonsburg. This would supply 18,000 square feet of floor space, it was said.

Mayor Clark named a committee composed of Burl Sparlock, Dr. J. H. Simpson, Edward Music, D. S. Nessler and Homer Wright to continue the fund-raising drive.

Working with local interests in their drive for new industry are the Kentucky & West Virginia Power Company and the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company.

anything. An experimental population study of the impoundment has been set up at an estimated cost of between $10,000 and $11,000. Ellis Carter, who will make the study, May through September, was present at Monday night's meeting.

Dewey Lake is not suited to either walleye or smallmouth bass, Carter said. The Department recently announced plans to stock the lake with white bass. This has not yet been done, and now some doubt has arisen as to advisability of the move. Asked what effect the addition of this fast-multiplying species might have on other bass, if the food supply is not too adequate, Carter said, "If you had had white bass the last two years you would be hurting."

He explained that the heavy crappie population is yet on the small side simply because the fish are not old enough yet to attain good size. Crappie grow more slowly than bass. He added that he expects Dewey to be a good crappie lake.

Assuring the sportsmen of the state's interest in the lake and of its intention to continue its studies from year to year, Mr. Carter said, "If we find the situation not as it should be, we will take the necessary measures. But we would prefer not to take any step until we know the whole story."

EXTENSION COURSES PLANNED

A college representative will be at Martin high school next Monday night, Feb. 8, at 6:30 for the purpose of organizing extension classes. Also plans are being formulated for extension classes here during the summer.

'Living Endowment' Plan To Establish Four-Year College at Pikeville

Pikeville, Ky., Feb. 3 (Sp.)—Dr. A. A. Page, president of Pikeville Junior College, announced today that the halfway mark has been passed in the "living endowment" drive, aimed at establishing a four-year college at Pikeville. Pledges of annual contributions totaling just over $750,000, which if paid regularly will take the place of more than $250,000 of invested endowment, have been received from 192 interested persons, the announcement stated.

"If we are to look forward to expanding Pikeville College to a four-year school, we must raise a 'living endowment' of at least $500,000, and preferably $750,000," Dr. Page said. "Our goal will be easy to reach if those who would make a gift for this purpose, no matter how large or small, will do so, and then repeat it every year. Contributions totaling from fifteen to twenty-two thousand dollars annually will do the job."

The drive, launched November 1, was directed first at alumni of the school. It was later broadened to include all citizens of this area and all friends of the college, Dr. Page said. Its basic idea is that an investment of $100, paying about three dollars each year in dividends or interest, can be replaced by an interested individual who will give the school the three dollars per year.

The pledges, ranging in amount from $1 to $200, have come from alumni of the college, local business firms, and other interested persons in various parts of the country. They have been received from points as far away as California and Arizona.

County Rifle Matches Set At Allen, Saturday; Baldrige, Jr. Supervisor

Bernard Baldrige, who was recently appointed Junior Club supervisor of Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Magoffin and Lawrence counties, announced this week that he has organized 38 Junior Conservation Clubs, and from time to time more clubs will be added.

Of the 38 clubs organized, 37 have had rifle contests to determine the best marksmen in the schools represented. The Floyd county match will be held Saturday, Feb. 6, at the Allen golf course, with the district match to be held in April.

Mr. Baldrige is also planning a written examination to be given before the end of the present school term, the boy making the highest grade in each county will be given a free trip to Camp Earl Wallace this summer.

Some of the clubs are again this year taking part in planting wild-life food plots. These plots consist of bi-color lespedeza, japonica and multi-flora rose, which is mostly quail food. The Floyd county Fish & Game Club is offering the Junior Clubs in Floyd county a $100.00 cash award for the best plot planted.

State Bankers Group Forms Forestry Committee

Formation of a state-wide Forestry Committee was announced last week by Walter A. Cole, chairman, Agricultural Committee, Kentucky Bankers Association, and Executive Vice-President, the Lincoln National Bank, Hodgenville. The members of the new committee are: W. E. Blackburn, vice-president, First National Bank, Pikeville; Jack Strothger, vice-president, The Commercial Bank of Grayson; Russell Hays, assistant cashier, Jackson County Bank, McKee; Ray Brownfield, agricultural representative, Bank of Murray, Murray; L. Felix Murray, cashier, Hart County Deposit Bank, Mumfordsville.

They will concern themselves with two main objectives: first, keeping in close touch with educational, research, and industrial organizations working in forestry in Kentucky; secondly, recommending to the KBA Agricultural Committee ways and means by which the bankers of Kentucky may more effectively advance the forestry program of the state.

In making the announcement Chairman Cole observed, "With each passing year forestry is becoming more and more important to the welfare of Kentucky. People are recognizing the place of trees in the wise and efficient use of land, and the value of timber is increasing in the economic life of our people, especially in those areas where the coal industry has been important."

Noting Kentucky's 11.4 million acres of forest, he declared, "This is almost one half of the state's entire land area. Proper management can increase the growth of approximately 100 board feet per acre to 300 board feet per acre. Dollar-wise, success with these efforts could mean raising forest yields of $37 million to a figure nearer $150 million annually."

The kitchen in the palace designed for King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia takes up slightly less than half the area of a football field.

HUSBAND-WIFE TEAM SWEEPS 1953 FLOYD FISHING CONTEST HONORS IN BASS DEPARTMENT

Floyd county's fishiest couple, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Goble, of Prestonsburg, won both first prizes in the bass division of the 1953 Floyd County Fish & Game Club fishing contest, and to make it a stronger family affair Mrs. L. G. Mayo, of Auxier, a sister of Mrs. Goble, won top award in the crappie division.

Only other first-prize winner in the contest was Junior O'Bryan, of Hunter, whose catch of a 28-inch, 10-pound, 8-ounce carp last May 1 earned him a wall plaque.

The contest winners were announced Monday evening at the monthly meeting at Maytown of the fish and game club.

The Gobles, each, received a Shakespeare "President" reel. Mrs. Goble won on her catch last May 2 of a 21 1/2-inch largemouth bass on a darter lure; Mr. Goble, by luring a 21-inch smallmouth to a fly-rod popper, April 30. The largemouth winner weighed 5 1/2 pounds; the smallmouth, 5 pounds, four ounces.

Mrs. Mayo won in the crappie division with her catch of a 15 1/2-inch fish last May 5. Her prize was a Shakespeare "Sportscast" reel.

All fish of prize-winning calibre were caught in Dewey Lake. The walleye division was the 20 1/2-inch landed April 29 by Fred Wells, of Lancer, with an Old Skipper flyrod bait. Other large entries were in the crappie division: one measuring 15 1/2 inches, caught by Russell E. Horn, West Prestonsburg, and another half an inch shorter, caught by Steve H. Stout, of Martin.

Length of fish entered determined the winners.

WSAZ-TV Gets Permit To Erect 1107 ft. Tower

WSAZ-TV, Huntington, has been granted a construction permit by the Federal Communication Commission for a 1,107-foot antenna tower, General Manager Lawrence H. Rogers said recently. It would be the second tallest man-made structure in the world, exceeded only by the Empire State Building in New York.

Mr. Rogers said construction would not begin until after WSAZ-TV obtained data on possible future FCC policy regarding the radiated power permitted from such high antennas. The limit now is 50,000 watts on towers which stand more than 1,000 feet above the surrounding general terrain.

WSAZ-TV now employs 100,000 watts on a much smaller antenna on Eighth Street Hill.

7,991 Boy Scouts have won awards for high standards of religious service.

Massie Company Turns From Coal Purchaser To Coal Producing

When the A. T. Massie Company, Richmond, Va., coal buyers, began the development of a multiple-million dollar coal operation in Fayette county, West Virginia, recently, sources close to the coal industry in Big Sandy viewed it as just another of the many depressive factors on the market here. Massie has been one of the largest buyers of Big Sandy coal and was, just after the war, bidding heavily for it.

Massie is ploughing 4½ million dollars into three mines presently being developed in a virtually untapped field of high-grade Sewell and Fire Creek coal. The field is located on headwaters of Manns and Glade Creek in Fayette county.

Said Massie's Superintendent Gene Potter, apparently taking note of cutbacks and curtailments in many of the soft-coal areas: "Either we're crazy or the rest of the industry is crazy, but we're going ahead just the same."

In addition to Massie's multi-million-dollar spurge, the New York Central and Chesapeake & Ohio railroads are picking up a $4,000,000 tab on an 18½ mile rail extension to the new field.

Present plans call for the mining of 3,000 tons of coal a day from the Fire Creek seam and 1,000 from the Sewell. The Cliffport preparation plant is scheduled to go into operation next August.

Massie now owns known coal reserves totaling 75,000,000 tons. It is probable that other mines will spring up along the rail area in coming years, observers in the mining industry believe.

Tackett, in his correspondence with the Attorney General's office, showed considerable exasperation at the legal snarl he found himself in: "I am 58 years of age, been practicing law for over 40 years, have held the offices of County Attorney and State Senator, and am proud to have two sons as members of the Kentucky bar and I would appreciate your earnest cooperation in having this troublesome question presented to the Court of Appeals for the future benefit of my brethren of the bar who may be so unfortunate as to find themselves in a predicament similar to mine." Tackett, in his appeal, asks that the law on the question be certified.

Burnis Martin, Commonwealth's Attorney, said this is the first instance in the history of Kentucky jurisprudence that the burden of appeal costs has been thrown on the Commonwealth's Attorney. "That is why there is no precedent in this case," he added.

new Mayo Addition to Prestonsburg be included in the city school system was accepted by the county board.

The board advised representatives of Wheelwright civic and school groups it would cooperate with their schoolroom improvement program on an experimental basis by bearing a part of the cost. One of the worst rooms in the school there has been converted into a model room, entirely at local expense, and the Wheelwright delegation asked help from the board in extending the work to other rooms. The board stressed the fact it could not give such aid as a matter of countywide policy, for financial reasons, but would help on the experiment to show other communities what can be done with proper local initiative.

It was estimated by the delegation that cost of improvements there range from $3,500 to $5,000. The board will contribute between $1,000 to $1,200 of this total.

NEW EVIDENCE IN PIKE CASE

False, Witness Admits;
Conway Killing Charge
Withdrawn in Pike Court

Millard Kinney admitted in Pike Quarterly Court yesterday that his affidavit was false, charging L. D. Maynard had stated he killed Sheriff Roy Conway. He also admitted he had been at one time a patient in a mental institution.

The ambush slaying of Sheriff Roy Conway on July 28, 1950, a case believed closed more than two years ago with the conviction of two half brothers, was reopened Tuesday.

Here are the principal points in the maze of new legal entanglements surrounding the case:

1. L. D. Maynard, brother of a Pikeville policeman, was charged with the Conway slaying in a warrant sworn out by Millard Kinney.

2. Kinney was charged with false statements in a warrant sworn out by Maynard.

3. Hubert and Tommy Vanover, serving life terms in the state penitentiary at Eddyville, have requested a writ of habeas corpus for their release and a new trial.

The Vanovers made the request before Circuit Judge Jean Auxier last Saturday on the ground that there was new evidence. Judge Auxier continued the case.

Kinney obtained his warrant naming Maynard as the slayer of Sheriff Conway from County Judge Erwin Pruitt. In it, he said Maynard had told him in Detroit that he had killed the sheriff.

Maynard was arrested, but later released on $5,000 bond. An examining trial for him was scheduled before Judge Pruitt today.

In turn, Maynard swore out a warrant for Kinney. In it he said he had not seen Kinney since 1941 and could not have made the statement attributed to him.

Sheriff Conway was lured from his home by an anonymous telephone call shortly before he was shot.

Police said he had raided a tourist home operated by the Vanover brothers at Rocky Gap, 10 miles south of here, a short time earlier.

The Vanovers were arrested the next day and charged with murder. They were convicted. The conviction was upheld by the Court of Appeals.

Mother's March Yields
$650 for March of Dimes

The Mother's March in Prestonsburg Friday evening, netted approximately $650 in contributions to the March of Dimes drive, Ray Howard, local drive chairman, said this week. In addition to others soliciting contributions in the March were 30 Kiwanians.

The record polo fund drive here totalled approximately $1,180, and it is thought local contributions will equal or exceed that figure this year. No report is available on the status of the county-wide drive at this time, but unconfirmed reports say the result is satisfactory. Jesse Elliott, county drive chairman, is expected to have the contribution figures for the various communities compiled in a few days.

fair weather. He said the cold and snow had executed a flanking movement and had gone to the north of Kentucky. Nothing to worry about; let the groundhog see his shadow, all will be well, said he.

PASSING THE BUCK
A member of the General Assembly—not one of our own, thank Goodness!—proposes that the question of a sales tax be submitted to the people for a vote. That is one way of dodging an issue; if it might be unpopular, and the legislators aren't certain which view is the more unpopular, let the people vote on it and spare the poor Senators and Representatives. But isn't that what they're elected for—to vote on bills? If every knotty question must be submitted to the folks back home, why have a General Assembly?

Several readers of this column have indicated I made the prize understatement of the year last week when, plugging Henry P. Seal's article, "Big Sandy — the Plundered Valley," I described it merely as "thoughtful." The general approval of the job was—to understate the matter again—gratifying.

HOAXED, 'GOSH!
George E. Allen, of Langley, has no objection whatsoever to the public knowing that he wasn't by himself in being hoaxed into discovering bear tracks recently on Turkey Creek. Says two other gentlemen, Bernard Baldrige and Mr. Fitzpatrick, district biologist, were also taken. We would advise a guy named Dudley to make certain he has every necessary credential handy, next time he goes fishing or hunting.

OFFICE HOURS INCREASED
Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 1 — State Department of Economic Security offices here are being kept open six days a week, instead of five, as a result of a new plan approved by the Bureau of Employment Security of the U. S. Department of Labor, which provides funds for the agency's operations. Commissioner of Economic Security Vego E. Barnes said the lengthened work week was brought about by an increased-claims load, with 150 per cent more claims being handled than in January 1952, while the working force since July has been pared by 92 persons.

by Police Chief Epp Laferty, of Prestonsburg, and FBI Agent Harry C. Campbell; Jack Richmond Centers, jailed by Deputy Sheriffs Amos Gray and W. J. Sloan; Irvin Shepherd, arrested by Mr. Campbell, and Oscar Melbourn, who was jailed by Policeman Frank Crum, of Allen, and Deputy Sheriff Kenis Hall.

Four men were jailed on drunk driving charges. They are: T. J. Duncan, of South Carolina, Hage Dutton, Clark Vanover, and James Leonard Carr. Carr, it was said, was chased by Deputy Sheriff Gray from a point near Allen to Lawrence county before being overtaken.

Cecil Bartram was returned here Monday from Greenup county by Deputy Sheriffs Willie Johnson and J. M. Hall to answer a child desertion charge. Donald Stone was jailed Wednesday by Officers Crum and Hall and was booked for breaking and entering.

MOST 'MUST' LEGISLATION ENACTED BY LEGISLATURE

By TOM SMITH

The 1954 Kentucky General Assembly has completed just more than one-third of its tenure with most of the administration's "must" legislation out of the way. This clears the way for specific legislative proposals sought by various segments of the Commonwealth.

Due to introduction, probably this week, is the right to work proposal which has drawn the fire of organized labor leaders and sent a sizeable labor lobby to Frankfort. But these labor leaders now find themselves on the defensive in another matter proposed by Senator Joe Grace of Paducah.

Senator Grace hopes to clip International Union leaders' wings by providing autonomy for local unions and restricting the power in international unions over locals. He believes such a law would help inter-union troubles which have plagued the Paducah area since construction of the atomic energy plant started.

Meantime the labor lobby in Frankfort has been busy with promoting passage of an amendment to the common carrier act which would allow a truck driver to decide for himself whether he would cross a picket line in making deliveries. This was approved by the House 70 to 15.

Representative William Jones, of Princeton, expects comparatively smooth legislative sailing for the dog control bill which he has introduced. He said the measure, combined anti-rabies dog licensing and control bill, had been worked out by the several groups interested, including the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the State Health and Agriculture Departments, farmer and sheep raisers' organizations.

Dairymen also are asking the legislators to authorize referendums to determine whether milk producers want to establish a commission to promote the sale of dairy products.

Administration pressures exerted in passage of both the income tax and the cigarette tax increase appeared again last week in the Senate's 22 to 14 vote on the strip mining bill. Senator Doug Hays, Democrat, of Floyd county, termed it the strongest he had ever seen. Senator Hays was strenuously opposed to the measure.

The bill, designed to regulate and license strip mining operations, is due for a final House vote before mid-week.

A bill to put approximately half of Kentucky on Eastern Standard Time and retain Central Standard Time for the other half is in for a bitter fight. The Kentucky Farm Bureau has announced that it considers this proposal just as objectionable as daylight saving time which it has fought through a number of legislative sessions. Senator Ed P. Warriner, of Albany, said of the proposal: "It just shifts the confusion."

Still on the legislative horizon as one of the most controversial issues of the session is a proposal which would allow an increase in truck load limits to 56,000 pounds. Railroad people expect to fight this strenuously despite an apparent lack of opposition to a bill which would force out-of-state truckers to pay Kentucky gasoline taxes when they use Kentucky roads.

A public hearing has been called for February 3 on a proposed constitutional amendment which would reduce the voting age in Kentucky to 18. This hearing is scheduled for the Senate chamber.

Other proposals talked in Frankfort include a minimum wage bill and extension of unemployment compensation benefits for persons out-of-work due to strikes in which they are not involved.

Boy Scout Council participate in more than 1,700 Community Chests.

TIMES WANT ADS PAY TRY THEM TODAY!

By: ROGER TURNER

"Defeat is nothing but education. It is the step towards something better."

We definitely grow through adversity. If one has the capacity to absorb defeat, trials and tribulations, then, as a result, one becomes a more complete person with a sharper and clearer understanding of others and their troubles. Adversity is actually an experience which teaches us to tread more carefully in the future.

Life is but a book of experience and each joy and trouble is but a page in that book. One doesn't live a complete life until one overcomes the troubles and sorrows that confront us on the road to life. One does not know what is sweet until one tastes the bitter.

So live a full life... take every-thing in stride, whether it be pleasant or unpleasant, and be grateful to the good Lord that each day opens up a new page in this mysterious commodity, and book of knowledge, called LIFE.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

"A true Democracy cannot be maintained without a spiritual foundation," said Mrs. J. T. Spillman in a Spiritual Values program Christianity and Democracy, when she addressed members of the Lackey-Garrett Woman's Club, Thursday, January 28.

"If Christian principles had not had such a strong influence upon early Americans, our history might have been a far different story," she continued. Numerous objects were listed as a necessity if we are to maintain the security of our Nation; to continue freedom of religion, to develop character in individuals so that they can meet requirements of a citizen of a Democracy, and prepare for chaotic times ahead which may be brought about through propaganda and intrigue of a nation whose philosophy is based on anti-religious concepts.

Mrs. Spillman emphasized the fact that world order is not purely economic; that the family, the foundation, should serve as a means of rebuilding our moral order.

During a business session conducted by Mrs. C. B. Ison, it was decided to participate in an International Relations project for Greece—to provide such supplies as pencils, crayons, color books, soap, water colors, games and similar supplies for 5-12 year olds in a Trachoma Orphanage in Greece. Such supplies are to be brought to the meeting on February 11, with Mrs. O. J. Webb, hostess.

A salad course was served to fifteen members by Mesdames C. B. Ison and Ellen F. Hornsby.

J. EVERETT BACK BELIEVED FIRST BLIND STATE SENATOR

Special to The Times

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 1 — Kentucky has the first blind Senator that veteran observers here can recall. He is J. Everett Back, a Democrat, from Jackson.

Not within the memory of the most experienced legislative onlookers has the state had a blind senator until this session, though a number of blind persons have served in the House. The present session includes a blind piano-tuner, Rep. William A. Routh, Democrat, Middleboro. Senator Back himself was a member of the House in 1938, 1940 and 1952.

Back, 53, a native of Quicksand, Breathitt county, is the oldest of a family of nine children of Price and Lena Combs Back. He attended local public schools, Riverside Institute, Hazel Green Academy and Lee's Junior College.

During World War I he saw military service in the field artillery, from which he contracted injuries that later led to his gradually losing his eyesight. After World War I, he managed a baseball team at Beattyville and later served as book-keeper and claims agent for the now defunct O. & K. Railroad Company which ran from Jackson to Cannel City. Later he was an accountant in the claims department of the Peré Marquette Railway Company, Detroit, Mich., when his eyesight completely failed.

He returned to Breathitt county with his wife, the former Josephine Wheeler, now clerk of the United States district court at Jackson, and his two children. During World War II he was labor recruiter in Kentucky for a large canning concern, and provided more than 13,000 employees for the firm.

Back was nominated for senator in last year's Democratic primary over two opponents and won election without opposition. He served in the House from the Breathitt-Lee district in 1938, 1940 and 1952. Back and another blind representative, Carl Scheben, Newport, sponsored the Bach-Scheben Act for state aid to the newly blind in 1940, a program in effect now.

THE MOVE TO MODERN LIVING

See why the trend is growing to the 1954 Lincoln

The facts are simple: Lincoln is the one fine car whose sales have more than doubled in two short years.

There are good reasons why this trend keeps growing. The great new Lincoln for 1954 is the most dramatic edition of the car that started the big change in American motorists' ideas about fine cars.

Take, for instance, Lincoln's new styling—from the stunning new grille to the crisp, new rear deck and distinctive new taillights. It is a completely new design—akin to the ground-hugging, functional look found wherever the living is modern. Note, too, how well

Lincoln's new colors and fabrics go with Lincoln's new styling; dramatic new shades in nylons, gabardines, and leathers.

Above all you have incredible performance. Lincoln's world-famous V-8 engine has the new automatic 4-barrel carburetor—gives you superbly controlled action at all times. Add to all this the optional features—power steering, power brakes, the 4-way power seat and electric power window lifts—and driving becomes practically effortless. You'll know what we mean the moment you drive a wonderful new 1954 Lincoln or Lincoln Capri.

Performance proof: Lincoln again won 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th places over all stock cars in the 1,912-mile Mexican Pan-American Road Race.

TO ALL READERS OF THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES

I wish to tell you the year 1953 was the most fruitful and happy year I ever spent, and was worth more to me than all my past life. I wish to tell you the reason and to prove it by the Bible, both Old and New Testaments.

I begin with the love of God, and wish to bring out my points with my picture. Motto, "God Is Love". In my right hand is a white Bible. On it is a gold star and a gold-colored cross is on the zipper that seals the Bible. In my left hand is a picture of written work and a Liberty Bell and approval of my work by Spiritual Mobilization. Copy of the words, "Give thanks to God for liberty".

I am free to make what I choose of life — to contribute to the lives of my family and friends, to accept the power of the glory of freedom under God. I know that I am one of the few throughout history to whom the inalienable rights of freedom under God has been a fact.

Now I ask myself three questions: What have I done to preserve the inspired, the proven, the glorious formula for American life established by the Declaration of Independence. I further resolve to celebrate Independence Day as the religious holiday it is by attending my church and giving thanks to God for liberty.

I want you to know I celebrate every day as God's day and give thanks to God for liberty. I ordered a new Constitution book direct from Washington D. C., printed 1952 analysis and interpretation, and I feel free to use it as I please. I paid for it before I read it.

Love of God, Deut. 11: 1, Therefore thou shalt love the Lord and keep his charge and his statutes and his judgments and his commandments always.

Read the whole chapter—a blessing and a curse, and all left up to the individual.

John 4: 7-8. Beloved, let us love

TAXPAYERS

Kentucky property owners are required to list their property with the county tax commissioners by March 1. The listing is on property owned as of Jan. 1 and is the basis for 1954 property taxes, the State Department of Revenue reminded today.

Many persons find out too late that their property has been omitted from the tax roll. They are then required to pay a penalty of 10 per cent plus interest because their property was omitted. While the county tax commissioners use all available means in an effort to assess all property, it is still the taxpayer's responsibility to list his property.

All real estate, tangible and intangible property owned by a person should be listed with the county tax commissioner. Tangible property includes automobiles, household furnishings, inventories, farm machinery, and livestock, to name only a few classes. Intangible property includes such items as stocks and bonds, mortgages, notes and accounts receivable.

Property owners listing property with the county tax commissioner should compare the assessed values of their property with those values assigned to similar properties. In this manner, the owner can be assured of a more equitable assessment.

Inquiries Total 119,000 In 1953

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 1 (Sp.)—Requests for tourist information received here by the Division of Publicity last year totaled more than 119,000, according to a report today by Director Mack Sisk.

The figure is an increase of about 117,000 received during 1953 and more than doubles the number received in 1950, when inquiries totaled 54,000.

Requests directly attributed to advertising placed by the division were counted for 83,000 of last year's total. Coupons from ads carried in newspapers and magazines throughout the nation came from 15 states and many foreign countries.

During the year, the division placed advertising in 28 metropolitan newspapers, five national magazines and all leading outdoor magazines in addition to advertising carried by Kentucky newspapers and radio stations.

Requests other than those resulting from ads included inquiries from automobile clubs and other organizations, letters from other information seekers and requests received from patrons at travel shows where the division sponsored exhibits.

in a nutshell!

Today's good telephone service will be even better tomorrow thanks to the transistor, a tiny electronic marvel that would fit in a nutshell.

The transistor — invented by Bell System scientists — can do the work of a vacuum tube used in telephone, radio and television equipment and many other things a vacuum tube can not do. It is so small and light, yet so strong and reliable, that it has been called the "mighty midget".

A miracle, yes — but only one of many Bell System advances along the road toward more and better telephone service. To bring these new advances and to keep service good and growing requires a fair profit on the money invested in telephone equipment.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

ON LIBERTY'S TEAM

The future strength of America lies in its youth.

Boy Scout week will be observed February 7 to 13 by the presently enrolled 3,300,000 boy members and adult leaders. Since 1910 more than 21 million persons have been identified with the Boy Scouts of America.

Chartered by Congress in 1916, the movement has the responsibility to promote the ability of boys to do things for themselves and others to develop skills, self-reliance initiative, physical strength, endurance, courage, patriotism and those other qualities which contribute to the very highest type of citizenship.

Boy Scout Week will find Scouts, their parents, local institutions and public officials paying tribute to the leaders of the 89,000 Scouting units for the contribution they are making to their communities by helping boys become men of good character.

We, the following sponsors, pledge our support to the boys of today, the future citizens of tomorrow:
