THE STATE OF JETT'S CREEK

Upwards of 15 years ago, this item was going the rounds. Now it turns up anew in the Kentucky State Bar Journal. It's that famous first warrant issued in Breathitt county. For a new generation of readers we reproduce it again, as writ by hand:

LIKE TO HEAR COAL'S NEEDS

Meeting Purpose To Get Top Officials' Support; Appropriations Settled

President Eisenhower has notified Senator John Sherman Cooper that he will meet next Tuesday with a group representing the coal industry and hear from operator spokesmen the needs of the coal business.

Purpose of the meeting, Cooper said, is to enlist the help of top government officials in solving the critical situation that exists in coal mining areas.

The Senator also said this week that last details have been worked out on the Civil Functions Appropriations bill which makes available money for dams, flood control projects and similar public works, and that increase in money appropriated for surveys will permit the allocation of funds for the survey of the Big Sandy river which was authorized by Cooper's resolution. The Greer river navigation project already has received an appropriation of $4,800,000 for the current fiscal year.

Flood control impoundment in the headwaters of the Big Sandy as well as the old perennial canalization of the river, are under consideration. The impoundments were authorized 16 years ago but funds have not been appropriated to make actual work possible, and now new engineering studies must be made.

Only $50,000 was appropriated for the Greenup-lift dam that is viewed as an asset to the Big Sandy, inasmuch as it would create a pool in the river as far up as the vicinity of Lockwood. The Buckhorn reservoir project received $65,000 and the Jackson cut-off $12,000 under the appropriations bill as finally arranged.

COURT VOTES TO CORRECT RELIEF LIST

Offers $25,000 Fund For a Health Center; Relief Load Lower

The Floyd fiscal court took steps Monday to insure Floyd county participation in two federal projects.

The first was the court's vote to set aside out of the taxes collected for the Floyd county war memorial hospital $25,000 to be applied to cost of building a county health center.

The second was the acceptance by members of the court of the job of screening relief lists, as demanded by the federal government, with the idea of cutting from the lists the names of all ineligible persons.

The appropriation of $25,000 for the health center depends upon a Court of Appeals ruling on a suit for declaratory judgment as to the rights of the court to use the hospital fund of approximately $64,000 for health center construction, health work and health treatment of indigents.

If the county makes available $25,000 for the center, Hill-Burton and state funds would supplement that amount to make a total of $80,000 to be expended on the structure. The health center would remove the health department from the courthouse and establish all its present facilities, plus any that may be added, in an independent structure.

Action of the court on screening relief lists will permit Floyd county's needy to continue to receive surplus commodities. The U. S. Department of Agriculture had warned all counties receiving such foodstuffs they would be cut out from the program if officials did not arrange for screening the lists by June 23.

The list of applicants was being typed this week, with division made by magisterial district. Each of the four Magistrates will undertake the job of screening applicants from his district.

Two weeks ago, between 14,000 and 15,000 Floyd countians had registered as needing foodstuffs. Since that time, the fact that the caseload is topheavy has been given considerable newspaper publicity, state and federal officials questioned authenticity of all the applicants, and some applicants have come here and had their names removed from

SAY BUSINESS NOT SO BAD

In Eastern Kentucky As Reported; Figures For 1953 Are Offered

The economic condition of 20 Eastern Kentucky counties visited on its Get Acquainted Tour recently is not nearly as bad as it is sometimes reported to be, a Louisville Chamber of Commerce study indicated this week.

"There were not many reports of pessimism which came to us on the tour," a Chamber official said "and we decided upon our return to Louisville to get actual figures on effective buying income and the true extent of unemployment compensation payments." The study revealed the following amazing figures:

1. The effective buying income of the 20 counties visited was 40.5 per cent greater in 1953 than in 1950. In spendable dollars this amounts to $142.6 million. (These figures are from the Sales Management Survey of Buying Power, which is widely regarded as one of the best sources of such data).

2. Every county, with one exception, showed a marked increase in effective buying income between 1950 and 1953, and this county showed no change.

3. Two counties more than doubled their income between 1950 and 1953—Clay, which was up 139 per cent, and Pike, which was up 100.6 per cent. Eight other counties showed increases of 50 per cent or more. They are Laurel, Knox, Knott, Magoffin, Morgan, Elliott, Lawrence, and Rowan counties.

Other counties on the tour were Whitley, Bell, Harlan, Letcher, Perry, Floyd Johnson, Boyd, Carter and Bath.

Floyd county's buying income last year was 28.1% and $8,700,000 greater than in 1950. Of all the counties checked, only Johnson showed no change in the three-year period. All others showed increases. The much-heralded unemployment compensation payments do

THIRD BLAZE HITS IVY CREEK CRIPPLE DOGGED BY ILL LUCK

Fire, which began dogging the steps of Harry Hunt years ago, caught him unaware again Thursday night of last week and destroyed his home on Ivy Creek, while he was visiting a son in Ohio. All of his household furnishings and $600 in cash were burned. His wife, Mrs. Joe Hall and several grandchildren escaped the blazing house at 3:30 a.m., in their night clothes.

Several years ago, Mr. Hunt's home burned, destroying all his furniture and clothing. After several years hard work he accumulated a "living" again. Then flames struck at his barn, burned his stock to death and destroyed several hundred bushels of corn he had grown, chiefly on Ivy Creek hillside. The fire that burned his home last Thursday night may be the last, though Harry Hunt is getting old and has been a cripple for years. "A man can't walk on a cane and make a new living every few years," he says.

OFFICERS FIND STILLS, BOOZE

4 Arrested in Cases Involving Liquor Law Violations In County

Two moonshine stills were confiscated or destroyed during the week by Sheriff's deputies in raids which also uncovered caches of red whiskey and beer.

Nick's Branch of Branham's Creek yielded the first still last Wednesday. Before that, at 1 a.m., Monday, Virgil Rogers was arrested with the "worm" of a still on his back. Charged with possessing a moonshine still, he was booked at the jail here by Deputy Sheriffs Ted and Grant Akers and Constable Joe Lykins.

The second still taken was found Saturday in the home of Tommy Setser on Little Point, a stone's throw from much-traveled U. S. 23. The raiding party, Deputy Sheriff's W. B. Boyd, Frank Blackburn, Amos Gray and Willie Johnson, found the worm of the still and an almost-full 60-gallon mash barrel. Setser was jailed but later executed bond.

Sheriff Collins and Deputies Grant Akers, Al Patton W. L. Rice and Walker Hall arrested Stanley Hatcher at Harold last Friday after finding several cases of beer and three half-pints of whiskey on his premises. Hatcher was brought to jail here but later was released under bond.

A raid Wednesday morning, this week, on the Roundhouse, near Lancer, resulted in the arrest of Ezra Charles and the confiscation of six cases of beer and 10 half-pints of whiskey and gin. The officers were Deputies Willie Johnson, Amos Gray, W. B. Boyd and Frank Blackburn.

Parley Howell, of Prater Creek, is under $1,000 bond after his arrest by Deputies Grant Akers, Joe and Walker Hall on a charge of breaking and entering. He allegedly entered the home of Paul Groom on Prater Creek and took a shotgun. Earl Spears of Branham's Creek, is under bond in the same amount on a charge of robbing Virgil Roberts of $56.50, the officers reported.

TAX RECEIPTS ARE REQUIRED

Of Car, Truck Owners Applying for Licenses Under New State Law

Last Thursday saw a new state law become effective, and it soon was the topic of wide discussion in the county. It is the law requiring proof that all personal property taxes are paid before the County Clerk issues to the motor vehicle owner a license plate.

Unless the public becomes acquainted with the law in advance, many vehicle owners will be greatly inconvenienced when they appear at the County Clerk's office without their tax receipts. In such case, they must procure from the Sheriff a statement showing that their taxes for the preceding year were paid.

County Clerk DuRan Moore said lack of understanding could result in a jam near the March 15 deadline that would be unlike anything previously experienced here.

To acquaint vehicle owners with the law, a page advertisement is being published in The Times this week, and copies of this advertisement later will be posted at central points over the county.

EARLY START IS MADE HERE

On Control of Rabies Under New Law; Clinic To Be One of a Series

When the State Health Department instructions went out last Wednesday to county health departments, calling for rabies-vaccination clinics in a move toward compliance with the new state rabies-control and dog control law, the Floyd County Health Department was already well on its way on the job.

It had already set up and advertised for this week rabies-vaccination clinics at 19 central points in the county. By Tuesday night approximately 700 dogs had been treated, with the new serum used immunizing them against rabies for three years.

M. V. Clark county health department administrator, recognizes the fact that the immunization program cannot be completed by the July 1 deadline set by the new law. As to treatment of dogs before that deadline he proposes to accept the word of dog-owners. After that, treatment by a certified veterinarian or other person designated by the state, with authority to issue the official certificate of immunization, will be required.

He plans another traveling clinic about Sept. 1 to reach communities not visited heretofore, and yet another before winter.

After that, as dogs become rabid or as dog-owners are reported for refusing treatment for their pets, prosecution will result.

The Floyd fiscal court as of this week has not named a dog-warden as required by the new law. This appointment is called for by July 1.

Henderson Osborne, 90, Succumbs at Allen Home; Was Native of Virginia

Henderson Osborne, 90, of Allen, died at home, at 5 a.m., Monday. Asthma was given as the cause of death. He was a native of Scott county, Virginia. His wife, Julia Morgan Osborne, survives.

Surviving step-children are Wyatt Martin, of Allen, Mrs. Troy Nickels, Millard, Ky. Mrs. Audrey Martin, of Allen, Mrs. Peggy Miller and Mrs. John H. Harvey, both of Philadelphia.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday at 1 p.m., at the Allen Methodist church, the Revs. John P. Carr and Isaac Stratton officiating. Burial followed in the Dewey Martin cemetery at Allen under the direction of Turner Funeral Home.

SNAKES ALIVE! AND DAME RUMOR TO BOOT— Mythical Cottonmouths Cut Number of Visitors at Lake

A sensational rumor—one which has gone the rounds from lake to lake over a period of years—is probably responsible for the number of visitors to Dewey Lake last week-end being no more than 20% of the usual week-end visitor total, THE TIMES learned Monday.

This rumor—pure falsehood of unknown origin and spread by the credulous—had several variations, four of which were to this effect:

1. A child had been bitten by a cottonmouth moccasin while at the lake, and had died within five minutes.

2. Two girls on an outing at the lake had been bitten by cottonmouths, and they also had died in five minutes.

3. A man who was a drowning victim had not drowned at all. When his body was recovered three snakes were found.

4. An arm of the lake where the child or the girls had been bitten was poisoned, and more than 90 cottonmouths were killed.

So went the gruesome rumors. All untrue, but believed to have been horrifying enough to frighten folks away. Another rumor—equally false—said two girls drowned at the lake last week.

FLOYD RAISE MADE FINAL

On Farmlands, Merchants' Inventories; No Increase On Equipment For Mining

Blanket raises made final on Floyd county property this week by the State Tax Commission eliminated the 15% raise tentatively proposed on oil, timber and minerals and also the 50% increase earlier planned on drilling, mining and construction equipment.

While these categories were escaping the blanket raise the Tax Commission made final these increases in Floyd assessments: 15% on farmlands and 50% on merchants' inventories, professional tools, business furniture, other tangible personalty and manufacturing machinery.

The state Publicity Department in Frankfort said Wednesday that these increases would the Floyd assessment by $1,166,878. This increase in assessment would net the county at the present 50-cent rate $5,833, and the schools at the present $150 rate $17,500. The state, it was pointed out, would benefit less than $500. The state rate is 5 cents per $100 valuation and some of the assessment raise in this county is not subject to state taxes.

It also was pointed out that some counties are saying they do not need additional funds. If that were the case in Floyd county, the 50-cent county levy could be reduced to 48.4 cents and the county would still collect as much in taxes as it did before the raise was made. The schools could cut 4.3 cents from the $150 rate and maintain revenues at the previous level.

Governor Wetherby and Robert H. Alphin, chairman of the Tax Commission, issued a joint statement Monday saying the equalization policy would be continued, as originally planned. The decision to continue with the program was reached, it was said, after the Governor and Alphin had received indications of widespread support of the equalization work.

In other counties of this section this final action was taken by the Commission on assessment.

Knott—Final, 25 per cent increase on farms and acreage cut to 10 per cent.

Magoffin—Final, 85 per cent raise on lots cut to 50 per cent. Unchanged were 40 per cent increases on farms and 30 per cent on inventories, professional tools and busi-

WOMAN, MAN DIE OF HURTS

Martin Woman Dies Instantly; England Succumbs at Hospital

A woman was instantly killed and two men were injured, one fatally, at 11 a.m., Sunday when their auto was driven into the path of an oncoming gasoline truck, near Sugar Loaf.

The dead are: Polly Barnett, 32; skull fractured, chest crushed.

Walter Raleigh England, 33, Alphoretta; head and internal injuries.

Willard Barnett, 28, son of Quince Barnett, and a cousin of the dead woman, is in St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, W. Va. His condition has been described as serious. He was transferred there from the Prestonsburg General hospital.

The crash took place in front of Sadie's Drive-In, half a mile south of Sugar Loaf, as the auto was driven by England from where it was parked near the Drive-In onto the highway, heading toward Prestonsburg and moving directly into the path of the upriver-bound truck. The truck smashed into the front of the auto, carrying it a distance of several yards and both stopping in the ditch at the left side of the road. It was said the truck veered to the left as its driver sought to avoid the crash.

The woman and her cousin, Willard Barnett, were both thrown from

STATE HELP IS PROMISED

On Planting of Dogwood For Road Beautification; Loblolly Pines Planted

When, and if, Prestonsburg undertakes the work of making U. S. 23 into a "Dogwood Trail" by the planting of dogwoods, those heading the move will have State Highway Department aid.

This Mrs. Winnie F. Johns was told a few days ago by Charles A. Hall, Pikeville, roadside improvement engineer for the Department of Highways, Mrs. Hall said the department not only will help protect the trees and promote their growth but also will supply help in their planting. He suggested native dogwood for planting, since trees indigenous to this section thrive better than imported varieties.

Planting of dogwood along major highways in this county has been discussed for years by persons interested in roadside beautification and in lending color to this section as a tourist attraction. Mrs. Johns is one of those who was intrigued, several years ago, by this newspaper's "Dogwood Trail" suggestion. She hopes now to organize a group for action next fall when such planting should be made, and is hoping to enlist the support of civic groups and leaders here.

The Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club's roadside beautification project has already been carried out with the planting of 2,000 loblolly pines on three approaches to Prestonsburg on the northern and southern approaches over U.S. 23 and on the approach to West Prestonsburg via the Salyersville-Prestonsburg road. The pines were planted by Boy Scouts,

ROAD TO DAM RIGHT-OF-WAY BEING BOUGHT

Private Johnson Fund Reported Buying Floyd Rights Below Barrier

Using funds subscribed by private citizens and business firms of Johnson county, officials of that county this week were buying rights-of-way in Floyd county for the Van Lear-Dewey Dam road.

This move confirmed the suspicion entertained here that the Department of Highways has committed itself to a plan to build the road, before any work is done in Floyd county.

County Judge Henry Stumbo had on two occasions told Department officials that Floyd county would not buy rights-of-way for the route over the section of Floyd county between the dam and the Johnson county line, unless an overall project, Prestonsburg to Auxler via the dam and on to Van Lear, was undertaken, or unless first work was done on the Prestonsburg-Auxler end of the route.

The state can buy right-of-way for state routes which must be relocated for permanent improvement, but the road from the dam to the county line is a county road, and so private funds were necessary for purchase of rights-of-way.

Only two landowners had not signed deeds to road rights it was said here Tuesday.

County Attorney Hollie Conley said Floyd officials will be in Frankfort next week on other business and at that time will attempt to get an idea of what the state administration plans for this county as relating to this road connecting with the dam.

Floyd county officials have never received from the Highway Department an official survey of the route from Prestonsburg to the dam, so that deeds could be procured on rights-of-way on this section of the route.

POLIO FUND FALL SHORT

Emergency Drive Asked But Floyd Chapter Not To Undertake Campaign

Floyd county is not expected to make an organized Emergency March of Dimes during the period Aug. 11-31, as recommended by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis this week when it became apparent that last January's March of Dimes fell short by $20,000,000 of meeting this year's need.

This was the view expressed by Ray Howard, Prestonsburg community chairman of the regular March of Dimes. Mr. Howard added, however, every Floyd countian who can afford a contribution should make one, and that these should be sent to Jesse Elliott, Betsy Layne, Floyd county March of Dimes chairman, or to Mr. Howard at Prestonsburg.

It was indicated that unless the needed funds are raised local polio chapters such as Floyd's will not receive further money for polio patient aid through remainder of the year.

The decision to hold the emergency appeal for polio-fighting funds was made late last week at a meeting of the National Foundation's Board of Trustees, he disclosed.

"This year," Mr. O'Connor said "confronts us with the greatest challenge of any in the history of the fight against polio, with commitments for a polio prevention program of staggering size and the necessity of providing aid to a record number of polio patients."

Mr. O'Connor said estimates last fall were that $75,000,000 would be needed to finance the polio vaccine trials, the purchase of increased quantities of gamma globulin, the search for improved preventive and treatment techniques, the support of professional education, and the provision of financial assistance for polio patients who need it.

"This is still a very realistic figure in terms of our obligations and commitments," Mr. O'Connor explained. "It was certainly not because of any lack of effort by our volunteers that we failed to meet it. March of Dimes workers did a remarkable job. Receipts went ahead more than 64% per cent. However, the $55,000,000 raised will not carry the program through 1954."

"We are now entering the evaluation phase of the vaccine trials. Surely no American would be a party to slowing this hopeful venture because money is needed to there after six years' service to Shelbyville two years ago. He found the new flock disunited, feelings running high on a squabble centering around the preceding pastor. In seeking to avoid associating himself with either of the opposing factions, he steered a ticklish course of complete neutrality. His challenge, as he understood it, was to "heal the heart of the church."

He began to preach on such topics as "Let he who is without sin cast the first stone." At one time he said: "Many churches could have a great revival if the members just spoke to one another." That sentence must have sunk deep into his congregation for he says, "That seemed to break the back of the thing. The people responded and the wound began to knit."

He became convinced the worst was over one night last November. He had been out of town and when he returned about midnight, his wife and children were still up waiting for him. They were all excited. There in the living room was a brand new television set, a gift from the congregation.

"It wasn't just a television set," he thought. "It was a message... that we had crossed the last mountain."

Once over that "last mountain," the members got together in all-out program of church activity. They adopted the motto, "Every Church Member a Worker," and lived up to it.

Judging for the church-of-the-year award took in three important categories—projects and activities "toward a better church, toward a better community, toward a better world."

To make a better church, the congregation holds "once-a-quarter family nights," when about 150 men, women, and children take pot luck and have an evening of entertainment.

A church-school teacher of 4- to 6-year-olds, appropriated an old coal bin downstairs applied numerous coats of paint, and made a "little church" in which her charges could learn how to worship. The little church is separated from the class play area, and the youngsters have learned that it is a house of worship, where their behavior must be respectful.

On Sunday evenings, there is a Bible-story hour for those under 11.

To make a better community, the church intensified its work with youth groups. It enthusiastically sponsors Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts, Brownies, 4-H, and Sea Scouts. Together with First Presbyterian Church and first Christian Church of Shelbyville, Centenary is now conducting a co-operative vacation Bible school. These churches join with three Negro churches in programming.

Youngsters who participate in these activities are usually recognized once a year in a Sunday morning service on their "day."

With other ministers in town, Mr. Anderson brought pressure "that cleared up" a situation involving the sale of liquor to minors.

These are some of the reasons why Centenary is the rural church of the year.

Mrs. Elizabeth Damron Succumbs at Paris, Ky.; Was Floyd County Native

Mrs. Elizabeth S. Damron, 77, a native of this county, but a resident of Olive Hill, died at a Paris (Ky.) hospital, last Sunday, where she had been a patient for several weeks. She had been ill since March.

Celebrating Our 15th Anniversary

June 22, 1939, Spurlock's Food Service made the first sale in Floyd county. The total receipts for that day were $10.80. Our first place of business was a small rented one on North Mayo Trail.

Today we are installed in an adequate building of our own and from the lone truck we had at the beginning, we now operate with a fleet of 14. Our volume has grown from meager beginnings to three-quarters of a million dollars. We contribute an annual payroll of over $60,000 to the economy of the section.

WE ARE THANKFUL

We are thankful to the people of this section for their loyalty to the service we offer. Without this patronage we could not have succeeded. The first 15 years were filled with struggle and faith. Today we look forward to offering you many more years of the same courteous, efficient service.

The Job Must Be Done

The Floyd fiscal court has in accepting the unwanted task of screening the list of reneer applicants in this county done the only thing left for it to do under the circumstances.

It will be a thankless task for the four Magistrates and the County Judge; worse, it may even draw down on them criticism. But the federal government demands that the names of the underserving be cut from the list, and threatens to suspend distribution of commodities altogether in counties where officials refuse to assume this responsibility. The censure that will fall on those officials who permit the food distribution to cease entirely will be much greater than that created by any screening of the relief list—that much Floyd's officials may have by way of consolation.

The truth is, officials should do more than make an honest effort to weed out all those no-goods who have applied for charity when they did not need or deserve it. They should warn all concerned that in the future any man or woman who procures these relief foods under false pretenses will be prosecuted as such, regardless of his or her bank balance, social position or political affiliation and influence.

We can sympathize with the poor devil who in desperation errs and runs afoul of the law, but for those who in effect rob the poor without any motivation except that supplied by their insatiable dog-eat-dog greed we can search our hearts a fortnight and find for them mighty little mercy.

How Gangsterism Is Born

Phenix City, in Alabama, just across the river from Ft. Benning, Ga., big U.S. army post, last week became a center of un-American activities as a candidate for Attorney-General was mowed down by bullets in traditional gangster style, because he was an outspoken foe of vice and its big brother, crime.

How did Phenix City become a roaring, wide-open mecca for gamblers, bootleggers and others of the gentry who scorn the earning of a dollar by honest work? And how did the situation get so out of hand that murder of one man has already been consummated, and the murders of others allegedly plotted, in order that the criminal status quo be maintained?

Phenix City began, certainly, with no more than a little bootlegging here and there; as a place where the "boys" in uniform could get a drink conveniently; with a lone gambling place operating surreptitiously at first—nothing organized, just isolated "hot spots" to liven up the town.

It was a money-maker, this business outside the law, and the result was that other bootleggers and other gamblers moved in. Public officials and officers of the law knew all about the situation—they usually do—and before long they were getting a "rake-off," the price exacted for their looking the other way or for plain neglect of duty. Pastors of churches called for a clean-up, but those who had the power to do something were singularly hard of hearing. Thus the whole dirty mess was permitted to grow and mushroom until it was big business. Now there was too much money involved in the various shady investments—bootlegging, gambling and attendant vices—for the life of one man, or half a dozen men, to stand in their way and threaten their success.

And so came to a once-peaceful hamlet racketeers and gangsters and the un-American elements that value the dollar first, and in comparison with that dollar evaluate human life so very cheaply.

So can gangsterism come to Prestonsburg or Podunk, to any town or city in the land—quietly, insidiously, almost harmlessly at first, but later to occupy the community and rule it as ruthlessly as would any other invading enemy force.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE ADDED DETRACTION AT DEWEY

Editor, The Times
Just as a matter of one citizen to a newspaper of the area, I wouldn't resist remarking about the condition I found beautiful Dewey Lake on a recent visit there.

While on my annual two weeks off, I visited my parents at Pikeville, and during the stay drove to the dock and picnic area of Dewey. I must say that I was rather put-out over the litter strewn about the place. I could understand the dust from the driveways, but the trash-bottles, paper, melon rinds, tin cans—I cannot.

Is it simply public carelessness, or what? You have a beautiful place there, one which is definitely an asset to my native county. (I was reared at Wheelwright, graduating from high school there in 1942.)

Perhaps there is logical explanation for the garbage dump appearance of the area, but that cannot lessen the chagrin I felt at showing the place to my blue grass wife after bragging of the beauties of Floyd county to her for almost five years.

The News-Democrat,

SO THERE, MR. CLARK!

In answer to the letter in last week's Times by Glenn M. Clark while he was telling some of his viewpoints, I would like to tell him some of mine.

As far as the ladies dressing in shorts, I do not approve of that. But may I ask him where he found that heavenly spot where they don't do that? I have been in Ohio and Michigan. Lots of that is seen anywhere that I have been. On the other hand, it is easy to find a place where your neighbor won't come in and visit with you, after you leave Kentucky.

And as far as Kentucky people being ignorant, or dumb, rude, unrefined, uncivilized, I want to know Mr. Clark, who told you that? I want you to know some of the best people that live on this earth live in the hills of old Kentucky and West Virginia. God bless these old, God-fearing fathers and mothers, with our good christian people that live here. I don't think a good hill-billy or a good ridgerunner either could talk about our Kentucky people as you have, Mr. Clark. May I ask if you are a citizen of Kentucky, or are you some one that has come in this "awful place," as you put it? If so, why don't you go back to that place you spoke so highly of? Now, Mr. Clark, if I thought about Kentucky people the way you do I wouldn't live among them for no amount of money. We don't need a highly educated, well-learned man in our midst as you seem to think you are. So you could leave Kentucky at any time and we would never know you had gone.

Mrs. Ray Dingus
Mare Creek, Ky.

The lists. Many others on the lists have never received food. G. R. Spradlin, supervisor of commodities distribution, said this week.

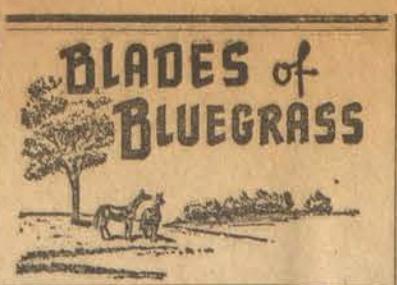

Mr. Spradlin predicted that when the Magistrates get through screening the lists the total number of relief applicants will not exceed 8,000.

In another action of the court Monday, the Coroner was for the first time in this county voted a salary. Effective July 1, the salary of Coroner James Carter will be $1,000 a year. Formerly, the Coroner received only a fee of $12 per inquest.

Bids of B. J. Caudill and John Darby on repair of the Baptist Bottom bridge were rejected.

The court also met last Friday, to talk the relief list screening task. At the time, it failed to reach a decision on that but voted the budgeting of $1,000 for the salaries and expenses of the county Registration and Purgation Board.

Fertilizers and spraying to control aphids have improved alfalfa in Carroll county.

Observance of special weeks has become so commonplace that one can be forgiven for questioning their importance. However, a few reports taken at random from those submitted by home demonstration agents of the University of Kentucky indicate that National Home Demonstration Week in May had definite value, both to communities and to individuals.

Window exhibits, made possible by cooperative merchants up and down Main Street, were a popular means of telling the homemaker's achievement story. They proved to be eye-openers to husbands, neighbors, the public generally, and even to the homemakers themselves.

That home demonstration work meets a variety of needs was seen in the different kind of handwork displayed. Hats with matching dresses, basic costumes, and accessories used most of the space in LaRue County's seven window exhibits, while Christian County's displays included handmade parchment and fabric lamp-shades, linens decorated with Swedish weaving, refinished furniture and reed craft.

Important in Fleming County's showing were time and labor savers, such as a lap table equipped for ironing, with a comfortable chair of the right height. Carefully made glass curtains of different styles and lined draperies indicated some of the money-saving tricks learned in that county.

In Harlan County, an estimated 5,000 people viewed handmade rugs—woven, hooked and braided—upholstered furniture, cane-seated chairs and stools, and tailored suits.

In Nicholas County, two half-finished braided rugs that one day will be 9 by 12 feet in size and will have a value out of all proportion to their cost, caused men and women alike to stop and admire. Cane chair seats and baskets of all types showed the interest of women in crafts.

Yes, such exhibits in a special week do have value. They inform people who know little of the educational program of homemakers clubs; they encourage homemakers whose work might never before have been on display, and they arouse in others a desire to investigate how they, too, may have the benefits of such a program.

County Clerk Moore said there is nothing he can do about the law but do his best to comply with it, and at the same time try to save all concerned as much time and inconvenience as possible.

The law applies to city as well as county and state taxes. School taxes due the county system appear on the county tax bill, but the status of independent school district taxes is not yet clear. This particular tax is not specifically mentioned in the statute.

Briefly, the law requires:
1. Any person applying for a license receipt and plate or for the transfer of license must present to the County Clerk to whom application is made receipts showing he has paid in full all taxes on personal property for the year preceding the year when the license is issued.

2. If you have lost your tax receipt, or receipts, or failed to take them with you to the Clerk's office, then you must get statements from the Sheriff and (if you reside in an incorporated town) the City Clerk stating that all your property taxes collected through their offices have been paid.

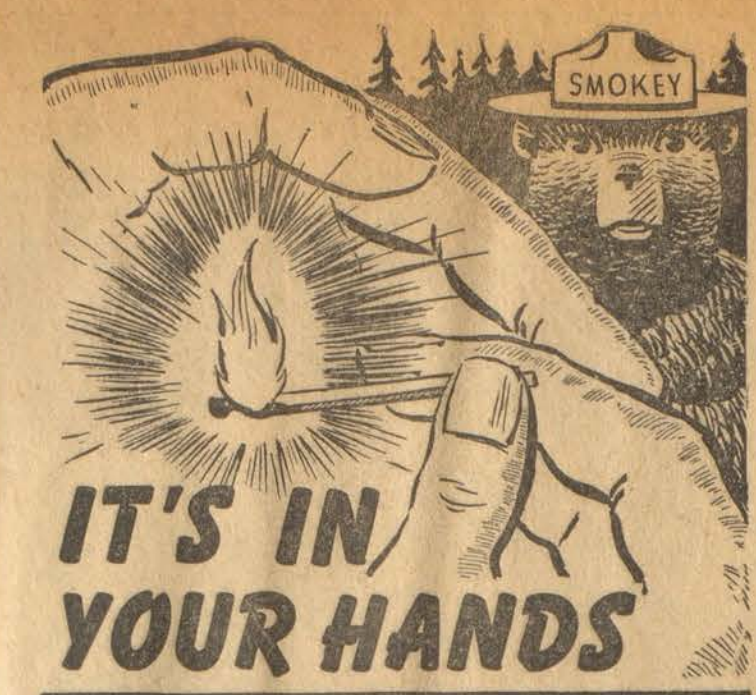

3. If you owe no personal property taxes for the preceding year, you must take to the County Clerk a statement from the Tax Commissioner to the effect that you were not liable for payment of any personal property taxes for the preceding year.

County Clerk Moore conferred with motor vehicle dealers, Monday, to discuss phases of the law which affect them. Failure of a prospective car-buyer to have his taxes paid could knock dealers out of sales.

The days when the dealer could sell a new car, go to the Clerk's office, get a license plate, put it on your car and send you on your way resplendent if not rejoicing have given way to a more complex system—one designed to reduce adult delinquency in the matter of taxpaying.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.
Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"GEOGRAPHY SENSE"

All my grown-up days I have laughed at the geography lessons we used to have at Fidelity. "What ocean east of North America?" "What gulf south of the United States?" "What cape at the southern extremity of Greenland?" Because of having a good memory for things that do not matter, I always shone in geography. I could bound Kentucky or North America or anything else and name tributaries of rivers until the cows came home. It was, and is, lots of fun. There was systematic naming of countries and capitals, or states and capitals, rivers and their tributaries, mountain ranges, capes (just why these, I have never known). Some of our pronouncements would have caused a near scandal. I am sure but we bounded and named and drew maps and did all sorts of other things that made geography just about the most delightful of subjects.

All the time I have been laughing at our rather funny geography, I have regretted that younger people have not been exposed to more of this type of learning for its own sake. Many highly educated younger people whom I know would not know how to start to reach Nova Scotia, let alone Kamchatka. In spite of the thrill of geography while World War II was raging, hundreds of my students would not know where to find Okinawa or Iwo Jima on a map or whether they were names of some comic-book characters or some ex-radio show. There may not be any money in it, but knowing names of places is a great game. When I went to Walden Pond, I knew just where to look for the site of Thoreau's cabin, not because I had any especial sixth or seventh sense, but because I had read the book and knew where the cabin was in relation to the railroad. With the multitudinous picture that everybody may see—HOLIDAY, in NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC, in LIFE, in LOOK, as well as on the screen, it seems that places that are as remote to most of us as Fidelity and Cherry Corner and Pine Bluff used to be when we knew only a very small little world.

Once, many years ago, my family and I spent a night in Bangor, Maine, in a tourist home run by a real gentleman of the old school. When I signed my name on his register, he said, with no trace of humor: "We had a family from out your way last week." When I asked him where this family had come from, he was told that it was Kansas. I never did convince my host that Kansas was a far piece from Bowling Green, Kentucky. I wish I had asked him to draw a map of the country and put in the significant places: Boston (of course), New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco, for example. It would have been even better had I urged that the map be drawn to scale; I wonder how far away California and Oregon would have been then. I fear that my host would have failed to pass his test as much as did an elderly lady who was reared in Bowling Green and had never been away for more than a year at a time. She once asked me whether on the trail to Nashville in the pioneer days Alexander Wilson, the ornithologist of whom I had been speaking, did not pass Thomas's Landing. With a contour map before me, I must confess that he would have had a very circuitous route, since Thomas's Landing is northwest of town, Nashville south. Is this ignorance of places due to lack of maps, to a lack of sense of direction, or to a lack of some other sense?

It would be comical, I know, if we suddenly assembled the old and young alike and started asking some questions such as we children at Fidelity expected and could answer. But from such a forum, maybe some people would get a feeling that things are not just out yonder, but are definitely to be found on the map first and then in timber and brink and stone and mortar right on the top side of the earth, whether it is Fidelity or Grass Lodge or Twin Branch.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

By James Taylor Adams

MOURNING IN THE SKY

Monday morning, April 5, 1954, a bunch of us were sitting around in my front room, talking old times and telling tales of the Cumberland.

Lem Sidham glanced over to Mrs. Henrietta O'Neil, who was doing the talking at the time.

"When you get through with that one," he said, "I want to tell another one."

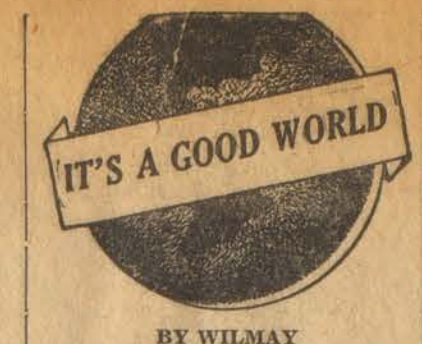

Then, when Mrs. O'Neil had finished her narrative, Lem began:

"Hit's about what happened, one time, way back yander, when I was just a boy. All started when Pap went over to Uncle Jasper's to trade an axe and took me and my brother along with him.

"Uncle Jasper was not at home when we got there, and his wife wouldn't trade with Pap. She was that way. Wouldn't trade nor traffic on Uncle Jasper's things when he wasn't present. Couldn't blame her for that.

"Pap had two big dogs. Half-brothers, they were. Called them Kaiser and Jack. The 'Kaiser' was for old Kaiser Bill of Germany, who was cutting a spurge about that time and had his name in the papers, and I think we'd named Jack for Jack Craiger, a neighbor.

"Hit was getting late as we came back. We decided to go up a hollow and sic the dogs off, thinking they might strike a possum or something. So we left the main road and struck off up a dark hollow. BY WILMA
(The views expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the views of The Times.)

But a hot one down south just now. The segregation issue may equal that of the Civil War. Many anticipate bloodshed if the decision is enforced. Almost every discussion ends with: "Do you want your child to marry a Negro?"

Everyone recognizes that desegregation will likely result in more intermarriage than segregation has. The more colored people associate with whites, the more likely an increase in intermarriage, but why should this keep anyone from favoring desegregation? The fact that a small percentage will intermarry does not make segregation right or the solution.

The more boys who own guns, the more accidents we may expect from them. But what parent denies his child a gun because a few are victims of the weapons provided for better purposes than to shoot the owners? Instead of refusing to let your child have a gun lest he have an accident, you will wisely teach him how to use the weapon, will you not? So instead of upholding segregation, lest your child intermarry with the negroes, why not train and teach him the dangers of interracial marriages.

The question boils down to right and wrong. Who among us would believe "All men are created free and equal," if upon boarding a bus or train we were sent to the rear, forced within certain bounds, always given the back seats, the least desirable places?

While home, we enjoyed a lengthy conversation with the niece and nephew of the late Senator Theodore G. Bilbo, on the ever-present topic of Segregation. Many recall that former Governor Bilbo wrote a book entitled Segregation or Mongrelization. Graduates of Ole Miss, George and Florence Bilbo are rapid-fire speakers, as was the late Senator Bilbo, three times governor of Mississippi.

Many wonder if the motordrome from Knott county to the governor's office was "government by pressure" any more than the reported requests from others to another official to have the patrolman in question transferred. At least the journey proved the forces for the right are not asleep.

During vacation, at Mississippi Southern, where we studied 30 years ago, we longed for Irene Osborne while reveling in the breathtaking beauty and fragrance of thousand of gardenia blooms on shrubs surrounding most buildings of the gorgeous campus. Anyone doubting the figure can ask Russell Hunley, Jr., who was a student there last year. Another picture on the trip was purple vetch and pink clover all along the highway in Ohio.

A major highlight of our vacation was the pleasure of seeing Bro. W. K. Wood, Baptist mountain evangelist, of Ashland, receive the Doctor of Divinity Degree from Georgetown College, during the graduation exercises. Unquestionably this man of God is one of the best-loved preachers in all Kentucky.

Our state now stands an excellent chance to progress from the bottom of the list, in an educational sense, but if counties continue to howl over the proposed tax levy equalization an impasse will follow. More of us need to learn that we are going to have to pay for what we get. Greater equalization is the only fair solution. Less chicanery, skulduggery, string-pulling, pressure-exercising, will pay higher dividends.

We were amazed to find the highway from Lexington to Chattanooga no less crooked than any in the mountains, and without hills for an alibi! Will anyone rise to deny that Rock City is the most advertised place in America, and worthy of its distinction?

E. R. is still sweating 'cause Sis and I were gone with the camera when his brother-in-law, Brownie Thomas, a well-known sportsman, returned with a dandy big fish. The boss wanted a picture of himself holding Brownie's catch!

There have been so many errors in recent columns we'd better take time to check this one. The old typewriter needs more pecking and less hunting, it seems.

HEALTH NOTES

By Floyd County Health Department

Two hundred thirteen cases of infectious hepatitis (jaundice) were reported in Kentucky in January and February of this year, compared to 135 for the same period in 1953. A total of 900 cases of infectious hepatitis occurred in 1953, the Kentucky State Department of Health reports.

Hepatitis is an acute infection which may result in severe damage to the liver. It is caused by a virus discharged from the nose, mouth or alimentary tract of an infected person or from the blood of one with infectious hepatitis.

First signs are fever, nausea with or without vomiting, fatigue, headache and abdominal discomfort which later are followed by jaundice (yellowness of skin accompanied by a clay colored stool and dark urine). Many people go through the first stage but do not develop jaundice.

The exact method of transmission is not known but cases have been caused by contaminated water, food or milk or by direct personal contact. For example a recent outbreak in a California housing project was traced to a household plumbing where there were cross connections between the water supply and the conventional wringer type clothes washer. Cross connections were caused by connecting the washing machine to the kitchen faucet with a rubber hose, the end of which was allowed to remain below the surface of the soiled water in the washer. Back siphonage occurred when vacuums were produced in the pipes during increased demands for water. This can happen especially in apartment houses when several faucets on the lower floor are opened at the same time. If the water distribution system is too small to supply an ample amount of water to all openings.

Good community sanitation and personal hygiene help prevent outbreaks of hepatitis. Sanitary disposal of waste is always an essential when several faucets on the lower floor are opened at the same time. If the water distribution system is too small to supply an ample amount of water to all openings.

Children should be immunized against typhoid fever at six months and booster shots should be given to young and old alike each year where typhoid is prevalent," says Lad R. Mezera, M.D., Director of the Division of Maternal and Child Health, Kentucky State Department of Health.

Summertime often brings an increase in typhoid. Vacations in areas where the purity of water and milk supplies is questionable lead the way for additional typhoid victims.

Typhoid bacillus, the germ which causes the infection bringing high fever, may strike any age and may cause serious complications. It is contacted through impure food, milk and water supplies or directly through a disease carrier.

The incidence of typhoid has been reduced through immunization and improved sanitation. Dr. Mezera goes on to say, but last year in Kentucky there were 121 cases with 4 deaths.

Before typhoid reaches you, your family and community, consult your family physician or see your Floyd County Health Department. The sanitarian will be glad to advise you how to check your home's water supply to see that it is free from preventable disease germs, and you'd be interested in a health education pamphlet, "Avoid Typhoid," also available through your local health department.

4-H NEWS

By ERVINE C. JOSEPH
Ass't County Agent

DISTRICT 4-H COUNCIL
The District 4-H Council met at the Turner Hotel at 6:30 p.m. June 15, to discuss the building of a new 4-H Club camp that will serve all eastern Kentucky. Represented at the meeting were Morgan, Magoffin, Johnson, Lawrence, Martin and Floyd counties.

DISTRICT 4-H CAMP
We have received fifty applications from 4-H boys and girls who are going to District 4-H camp this year. The camp lasts from July 12-16. There will be a store at camp to sell 4-H stickers T-shirts, etc. We believe the store will more adequately serve the needs of the 4-H boys and girls. It is possible to get a week's vacation for only $2.00 if you wish to bring your food to 4-H Camp.

FORESTRY CAMP
The first summer camp devoted to forestry youth work is set for July 5-10 on the University of Kentucky's 14,000-acre Robinson Forest in Breathitt county. The camp will be made up of boys who have done an outstanding job in their forestry project work. One boy will be chosen to represent Floyd county. The camp has been financially underwritten by a group of progressive forest industries. All expenses including transportation will be paid by industries.

An intensive course of practical nature will be offered. Instructions from the University staff, State Division of Forestry and forest industries, will show the boys how the practice of forestry plays a part in growing, protecting, harvesting, and marketing our timber crop.

4-H CLUB RECORDS
It is necessary that all 4-H Club members who have completed their projects get their record books into our office in the very near future. Those who have not completed their projects may send the record book in as soon as the project is completed. We need the record book as early as possible so that we may have time to prepare the achievement certificates before achievement day this fall.

SPECIAL TOMATO PROJECT
The boys who are participating in the tomato project should keep complete records of cost, time spent, yields and income. Include a short story describing the project and also pictures of the crop in various stages of growth.

Soil Conservation

By L. R. JOHNSON

James Green, of Middle Creek, Alex Spradlin, of Cliff, Milt Stanley, of Abbott Creek, Willie Turner, of Salt Lick, Togo Harris, of Emma, and many other farmers have harvested their Sericea for hay. Some of these farmers are having their first experience with this new hay, while others have had it for three years.

Sericea makes excellent hay if cut when 12 to 14 inches high. Then in a few weeks it will do to cut again.

J. W. Hays, at Bosco, has installed 500 feet of tile, and Emmitt Hamilton, of Teaberry, has installed 440 feet. The Soil conservation technician has recently staked 445 feet of tile lines for Laura B. Herald, 682 feet of tile for Tom Moore, of Cliff.

Frank Warrick, of Bull Creek, and O. J. Webb at Bosco have begun their tile lines.

If you want help in Soil Conservation, contact one of the Soil Conservation district supervisors or L. R. Johnson, phone 4541 or 7064. Listen to your Soil Conservation program each Monday, 5:30 p.m., over WPRT.

Polio Treatment Needs Shipped To Kentucky By National Foundation

Thirteen tank respirators and 16 rocking beds have been shipped into Kentucky since January 1 for use by polio patients, it was announced this week by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Much of this equipment has been necessitated by the convalescent polio cases from past years, and particularly from 1952 which was Kentucky's worst polio year to date more than 1700 new cases being reported.

The March of Dimes organization also revealed that emergency financial assistance totaling $134,175.00 had been sent by the National Foundation to 28 of its chapters in Kentucky from January 1 through June 5. This aid was made necessary by the heavy expenditures of these chapters for the polio medical needs of its patients.

Business Being Given Away Observing 15th Anniversary

Officers of Spurlock's Food Service ending a conference before leaving for Huntington. Left, is O. J. Spurlock, president, Margaret Billman, secretary, sits in car while Alex Howard, general manager, stands on right.

Few men work for years to establish a successful business, and then begin to give it away, but that is what O. J. Spurlock, owner of Spurlock's Food Service is doing.

He started with one truck and little money 15 years ago to distribute milk and bread in the Big Sandy Valley. Today, a successful business man, employing 23 men and women, he has a volume of three quarters of a million dollars and a payroll of over $60,000 annually. But he is giving the business away.

Giving it away is the result of an idea he and his wife had a few years ago. They are childless, have no direct heirs, and in appreciation of their employees' loyalty through the years they decided to give the business to them. Stock is given to them on a seniority basis, one share for the first five year's service, two shares for 10, three shares for 15 and will continue in that progressive ratio until the company is owned by them. It is expected that at the expiration of a 24-year period, 50 percent of the ownership will have passed to them. If Mr. Spurlock were to die in the meantime, his estate will administer the business until it is all owned by the employees.

It is an easy matter to give a business away, but something else to successfully establish one. Mr. Spurlock, who resides in Huntington, came to Big Sandy when he was a youngster, worked as a specialty salesman for Hampton Grocery Company at Allen. When the government installed the CCC camps in this section, there was no available supply of pasteurized milk for the boys. Spurlock was asked to supply it. Beginning in the mid-30's, he brought milk from outside the state to the camps. After that job was over, he cast about for a business, decided since there was no pasteurized milk in Big Sandy, he would continue transporting milk for public distribution.

He got together his dilapidated trucks of the CCC days, selected one of the more promising and started to work. He says he had little then except a "will to work." His first sales in Floyd county were on June 22, 1939, and the total receipts were $10.90. He maintained headquarters in a rented building on North Mayo Trail in the Porter Addition. Sometimes Saturday paydays came and there was no money. He always took his employees into his confidence about it. They would wait until there was money.

Asked to give some of the reasons for his successful business, he attributes it to the kind of people he serves: "There are no more loyal people in the world than Big Sandy if you shoot, square with them. If you serve them right, you are welcome back. People wait for our milk and bread, even when we are late." The business serves 685 stores in Johnson, Floyd, Pike, Magoffin and Knott counties.

Mr. Spurlock, in talking about the loyalty of his employees, comments that Alex Howard, who is vice-president and general manager of the company, has been with him since 1940. Mrs. Lura Hall, his book-keeper and his oldest employe, started in 1939, four months after the business was organized. He doesn't forget his wife in mentioning his "old faithfuls." She is the former Lena Stewart, of Pocahontas county, West Virginia. The corporation was organized in 1947 as a corporate body in both Kentucky and West Virginia.

Spurlock's Food Service this week is observing its 15th anniversary, and all the partners—Mr. and Mrs. Spurlock and their employes—find it a good time for reminiscing.

care for patients. And who could sanction cutting down on patient aid in a year that already gives signs of polio incidence?

"I know the American public does not want to see the vital program it has supported through 16 March of Dimes drives jeopardized in this year of challenge. I feel certain they will support the Emergency March of Dimes, to make sure that the prevention program, rehabilitation and aid for patients, research and professional education continue for as long as necessary."

Mr. O'Connor explained that $26,500,000 was needed for the vaccine and GG programs alone, plus $29,000,000 for patient aid if 1954 polio incidence is comparable to 1953, when almost 36,000 cases were reported. There are signs, however, that 1954 may be an even heavier incidence year. The number of new cases reported by the U. S. Public Health Service during the first 23 weeks of this year is the largest reported for any similar period in recorded history, he said. In addition, there are 87,000 holdover cases from previous years, who still require help from the National Foundation and its Chapters.

Beyond all these costs, another $19,500,000 is needed for continued research into polio prevention and treatment, for professional education, for medical and community services and for administration.

Mr. O'Connor expressed gratitude to the millions of volunteers who raised the $55,000,000 in January, and to the 80,000,000 Americans who contributed.

"When they realize that more money is needed to insure completion of the vaccine evaluation, provision of gamma globulin, medical care and research and for the care and rehabilitation of thousands of current and future polio patients, they will want to add their little bit more," he said. "We must not fail to meet any of these obligations. If every man, woman and child in the United States gives a little more in August, our promises to patients and the public can be kept."

"I invite all Americans to look at the problems from the point of view of one of the 2,000 patients who fight for breath each day and night in iron lungs or chest respirators. Right in your own community, among your own neighbors, there may be such a case. For them the promise of a polio vaccine is too late. They, and thousands of others who are seriously disabled, depend upon their fellow Americans' generosity even while rapid progress is being made toward final polio prevention."

RETURN TO WORK
Clyde Spurlock, who was injured sometime ago in a car wreck on South Mayo Trail, has returned to work, much improved.

IDEAS
Bill Ackerman has come up with a great idea for desks to meet the needs of people like me. Says a trap-door through which all accumulation would fall when a certain weight was reached would solve the whole desk-cleaning problem.

Delmas Saunders has improved on even that idea, mebbe. Less expense, too. Says just buy a good, big waste basket, set one at either end of the desk and let the overflow slide in.

Don't you think the expression, "I'm not so hot," is rather detrop, these days?

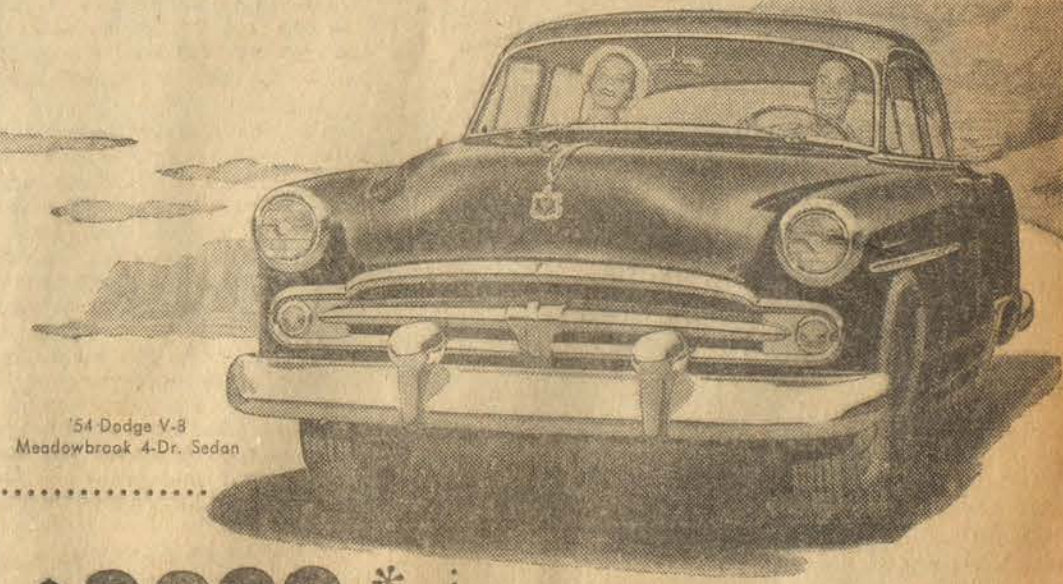

WELL—I'M TRYING
I trust any of you folks who have tobacco stocks won't hold it against me because the market fell, Tuesday, but the truth is, I quit cigarettes. Quitting is the easiest thing in the world to do, but staying quit is just about to kill me.

Think of it—for the first time in 35 years I went without a cigarette a whole day, Tuesday, and again Wednesday! Thirty-five years—most of that time, two packs a day—no wonder the old fatners drooped as I suddenly cut off my nicotine intake. Frankly, I have no more confidence in my ability to quit than you have.

LITTLE BIG LEAGUERS
Want a Big League baseball player's autograph? Just get the autograph of every player in the Little League here, then wait 10 or 12 years. . . Nobody called for an opinion, but we have an idea this Little League baseball for boys is the finest thing to hit Prestonsburg since Alcoholics Anonymous. . . CARD OF THANKS
We take this means of expressing to all our heartfelt thanks for the many kindnesses extended us upon the tragic death of our husband, father, son and brother, Joe T. Harris, Jr. We are especially indebted to those who sent flowers, and to the ministers for their comforting words and the Carter and Callahan Funeral Home for its efficient services.

ENTERTAINS AT PAINTSVILLE
Mrs. D. B. Howard entertained to dinner Monday at the Howard hotel, Paintsville, Mrs. Carol M. May and houseguest, Mrs. Effie Milby, Lexington.

Chicken raisers in Ohio county have enrolled in a 500-hen project.

The court will meet again next week. It has one written application and six or seven verbal requests for appointment to the post.

There is not a properly accredited veterinarian in any county of this section, and for that reason members of the Kentucky Veterinary Medical Association have been brought here to conduct clinics. The new law requires that veterinarians giving the anti-rabies shots be both licensed by the state and accredited by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. When, and if, accredited veterinarians are not available for clinics it is expected that permission will be granted for the work to be done by qualified persons of the area, Mr. Clark said.

These other "qualified persons" would be issued permits by the State Board of Health to give vaccinations, but standards for such persons have not yet been established.

The new dog law provides that each county must establish a dog pound by July 1, next year. After July 1, this year, the owner of a rabid unvaccinated dog is liable for damages to any person bitten by the animal.

Any county health officer or his agent may quarantine up to 90 days any animal bitten by another animal known or suspected of having rabies. A quarantine may also be ordered for up to 14 days for any animal that has bitten a human or that shows signs of rabies.

The law also provides that owners must keep their dogs confined or under their control between sunset and sunrise. Any dog running loose then may be killed by any peace officer.

Unlicensed dogs found running at large may be confined in the county pound and kept for seven days; if not claimed, to be destroyed. Any person may kill a dog seen in the act of worrying or wounding livestock, poultry, or humans.

Violation of the vaccination or other rabies-control provisions of the law may bring a fine of $10 to $100, with each day of violation a separate offense.

Violation of the licensing or stray-dog control provisions may subject the owner to a fine of $5 to $100 or five to 60 days in jail, or both.

The State Health Department called on county health departments to:

1. Conduct an educational campaign to acquaint their counties with the law.
2. Plan, set up, and advertise rabies-immunization clinics.
3. Co-operate with other local officials, including the dog wardens, in confining dogs that have bitten persons or other animals suspected of having rabies.
4. Co-operate with other local officials in controlling stray dogs.
5. Report to the State Health Department each week the number of persons bitten by rabid or possibly rabid animals.
6. Help people prepare heads of killed animals suspected of having had rabies to the State Health Department laboratories.
7. Be certain that vaccine for Pasteur treatment of humans bitten by rabid animals is available.

$33,900 Total Invested By Floyd Bond Buyers

During May, the citizens of Floyd county invested $33,900 in Series E and H Savings Bonds. Total sales for the county during 1954 are $189,600. The county's quota for the year is $439,200. Adrian Collins, Prestonsburg, bond sales chairman, said.

In Kentucky, during May, sales totaled $3,788,005, which raises the cumulative figures to $22,616,515, or 39.1% of the State's annual goal of $57,600,000.

At the mid-summer meeting of the Kentucky Press Association, June 11, Victor R. Portmann, of Lexington, Association secretary, was presented a Five-Year Service Pin as a member of the Volunteer State Committee, and a Presidential Prayer Award for his outstanding volunteer contributions in that capacity.

John Wesley Moore, 76, Native of Knott County, Victim of Heart Attack

John Wesley Moore, 76, died last Thursday at his home at Lackey, after suffering a heart attack. He had been seriously ill for the past year.

Born at Mousie in 1878, Mr. Moore was a life-long resident of this section. He was first married to Geneva Martin, who preceded him in death in 1932. He later married Perchie Osborne Moore, who survives him.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Rudolph Spencer, Mrs. Frank Rasnick, both of Garrett, Mrs. Bill Pettrey of Prestonsburg, and one foster daughter, Mrs. J. W. Foster, of Alexandria, Va.

Funeral services were held Sunday, at the Regular Baptist Church, at Mousie, the Revs. W. M. Chaffins, Bert Howard, and M. C. Wright officiating. The Rev. Ernest Moore conducted graveside services. Burial was made in the family cemetery.

Mrs. Branham Wins Third Contest Award

Mrs. Goble Branham, of West Prestonsburg, is specializing in prize contests, and she's doing right well at it.

Two years ago, she won a five-acre tract of land near Orlando, Fla., and recently she added two lesser prizes to her list. One of these was a $30 check from the People's Sewing Machine Store, Louisville, and the most recent was in the Silhouette contest conducted by the Diamond Publicity Corporation. The diamond she won in that contest will come from David Reih's Sons, Inc., Louisville.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of John Wesley Moore wishes to express its appreciation for the kindness and sympathy shown to them by friends and neighbors during the illness and upon the death of their husband and father. We also wish to thank the ministers for their words of solace.

SPORTS CHATTER

By Gordon Moore

Indiana's high school basketball all-stars stopped the Kentuckians 75-74 last Saturday night for their 13th win in 14 interstate games but for the first time in many years Eastern Kentucky cagers saw action.

Three fifteenth region stars, Billy Rae Cassidy of Inez, Lincoln Collinsworth of Salyersville, and John Lee Butcher, of Pikeville, scored more than half of the Bluegrass tallies with 42 points.

The second game of the series will be played in the Louisville Armory, July 10.

Cassidy, who will have played in nine post-season basketball tilts before he enrolls at the University of Kentucky in September, will represent this region in the third annual East-West high school all-star basketball game in Lexington, August 14.

SLUGGER

Hats off to Bill Young, Jr., 11 year-old Dodgers catcher, who slugged the first home runs of the 1954 Little League season. He drove two out the park, good for six runs, in the Dodgers' 9 to 5 conquest of the Yankees last week.

Qualifying rounds for the second annual Wheelwright Invitational golf tournament this week-end must be played before Friday, June 25.

LITTLE LEAGUE RULES

(Editor's Note: Each week The Times will publish various rules of Little League to keep parents and spectators informed of the rules the youngsters play under.)

Major differences between Little League and Major League baseball rules:

1. The playing field is, in most dimensions, two-thirds the size of the regulation diamond.
2. Regulation games consist of six innings.
3. The catcher does not have to catch the third strike. The batter is out.
4. Base runners may not leave their bases until the ball has been delivered and has reached the batter.
5. Runners are allowed only one base when the pitchers overthrows in attempting to pick off a runner.
6. Pitchers are allowed five preparatory pitches at the beginning of an inning or when relieving another pitcher.
7. The pitcher does not have to pause one second when pitching for the set position.
8. The offensive manager may accept either the penalty or the play when a balk is called.

Cootie Representatives Organize Pup Tent Here

Big Cooties came to town recently, but they weren't the kind that antagonize the service man. Rather, they were top officials of the Military Order of the Cootie, and their purpose here was to set up a local organization. The Cooties are to the VFW what the 40 el 8 are to the American Legion.

Visiting Cootie officials were Ervin F. Rothenbuhler, chief of staff of the order, of Lexington, Ernest W. Hall, counsel of American members, of Wilmore, Ky., Jack Fugh, grand commander of Kentucky, Dave Franks, Cootie of Pup Tent No. 2, of Newport, and E. F. Duffy, chief of staff of Kentucky.

The organization meet was held at the VFW club at Lancer and the following officers of the new group, named Pup Tent No. 16, were elected: E. H. Stumbo, commander; Dr. Jack Salisbury, vice-commander; Thomas Lemaster, junior vice-commander; Carl Robinette, adjutant; Jarvis Allen, quartermaster; L. B. May, chaplain; Herb Patton, judge-advocate, and Glenn Robinette, historian.

2nd Annual Golf Tourney To Be Held This Week-End At W'wright Country Club

The second annual E. R. Price invitation amateur golf tournament will be held this week-end on the nine-hole Wheelwright Country Club course.

Qualifying rounds may be played anytime but must be completed before Friday. Thus far, more than 100 golfers have sent in $7.50 entrance fees which includes a banquet and dance at the clubhouse Saturday evening.

Eighteen prizes, valued at more than $500, will be given to the winners and runners-up in each flight.

Last year's winner, Billy Peters, of Hazard, fired a two-over-par 64 to win the title on the treacherous course. He plans to defend his crown this year.

The 3,000-yard lay-out has greens on the sides of the hills and narrow fairways that challenge the best golfers. A hook or slice on virtually any hole will sail out of bounds.

The championship flight is scheduled for Saturday.

State Teacher Shortage Still Remains 'Critical'

Frankfort, Ky., June 21 (SpI)—
The State Department of Education reported today that "there still remains a definite and critical shortage of teachers in Kentucky, with the greatest shortage at the elementary level."

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Wendell P. Butler today disclosed results of a survey made by Dr. Adros Doran, formerly director of Teacher Education and Certification, disclosing that 2,408 emergency positions were approved during the year for those who did not meet legal minimum requirements for certification. More than 19,800 teachers were employed altogether.

The number of emergency certificates is some 400 fewer than a year ago when there were about 2,800 emergency teachers employed for the year.

Some 15 per cent of the teaching at the elementary level and five per cent at the secondary level were filled by teachers holding emergency certificates.

In addition, Dr. Doran's study showed that 816 teachers who entered school rooms for the first time in 1953-54 began teaching on emergency certificates. This is 43 more than for the previous year—a fact that "indicates there are not enough teachers being trained to fill the additional positions available each year."

"It is significant to note that about six per cent of the teachers serving on emergency certificates have not earned any college credits, while nearly 58 per cent have completed fewer than 64 semester hours of college, and about 15 per cent hold an A. B. degree or above."

PULPWOOD IS CASH CROP

By James A. Newsom
Field Agent in Forestry

Everyone is searching for new cash crops or industry for Eastern Kentucky to help put people to work. Forests cover a large part of the land in your section of the state, but few people look at them as an opportunity. The growing and harvesting of trees is a business. Pulpwood is a cash crop.

Each week a pulpwood yard receiving 100 cords of peeled wood will pump about $1,700 into the area which it serves. This money will be distributed directly to the growers of timber, the man who makes trees into five foot sticks, and to the truck owners who haul the product to the yard.

Pulpwood is usually made from trees which are too small or too poor in quality to make good saw-timber. These trees are not usually saleable for any other use and handled right pulp production will not interfere with the growing of high quality, high priced sawtimber or veneer which every "free farmer" wants to grow in his woods. In fact, by taking advantage of pulp markets, high quality timber can be grown faster and better by the alert and landowner. Next week, the improvement for pulpwood in young timber stands will be discussed.

A lot of pulpwood can be made from the tops of trees that have been cut for sawtimber, because there is usually part of the trunk that is too limby and knotty to make good quality lumber. It is left in the woods to rot. Why not work this material into five foot sticks?

The pulpwood operator cutting from tree tops should work right along with the crew felling the sawtimber, because bark will peel easier right after the tree is cut than any other time. Even a few hours delay in a hot summer sun will make bark stick tight, and cause a lot of hard extra work.

There are a lot of streambanks in Eastern Kentucky which are grown up. These trees are mainly gum, sycamore, willow, river birch, and maple; the very same ones that are being bought for pulp. Why not clear that stream bank now at a profit?

Clearing land for pasture or cropland will often yield a considerable amount of pulpwood.
All of the trees may not be the right kind, but there is probably some of them that could be sold for pulp.

hopes to have a new 1,100-foot antenna tower completed before the end of 1954.

Foundation and guy anchor steel arrived recently at the site near Lesage. The foundation will be made of 17½ tons of reinforcing steel and anchor bolts, and 620 cubic yards of concrete. The hexagonal base of the tower will be 25 feet across and 11 feet deep.

Outer guy anchors for the tri-

FLOYD MOTOR COMPANY • Prestonsburg, Ky.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

PARTICULARLY TO

Owners of all Motor Vehicles

I wish to inform the public that a law relating to the issuance of licenses on all motor vehicles in the State of Kentucky, which was passed by the last General Assembly, became effective June 17, 1954.

From that date I must obey the provisions of that law.

WHAT THE LAW PROVIDES

The law requires that any person applying for a license receipt and plate or transfer of license must submit to the County Clerk to whom the application is made a tax receipt or other evidence showing that he has paid in full all taxes on personal property for the year preceding the one in which the license is issued.

For example, most people will pay their 1954 personal property taxes between August 1, 1954, and January 1, 1955.

Persons who apply for licenses or transfers on motor vehicles between June 17, 1954, and January 1, 1955, must bring to my office their 1953 tax receipt in order for the license or transfer to be issued to them.

IF YOU HAVE NO TAX RECEIPT

If you have not retained your 1953 tax receipt, or at the time you apply for your automobile or truck license you do not have the tax receipt in your possession for the next preceding year here is what you may do in order to get motor vehicle license:

You must go to the office of the Sheriff of your county and get from him a signed statement that all personal property taxes collected through his office have been paid.

Also: if you reside in an incorporated city or town, you must get from the city clerk of such city or town a similar statement that all personal property taxes owed such city or town for the next preceding year have been fully paid.

This statement or these statements must be presented by the applicant to the County Clerk's office office before such license is issued or before a transfer can be made.

IF YOU OWED NO PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES

If you owed no personal property taxes for the year preceding the one in which you apply for motor vehicle license, you must, in order to have such license issued by our office, bring to this office a statement by the Tax Commissioner of the county that you were not liable for the payment of any personal property taxes for the preceding year.

THIS EXPLANATION FOR YOUR BENEFIT

This complete explanation of the provisions of the new law is made for the benefit of the public, to acquaint the people with it, and to make it easier for them to observe it.

Respectfully,

DuRan Moore

Clerk, Floyd County Court

Following is the law as enacted by the last General Assembly:

HOUSE BILL No. 346

An Act Relating to the Registration of Motor Vehicles

SECTION 1. (1) No person residing in this state who is required by KRS 186.020 to 186.260 to register a motor vehicle in this state shall be issued a motor vehicle registration receipt or motor vehicle registration plate for such motor vehicle unless he shall, when applying for such receipt and plate, submit to the county clerk to whom such application is made a tax receipt, or other evidence, showing that he has paid in full all taxes on personal property, including franchises, subject to taxation in the county in which he resides, which, during the year next preceding that for which such registration receipt and plate are to be issued, fell due and payable by him to the state and to the county in which he resides. An owner of a motor vehicle who was neither liable for the payment of nor subject to such state and county taxes falling due and payable during such preceding year, shall be deemed to have complied with the requirements of this section if, when applying for such motor vehicle registration receipt and plate, he shall submit to the county clerk to whom such application is made a signed statement from the tax commissioner of the county in which he resides, certifying that such owner was not liable for the payment of such taxes and was not subject to such taxes during such preceding year.

(2) The term "other evidence," as used in subsection (1) of this section, shall mean a statement signed by the sheriff of the county in which the owner of such motor vehicle resides, which statement may be stamped or written upon the back of the registration receipt issued to the applicant for the preceding year.

SECTION 2. (1) No person residing in any city in this state levying and collecting taxes on personal property who is required by KRS 186.020 to 186.260 to register a motor vehicle in this state, shall be issued a motor vehicle registration receipt or motor vehicle registration plate for such motor vehicle unless he shall, when applying for such receipt and such plate, submit to the county clerk to whom such application is made, in addition to the information required in Section 1 of this Act, a tax receipt, or other evidence, showing that he has paid in full all taxes on personal property, including franchises, which during the year next preceding that for which such registration receipt and plate are to be issued, fell due and payable by him to the city in which he resides. The term "other evidence," as used in this section, shall mean a statement signed by the official charged with the duty of collecting personal property taxes levied by the city in which the owner of such motor vehicle resides, which statement may be stamped or written upon the back of the registration receipt issued to the applicant for the preceding year.

(2) An owner of a motor vehicle who was neither liable for the payment of nor subject to the city taxes referred to in subsection (1) of this section falling due and payable during the year next preceding that for which such motor vehicle registration receipt and plate are to be issued, shall be deemed to have complied with the requirements of subsection (1) of this section if, when applying for such motor vehicle registration receipt and plate, he shall submit to the county clerk to whom such application is made a signed statement from the official charged with the duty of assessing personal property in the city in which he resides, certifying that such owner was not liable for the payment of such taxes and was not subject to such taxes during such preceding year. SECTION 3. Compliance with the provisions of this Act shall not relieve the owner of any motor vehicle of the necessity of fulfilling all other requirements prescribed by law for the registration of motor vehicles in this state.

Henry Pleads Guilty
On Two Counts of Case
In Mt. Sterling Court

Willis Clay Henry, of Mt. Sterling, who figured in a sensational case of alleged robbery here two years ago, was fined a total of $1,500 by U. S. District Judge H. Church Ford recently after he changed his plea to guilty on two counts of an indictment charging liquor law violations.

The charge was entered shortly before he and his brother, Oliver Franklin Henry, were scheduled for a second trial. One count against Oliver Franklin Henry was dismissed.

The defendants had been sentenced to three years in prison and fined by Judge Ford in July, 1952, but the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals granted them a new trial on the ground that the judge erred in permitting the jury to hear testimony for a second time by playing a recording of the trial.

The charges to which Willis Clay Henry pleaded guilty were selling at wholesale without a basic permit.

Both he and his brother had been charged on another count—falling to keep daily records—but it was dismissed as to both.

not hold up as a high percentage factor in the economy upon closer scrutiny. Figures from the Kentucky Department of Economic Security show that:

1. Unemployment payments actually amounted to less than 1 per cent (.839) of the effective buying income in 1953.

2. Those receiving such payments each week last year, on the average, amounted to less than 1 per cent (.54) of the population.

3. On a family, or breadwinner basis, those receiving unemployment compensation represented only 1.98 per cent of the family units each week.

4. Even if unemployment compensation payments rise 100 per cent in 1954, they would still amount to only 1.678 per cent of the 1953 effective buying income figure. (Actually, they have risen only about 40 per cent.)

Spot checks made by the Louisville businessmen along the Eastern Kentucky tour indicated that bank deposits are holding up well in comparison with last year and better than a few years back. Because of the coal slump, businesses dealing directly with products and services required by the coal industry were reported off—but most other outlets reported business as "about normal".... "slightly down".... or "slightly up."

While the coal counties have seen many marginal mines close their doors and others reduce the work week, the Louisville men noted that other sources of income have been and are being found by many. The upgrading of agriculture was mentioned as important in practically all communities visited. In one county (Magoffin) 2,500 new oil wells are being drilled.

Another reason the 1953 income figures held up well, according to a story in this month's edition of Louisville magazine, may be that even during the prosperous hey day of UMW activities there was considerable union-imposed unemployment in the form of strikes. Payments were made to the workers by the union in the form of strike benefits, however, while present payments are coming from the government in the form of legitimate unemployment compensation. This puts them on the record for the first time in many years, of course.

In summary, the article said the following about the tour: "It produced considerable evidence that conditions as a whole are not as bad as they are sometimes said to be; all communities are seeking improvement; none are looking for handouts; diversification is an objective in all the counties... and steps are being taken to answer the challenge of continuing prosperity, with or without the coal industry."

STATE NOT RAISING TAXES BY EQUILIZATION, CLAIM

Special to The Times
FRANKFORT, KY. — The State Tax Commissioner is not increasing automatically the amount of taxes that any taxpayer will owe a county, city or school district under its program of adjusting property assessments by blanket raises, Commissioner of Revenue Robert Alphin said here recently.

The commission is merely complying with the Constitution and state law which require it to equalize assessments among counties, the commissioner said.

The commission began in April the task of bringing property assessments up to at least the state average of approximately 31 per cent of their fair market value. There were some 70 counties assessing lots, farms acreage or tangible personalty at below 31 per cent in 1953.

Tentative raises were made for these counties, and public hearings are being conducted for those wishing to protest. It is expected that the program will be completed soon after June 20.

Alphin said the hearings have indicated that misunderstanding may exist as to what the commission is doing. He emphasized that the state is not raising taxes but is simply carrying out a first step toward getting assessments equalized among counties.

"The Kentucky Constitution says that property shall be assessed at its fair market value yet county averages range all the way from 17 to 57 per cent. The average is approximately 31 per cent and by bringing all counties up to that figure this year we will have a good start on eventually getting assessments equalized throughout Kentucky."

Alphin said that the complaint that assessments are not equal on individual pieces of property within a county shall not affect the aim of getting the counties on an equal basis. It is up to the County Tax Commissioner and Board of Supervisors within the county to see that equality among individual taxpayers is obtained, and the State has continually offered them aid along this line, and will continue to do so, he said. The local officials were notified some months ago of the commission's plans and had ample time to act, he continued.

The Commissioner also pointed out that the state does not set local tax rates and, thus, could not raise taxes within a taxing unit.

"Some counties have protested that a raise in assessment will produce more money than they need to run their county government. If this is true, and if the people will be paying too much in taxes on the increased assessment imposed by the Kentucky Tax Commission, the counties should take steps to lower their tax rates."

Governor Wetherby, in endorsing the equalization project when it was first announced, made the same point.

"In government, as in business, we get what we pay for," Wetherby said. "In many counties, we are not paying enough to adequately support good local government and schools. Some counties, on the other hand may be in a position to lower their taxes to offset an increase in assessment. I encourage them, where possible, to do so and keep taxes at a minimum commensurate with sound government and schools."

The state gets only five cents on the hundred dollars of assessed value of real estate and fifty cents on tangible personal property and thus will not figure to profit greatly on increased assessments, Alphin said. These figures are set by the General Assembly and are not in the province of the State Tax Commission, he pointed out.

Alphin also stated that cities and city school districts not using a county assessment will not have their city assessment affected.

HIGHWAY AUTHORITY ARGUED

Frankfort, Ky., June 21 — Franklin Circuit Judge William B. Ardey took under submission arguments involving validity of the 1954 Kentucky Highway Authority Act and requested attorneys on both sides of the controversy to submit additional written memoranda to supplement oral arguments in the case. He termed it the most "momentous case" ever argued in Franklin Circuit Court, with more far-reaching implications. It would authorize the Highway Department to lease roads to an authority for improvement, and then "rent" them back from the authority, with a lien upon future road revenues.

It makes you feel like the man you are

You must know, of course, that a fine car is more than merely a means of fine travel.

It is, as the psychologists tell us, an extension of a man's own personality.

It reflects what you feel, what you like, what you are.

So we ask you to take the wheel of a Buick ROADMASTER like the one shown here—for it is, we have found, the automobile chosen more and more by those who are definitely moving ahead in the world.

You will find it a car that fairly breathes success.

From its size and its breadth and the magnificent modernity of its styling, you know it is a car of custom stature—and so does the watching world.

The wondrous windshield is a pride in itself. You don't just see the view—you command it.

You will find it, too, a car of luxurious obedience.

From the moment you ease your foot down on the pedal, you take immediate mastery of the road and of distance.

And you know it—in the silken whip of Twin-Turbine Dynaflow, the might of Buick's greatest horsepower, the magic cushioning of coil springs on all four wheels, the exhilarating ease of Buick Safety Power Steering at your hand.

But with all this, you buy with prudence when you buy a ROADMASTER.

For—though it is, and looks, custom production—it sells for the lowest price-per-pound in the fine-car field. And so wise an investment makes you feel even more like the man you are.

Drop in, or phone us this week, and we'll gladly arrange a demonstration.

BUICK SALES ARE SOARING!

Latest figures for the first four months of 1954 show Buick now outselling every other car in America except two of the so-called "low-price three." Better look into Buick if you want the beauty and the buy of the year.
