This Town— That World

The first day of autumn came and went without anybody sending us a poem about it. Which indicates the world may not be in such bad shape, after all.

DISCOURAGING, ISN'T IT?

Youngsters starting out in college are just now learning how little they had learned during all their past years in school. Four years, or thereabouts, from now they'll be starting out in that other school which will prove to them how little they learned in college.

MAVERICK

The newspapers this morning tell us that John Roosevelt, son of the late FDR, is national vice-chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower committee which is trying to elect a Republican Congress. This is one Roosevelt, the G.O.P. will not declare a menace to our way of life, and that thumping noise you heard may have been FDR turning over in his grave.

We shudder when folks begin hunting for typographical errors in The Times; and, willing to let by gones errors be by gones, have carefully refrained from commenting on the mistakes of others. But when The Courier-Journal's magazine section last Sunday printed Leland Miles' "Age of Sloppiness," which among other things pointed to printers' boobies, we couldn't overlook two of same on one page of the article: "God protect us" and "has lost his heritage."

Could these things be because the proofreader's hand is quicker than the eye?

THE COUNCILMAN MAKES GOOD

Councilman Watt Hale, who has Allen Trout's penchant for getting to the root of the matter about things abstruse and otherwise, has been hard put to account for what happened to one of his constituents.

The issue at hand involved a certain elongated citizen who vowed a mule had kicked him a good 15 feet and hadn't cracked the skin on

BOOK SERVICE BEGINNING SET

Bookmobile's First Run Scheduled for Monday, Driver-Librarian Says

Robert Wallace, driver-librarian of Floyd county's Bookmobile, said this week he will start the county's first mobile library service, Monday.

Mr. Wallace said no schedule had been prepared for his itinerary, but he indicated that schools of the county will be his first ports of call, with stops for service to adults developing with the interest shown.

The Bookmobile starts out with a supply of 999 volumes which came with the unit. These have been catalogued and ready for distribution now. Books of interest to every age group and covering practically every field are included in this supply.

Yet, to be catalogued are almost 2,000 volumes collected in the county during a book drive sponsored by the Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce. The latest addition to this store of books were the 444 volumes brought here this week from Wheelwright.

In addition to the books available for distribution, magazines will be made available as the supply lasts.

MASONS HERE TO OBSERVE CENTENNIAL

Banquet To Feature Saturday Celebration Of Founding of Lodge

Zebulon Lodge, "mother" of all Masonic lodges south of Catlettsburg in a huge area embracing several mountain counties, Saturday night, will celebrate 100 years of Masonic history and service to Prestonsburg and Eastern Kentucky.

The centennial celebration will be held at the Masonic temple here, beginning with a banquet at 7 p.m. Zebulon Lodge held its first meeting on October 31, 1853 under dispensation in a jury room of the old building that at that time served Floyd county as its second courthouse. This structure stood on the present site of the Municipal building, formerly The First National Bank building, on First avenue.

A handful of Masons attended that first meeting, and among the charter members were John P. Martin, Greenville M. Witten, James Trimble, William J. May, Joseph M. Davidson, Alexander Martin and Judge John M. Elliott.

John P. Martin, who at a Democratic national convention came within half a vote of the nomination for Vice President of the United States, was the first master of the lodge. Since that time, 65 others prominent in the life of the county and section have served the lodge in that capacity.

Over the years the lodge occupied different buildings, and in 1924 the lodge room located in one of these was burned to the ground. Shortly thereafter, construction of the present Masonic building was begun. The Masonic temple occupies the second floor of this structure.

The long history of the lodge shows that in its 100 years it has numbered in its membership and among its leaders men prominent in almost every field of endeavor in this section of Kentucky—at least two Congressmen, doctors, lawyers, jurists, bankers, ministers, teachers and men representing all the professions and trades. Currently, its degree team is widely known for its work, and in 1952 this team was featured at the session of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky.

From that small gathering which formed the lodge in 1853 the membership has grown to approximately 420. The growth of the lodge has been most rapid in the last 15 years, jumping to its present figure from a membership of only 110 in 1939.

At the banquet here Saturday evening, John W. Hall, of Martin, grand junior warden of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky, will briefly review the history of the lodge. Mr. Hall is the first member of the lodge to become an elective officer in the Grand Lodge. Dr. R. M. Sirkle, past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky, will preside as master of ceremonies.

The principal speaker will be Right Worshipful Chester Hodges of the Grand Lodge of Ohio, and the present chief raban of Syrian temple, Cincinnati. Deputy Grand

W.U. PROPOSES LOCAL CHANGE

Telegraph Company Plans Agency, Says Office Here Operating at a Deficit

The Western Union Telegraph Company proposes to discontinue its office here and to substitute an agency to handle its wire service, it was announced Tuesday by Raymond Durkin, Knoxville, Tenn., district manager.

The company, Mr. Durkin said, has operated at a loss here for the last five years. He said the agency method will mean no loss of service, or change in the method of serving the area, except that the company will pay a commission to its agents rather than a straight salary.

The agency will be located in the Prestonsburg Flower Shop, with Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hines in charge. The agency will have a teleprinter, such as is used in regular Western Union offices, and Mr. and Mrs. Hines will be thoroughly trained to handle all messages.

Durkin said the change will be made within three to six months, depending on approval by the Federal Communications Commission. A similar agency was recently established at Pineville, Ky., he said. About three years ago the company's plan for such a change here was defeated.

ALL-STAR SIX IS ALL-FLOYD

Floyd Mines and Miners Sweep Safety Day Events Held by Mining Institute

Floyd countians dominated the all-star first aid team selected from the best of the competing teams at the Safety Day meet at Pikeville, Monday. The announcement of the all-star team climaxed an annual affair sponsored by the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Mining Institute and the United Mine Workers. Mine-rescue, first-aid teams and miners from the tri-state coal area attended.

Selected to comprise the all-star team were Edward F. Robinson, of the Turner Elkhorn Coal Company, Drift; Roy Conley, Inland Steel Co., Wheelwright; Elmer Caudill, of Inland Steel; Fred Molette, Princess Elkhorn Coal Company, David; Raymond Wetzel, of the Consolidation Coal Company, of Jenkins; and Luther Hall, of Inland Steel.

Alternates named were Howard Hamilton, Princess Elkhorn; Estill Cox, Consolidation, and Roy Hicks, Turner Elkhorn.

The contest was held in the Pikeville Junior College gymnasium before several hundred spectators. Before the results were announced, the Patsy Teen-agers, a choral group composed of Princess Elkhorn miners' children, and Miss Betty Stalnaker, Pikeville accordionist, gave a musical program.

Contributing to the entertainment program was 9-year-old Dennis Gene Anderson, Elkhorn City tap dancer, who has been auditioned for the Ted Mack television show in New York.

The morning program, held in the Pikeville City Park, saw a mine-rescue team representing

LEWIS PLANS CO-OPERATION

With Coal Producers To Develop Exports, Chicago Paper Says

John L. Lewis is working on a plan whereby his United Mine Workers and coal operators of the country would work together in developing and serving export markets for U. S. coal. Such was the report published Monday by the Chicago Tribune.

Quoting unnamed aides of the U.M.W. president, the Tribune said Lewis plans a non-profit export company to be jointly financed by the union and the mine owners. The company would lease World War II Liberty ships now in "mothball" storage to carry the coal to foreign markets.

Lewis estimates the corporation could quintuple the present foreign sales of 10 million tons a year to 50 millions a year, the newspaper said. The story said the plan would require:

1. Approval by the State Department and the Eisenhower Administration.
2. Securing leases of the Liberty ships on "special terms."
3. Government agreement to pay insurance on the ships (Lewis' plan contemplates that the export company insures cargoes.)

The story quotes Lewis as saying that France, Italy and Yugoslavia are using American aid dollars to buy coal from Russian-dominated Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Lewis was quoted as saying: "Our mines are idle, our railroads don't haul coal, our businessmen in mining communities don't have the trade, the Treasury Department doesn't have taxes because we spend one billion dollars a year in Japan in procurement for the armed forces. They take the dollars—the Russians won't take anything else—and they buy Manchurian coal to operate the Japanese steel industry and enable them to undersell and underbid our fabricated steel producers in the world markets."

The Tribune said that in 1952 approval of the plan was voiced by Charles E. Wilson, at that time defense mobilizer.

Wilson, formerly president of General Electric Company, now is chairman of the executive committee of the board of directors of W. R. Grace & Co., international trading and shipping firm. The newspaper said that others who expressed approval of the plan in '52 were Raymond E. Salvati, president of the Island Creek Coal Co., of Huntington, W. Va., and Harry Moses, labor representative for the North-east coal mine operators.

All interested in membership in the Floyd County Community Concert Association were urged this week to see by Oct. 4 one of the several community captains named for the membership drive.

Membership in the Floyd association assures the member the opportunity to attend three outstanding stage and music performances in Prestonsburg, and also affords the member without charge the same privilege at Pikeville, Paintsville and Louisa where other artist talent will present music concerts or plays. In Prestonsburg the three attractions will be the famous Barter

CLUB STAGES CAREER NIGHT

High School Pupils Told of Professions In Meet at Garrett

Prospective teachers, lawyers, doctors, nurses, engineers, business administrators, and even a jet pilot or two—all 240 of them, composed of sophomores, juniors, and seniors from Wayland and Garrett high schools—turned out in force last Tuesday evening at Garrett high school for Career Night, an event sponsored annually by the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club.

To speak to these future leaders were men already well-known in their profession, such as Monroe Wicker, head of the Training School, Morehead State Teachers' College; Dean Bembower, Pikeville College; and L. B. Price, Wayland high school principal. Others who came to advise in their particular fields included Harris S. Howard, Prestonsburg attorney; George Ramsey, Mayo Vocational School, Paintsville; Rev. Dorsey, Pastor, Wayland Methodist Church; Paul Long and Billy Ray Howard, Commerce teachers, Wayland and Garrett high schools.

Activities begin at 5:30 with assembly in the Garrett high school auditorium with Charles Clarke, principal of the school, acting as master of ceremonies. A quintet of Wayland seniors, composed of Alma Haywood, Georgene Little, DeLores Crager, Wendell Patton, and Hubert Hall, entertained with a group of currently popular songs, accompanied at the piano by Christine Haywood.

CITY BOARD ASKS $15,000

Votes Bill for Tuition As Special Meet Held; Three in Board Race

The Prestonsburg Board of Education in a special meeting Monday voted to send the Floyd County Board of Education a bill in the amount of $15,000 for tuition of pupils who are attending the Prestonsburg schools from outside the independent district.

At the same time, the City notified its teachers that the 10% salary increase voted them will not become effective, citing as the reason for this disappointing news the failure to get anticipated tuition funds from the county.

County Superintendent Virgil O. Turner said Tuesday his office had not received the bill. Joe Hobson, attorney for the County Board, explained that in a conference at Frankfort between Mr. Turner, himself, City Superintendent Chalmers H. Frazier and Department of Education officials a tuition figure of $7,500 had been tentatively agreed on. The County Board has not met since that time and so has not had an opportunity to give official approval of tuition settlement on this basis, it was explained.

The school board picture has become further involved with opposition to the county school administration in Educational Division No. 1 where the present Board member, James Greene, is opposed by Jesse Wallen and Frank Arnett, Dr. J. H. Allen, administration member from Division 2, is unopposed.

The three present members of the City Board of Education who are seeking re-election are unopposed. They are William Arnold Spradlin, W. V. Bunting and Dr. George P. Archer.

All candidates for posts on the two boards filed Sept. 17, the last day for filing.

SPOT-BUYING HURTING COAL

Federal Policy Cited By Francis in Speech Made in Denver, Colo.

Spot purchasing policies of the federal government are "doing more to distress coal marketing" than any other single influence, David L. Francis, president of the Princess Elkhorn Coal Co., David, said Monday in an address in Denver, Colorado.

His speech was made before the National Resources committee of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Francis declared that the effect of "this tremendous power... being exerted to drive coal prices down month after month" has carried over to private producers of electric power and other coal buyers.

He said the policies must be revised to "keep coal prepared for the traditional role as a major producer of energy and emergency fuel."

Mr. Francis said that rates for electricity produced by public utilities usually are set up to give management a fair investment return and to protect the public against overcharges. He condemned the practice of buying coal on a spot market and "bidding one coal company against another" in disregard of production costs.

He recommended that utilities, whether government or private, contract for base fuel loads of a competitive basis for from one to ten years, purchasing only the variable load on a spot basis.

Distress-prices coals should be disregarded in setting price policy and stress placed on the cost of production as presented by the more efficient producers, Francis said.

This would be to the ultimate advantage of the utilities, whose coal requirements are expected to increase by 100 per cent in the next ten years, he declared.

"Such a policy will, over the

Dogwood Tree Specifications Released By Promoters of War Memorial Trail

Specifications of the trees to be furnished the Dogwood Trail Association for planting alongside U. S. 23 as a memorial to the county's war dead were released this week by the Association. Donors of trees are asked to fill out a donation blank and return it to Homer Wright, Prestonsburg.

The trees should be thrifty, between two and four feet tall, selected for uniformity and vigor.

They should be selected, Mr. Wright says, before the leaves fall and if needed to refind, marked. Farmers and landowners are asked to inventory their dogwood trees and advise the Association how many can be donated. A form to be returned has been sent out by the next regular meeting of the association will be held Oct. 14 at the Municipal building, Mrs. Johns says.

Equal Chance for East Ky., Is Clark Address Keynote

An "affirmative program, one designed to advance Eastern Kentucky to an equal chance with the rest of the country," was the keynote of the campaign-opening address made here, Saturday, by Mayor Curtis Clark, of Prestonsburg, Republican candidate for Congress from this district.

Mayor Clark spoke in the circuit courtroom and was heard over radio station WPRT.

Clark lashed out at the Truman administration, the failure of Democratic members of Congress to cooperate with the Eisenhower administration on major issues, and cited achievements of the present Republican regime in Washington. He took his Democratic opponent, Congressman Carl D. Perkins, to

Hill Hopes Compromise May Save Construction Of State Road to Lake

State Representative Lon C. Hill, upon his return today (Thursday), from the 14th Governor's Tour of the Cumberland Lake Area, reports that he is hopeful that a compromise can be worked out on right-of-way impasse which is reportedly holding up the construction of a state road to Dewey Dam. After discussing the problem with Conservation Commissioner Henry Ward, Hill expressed the opinion that the Prestonsburg-Auxier road might be black-topped and perhaps the road from the Brandy Keg boat dock as well if Floyd county would buy the necessary right-of-way to tie in the Prestonsburg-Auxier road with the proposed new highway to the dam.

Hill said he was in favor of the entire stretch of road being built on one contract but that the Frankfort officials advised him that this was impossible to do at once in view of the engineering work required. These officials are quoted as saying the lower section can be built this year and the balance, to connect with the Stratton Branch road, can be built next year.

11-MAN GROUP STUDIES PLAN

To Allocate Orders For Coal; Sturgill, Davis Are Selected

Encouraging programs have been made by an 11-man committee named to work with Harold E. Stassen, foreign operations administrator, and Roger Cooper, special consultant to Stassen in the coal situation, in allocating orders for the 2,000,000 tons of coal the federal government will buy from Kentucky operations for export.

After a meeting in Washington this week the committee left completion of the mechanics for placing the Kentucky tonnage in the export market to C. W. Davis, executive secretary of the Big Sandy Coal Operators Association, and William B. Sturgill, former Prestonsburg man who is executive secretary of the Hazard Coal Operators Association.

Distressed areas of both East and West Kentucky will be helped by federal coal-buying for foreign markets, but operators of this section hold that this area will get the lion's share of the big order because this field's distress is deeper than that of West Kentucky.

The 11-man committee appointed by Foreign Operations Administrator Stassen includes, in addition to Roger Cooper, who is president of the Kentucky River Coal Corp., the following:

Harry LaViers, Paintsville, and Hooper Love, Madisonville, industry representatives; Finley H. Davis and William E. Sturgill of the Hazard Coal Operators Association; F. L. Dupree and George Ward of the Harlan County Coal Operators Association; W. W. Goldsmith and C. W. Davis, of the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association; and Charles R. Griffith and Harry F. Homan of the Southern Appalachian Operators Association.

Joe P. Tackett, attorney for the two, said the three years given by the jury was the sentence his clients offered to accept before the trial.

The two were accused of holding up at gun's point the son of Rev. Henry Mullins at the minister's service station late at night, of tying his hands and feet with leather thongs and then rifling the cash register and fleeing in an automobile. The minister, alarmed by his son's cries for help, left his bed without taking time to don his trousers and with a neighbor set off in his truck after the fugitives.

Two other pen terms were given defendants in child desertion cases. Willard Neice was given three years and Hollie Castle, two. Otherwise, closing days of the term saw little activity.

These cases were dismissed: Andrew Tackett, cutting and wounding, dismissed for lack of evidence; Willis Tackett, possessing a moonshine still; Fred Newsome, Jr., drunk driving, dismissed because of invalidity of the warrant for his arrest. Newsome was re-indicted by the grand jury.

GRAND JURY REPORT HITS AT OFFICIAL

Says Magistrate Defied Court Order; May Says Summons Not Executed

Floyd County Magistrate John May, of District No. 2, was the subject of most of the final report filed by the grand jury on its adjournment Friday after May had failed to appear before the jury and produce his official records for inspection.

The report, signed by Oval Howard, foreman, alleged that the Magistrate had "deliberately refused to come before the grand jury," and cited what allegedly comprised a series of infractions of the law by May.

After earlier summons had failed to produce the official as a witness, an attachment was issued for him. He appeared here Monday and executed $500 bond. A hearing on the attachment has been scheduled next Monday.

The Magistrate averred that officers had never served a summons on him but that in a telephone conversation he had learned of the summons and had planned to appear before the jury. He explained he was called to Knott county on a gas field job, and that this caused him not to appear as planned. He added, however, that he did not propose to bring his books to Prestonsburg.

"I have done nothing wrong and have nothing to hide. My books are open to the public at my home, but the law does not require me to move them from there to Prestonsburg," Mr. May said.

Attacking the jury report and actions taken by Commonwealth's Attorney Burnis Martin as "smear tactics," May said that he and four witnesses would testify that after the summons for him was issued he stood in plain view at Moore's Service Station, near Martin, and waved to officers passing by. These were the officers, he said, who later claimed he would not honor summons. They did not stop, he added.

The grand jury report, in part, follows:

"We have interviewed three of the Magistrates about their fines and forfeitures, about their judgment books, cash books and replenish bonds and find they were very willing to cooperate with the grand jury. . . . However, we find one Magistrate, Mr. John May, who has deliberately refused to come before the grand jury after repeated notices, summonses and orders of arrest, and

TWO PENNED FOR HOLDUP

Youth of Defendants Considered by Jury; Term Ends Saturday

A jury of the Floyd circuit court last Friday held that James Gordon Moore and James Marvin Goodman were guilty of the robbery of the Mullins Service Station near Bosco, and fixed the term of each at three years in the state reformatory.

Youth of the two defendants, their clean court record previous to the Bosco robbery and their claim that they voluntarily surrendered to officers after considering their crime caused the jury to be lenient.

Joe P. Tackett, attorney for the two, said the three years given by the jury was the sentence his clients offered to accept before the trial.

The two were accused of holding up at gun's point the son of Rev. Henry Mullins at the minister's service station late at night, of tying his hands and feet with leather thongs and then rifling the cash register and fleeing in an automobile. The minister, alarmed by his son's cries for help, left his bed without taking time to don his trousers and with a neighbor set off in his truck after the fugitives.

Two other pen terms were given defendants in child desertion cases. Willard Neice was given three years and Hollie Castle, two. Otherwise, closing days of the term saw little activity.

These cases were dismissed: Andrew Tackett, cutting and wounding, dismissed for lack of evidence; Willis Tackett, possessing a moonshine still; Fred Newsome, Jr., drunk driving, dismissed because of invalidity of the warrant for his arrest. Newsome was re-indicted by the grand jury.

Daily production of U. S. bituminous coal amounts to more than one million tons, enough to fill a train of 50-ton coal cars reaching from Pittsburgh to Cleveland.

BELL CLAIMS BAR TO PACT

Rests in Union Refusal To Ban 'Quickie' Strikes; 'Untrue' Daniels Retort

The Southern Bell Telephone Company said this week the CWA-CIO refusal to accept a clause to assure uninterrupted telephone service to the public is virtually all that is standing in the way of final agreement on a new contract.

Frank M. Malone, personnel vice-president of Southern Bell, said: "The company's insistence on an uninterrupted service clause is to require the Union to follow orderly procedures established in the contract for adjustment of differences during the life of the agreement."

Lionie B. Daniel, chairman of the CWA-CIO bargaining committee, had this to say of Malone's statement:

"The only trouble with such a statement is that it is not true. . . If it were, it would mean that the company has no further objection to granting hospital insurance . . . to greatly improved pensions and benefits . . . to the union's demand that supervisors cease performing craft work . . . to wholesale reclassification of jobs and towns . . . to our demand for a wage increase—and so on. . ."

Mr. Malone's statement continued:

"It is common practice for Union-Management agreements to include provisions assuring no work stoppages by employees as long as a contract is in force. In fact, about 89% of labor-management contracts today include some such provision.

"Protection of the public in this manner is particularly important in the telephone business. National defense and the public health, welfare and safety depend vitally on telephone service. It is essential that the service not be disrupted.

"There has been an average of one strike every 10 days in Southern Bell since the present contract was signed. These service disruptions have been an intolerable imposition on the public.

Mr. Malone said that a wage offer, involving increases up to $2.50 per week, substantially that which the Union indicated would be acceptable, had been made and is ready to be placed in effect immediately upon agreement on a workable continuity-of-service clause and signing of a new contract. This offer is designed to keep the wages of telephone employees well in line with wage levels in the communities where they work and live. It was made after an extensive survey to determine prevailing wage levels in the cities and towns where Southern Bell operates.

The CWA-Company contract expired Wednesday night. Bargaining, which has been in progress since July 19, will continue in an effort to reach an agreement.

Fred A. James, president of Local 3317 here, said a meeting of Big Sandy employees of the company was scheduled at Allen, Wednesday night.

H. M. SHEVNER, widely known expert of Chicago, will personally be at the Henry Clay Hotel, Ashland, Mon. and Tues., only Oct. 4 and 5, from 9 A.M. to 4 P.M.

Mr. Shevner says: The Zoetic Shield is a tremendous improvement over all former methods, effecting immediate results. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly no matter the size or location but it will increase the circulation, strengthen the weakened parts, and thereby close the opening in ten days on the average case, regardless of heavy lifting, straining or any position the body may assume. A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangements and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments.

Mr. Shevner will be glad to demonstrate without charge.

him. But, he added, one of his back jaw teeth was yanked, or yanked itself, out while he was en route from here where the mule's foot made contact with him to there where he made contact with the ground. "And that tooth was as sound as a dollar, too!" he was told. "Now, Mr. Hale, what do you think of that?" the somewhat ruffled citizen asked.

The narrator of this story being a voter, and fully registered, Councilman Hale could not tell him what he thought. So, like an astute politician, he promised to come up with an answer to the man's problem.

But, as others before him have found, it wasn't easy to make good on what he had promised. How could a man be kicked in seat of the pants by a mule, and the only injury be the loss of a tooth?

It took a good deal of thinking, but the Councilman finally came up with the answer which he gave forth in measured tones at his West Prestonsburg barber shop, one morning recently:

"The jaw tooth was lost because my constituent who got himself kicked 15 feet was a free, or loose, object, and that back jaw tooth of his was sound and firm and stationary. So the owner of the tooth gave with the kick but the tooth didn't, and so it appears he simply was kicked loose from his tooth."

The only fault we can find with this conclusion is, it doesn't explain why other teeth weren't yanked out, too.

IF YOU MUST . . .

Middlesboro went dry recently, after many years of serving as an oasis. An explanation of this turn of events was sought, and Mr. J. R. Bradley, of Louisville, produced a card which, he said, helped the dry cause no end. It reads:

"If you absolutely cannot refrain from drinking, start a saloon in your home. Be the only customer and you will not have to buy a license. Give your wife $12 to buy a gallon of whiskey. There are 128 snorts in a gallon. Buy all your drinks from your wife at 40c a snort, and in four days, when the gallon is gone, your wife will have $39.20 to put in the bank and she will also have $12 left to start up in business all over again. If you live ten years and continue to buy all your booze from your wife, and then die with snakes in your boots, your widow will have $35,740.40 (and perhaps a part of a gallon you didn't get to finish off before you kicked off) on deposit to bring your children up, buy a house and lot, marry a decent man and forget she ever knew you."

picnic supper was served to the group in the grade school lunch room. The young people then re-assembled in the high school auditorium to listen to the various speakers.

"Education helps one not only to make a better living but to live a fuller, richer life with more understanding of the world about one," explained Monroe Wicker in the main speech of the evening. "Too much emphasis is placed on one's getting an education for the sake of making a living and not enough on education for the sake of education itself," he added.

Gratitude was expressed by Caroline Price, Wayland senior, and Doug Chaffines, representing Garrett seniors, to the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club for making the occasion possible.

The students then dispersed to join smaller groups located in various classrooms, each group representing a particular profession and presided over by a representative of that profession, where counsel and information might be received.

Career Night began three years ago at the suggestion of Mrs. Noah Howard, then chairman of the Youth Conservation committee. It was originally planned for high school juniors and seniors, but the club, realizing the importance of the student's early choice of a career, decided this year to include sophomores as well. This venture has proved to be a tremendous success and attendance has been growing each year in spite of the exodus of many families from this region due to the economic situation.

Chairman-at-large for the recent event was L. B. Price, assisted by Mesdames Milton Trusty, Jr., J. T. Spillman, J. C. Wells, S. M. Martin, M. M. Collins, Otto Martin, and Noah Howard, members, and Mrs. B. Martin and Mrs. Chas. Clarke, Garrett. Frank Stewart, a faculty member, was the photographer for the occasion.

Appreciation is expressed by the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club to the Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Pikeville; Pet Milk Co., Hazard; and Spurlock Food Service, Prestonsburg, for their courtesy in furnishing their products free of charge.

BREAD LINES SANS BREAD

Says Perkins Replying To Ruling That Wheat Not To Be Given Needy

The federal government's surplus food program for the relief of needy families was described recently by Congressman Carl D. Perkins as "bread lines without bread".

The appellation was made in a letter from the Congressman to Roy W. Lennartson, deputy administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, Department of Agriculture after Lennartson had advised Perkins that bread will not be included in the program because wheat in storage is not considered in danger of being wasted.

Perkins pointed out that Section 301 of Public Law 480, approved July 10, this year, authorizes the distribution of any farm commodities or products thereof owned or controlled by the Department of Agriculture to any area that has been designated as critical unemployment area. "This," wrote the Congressman, "is not only ample authority for distribution of bread, but in my opinion was intended as a directive from Congress for the inclusion of wheat or any other farm surplus commodity in this program."

Continuing, the Congressman wrote Lennartson:

"You refer to the fact that states are not allowed to use surplus farm commodities such as wheat for the payment of processing foods. Section 301 of Public Law 480 authorizes your agency to process these commodities or in a more practical way to trade these commodities for processed foods. It is my considered opinion that a firm such as Ballard and Ballard at Louisville, Kentucky would immediately consign flour to the critical unemployment areas of the state if you would agree to consign them an amount of stored wheat sufficient to produce such flour. I cannot agree that the policing job necessary to see that Ballard and Ballard carried out their part of the contract as to composition, protein count and other technical requirements, would be difficult. In fact, this Kentucky milling firm is recognized as a reliable and efficient processor of wheat and they, or any other recognized milling firm, would do an acceptable job. Neither do I accept your statement that such a program would not materially reduce Government inventories of wheat except under conditions of widescale and long-duration unemployment.

"My personal knowledge of the unemployment situation in Kentucky and western West Virginia is that unemployment in an area with approximately one million inhabitants is both widescale and of long duration. In fact, a large percentage of these unemployed workers have long since exhausted their unemployment insurance rights and have no immediate prospects for re-employment. Recent developments which have seen such industrial centers as Detroit, Pittsburg, and Charleston, West Virginia added to the critical unemployment list, gives no indication that these unemployed workers could migrate to other industrial centers and obtain employment.

"The current wheat surplus of approximately three-quarters of a billion bushels remains a threat to the farm economy and Congress acted to allow your agency to help reduce this surplus either at home or abroad. I actively supported the approval of Public Law 480 under the impression that it was intended to give your agency authority to add such items as bread to the list of foods being distributed to critical unemployment areas and I am disappointed that you and your agency have refused to accept this act as an integral part of your program for the disposal of surplus farm foods. Does this mean that only that portion of Public Law 480 which provides for the disposal of surplus farm products by giving them to foreign countries will be recognized by your agency? If this is your policy, I am sure it fails to carry out the intent of Congress in approving the law."

Anderson. Mrs. Anderson was killed in a motorcycle wreck, Sept. 16. Mrs. Anderson's daughter, Mrs. Elymas Olson, is at right.

The policy was sold by Eugene Conley, Blue Grass Life representative, to Mr. Anderson on Aug. 3, and he had paid only the initial premium. In addition to the check received by Mrs. Anderson, she received a sight draft for $500 which was paid at The First Guaranty Bank, Martin, Ky., making a total of $5,650.75 paid her on the claim.

fore we had taken office," he declared. He estimated that the cheap oil imported has replaced 40 million tons of coal, which represents the loss last year of 166 days of work for every miner in America.

On the subject of Big Sandy river canalization Mayor Clark echoed a charge heard in the Democratic primary. He said: "In the recent Democratic primary certain people who were opposed to our present Congressman publicly charged that our Congressman was against canalization, and they offered to pay for time on a television station for the Congressman to deny this. As far as I know he has never accepted their offer, so we must believe he is against canalization."

Clark promised a vigorous campaign and called for the support of all Democrats as well as Republicans "who feel that we are not properly represented by our present Congressman in Washington."

Music preceding the address was supplied by the Prestonsburg high school band. Adding to the gathering which heard him was a large group of children observing National Kids Day as guests of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club.

ELECT ARNETT

When the schools get too far away from the parents and children it is time for the people to act. We say the schools belong to the people, the taxpayers, and they should have a voice in the type of schools they want.

The only motive for seeking election to the Board of Education is a desire to render service to the children—to obtain for all our children the best schools possible for our tax dollar.

As parents we don't think we are now getting this sort of deal—We contend the schools are not being run for the best interests of the children, but for the selfish interests of a few. We believe the Board is controlled by a few politicians whose only interest is building up a political machine.

Let us elect a man who has no axes to grind—a man who can not be controlled by the politicians—a man who is interested in the welfare of our children.

A Code of Decency

It is heartening to learn that both candidates for the U. S. Senate from Kentucky have signed the Code of Fair Campaign Practices which has been drawn up and sponsored nationally by a group of eminent Americans. But can Alben Barkley and John Sherman Cooper hold the line? If they can keep a Kentucky election campaign within the bounds of the "decency, honesty and fair play" principle to which they have subscribed their names, the two of them will have achieved something of inestimable worth, regardless of the outcome of the election itself.

All who have watched the local, state and national political scene will view this year's campaign with interest, to see if indeed two politicians will abide by this code as religiously as their predecessors ago complied with the gentleman's code duello; and to see if their "seconds" can be held in line to act as honorably.

However well-meaning the two candidates may be, and doubtless are, there's a lot of latitude left others campaigning for them. Neither of the gentlemen is expected to attack the personal integrity or character of his opponent, but till their supporters become equally interested in political ethics others doubtless will. The whispering will be heard, here and there, the scurrilous election propaganda will bob up in print.

Yet the Code promises a better day for Kentucky and national politics. Pledges to these high ideals cannot hurt:

"I shall conduct my campaign in the best American tradition, discussing the issues as I see them, presenting my record and policies of my opponent and his party which merit such criticism.

"I shall defend and uphold the right of every qualified American voter to full and equal participation in the electoral process.

"I shall condemn the use of personal vilification, character defamation, whispering campaigns, libel, slander, or scurrilous attacks on any candidate, as well as the use of family life.

"I shall condemn the use of campaign material of any sort which misrepresents, distorts, or otherwise falsifies the facts regarding any candidate, as well as the use of malicious or unfounded accusations against any candidate which aim at creating or exploiting doubts, without justification, as to his loyalty and patriotism.

"I shall condemn any appeal to prejudice based on race, creed, or national origin.

"I shall condemn any dishonest or unethical practice which tends to corrupt or undermine our American system of free elections or which hampers or prevents the full and free expression of the will of the voters.

"I shall immediately and publicly repudiate the support of any individual or group which resorts, on behalf of my candidacy, to the methods and tactics which I condemn."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PLEADS FOR HELP FOR RETARDED TOTS

Thank you for using my letter, as I have heard from Mrs. Robert Martin, of Martin, Ky., asking my help in getting a school for retarded children.

I hope it will help her, for no child on earth needs help more than the retarded child. They have been forgotten too long. It's time everyone wakes up to this fact. A school like this has to be operated by a Council for Retarded Children. It is a non-profit organization and people must donate their money to operate it.

I'd like to ask my home county people to please get behind this and put it over. I know the people of my home county are the kindest ever, and no place on earth is as dear to me as my old home place. In fact, in the past four years, we have brought my Mom and Dad both back home for their final resting place. So you can understand how I feel.

I was born at Maytown, Ky., and lived there until I was 15 years old. I still have a brother, D. L. Bentley, and his family there.

Once again I ask you of Floyd county to donate all you can to a school for Retarded Children. We have had our school here in Indiana since October, 1953. We still have around $2,300 in the treasury. We have two teachers this year and have bought a station wagon to use for a bus.

Come on, home folks, get this school for the retarded. These children are born everyday and normal children can fall or be ill and become retarded. PLEASE!

STORY OF FLOYD MISSIONARIES

How many of us think of the Psalms 68:19 when we are rejoicing about a building going up? It goes like this: "Blessed be the Lord, who daily leadech us with benefits." How many of us even give thanks to the Father for giving us anything, let alone each day as the work progresses, our hearts rejoice?

Would we think of the days and months as: "We saw the sub-floor and the partitions put," and after much hard labor, the building covered with a fine roof of green asphalt shingles. This month of June.

From July 20-21, we saw the cement poured for a floor, on July 24, we moved in our furniture which was in a rented building. That night, we had our first housewarming "with our people, What a time of rejoicing!"

August—We saw more window sills poured and the hardware attached to the window frames. September—We saw glass installed in the windows, some necessary wiring done, and everything installed. We are seeing our prayers answered one by one. "The Lord has been so good to us." Our prayers have been answered and now we have a new church and a new house. Our hearts rejoice.

This is almost like a dairy belonging to Eileen Kernan, Lois Allen, Mary Lou Rhodes, and Eleanor Aker. This is the way their days have been going these last few months as they watched the new building that had been started in the last two years and had been built by the hands of willing laborers, who donated their time and labor to the building of a nice building that would house the Gretel Missionary Church, at Gretel, Ky., and a nice apartment for the girls who have spent several years here in the hills of Kentucky as missionaries. These girls were originally from New York. They set up their first places to hold services in a store building and rented houses. But all the time they were working and praying for a bigger and better place to live and work.

Those prayers have been answered; they now have a nice apartment and a real nice place to worship. This church is on good roads, only two miles off the hard-top road. This is a great load off the girls' shoulders. These girls visit the schools in the vicinity of Branham's Creek, Toler and the Mud Creeks. They have worn out a jeep and two or three other cars as they traveled the bumpy roads in that area. The building of better roads has helped lighten the wear and tear on the girls and the cars.

These four girls visit 28 schools, have 52 classes and reach 2,000 children and teachers a week. They travel 150 miles a week to the schools. They are thanking the Lord for the improved roads, that make their traveling much easier.

They say their WELCOME shingle is out to all who want to come and visit them.

ASKS HELP FOR THOSE WHO HELP US

Did you ever look out on the beautiful hills of Kentucky this time of the year and think, "This is my country, my hills and my people"? If you haven't you should leave here for a while and then you would begin to appreciate it as much as I do. Not only I, but almost every one who leaves these hills feels the same way.

Did you ever meet a soldier on the street and have him walk up to you and say, "I want you to keep on fighting for the people of the Big Sandy Valley, with your letters"? Did you ever talk to a farmer who had to stay away from his family two-thirds of his time and hear him say, "Keep on writing those letters asking for something to be done for the people of Kentucky—people like me who never see their children more than two days out of a month, let alone helping to raise them, because of lack of work here at home."

I have had this happen to me and I never felt so humble and so helpless in my life. There is such a little I can do to help those people. I am almost ashamed to do my little bit. I am not too ashamed, though, for I know just how they feel. I have gone through the same experience.

There isn't much I can do for the people of my valley, but write letters asking for help. There is one thing I can suggest they do for themselves. Put or keep men in office, who love Kentucky as we do and who will fight for it. Study every record of the men who are in office, every record of the men who want to get in office. Study their efforts the past years in or out of office and see if they have been trying to help us. If they have been for us, vote for them, no matter what your politics have been before. If they have proven in the past they will be for us, vote for them. When we get people in office who are for us, only then will we have industries and work for the people of Eastern Kentucky.

I want to thank everyone of you, who have helped our folks in the past and for what you will do for us in the future.

next decade, provide utilities with a cheaper fuel than is provided by their present buying policies if taking it month by month on a spot market and cutting companies off and on as they see fit, because it will encourage the coal industry to reinvest its profits and depreciation, and will further reduce costs by added efficiencies," he said.

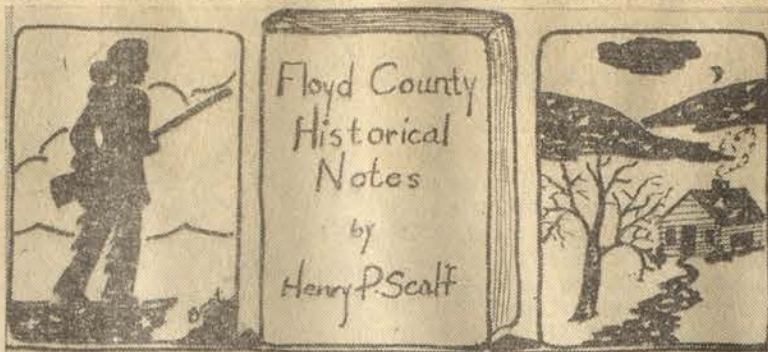

Francis also recommended freight-rate reductions and a limit on residual oil imports to maintain a vigorous level of coal production. He said it was not proper for the ultimate consumer, in some cases, to have to pay a delivered price of more than double the coal price at the mine.

Francis said there are two favorable straws in the wind which may check coal's downward spiral. One is growing industry co-operation and the other is the studies being made by the federal government and Governors of fuel states.

James Taylor Adams, known for the last several months to the readers of The Times for his column, "Picked Up in Passing," died Sept. 10, at his home at Big Laurel, Wise county, Va. He was a local historian and genealogist of wide note, and was the author of several books on folklore. His column, "Picked Up in Passing," was syndicated in a number of newspapers in the tristate area of Virginia, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Mr. Adams, his age not given in news dispatches, was born on Colly Creek, Letcher county, the son of a Primitive Baptist minister. He was self-educated, having few opportunities to attend school while a youth. It is said that he learned to read from the newspapers that were pasted on his parent's home. A few years after his father died, when he was 16 years of age, he went to Glamorgan, Wise county, Virginia, to work at a coke oven. Later he entered the mines for a brief period. Several trips were made by him to establish a home, either in Missouri or Arkansas, but he always returned to Wise county.

His first attempts at writing were contributions to the old Chicago Glade and Grit, when he was a youth. He tried several newspaper and magazine ventures, one of them being The Cumberland Empire, when he was associated with Rufus M. Reed, a poet, who now resides at Lovely, Johnson county. At various times newspapers were started by him at Neon, Jenkins, McRoberts, Pound, Coeburn and St. Paul, but none of them were successful. He confided privately to friends that he was no businessman. The newspapers and magazines he started are now sought as collector's items.

The postoffice of Big Laurel was established in 1912 as the result of his efforts and was named for a rhododendron tree growing on the lawn of the Adams' home. He served as the postmaster almost continuously since the office was established. The Adams Family Association was established, chiefly through his efforts, and a library building at Big Laurel, housing over 10,000 volumes of genealogy and history, was constructed through his efforts.

Mr. Adams had been in ill health for several months and death came while he was dictating a story to his son, Spencer Adams. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Dicy Robert Adams, and besides his son Spencer Adams, the following sons and daughters: Mrs. Troy Mullins, Mrs. Winifred J. Kilgore, both of Norton; Mrs. A. B. Franklin, of McRoberts; Mrs. Howard Pegram, of Stirrat, W. Va.; Cpl. Simpson A. Adams at Fort Jackson, S. C. Funeral rites were held Monday of last week near the home, the Rev. Sam Vance officiating. An address of Prof. Luther F. Addington, an associate, was made at the last rites. Burial followed in the family cemetery.

If You Remember . . .

By HENRY P. SCALF

Nothing pleased the old farmer more when people said it was good water, than one other than the water from his well refreshed so much. They had said that now for a long time, for years they had told him that. Today, and each day, when he looked down into the pool of clear blue water, he would reminisce to himself, back until he recalled when there was a dearth of water, when there were back-breaking hours of arduous carrying of water or exploratory walks over the fields of his farm in search of it, searching for himself and his livestock. The arduous tasks made it seem like yesterday, though it was long ago.

There had been a spring when he built his home, a spring that bubbled from the earth and mocked the years of drought. Building a wall around it was more a gesture of possessive satisfaction than the need to enclose it. For a decade it was his pride. Then the streams that fed it down under the earth changed course and the bottom of the spring became a moist, flat bottom of muck, mixed with a few dead leaves. He tore down the enclosure wall and the winds whipped the depression, that was once a pool of living water, full of the dried leaves of autumn.

He dug a well nearer the house and although the water was sweetish and tasted of the earth's minerals, he was thankful and cheerful for the bounty of it. It remained constant with many years, supplied him and his until the children were grown and gone away. Then one day he noticed the first faint stirrings of mud as his bucket touched the bottom. Old and wise now with the things of earth, he knew that the stream that fed it was changing course, that like the spring of his younger days, it would dry up and the wind would whip it full of dead leaves.

Tasks, that are lightly borne when we are young, become burdens indeed with age. The hours of carrying the precious fluid made him stoop, causing him to set his palms down and lean upon the fence. He knew he was growing old.

BY WILMAY

(The views expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the views of The Times.)

And a gorgeous one for all who saw the Flower Show. Early in the day, Irma Tallent, Edith Price and a few others beat the judges selecting the winning entry. Most of us fumbled, trying. Besides hearing some good musical talent, everyone had a peek of fun. And some of us listened while the kind-hearted judges pointed out the flaws in arrangements, a helpful experience, for criticism does more than praise.

We made a first-class faux pas. Thurla Ramey usually wins in the stage class with a stunning container that belongs to Mrs. Patrick. The vase alone is an eye-catcher. But this time it failed to take top honors in that group. Remarkably to Viola Stewart that we had expected it to, we added, "But there is little difference, for no doubt Thurla did the gold basket that won." Mrs. Ramey grows gold dahlias. Vi laughed fit to kill. "The gold basket was mine," she confided. "The girls made me enter it against my will. I, too, though Thurla would win." Both of us laughed over this, and the same fine spirit characterized the entire show. A grand time, a good show and general improvement come before competition with all taking part. Those girls work very hard getting ready. May the Lord pity the judges: so many glorious arrangements appear. The yellow roses by Golda Osborn, pink asters by Gloria Jones, and rust zinnias from Dolly Messer—plus many others—were breathtaking.

Rex Osborn and Mrs. Dave Stephens from WPRT, Edith James, Mrs. Claude Stephens, Elsie Patrick, and Virginia Short, all added much to the day in various ways.

Watch for news about National Retarded Children's Week, coming Nov. 14-23. At last our county is becoming interested in its little handicapped ones. If Floyd will follow Mrs. Robert Martin and others promoting a council for their welfare, we shall lead in Kentucky.

"Pure Fantasy," by the editor in his column last week, is a literary masterpiece, unsurpassed for sentimental value as well. Only folks like you and me can make the Dogwood Trail here come true. It is big-hearted of Reba Mayo to offer to provide trees for a long distance in honor of Dick, but small of us if we permit Gold Star mothers to give more, when they have already made the supreme sacrifice. Isn't it Our Turn now?

A girl who had heard some eminent luminaries teach Sunday School attended the First Baptist Church in Martin. She then said she has never heard anyone else equal Mrs. Clarence King. (No surprise to members of Lois' class.) Mrs. King spends much time preparing for the task God gave her. The amazing part is that she has not been a Christian long. A few years back, she declined major positions because of inexperience. But she was willing to be used. God can accomplish much with the yielded life. Another nice fact is that the entire King family is active for Christ.

Hope no Baptist misses the article on Page 4, in the Sept. 14th Recorder. It is time all of us take a sensible view of the problem, which is real indeed, and starts from the top in big circles.

Been trying all week to duplicate Peach Crunch, a delectable dessert Edith Howard used to tantalize our appetites with last Tuesday. It is to be baked an hour and a half, but at lowest temperatures—with bottom door open—it would have burned in thirty minutes in the May oven! Net result: no crunch. The boss offered to regulate the control. Net result: singed brows, hair. (Lips quipped, "What hair?"). Burned web cabinet and plastic overhead, plus some improvement in the flame. In the meantime the Boss suggests that other causes (nameless!) might perchance be responsible for the contrast between May and Howard culinary products. Ahem! In one hour Sunday, Cherry Crunch, by the same recipe, did get half crunchy. He loved it. We're gonna take the next try to Mae Hagans' electric oven, where gas worries are non-existent. If that fails we'll seek an appointment with Edith in her colorful kitchen.

Johnnie and Vicie Ward have a cute kiddie starting school this year. They say recently Beekie Sue's teacher rang the bell when recess ended. Everyone except Beekie Sue marched inside. She kept playing on the campus. When the teacher called her, she is reported to have answered, "Oh, that's all right teacher. You just go ahead, and I'll come in when I get through playing." Very considerate!

Tell you about another primer kiddie next week. He is a dear, and more entertaining than a TV show.

Lexington Psychiatrist Offers Services At Clinic for Retarded Floyd Children; Committee Holds Its Initial Meeting

Dr. Leet, Lexington psychiatrist, told members of the Floyd Council for retarded children at the recent Pikeville meeting that he will hold a clinic monthly for a period of six months without charge if the Council will make available a number of children that would justify a clinic.

Making this offer of free assistance, the Lexington man pointed out that local doctors would be expected to donate their time to medical work in connection with the clinic. Dr. Frances Sherman and Dr. R. M. Sirkle, of the two Martin hospitals, have offered their services if the clinic is held in Martin.

Immediate work of the committee now will be to ascertain if parents of retarded children will bring them to a clinic for help.

Attending the Pikeville meeting, in addition to the Rev. Robert Martin, of Martin, who launched the drive for help for retarded children, were these members of the Floyd committee: Mrs. A. H. Mandt, of Manton; County Superintendent V. O. Turner, Prestonsburg; J. H. Pace, representing the Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club, Wheelwright; Mrs. J. H. Keenan, of Prestonsburg; Mrs. N. D. Howard, of Wayland, and Dr. Frances Sherman, of Martin.

WARCO WOMAN TOP WINNER AT MAYTOWN FLOWER SHOW

The Maytown Woman's Club's fourth annual Flower Show held Sept. 18 in the Maytown high school gymnasium, was highlighted by the presentation of an inscribed loving cup to the winner of the outstanding arrangement of the entire show. Mrs. Thomas R. Flannery, of Warco, received the cup for her arrangement of informal dahlias (Pride of Milwaukee) in a beige container accompanied by harmonizing candle with gold beads.

Henry C. Hagan and William B. Owsley, of Morehead State College, were highly complimentary of the staging this year. They were particularly impressed by the improvement of the flower show. The choice of containers which enhanced the beauty of the flowers received special notice. Mr. Hagan, who has judged the show for the past two years, along with other flower growers, maintained that this year was the best yet.

There were 175 entries this year in 10 classes, with blue, red and white ribbons being awarded for first, second and third places. The names of the winners appear in that order:

African violets—Bertha Cick, Mrs. Roy Martin. Cacti—Cressie Marshall, Mrs. Hugh Rowland, Mrs. Ida Acree.

The Bride's Table, featuring sea green tulle and pink carnations, was especially attractive.

that he has refused and still refuses to appear before the grand jury.

"We find that between the months of April and September, 1954 approximately 37 persons were arrested and placed in jail for various offenses, and that when he made his report to the court in September, 1954, he only turned in fines for approximately 17; that we interviewed some defendants who had been arrested and placed in jail, charged with drunken driving, and that several of these testified under oath that . . . May fined them $100 after they had entered a plea of guilty; that the said John May turned them loose without payment, without going to jail and without signing any replevin bond, and as far as they know their cases have been completely disposed of."

The report also accused the Magistrate of "deliberately and willfully misappropriating public funds, converting public funds and . . . malfeasance in office." This statement, the report pointed out, was based on the claim that when Magistrate May turned in his fines in the amount of $192 he gave Circuit Clerk W. W. Cooley a cold check covering that amount.

May, the report continued, defied three notices to appear before the grand jury and also defied the circuit court which issued a warrant of arrest for him without bond.

The grand jury failed, however, to vote an indictment against the official. Its final report recommended that the court take whatever action it deems advisable, adding that "some kind of action needs to be taken."

Magistrate May said here Tuesday that the report was written by the Commonwealth's Attorney and was signed by the grand jury foreman because the latter believed he had to sign it.

Continuing, the jury's report said:

"We find also that Mr. May . . . from the sworn evidence before the grand jury, had a certain woman subpoenaed before the grand jury to indict certain officers of the Sheriff's force for raiding and catching the bootleggers on Right Beaver Creek, and one of the bootleggers that was caught was with him at the time he served a subpoena on this woman to appear before the grand jury . . . The said woman swore under oath that all these various persons were guilty of bootlegging and that they were raided and that liquor and beer was found on their premises during this raid with the exception of one who had a government stamp."

Otherwise, the jury's report noted that the jail needs a new roof or repairs to the present roof, new toilets, a screen door for the jail kitchen, repair of drain pipes from the jail roof, cleaning up of the basement kitchen and of rubbish about the courthouse.

Methodist Church Here To Occupy New Building For First Time Sunday

The First Methodist Church, Prestonsburg, will occupy its new educational building Sunday, October 3, for the Sunday School hour at 9:45 a.m., the pastor, the Rev. Harold W. Dorsey, announced this week. The goal for attendance on this Sunday, which is also "Rally Day," is 350.

It is planned that all of the classes will meet in the sanctuary and each class will be dismissed as a unit and enter its respective classroom. Provision has been made for all classes to be in the new building, except the Men's Bible class which will be provided a special room in the church.

There will be 15 classes meeting in the new building, Sunday morning. Nursery facilities will be provided for church services. The week-day kindergarten will use the new building, with access to the efficiency kitchen which is used in preparing the morning snack for the kindergarten. The Methodist Youth Fellowship will meet in the new building.

Construction of the educational building was begun after groundbreaking ceremonies which were held on the first Sunday in November, 1953. The building is 72 feet by 46 feet. It is accessible through the basement or from the first floor of the church, and is heated with an automatic gas-hot-water system. The furniture throughout the building will be natural oak.

The purpose of the building is for the training of children, youth and adults in Christ's way of life. It is the aim of the church to work in accomplishing Christ's command, "Go Ye and Teach."

Those who served on the building committee are Dr. George P. Archer, chairman, H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., treasurer, Mrs. Burl Spurlock, Clabe Bingham, James Carter, C. H. Frazier, C. L. Hut-sinpipler and the pastor.

During the Sunday morning worship service at 10:55, Holy Communion will be observed in keeping with "World-Wide Communion Sunday." Most of the protestant churches will join in this fellowship around the world, this Sunday.

County Citizens Give $780 in Recent Drive; How Funds Used Told

Floyd county has contributed as of this week a total of $780 to the emergency polio fund, Ray Howard, county drive chairman said Wednesday.

Mr. Howard said there apparently is considerable misunderstanding about where the money subscribed by the public goes and how it is spent, and he offered this resume of how funds were used in 1953:

Out of every dollar contributed, 62.1 cents are used for the care of polio patients; 13.9 cents go for research and education, the new Salk serum and gamma globulin; 13.3 cents are spent for polio prevention throughout the United States; 3.7 cents go to administration expenses; 2.8 cents for state office rent, etc.; 2.3 cents for medical department services; 1.3 cents for services to every chapter in the county; 0.6 cents for public information concerning polio, its effects, how to diagnose polio, facts about the new serum, gamma globulin, etc.

Mr. Howard added he has the 1953 annual report of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and that he invites interested persons to study it.

liquors for beverage purposes; Junior Collins, carrying a concealed deadly weapon; Virgil (Tom) Shepherd, drunk driving, carrying a concealed deadly weapon and reckless use of a deadly weapon; L. B. Blair, reckless use of a deadly weapon and destroying property of another; Cleon Wooten, removing attached property to another state; Hatler Hill, hit-and-run driving; Silas Derossett, false arrest, accused by John Reynolds of arresting him for drunkenness when he had not been drinking; Claude Mullins, Garner and Taulbee Derossett, grand larceny, stealing wire at Printer (Bert Mullins, Commonwealth witness, told the grand jury he went with them to get the wire).

Magistrate May said here Tuesday that the report was written by the Commonwealth's Attorney and was signed by the grand jury foreman because the latter believed he had to sign it.

Jaycees Here Launch Voice of Democracy Contest in Schools

The eighth annual VOICE OF DEMOCRACY contest was launched this week when the Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce met to set plans for the broadcast script writing and voicing competition, which officially get under way in conjunction with observance of National Radio and Television Week, Nov. 7-13.

Sponsored by the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, the Radio-Electronics-Television Manufacturers Association and the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, the contest is open to 10th, 11th and 12th grade students of all schools within the nation and territories. Contestants are required to write and then voice, via recordings, five-minute scripts on the subject, "I speak for Democracy." Following community and state eliminations, a dozen finalists will be chosen from among the 52 state and territorial winners. A panel of national judges will select four co-equal national winners, each of whom receive a $500.00 college scholarship, an all-expense trip to Washington, including a visit with the President, and a week's trip to historic Williamsburg, Virginia.

Barkley Sturgill, president of the Prestonsburg Jaycees, emphasized that the program is approved by the National Association of Secondary-School Principals and endorsed by the U. S. office of Education, U. S. Department of Health Education and Welfare, and that more than one million contestants are expected to strive for national honors this year. Although this is the first time this contest has been sponsored in Floyd county, Sturgill asked that the full support of the principals and teachers be given to the project.

Competition to determine the local winners will be staged during the period, November 22-30, with the winner's name to be announced Wednesday, Dec. 1. Station WPRT will transcribe the winner's script, and this recording will be entered in state eliminations. Twelve finalists are chosen by the National VOD contest committee in Washington, D. C., and these will be auditioned by the national judging panel.

At least Monday's meeting of the Jaycees, John G. Heinze was elected chairman of the local committee. After a briefing on the mechanics of the contest, Mr. Heinze said he would contact all the school principals in the county to give them the details of the contest.

Vets Thank People

We wish to take this means of thanking the people of Floyd county for their cooperation in the Rabies Clinics recently conducted there. We wish to point out that the vaccination program is to protect your dogs, your family and your community from a disease that surely kills. Rabies is one of the most dreaded of the animal diseases which may be controlled by man. There is no cure for rabies. It is only by these massive rabies vaccination clinics that this disease can be controlled. Those that have had their dogs vaccinated have three years protection from rabies.

As your practicing licensed veterinarians we were happy to do these clinics sponsored by and under the jurisdiction of your Floyd County Health Department. We are available as consultants in a veterinarian capacity in the rabies control program.

RECIPROcity CONTINUES

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 17 — Kentucky's Council on Public Higher Education recommended that the State Board of Education approve continuation of reciprocity agreements with other States on teacher certification, as one means of meeting the continuing qualified teacher shortage.

Under the policy, teachers who have completed a four-year college course in another state will be issued certificates to teach in Kentucky upon application.

State Teacher's Fund Contains $28,790,000

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 27—Kentucky's Teacher Retirement System closed its recent fiscal year with current obligations paid, and cash and securities on hand of more than $28,790,000—from which it derives an interest on its investment, N. O. Kimbler, Executive Director of the Retirement System disclosed today.

During the past year the system paid to teachers approximately $1,250,000 and received from teachers approximately $1,500,000. An additional $700,000 was received in interest income, while the state added into the fund $1,711,000.

Kimberly disclosed that during the past year, 143 of Kentucky teachers retired—with an average of 35 years' teaching service to their credit.

Monthly benefit checks range from $10 for a teacher with a credit of two years to about $100 for a teacher with 43 years. Average age at retirement is 65. Fourteen of those retiring were for disability, and 44 were under 65 years old. Youngest person retiring was 49, the oldest 70.

Simultaneously, Kimberly disclosed that of the 21,474 persons who are members of the Retirement System, average salaries are $2,574.21. There are 11,840 with salaries of less than $2,400—and 9,633 with salaries greater than 2,400.

Four years ago there were 14,896 teachers with salaries under $2,400 a year.

SHORTAGE

With the roundball season not long off, coaches may have difficulty securing officials, since a number of veteran "whistle-blowers" have sought greener pastures. However, several reputable referees remain in the person of Doc Ferrell, Milford "Toodles" Wells, of Prestonsburg; Jack Turner, Maytown; with newcomers Barkley J. Sturgill, Prestonsburg; Hugh Fugate, Wheelwright and Ollie Robinson, of Prestonsburg, aspiring to do a good job. We omit and disagree with coaches trying to do both.

SPORTS CHATTER

By Gordon Moore

For the second successive week, the "Blackcat Players-of-the-Week" award has ended in a tie. This week, halfbacks Clifford "Punkin" Goble and Ronnie Goble will share the award, which is sponsored weekly by Francis Stores in Prestonsburg.

This is the second award for the fleet-footed Clifford Goble.

We count our blessings as well as shekels. After a 1,102-mile auto trip last week to Memphis in the short space of 65 hours, 22 of which were spent in cruising about 80 miles per hour, it has been a week of rehashing, verifying or denying the radio accounts of Kentucky's loss to Ole Miss, not to mention the merits of individuals and "who-done-what".

If Prestonsburg and Pikeville ease by their respective opponents this Friday, their meeting next Thursday night, October 7, should be the outstanding high school football attraction of the early season in the state. Prestonsburg is first in the Commonwealth offensively, and Pikeville third, while the Panthers have only been scored on once.

Cumberland's flashy halfback Ronnie Cain, is the state's leading high school scorer with 73 points in five games. Lowell Hughes, Prestonsburg, is second with 57 in four games. The Blackcats and Cumberland are also waging a battle as the top offensive team, with Prestonsburg ahead, 174 to 171, in one game less.

BLACK CATS BOWL OVER ELKHORN CITY BY 54-20

The Prestonsburg Black Cats sailed along to their fourth consecutive victory last Friday night in rolling over Elkhorn City, 54-20, to move into the lead offensively among Kentucky's prep teams.

In scoring 54 points, the high-scoring Cats upped their four-game mark to 174 tallies, or 43.5 per game, for the number one position in the state.

Prestonsburg jumped to a first period 13-0 lead as Lowell Hughes flipped a 30-yard touchdown aerial to end Bert Dixon, who scooted 30 yards to pay dirt. It was his seventh touchdown pass of the season. Hughes also added the extra point.

Midway the second frame, Hughes again took to the air, and hit "Punkin" Goble with a 25-yard heave two minutes before galloping Ronnie Goble paced off 40 yards for the fourth Black Cat marker. Elkhorn City narrowed the half-time margin to 26-13 on Goble Salvers' two end skirts. Salvers, a 135-pound senior halfback, proved to be the biggest offensive threat faced by the Cats this season.

In the last half, Prestonsburg picked up four more TD's on Hughes' five-yard smash, Thurman Lafferty's end trek. "Punkin" Goble's end sweep of 20 yards and a Hughes to Dixon pass, which was good for 24 yards.

Salvers ended the scoring in the final quarter with his third touchdown of the game. Defensively, the Cats were probably at lowest ebb for the current season. They play Jenkins' Cavaliers here Friday night in a Conference game.

This announcement was made to newspapers of the area Wednesday, shortly after the Bowl committee made its selections for the event.

BETSY LAYNE

CLUB PRESENTS 3-PHASE PROGRAM

The Betsy Layne Woman's Club held its regular monthly meeting September 16, at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Prichard, Mrs. E. P. Davis had a program in the American Home department with the program divided into three phases.

The first phase was "What's New in Cooking" This division was in the form of a panel discussion, with Mrs. Davis acting as moderator.

The next phase of the program was a quiz, "Up to Date or Out of Date?" The purpose of the quiz was for each member to find out if she has the knack of being a 1954 model. A prize was awarded Miss Alice Williams for having the highest total correct. This quiz was taken from a recent issue of McCall's magazine. The final phase of the program was the presentation of The Kentucky Federation of Women's Club's American Home Department plans of work and goals for the year. Among the goals and aspirations of this department is the fact that the children of this county fall into the environment we make for them, and it is our duty to give them the very best. We are to study the attitudes of American Homelife as we study economics in the American home and to strive to give our children security along with the advantages of a substantial livelihood.

Mrs. Davis closed the program with the challenge as presented by Mrs. Henry, "When the women of America learn to live with God, we will be known by our lives, not our words as having a power unknown before. Do we dare?"

Mrs. Edward Lykins, president presided at the business meeting. Year books for the new club year were distributed. It was reported that 609 persons were x-rayed at the TB mobile unit clinic held at Harold on September 14 and 15. The following club members served as clerks: Mesdames Beecher Hardwick, O. J. Williams, Edward Lykins, E. P. Davis and Miss Alice Williams. It was decided that the next regular sewing meeting will be held September 23. This will be an all-day session at the home of Mrs. C. H. Fire Drill Planned In State Schools Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 27 — More than 400,000 Kentucky school children will participate in what is described by State Fire Marshal J. T. Underwood, Jr., as the world's largest fire drill scheduled for 10 a. m. (EST) on October 5.

A network of 46 Kentucky radio stations, the largest radio network ever set up in the state, will participate in the drill which will be touched off in the studios of radio station WHAS in Louisville. Tentative plans call for the drill to include additional stations in Arkansas.

The statewide fire drill is the climax of a radio show entitled "A Chance to Live," which is produced annually through the cooperation of the state's radio stations and the Fire Marshal's office.

The fire marshal emphasized that fire drills in Kentucky's schools play an important role in the overall fire safety education program. During the past year 59 state schools were damaged by fire.

BARKLEY CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE

(Pol. Adv.)

Statement to the People of Floyd County by John May

I am the latest victim of a scurrilous and false attack by Burnis Martin, Commonwealth Attorney. I have wondered why it is that this official has repeatedly used the powers of his office and the sanctity of a Grand Jury to maliciously and falsely abuse and accuse many people, including me, of conduct he knows we are not and have not been guilty of. I know other people have wondered why he follows a pattern of selecting certain individuals to attack, and why others have not been molested.

I have read a copy of the report of the Grand Jury made at its September term, 1954. I have been advised that this report was written by Mr. Burnis Martin and does not reflect the sentiment, feeling, or judgment of the majority of the Grand Jury. I am sure that if the Grand Jury has been of the opinion that the statements set out in that report were true, an indictment would have been returned against me. I was never served with a subpoena or notice to appear before the Grand Jury at any time. On the day before I was supposed to have appeared before the Grand Jury, according to this report, I saw three deputy sheriffs pass the road and I waved my hand at them. They did not stop or notify me in any way that I was wanted before the Grand Jury. I was busily engaged in the performance of my work drilling gas wells in Knott county and in Magoffin county. On the day that I was supposed to have been subpoenaed before the Grand Jury I was at work. I had no notice or any subpoena and did not know that I was expected to appear before the Grand Jury. A summons and attachment has been served on me since the Grand Jury adjourned and since this report was filed. I have reported to the Court all of the fines and forfeitures collected by me and will do so in the future. My records are open to the public as required by law and I invite anyone interested to inspect them at any time.

I have experienced some difficulty in the trial of certain cases in that I have been unable to secure the attendance of the arresting officers in my court, and in some instances it has been necessary for me to dismiss cases for the reason that the arresting officers would not appear in my court and testify as witnesses. Through reliable sources I have been informed that Sheriff Gorman Collins has notified his deputies that he would discharge them if they served any papers for me or arrested persons charged with crime and directed them to my court.

These Grand Jury investigations have turned out to be a springboard for Mr. Martin to expound his grievances against any person he dislikes and to whitewash and protect his political cohorts. As an example of what I am talking about I would like to quote you the following testimony of a Miss Gibson before the Floyd Grand Jury at the last term. You read it and draw your own conclusions:

"Q. Did someone back, did you swear out a search warrant for two or three boys in this county?"

A. I did.
Q. Did you use your own name?
A. No. I used Maxine Black. Al Patton gave me whisky and I was drinking some that night, and he took me up to Gorman Collins, but in the meantime he had Gorman to meet him and Gorman said, "We will go on up to the house" and he said I would never be known and Gorman said it would never be known."

Q. Did they give you some money to do that?
A. Al gave me $5.00 and he said, "I will see the Big Man and see you get some money" and he said, "When we make the raid I will see that you get some more beer."

Q. Who was with Al Patton?
A. When we were talking Gorman was with us. Al said that Gorman said for me to use a fake name and Gorman said, "The way we are playing this nobody will ever know who done it."

Don't be deceived by the practices of this great reformer. He is the same man who was instrumental in having a suit filed against John Chris Cornett, former Commonwealth's Attorney, because the county paid him a salary of $50.00 a month. The county pays Mr. Martin a salary of $1200.00 a year and pays his detective assistant $3,000.00. Of course, Mr. Martin is not interested in money, but it so happens that he is paid 25 per cent of the fines and forfeitures paid in the Magistrates and County Judge's Court, and 60% of all fines paid in the Circuit Court. Could this be the reason he is so interested in collecting fines?

I have done no wrong and have not been guilty of any misconduct in my office. I am ready at any time to show this fact to any interested party and to the public generally. I have been unjustly accused by a man who is an expert at the job for a selfish, personal and political reason.

Your friend,
JOHN MAY

WHEELWRIGHT

P.-T.A. MEETS
Wheelwright Parent-Teachers Association held its first meeting of the year last Thursday at the grade school cafeteria. Ralph Banks, the president, welcomed the parents and teachers and requested all parents to visit the school more often during the year.

After all the routine business had been concluded and new teachers introduced, those present visited the classrooms to inspect the improvements which had been done during the summer months. These improvements are many, including new doors installed at the front of both graded school buildings, sidewalks repaired, all classrooms not previously done and cafeteria in old building newly painted, completely rewired and new lights added in every room. Painting in north building was completed and new lighting installed in hallways. Hope was expressed that the remaining unfinished improvements of last year, and all the new projects undertaken, could be attained this year.

Principal Wayne Ratliff informed the meeting that many improvements had been made at the high school, including a new public address system. He said this year's high school enrollment is the largest ever, and was concerned about how many years longer the present buildings could accommodate this growing population.

Duplicate prizes had to be awarded when the P.-T. A. attendance prize was won by three teachers in the grade school (Mrs. Ratliff, Miss Osborne, Miss Rainey), and by two teachers in the high school (Mrs. Curry, Mr. Bradley). This was the first time more than one teacher had won in each school.

OBITUARY

Lida Richmond Cottrell, daughter of the late Isaac Richmond and Mary Rowena Cooley Richmond, was born in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, August 3, 1874. At the age of 18 she accepted Jesus Christ while a student at Sullins College, Bristol, Virginia. On her return home she united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Prestonsburg.

She was married to Frederick Hardin Cottrell, of Knoxville, Tennessee, on July 22, 1898. To this union were born three children: Inez, who is now Mrs. Joe Hobson; the late Dr. Jack T. Cottrell, and William Edgar Cottrell who died at the age of three years.

Mrs. Cottrell's father was the founder of the first department store in Prestonsburg, which bears his name today, and which is under the management of her grandson, Frederick Richmond Cottrell. Her maternal grandparents, David Cooley and family came to Floyd county from Russell county, Virginia in the early 1800's and resided on the lot where Mrs. Cottrell's home now stands.

Just recently, Mrs. Cottrell was presented a 50-year membership pin from Adah Chapter No. 24, Order of the Eastern Star, of which she was a charter member. She was a member of the Greenville Davidson Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy and of the Methodist Missionary Society.

She was a devout Christian, and in her last illness, her patience and loving personality never faltered. Many times she remarked that she was ready to go on and had no fears. She will never die in the memory of her family and friends, for her daily life was an example of cheer, love and happiness; her winning personality won for her many friends wherever she went.

Preceding her in death were two brothers, David Cooley Richmond and Dr. William Worth Richmond. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Joe Hobson, Prestonsburg; three grandchildren — Frederick Richmond Cottrell, Prestonsburg; Mrs. Ivan Bingham, Ashland; William Wilson Cottrell, Catlettsburg; four great-grandchildren, Carolyn Lee Cottrell and Betsy Cottrell, Prestonsburg; Anna Margaret Bingham, Jennifer Gary Bingham, Ashland; two nieces, Mrs. J. O. Webb and Mrs. Thomas Hereford, Jr., Prestonsburg, and a host of relatives and friends.

The requirements are:

Vehicles for transportation of seven persons or less, $10,000 for death or injury to one person; $20,000 liability for death or injury to persons, and $5,000 property damage.

Other insurance requirements, including protection in case of death to any one person, multiple liability and property damage, are:

Vehicles, 8 to 16 passengers, $10,000, $30,000, $5,000; 17 to 25 passengers, $10,000, $40,000 and $5,000; 26 or more, $10,000, $50,000 and $5,000.

For transportation of property the requirements are:

Vehicles of 18,000 pounds gross weight or less, $10,000; $20,000 and $5,000; more than 18,000 pounds, $10,000; $30,000 and $5,000.

Vehicles for transportation of inflammables, explosives and petroleum products are required to carry $10,000 for death or injury to any single person, and $25,000 each for total liability for death or injury to persons or property damage.

Pennsylvania had 13 counties last year in each of which bituminous coal production exceeded one million tons; Washington County occupying the honor spot with an output of nearly 17 million tons.

A DECLARATION OF INTENTION

We are The Democrats for Cooper Committee of Floyd County. Some time ago we met to organize but having little idea of how much support we could secure it was thought advisable to ask the great body of independent thinking Democrats if they would come forward and sign the Declaration of Intention to vote for John Sherman Cooper. This declaration said simply: "I am a Democrat. I intend to vote for John Sherman Cooper for United States Senator." That was all that was printed on the declaration. We sent it out to Democrats all over the county.

These declarations began to come back to us almost at once and scores of persons asked for other sheets to get filled out. In a week we were being swamped with declarations. In our files now are hundreds of signatures and as soon as practicable we will give you an accounting of the numbers and the names. The list contains business men, working men, doctors, men and women from every walk of life. All men and women rising above politics to make a solemn, written Declaration of Intention.

We are the independent organization of Democrats working for the good of Eastern Kentucky and are connected with no party organization. We seek to re-elect to the Senate one of Kentucky's great men.

Our choice was easily made for Cooper has demonstrated he is aware of the needs of Eastern Kentucky, that he understands the vast problems in economics that confronts us. The mines are now receiving orders for overseas coal, the Greenup Dam is being let for construction as a preliminary step to canalization of the Big Sandy and the Big Sandy River itself will soon be re-surveyed. These are steps he is taking to alleviate the distress of our people. To oppose him would be to foolishly strike at the hand extended to help us.

Since we are Democrats who intend to vote outside the party, we feel that you are entitled to know our reasons, for the same reason that impel us to vote for Cooper are the ones upon which we base our appeal to you. We list a few of them below, feeling that no one who is rational or fair or reasonable can question the validity of our thinking.

1. John Sherman Cooper is an Eastern Kentuckian himself, who understands our economic problems. If industry is to come to us, it will come only through the instrumentality of persons in sympathy with our needs. Other sections of Kentucky are making progress because years ago the basis of their prosperity was laid by men who were friendly to their home sections.

2. John Sherman Cooper has demonstrated time and again his ability to rise above partisanship, to thrust aside the demands of expedient politics and vote for the good of his state. His record of voting for the needs of his people is familiar to everyone.

3. The Greenup Dam, now in the first stages of construction, is but the first step in the canalization of Big Sandy River. The waters from that dam will extend to Lockwood. After the completion of the Greenup Dam, the canalization of our river is but a natural sequence to the first event. The first step is being taken, the next follows.

4. The purchase of 2,000,000 tons of coal from Kentucky for overseas shipment will materially aid our depressed coal industry. That the miners are getting more work, that the mine owners are selling more coal, are signs of the John Sherman Cooper program.

5. John Sherman Cooper's opponent has had 40 years of office within the gift of the Kentucky people. That 40 years has produced nothing for Eastern Kentucky that benefited our industrial development.

6. John Sherman Cooper has voted for increased Social Security benefits, increased benefits to veterans. These benefits are being reflected immediately in checks to the recipients.

We have no illusions as to what we are being called by the regular organization of Democrats. Nor are we concerned. Having made our choice to rise with John Sherman Cooper above partisanship, having placed the good of Kentucky paramount to all party labels, we expect as our reward only the satisfaction of doing a civic duty. The epithets of the regulars are but curses that pass with the wind. We say only to them that we are unafraid because we stand for a great Kentuckian, and as evidence that we want to be counted, we have signed our names.

We are proud that we have done so, proud of our associates, proud of our Declaration of Intention. We ask you to share our efforts, share with us our intention to vote for a great Kentuckian.

Democrats for Cooper Committee of Floyd County
