CRITICISM We so seldom present in this newspaper models of good writing—even good newspaper writing—that we shun the critic's seat. But one paragraph in a recent daily newspaper story points up for us a fault to which many who write fall heir.

NOBODY CALLED After two of the country's great newspaper publishers, Pulitzer and McCormick, had died within a day or so of each other, Jack May called me, with a note of concern in his voice, to inquire if I wasn't worried about myself.

RICE PETITION SAYS MURDER BILL ILLEGAL

Habeas Corpus Hearing In Floyd Case Scheduled For Oldham Circuit Court A petition for writ of habeas corpus seeking the release from LaGrange Reformatory of W. L. Rice, former Floyd county deputy sheriff, has been filed in the Oldham circuit court against Porter B. Lacy, warden of the prison.

Hearing on the petition has been scheduled April 30 before Circuit Judge Coleman Wright, of the Oldham county circuit court. Attorneys for Rice are the Prestonsburg law firm of Tackett & Tackett, Fred See, of Louisville, and George F. Williamson, of LaGrange.

When the Rice case first came up for trial here before Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill the defendant filed a motion to quash the indictment, insisting on the right to call the foreman of the grand jury and the grand jury's official reporter for the purpose of establishing the fact that no witness appeared before the grand jury and that the indictment was based wholly on the warrant issued for Rice's arrest by County Judge Henry Stumbo and an affidavit sworn to by Melvin H. Goble prior to issuance of the warrant. Judge Hill overruled the motion to quash.

STATE PROFFERS HELP ON PROBLEM; SPEEDING ORDINANCE IS ADOPTED

At the same meeting the Council took steps on its own part to do something about two phases of the traffic problem. Two ordinances were enacted. One of these fixed the speed limit on U. S. 23 through Prestonsburg to conform with the limit specified on highway signs, and set the speed limit for all other Prestonsburg streets at no more than 20 miles an hour. The other forbids any person to park on a Prestonsburg street or sidewalk to sell merchandise.

BUILDING BIDS DATE NEARER

Mrs. Maggie Fitzpatrick Leete, 82, widow of Dr. R. H. Leete, the first licensed dentist of Prestonsburg, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. C. P. Stephens, on Arnold avenue, at 2:26 p.m. Monday after a long illness. She was a daughter of Jasper and Rosamond Parsons Fitzpatrick where she remained a lifelong resident.

Mrs. Leete, a former member of the Eastern Star, was owner of Garfield Place, the headquarters house of Col. James A. Garfield while campaigning in the Big Sandy during the Civil War. The preservation of this historic site was due to a great extent to her interest.

POLIO CLINICS BEGIN MONDAY

P'burg, Betsy Layne Tots To Be Vaccinated First In 4-Day Program The first "shot" in the Floyd county sector of the historic battle on infantile paralysis will be "fired" at 8 a.m., next Monday, or shortly thereafter.

Two polio vaccine clinics will open at that hour—one in the health department offices here, the other at Betsy Layne high school. Tuesday, the two clinics will be in operation at Martin and Garrett high schools. Wednesday, Clinic No. 2 will be at work here and another team will conduct a clinic at McDowell high school. The Wheelwright and Allen schools will be the clinic operations next Thursday, and that day's work will conclude the first round of vaccinations.

M. V. Clark, health department administrator who is in charge of the mass immunization job, was in Louisville this week attending the Kentucky Public Health Association's annual meeting and could not be reached for confirmation of the report that only two "shots" will be given at this time, with a "booster" to follow in about seven months. This is regarded as the procedure to be followed, however.

Gym-Auditorium Plans Gain State Board O.K.; Meeting Slated Monday

The State Department of Education and the state fire marshal have approved plans for the auditorium-gymnasium proposed as an adjunct to the county high school plant now under construction here, and only approval of the State Department of Health is needed before bids can be asked on the big construction project.

H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., chairman of the Prestonsburg Board of Education, said this week it is hoped this final approval will be received in time for advertising for bids soon after next Monday night's meeting of the City Board.

Brothers Plead Guilty To Break; Horn Penned; Jury To Return Monday Curtis and Franklin Carroll, brothers, entered pleas of guilty Wednesday morning in circuit court to a charge of breaking and entering in connection with the theft of merchandise from the store of Ran Spurlock at Printer, and each was penned for two years.

The Carrolls were jailed here Feb. 1, after they had attempted to sell some of their loot to a Pikeville policeman who was in plain clothes at the time. Another two-year pen term meted out during the week was imposed on Otto Horn who entered a plea of guilty to a forgery indictment.

Otherwise, the week in court was comparatively dull, with few cases brought to trial. The grand jury will resume work Monday for the last three days of a nine-day session. Millard Cecil was fined $500 and given a 30-day jail term this week when convicted of obstructing public justice. He was accused of interfering with Deputy Sheriff Amos Gray when Gray was making an arrest. He did not appear for the trial. RALLY DRAWS LARGE CROWD

Four from Floyd Speak At Combs' Knott Rally Women Leaders Selected

Four Floyd countians were among those who spoke at the Bert Combs for Governor rally held at the Knott county courthouse, Hindman, Monday.

The rally attracted one of the largest crowds to gather there for a political event, it was said. The Hindman appearance of Judge Combs followed a rally Saturday night at Hazard, where he was greeted by hundreds of persons.

Floyd speakers at Hindman included J. W. Howard, Troy B. Sturgill, Mrs. Narcie Burchett and Mrs. Kathleen Moore.

Democratic candidates for State Senator, Senator Doug Hays, of McDowell, and E. M. Moore, of Topmost, also spoke Monday.

Miss Pearl Runyon, State Treasurer, announced a few days ago that she put aside her personal ambition to run for the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State, in order to take the post of women's state campaign chairman for Combs. Mrs. T. C. Carroll, of Shepherds-ville, for seven years Democratic national committeewoman from Kentucky and a past president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, is vice-chairman.

Mrs. Ben Kilgore, widow of a former candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, was announced last week as women's state campaign chairman for A. B. "Happy" Chandler. Chandler headquarters announced these county campaign chairmen in the Seventh district:

Elliott county, Ralph Fraley, Sandy Hook; Floyd county, Joe Weddington, Prestonsburg; Lee county, Lucian Durbin, Beattyville; Magoffin county, Arvel W. Arnett and Carl Cooper, both of Salyersville; Wolfe county, Charles E. Lindon and A. R. Shockey, both of Campton.

New candidates announced within the week: Representative Cassius M. Clay, of Paris, and Assistant Attorney General Jo M. Ferguson, both for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General.

Untagged Dog's Attack On Two Bevinsville Men Causes Quarantine Order

An untagged dog, considered rabid by Mountain Clark, administrator of the Floyd County Health Department, severely bit two Bevinsville residents Monday before it was killed by one of the persons attacked. The two bitten are Levi Johnson and Harry Hall.

County Judge Henry Stumbo, on request of the health department, quarantined all dogs in the area centering around Jack's Creek.

The dog, which had been seen running about the community for two days prior to its attack upon the two victims, first bit Mr. Johnson. Seeing this, Hall rushed to rescue him, was bitten on the arm before he could kill it with a club. The stroke beat the dogs brains out, so no diagnosis of rabies could be made, but Mr. Clark said the animal had "all of the clinical symptoms of rabies."

The dog's owner was not identified. It was said that it had bitten several other dogs in the vicinity of Bevinsville and Melvin before it attacked the two men.

Stumbo's order gives as reason for the quarantine "that it appears there is an epidemic of rabies in the vicinity of Melvin, Jack's Creek, Wheelwright and Buckingham post-offices." All persons residing within a three-mile radius of these places are required to keep their dogs securely tied or in a lot or pen and for a period of 45 days. The order calls for the killing of all dogs that are not quarantined.

Miss Ernst, Bride of Mr. Stumbo

Marriage of Miss Phyllis Ernst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Ernst, of Olive Hill, Ky., and Mr. Hugh Stumbo, son of Mrs. T. L. Williamson, of Prestonsburg, was solemnized on Feb. 5.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized in the Olive Hill Methodist Church.

The bride, who was graduated with distinction from Morehead State College with the class of '54 is now attending Ohio State University, Columbus, O., majoring in foods and nutrition. Mr. Stumbo was graduated with highest distinction from Morehead State College in 1953 and received his Master's degree from Columbia University. He is now employed as art instructor in Upper Arlington high school, Columbus, Ohio.

Got an itch to switch the pitch?

Here's the New Hit in Hardtops — the 4-Door Riviera

WANT to do what a pilot does when he clears for take-off? Want to feel the pulse-quickenning thrill that comes of giving the gun to a high-powered automobile with the world's first airplane-inspired transmission? Want to try Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflo® — the spectacular new wonder drive that's the talk of car makers and car buyers alike — and the drive that's sending Buick sales soaring to new record-breaking highs? Well, sir — be our test-pilot guest at the wheel of a '55 Buick and let today's Dynaflo do the honors. When you press the pedal as you normally would, you move ahead in velvety smoothness, getting plenty of miles from each gallon of gas . . . Because twenty propeller-like blades inside the Dynaflo unit, spinning in oil, have an angle of "pitch" for top economy — like the modern plane's propellers when cruising in the air. But comes the need for emergency acceleration, and — like a pilot does for quick take-off and climb — you switch the pitch of those Dynaflo propellers for action, just by pressing the pedal all the way down. Instantly, you get full-power response for split-second getaway, or for a sudden safety-surge to get out of a tight spot on the highway. It's a response thrilling beyond all previous experience — because there's never been anything like it before in any car. And we'd like you to try it — along with the walloping new V8 power, the cruiser-steady ride, the fine handling ease, and the true big-car roominess that are all part and parcel of every Buick. Can you come in today — this week, for sure — and test pilot the hottest Buick yet built? *Dynaflo Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Another Record for The Dusty Files

Again the Eastern Kentucky Story with all its sombre overtones of economic and social tragedy has been told. The latest version was authored last week at Pikeville when Senator M. M. Neely, of West Virginia, conducted a public hearing into causes and effects of the things that all this region.

And now this new volume goes to join in Washington all those other similar works compiled about the Big Sandy and other sections of Kentucky at similar hearings. These are not listed in the Congressional Library, but they form a library that should be of unusual interest to Congress.

Nothing new has been learned, and so one wonders why another hearing was held. The record that already existed was voluminous and in detail. Individual cases had worsened or had become less serious, but the overall picture was not materially changed. The causes were the same; the effects were as tragic as ever. And this record for a long while now has been available to all who might, perchance, bring about the happy change we all have dreamed about.

Unemployment, families living on the fringe of starvation, dispersal of the population into sections and states far from home, anywhere work is to be found, loss of hope and an attendant dimming of ambition—all these items in the sad story are known.

Also known, here and in Washington, are those causes that the people of this section recognize as the roots of their economic and social miseries: high freight rates; lack of highway facilities through poor planning and ineffective maintenance; lack of water transportation; competition of cheap residual oil with the area's major industry, coal—and, because of transportation handicaps, the sad lack our section has of diversification of industry.

This country is great, and its economy may be healthy as a whole. But there is such a thing as people and whole areas starving in the midst of plenty.

And public hearings, this editorial and all other idle talk will not cure the situation. We of Eastern Kentucky have invested our lives, fortunes and futures here. The hour is rather late for more talk. Something definite and tangible in the way of action would be far more palatable to a people grown weary of talk.

The Problem Of Retail Dealers

Few buyers have the strength of either will or pocketbook to resist the temptation to save when some friend says, "I can get it for you wholesale," or to order from a discount house catalogue. But obviously if every retail consumer buys wholesale, the neighborhood store — everything from the corner grocery to the appliance and furniture business — will find continued operation impossible.

When such businesses quit, the result is a drop in local payrolls, less money circulating among local businesses, unemployment and a whole flock of unhappy circumstances. This would represent the breakdown of business at home while big wholesalers in distant cities find their sales booming. This would mean that the very firm that favors friends by "getting it for them wholesale" is cutting its own throat.

What to do about it? The buying public can't be trusted to spend more money by buying retail when money can be saved through wholesale buying. Something else must be undertaken if a real solution to the problem is found.

Here's what is being done in one state:

In California an Appliance Profession Association has been formed. Its announced purpose is "to lift standards of the appliance business and to protect interests of the buying public," but its major objective is to fight the discount houses.

One method the Association proposes is to license all appliance dealers by state law, the same as plumbers and electricians are licensed in California. Now planned is a step that would put discount and fair-trade pricing directly up to manufacturers by refusal of Association members to handle lines that get into the hands of stores that are not eligible for membership as dealers in appliances.

Allen, editor of The Times, was named Citizen of the Year. Franklin Moore, in complimenting him stated that his editorial policy and concern for Eastern Kentucky were reasons for naming him.

Mrs. Mayo was commended, aside from her TB work, for her interest in religious and civic activities. Cited also was her rehabilitation work among the underprivileged. She was presented several gifts from the various clubs represented at the radio-cast. Rev. McMillen was given a copy of Thompson's chain reference Bible. The Times editor was presented a Nave's Topical Bible.

Complete surprise of those honored was achieved. Mrs. Mayo appeared to make a talk on TB for the radio program; the minister had been asked to make a brief talk in connection with the conferring of awards to the other two, and Allen was booked to snap a photograph of those taking part.

The story of the mission program undertaken by the Baptist Church here is scheduled for early publication in the Home Mission magazine. By coincidence this program was started as an indirect result of the TB work done by Mrs. Mayo, who is an active member of the Methodist Church. Several years ago, she asked Prestonsburg churches to assist with her program by helping provide milk for needy tuberculosis patients. Through contacts made then by the Rev. L. W. Benedict, at that time Baptist pastor here, the first mission was established.

Brief talks were made by these Women's Club presidents: Mrs. Roy Souleyrette, Wheelwright; Mrs. Johnnie Ison, Maytown; Mrs. John H. Keenon, Prestonsburg; Miss Ruby Akers, Drift; Mrs. Russell Laven, Allen-Martin; Mrs. Noah Howard, Lackey-Garrett-Wayland.

Other Floyd citizens will be recognized in future programs, it was said.

Funeral rites were conducted last Sunday, at 10 a. m., at the home of Mrs. Smith, at West Prestonsburg, the Revs. L. P. Tussey and Robert Martin officiating. Burial was made in the Fitzpatrick cemetery on the Middle Creek road under the direction of Carter and Callihan Funeral Home.

Total of 11 Fractures Suffered by One of 2 Pinned Under Slatefall

Two men were injured, one critically, last Thursday afternoon by a slatefall in the Kathryn Elkhorn Coal Company mine at Drift.

Don Meade, 26, of Minnie, was more severely hurt, suffering a fractured pelvis, 10 other bone fractures, an injured kidney and punctured lung. It is believed he will recover. Hi Hagans, 52, of McDowell, had a broken left leg and left foot.

Hagans was taken to St Mary's hospital, Huntington, but Meade's condition was such that the long trip could not be made. He is at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville.

The two men, it was said, had lain injured nearly an hour before they were found. A motor crew stopped when they saw a cable across the tracks inside the mine, and heard Hagans' call for help.

The detection of rabid foxes has increased interest in vaccinating dogs in Rowan county.

Randall Wells, 17-year-old Prestonsburg high school senior, won second place and a $70 cash award toward a scholarship in the state finals of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs music contest held in Louisville last Sunday.

Wells, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wells, of Prestonsburg, was sponsored in the district and state contests by the David Woman's Club. He won the state finals with his trombone solo, and in the Pikeville music festival scored with an even half-dozen first-place ratings.

The $70 award to young Wells goes toward a scholarship to the Stephen Foster Music Camp at Richmond, Ky., and if any other funds are necessary the David Woman's Club will supply them, it was said.

Marshall Primack, 13, Barrett Junior High school, Louisville, won first prize. All finals were televised over WHAS-TV.

Architect's conception of the entrance to new Indian Fort Theatre in the Berea College Forest, Berea, Kentucky. Here, Paul Green's newest play, WILDERNESS ROAD, will receive 60 performances this summer, beginning June 29 and concluding on Labor Day, September 5.

Berea is literally a bee-hive of activity these days. The plans which were announced more than a year ago for the celebration of the Centennial of the community and the college are now coming into realization.

The theater which has been constructed especially to present the Centennial Drama, WILDERNESS ROAD, by Paul Green, was used for the first time on Easter Sunday morning for a sunrise service. Fourteen hundred people attended.

The drama, WILDERNESS ROAD, which is scheduled for sixty performances during the summer, has now been completed by famous Pulitzer Prize-winning author, Paul Green. It has been delivered to Berea College, and at this very moment, the sets, costumes and lighting are being designed in preparation for the beginning of the rehearsal period scheduled for June 1. The play has been entirely cast and includes more than one hundred actors, singers and dancers, mainly from Berea College.

The leading role in the play is to be taken by Bedford Thurman, who is director of the Department of Speech at Purdue University in Lafayette, Indiana. The play concerns the life and happenings of an isolated mountain community in Eastern Kentucky during the Civil War period. It is filled with music from the mountains, the famous ballads which have become such an important mark of distinction in the Appalachian area.

Opening night is scheduled for Wednesday, June 29.

Tank Task Is 'Tankless' For Purchaser

Perry, Okla. — Tom Evans found out his deal with the City of Perry ended as a "tankless" task.

Evans bought an old 48-foot-tall metal water tank for $400 from City officials, who specified the huge structure had to be moved quickly.

The buyer, planning to cut the tank in half and convert it into two arch-type buildings, employed a truck firm to move the big "tin can."

As moving operations started, it collapsed under its own weight. Now all Evans has is a pile of scrap.

 By Floyd County Health Department

"Early immunization is one of the most important things parents can do for their children, but unless booster shots are continued at regular intervals parents may face the danger of communicable disease at a later date." L. R. Mezra, M. D., Director of Division of Maternal and Child Health Department, stated.

Immunization for diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus may be given at the same time. The best age for tetanus is during infancy, from two to six months. A booster to continue protection should also be given every one to two years.

"Many people do not understand that a booster shot is not the original dosage but is a necessary, follow-up dosage later to insure a permanent resistance against these communicable diseases and tetanus," Dr. Mezra added.

Immunization against typhoid fever should also be given by the time the infant is six months old, and then followed up by a booster every other year.

A smallpox vaccination should be given to children under one year of age, and then at six and twelve years of age. "For that matter," Dr. Mezra said, "a smallpox vaccination should be obtained every five to seven years."

"Communicable diseases are an ever-present threat," Dr. Mezra stressed, "and parents must be vigilant and not backslide in their efforts to protect our young Kentuckians. The best advice is not to delay but see your family physician or local health department today."

Garden sprays and dusts held over from last year will be satisfactory for this season if they have been kept dry; fertilizers also may be kept from year to year.

Coal stockpiles at electric utility plants frequently reach mountainous size. One, at the Glasgow, W. Va., plant of the Appalachian Electric Power Co., is as high as a 15-story building.

false pretenses, and carrying concealed a deadly weapon.

Two grand juries, Gearheart noted, have "made a careful and detailed investigation of the manner in which these indictments were obtained and each jury in its final report said that I was serving the public interest."

He said the majority of the defendants named in the gambling or bootlegging indictments have been tried and convicted in Boyd circuit court, or have entered guilty pleas and paid fines.

Mrs. Serey, one of the complainants in the petition, seeking Gearheart's disbarment, was identified by the County Attorney as the wife of Thomas "Zip" Serey, Ashland, who was convicted in February on a charge of keeping premises in Ashland where bets were placed on horse races. He was given a jail sentence of six months and a fine of $1,000.

An appeal of the conviction was dropped by the defendant recently. Gearheart said that Serey and Joe Queen, also of Ashland, were placed in the county jail last week to serve six-month sentences.

Queen was convicted in the December term of circuit court on a charge of keeping premises where racing bets were placed. He also was fined $1,000 and sentenced to six months in jail.

Gearheart's investigation of gambling and bootlegging in Ashland and Catlettsburg began last June when the grand jury returned 151 indictments, a record number. The December grand jury made re-indictments in the cases and consolidated some duplications. A technicality had caused the June indictments to be voided.

A special committee is sponsoring a program to control wild onions on dairy farms in Pendleton county.

A Scout does a good turn every day, even if it is only to aid a distressed turkey that has wandered away from the Dewey Lake reservation. The occasion was last Friday night when a trio of Allen boys, Monroe Click, Red DeRosset and Harman Leedy, were camping for a few hours on the hill at Winchester, near Emma. They had a big fire, were enjoying the high adventure of living in the open, when Click, the only Scout in the trio, heard something in the brush.

Snatching a flashlight, he pointed it around, brought the beam squarely in the eyes of a big turkey. Keeping the light focused on the bird's eyes, Click walked up and took him. The fowl stayed in a pen that night, was returned and released in the Dewey Lake area next day by the boy's uncle, Grant Walters. All of which points up the fact that residents of this area have moved a long way from the time when if a wild animal or fowl showed its head, everybody around grabbed a gun.

by R. H. Hobbs, also of Pikeville, "that the plan for expanding the curriculum of Pikeville College to that of a four-year college be approved, and that the third year be started in the fall of 1955," Dr. A. A. Page, college president, reported.

A $25,000 grant from the James Foundation, New York City, as an incentive toward raising the funds for the proposed combination chapel and science building at Pikeville also was announced Friday. Other funds for the building are expected to come from this year's "opportunity giving" project of women's organizations of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., Dr. Page said.

The decision to expand this year was taken "in view of the interest of alumni and other friends, both locally and the country over, and in anticipation of the support of the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A.," said Dr. Page. "The Pikeville trustees, who based their action on a plan recommended by the church's Christian-education board and the Presbyterian College Union, have been working toward the expansion for the past year."

"The college's student body can be expected to grow from the present 300 to about 500 with the addition of junior and senior classes," the college president said.

"Now one of the biggest businesses in this locality, with an estimated average spending by school and students of a quarter of a million dollars annually, we will probably raise that figure to some $400,000 when the expansion is consolidated."

Founded in 1889 as Pikeville Collegiate Institute by a committee from Ebenezer Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., the school grew into Pikeville College Academy, the first high school in Pike county. The Academy's "college class," graduating its first student from a two-year course in 1918, grew into Pikeville Junior College, fully accredited since 1931 by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Trustees present at Friday's meeting were the Rev. E. F. Dalstrom, Harlan, Ky., who presided in the absence of the board's chairman, the Rev. Samuel R. Curry, Ashland, Ky.; the Rev. Frank R. Elder, D. D., pastor emeritus of the Covenant-First Presbyterian Church, Cincinnati, Ohio; the Rev. James W. Angell, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, Lexington, Ky.; Mrs. Ralph B. Hindman, Buffalo, N. Y.; Robert Weir Auxier, Pittsburgh, Pa.; and William J. Baird, N. A. Chrisman, K. J. Day, R. H. Hobbs, and Lon B. Rogers, Pikeville.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SAYS 'LEGGERS ON WHEELS'

Editor, The Times

Of late I have heard many remarks from citizens commenting on the bootlegging—or taxi-legging—situation. It is being carried on in a brazen and blatant manner, regardless of the will of the people, and of the statutes, which forbid the sale of whiskey and beer. I surmise—considering all this talk—that we have with us a veritable Frankenstein monster, and one which cannot be eliminated unless we repeal the dry law and return to legal and "wheel-less" dispensaries.

To those who use their taxi licenses for the purpose for which they were granted, I apologize—and may they prosper. Those who dispense intoxicants and "roll" drunks with ulterior motives in view—I hope they may soon become outmoded by repeal of the local option law.

INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY!

THE PATTON-EVERETT TRACT OF LAND

Consisting of approximately 550 acres of ground adjoining the city limits of Ashland. With the industrial outlook for this region the brightest ever, this land seems like a give-away. Local investors should buy this before outside people do. There are literally hundreds of people—and I mean just that—who want to buy parts of this land. One man has asked for a price on 100 acres, but the owners refuse to sell except as a whole. There is a firm price of $60,000 cash, which is less than $115 per acre. Gas, water, electricity, and telephone are now available on parts of this land. It borders Route 168 on the west for almost a mile, and on the east for about two miles also for short distances the Keys Creek and Catletts Creek road. There is a shortage of vacant lots in Ashland. THIS IS THE ANSWER!

Cadillac

What The Doctor Ordered...For Himself!

The doctor had owned his new Cadillac for about a month—and he was talking to a friend.

"About the only recreation I get," he said, "is at the wheel of my motor car—driving to and from the hospital, my office, and the homes of patients."

"Other doctors, of course, have the same situation—and some of them kept telling me what a big 'lift' they were getting out of their Cadillacs."

"I decided to see for myself—and they were certainly right. I actually approach the day with a lot more zest—knowing that I am going to spend a couple of hours driving my Cadillac."

The doctor is experiencing, of course, what so many other professional and business men are experiencing—the wonderful lift to the spirits that a Cadillac brings a man.

Try it sometime—and see for yourself.

You'll find there's something about the way you feel as you take the wheel. You know there's a car under you! Solid, substantial, capable and protective. Just to sit there gives you a wonderful feeling of confidence and well-being.

And when you start to move, the thrill is continuous. You almost never hear the great engine, except when it answers a smart touch to the throttle. Steering is little more than the response to your thought. You just ride and relax.

We hear it every day: "I drive my Cadillac for rest and relaxation."

Why not come in today—and make the rest yourself. We'll give you the keys and a Cadillac—and the "rest" is up to you!

P.S. It's only fair to warn you: You probably won't find it easy to give up the keys. Some people simply refuse!

Farmers Can Obtain Aid To Finance Conservation, Hugel Philips Announces

Floyd county farmers can obtain loans from the Farmers Home Administration to finance soil conservation practices on land which has been diverted from crop production, Hugel D. Phillips, county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration, said today. Many farmers are planning to use the former crop land for permanent pasture, he said.

Under-secretary True D. Morse has pointed out that in many areas there is not enough land in hay and pasture to support the livestock now on farms, especially the all-time record number of cattle. Cattle numbers this year in this county total 95.4 million head which is more than ever before. The nation's experience with drought in the past three years has demonstrated that most farmers do not have enough pasture and hay reserves to protect their livestock operations, and the threat of drought is still with us here in 1955, according to Mr. Morse. Good pastures and high quality hay and forage are essential in cutting livestock production cost and expanding income from beef cattle, dairy cows, sheep, and hogs.

The new soil and water Conservation loans which are available from Farmers Home Administration may be used for land leveling, brush removal, seed bed preparation, purchase of seed and fertilizer, and for all the other items that go into establishment of good permanent pasture.

Credit is extended only to farmers unable to obtain the financing they need from other sources. All applications are approved by the local county committee of the FHA.

Applications are made at the county office of the Farmers Home Administration which is located in A.S.C. Office, Prestonsburg, Tuesday morning of each month.

Loans are made by the Farmers Home Administration primarily out of funds advanced by private lending institutions. The government insured the repayment of the loan. Practices carried out with the loans must be the type approved by the Soil Conservation Service and the Extension Service.

1955 crop acreages are expected to continue large.

Balance and leverage—not brute strength—is the secret to successful sheep shearing. E. A. Warner, Sunbeam Corporation's nationally known shearing instructor, demonstrates the "key" to one of the fundamental positions. The shearer's feet and legs placed correctly keeps sheep comfortable and prevents struggling.

Ed Warner, nationally-known sheep-shearing expert of the Sunbeam Corporation, Chicago, will be principal instructor at a two-day sheep-shearing school to be held in Floyd county, Wednesday and Thursday, April 27 and 28, according to announcement by Floyd County Agent Ellis Boggs. The school, which will serve Floyd county and several neighboring counties, is sponsored by the Agriculture Extension Service of the University of Kentucky in cooperation with the Bluegrass State Sheep Association.

Some 20 young men and farmers have been enrolled for the course in shearing. In the two-day school they should get enough of the fundamentals that they will need only practice to become expert shearers. Mr. Warner teaches the Australian system of shearing, widely used by experts, and designed to be comparatively easy on both the sheep and the shearer, and requires a minimum of strokes to do the job.

Richard C. Miller, University of Kentucky sheep specialist, will be on hand to answer questions about sheep and to conduct a meeting of farmers interested in starting new flocks of sheep. This meeting, to be held in connection with the shearing school, will be on Thursday, April 28, starting at 1:00 p.m.

While the school can accommodate only the men and boys who are actually enrolled, any others are welcome to come, get what they can from observation. It is hoped that a large attendance will be present for the discussions on Thursday, especially. The school and meeting will be held on the Ward Allen farm near Hueysville. The school starts promptly each day at 9:00 a.m. (EST).

FARM NOTES

By O. E. BOGGS
County Agent

WHY STRAWBERRIES FAIL TO LIVE

Would you deliberately throw away $50.00? Some farmers have.

The most important reason for failure has been that people have failed to set the plants correctly. On several farms, we have seen roots doubled over, with a little dirt heaped on top of them. The ends were left exposed, and the roots next to the crown were also exposed. Another example of poor setting is that of using a round peg to punch a hole and setting the plants down in the hole without packing the dirt firmly around the roots. Another thing that we have seen is that of setting the plants too deep, allowing the crown to become covered with dirt.

The first two examples represent carelessness of handling plants. In some parts of the state, this carelessness of planting has resulted in the outright death of the plants, due to drying out and due to freezing. This year, the air temperatures went down to about 20 degrees to 12 degrees below freezing. Those plants that had roots exposed were killed. Several farmers have done an excellent job of setting out plants, and all of them report that their plants were not damaged by the unusually low temperatures, nor by drying out.

FREEZE DAMAGE TO STRAWBERRIES

Several strawberry growers have reported severe damage to the 1955 crop as a result of the recent freeze. A careful check of numerous fields have been made and only three or four blooms in the most advanced fruit buds were found to be damaged.

Strawberries usually have 8 to 10 fruit clusters on which the fruit is born. The loss of a few bloom on the more advanced buds may actually work to the growers advantage because of an increase in the size of berries on the remaining fruit buds. W. W. Magill, strawberry specialist, from the University of Kentucky, said this week that very little damage has been done to Kentucky berries so far.

Gas Company Files Asking Court Order To Restrain Spears

The Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company this week filed suit asking the Floyd circuit court restrain Harve Spears, former Floyd Magistrate from interfering with its operation of three gas wells on farms, the surface of which Spears owns.

The wells are located on tracts known as John and Maggie Sellards farm, the Thomas Y. Fitzpatrick and Elizabeth Sellards farms. The company's petition, prepared by the law firm of Combs & Combs, alleges that the defendant has constructed fences and gates, wired them closed and has told the company and its agents not to cross or go through or under these barriers. Company's petition says Spears contends Kentucky West Virginia does not have the right to operate on the tracts.

MATTER OF A NAME

Maybe we shouldn't mention it, now that the County Board of Education has already agreed on a name for the new high school here. Certainly there isn't anything wrong about calling it Prestonsburg high school, since it's located here and inasmuch as all other such schools in the county bear the names of their respective towns.

But it strikes me that it would have been nice to have called it the Green Haywood Hackworth high school. The name is a bit unwieldy, granted; but as long as the building stood folks from other counties and states, and even some from our own county, would have been intrigued by the name. And when anybody asked, as they would, why it was so named, we and our children could have done a bit of chest-thumping and pointed out with becoming pride that the school was named for Green Haywood Hackworth, a native of Floyd county who at one time attended school in Prestonsburg—and who in 1955, the year the school was completed, became president of the World Court.

Such facts need to be remembered about us by others. Too many of the other kind are remembered.

THE WIDE MARGIN OF ERROR

Mark ye this, and mark it well. I will never again trust this weekly report on lake and stream fishing conditions which issues from Frankfort to be published in the daily newspapers.

For, lo! last Friday morning the report read that fishing is better in Herrington and Dewey Lakes than any other spot in Kentucky. The type before my eyes reads (with straight face): Limit catches of both crappie and black bass are being taken on minnows and artificial lures at Dewey Lake.

The bass limit, my friends, must have been one to a customer—if the customer was lucky.

FABLE OF THE ROOSTERS

Two roosters, separated by a stretch of water, crowed mightily, in challenge, in reply, in declaration of the prowess of each. One was a red rooster; the other, of different hue, was for all that every inch a rooster, king of his flock.

One boasted his hens laid the biggest eggs. The other, bold chancier, declared that he was backing down not an inch, upped the size of his product. There was behind the taunts hurled back and forth a hint that one or the other just might fly over the other's domain some day and drop one of the eggs to show his rival how big the splatter would be.

Each kicked up so much dust that there actually was a fall-out on the other, and each wondered just what the other did have and what he might do with it. Meanwhile the dumb clucks in both barnyards, clucked away, shuddering now and then about what would happen, once those two ever did clash, but never once suggesting to their lords and masters that they should pipe down and cool off and see if everybody couldn't be happier in the peaceful quiet of neighboring barnyards wherein the occupants of both attended to their own business.

And so it was that, one day, a half-mad, angry and frightened rooster did drop an "egg" squarely in the middle of the other barnyard. And then both roosters drew on their stockpiles of "eggs," and they dropped these till there was nothing to be seen but bursted "eggs"—if there had been anybody to see anything.

'TORSO' PANEL IS INCOMPLETE

200 More Veniremen For Trial of Damron Summoned from Boyd

Efforts to seat a jury for the second trial of Willard (Catfish) Damron in the Pike county torso murder case were suspended temporarily Tuesday.

Circuit Judge E. P. Keesee called a recess in the case until 10 a.m. today (Thursday) to enable Sheriff Alex Blackburn to summon 200 more prospective jurors in Boyd county. Only seven jurors have been seated tentatively from an original panel of 148.

The jury is being imported under an order issued by Keesee after Damron sought to transfer the trial to another county. Judge Keesee denied the motion for change of venue but agreed to bring in an outside jury. Damron contended he could not receive a fair trial at Pikeville.

His first trial in Pike circuit court last December ended in a jury disagreement.

Damron is charged with willful murder in the slaying of Clyde Jack Clements, a former Tennessean who fled the county jail here in May, 1953. A body without head, hands or feet, found in a rural area on Caney Fork of Johns Creek in March 1954, has been identified by police as that of Clements.

Damron has denied any connection with the case. He said he never had killed anyone.

Of the venire of 148 scheduled to appear Monday, 45 did not show up. Judge Keesee ordered them brought in under attachments. Two of the number showed up voluntarily Tuesday morning, received a dressing down from the bench and were dismissed.

Blackburn was in Boyd county Tuesday, seeking to bring in the other 43, as well as to summon the new panel of 200.

The tentative list of seated jurors was reduced from eight to seven Tuesday, Judge Keesee excused a man who said his wife was ill.

The jury is being qualified for the death penalty. A number of prospects have been dismissed on that ground and on negative answers as to whether they could convict a person on circumstantial evidence.

Here's why Chevrolet out-V8's everybody!

These features and advantages are the measure of a truly modern V8 engine... and only Chevrolet has them in the low-price field. Most aren't even found in high-priced cars. That's why Chevrolet is stealing everybody's thunder with the most modern V8 on the road!

The only car in the low-price field with the extra energy of 12 volts... twice the electrical punch!

Faster, stronger cranking for cold-weather starts and a "fatter" spark for faultless high-speed operation.

Highest standard compression ratio in its field!
Chevrolet's compression ratio is 8 to 1, to wring every possible ounce of power and extra miles out of every gallon of gas.

Requires only four quarts of oil!
Chevrolet's V8 engines are so efficient they need only four quarts of oil... so you save on every change!

Highest horsepower per pound!
These great V8's weigh far less than any similar engine in America, top the low-cost field in power per pound!

Shortest piston stroke in the industry!
Three-inch stroke reduces cylinder-wall friction, generates less heat, permits more compact design.

The pistons do far less traveling per mile... that means less engine wear, lighter loads on bearings.

KENTUCKIANS PAY LESS TAX THAN NATIONAL AVERAGE

Frankfort, Ky., April 18 (Spl.)—Kentuckians have a greater percentage of their money left after payment of state and local taxes than in the depression period of 1932, the Legislative Research Commission reported in a study entitled "Financing Kentucky's Government", the first of a series of reports on the state's tax structure and potential tax sources which was directed by the 1954 General Assembly.

Among conclusions of the report are: The average property tax bill in other states is nearly twice as large as in Kentucky.

Total state and local revenues have risen 353 per cent since 1932, but income payments have increased 553 per cent in the same period. Six of the seven states adjoining Kentucky levy state and local taxes that are lower per capita than the average for all the states, but all still levy more than Kentucky.

Kentucky is providing a lower level of state and local services than the average for other states.

Most of the burden of taxation in Kentucky is due to federal taxes, which take 77 cents of every dollar paid by Kentuckians.

The report also pointed out that the total population of Kentucky has risen 12 per cent since 1932, while farm population has declined seven per cent.

In 1932, when individual income was $580,000,000, state and local taxes were $67,000,000 or 12.6 per cent. Ten years later taxes had decreased to 8.1 per cent of the income, and in 1953, with Kentuckians reporting individual incomes of $3,460,000,000—the burden was only 6.7 per cent for state and local purposes.

Proposed Regulations To Relieve Distillers

Frankfort, Ky., April 18 — The State Department of Revenue will continue to require whiskey and wine sold in Kentucky to bear stamps indicating taxes have been paid until further notice.

Governor Wetherby and Commissioner of Revenue Robert H. Allphin both announced that a proposed regulation relieving distillers of the obligation to see that the stamps are affixed will be delayed until further notice, and pending public hearing. After the Department issued its first tentative regulation, to take effect May 1, both distillers and dry groups protested that the move might make more difficult law enforcement problems.

Two Mine Fatalities Reported Last Month

Frankfort, Ky., April 19 (Spl.)—Two fatalities in underground rail mines were reported today for the month of March by A. D. Sisk, chief mine inspector for the State Department of Mines and Minerals. Both of them occurred in Pike County mines. The two brought for the first three months of 1955, compared with for the same period a year ago.

Sisk renewed his appeal for better safety practices in coal mines, especially to prevent accidents and injuries from falls of roofs, ribs and coal.

"Those who direct underground operations are key-men of the coal mining industry," Sisk said. "The company supplies materials to prevent falls of roof, but it is your responsibility to see that materials are used properly—when and where needed. Don't gamble with your life nor the lives of those under your supervision."

Methodist Church Women To Hold Covington Meet

The annual meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Kentucky Conference will be held April 26-28 at First Methodist Church, Covington, Ky.

Among the speakers for the three-day conference will be Bishop John W. Branscomb, Jacksonville, Fla., head of the Methodist Church in Florida and Cuba, and the Rev. Dr. Charles M. Laymon, Nashville, Tenn., editor of Methodist church-school publications for adults.

CORRECTION

The Times erred recently in reporting the survivors of Mrs. Bertha Osborne, of Garret, who died at the Paintsville hospital, April 2. Her surviving step-mother is Mrs. Lizzie Patton Stidham, of Garret, and not Mrs. Sallie Stidham, as reported. George Stidham, of Ohio, should have been reported as a brother.

WHY CATHOLICS "Keep Running to Church"

You've probably heard people comment at times on the fact that their Catholic neighbors go to church so often. Perhaps you have wondered yourself... is all this necessary?

Catholics you may be sure, have good reasons.

Going to Mass on Sunday is, of course, an obligation for every Catholic. Confession and Holy Communion at least once a year are a sacred duty. But most Catholics go to Confession and receive Holy Communion oftener... some every month, some every week, some every day.

There are also many other special services and devotions for which Catholics go to church. In the average city, the Catholic Church is always open—and seldom empty. Many will enter the church at any hour of the day to visit Jesus Christ present on the altar, mindful of His invitation: "Come to Me, all you who labor and are burdened, and I will give you rest."

But you ask, is all this necessary? Catholics believe it is.

They believe that Christ not only called upon us to honor and serve God... but prescribed the ways in which we should do so. He did not say how often we must go to church... nor how many prayers we were to recite. But He did establish a Church with the power and authority to carry on His work... and He promised that His Church would last to the end of time—that it would have God's protection in teaching all men to observe all things He had commanded, especially to believe and to be baptized and thereby become members of His Church to attain the purpose of their lives.

And how do Catholics know theirs is Christ's Church?

Because it possesses the distinguishing marks Christ gave His Church. It covers the earth as Christ said it would. Unchanged after nearly 2,000 years, it continues to live and grow in fulfillment of His promise that His Church would last to the end of the world.

But the most convincing mark that He gave it is its unity of faith, worship and obedience under the authority of the lawful and historical successor of Peter, the first Bishop of Rome and the "rock" upon which Christ built His Church. Just as Peter was the first Pope and the first Vicar of Christ, so also is Pius XII the 262nd Pope and the Vicar of Christ today.

If you would like to know more about the distinguishing characteristics which Christ declared His Church must have and which the Catholic Church possesses today, we'll be happy to send you without cost or obligation an interesting and enlightening pamphlet. Write today... ask for Pamphlet No.

DOUGLAS MACARTHUR URGES POWERS TO ABOLISH WAR

Pleasantville, N. Y. — "We should now proclaim our readiness to abolish war in concert with the great powers of the world," declares Douglas MacArthur in the May Reader's Digest.

War is no longer a means of settling international differences, MacArthur holds. The enormous potential of destruction to both sides, because of nuclear weapons and other "triumphs of scientific annihilation," makes disaster inevitable for winner and loser alike.

If this certainty of mutual ruin means that war can now be outlawed, "the greatest advance in civilization since the Sermon on the Mount" may be at hand, MacArthur believes. To abolish war "would not only create new moral and spiritual values—it would produce an economic wave of prosperity that would raise the world's standard of living beyond anything ever dreamed of by man."

MacArthur says the present tensions are being kept alive by two "great illusions: the Soviet belief that the capitalist nations are preparing to attack, and the free world belief that the Soviets have the same designs.

Yet the peoples of the world, whether free or slave, do not want war and are all in agreement on the need to abolish war, the general emphasizes. "The leaders are the laggards. They debate over a hundred issues that stem from the threat of war, but never in the chancelleries of the world or the halls of the United Nations is the real problem raised. . . . They increase preparedness by alliances, by distributing resources throughout the world, by developing deadlier weapons and by applying conscription in times of peace. . . . But never do they dare to state the bald truth, that the next great advance in the evolution of civilization cannot take place until war is abolished. . . . This is the one issue which, if settled, might settle all others."

Louisville Med School Announces 26 Openings In Freshmen Classes

Louisville, Ky., April 20 — The University of Louisville School of Medicine announced yesterday it has openings for 26 more Kentucky students in the freshman class entering next September.

Dr. J. Murray Kinsman, dean of the school, said that places have been made available for 124 qualified students for the 1955 entering class.

The plan aims at supplying more doctors for Kentucky, he explained.

Only Kentucky students will be accepted for the remaining vacant places, Dr. Kinsman said.

The dean said that a few years ago, there were four applicants to American medical schools for every one accepted. But the number of applicants has dropped so sharply that many medical schools are having difficulty filling their classes.

Ordinarily, applications for the University of Louisville School of Medicine are not accepted after December 31 of each year. But this year, Dr. Kinsman said, applications will be taken to the last possible moment to allow Kentuckians to apply.

Persons interested should write to the Admissions Office, University of Louisville School of Medicine, for an application blank.

Says All Sections Supporting Combs

I no longer see as much of my Floyd county and Eastern Kentucky folks as I would like, and these days I spend much of my time observing the work of others and reading about what is happening.

I have seen many state election campaigns come and go, and in this campaign I see for the first time in all these many years an absence of the sectionalism that has marked other campaigns. For instance, in this year's race for Governor Eastern Kentucky's Bert T. Combs is receiving strong support from Central, Western and Northern Kentucky, as well as from our own part of the state.

To me, this is very encouraging. It is a healthy situation, this in which folks are not thinking of a man in terms of Mountains, Bluegrass, Pennyryle, or the Purchase, but are thinking of the man as fit material for the high office of Governor of his state.

We of Eastern Kentucky have long awaited such consideration from the rest of the state. Now we have it.

Then, surely, we of Bert Combs' own section will not fail to give him an overwhelming majority in the coming primary. Can we afford to do less?

Every woman and man of us who have children of our own, or who have ambitions for the children of others in our section of Kentucky, should think this matter over very carefully. We think of these youngsters as children who are as intelligent, as fine, and as deserving as any children on earth. We know they deserve every chance. No mother or father among us would look on our young son and be willing to say, "He can't ever be Governor of his state."

But, if we of Eastern Kentucky fail to support Bert Combs as we should, I fear that we will, in effect, be saying that to our children. I say this because if we fail Bert Combs now the rest of the state will, in future years, when a candidate from this section is mentioned for high office, say to us: "Why run somebody from Eastern Kentucky? The record shows that you won't stick together, even for your own people, and we can't afford to take a chance on you."

I mention these matters simply because I feel very strongly that all factions should forget their petty differences and unite for this once behind the first Democrat from Eastern Kentucky ever to have an opportunity to be Governor of his state in all its 158-year-old history.

I am thinking of Bert Combs, the man—good neighbor and friend, brilliant lawyer, able jurist, honest mountaineer who is proud of his mountain heritage—and I am thinking, too, of him as the sort of Governor our state needs. I am not thinking of those who are his supporters, or of those who oppose him, in the light of their past official acts or connections. I have reached the age when I think I can look the scene over very calmly, forget prejudices and personalities and join in supporting a man who, I honestly believe, will be one of the great Governors of our state, and who deserves the unanimous support of the section of the state from which he springs.

I appeal to you all—Vote for Bert T. Combs for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Your Friend,

O. H. STUMBO

500-FT. CROSS IS GFWC PLAN

Cross Erection, Project Of General Federation Of Women's Clubs, Starts

More than 5,000,000 members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs are participating in a drive to raise $3,000,000 with which will be built a 500-foot cross, the world's largest, atop Bald Knob mountain in southern Illinois. The announcement was made locally by Mrs. J. H. Keenon, president of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club.

The cross, which will be visible over a 7,500 square-mile area, is a project of the Bald Knob Christian Foundation, Inc., a non-denominational, non-profit, state-chartered group that has held Easter sunrise services on the mountain annually for the past two decades. The aim of the Foundation is to provide a place of worship for all denominations, with the purpose of achieving greater unity of religious thinking and effort.

In launching the drive in Washington last month, Mrs. Theodore S. Chapman, president of the Women's Federation, urged that all not affiliated with their clubs mail contributions directly to The Cross, Cairo, Illinois.

The Cross will contain a central chapel and meditation rooms for all denominations. On the different levels between the base and the top will be separate shrines, and rooms where religious articles may be displayed. At the top will be a Forestry Service lookout station and an observation tower for visitors. Long range plans call for an amphitheatre, a stage for pageants, and facilities for church conventions.

Though the 187-acre tract on which THE CROSS will be erected is owned by the Foundation, the surrounding area is U. S. Forestry Service property on which protection against commercialism has been assured. Bald Knob is the most prominent mountain in the Midwest, located in the Shawnee National Forest only 70 miles from the center of population of the nation. Illuminated at night, THE CROSS will be visible in a four-state area rich in historical background and legend.

Further information is available through Mrs. J. H. Keenon, president of Prestonsburg Woman's Club.

Cancer Drive Chairman Says One-fourth of Funds Given Are For Research

"Knowing where the money goes is the right of everyone who contributes to the American Cancer Society's 1955 crusade to raise $24,000,000 in the fight to control cancer," Mary Elizabeth Powers, chairman of the Floyd county ACS unit, said in an interview today.

This combined educational and fund-raising drive is being conducted throughout the county during April, which was designated by President Eisenhower as Cancer Control Month.

Miss Powers stated that 60 cents of every dollar collected will be retained by the area in which the funds are contributed, and will be devoted to state and community programs of cancer control.

Another 25 per cent will go for research grants to assist nearly 1,000 cancer investigators in 132 selected institutions. Each aspect of this research is part of an over-all plan to attack on man's cruellest enemy. Twelve per cent of the money will be allocated to the Cancer Society's national office, while the final three per cent will be used for medical grants to institutions and fellowships to individuals.

In an analysis of the 12 per cent which becomes the budget for the National office, Miss Powers pointed out that only 24 per cent was used last year for the national fund-raising campaign.

National educational programs, both professional and public, account for 4.5 per cent, while professional and public patients accounts for 1.2 per cent, and statistical research accounts for .9 per cent. The entire administrative cost for the national office takes only 2.6 per cent of the total, while the remaining 4 per cent is put aside in a special fund for contingencies and emergencies.

Describing how local and divisional areas use their 60 per cent share of the crusade fund, Miss Powers cited such projects as nurses' training courses, refresher courses for physicians, and some of the elements of the educational program—films, radio and TV transcriptions, pamphlets, posters, and displays, material for publications. Much is done in the way of early cancer detection programs and in improving facilities for treatment. Division administration and campaign costs also come out of this share of the fund.

The Dixie Stock Farm in Hardin county, operated by Bob Shipp of Sonora, put out 10 acres of strawberries this spring.

Floyd County Is 'Happy'

After A. B. (Happy) Chandler spoke in the interest of his candidacy for governor at the Prestonsburg courthouse, April 1, to an audience of over 500 persons. Greeting him were delegations from all the adjacent and many other Eastern Kentucky counties.

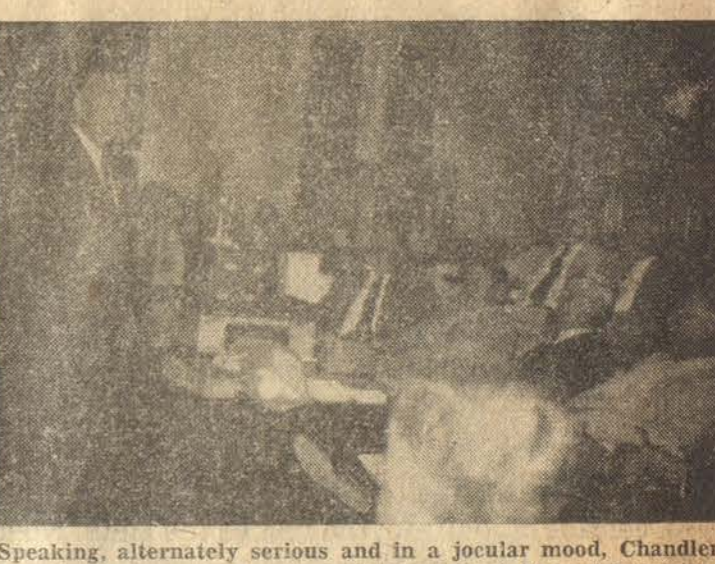

Congratulating Chandler upon his speech is Joe Weddington, his Floyd county campaign chairman. Weddington, a local insurance man, and former baseball player, predicts victory for Chandler. In center is John W. Hall of Martin who introduced Chandler.

Smiling with Happy are Malcolm Collins, of Prestonsburg, Dr. Spencer and J. C. Nickell, both of West Liberty. With them are other members of the Morgan county delegation.

Introducing Chandler is John W. Hall, of Martin, who is prominent in Eastern Kentucky fraternal circles. Hall predicted Floyd county would give Chandler a majority in his race for the governorship.

Speaking, alternately serious and in a jocular mood, Chandler brought applause as he attacked the present State Administration for its waste and inefficiency and stated the relationship between Gov. Wetherby and Senator Clements made the telephone bills between Washington and Frankfort too high.

Chicago, April 17 — The Chicago White Sox yesterday announced the sale of outfielder Lloyd Merriman to the Chicago Cubs for an estimated $20,000.

Merriman, 29, is a left-handed batter. He averaged .268 for Cincinnati last year before being purchased by the White Sox.

He was in military service in 1952 and 1953.

W'wright, Martin Open '55 Season with Wins

Wheelwright high school, defending Eastern Kentucky regional baseball champion, opened its 1955 baseball season Monday with a 7-4 win over Elkhorn City.

Freshman lefthander, Bobby G. Newsome, and junior right-hander, Clarence Ward, limited the Pike countians to two singles while the Maroons hit safely six times.

Newsome worked five innings and allowed an infield single before being relieved by Ward, who gave up one hit in the final two frames. Newsome whiffed eight and Ward one.

The outfield has lettermen Virgil Tackett, Otis Newsome, Grover Hall, Billy Fultz and Muri Mullett. The pitching staff is built around Newsome, Ward and right-handed sophomore Jimmy Hall.

Martin, 9-4 victim of Wheelwright in the finals of last season's district meet, dropped its opening fray, 7-4, to Paintsville. Denzil Halbert's Purple Flash defeated Prestonsburg, 7-6, Monday in the season's opener for the Black Cats.

Coach Adrian Hall, whose teams have represented this region in the state high school baseball tournament two of the past three years, has a veteran team which boasts a strong defense, good hitting and a fair mound corps. Three seniors and two juniors make up the infield; at first is David Chaffin; second, Bobby Jones; third, Bucky Thomas; shortstop, Oakie Newsome. Catcher is Homer Osborne, who was the team's leading hitter last season.

Betsy Layne, the fourth team in the Wheelwright district, will open its slate Thursday.

Meade Memorial, figured to be the strongest team in the region, lost the services of six of its members who violated the by-laws of the Kentucky High School Athletic Association by playing and accepting awards in the Williamson, West Virginia Kiwanis Invitational basketball tournament.

Grayson will be the site of the regional tournament May 13, with teams from the Paintsville, Breckinridge, Ashland, Flemingsburg, Sharpshurg, Mt. Sterling and Wheelwright districts competing.

300 Methodist Youth In Big Sandy Rally Held Here Monday

The Prestonsburg Methodist Youth Fellowship was host Monday evening to approximately 300 young people and their sponsors from M. Y. F. organizations in the Johnson-Pike-Floyd area.

The youth rally was held as part of the quadrennial youth emphasis program of the Methodist Church throughout the United States. The speaker at the rally was Miss Louise Rhudy, director of Youth Work of the Kentucky Conference of the Methodist Church. Miss Rhudy, a 1954 graduate of Berea College, is spending a week in Eastern Kentucky conducting various activities with Methodist youth.

Last Friday evening, Miss Rhudy met with approximately 40 Methodist youth leaders and pastors of the Prestonsburg Methodist church. She re-emphasized at this meeting that nine of every ten young people in the United States are completely "unchurched," thus presenting a great challenge to all churches everywhere.

ANNUAL TRACK MEET SLATED

Elkhorn City Picked For Both Conference and Regional Meets

The nine-team Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference will hold its annual track meet on the Elkhorn City high school oval at 1 p.m. next Tuesday.

Each of the participating schools must enter at least three events, and all have expressed the hope they will surpass that number.

Whitesburg and Jenkins are co-favorites to grab the championship. Last season, the Yellow Jackets edged by Jenkins, 48-44, and both have the majority of their squads back.

The regional track meet will also be held at Elkhorn City, May 13, with non-E.K.M.C. members—Ezel, Martin, M. C. Napier, Phelps, Stuart Robinson, and Wolfe county—joining the E.K.M.C. teams.

Virtually every conference meet has been conducted in the mud, thus loop records are not on a par with other sections of the state; yet Clifford Goble, Prestonsburg senior, bettered the state record two years ago with a 2:01 mark in the 880-yard run.

Last year, a cloudburst washed out the meet, and the team winning the regional meet was also declared the conference champion. Thus Whitesburg was the winner in both.

Ashburn Haunted By Home Runs

New York, April 18 — Richie Ashburn has a secret frustration—he'd like to swing from the end of his bat and lead the league in home runs.

The fleet center fielder of the Philadelphia Phillies, regarded by many as the best leg hitter in baseball, admits it may sound funny since he has hit only 13 homers during his entire seven-year major league career.

"But don't laugh," he said. "Because if I started swinging for distance I know I could hit quite a few homers. I've tried it in batting practice and just fooling around. Of course, if I started swinging that way, my batting average might drop down to .150. So I guess it'll never happen. But you asked me what I would like to do in baseball the most. And that's the answer. Hit more home runs than anybody else."

Ashburn, who suffered a pre-season exhibition game injury that ended his consecutive game appearance streak at 730, was a little wistful he could not go on and break the league mark of 822 games set by Gus Suhr of Pittsburgh from 1931 to 1937.

Forty Casey county farmers went on a tour to see trench silos that cost $37.50 to $1,000 each.

The nine-team E.K.M.C. loop will conduct its annual track meet at Elkhorn City, April 26th.

Meade Memorial high school last the services of its baseball stars by participating in the Williamson, West Virginia Kiwanis basketball tournament. The K. H. S. A. A. by-laws were violated as the players accepted gifts. Thus, they forfeited their remaining high school eligibility. One junior was affected for basketball next season.

Ray Pelfrey, ex-Eastern State College football player and four-year professional performer with Green Bay and the New York Giants, is the latest applicant for the Prestonsburg football coach job. Currently he is assistant coach at Eastern State College and working for a Master's degree.

The Kentucky State Amateur Golf Tournament will be played on the Paintsville course, June 13 through June 20, with a field of Kentucky's best golfers. The annual Paintsville Invitational tournament is slated for July 16-18.

Bardstown's gala "Bourbon Open" golf tourney is scheduled for May 21-22.

Grayson is the site of the Eastern Kentucky high school regional run-offs. The region will be comprised of teams from the Wheelwright, Ashland, Breckinridge, Paintsville, Mt. Sterling and Sharpshurg districts.

Fifty-two former high school players in the East-West all-state cage classics, sponsored by the Pikeville Senior Scouts, have earned college scholarships.

Home Demonstration Week To Be Observed By Kentucky Women

Members of homemakers clubs in Kentucky will be among the five million women in the United States who will observe National Home Demonstration Week May 1 to 7.

By exhibits, tours, window displays, teas and special programs, and through the press and radio, homemakers in 106 Kentucky counties will acquaint people with some of the results of the program. A total of 34,208 women in the state are members of 1,647 homemakers clubs.

The newest reliable information in all phases of homemaking is brought to rural and farm homemakers through home demonstration work, including foods and nutrition, housing, home management, health and safety, child care, family relations, marketing and consumer information, clothing construction and buymanship, home furnishings and home improvement, landscaping and good business practices.

"Through this program, women acquire information for better homemaking; they master countless skills and techniques, and gain an appreciation for standards of workmanship," said Miss Myrtle Weldon, state leader of home demonstration work at the University of Kentucky.

Assisting in carrying on the statewide program are 137 trained home economists, including six assistant state leaders, nine specialists and 122 county home agents and their assistants. In addition, 23,631 volunteer local leaders serve as connecting links between the University and the homemakers club.

Plans for the observance of National Home Demonstration week will be developed locally, varying from county to county.

Better Medical Service Is Emphasized by Group In Published Reports

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Kentucky's need for better medical services were emphasized this week by the Kentucky Medical Foundation.

A special publication containing information from reports stressing the state's needs was sent by the Foundation to 6,000 citizens of the Commonwealth.

The Foundation publication presents a digest of the reports of the Legislative Research Commission, the American Medical Association and the Advisory Committee on Medical Education.

All three surveys point up Kentucky's immediate need for more adequate medical facilities for the people of the state.

The Legislative Research Commission report says, "There has been a persistent downward trend in physician totals in the Commonwealth since the turn of the century. Kentucky has 40 per cent fewer doctors than in 1910. Adequate medical care for the state's indigent population is practically non-existent in most areas."

The Anderson-Manlove report cites the need for expanding facilities for medical education in Kentucky.

"Expanding facilities for medical education in Kentucky probably constitutes the greatest basic need in any long-range program to improve medical care in the state," the report says.

The Advisory Committee on Medical Education report also stresses the need for additional educational facilities. The Committee recommends the establishment of a School of Medicine at the University of Kentucky as soon as possible.

Enclosed with the Foundation publication was a letter from President J. Stephen Watkins, Lexington, inviting interested citizens to join the Foundation.
