

THURSDAY

This Town— That World

The town of Udall, Kansas, literally died last week in its sleep, torn to the earth by a tornado. Most towns do not die so innocently. They die because they literally refuse to stay awake.

WHY NOT?

Why shouldn't the Bible be taught in the public schools? We dip deep into our stock of clichés and prate about "the citizens of tomorrow," and we teach them everything under the sun, including how to enjoy the most lurid "funny" books; we detail theories of government, and how to extract the square root of numbers, and what made civilizations rise and fall, and so on—and all the while we adamantly refuse to give the young mind something from the very source of a good citizenship.

Said Towell Thomas:

"The Bible is of vital importance in teaching freedom. Dictators fear the Bible—and for good reason. It inspired the Magna Charta and the Declaration of Independence."

Gordon Moore referred to me, the other day, as an old-line fisherman, but spelled out the word, "line," just in time to prevent trouble.

DESCRIPTIVE

Up at Pikeville, the heather day, officers raided a "street carnival" showing there, closed down a "girly" show and all gambling machines and collected $754 in fines—as they should have done. Describing the raid, a PIKE COUNTY NEWS reporter got real sententious when he wrote:

"They arrested the 'entertainers'—four young girls in their twenties and very little else . . ."

BACK TO THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Bob Wallace and the Bookmobile have been helping to take me back to more carefree days, to the happy time when I found sheer delight in reading a story purely for the story's sake. I refer to two old acquaintances from those days, "Cappy Ricks" and "The Enchanted Hill," by Peter B. Kyne, which I have

NEW BUILDING OPEN FRIDAY

City Hall at Martin To Be Open To Public Inspection Two Days

Open house will be held at Martin's new city hall on Friday and Saturday of this week, Mayor E. P. Grigsby announced Monday.

The structure and lot, financed by the issuance of $12,000 in bonds, cost $16,000. The city will pay a certain amount each year as rent for seven years. After the bonds are amortized the city of Martin will own the building and lot.

There will be complete housing for a fire-proof jail for both men and women, a complete fire department and full time fire chief, office room size 16 feet by 32 feet for rent, and one large office to be used for council meetings and for the Police Judge to hold court.

The fire chief, on duty 24 hours a day, has a five-room apartment on the second floor. A garage for the police car has been built into the new city hall.

COUNTY AGENT SAYS BERRIES BEAT TOBACCO

Experiences with Crop This Year Are Reviewed, Are Cause for Optimism

With the strawberry season past and the commercial bean crop blooming in 30 acres being grown for the Huntington market, a review on the first attempt of Floyd county farmers to grow a commercial crop of any importance reveals a wide spread in profits.

This, despite the fact that many could not get their strawberries harvested. Others having ample labor supply reaped high profits. County Agent O. E. Boggs estimates a production in this county of 1,500 crates, but only 115 of them were marketed through the marketing association. Chief reason given by farmers for failure to cooperate with their own co-op was the huge local demand that took their berries without transportation expense. Persons connected with the marketing of produce here think the anticipated 6,000 bushels of beans will necessarily have to be marketed through the co-op as no foreseeable local demand would take such large crop.

According to reports, Virgil Smith, of Allen, has so far emerged as the top producer in profits on a small strawberry plot. However, it was pointed out that Garland S. Martin, of Eastern, was still picking a few strawberries early this week and was expected to sell 60 to 70 crates from less than an acre. Smith had only 1,500 plants growing on three-eighths of an acre. He sold 49 crates, all but one of them locally. Total income on this small plot was $640.88 and net profit was $598.90.

Walter Martin, of Wayland, partially harvested one acre. His net return was $550 and but for his harvesting difficulties the net profit would have run much higher. Other farmers with good records were Boyd Holbrook, of Middle Creek, and John Goble, of Auxier. "It beats tobacco," says Boggs. He pointed out two farmers in adjacent counties who had phenomenal records this year. J. B. Crum, of Martin county, set out only 1,000 Tennessee Beauty plants, sold 100 crates of berries. This is at the rate of 400 crates to the acre, a bumper crop for any section producing strawberries. McKinley Blanton, of Johnson county, tops the Crum record, though. The Johnson county agent reports Blanton set out one-tenth an acre and sold 58 crates from the plot.

Carter and Callihan Funeral Home will give three trophies this year to the top strawberry fields set out from the Sears, Roebuck plants furnished to 25 4-H club members in this county. Last week James Stacy of the Extension Service was here contacting the 4-H growers, asking them to produce virus-free plants for next year's demand. Extension specialists say they expect a strawberry plant shortage.

RANKIN SETS HEARING DATE

Martin, Lewis Attorneys To Argue Case June 14 Before 7 Special Judges

Special Chief Justice Pat Rankin, of Stanford, has called the special Court of Appeals to convene next Tuesday morning to hear attorneys' arguments on charges of unprofessional conduct filed against Commonwealth's Attorney Burns Martin, of Prestonsburg, and Jesse K. Lewis, of Lexington. The court will meet at 10:30 a.m., Eastern time.

The State Board of Bar Commissioners earlier this year recommended that Lewis and Martin be adjudged guilty of unprofessional conduct and each be suspended six months from practicing law.

Both have formally replied they are innocent of the charges. Records showed the complaints arose from written attacks in 1953 against Appellate Judge Porter Sims, Bowling Green, then chief justice of the Court of Appeals, and Circuit Judge Lawrence Grauman, of Louisville.

Sims had named Grauman a special judge to try several taxpayer cases in the Floyd circuit court, replacing Circuit Judge Lawrence Speckman, also of Louisville. The seven regular appellate judges, all Democrats, declined to sit in judgment on the Lewis and Martin cases. Governor Wetherby appointed four Democrats and three Republicans attorneys as a special court to consider the cases.

HARMAN SAYS MINE TO WORK

Says Order of Court Restraining Lamberts Makes Work Possible

William S. Harman, Columbus, O., said this week the way for early operation of the tippie and plant on Jones Fork, near Lackey of Kentucky Elkhorn Coals, Inc., was cleared June 2 when U. S. district court at Pikeville granted a restraining order against Joe L. and Fred Lambert.

The Lamberts and representatives of the company had for some time been at loggerheads, with the result that the mine and its facilities were little used. Mr. Harman said that the court order makes the company "now free to pursue their legitimate activities at Lackey, and results favorable to the community and Knott county are anticipated.

The mining operation was formerly known as Porter Elkhorn and the Central Elkhorn Coal Company. The court order directed that the Lamberts are, until further orders of the court, enjoined and restrained from trespassing or residing upon the property owned by the company, from attempting to control or direct the affairs of the corporation and in any way interfering with the corporation in the management of its affairs. It also enjoined them from "giving out in speech and words that the defendant, Joe Lambert, is the owner of any interest or stock in said corporation . . ."

HUGE THRONG HEARS COMBS

Motorcade from Floyd, Other Counties of Area At Shelbyville Opening

Between 300 and 400 Floyd countians were in the record campaign-opening crowd of an estimated 12,000 persons who gathered in Shelbyville last Thursday night for opening campaign address of Judge Bert T. Combs, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Pike and Floyd county cars of the motorcade which swelled to a string of 400 autos by the time Lexington was reached left here at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. At West Liberty 152 cars were counted, and the count there by counties was: Floyd, 40; Pike 19; Johnson, 16; Morgan, 30; Elliott, 31; Magoffin, 16. In addition to these were several Floyd county autos that had preceded the motorcade, also two chartered buses.

These were joined at Winchester by cars from the Kentucky river section, and Blue Grass counties added to the cavalcade.

The throng that gathered at Shelbyville's fairgrounds, traditional scene of campaign openings, was larger than Barkley's last year. The former Prestonsburg man pledged a progressive administration for Kentucky in his address after telling the roaring crowd the state is at a major point of decision. "I think the next administration will determine whether we will go forward as a progressive unit of the new industrial South or whether we will go into a state of eclipse and return to the era of the goateed colonel and magnolia blossoms," he added.

The former appellate judge listed 10 subjects he promised to detail during his campaign and named them as public education, general fund revenue, mental health, state

HERNDON DIES, SHOT VICTIM

Prominent Man Here Found Dead At Home; Funeral Held Monday

David C. Herndon, 65 years old, well-known Prestonsburg man, was found dead at his home on Arnold avenue here late Friday afternoon, victim of a gunshot wound.

The charge of a 410-gauge shotgun had struck him in his right temple, and it was believed death had occurred between 3 and 4 p.m. Coroner James J. Carter reported that there was no evidence of foul play.

News of the tragedy came as a shock to hundreds of his relatives and friends here and elsewhere in this section. Mr. Herndon had been in ill health for years, and at intervals over a period of years had been a patient at Veterans' hospital, Oteen, N. C.

COUNCIL KILLS 'STICKER' USE

Business Men Protest Parking Arrangement; New Meters Ordered

The City Council voted Monday night to discontinue the use of parking stickers, effective July 1, and to buy 100 new parking meters.

Heretofore, the police department has sold stickers which, displayed on the motorist's windshield, entitled him to park at any meter without depositing money in the meter. The system was favored mainly by persons locally who cannot return at regular intervals to a meter to keep it running.

A representative of 30 or more business men told the Council, however, that cars bearing these stickers were occupying parking space in front of their places of business to the exclusion of customers.

The new meters purchased will replace old meters now in use on Court street and at other advantageous spots. They were purchased on a payment plan which gives the seller 50 per cent of receipts until the purchase price is amortized.

Bids on a new fire truck were opened at Monday night's meeting, and the low bid submitted was that of the Oren-Roanoke Company in the amount of $13,178. Actual purchase, however, will not be made till 30 to 60 days from now, Mayor Harry Sandig explained. He said an additional fire truck is needed, one for use on a stand-by basis. With Prestonsburg extending from Cliff to Lancer, the possibility of fires breaking out at the same time in widely separated places here pointed up the need for additional equipment, it was said.

Local Sheepmen Attend Sheep Day At Lexington

Several Floyd countians attended the 18th Annual Kentucky Sheep Day meet at Lexington today (Thursday) and three of them entered five fleeces in the exhibits which were adjudged at 4 p.m. Entering the fleeces were Henry C. Hale, of Blue River, Paul Dotson, of West Prestonsburg, Virgil Smith, of Allen, County Agent O. E. Boggs and Assistant County Agent Ervine C. Joseph attended the meet.

Richard C. Miller, sheep specialist of the Extension Service, presided at today's gathering of sheep men. At the barbecue luncheon at noon sheep were prepared for 500 persons.

Monday To Mark Opening Of First Floyd Classes For Retarded Tots

Floyd county will open next Monday for the first time in its history a school for the training of retarded children.

The class, which will be held five mornings a week at Martin, will be taught by Mrs. Joe Begley, of Boldman, and is being sponsored by the Floyd Council for Retarded Children.

Only eight children will compose this first class. To be eligible for training, a child must pass through the clinic held monthly at Martin by Dr. Halbert Leete, Lexington psychiatrist, and under auspices of the Council for Retarded Children.

TB Mobile Unit At Prestonsburg

Approximately 450 persons received free chest X-ray examinations during the first two days of the three-day stay here this week of the mobile unit of the State Department of Health, M. V. Clark, county health department administrator, said.

The unit ends its work here today (Thursday) and will be at Martin tomorrow. Next Tuesday, it will be at Estill; at Wheelwright, Wednesday and Thursday, and at Harold on Friday. At each point the hours of its operation are from 9 till 12 noon and from 1 to 3 p.m.

Open House At Dam To Be Held, Sunday

Next Thursday will mark the 180th anniversary of the U. S. Corps of Engineers and the birthday of the event Col. George T. Derby, district engineer, U. S. Corps of Engineers, Huntington, W. Va., has authorized open house to be held from 1 till 5 p.m., Sunday, June 12, at Dewey dam and various other installations in the Huntington district.

Pins for 10, 20 and 30 years' service with the Corps of Engineers will be awarded next Thursday in a ceremony at the Prichard hotel, Huntington, and a recipient of a 10-year service pin will be Bradis Goble, ranger on Dewey Lake.

The public is invited to visit Dewey dam Sunday afternoon, J. R. "Red" Weaver, reservoir manager, and assistants will conduct visitors through the dam installations.

DEPT. RAISES COST CEILING

Approves $275,000 Top On School Annex Job; Bond Advertising Next

Although the low bid made last week on construction of the proposed auditorium-gymnasium annex to the new county high school building here was exactly $40,000 more than the $226,000 figure set for the project when a special tax was voted to finance the structure, no trouble is seen for its financing.

For the State Department of Education last Wednesday approved the expenditure of $275,000 on the project, $9,000 more than the bid submitted by Akers & Akers, Banner contracting firm.

A big increase in property assessments here, with a huge building program under way, placed the school district in favorable position and gained from the Department of Education quick approval for the extra expenditure.

The independent school district's bonds will be advertised next week for sale, and upon their sale the contract will be officially awarded to the Banner contractors who are nearing completion of the high school structure itself. The same firm also has almost completed the state office building, across U. S. 23 from the high school.

'WRECK' IS POSTPONED

The planned "wreck" of the 40 at 8 Club here Sunday afternoon has been indefinitely postponed, Gomer Martin, Jr., chef de gare, announces. Reason for postponement of the meet was not stated.

BOYD NAMED TO ACADEMY

Salutatorian Here in '54 Will Enter West Point July 5, Is Announcement

Darwin D. Boyd, 19, of Emma, who was valedictorian of the Prestonsburg high school graduating class of 1954, will enter the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, July 5, it was learned here this week.

Young Boyd was nominated for the West Point appointment by Congressman Carl D. Perkins last March, and this spring completed and passed the last of the series of exacting mental and physical tests required for acceptance to the Academy.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Boyd, of Emma, he was a freshman student during the last school year at Morehead State College. An outstanding student during his full four years in high school here, he showed great aptitude in mathematics, his instructor in that subject, Mrs. Earl F. McDonald, said this week.

BOARD SETS TEACHER HIRE

As Work for This Week; Turner Says Emergency Teachers To Be Fewer

The Floyd County Board of Education did not hire teachers for the 1955-56 school year at its regular meeting Tuesday, as expected, but will make the teachers placements today (Thursday) or Friday, County Superintendent Virgil O. Turner said.

The rural school term will begin July 25, he said. This opening date was set to permit teachers now doing work in short term summer courses at college to complete the term before beginning teaching and also to permit them to conclude the year's work, if no time is lost, before the opening of college short terms for summer work next year.

The emergency teacher situation has cleared appreciably this year, with many teachers in this category earning provisional certificates, Mr. Turner said. By next year, he predicted, half of those who previously taught as emergencies will have certificates. Hope of better days in the teaching profession and the schools as a result of the Minimum Foundation Program has spurred teachers to gain full college accreditation, he added.

The Board at Tuesday's meeting asked State Department of Education permission to hire a few emergency teachers.

School equipment was purchased on low bidders submitted by suppliers. These bids were:

West Virginia Seating Company, size B and C seats, 200 each, B seats at $8.90, C size at $8.40; Central School Supply, 600 A-size seats at $10.40 each; Dependable Supply Company, 500 folding chairs, $3.75 each.

The Board authorized the Superintendent to ask bids for:

Coal for schools, library tables and

THREE SUITS ASK $82,400

Claims $70,000 Damages In Auto Deaths of Two Near Here Last June 20

Three suits filed in the Floyd circuit court this week in the deaths of two persons and the injury of two others ask a total of $82,400 damages.

Two of the complaints are the outgrowth of a highway tragedy near Sugar Loaf last June 20 when Miss Polly Barnett and Walter England were killed as the auto driven by England collided with a truck of the Liquid Transporters, Inc. One of the actions was filed by Marie England, widow and executrix of the estate of Walter England; the other, by Will Barnett, father of the Barnett girl.

Each of these suits asks $35,000 damages and alleges that the truck was negligently and carelessly operated and that it was on its driver's side of the highway, a circumstance which caused the collision with the auto. Willard Barnett, brother of the girl, also was a passenger in the auto and was seriously hurt. Claude P. Stephens represents the plaintiffs.

Damages totaling $10,400 are asked in a suit filed by Mrs. Marie Stumbo against Marie and James Cole as the result of a recent wreck at a curve at Printer in which Mrs. Stumbo suffered a skull fracture, broken ribs and severe cuts and bruises. Her husband, John M. Stumbo, asks $1,100 damages for injuries suffered in the same wreck, and $900 is asked as damage to the Stumbo's auto.

The other car figuring in the wreck owned by Cole and was driven by Marie Cole, the petition, which was prepared by W. W. Burchett, says. The wreck occurred May 24.

SALK VACCINE CLINICS BEGIN NEXT TUESDAY

Tots Who Received First Shots To Get Anti-Polio Priority

The second round of serum for the prevention of polio will be given to Floyd county children of the first and second grades in school, beginning with clinics at the health department here and at Betsy Layne next Tuesday, it was announced Wednesday by M. V. Clark, administrator of the Floyd County Health Department.

The clinics will be continued next week, as follows:

Martin and Garrett schools, Wednesday, June 15; McDowell and Wheelwright schools, Thursday.

The second clinic here and the clinic at Allen, which were included in the first round of shots, have been eliminated because of relatively small number of children appearing at those clinics and because of an acute shortage of clinic help as well as the limited amount of serum on hand. Allen youngsters may be taken to the clinic here or to Martin and Betsy Layne. Each clinic will be open only from 9 a.m. till noon.

Enough serum to give approximately 1,000 vaccinations was left after the first round of shots, and this is all that will be available until July or later, it was said.

The clinic sites and dates and other arrangements for administering the serum were decided upon only after all these plans had been submitted to, and agreed to by, the Floyd County Board of Health composed of Drs. W. V. Wicker, R. M. Sirkle and George P. Archer and County Judge Henry Stumbo, and by 11 doctor-members of the County Medical Society.

The Salk polio serum has been leased for use after every conceivable precaution has been taken, was emphasized by U. S. Public Health Service officials. Dr. Scheele, assistant surgeon general, this week declared the serum as safe as it can possibly be made.

The Salk vaccine in this county will, first of all, be offered to the first and second-graders who already have had one shot. If any vaccine vials are opened and not all their contents used at any of the clinics, the remaining shots that otherwise would spoil and be lost will be given to children above the first two grades of school who were given the vaccine at the first clinics for the same reason. To conserve the limited supply of serum, Mr. Clark explained that in cases where only five or six children are at a clinic at its close and their vaccination would necessitate opening of a new vial with the result that precious shots would be left to spoil, a volunteer worker will be asked to take the children on the next day for their shots at another clinic.

After every effort has been made to use the serum economically and still reach every child who has had the first shot, any serum remaining when the last clinic is held will be made available to any other Kentucky clinic.

McHone Is Set Designer For Top CBS-TV Shows

Floyd countians have a special interest these days in the list of "credits" following or preceding certain television shows. For the name of Bill Dudley McHone, native of Prestonsburg and a son of Mrs. Cora Stephens McHone, of Wheelwright, is appearing there and doubtless will be seen more often in the future.

A year after he began work with Columbia Broadcasting System, McHone now is on the permanent CBS staff, and is the designer of sets for "Omnibus" and "The Best of Broadway," including the Jack Benny show.

At the age of 30 the former Prestonsburg man is doing exactly what he has long dreamed of doing. He has always been interested in art, and as a student in college his mind was engrossed with that field. He was graduated from Prestonsburg high school as salutatorian of his class, then enrolled at the University of Kentucky. After a year there he left for New York City to study art. But at the age of 18 the army claimed him and he saw service in the European theatre with a combat warfare unit.

The war ended, he studied at Beaux Arts, Paris, two years, being employed meanwhile at the American embassy in Paris.

Back in New York, McHone found the young television industry inviting, but the way to recognition and success there wasn't easy. For one thing, even after he had convinced CBS of his ability, he found that there was a requirement that he be a member of the Artists Union. There was a test to be undergone—three days of it. Finally, he learned that he had made the grade—that, in fact, he was only one of three among the 35 applicants who had passed the examination. His drawings on a theme from Hamlet earned him the "open sesame" to the union and CBS employment.

For several months McHone worked as assistant in the CBS art department. On a recent Sunday his name appeared in the Jack Benny show credits as designer. Now he has his own assistants.

EXPRESSIONS OF GRATITUDE
I wish to take this means of expressing by gratitude to so many who have made my illness since I was in an automobile accident easier to bear.

First of all I am thankful to God for sustaining me in the dark hours of uncertainty. Then my deep heartfelt thankfulness goes to Dr. Robert Sirkle, "Dave" Davidson, and the nurses of the Beaver Valley hospital. With their care and kindness, I couldn't help but ascend from the pit of agony and pain to the road of recovery. I thank those people who sent me flowers, the ones who brought me choice foods to eat, and the ones whose visitations and cards showed that they were concerned. Yes, I am grateful to Johnnie Allen who took me to the hospital after the wreck.

Despite my condition now, may I say that I am deeply grateful to all who have made my illness more easier to surmount.

Maria D. Stumbo

Mrs. Lizzie Roberts, 62, of Galveston, Is Victim; Rites Conducted June 8

Mrs. Lizzie Roberts, 62, of Galveston, died at 1 a.m., Tuesday, at home. The cause of death was not given.

Mrs. Rogers was a daughter of the late Robert and Minda Hall and was married to George Rogers who survives. She was a member of the Church of Christ.

Surviving sons and daughters are Hatler Rogers, Mrs. C. C. Rogers, Mrs. Minnie Akers, Mrs. Ruth Hall, Mrs. June Akers, Mrs. Viola Hall and Mrs. Brooks Mullins, all of Galveston, and Mrs. Woodrow Rogers, of Grethel. employment, public assistance and welfare, state parks, highways, agriculture, industrial development and veterans affairs.

In the opening address, Combs said, "his personal ambitions are not important and that a man should not approach the people with outstretched hands asking that his personal desires be satisfied merely because of his ambitions."

"The real issue is what is good for Kentucky," Combs said.

Pledging his leadership for the economic well-being of the people of the state, Combs described the state's rich natural resources, both human and natural. He said a plan must be worked out to realize both for future prosperity.

He pointed up the need for more industries to consume the production from Kentucky's coal fields and asked for the development of new techniques to aid the marketing of tobacco, livestock and other agricultural products.

He called for the state to expand its efforts to secure programs that will store the excess water during flood periods for use by industry and agriculture when rain falls.

Praising the development of the state's park system and describing its annual worth today of $500,000,000, Combs pledged his support to the expansion of the park program and the application of the state's leadership in many similar fields of endeavor.

Combs received several lengthy ovations when he discussed the type of Governor he believed the people of the state would select this year.

"I am convinced that the people want a governor who will work for them and their interest instead of a governor who will immediately upon his election start looking for greener pastures in which he can feed his personal ambitions and further advance his political fortunes," he said.

He described his opponent as "offering the people a grab bag, Santa Claus program an ad band wagon on the way into a land of milk and honey."

He told his audience that he always had been a Democrat and was a Democrat in the elections of 1943, 1946, and 1948 and that he had never been a Dixiecrat or a member of any kind of "splinter party."

Several times since the campaign opened, Combs' staunch supporters have accused his opposition of campaigning for the Dixiecrat party in 1948 although Combs has never used his opponents name in connection with the Dixiecrat issue.

Combs pledged his full support to the minimum foundation program and called it the best solution to the state's education problems. He said that he would recommend that the legislature provide sufficient funds to completely finance the program in 1955.

He asked for an expansion of the Foundation Program Law to provide for "at least $80 per annum in state aid for each pupil in daily attendance." The common school per capita is now $37.51. Combs said that when his opponent became Governor the per capita was $10.95 and in his four years in office, it was raised a total of only $1.24.

The overseas veteran said he was opposed to blanket raises of local assessment by the state tax commission as a matter of principal and charged that blanket raises were made by the commission during every year his opponent was governor.

Want to watch the gas pumps go by?

It's wonderful what Variable Pitch Propellers do for getaway AND gas savings!

ANY airline pilot will tell you that one big reason for the modern plane's greatly increased cruising range aloft is the variable pitch propeller.

To get off the ground, of course, the pilot needs plenty of acceleration, for take-off and climb. So his propellers must "bite" into air at a certain angle for utmost performance.

But once the plane is at cruising altitude, great power acceleration is no longer needed—fuel efficiency is. So the pilot switches the pitch of his propeller blades to high-economy angle—and gets a lot more mileage from the fuel in his tanks.

That's why Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflo* is such a sensation everywhere. For the same aviation principle that brings this two-way magic to the modern plane is now found in the propeller-like blades whirling in oil inside the Dynaflo unit.

Just by pressing the gas pedal way down, you switch the pitch and get instantaneous getaway response or safety-surge acceleration.

Just by easing up on the pedal, you change the pitch to high-economy angle—and get new and better gas mileage in all normal driving and cruising.

It's a spectacular and sensible achievement—this new Dynaflo Drive—a brand-new thrill and a brand-new thriftiness.

And with it goes the might of record-high V8 power—and the level luxury of Buick's all-coil-spring ride—and the spacious roominess of Buick's broad interiors—and the host of other advanced features that add to Buick's brimming value.

Come in and try what is very definitely the performance thrill of the year—and see for yourself why Buick sales are soaring to all-time best-seller highs.

SEEK ARREST OF TWO MEN

Howell, Dye Wanted In W'Wright Robbery; Hall Beaten at Martin

Two Floyd county men are sought by officers in a series of depredations which include armed robbery, breaking and entering and armed assault.

A warrant sworn out by Alex Vasbury, of Wheelwright, accuses Roland Howell and Charles Dye, of the Price vicinity, of robbing him of $8 on the night of May 28.

Deputy Sheriff Green Johnson said the same men are sought for questioning in the looting of the J. P. Howell store at Price last Wednesday night and the pistol-beating at Martin Friday night of Hargis Hall, of McDowell.

Roadblocks have been thrown up at different points in this section, and Floyd deputy sheriffs have been on the lookout for the pair through this week, but they had eluded arrest up till Wednesday morning.

Johnson said he and other officers arrived at Martin last Friday night about 20 minutes after Hall had been attacked. He said they were told that when Hall entered his auto, a man leveled a revolver at him through the car window while another entered from the opposite side, ordering him to move over, adding that they "were taking over". Hall decided to attempt to break free of the car and lunged into the man at his left, knocking the man's pistol to the ground. The other man then began beating Hall about the head with a pistol, officers were told. The two fled as passersby were attracted by the altercation.

Wednesday night of last week, the store of J. P. Howell at Price, was entered by burglars who sawed up through the floor, then drilled and pried their way into the store safe. Their loot consisted of between $50 and $100 in cash, two shot-guns, a target pistol, a wrist watch and three large knives.

Deputy Sheriff Johnson said no trace of fingerprints was found on the safe. He said that the men involved in all three crimes were masked and wore gloves.

Johnson said he halted Charles Dye, the Sunday following the robbery of Vasbury, as Dye drove into the outskirts of Martin. The deputy said he "killed" the motor of the car by revolver fire and that Dye fled. Recovered from the deserted car was a sawed-off shotgun, a 38-caliber revolver and a Bowie knife. He added that footprints at the Vasbury robbery and at the location of Hall's car correspond.

Warrants naming the assailants of Hall and looters of Howell's store had not been issued Wednesday, however.

Though severely beaten, Hall joined the search for his assailants after he had received first-aid. He is a son of Johnny Hall, of McDowell.

Paintsville Car Wrecks At Allen Last Friday

Passing an automobile van south of Allen last Friday resulted in the car driven by Miss Diane Turner, of Paintsville, leaving the highway and inflicting severe bruises and cuts on her and a passenger, Mary Ruth Ball. The two were driving towards Prestonsburg and passed the Anchor Motor Freight van on a rough piece of road. The van driver said the car, at first almost out of control, righted itself but another car parked alongside the road, suddenly pulled out and forced the Paintsville car to turn toward the cliff side of the highway. It finally plumed across the highway and over the river bank.

Both women were brought to the Prestonsburg General Hospital by Hal IBros. ambulance, but were released after treatment.

FLOYD NATIVE ENTERS RACE

Hatcher Is Candidate Opposing O'Connell In Coming Primary

George Glenn Hatcher, a native of this county, and a former Secretary of State for two terms, formally filed Tuesday for clerk of the Court of Appeals. He will be opposed by Charles K. O'Connell, of Frankfort, present Secretary of State. Both men are considered by political observers to be top vote getters in the state.

Hatcher's declaration papers were signed by former State Senator Sylvester J. Wagner, Covington, and J. Walter Clements, Louisville attorney. In a formal statement, Hatcher said: "I have decided to become a candidate for the office of clerk of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky. I am not a stranger to that office or to the duties of the office."

In 1947, O'Connell was unopposed for the nomination for clerk of the Court of Appeals, while Hatcher won nomination as secretary of state in a four-candidate field, defeating Miss Adams, T. H. "Fatty" Holbrook, and H. T. "Hub" Perdew.

Both O'Connell and Hatcher won election in November along with Governor Earle C. Clements. But Hatcher and Clements soon had a falling out.

Consequently, when Clements ran for United States senator in 1950, Hatcher pitted his strength against Clements. Clements polled 114,482, to 38,010 for Hatcher.

In 1951, Hatcher's wife, Mrs. Lorraine Jarrell Hatcher, of Prestonsburg, announced early that she would run for secretary of state. But O'Connell also had his eyes on the post. When O'Connell filed, Mrs. Hatcher withdrew. O'Connell won nomination and election in November.

Hatcher, himself, entered the primary race for State Auditor in 1951. But the Clements-Wetherby forces, went all out for the Rev. T. Herbert Tinsley, of Warsaw.

Tinsley won, polling 82,423 to 76,635 for Hatcher and 36,614 for L. M. McKinney, Lexington. Hatcher, alleging fraud, demanded a recount. But his plea failed when the Court of Appeals ruled that he would have to guarantee personally the expense of the recount.

For the past four years, Hatcher has been selling printed supplies to city and county government officials in East Kentucky.

Little League Yankees Defeats Two Opponents; Cooley Leads Batters
Big innings saved last year's champions, the Little League Yankees, from two defeats as they rallied to edge the Dodgers, 7-6, and the Cardinals, 13-12.

While hitting six homers in the two games the Yankees scored five and nine runs in their big innings to gain the winning score. John Anderson, Ronald Cooley, the league's leading batter, Larry Harris, James Mosley, Bobby Pearson, and Bill May chipped in with homers. While the Dodgers were absorbing defeat from the Yankees, shortstop Roger Dohart, of the Dodgers, was continuing his hard hitting where he left off last year in collecting three hits, including a double and a homer in the league's opener.

(The Little Leaguers will donate gate-receipts to the Polio Drive next Tuesday, as the Indians and Dodgers clash, according to Frank Heinze, league official.)

The Cardinals powdered Indians pitching for 22 runs to the Indians meager two in taking their first game. Caldwell, Harris, Bailey, and Akers all collected three hits each for the Cardinals. The Indians garnered only one safe hit in scoring their two runs. The Dodgers gave the Indians no rest when they downed them 9-1 while catcher Sparks and pitcher Hager cashed in two timely hits for the winning team.

Leading batters:
R. Cooley, Yankees 1.000
H. Harris, Cardinals667
O. Sparks, Dodgers556
R. Dohart, Dodgers500

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D. Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"Singing Family of the Cumberlands"

It is always a great event when we see true pictures of folk life. Recently it has become almost a fad to make our folk ridiculous, so much so that we who really love the flavor of our native state are always armed against a so-called interpreter of our customs. I was not in a very good mood when I picked up a copy of Jean Ritchie's SINGING FAMILY OF THE CUMBERLANDS; I had heard too much criticism of our mountaineers and of plain people everywhere in the state. Before I had read a full page, my mood had improved a thousand per cent. "Here," in Dryden's phrase about Chaucer, "is God's plenty."

Miss Ritchie was born in our own Kentucky mountains, a member of a singing family. Every activity in the life of the girl had its song or songs. Many of the ballads that her ancestors and ours had brought from the British Isles had survived, so that Lords and ladies, Knights and dames pass in review before the little girl as she drives home the cow from the mountain pasture or walks the footlog across the mountain stream. The youngest of fourteen children, she was thus tied back to older customs, very much like the ones that I knew so well thirty years before she was born. Reading her book took me back to Fidelity in the early part of this century or even in the late nineties, for we, too, were independent folk and had our own songs that made smooth for us the rather rocky ways of puzzling life.

Fortunately, Miss Ritchie knows the great value of the things she so well remembers. Well-educated, genuinely scholarly in her treatment of folkways, she neither plays up the strange customs that have so recently been superseded nor makes it appear that there was anything very odd about her mountain childhood. She uses language skillfully, preserving folk idiom without overdoing it.

Unfortunately, some of the would-be friends of our folkways have made every sentence of their stories or essays heavy with folk words. Ever though all of them are genuine, there are too many in a given sentence or conversation. Miss Ritchie's characters talk like people, not like Percy Mackey's paste-board dramatist personae. Mr. Mackey visited sometimes in our mountains and became so enamored of our remnants of Elizabethan English that he created some one-act plays so these words could be used. But the plays bear the same resemblance to genuine, every-day speech that dogwood bears to dog fennel. In setting down the speech of her family and neighbors, Miss Ritchie has shown an excellent memory and, at the same time, a true regard for real speech, not the stage of characters.

Naturally, I rejoiced with her love for neighborhood "doin's." I like her sorghum-making, with its skim hole, its eating foamy fresh molasses, and its endless pranks. Sleeping on the floor when the older children and their families came back had a familiar ring; as the youngest member of our big family, I feel now that I must have slept on the floor a night or two in every week of the summers along about 1896 to 1906. The singing on the porch, especially at the homecomings, is well done in her book. My, how I wished that our Aunt Jane and Jean Ritchie could have known each other and could have swapped songs from dusky-dark until sunrise and never run out of songs, either!

The book also brings out how the songs were a sort of commentary on life in general for Jean and her family. The lovely ladies were not play-like; they were real, with all their sufferings at the hands of fickle lovers. Barbara Ellen was not merely some far-off hard-hearted girl who jilted her lover and then died with a broken heart; she might easily have lived right on the other side of the mountain. Forty and more songs of the singing family are preserved, words and music; they form a chorus, a sort of cheerful Greek Chorus, to the life and loves and deaths in the vicinity of Viper, Perry county, a quarter of a century ago.

School Bus Accidents Totalled 329 Last Year

Frankfort, Ky., June 6 (Sp.) — Kentucky's county and independent school districts paid twice as much in insurance premiums last year to insure against accidents, as was paid by companies for damages, according to a study made by the State Department of Education.

Superintendent of Public Instruction W. P. Butler disclosed that districts paid $73,968 in premiums, and the companies returned $36,661 for property damage and bodily injuries growing out of accidents. Butler revealed that the study was made under direction of John L. Vickers, director of bus transportation. It also showed that there were 329 school bus accidents during the year which resulted in 62 persons being slightly injured, four suffered serious injuries and one fatality.

The study disclosed, too, that 193 of the accidents occurred on paved roads; 68 were on gravel roads and 13 were on dirt roads. In addition, the road were reported in good condition in 185 cases; 53 occurred on slippery roads; 16 on rough places and three on "soft" places in the road.

Mother-Daughter Fete Ends Year of Scouting In W Wright Community

Wheelwright, Ky., June 6 (Sp.) — Girl Scouts in Wheelwright ended a successful year of Scouting with a mother and daughter Banquet May 16th in Community Hall.

One hundred forty-two Girl Scout leaders, mothers and committee members enjoyed the meal prepared by mothers in the form of a box supper. Mrs. Arthur Bradbury presented a Campership (a two week camping trip to Camp Chatterawa) to Miss Avonelle Burgess, as a gift from the Wheelwright Neighborhood in honor of Mrs. Ada Parker. Miss Burgess was selected because she is an outstanding Scout.

Badges earned were presented, and girls "flying up" from troops were welcomed by their new leaders or by the president of that troop. Scouting in Wheelwright has been very successful during the past year.

SPORTS CHATTER

By Gordon Moore

Five years ago, Kentucky Colleges were turning out high school coaches far above the demand. Literally speaking, coaches were a dime a dozen. But now when $3,000 is mentioned as a beginning salary, too few that are available are not at all interested.

Prestonsburg high is still seeking a grid mentor, as are Russell and Jenkins high schools.

The Kentucky amateur golf tournament is slated for the Paintsville course, June 15 to 19, with a field of some 100 of Kentucky's best golfers entered.

In the Invitational golf field, Hazard's is carded for July 2 to 5; Paintsville, July 15 to 17, and the Eastern Kentucky Ladies' Golf Association tourney will be at the Green Meadows Country Club, Pikeville, August 11 and 12.

It is gratifying to see the people of Prestonsburg finally take 100 per cent interest in Little League and Pony League baseball. The pleasure of seeing tomorrow's citizens playing in an organized manner today more than offsets any financial burden or gift of many laborious hours.

The Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a Fishing Rodeo at Dewey Lake, Monday, July 4. The winner of each of the six divisions will receive a lot of valuable fishing tackle.

Make plans now to enter.

The current issue of Reader's Digest has an excellent article that applies to every so-called fisherman in the United States.

Among the big bass coming out of Dewey Lake were these. Russell Hagewood, right, holds a string weighing 20 pounds, and David Allen, at left with the six-pounder he landed via spinning rod. Poppers lured the others.

Henderson, Ky., May 26—Kentucky National Guard troops will start two weeks of summer training at nearby Camp Breckinridge July 10.

Although the United States uses more electric power than any other country, its per capita use is less than that of either Norway or Canada.

AUTO RACING

SATURDAY NIGHT, JUNE 11

at 8 p.m., at

SANDY VALLEY SPEEDWAY

AT ALLEN

Last Saturday night a wonderful race was put on. We had a lot of people and a lot of cars. They were hot cars, too.

Three wrecks and several neck to neck runs. The people were so excited and thrilled they stood up in their seats cheering their picked drivers on to victory.

John P. Wells, of Prestonsburg, driving car No. 14, locked wheels with another car throwing him onto the fence in front of the grandstand. The people were scared stiff. Another car, No. 9, from Salyersville, threw a wheel over one fence into another. Car No. 22 from Gilbert, W. Va., driven by Ewell Hatfield went through the fence into a cornfield. His car was knocked out. Whoever missed this race missed a real one.

This Saturday night we plan another red hot race. We hope to thrill the people again with another, roaring, exciting event.

Last week's racing went over beautifully and everybody was happy. I wish to thank everybody for their fine cooperation.

So come out this Saturday night and be thrilled to the hum of the roaring motors and speeding cars and see dare-devil driving and feel the excitement of seeing them climb fences, collide and roll over and over.

Plenty of seats, plenty free parking, plenty good eats. Be there Saturday night, June 11, at 8 p.m. and bring a friend.

Pvt. Joe E. Halbert Arrives in Germany

Goeppingen, Germany—Pvt. Joe E. Halbert, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Halbert, Printer, Ky., recently arrived in Germany and is now a member of the 9th Infantry Division.
As part of the U. S. Seventh Army, the 9th Division conducts rigorous training exercises, including realistic maneuvers and field problems, in southern Germany.
Private Halbert, a field wireman in the division entered the Army in December, 1954, and received basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. Halbert is a 1953 graduate of Martin high school.

Recently a letter came to this column inquiring for data on the Stanley family. The writer, Mrs. James W. Rogers, Jr., of 5012, 56th Place, Rogers Heights, Hyattsville, Maryland, advises she is compiling a history of the Stanley family. The letter, for its general interest, is excerpted here.

"I am compiling a genealogy of the descendants of various members of the Stanley family in Virginia, and am contacting those who may be able to offer information which would be of interest. I am especially interested in the line of William Stanley, whose will was dated 1784, Henry county, Va., whose descendants still live in that section and in Kentucky. His son John married Mary Clayton, and I would like to secure a list of their children with dates, if possible.

"I am enclosing a family chart to show the type of data I need. Even if you do not have very much on your Stanley line, I will appreciate all you can fill in, and perhaps will be able to link it to the many other charts I have collected. I will also like to obtain copies of old letters, Bible records, grave and tomb records, and the like which would be of help.

"It is my hope that these records may someday be published, as they constitute new information regarding an early Virginia family, prominent in the history of that state."

Another letter, this one to City Superintendent Chalmers H. Frazier, from Bernard Sammons, president of the Cabell Supply Company, of 420 Fifth Street, Huntington, seeks information on the Sammons family of Eastern Kentucky.

"Rowland Salmons, born in 1799, spent his early life on Arkansas Branch and when twenty-two years old he married Edna Osburn, at Prestonsburg, in 1821. Edna was the daughter of Thomas Osburn. Rowland and Edna established their home in the Beaver Creek community and were the parents of eleven children. In 1835 Rowland moved his family to a farm near Louisa where in 1840 Edna died.

"Soon after Edna's death Rowland married Nancy Cox and to this union were born 11 children. The fifth child born to this second marriage was a son named Bennett, in 1848. Bennett married Rhoda Wooten and they were the parents of 11 children. The eighth child born to the above marriage was a son named Younger Bennett, my father.

"Rowland was the son of William and Franky and a brother of Randall, Benjamin, Thomas, Ann, Nancy and Jenny. According to my information Jenny married 'Uncle' Jimmy Click in 1822. Randall married Oney Frazier, in 1813. In 1815 Ann married Weeks Frazier. Nancy married Farris Frazier in 1821 and Thomas married Minerva Frazier in 1823.

"Many of these Frazier names have been very frequent in our family and I am hopeful that you might have some information regarding these early families. Where did they live prior to their migration to the Beaver Creek section?"

"How did the early settlers of Floyd county secure title to their land? From the meager information that I have most of the Salmons' (Sammons) that live in Floyd county now are descendants of Thomas who married Minerva Frazier. Is the above statement true?"

"I would appreciate any information regarding these early families and am very much interested in the history of the early Floyd county area."

Morehead College Sets Study of Conservation In Eastern Kentucky

Eastern Kentucky's conservation problems will receive special attention at Morehead State College's three-week Workshop in Resource Use and Conservation, June 13 to July 1. The workshop is a cooperative project of the college and a number of state and federal agencies, according to Dr. Fenton T. West, head of the Division of Science and Mathematics and chairman of the planning committee for the conference.

"A primary purpose of the workshop is to acquaint Eastern Kentucky teachers with the work being done in the field of conservation by various federal, state and local organizations," Dr. West said. "The workshop also aims to help teachers learn the sources and kinds of assistance available from these agencies in building correct conservation attitudes and ideas in the minds of the youth of Kentucky." The Boards of Supervisors of Soil Conservation Districts in the area are cooperating with the project by sponsoring scholarships to the Workshop for teachers in their counties.

Workshop activities will include demonstration lectures, field trips, library projects and evening discussions. Topics to be considered are Geological and Mineral Resources, Soil Conditions and Land Use Planning, Water Resources, Forest Use and Forestry Planning and Wildlife Use and Preservation.

Author of Berea Play To Arrive For Rehearsal

Paul Green, America's foremost historical dramatist, and author of WILDERNESS ROAD, will arrive in Berea June 10, and will remain for a month while his latest drama goes into production. Cast and technical staff are on hand, and rehearsals are well under way.

Mr. Green's mission is one of final polishing, of testing his script in live performance and completed setting. It will open to the public on June 29, and will continue throughout the summer.

In WILDERNESS ROAD, Mr. Green has dramatized the southern mountaineer, not as a comic character, but as a symbol of integrity and high courage. His characters appear as Civil War Kentuckians, moving through endless frontiers; frontiers not only geographic, but social, educational and spiritual as well. The production cast and staffed by people from the southern mountains.

Don't argue with this baby!

All Chevrolet's competitors and most of the high-priced cars tried it recently in official NASCAR* trials—and took a licking!

Meet the champ! The new Chevrolet "Turbo-Fire V8"—the most modern V8 on the road today. Here's what happened—

Daytona Beach. NASCAR Acceleration Tests Over Measured Mile From Standing Start. Chevrolet captured the 4 top positions in its class! 8 of the first 11! And on a time basis Chevrolet beat every high-priced car, too—but one! But wait!—this is just the beginning!

Daytona Beach. NASCAR Straightaway Running. Open to cars delivered in Florida for $2,500 or less. Chevrolet captured the first two places, 7 out of the first 11 places!

Daytona Beach. NASCAR 2-Way Straightaway Running Over Measured Mile. Open to cars from 250 to 299 cu. in. displacement. Chevrolet captured 3 of the first 5 places!

Columbia, S. C. NASCAR 100-Mile Race on half-mile track. Very tight turns. Chevrolet finished first!

Fayetteville, N. C. NASCAR Late Model Event. Chevrolet again finished first. Because of even tighter turns the driver chose to run the entire 150 laps in second gear! Yet no overheating or pit stops!

These facts you can't laugh off. Sales leader. Road leader. A crowning achievement of Chevrolet and General Motors. Try a Chevrolet... and live in a land of going-away where you win all the arguments! Soon, maybe?

General Business Health Of Kentucky, Said Good

Frankfort, Ky., June 6 — Kentucky's general business health for 1954 showed a much more glowing picture than for 1953, due largely to increased production during the last six months of the year, according to a survey made by the Research Division of the State Agricultural and Industrial Development Board.

Increased output of the state's distilleries, additional machinery, metals, and equipment industries payrolls, as well as accelerated wholesale and retail trade, all tended to brighten the picture.

RADIO-SET SALES FALL

New York — The nation's retailers sold 6,430,743 radio sets, excluding automobile receivers during 1954, a decline from the 7,031,293 sets sold the year before. An additional 4,100,000 automobile radios were manufactured, most of them sold directly to automobile manufacturers for use in new cars.
