This Town— That World

If there were no "falling out" between peoples, people would never need fear fall-out.

This is the sort of day when a hermit is a man who has sense enough to stay out of the rain.

STRAW HAT WORRIES

Speaking of rain and staying out of it, I don't and I have straw hat worries. Remember when they "went to seed" after taking a wetting down? Mine is drooping rather than bulging at the top as a lid does when it goes to seed, and I'm wondering if I have any grounds for complaint to the merchant who sold it. Am afraid to go back to the store. The guy might inform me I need an umbrella and shove me out in the rain to bolster his sales talk.

PASS THE SMELLING SALTS!

Every year or so I get a notion I'd like to re-read some (maybe just one) of those old paper-back romantic novels I found so interesting, "way back when. One of the Mrs. Southworth tear-jerkers, or "East Lynne," or some of Bertha M. Clay's pot-boilers.

I get this notion, I suppose, on occasions when I have the vapors. Remember when sweet, young heroines swooned at the drop of a hat or a rose petal? And how the handsome hero always dashed in and threw his eyes around the room? And how the gal was always a heavenly creature with cerulean-blue eyes, with an ethereal beauty that left Algernon gasping in a delirium of delight as he feasted his orbs on her half-parted roselips?

Man and boy, them were the days.

WHO WAS THE GOAT IN THIS DEAL?

Jack Hyden, Prestonsburg used car dealer, recently advertised that he would accept anything—but anything—in trade for a used car, and soon there appeared on his lot an Allen man with a billygoat who had understood the advertisement to mean that whatever was offered in

MOTHER OF 6 AUTO VICTIM

Bevinsville Woman Dies, Husband Seriously Hurt As Car Wrecks in Pike

Mrs. Maudie Adkins, 36, of Bevinsville, mother of six, was killed almost instantly late Saturday night at Caney Creek, 18 miles south of Pikeville, when the auto driven by her husband and bearing the entire family crashed into a tree.

State Police were quoted as saying the husband, Luke Adkins, was driving a 1946 sedan which left the road and ran along a ditch approximately 100 feet before smashing into the tree.

Adkins was seriously injured but was reported later in the Memorial hospital, Pikeville, as in "fair condition". Nineteen-months-old Blaine Adkins, youngest of the children, was also hospitalized, but all others escaped with minor hurts.

A daughter of Mrs. Bertha Hall and the late Jim Monroe Mullins, Mrs. Adkins was a native of Clear Creek, this county. Her children are Frank Lee, Billy Gene, John L., Blaine, Pauline and Bertha Lee.

Funeral rites were conducted from the Adkins residence Tuesday, and burial was made in the Honey Camp cemetery at Bevinsville under direction of the Call-Greene Funeral Home.

Wayland Man Victim Of Heart Attack; Burial Is Made At Morehead

Charley Fultz, 53, of Wayland, was found dead Monday at 1 p.m. near the bath house of Inland Steel Company at Kite. A heart attack was given as the cause of death.

Mr. Fultz was a native of Rowan county, the son of the late Walker and Martha Fultz. His wife, Ada Puckett Fultz, survives.

Surviving children are James, Los Angeles, Calif., Bill, Bob, Roger and Jerry, all of Wayland, and Mrs. Darlene Wiggins, St. Paul, Va. Five brothers and sisters also survive.

Funeral rites were conducted today (Thursday), at 10 a.m., the Rev. Claude Ealey officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Morehead under the direction of Turner-Ryan Funeral Home.

NEWSOM GETS LIFE AS PLEA ADMITS GUILT

Floyd Man Sentenced In Pike Case; 3 Others In Armed Robbery Case

George Newsome, 48, formerly of Prestonsburg and the Left Beaver Creek section of this county, pleaded guilty in Pike circuit court Wednesday to a charge of armed robbery, and was given a life prison sentence.

Three others—Willard "Catfish" Damron, 32, and Clyde Parker Parker Orum, 27, both of Boldman, and Frank Wright, 21, of Mare Creek—were charged jointly with Newsome in the robbery last March of 71-year-old James Kimberlin at his school bus-home on Town Mountain, near Pikeville, of $465. They have been held in the Pike county jail without bond since their arrest, a few hours after the robbery of Kimberlin.

Damron filed a motion for change of venue, claiming that wide newspaper, radio and television publicity has made it impossible to get a fair trial in Pike or any adjoining county. Hearing on his motion is slated Friday morning before Circuit Judge F. Pierce Keese.

Trial of Crum and Wright also is scheduled for Friday. The murder charge against Damron in the Pike county "torso" slaying is scheduled for the December term of the Pike circuit court. In addition to the armed robbery and murder cases, he faces two grand larceny charges, one of uttering a forged check and one of obtaining money under false pretenses.

MINE LEADERS MAKE CHOICES

Brashear Is Re-Elected Association Secretary At Lexington Meeting

Directors of the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association at their annual meeting in Lexington, on June 8, re-elected as Association president W. W. Goldsmith, president of Floyd County Coal Co., Charleston, W. Va. G. O. Tarleton, president of Consolidation Coal Co., (Ky.), Jenkins, was elected vice-president and L. B. Brashear, president of Stephens Elkhorn Fuel Corp., Manton, was re-elected treasurer. C. W. Davis was re-elected executive secretary of the Association, which has its headquarters at Pikeville, Ky.

The Association's annual membership meeting was held June 7, and was addressed by Tom Pickett, NCA executive vice-president, who reported on current activities of the National. The membership elected the following board of directors, in addition to Goldsmith, Tarleton and Brashear: David A. Zeger, assistant to president, Consolidation Coal Co. (Ky.); A. N. Cooley, president Cooley Elkhorn Coal Co.; Noah D. Howard, vice-president and general superintendent, Floyd County Coal Co.; George E. Evans, Jr., president, Glo Valley Coal Corp.; J.

SAFETY SHOW SET JULY 4th

Demonstration at Lake To Show Do's and Don't's While Swimming, Boating

A demonstration of swimming and boating safety will be given in the Stratton Branch recreation area of Dewey Lake State Park at 2 p.m., July 4, under joint sponsorship of Floyd Chapter, American Red Cross, Dewey Lake State Park and the U. S. Corps of Engineers, it was announced this week.

The demonstration will be staged by Lewis Gillespie, water safety representative for the American Red Cross in Kentucky. Canoes and boats with motors will be used in the boating safety show, which will demonstrate the do's and don't's of boating.

In Kentucky last year 110 persons were drowned, and most of these were victims of boating or swimming accidents. Dewey Lake's safety record has been outstanding, but recklessness of both boaters and swimmers poses a constant threat, and the demonstration has been planned to impress on the public the need for safety precautions and how to take them.

Crippled Children's Clinic Slated June 26 At Methodist Church

The Kentucky Crippled Children Commission, the official state agency for the care and treatment of crippled children, will hold an orthopedic field clinic in the basement of the Methodist church, Prestonsburg, on Tuesday, June 26, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Each year, the Commission holds a clinic in Prestonsburg for children from Floyd, Johnson and Martin counties. The clinics are held to diagnose crippling conditions in children and to offer additional treatment for those children already under the care of the commission. Clinics have been held in Prestonsburg since 1928, and are supervised by physicians, nurses and social workers who travel from Louisville, Lexington and Ashland to attend the clinic. Further information about the clinic may be procured by calling or writing the Floyd County Health Department.

OHIO DISTRICT PICKS MARTIN

Wayland Man, Former Perry School Principal, To Begin Work, July 1

Walter Martin, Jr., 32, formerly of Wayland, and a graduate of the University of Kentucky with four days of experience as a teacher and two years as an administrator, is the new superintendent of the Bucks Valley school district in Ross county, Ohio.

He was selected for the post May 12 at a meeting of the Bucks Valley Board of Education at South Salem, Ohio. He begins in his new position as head of the district's schools July 1 and succeeds Edward Caldwell who resigned earlier in the year.

Mr. Martin's beginning salary is $6,000 per year with an expense account. Mrs. Martin has been employed as an elementary teacher in the Ross county school system.

Mr. Martin has served as principal of M. C. Napier high school at Hazard, for the past two years.

He and his wife will move to South Salem, Ohio as soon as he has finished his work at Hazard.

He is the son of Walter Martin, Sr., of Wayland, and Mrs. Martin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie D. Hall, of Kite, Knott county.

WRITS ACCUSE MEN IN THEFT

Credit Bloodhound Use With Leading To Man's Confession to Officers

Warrants were issued this week for four West Prestonsburg men, one of whom has been arrested and released after having been booked at the county jail, following recovery of between $800 and $900 worth of equipment stolen last Thursday night from Akers & Akers, contractors on the Prestonsburg high school auditorium-gymnasium.

Use of a bloodhound to track the thieves from the site of the building job was credited by Deputy Sheriff W. B. Boyd with so frightening one of those implicated that he readily admitted his guilt and told the story of the theft.

Yancey Horn was arrested. Warrants were issued for the arrest of "Trapper" Blackburn, Robie Harmon and Rudolph Hurd. The warrants were issued at County Judge Henry Stumbo's office after Deputy Sheriff Silas Derossett filed an affidavit saying he saw Horn, Blackburn and Harmon come down the river in a boat which they pulled to the West Prestonsburg side and unloaded. Its cargo, he said, consisted of pipe fittings and boiler parts which were hidden on the river bank just above the Cliff bridge. He also said Hurd arrived on the scene at the time the boat was being unloaded.

A motor and other items were included in the haul. Practically all supplies stolen were recovered, officers said.

Forty persons were booked at the county jail, Saturday and Sunday, and this represented the largest number jailed during the term of Jailer Prock Hayes. Most of those booked had been arrested for drunkenness. Others jailed on more serious offenses.

Ivey Reynolds, drunk driving, arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Daniels and Reed; Donald Tackett, killing squirrels, arrested by Conservation

CITY COUNCIL HITS NOISES

Acts To Impose Fines On "Scratching Off" And Noisy Mufflers

An ordinance designed to lessen both noise and sudden bursts of auto-speed here was enacted by the City Council at its Tuesday night meeting.

It forbids the use of mufflers other than standard types and fixes a stiff penalty or sudden starts referred to as "scratching off". The penalty for either offense was set at not less than $10 nor more than $20.

Councilman Edward B. Leslie was named to represent the city in negotiations that might hasten construction by the State Highway Department of the sidewalk to the new high school building here. Right-of-way over the Fred Martin property is need before the project can be completed, it was said.

George W. Alley discussed plans for a city bus line here, and was given Council's assurance of cooperation if he is given a permit by the Division of Motor Transportation. The line would extend as far as Auxier in one direction and possibly to Allen in the other.

J. R. Camcia asked the Council to arrange repair of Central Avenue where blacktop surfacing done last year at property-owners' expense has deteriorated in several places. He was promised city cooperation.

FINAL VOTE COUNT GIVEN

Sen. Clements' Majority Is 81,820; Con. Morton Defeats Golden, 28,521

Floyd Farmers Order Sheep From Colorado; 2nd Carload Sought

Orders from Floyd farmers for one carload of sheep are already in, Robert M. Jones, assistant county agent, said this week. He is trying for a second car.

"If we could procure enough orders to fill the second car we could save the farmers a dollar per head on freight," Jones said. "Anyone wanting to place an order for sheep should contact the Extension office or Russell Hagewood at the First National Bank. Twenty-dollar deposits have been taken on the first car, but if the second car is ordered the required deposit is only $19," he added.

The sheep being ordered are white-face yearling crosses from Colorado.

Drift World War I Vet Dies, Louisville Hospital Following Year's Illness

Grover C. Martin, 67, of Drift, a veteran of World War I, died at 12 noon last Saturday at the Veterans hospital, Louisville. He had been ill for over a year. Mr. Martin was a son of the late Alamander and Eveline Martin. His wife, Emma, survives. He had no surviving children.

Surviving brothers and sisters are Bruce Martin, Hall, Ky., W. S. Martin, of Eastern, Marion Martin, of Drift, Ben David Martin, of Topmost, Mrs. Ann Akers, of Drift, and Dewey Martin, of McDowell.

Funeral rites were conducted at 10 a.m., Tuesday at the Drift schoolhouse, the Revs. Troy Nickles, Baxter Osborne, Luther Conn and M. C. Wright officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery under the direction of Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

Paul Haygood, 66, Printer, Victim of Lung Cancer; Was Native of Tennessee

Paul Haygood, 66, of Printer, died at 10 a.m., Tuesday, at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin, of lung cancer. He was a native of Chattanooga, Tenn., and was unmarried. He was a retired miner. One brother survives.

Funeral services were conducted at the graveside in the Allen cemetery today (Thursday), at 2 p.m., at Alpharetta and burial was made under the direction of the Turner-Ryan Funeral Home.

WIDOW LOSES $50,000 SUIT

Mrs. Whicker's Attorneys Face Task of Establishing Cause of Action in Court

Trial of the $50,000 damage suit against W. L. (Levy) Rice, former Floyd deputy Sheriff, Sheriff Gorman Collins and his surety, the Aetna Casualty & Surety Co., in the shotgun slaying here Dec. 9, 1954 of Reedy Whicker, came to an abrupt halt here Wednesday afternoon when Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill indicated in response to defense counsel's motion to dismiss that he would give summary judgment to the Sheriff and his surety unless the plaintiff can file an amended petition to set up a cause of action.

Empanelling of a trial jury was well under way when the interruption came. In effect, a case remains only against Rice unless an effective amended pleading is filed. The suit as to B. K. Akers and Arnold Robinette, sureties for Rice, was dismissed Feb. 13 when it was shown that their liability covered only Rice's handling of funds as a deputy sheriff and did not assume for him any responsibility to the Commonwealth.

It was explained that the case as it now stands is certain to be decided in favor of the Sheriff because it was filed under a statute which makes the Sheriff responsible only if he himself is present or participating in the offense committed.

Road Work Resumption, Soon, Wells Tells Hill

Assurances were given Representative Lon C. Hill this week by Rural Highway Commissioner J. B. Wells, Frankfort, that resumption of the work on the Auxier road will be made in the "immediate future." The work, applying chipped stone and a bituminous surface, begun several weeks ago had been stopped for some time. The necessary materials to complete the project are already on the ground, it was said.

Local Conservationist Receives Recognition

Landmon R. Johnson, soil conservationist of the Floyd County Soil District, was awarded a 20-year service pin and a certificate in recognition of his service, at the Personnel Work Convention of the Soil Conservation Service held at Louisville, June 12-14. The certificate was signed by Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture.

"Your accomplishments during the more than 20 years you have been a member of the field staff of the United States Department of Agriculture should be a source of gratification to you," H. K. Gaylor, State Conservationist, wrote Mr. Johnson. "I take pleasure in bestowing upon you this Length of Service Award."

Johnson is a native of Lincoln county and came here to take charge of the soil conservation work in spring of 1951. His first work with the Department of Agriculture was two months at Hardinsburg, Breckinridge county.

EX-GOVERNOR COMMITTEE SENATE PICK

Leary Declines Post After Wetherby Named; G.O.P. To Meet Soon

Joe Leary announced Wednesday that he will not accept the appointment as U. S. Senator to serve till the November election. He termed it an "empty honor" because it offers no opportunity for service, and said his hope is to promote party harmony. The G.O.P. convention to name a candidate to oppose Wetherby was postponed.

Action of the Democratic State Central Executive Committee in naming Former Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby Tuesday as the candidate for the Senate post held by the late Alben W. Barkley made those local political prognosticators who had predicted no compromise between the Clements-Chandler factions of the party assume all the authenticity of major political prophets.

Governor Chandler only Monday had named his ally, Joseph J. Leary, Senator to fill the November election vacancy caused by Barkley's death. There had been talk of a compromise between Chandler and the Clements forces. The appointment was regarded in some quarters as a move by Chandler to put the heat on Clements.

But Senator Clements, playing them close, declared the selection of a candidate was up to the committee, already known to be Wetherby's creation, which named Wetherby.

Chandler had no comment to make. Harmony continued on summer vacation. Next political move will be the Republicans' State Central Committee will meet Saturday in Lexington to discuss a candidate to oppose Wetherby. Thurston B. Morton was nominated by the G. O. P. at the May primary to oppose Senator Clements.

One name which sprang into prominence as a probable G. O. P. Senatorial choice is that of Dr. Elmer E. Gabbard, 65-year-old Presbyterian minister and president of Witherspoon College at Buckhorn, Perry county.

James Park, of Lexington, also is often mentioned as a possible Republican choice to oppose Wetherby. Dr. Gabbard twice lost races to Ex-Congressman A. J. May, of Prestonsburg, for the Seventh District Congressional post now held by Carl D. Perkins—in 1942 by 540 votes and in 1944 by a margin of 3,241.

The vote for Ex-Governor Wetherby was 25 to 0, with five members of the committee not voting.

Wetherby's name was placed in nomination by Robert J. Watson, Middlesboro. It was seconded by Dr. B. F. Wright, Seco.

SUIT TO TEST RIGHTS FILED

Coal Company Claims 56,273 Tons of Coal Lost Around 11 Wells

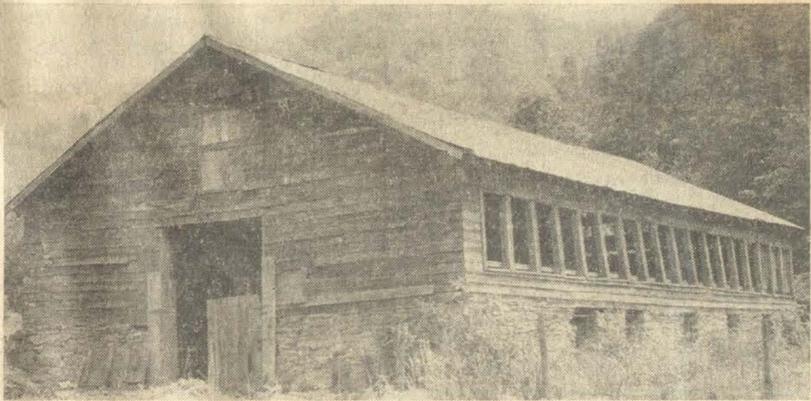

Suit was filed in circuit court here this week by the Collins & Mayo Collieries Company against the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company seeking a declaratory judgment of the plaintiff's rights to payment of 10 cents per ton for coal left unmined around each of 11 wells drilled by the gas company.

The lands involved in the suit, totaling 6,095.22 acres, lie in Floyd and Pike counties. The coal company's complaint points out that it sold the oil and gas rights on the lands to R. J. Graf in 1926, and that Graf later conveyed these rights to Kentucky West Virginia.

In asking a declaration of its rights, the coal firm contends that rules of the Department of Mines and Minerals, complying with state laws, provide that a block of coal not less than 200 feet square be left unmined around each well. The deed cited in the suit calls, however, for a block of coal not less than 140 feet square to be left unmined. This deed provided for payment of 10 cents a ton for such unmined coal where coal is being mined or is to be mined.

The plaintiff has demanded payment for 56,273 net tons of coal, or $5,627.30, from the gas company. Lands involved in the case lie in the upper Left Beaver Creek and the Mare Creek sections of this county and in the Shelby Creek area of Pike.

Hatcher's Ventures on Huge Farm Add to the Legends of Ivy Creek

Typical of the grand plans James H. Hatcher had for his Ivy Creek farm is this poultry house, probably the largest in the section. He gave the flock away when coccidiosis, over-production and low egg prices made the business unprofitable. (All Photos by Quentin Allen)

By HENRY P. SCALF

This is the story of a mountain estate and a blasted dream. It is the story of Ivy Creek, this county, that at one time was on the threshold of greatness but never made it because the price of eggs went down and several unusual agricultural enterprises died a-borning.

It is said one of the very few things the late James H. Hatcher, steamboat man, timberman, mine operator and farmer, ever lost money on was his venture in chicken raising on Ivy Creek. He bought the entire five-mile-long valley over half a century ago from the Layne family and dreamed at first of a cattle ranch or perhaps sheep. Anyway, with 3,200 acres he hoped to develop a manorial mountain estate where his talents would find full swing.

He put a crew of men to work on a huge poultry house, built the foundations and a large part of the walls from native stone. The barn, still bigger, was constructed to hold a herd of Herefords or hundreds of sheep. Up went a fine residence at the mouth of Ivy Creek, its foundations on the exact spot where Col. Andrew Jackson May, Prestonsburg Rebel leader, sat upon his horse and directed his green troops in the Battle of Ivy Narrows. "Uncle Jim" had a deep appreciation for the history of the place.

He raised 5,000, many say 10,000—White Leghorn hens in the vast poultry house. Oldsters recall now the white-flecked landscape when the flock was turned out. Many died, and Bee Hunt and others picked them up, cremated them in a coal-burning Burnside heater. But matters went along fine for a while. The hens layed—and then overproduction set in. The price of eggs went down and down and finally sank to the refusal level. Jim Hatcher didn't have eggs to sell—he had 'em to give away. Then coccidiosis attacked the flock. Pestering, too, were red foxes and a species of homo sapiens, described by a tenant, as "two-legged foxes."

James Trimble, Ivy Creek farm overseer, stands beside one of the huge corn cribs. The original crib, built by Hatcher to hold thousands of bushels, has been torn down.

The Ivy Creek schoolhouse, only one in Big Sandy that serves only the tenants of a single farm. It also is used as a mission site by a Prestonsburg church.

A Financial Mess And a Wet-Dry Vote

With a local-option election in Catlettsburg only a few days away, the mayor of that city which was once most widely known for its Front Street "Saloon Row" is telling his own people and all others who read of the city's dire financial straits.

Because of the imminence of that wet-dry vote one wonders if the sad state of affairs in Catlettsburg isn't being emphasized in order to coax reluctant voters to snatch at a straw and vote wet as a money-raising scheme.

Mayor Rice says past-due bills are piling up and that property taxes, franchise taxes, parking meters, police court fines, auto stickers and license fees aren't enough to pay them.

What more the city needs to raise money Mayor Rice doesn't say. Its tax structure appears from this distance to be about the same as that of other cities of the same size. Many factors could enter into the situation, however. The city may have been spending too freely. Its assessments may be ridiculously low. The tax collector may have been doing a poor job; the police department could be dead weight. We do not know.

But one thing we do know. Catlettsburg will not find a solution to its ills by voting "legal" whiskey back. It will find legalized whiskey sales no more a panacea for all its ills than Prestonsburg did, several years ago.

Sound governmental policies put into actual practise will mean more to Catlettsburg and to any other city than all the chases they may take down dark alleys after the pot of gold at the foot of Saloon Row.

Jaycees Here Winners Of Membership Contest; Prize Award Is $150.00

The Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce increased the membership 215 per cent to take first place in a membership contest sponsored by the Kentucky Junior Chamber of Commerce, according to an announcement made this week in Louisville by executive vice-president Frank Savage.

The winning Prestonsburg Jaycees tapped 60 other Kentucky Jaycee chapters in adding 28 new members. For its winning effort the Prestonsburg club will receive a check for $150.00 to be used to send delegates to the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce convention in Kansas City next week.

The State of Kentucky has Wendell Ford, Owensboro, as one of four candidates seeking the nomination for national president of the organization of young men age 21 to 35. Ford is currently a national vice-president and a past president of the Kentucky Jaycees.

Representing the Prestonsburg club at the convention will be Gordon Moore, public relations chairman of the Kentucky Jaycees; Barkley Sturgill, vice-president of the Kentucky Jaycees, and Frank Heinze, a member of the board of directors of the Prestonsburg club.

FORD sets 500-mile record at Indianapolis Speedway

Again proves nobody outperforms Ford

... dramatic demonstration of the kind of performance and roadability that makes all your driving more fun in a Ford!

A Ford V-8 hurtled across the brick and asphalt surface of tough and testing Indianapolis Speedway... whirling through the tight turns and flashing over the straight stretches... to set a mark that no stock car ever reached before!

Ford fully realizes that the welter of claims and counter claims about "racing victories" (many of them completely contradictory) must be confusing and disillusioning to the public. Ford ran this race against time, over the true "Classic" distance and at the most famous track in America, in order to dispel this cloud of doubt and disbelief and prove that no one outperforms Ford!

Peter de Paolo, leader of the team of drivers that piloted the winning Ford, states flatly: "No other stock car could have equalled this performance!" And Pete de Paolo should know, for he was the first driver to win the "500" Classic with a better than 100 m.p.h. average. And now he comes back with a group of drivers to establish a stock car record with the great '56 Ford!

Ford wrote this new mark large and bold in the record books. And the whole Ford did the trick. From the hood-full of throbbing horsepower to the road-hugging rear end, Ford demonstrated that it has what it takes to make your driving more enjoyable. Convince yourself that driving a Ford can be real fun. Test drive a '56 Ford. There's a set of keys waiting for you, so come in and see us soon.

TWO GIRLS HAVE BRUSH WITH DEATH ON CLIFF BRIDGE BETWEEN TRAINS

Two teen-age girls literally had a close brush with death late Tuesday afternoon.

Gilma Jarrell, of Prestonsburg, and Judith Carol Leete, of Ashland, who is visiting her grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Leete, here, were caught on a narrow walkway between the railroad tracks on the Cliff trestle—and a train whizzed by on either side of them as they stood, frozen with terror.

Miss Jarrell's arm was bruised when one of the trains brushed her arm. They clung to each other until the trains, a passenger and a freight, had passed, and persons who saw them trapped, then hidden by the passing cars, were amazed when they saw them emerge alive.

The girls were taking a basket of flowers from the Leete Flower & Gift Shop to the home of Tom Horn where his father, Sam Horn, lay dead. Miss Leete still clutched the basket of flowers when their brief ordeal was over.

The girls had driven to Cliff, then left their car to walk afoot back up the railway tracks to the Horn residence. They said they both looked and listened for the approach of a train before venturing onto the trestle. They added that the engineer of the passenger train blew the whistle but that the train did not slacken its speed.

Rev. Amburgey To Preach

Rev. Kash D. Amburgey, Lebanon, O., will preach the 20th annual memorial service at the Full Gospel Tabernacle, West Prestonsburg, Sunday, Rev. G. R. Fannin, pastor announced this week. His associate, Rev. Huff, will also participate in the service.

The meeting is an all-day affair with dinner being served in the church. There will be many visiting preachers, Rev. Fannin said. The public is invited.

Polio was once called Infantile Paralysis because it was first studied in children and because only its paralytic form was known. Later it was learned that polio does not always cause paralysis and that it attacks adults as well as children.

The worst polio epidemic in the history of the United States occurred in 1952, when 57,628 cases were reported.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, a polio victim, founded the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation, first institution exclusively for polio, in 1927.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express to all my friends and neighbors my deep appreciation for every kindness shown during the last illness and upon the death of my husband. My special thanks to the ministers for their comforting words, to those who sang at the funeral and to the Carter & Callahan Funeral Home for its kind and efficient services.

RUPTURE

Expert Coming To Paintsville Again

GEO. L. HOWE

Well-known expert of Indianapolis will personally demonstrate his method without charge at the Howard Hotel, Paintsville, Thursday, June 28th from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Evening by appointment. Ask for Mr. Howe at desk.

Mr. Howe says the Howe method contracts the openings in remarkably short time on the average case, regardless of the size or location of the rupture and no matter how much you lift or strain and puts you back to work the same day as efficient as before you were ruptured.

The Howe Rupture Shield has no leg strap; waterproof, sanitary, practically indestructible and can be worn while bathing. Each shield is skillfully molded and fitted to the parts under heat which gives a perfect fit and satisfaction.

Large and difficult ruptures following operations especially solicited.

Do not overlook this opportunity if you want gratifying results. Mailing address: HOWE RUPTURE EST., Washington at Lincoln, Oakland City, Ind.

Floyd Man Dies on Visit in Michigan; Rites Held at Harold Church, Sunday

Funeral services were held last Sunday for Isaac White, 88, of Harold, at the Regular Baptist Church there.

Mr. White died Friday while visiting his daughter, Mrs. Andy Akers, in Escore, Michigan. He was the son of the late Ambrose and Pauline White. He was born in Welch county, North Carolina, but had lived in Floyd county for 85 years. He was a member of the Regular Baptist Church for 33 years and was a retired miner.

Mr. White is survived by his wife, Mrs. Milinda Akers White; two sons, Berry White, Amherstdale, W. Va., and William White, Rush; two daughters, Mrs. Bert Keathley, Harold, and Mrs. Andy Akers, Escore, Mich.; five sisters, Mrs. Cornelia Howell, Mrs. Nancy White, and Mrs. Martha Tackett, all of Craynor, Mrs. S. A. Riley, of Dade City, Fla., and Mrs. Ida Howell, of Pikeville. Burial was held in the family cemetery on Toler's Creek.

CHILD DIES

Michael Benninger, one-year-old son of William and Goldie Benninger, of Martin, died at 9:30 p.m. last Saturday at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin. A sister, Shirley Dimple, survives. Funeral services were conducted at 12 noon at the graveside and burial was made in the family cemetery on Big Mud Creek under the direction of Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

trade would be accepted by Mr. Hyden for a car and no "boot" asked. Jack didn't argue. He took the goat and sent the man on his way rejoicing with a '47 Chevrolet.

But that isn't the end of the story. Big-hearted Hyden then gave this valuable animal away. Gave it to Henry Fitzpatrick, who took the goat to his farm home on the Middle Creek road, there tied him up at the side of the highway for all to see and painted his horns that familiar wagon-wheel red that is a Fitzpatrick trademark.

MAY GET BACK IN BUSINESS

I may go back into the dog business again, after all, I trowed I would not after my old cookey spaniel was killed by a car as I looked on, two years ago. But I'm weakening.

I need a dog that is too lazy to ramble and get run over by cars or nose about other folks' premises and get poisoned. Cocker, dalmatians, boxers, great danes, bulldogs—they all have their appeal, but each has its faults. Some roam too much, some eat overmuch. I'm a hound-dog man from 'way back, and a plain, ordinary, long-eared hound would just about fill the bill with me, even if he does have an inclination to stick his long nose where it has the least business. But I doubt if this kind of dog would meet with unanimous approval at our house.

So I have decided that a cross between a hound and a dachshund would be just about my speed. Long ears, long body, short legs, with a pronounced tendency to flop in any spot not already occupied.

A basset hound like Cleo, the dog that steals scenes in "The People's Choice" on TV is, of course, what I have in mind—if the price is right. P. S. If offered at a bargain, will not require the dog to talk.

Pvt. Prater Graduated As Maintenance Man

FORT KNOX, KY.—Pvt. Dallas Prater, 18, son of Dan Prater, Jr., of Hueysville, Ky., recently was graduated from the automotive maintenance helpers course at the Army's Armor Training Center, Fort Knox.

The eight-week course included classes in engine electricity, transmission, brakes, steering and suspension systems and recovery of disabled vehicles.

Prater entered the army last January and completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

were through a vast bottom area started to grow in kudzu. In fact it grew too well, for when the mowers went at their task the machines clogged with the tangled masses. They swore and sweated but utterly failed to harvest any profitable amount. Col Hatcher, disgusted with the vine, had it turned over. It made a fine green manure crop, anyway. Today, around the Trimble residence near U. S. 23 and alongside the road up Ivy Creek, kudzu clings to life, a reminder of Hatcher's interest in unusual aspects of agriculture.

A member of the Assembly of God 35 years, she was one of the founders of the Full Gospel Tabernacle at West Prestonsburg. Besides her ministerial work locally, she conducted evangelistic campaigns over a wide Eastern Kentucky area and in bordering states, as a result of which several others entered the ministry. Mrs. Fannin also founded a church at Glenjean, W. Va., and until ill health forced her retirement continued to be active in church work here.

She was a native of Ohio, the daughter of Claybourne and Lucinda Archie Hicks, and had resided here 42 years. She was first married to J. H. Fannin, who died in 1941. Her second husband, the Rev. J. E. Johnston, survives. Other survivors include three sons and three daughters, the Rev. G. R. Fannin, West Prestonsburg, Otto Fannin, of Martin, Elmo Fannin, Chattahoochee, W. Va., Mrs. Henry B. Wright, West Prestonsburg, Mrs. Banner Burchett, Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Grace Ellison, Oak Hill, W. Va. She also leaves three brothers, Earl Hicks, of Indiana, Clyde Hicks, of Lackey, Will Hicks, Beckley, W. Va., 39 grandchildren and 38 great-grandchildren. Funeral rites were conducted today (Thursday) from the Full Gospel Tabernacle, the Revs. Charles L. Byrd and James Duff officiating. Burial in the Mayo cemetery was under direction of the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deepest appreciation to all who did so much for us upon the passing of our husband and father, Henry Meade, and for every courtesy extended to us through flowers and personal services. Especially we are thankful to Press Meade, a brother, and his family for their kindness, to the ministers, Rev. Oscar Robinson and Hollie Conley, for their consoling words, and the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home for its kind and efficient services.

ing along this road, late in the evening, when the shadows were falling across the leafy trail. She was seen by someone, nobody living remembers whom. When she was midway the bottom there was a roar from the mountainside and the giant rock came crashing down hill. Suddenly there was a long, piercing scream and after that silence filled the twilight. People say today the woman and baby are buried under the giant stone. Some say that at dusk a woman draped in black walks around the eternal rock, looking for her child. Other say that each year on the anniversary of her death screams are heard.

The Battle of Ivy Narrows is history and the story of the rock is legend. Jim Hatcher loved both. Men live and dream, like Hatcher did, maybe of chickens or Herefords and sheep, then die. He succumbed in 1939. Before he died he sold the timber to the Northeast Lumber Company, which logged it. He installed Pem Layne, an uncle in the big house where Col May sat on his horse. Uncle Pem, a white-bearded patriarch, died there, grateful to the nephew who sheltered him.

The Hatcher venture in agricultural pursuits having ended in failure, the valley was filled with tenants who usually built the kind of house they wanted, farmed prettily well where they pleased and stayed on for decades. Taulbee Lewis, the oldest tenant, was raised there. At one time there were 21 share-croppers. Only eight remain. "Most of them have gone to Ohio," Trimble said.

Jim Hatcher willed Ivy Creek to the seven sons and daughters of Andrew Trimble, a favorite nephew. James Trimble lives in the big house at the mouth of the creek, conducts the varied affairs of the estate. Young Trimble came back from the navy in 1945, induced the Board of Education to build a schoolhouse. It is said to be the only school district in the state comprising only a single farm. The schoolhouse serves as a mission point, too, for the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist church at Prestonsburg, Phil Schroeder, Prestonsburg church laymen, goes up Ivy Creek every Sunday. In winter weather when the road is impassable he parks his car at the mouth of the creek and walks up. Part of the time he can use a jeep. Right now an untended house is being renovated farther down the creek for mission use, as it is more centrally located. Today the big barn and the huge

In between these ventures into odd and picturesque agricultural pursuits Hatcher logged the timber on Ivy Creek. At the forks he built a large boarding house where again his whimsicalities found full vent. The sides were covered with boards riven from native trees and the porch posts were sections of logs standing upright. On this porch he sat many evenings when the loggers returned from the hills. He ate and slept with them.

In a few years the vast virgin acres were logged out, and he turned again to farming. He had tried chickens, kudzu, artichokes and mule-footed hogs. Most people knew when Uncle Jim talked of farming strange plants and animals would find their way to Ivy Creek, and so they were not surprised when he introduced Johnson grass. It grows as luxuriantly as kudzu, makes excellent feed at the right stage of growth. He learned later that it's the worst pest any farmer can become afflicted with, for it survives under the most adverse conditions, creeps, with roots burrowing several feet deep, to places it is wholly unwanted. Mr. Hatcher eliminated all the other things he found unprofitable but he never got rid of Johnson grass. The present-day tenants and James Trimble, one of his heirs, are still battling the stuff.

In a few years, Hatcher, cured of odd adventures in agriculture, turned his attention to mining and the erection of a hotel at Pikeville. Into the hostelry went a chunk of his fortune—and many innovations. There was no elevator for he often remarked that a man too lazy to walk didn't deserve a bed. From the mouth of Ivy Creek where the Rebels and Feds fought he collected cannon balls and other mementoes of the struggle. He gave them conspicuous display in the lobby. He painted the hotel walls with earthy maxims and odds and ends of local history. Afraid of the taste of his heirs, he specified in his will that these mural adornments were to never be erased or removed. They are there yea.

Hatcher grew old but his love for Ivy Creek never flagged. He went back there often from Pikeville, pondered upon the history and legends of the place. He could point out with exactitude the military dispositions of the Union general, "Bull" Nelson, and the Confederate captain, Andrew Jackson May. "Here sat May upon his horse just before the battle opened," he would say, pointing to where his residence stood.

If you had traveled up the valley with him he would have pointed out the Drappin' Lick, where early settlers lay in wait for deer to come down and lick the mineral waters. Farther up the road he would stop beside a huge stone that, decades ago rolled down the mountain side and plopped itself in the middle of a bottom. You would listen to the legend he told:

Years ago, so long ago no one now living remembers when, a woman with a babe in arms was walk-

Floyd Student En Route To Germany To Attend Summer Work Classes

Miss Ida Mae Martin, of Eastern, this county, is en route to Germany where she will attend two work camps this summer along with youths from several nations.

The European trip for 31 U.S. college students is being sponsored by the Society of Friends (Quakers), which will pay half of each student's expense. The students from this country first assembled at a camp in Pennsylvania, but only Miss Martin and one other student will go to the German camps, it was said.

The Floyd county student, a daughter of Creed Martin, formerly of Eastern, recently completed her junior year at Berea College where she has made an outstanding scholastic record. Her sister, Margie, won a Ford Foundation scholarship upon her graduation from Berea and after teaching in Louisville was married to Dr. Bixler, professor of psychology at the University of Louisville.

Persons under twenty years of age and pregnant women are the groups most susceptible to polio.

Today's only 4-wheel drive truck...

designed and engineered completely for 4-wheel drive off-the-road use!

Your purchase of a 4-wheel drive truck involves an important investment. That's why you should get all the facts before you buy.

When you get the facts, only one 4-wheel drive truck stands out—the rugged 'Jeep' Truck. And it's no wonder why! It's the only 4-wheel drive truck in its weight class originally designed and engineered completely for 4-wheel drive, off-the-road use—the only one time-tested and performance-proved in millions of miles of transport service. Yet, it shifts easily into conventional 2-wheel drive for highway travel at top legal speeds. It's not a conversion unit, not a modified 2-wheel drive truck! It's tested, proven, certified and unique in its weight class. No other 4-wheel drive truck even touches its performance-proved all-around utility.

Add to all this the 'Jeep' Truck's functional design, long life, low maintenance cost and high re-sale value and you see why it's your one best 4-wheel drive truck buy!

50 years of progress in electric power...

How modern power plants helped reduce the cost of electricity

In 1906, when the American Gas and Electric Company was founded, power plants were small and inefficient, and production of electricity was very expensive. For example, it required 5.4 pounds of coal to generate one kilowatt-hour.

For the past 50 years, the American Gas and Electric System—of which we are a part—has pioneered in the development of more efficient generating facilities. Indicative of the progress that has been made is the fact that four of the AGE System's 12 major power plants today are among the top seven most efficient generating stations in the world, and for five of the past six years an AGE System plant has been first. And the best of these plants can produce a kilowatt-hour from less than 1/4 of a pound of coal.

What's more, larger and more efficient plants are being built and still others are on the drawing boards.

The AGE System uses more than 10,000,000 tons of coal a year to produce more electricity than any other investor-owned power company in the world. Generating this much electric power as efficiently and economically as possible has helped to lower the cost of electricity to less than 1/4 its 1906 level. This is just one result of "50 Years of Progress in Electric Power."

Elephants Wreck Trees
 Elephants wreck many trees in feeding, but they do not go at one in a furious charge. When Sports Afield magazine sent artist W. J. Wilwerding to Africa on a sketching safari, he reported that they slowly walk up to a tree, slowly put their huge heads against it and then, putting their full weight of many tons behind the punch, they slowly walk the tree to the ground. It comes up by the roots as if a storm had thrown it over.

This column is indebted to R. Lee Stewart, of Morehead, for a bit of lore on Perry county back when the French-Eversole feud was raging. Stewart, an authority on Eastern Kentucky history, still writes a column for The Rowan County News and maintains a wide correspondence despite the fact that he has long since passed four score years.

The Stewart contribution follows:
 During feud days in many Eastern Kentucky counties, the presiding judge would call for troops to aid him in preserving order.

I find a copy of a court order from the order book of the Perry County Circuit Court at the November term, 1889. It is signed by the special and the regular judges. The regular judge was H. C. Lilly, of Irvine, and the Commonwealth's Attorney was James P. Marrs, of Whitesburg, each having been elected at the August election, 1887. The special judge was Capt. W. L. Hurst, prominent attorney of Campton.

It presents in a graphic way feud conditions existing between the French and Eversole factions of that period. It reads:
 "Commonwealth Orders Book 'D', page 271.
 "Perry County Circuit Court.
 "4th day of November Term, 1889.
 "At this term of the court there were two armed factions in the town of Hazard, the French and Eversole factions antagonistic to each other. On the second night of the court the acting judge was shot at, though not wounded, in the French end of the town, French not being in town at the time but some of his men were. The next evening at dusk, a dynamite or other cartridge with a burning fuse attached was thrown over the judge's room or

FLOYD NATIVE WINS AWARD
 Of $1,000 Scholarship From Extension Service Department of University

One of five $1,000 scholarships for advanced study awarded by the University of Kentucky's Agricultural Extension Department to as many members of the Extension Staff in county or regional positions has been won by Clinton County Agent Durward Salisbury, a native of Floyd county.

The scholarships are the first awarded the Extension Service. All recipients have been granted leaves of absence and will work toward their master's degrees the coming year.

Selection of Salisbury and the other four Extension staff members was made by a judging committee on the basis of meritorious service in extension work, interest in advanced college work, scholarship and potential capabilities.

Other recipients of the $1,000 grants are:
 Fred Brockman, area agent in farm and home development, Campbellsville; J. W. Poe, Jr., Jackson, county agent in Breathitt county; Warren C. Thompson, Clinton, county agent in Hickman county, and Mrs. Mucille E. Warren, Winchester, home demonstration agent in Clark county.

County Agent Salisbury is a son of Farmer and Pet Salisbury, of Hunter. He was educated at Eastern State College and the University of Kentucky. His mother, who recently completed her 37th year as a classroom teacher in this county, is now a student at Morehead State College prior to resuming her teaching work with the beginning of the 1956-57 school year.

The 1956 Farmers' Tax Guide is being prepared and will be shipped out in November, the Federal Agricultural Extension Service says.

In one Kentucky county 1300 gas cartridges were used in control of ground hops, and 1000 more cartridges were on order from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

WIDOWS, TOTS DRAW $37,880

In Floyd Each Month From Social Security, Says Flynn's Report

Monthly payments to widowed mothers and minor children in Floyd county amounted to $37,880 per month based on figures as of December 1955, according to Robert A. Flynn, district manager, Social Security Administration, Ashland.

In making the announcement Flynn said that many persons think of the old-age and survivors insurance program as providing protection only for older men and women. He made it clear that it is also a program benefiting youngsters. At the end of 1955, nationwide, about 1,275,000 children under age 18 were receiving monthly benefit payments under the social security law. Of these, 129,000 were being paid monthly dependent's benefits because of the retirement of an aged parent; the others were receiving survivors benefits as children of a deceased parent. Mr. Flynn pointed out that about four times as many orphaned children are receiving benefits under the old-age and survivors insurance program as are being helped under the Federal-State program for aid to dependent children. Nationwide, almost 300,000 mothers of children under age 18 were receiving monthly survivors insurance benefits, if death should curtail at the end of 1955.

Pvt. Stanley Graduated In Lineman's Course

Fort Gordon, Ga. — Pvt. David T. Stanley, son of Bruce Stanley, of McDowell, Ky., recently was graduated from the lineman's course at the Army's Southeastern Signal School, Fort Gordon, Ga.

The eight-week course trained Stanley to construct and maintain both open and lead covered field communication wires and cables.

Stanley attended McDowell high school and was employed by United Parking in Cleveland before entering the Army last January. He received basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C.

In all, 2,452 people in Floyd county were getting $90,899 each month in old-age and survivors benefits at the end of 1955.

Aged people accounted for the greatest number in the county's increased beneficiary total, he said. In Floyd county at the end of last year, 759 retired workers were getting $41,375 monthly; 290 wives and dependent husbands were receiving $3,662 monthly; 107 aged widows, widowers, and parents were receiving $1,782 monthly as survivors of deceased insured workers.

"With the bringing in of many groups of employed and self-employed persons previously excluded, the old-age and survivors insurance program achieved almost universal coverage at the beginning of 1955," Mr. Flynn said. He said that an estimated 68 million persons had taxable earnings under the program in calendar year 1955. Some 70 million workers were insured under the program as the year came to an end. Of this number, 32 million are permanently insured and can qualify for old-age benefits at age 65, regardless of future employment; likewise, in the event of death, their survivors can qualify for monthly benefits, lump-sum death payments, or both.

When a worker retires or dies, he or his survivors are urged to visit, phone or write the Ashland Social Security office for assistance in making claim for benefits. "In fact," Mr. Flynn said, "the social security office should be contacted (1) when a worker reaches age 65, regardless of retirement; (2) when he reaches age 72, regardless of earnings; (3) when an insured member in a family dies; and (4) when a worker becomes totally disabled for any gainful employment or self employment."

The Ashland Social Security District office is located at 340 14th Street, and Representatives of that office visit Prestonsburg, each Tuesday at 10:00 a.m. (EST). Further information concerning social security benefits can be obtained from the representatives free of charge.

Fatalities Total 30 In State Coal Mines In First Five Months

Frankfort, June 18 (Spl.) — Thirty fatalities were recorded in Kentucky coal mines during the first five months of this year according to a report released by James H. Phalan, chief of the Department of Mines and Minerals.

Truck mine deaths included one each in Bell, Floyd, Harlan, Johnson, Lee and Whitley counties; four in Leslie and two in Letcher counties.

Rail mine fatalities included three each in Letcher, Muhlenberg and Perry counties; four in Harlan and Pike counties and one in Floyd county.

"These lives are lost needlessly because someone along the line has to do his job," Phalan said. "The staggering death toll should give everyone connected with coal mining to be concerned to a degree personally will do something

Fifty-Four Industries Ask About Kentucky

Kentucky's Agricultural and Industrial Development Board will become, July 1, the Department of Economic Development.

The A&ID Board was formed in 1948. Since its organization, Kentucky's economy has been increased by a billion and one-half dollars in new plant investment, involving approximately 500 new plants. The plants provide new jobs for over 50,000 citizens of the Commonwealth.

George Hubley, executive director, said the Board is negotiating with 54 industrial prospects interested in Kentucky. This represents the largest number of inquiries the Board has received at one time.

CATLETTSBURG 'ON ROCKS,' CITY OFFICIALS DECLARE

Catlettsburg, Ky., June 17 — Catlettsburg is still having financial difficulties, and unless something is done to solve the problem the City may soon be without some vital services, Mayor Erwin Rice said yesterday.

Rice and City Treasurer Margery Carpenter declared additional revenue is "urgently needed so past bills can be paid and current expenses met."

The Mayor said the City is having difficulty in meeting its payroll.

"Already some policemen and firemen are looking for other jobs," he said. "They want to be certain that they and their families will eat."

He said this fact summarizes "how poor our town has become: We still owe for the food prisoners in our City Jail eat."

Rice described Catlettsburg's police and fire protection as being below par, and he warned that unless the City's money problems are solved, the situation can only get worse.

Unless back bills are paid, Rice said, Catlettsburg faces the possibility of being without street lights, water for fire protection, and gasoline to operate City vehicles.

"Catlettsburg is getting the maximum revenue from property taxes, franchise taxes, parking meters, Police Court fines, auto stickers, and license fees," he said.

He encouraged citizens to examine the treasurer's records, adding the book will show that every dollar received in revenue is accounted for.

He said borrowing would be no solution because the City now owes $5,000 delinquent on its electricity bill, more than $9,000 for water, and around $2,000 for gasoline and oil.

"We could list other past-due bills, he said, "how much our town owes the telephone company, the service station which keeps our police and fire-protection vehicles in operational order, and the insurance company which issues policies on all our City-owned cars and trucks."

The Mayor's statement emphasized that he and City councilmen will welcome suggestions from all residents as to what can be done to help solve the difficulties.

Mrs. Neil P. Silvey, 66, Native of Floyd County, Dies at Oak Hill, Ohio

Mrs. Neil Parsons Silvey, 65 years old, native of this county and wife of James Silvey, died June 8 at an Oak Hill, O., hospital after a long period of failing health.

Mrs. Silvey was a daughter of Frank and Mary Meade Parsons. She was married to James Silvey, of Johnson county, March 19, 1914, and soon thereafter they moved to Oak Hill to reside. Mrs. Silvey had been a member of the Christian Church about 25 years.

Surviving, besides her husband, are one son, John Carroll, of Whitehouse, a daughter, Mrs. Wanda Tip-ton, Paintsville, both children of a previous marriage; one sister, Mrs. Maxine LeMasters, and two brothers, Oakley and Lindsay Parsons.

P'Burg Man To Attend Insurance Meeting

Troy B. Sturgill, a member of the Lexington Agency in Prestonsburg of The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, Newark, N. J., has qualified to attend the annual meeting of company representatives, June 24-26, at the King & Prince Hotel in St. Simons Island, Georgia.

Mr. Sturgill qualified to attend the meeting because of his fine record of sales and service to clients. He will participate in a panel discussion on "Business Insurance and Estate Planning."

INJUSTICE

Since the Banking Commissioner had declined to approve the Articles of Incorporation of the Peoples Security Bank of Martin, after considerable effort, time and money was spent on my part, I want to thank the people who so generously and loyally assisted me by subscribing for stock in the proposed bank. I will always retain a warm spot in my heart for each of you and if the opportunity ever comes, I hope that I will be able in my humble way to show my appreciation for the confidence you placed in me in our effort to establish this institution in which so many were interested and desired so much.

Of course the less competition in any business, banking or otherwise, the greater price you pay. Another bank at this place would have been a great asset and would have brought more business to the community and the public in general and the benefits received would have been greater. Our application received very little attention after the law firm of Leary and Smith were employed by the opposition. In this connection, there was a wheel within a wheel.

It now seems that our efforts have diminished and faded to some degree in this connection. We are now at a standstill and the only course left to us is by law suit in the Franklin Circuit Court, which means a lot of expense and a long delay of a year or more in the courts before we could begin active business.

There never was any doubt in my mind with our 107 stockholders, their neighbors, kinsfolks and friends that another bank at this point, being in the center of population and wealth of this county would be a success and they would have had a fine bank, and a large one and the stockholders would have greatly profited thereby but a change may come whereby we will be more successful in our wish to establish this bank. I hope the day may speedily come when people will have equal opportunity, and discrimination and favoritism will cease. When the public becomes sufficiently aroused they usually get what they want, politically or otherwise. I well know that a great number of people are disappointed with the kind of treatment we received and that many more people were interested in our behalf than the stockholders.

I am, faithfully yours,

Get Polio Shots Before July 1 For Prevention

Frankfort, June 18 (Spl.) — Manufacturers are producing enough Salk polio vaccine to give at least one dose to every one of Kentucky's most susceptible persons who have not yet been vaccinated, Dr. Russell T. Teague, State Commissioner of Health said today. Polio strikes most often at children under 20 and pregnant women.

"The increase in supply fortunately comes just in time," Dr. Teague said. "The number of polio cases is usually greatest in the summer months."

Dr. Teague said if every person in the most susceptible group received one dose of polio vaccine before July 1, the danger of a paralytic polio epidemic in the State this year would be markedly reduced.

"For widest over-all protection of a community against an epidemic it is better for everyone to get the first injection before anyone receives the second and third doses," Dr. Teague said. "Now, with the current vaccine production all persons in the most susceptible group can receive the first injection immediately."

As reports from 1955 polio immunization programs over the nation are completed, the vaccine's ability to prevent paralytic polio becomes more and more apparent. Studies in 22 states involving over 8,500,000 vaccinated and unvaccinated persons have already been completed. The paralytic polio attack rate among vaccinated children, most of whom had only one injection, was only 6.3 a 100,000. Among the unvaccinated children, the attack rate of 29.2 a 100,000 and among those vaccinated children who still contracted polio the crippling effect was reduced greatly.

There is every assurance that the vaccine is safe. After revised federal safety standards were adopted in the spring of 1955, some 10,000,000 children in the United States received vaccine with a perfect safety record.

Despite the vaccine's proved effectiveness and safety, there are still an estimated 770,000 children in Kentucky who have not received the first shot. An epidemic of polio this summer is possible unless immediate action is taken to protect these unimmunized persons.

Big Torque of the Best Sellers

IT WOULD stand to reason that automobiles selling in the same league, so to speak, would be pretty close in their engineering specifications.

Like in "torque multiplication"—the twisting force a transmission delivers to the drive shaft. (The greater the torque multiplication, the greater the performance).

But what do you find?

You find that any '56 Buick with advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo* delivers a higher torque ratio than any standard-production car in America.

And you find that this high-torque performance is one reason for Buick's best-seller standing. For Buick is now more strongly positioned in the Top 3 of the nation's biggest-selling automobiles.

That's news — and there's plenty more where that came from. For the '56 Buick is jam-packed with new engineering and styling advances to make it the best Buick yet, by far.

That new Dynaflo, for example, brings you the world's only switch-pitch performance in cars—plus a new part-throttle getaway response that's swifter, surer, and a gas-saver to boot.

The new V8 engine is 322-cubic-inches big, and packed with the highest horsepowers, the highest compressions in all Buick annals.

There's a joyous new ride, too—a new steering magic—a new "sense of direction" in your every handling maneuver.

Thing to do is come see for yourself. That way you can also look at the prices that have helped move Buick to a new sales success—outselling all other cars in America except two of the well-known smaller ones.

Will you do that, this week?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.

Western Kentucky Teachers' College

Bowling Green, Ky.

"WHERE DO YOU LIVE AT?"

If you think that folk psychology is wearing thin or that radios and television sets have transformed human nature, you should come with me on some of the trips that I take to study birds. Every spring, when I know it is true to hear Whip-poor-wills and their cousins, the Chuck-will's-widows, I go out into certain areas where I am most likely to hear these night callers. On several occasions I have been spotted by suspicious people who cannot understand what a fat, middle-aged man might be doing by sitting in his car by a roadside and listening intently or else walking up and down a lonely country road waiting for seven o'clock and the first night-bird songs to happen at the same time. This spring I had the usual experience: I drove to the side of a country road about a half hour before sunset and waited for the daytime birds to sing their evening songs and the night birds to take over. A rather rough-looking fellow, about as old as I, came by in his car, stopped, and politely asked me whether I was having car trouble. I carefully explained that I had come out to hear Whip-poor-wills. His only comment was: "Where do you live at?" I hastened to explain that I was a college professor in his neighboring good-sized town and that I studied birds for a hobby. He drove away in his car and on up a rough, rocky, winding country road, probably wondering what sort of life I would tell the next fellow who asked to relieve me from any trouble my car might be having. Soon after he left, the night birds began their songs, and I drifted back to my home, convinced again that whatever someone does that is not a matter of general knowledge is a thing to be suspected and questioned. I was not near any place where a cold spring flowing down from a hillside might have been utilized for what cold spring water is said to be very useful; in fact, I was only a few hundred yards from a great national highway, where dozens of cars whizzed by while my suspicious friend was putting me through a standard set of questions when a strange character drifts into a remote community.

By the way of contrast, two days later I stopped in front of a country church that I have often visited to listen to the birds in the trees around the building. Another man came by, one of my former students; he greeted me warmly, asked how many birds I had seen that morning, and seemed greatly pleased that I was observing birds around the old church and in the churchyard where sleep some of the distinguished people of that excellent community. I suppose that this second man could name no more birds than the first, but his contact with the big world had taught him that such queer ducks as ornithologists do exist and that a man wandering around with a pair of binoculars slung around his neck is not trying to spy out a still or other questionable industry. The gap between the two men is one that is hard to bridge; without doubt, the first man was as sincere in his neighborliness as the second; he just didn't know what a fellow could be doing studying birds.

Though nearly fifty years separate me from Fidelity, I still know the folk feeling behind this strange suspiciousness. I never knew any one in our remote little world to suffer any physical harm from being a stranger, but we watched everybody who entered our dead-end community, knowing that we had two chances at him: as he came in and as he turned around and went out. Sly hints or even direct questions usually brought the information we sought, and then we told everybody else about the wandering "Gypsy" who was camping down by Sulphur Springs or was driving through to the river in his duty wagon. We certainly wished him and his bedraggled family no harm; we wanted to know who he was and where he was going to and where he lived at.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means to express our sincere appreciation to everyone who did so much for us during the passing of our father and father-in-law, Rufus Crisp, Allen, Kentucky. We shall always be humbly grateful to our kind neighbors for their thoughtfulness and many helpful deeds; to those who visited us, and those who brought food; to the Allen Methodist choir and Mrs. Paul Dorsey, of Wayland, for their message in song; to Rev. P. Carr, Rev. Isaac Stratton, and Rev. Bill Amburgey for their aid in making the funeral services soothing and comforting; to all who sent flowers; and to the Turner & Ryan Funeral Home and the Allen Police force for their very efficient services.

Six Important Steps In Tomato Production

Disease and insect control, fertilization, cultivation, watering and mulching are important steps for the home gardener toward a goal of 10 pounds of tomatoes to the plant, says George A. Marlowe, Jr., U. K. Extension specialist in horticulture. He makes these recommendations:

Weekly spraying or dusting, started at the time the first blooms appear should be continued until frost to control early and late blight. Spraying is preferred, as the undersides of the leaves as well as the tops are given better protection.

Tomato dust containing copper may be used, but even better are the sprays containing zineb or maneb, such as Dithane, Manzate or Vanicide.

Many insects bother tomatoes, but they can be controlled by the use of a malathion spray once a week. Marlowe emphasized that while malathion is a good general insecticide, it should not be used on a crop that is to be harvested within 10 days. It is available in a dust or spray. Manufacturers' directions on the use of all chemicals should be carefully followed, Marlowe emphasized.

If an all-purpose spray is wanted, the combination formula of 3-percent methoxychlor, 4-percent malathion, and 5-percent captan is all right for tomatoes, though not as good a fungicide as those mentioned in the paragraph above.

The first application of fertilizer should be made when the fruit is the size of a pea or cherry. Too early application may prevent fruit from setting. Use 1 tablespoon of ammonium nitrate, or twice that amount of nitrate of soda, and make a ring within 4 inches of the stem of the plant, then water it slowly into the soil. A second application of fertilizer should be made when the fruit is about one-half inch in diameter.

Cultivation of tomatoes should be very shallow and only as necessary. Deep cultivation destroys roots and causes the soil to dry out more quickly.

A few thorough soakings of the soil is much better than frequent light waterings. A good rule is to apply in one watering what would be equal to an inch of rainfall. Don't wet the foliage, if possible, as the spray or dust is washed off, and blight is more likely to strike under damp conditions.

An inch mulch of sawdust (new or old) or a plastic covering will save moisture and keep the soil cooler, the weeds down, and the fruit clean.

P. Owens of the decision to build a branch in that city. The announcement was made by Chester P. White, vice-president of the firm—and one of Owens' fraternity brothers at Washington & Lee University, class of 1938.

George W. Hubble, executive director of the A&ID Board, said White contacted the Board last December for information on Kentucky towns between 5,000 and 20,000 population and within 350 miles of Blake & Johnson principal markets in the Midwest and South.

Hubble said Blake & Johnson is one of 54 companies the Board recently announced were considering industrial sites in the State. According to the Board's record, 20 new manufacturing plants, employing 4,700 persons and having an investment of 25 million dollars, have begun operations or announced plans to locate in 14 Kentucky cities since the first of the year.

Little League Here Draws More Support; Gets Home Plate Back

Good news was received this week when word was passed that the Prestonsburg Little League has now a home plate and, out of some interested individuals, more money in the treasury.

In recent games the youngsters had been playing without a home plate. Still, according to league heads, there are many other improvements which must be made, such as:

- (1) Scraping the infield before each contest to insure a playable surface;
  - (2) Fences for the outfield;
  - (3) Adequate umpiring, with help coming from parents who have children playing in the league;
  - (4) More bats and catching equipment;
  - (5) More enthusiastic attendance by parents.
- Recent rulings made by Commissioner Mack Harmon stipulate that every contest must be over by 7:45 p.m. and that every player must be played at least two innings.

Major Deal Pulled Among Martin Minors

A transaction of major league week by manager Pete Grigsby, Jr., of the Grigsby Little League team in Martin.

A five for three deal was finally approved and made, Grigsby relates, with Dermont's Roy Ratliff. Coming from the Grigsby team to Dermont's are Charles Dingus, infielder, Eddie Taylor, outfielder, and Buddy Brad-dock, an outfielder, in exchange for Pug Osborne, pitcher, Richard Collins, outfielder, Bobby Barnett, outfielder, Charlie Bob Marshall, infielder, and Roger Osborne, a pitcher.

General Manager Grigsby said that both teams were endeavoring to strengthen weak spots on their respective teams. It was a straight player transaction with no cash involved, "Trader" Grigsby said.

SITE OF STATE TOURNAMENT NOT DECIDED

Last week's meeting of the Kentucky High School Association Board of Control meeting revealed what we predicted in this column six weeks ago, that the board would vote would tie, 4-4, on the site of the 1956-57 state high school basketball tournament.

The four Western Kentucky representatives voted for Louisville and the eastern regions voted for Lexington. Another vote will be taken next month, or may be postponed until August. Both the Louisville and Lexington Chamber of Commerce groups are expecting all types of pressure.

Next week's column will be penned by Quentin Allen, who will capably fill our shoes while Barkley Sturgill, Frank Heinze and I are in Kansas City attending the national Junior Chamber of Commerce convention and watching the Yankees and Red Sox come in for games with the Athletics.

Sam Turner, 68, Dies Following Operation

Funeral rites for Sam Turner, 68 years old, former Floyd man who died June 10 at St. Joseph's hospital, Lexington, were conducted Tuesday of last week from the Maryland Avenue Christian Church, Lexington, of which he was a member. Mr. Turner had undergone an operation at the hospital, May 31.

A son of the late Richard and Fern Patton Turner, he was a native of this county. He was a farmer and had resided in Lexington since his retirement about two years ago.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Katie Turner, one daughter, Mrs. F. M. Ratliff, and a son, Wheeler Turner, both of Price; three sisters, Mrs. Joe Gibson, of Wayland, Mrs. W. M. Terry, of Lackey, and Mrs. J. A. Elliott, Lexington; and two brothers, McKinley Turner, Lexington, and Belve Turner, of Martin. He also leaves four grandchildren.

Burial was made in Lexington cemetery.

Relatives who attended the funeral included Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Turner, of Price, Blake Ratliff, of Ohio, Roy Ratliff, of Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Jones Ratliff, Troy, O., Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Terry, of Lackey, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hagewood, Prestonsburg, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Terry and daughter, Sharon Kay, Dayton, O., Mr. and Mrs. Langley Turner and Mrs. Bertha Martin, of Dema, and J. A. Elliott, of Whitesburg.

HUEYSVILLE SOLDIER STATIONED IN GERMANY

Taylor Leads Hitters In Little Loop Play

Taylor, first baseman for the Cardinals of the Prestonsburg Little League, has overtaken Dodger shortstop, Roger Dobart, in the race for the batting championship by collecting four hits in five tries over the last week for a percentage of .727.

Dobart, the "veteran" of the league, having played two years and now on his third, made three hits in six times at bat but still dropped 56 points. One of Dobart's hit was a resounding homer against the Cardinals, which coupled with Oakie Spark's homer, enabled the Dodgers to edge the Cards.
