SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY
PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

MAY 31, 1956

THURSDAY

This Town— That World

Once upon a time there was a candidate who in tossing his hat into the ring held onto a string tied to the aforementioned lid. "I may need that hat to pass around among my friends, if any, after this is all over," he explained.

If more of us would get interested in doing good, we would hear less about "necessary evils."

Some day a benefactor to the race will rise, and he will introduce legislation that would forbid on penalty of drawing and quartering any candidate or supporter thereof to advertise in print or otherwise anything except the plain issues involved. And when that happens many the candidate will be left with nothing to talk about.

THE REMARKABLE TROUT

Allan M. Trout is a remarkable man, and I have one of his recent columns to prove it. In that piece he wrote about the death of his dog without becoming sentimental.

Trout the iron-willed achieved that by dint of great effort, I know. Instead of succumbing to his feelings, as I and lesser lights sometimes do, he merely told how the old dog passed on, hunting an out-of-the-way place to do his dying; then discoursed on the loyalties of dogs in general.

Trout can do it; I can't. When I feel like choking up and don't want to shed my tears on the public in general, I say nothing. I envy him in a way, and again I don't; for I, as most do, know how trying it is to stow your feelings way back where only the most sensitive and discerning will know they're there.

JUDGE HOLDS LEAGUE LOSER IN SUIT HERE

Opinion Says Orders Of Court Sufficient In Legal Compliance

The Floyd County Good Government Tax League's suit attacking validity of the fiscal court orders which made possible the issuance of bonds for the purchase of several water and gas properties in this county was dismissed Monday at the cost of the plaintiffs by Special Judge Edward G. Hill, judge of the Harlan circuit court.

The suit named as defendants County Judge Henry Stumbo and four present and former magistrates M. C. Wright, Ellis Martin, Edgar Howell and Milt Stanley. Validity of three orders voted in connection with the bond issue and utilities purchase in May and June, 1953 was attacked in the action on the grounds that they were not signed by the judge and members of the court at the meeting at which the orders were enacted but were signed later in violation of K. R. S. 67.100.

The fiscal court in its defense claimed that the orders referred to were read to all members at the three meetings, were approved by members of the court and were signed by the County Judge on the same day they were passed.

Testifying by deposition in the case, various members of the court and the County Clerk could not give the exact dates on which the orders were signed. Mrs. DuRan Moore, wife of the County Clerk, testified, however, that in its original form the order of June 17, 1953 was on legal-size typewritten sheets, that these were signed, and that she later transcribed them on the court's regular order book.

Judge Hill pointed out that the statute the plaintiffs contended was violated provides that "before each adjournment minutes of the proceedings of the fiscal court shall be publicly read by the clerk of the court and corrected if necessary, and shall be signed by the presiding judge, with the approval of the justices of the peace or county commissioners who were present when the court was held."

Wrote Judge Hill: "In the case at bar, the orders were read to the fiscal court and signed by the presiding judge and with the approval of the justices of the peace who were present. . . . There is some controversy as to whether the typewritten pages were read and signed. . . . The statute does not explicitly state that the orders shall be so read but rather makes a definite reference to minutes, and it could very well be construed from the evidence. . . . that the typewritten pages. . . were minutes, if not orders, and this Court thinks that a substantial compliance of the section of the statutes was had."

The special judge concluded that the proper procedural steps were taken to establish the validity of the orders in question.

It was said here Wednesday that the case will not be appealed.

COMBS QUIETS SENATE TALK

Prestonsburg Man Says He has No Desire To Go To Senate; Thanks Friends

Judge Bert T. Combs, of Prestonsburg, definitely removed himself as a probable choice of Kentucky Democrats to complete the unexpired term of the late Senator Alben W. Barkley.

Said Judge Combs: "Some of my friends have been kind enough to suggest that I might be given consideration by the State Central Committee for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate. I am very grateful to these good friends, but I have no desire whatever to go to Washington."

"There is only one office I have ever wanted outside my own profession. I needn't identify the office because that secret got out last summer. However, I wouldn't want to hold any public office unless I could have it on the basis of a program which would have the approval of a majority of the people of Kentucky."

WPRT GIVEN POWER BOOST

Radio Station Increase To 5,000 Watts Expected In June, Says Manager

Radio Station WPRT, Prestonsburg, has been granted permission to increase its power from 1,000 to 5,000 watts, and it may begin broadcasting with the increased volume by mid-June.

Rex Osborne, station manager, said June 15 has been tentatively set as the date for conversion but that some small delay could yet occur.

The new transmitter will be housed in a building constructed on a plot of land leased sometime ago by D. C. Stephens, station owner, near the V. O. Turner home on the railroad side of the river here. The present tower will be dismantled and moved to the new site. The broadcasting station will remain in its present quarters, operating by remote control. Included in improvements planned will be a new and improved ground system.

The station will continue to operate on its present broadcasting schedule.

Perkins Leads Clements As Both Carry Floyd

Floyd county joined the rest of Kentucky on its new primary election date, Tuesday, in giving U. S. Senator Earle C. Clements a resounding victory over Ex-Congressman Joe B. Bates in his race for the Democratic nomination.

And this county did even better by Congressman Carl D. Perkins, who was opposed by Floyd native, George Glenn Hatcher, former Secretary of State, in the race for the Democratic nomination for the Seventh district Congressional post.

On the Republican side of the primary, where there was an absolute minimum of interest, Thurston B. Morton led Julian H. Golden in this county, 472 votes to 164, in the Senatorial primary, with Granville Thomas running third with 51 votes. Scott C. Craft, of Paintsville, was unopposed for the G. O. P. Congressional nomination.

This county gave Senator Clements a total of 3,973 votes to 3,213 for Bates, with Clements polling majorities in all but 16 of the county's 60 precincts. Congressman Perkins' vote total was 5,072 to 1,651 for Hatcher, his strongest opponent. Ralph N. Walter was third with 150, followed by Judge Ervin S. Pruitt, who withdrew from the race, with 116, and Ralph H. Sherman with 30. Perkins carried all but two of the precincts in the county. Appellate Judge Astor Hogz was unopposed for re-nomination in the

COUNTER SUIT ASKS $50,000

Mrs. Joyce Weddington Sues Meade Who Earlier Sued Her and Husband

A counterclaim of $50,000 against Donald L. Meade was filed recently in circuit court here by Mrs. Joyce Weddington as she and her husband, Joe Weddington, made joint and separate answer to Meade's $100,000 damage suit against the Weddingtons and the Huntington Publishing Company.

Mrs. Weddington's counter claim alleges that she received on Jan. 18 last a telephone call from a man whose voice she recognized as Meade's; that at the time the call was made she was pregnant, and that she was so upset she suffered "physical and mental anguish to the extent that she was caused to and did have a miscarriage."

This allegation was in substance the same as her statement in the trial here of Meade, who was acquitted of a charge of making a false telephone call. Mrs. Weddington claims damage of $100,000 as a result of the miscarriage but is suing for only fifty thousands.

The Huntington Publishing Company, publisher of The Huntington Advertiser, which published a news-story relating to the accusation against Meade, has not made answer to the suit filed against it.

In other paragraphs of their answer the Weddingtons deny Meade's allegation that they made false and defamatory statements, that Joe Weddington said he caused Meade to be fired because he was drunk and that they called the newspaper and caused publication of the news-story.

Their answer was prepared by Alva A. Hollon, Hazard attorney.

GUN VICTIMS BURIED TODAY

Crippled Vet, 3 Others Slain by His Bride; Rites Conducted Near Iynton

Funeral services for four persons slain Saturday night by a woman at Hammond, Ind., were being held this afternoon (Thursday) from the Bradley Freewill Baptist Church on Burning Fork, Magoffin county, less than two miles from Iynton at the head of Middle Creek.

Slain by Mrs. Opal Juanita Collins, 25, a bride of a few weeks, were her paraplegic army veteran husband, Ben C. Collins, Jr., 28; her mother-in-law, Mrs. Julia Collins, 48, and her sister-in-law, Mary Sue, 11, and Martha Ann Collins, 14. One of the slain girls was shot nine times, it was reported here.

All are former residents of Magoffin county and most of the family is widely known in this county. The slain husband was paralyzed by injuries suffered in a car wreck near Royalton while he was on army furlough a few years ago, and in the same wreck Alberta May, daughter of David and Bess May, formerly of Prestonsburg, was killed.

Hammond police said Mrs. Collins, readily signed a statement admitting the slayings. She was scheduled for arraignment on a charge of murder.

Her husband's 6-year-old brother, Bobby, fled the house while his sisters stood transfixed with horror. The husband's father, Ben, 50, was at work in a steel mill.

Young Collins was killed as he sat in his wheel chair.

Mrs. Collins blamed crowded conditions in the house and her mother-in-law's constant hostility toward her for the violent outbreak.

"I just blew up over something that was said," Mrs. Collins explained. The Collinses were married May 1. She said her mother-in-law

EDGE SCORED BY CLEMENTS OVER 82,000

7th, 8th Gives Bates Only Leads; Majority Of Perkins Near 17,000

With only 155 of the state's 4,037 precincts untabulated Wednesday afternoon, U. S. Senator Earle C. Clements had rolled up a lead of 80,412 votes over his principal opponent, Joe B. Bates, for the Democratic nomination in the Senate race.

In the Seventh Congressional district, where 142 of 716 precincts remained unreported, Congressman Carl D. Perkins had a lead of 17,110 over Ralph N. Walter, his nearest competitor at that stage of the count.

Thurston B. Morton, of Louisville, led Julian H. Golden, Pineville, 39,691 votes to 12,265 in the Republican Senate race. Scott Craft, of Paintsville, was unopposed for the Republican Congressional nomination in this district.

The turn-out of more than 350,000 votes Tuesday was the heaviest in a Democratic Senatorial primary since the Barkley-Chandler race in 1938 which Barkley won by 70,872 votes. Voting was heavier downstate than in the mountains.

Governor Chandler not only failed to nominate Ex-Congressman Bates and defeat Clements but he also failed to oust Congressmen up for re-nomination—notably, Congressmen Perkins and Watts, the latter a representative of the Governor's home district. In that district, the Sixth, Congressman J. C. Watts led the Chandler-backed Joe Arnold by slightly more than 16,000 votes.

Starting off in Jefferson county with a lead of about 35,000 votes,

Scholarships in Fuel Technology Established At Pennsylvania State

Six scholarships in fuel technology at Pennsylvania State University have been established by organizations in and serving the coal industry. The announcement was made by Dr. E. F. Osborn, dean, College of Mineral Industries, and Earl C. Payne, consulting engineer of Consolidation Coal Company, who has been active in recruiting the awards.

The scholarships are available to high school students who can meet the entrance requirements of the College of Mineral Industries at Pennsylvania State University. They begin with the 1956 fall term, pay the student $500 per year, with renewal each year contingent on satisfactory academic performance.

These annual scholarships have been established by Bituminous Coal Research, Inc.; Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates; Koppers Company; National Coal Association; Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company; and an anonymous alumnus executive of a company serving the coal industry. The American Coal Sales Association had previously established a $1,000 annual scholarship in the same subject. Several other companies are considering similar sponsorship. These grants are in addition to scholarships in mining engineering sponsored by some of the companies.

Research Group Headed By LaViers, Paintsville; House Adopts Resolution

The National Coal Association's committee on research and development will be headed by Harry LaViers, president, South-East Coal Co., Paintsville. Announcement of the appointment was made by NCA President L. C. Campbell this week.

The members of the Committee who will serve with Mr. LaViers will be announced shortly.

Interest in the general topic of research and development for the coal industry has been increasing rapidly. Some time ago, the House adopted a resolution by Congressman Saylor of Pennsylvania to provide a Congressional study of the subject. Tuesday of last week, Sen. Everett Dirksen, of Illinois, introduced Senate Resolution 269, which provides for a full study of the parts that federal and state governments, as well as industry and labor, might play in a permanent "cooperative research venture" which might be developed "under existing laws." The Dirksen resolution names the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs committee to conduct the study. The possibility of early action by the Senate committee is indicated by the fact that the committee already has organized a subcommittee on fuels and energy, headed by Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney, of Wyoming.

If bonds are lost, stolen, or destroyed, give prompt notice to the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, 536 South Clark Street, Chicago 5, Illinois, stating the serial numbers (with prefix and suffix letters), the issue dates (month and year), and the name or names and addresses on the bonds. Ky. Bar Association Program Would Give All Legal Service

The Kentucky State Bar Association has initiated a program designed to furnish needed legal service to all citizens, regardless of ability to pay.

Henry H. Harned, secretary of the Association, said the program, in brief, provides that lawyers charge at least the minimum fee prescribed for each type of service, except where the client is unable to meet the charge. Then the lawyer must render the service without charge.

The Court of Appeals has fixed the bar dues of Kentucky lawyers at $10 a year beginning September 1. Last year, attorneys at the district bar meetings recommended that the $5 limitation then prevailing be removed and the Court be permitted to set the figure in its own discretion. The additional funds were to be used in establishing minimum fees for all types of legal work and strengthening other programs of the association. The minimum fee topic, with its free services for those unable to pay will be discussed at this year's district bar meeting.

Seventh district will be held Sept. 19 at Cumberland Falls.

STAPP WINS JAYCEES' TEEN-AGE ROAD-E-O

"The course that you'd have a hard time driving a bicycle through" as Jaycees put it, held no terrors for Paul Douglas Stepp who took a 1936 Ford through an arduous test of driving skill that finally pronounced this Prestonsburg youngster the winner in the Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce Teen-Age Road-e-o held last Saturday at the Prestonsburg Play-ground.

Stepp, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Stepp, is a high school senior who, if he can survive the competition at Murray on June 9, in the state Teen-Age Road-e-o, can go on to the nationals at Washington, D. C., where he will have a chance to win a $1,500 scholarship. The trip to Murray for the Floyd winner, who compiled a winning 397 points out of a possible 500, is expense free. He will be accompanied by one of the Prestonsburg Jaycees.

Stepp was awarded a $50 U. S. Savings Bond on his winning total on the written test and his driving. Rodney Willis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Willis, won second place and Melvin Stuart, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Two Lower Valley Towns To Seek New Industries

Promotion of the lower Big Sandy river valley in the future location of new industry is to be undertaken by the towns of Louisa and Catlettsburg, it was announced Saturday by Wynn A. Field, president of the Catlettsburg Chamber of Commerce.

Field said closer co-operation between the cities was discussed at a dinner meeting sponsored by Catlettsburg businessmen. Eight Louisa businessmen were special guests.

The opening of the River Road, the relocated section of U. S. 23 running parallel with the Big Sandy from Catlettsburg to Louisa, will increase industrial opportunities, Field said. Several industries are already located on the Big Sandy near Catlettsburg and many other sites are available, he added.

Special efforts are planned, Field said, to eliminate what he called the "U. S. 23 bottleneck" at Catlettsburg's south City limits.

Rufus P. Thomas, new-industry representative of Kentucky Power Company, Ashland, spoke at the businessmen's dinner about ways to promote industry.

The 20-Year Teachers Club held its annual meeting, Monday evening at the Sea Cafe, at Martin, and heard County Superintendent V. O. Turner discuss "Getting the Minimum Foundation Program Underway." Officers for the ensuing year were elected at the meet. Mrs. Kelsa Elliott, of Betsy Layne, succeeded Ratliff as president and Mrs. Betty Stephens, Prestonsburg, the oldest teacher in point of service, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

the smaller hospitals, through the administrators of each. Accounting and purchasing are handled centrally for all ten units.

An administrative committee made up of the 10 hospital administrators and Dr. Mott and his central staff meets regularly to permit full participation of all hospital executives.

The medical staffs of the hospitals are organized on the same regional plan. Each staff consists of local physicians and such specialists as are needed, under a full-time chief of clinical services. Medical services throughout a region are coordinated by the chief of clinical services in the central hospital. Regional medical boards are being formed to stimulate the constant improvement of all medical services in a region. They will work with a central committee on Medical Affairs advisory to Dr. Mott and Dr. Aims McGuinness, the over-all clinical director for the ten.

It was the task of Dr. McGuinness, former dean of the Graduate School of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, to line up the outstanding group of internists, surgeons and other specialists who will be responsible for medical services, with the help of local physicians.

As for the nursing services, top-flight supervisory personnel have been recruited by the Association, under the leadership of Miss Anne Chapman. The director and assistant director of nursing at every hospital has either a bachelor's or master's degree in her field. Thirty-eight states already are represented in the top nursing personnel. Both Harlan and Beckley maintain schools for training practical nurses, and 80 young women and men from coal miners' families of the community are already in special schools at the Harlan and Beckley hospitals or are in training at Beckley and Middlesboro. The students receive an education allowance, from which they pay expenses, during the last eight months of their practical nurse-in-hospital training.

A school of training for registered nurses will be opened as soon as accreditation rules allow.

At present, Miss Chapman reports that there are 389 registered nurses employed, and this will shortly be increased to 400. There will be more than 110 licensed practical nurses on the rolls at the time of the dedication. Nurses' aides and attendants, all from the local communities, numbered 228 two weeks ago.

In addition to the enormous task of recruiting and training the nursing staffs, Miss Chapman and her associates say they are "doing some important studies and research in nursing service which we hope will

The Upside Down Picture

This is not a picture of any particular home; it applies to several, perhaps even to many, in Floyd county. It is a picture that belongs to many other counties, also.

The picture is of a neatly painted farmhouse, with a well-kept lawn, a barn, green pastureland, an orchard, a field in corn, grazing livestock. An electric power pole is a few yards away, and from that item in the scene modern life is taken into the home.

Inside are a radio, a television set, a deep-freeze unit, a kitchen refrigerator and perhaps one or two other electrical appliances. The battered family car parked outside isn't so neat as the other properties of the home, which houses good books, good, livable furniture—all tucked away in a setting that could almost be described as sylvan and perfectly suited to peaceful, comfortable living.

But everything isn't perfect. Not by a long shot. For the modernity of that farm home is without a solid foundation. In fact, the improvement structure there has been inverted, started from what you might call the top, with the bottom resting on something that is far from solid ground.

The thing that is missing in this picture is a good year-round road. Here is a family (or families, we should say) that has, materially speaking, just about everything it needs—security, seclusion from the helter-skelter of modern-day living, yet with most of the modern touches enjoyed by urban families. Only, everything started wrong there; not from the ground up, but from the top down.

That home still needs a way to market, to church, to school, to the outside world. It doesn't belong here where there is no road. Human ambition is a transcendent thing; else, such a home never would have existed here where mud and water for most of the year provide its tenuous link with humankind elsewhere. Where there is no such ambition the Tobacco Roads of the land exist—in neglected communities where men have lost hope.

What to do about it? We have no pat formula. But we do have an idea that here, in such valleys, the next roads the state and the county build should be located.

Road-builders should now, at long last, go prospecting for people to serve rather than votes to get. They should realize that trails that were blazed long ago and left to remain little more than trails, have no place in this modern age, and that every day they permit them to exist while millions of dollars are spent on serviceable roads that already exist is another day added to long years of neglect of duty to good, American citizens.

INDIAN BURIAL GROUND IS 2,000 YEARS OLD

Santa Monica, Cal., May 25—An Indian burial ground uncovered by road-grading operations on a Malibu Beach real estate tract Tuesday is thought by archeologists to be at least 2,000 years old.

A field investigating team from the Southwest Museum in Los Angeles tentatively placed it in the Middle or Hunting period, dating from approximately 3,000 B. C. to 100 A. D. in the record of Indian life in Southern California.

Know the thing that distinguished Allan Trout's dog and all dogs I have ever known from the human race, besides their loyalty that asks no questions? The fact that he went to a secluded spot to pass on, having the decency not to demand an audience in his last hour. Given a chance, a dog will leave this world as quietly and unobtrusively as he possibly can. Only, some of the poor creatures are run down by cars or poisoned, and then this delicate instinct is of no avail.

LOUDLY WE PROTEST

The newspapers this week announced that the Washington public library has relegated L. Frank Baum's "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz" to limbo, replacing the Wizard with more modern books and classifying Baum's childhood classics as "dated and stiff."

We protest. We also repeat, "What is the world coming to?" Dated and stiff, my eye! What about Dickens? Would you say his naming of characters to fit their innate makeup is altogether natural? Of course it isn't. That's "dated" stuff, too, but try beating Scrooge for a name. Shall we throw out Pilgrim's Progress because it's too stiff, because it isn't modern?

We demand a recount, and in that recount we should like to be shown any three characters from modern children's books that have it on the Scarecrow, the Cowardly Lion or the Tin Woodman.

GOUDY

Fredrick W. Goudy, the Illinois man who was perhaps the greatest type designer of our time, also could put words together in excellent fashion, as the following attests:

The Type Speaks

I Am Type! Of my earliest ancestry neither history nor relics remain. The wedge-shaped symbols impressed in plastic clay by Babylonian builders in the dim past foreshadowed me; from them a domestic coolness along about this time that should have a name of its own. House-cleaning Winter is known and feared by all males of our species. It lasts longer than Dogwood Winter, or Linen-breeches Winter, or Blackberry Winter; it seems to me that it practically extends from the last snow-drift to the first katydid call.

But we modern folks are not alone in our fear of the annual disorder. Back in Fidelity it was much the same thing. Soap and water are pretty much alike, whether they are applied to a dirty-faced boy or a lot of grimy woodwork. And somehow spring smells are capable of stretching across the years. We used to use corrosive sublimate in the places where certain small biting varmints might smuggle in the bedsteads; some of these modern sprays smell equally bad, and I hope that they kill the moths and their tribe. So far as I know, there never was a bedbug in our home at Fidelity, but

In books, I present to you a portion of the Eternal Mind caught in its progress through the world, stamped in an instant, and preserved for eternity. Through me Socrates and Plato, Chaucer and the Bards become your faithful friends who ever surround and minister to you. I am the leaden army that conquers the world: I AM TYPE!

POTATOES

Now that potatoes are an inch or two above the ground, the flea beetles will be hard at work feasting on the young and tender leaves. You do not notice the damage they do for the insect is small and the leaves are not discolored or withered. The beetles make small holes in the leaves and feeds on the leaf sap. This reduces the amount of food the plant produces and thus reduces the plant production. Pull off several leaves and hold them between you and the sky, if there are many small holes, you can be reasonably sure that flea beetles infected your patch. It is very easy to control flea beetles if an appropriate spray material is used. The material to use is D. D. T. or methoxychlor at 5 per cent or a spray made by using 2 tablespoons of 50 per cent wettable D.D.T. or methoxychlor per gallon of water. NOTE—Rotenone is definitely not recommended to control flea beetles.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D. Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

IT'S THAT TIME

Though it is true that I am writing this little article in the midst of Blackberry Winter and am near a blazing fire, it is not this season that I am referring to exactly, though there must be some connection between this late-spring cool spell and another annual event, house-cleaning. Certainly there develops a domestic coolness along about this time that should have a name of its own. House-cleaning Winter is known and feared by all males of our species. It lasts longer than Dogwood Winter, or Linen-breeches Winter, or Blackberry Winter; it seems to me that it practically extends from the last snow-drift to the first katydid call.

But we modern folks are not alone in our fear of the annual disorder. Back in Fidelity it was much the same thing. Soap and water are pretty much alike, whether they are applied to a dirty-faced boy or a lot of grimy woodwork. And somehow spring smells are capable of stretching across the years. We used to use corrosive sublimate in the places where certain small biting varmints might smuggle in the bedsteads; some of these modern sprays smell equally bad, and I hope that they kill the moths and their tribe. So far as I know, there never was a bedbug in our home at Fidelity, but

Some Summer Classes To Close Early, Said

Pikeville, Ky., May 28 (Spl.)—Some summer-school classes at Pikeville College may have to be closed even before regular registration for the first summer term on Monday, June 14, it was reported. Dr. A. A. Page, college president, said that large advance registrations promise an enrollment of some 300 students, and that dormitory space for women is almost entirely filled. A tight summer schedule will make it impossible to open new sections of courses which are filled to capacity before classes begin, he added.

FORESTRY STUDY INITIATED AFTER BLAZES HERE IN '52

(This article was prepared for the National magazine, Better Farming Methods, and will appear, with pictures, in an early issue).

By Ellis Boggs, County Agent

Eastern Kentucky forests were aflame both in 1952 and 1953. Lines of fire could be followed for miles through the heavily wooded mountains of this coal mining county. When the last members had cooled, some 89,200 acres of forest had burned in the county despite the desperate efforts of the State Division of Forestry personnel. Although the county Extension personnel gave all assistance possible through radio and newspaper publicity, it was obvious that this type of educational effort was inadequate.

A concentrated mass medium of forest conservation education was solely needed where the story could be carried into every home in the county. Since many of our folk live in urban areas and coal camps, they have no direct contact with any agricultural program; consequently only the public schools offered the opportunity of reaching the bulk of the people.

In consultation with our Extension forester, a series of lessons were outlined which would cover some of the basic principles of forest conservation. It was thought that the children could be taught to understand and appreciate the value and importance of our 210,000 acres of forest in the county. We hoped that some of the things they studied would be carried home to the parents.

The key to the successful execution of the plan was the full and complete cooperation of the County Superintendent V. O. Turner. The outlined plan was explained to him. He enthusiastically endorsed the idea and pledged his full support.

A series of eight simple forestry lessons were prepared by James A. Newman, Area Agent in Forestry, on the following subjects:

- 1. What we get from trees.
2. County Forest: How they live and grow.3. Enemies of the forest.4. How new forests start.5. Planting new forests.6. Making trees grow faster and better.7. Harvesting our timber crop.8. Forest, wildlife and floods.

Upon completion of the writing of the series, Mr. Turner invited me to present the idea at a county-wide meeting of rural elementary teachers. An explanation of the objectives of the lesson series as well as the procedures of getting the material to them was given. A favorable response was made by thirty-seven teachers.

We were then ready to start the lessons. The first lesson was mimeographed and mailed to each teacher on the basis of number requested. Sufficient reference materials and a teacher's guide were furnished each participating teacher with the first lesson. A lesson was prepared and mailed to the teachers for the next seven consecutive weeks. The cooperating teachers taught forestry lessons to 1,500 students during 1954.

To ascertain the thoughts of the teachers as to lesson value, a questionnaire was prepared and mailed to them. The response was both come was rising Eastern Kentucky's was dragging. The section lost income that year and lost consistently the years following.

The section on bank deposits of the report for the 1947-'54 period show how the United States is getting richer and richer. Kentucky doing better somewhat than it historically usually does. But Eastern Kentucky, as compared to the increase in the whole country of 18.9 percent and in Kentucky of 5.4 percent, upped its deposits in the section's banks by only nine-tenths of one percent.

"It is quite clear that in most instances where there have been substantial declines in employment," the report says, "there have been correspondingly large withdrawals of deposits during the period of time under review. This is particularly true with respect to Bell, Letcher, Perry and Pike counties, where there has been a material decline in coal mining employment and wages."

It could be assumed that the heavy migration of Floyd's population would show, as the report stated, a corresponding decrease of bank deposits, as it did in many others, but such is not the case. The county lost nearly 10,000 people but they apparently took little money out of the banks. Floyd bank deposits actually increased one-tenth of one percent. The reverse was true in Pike. The loss was 11,766 persons and the decline in deposits 17.4 percent between 1947-1954. Boyd county led the list of counties having increase of bank deposits with an even 40 percent. Elliott followed with 38.6, Rowan came third with 25.3 percent. The greatest percent of decrease of bank deposits was in Letcher which showed a decline of 27.4 percent.

You usually never know until a letter is opened what it may contain. Those that come this way bring bits of historical lore, genealogical data, and, often, just comment on the past. Most are interesting. This column tries to compensate the writers with a reply in kind, many times an article from The Times is sent.

By request of Blanche Dingus, health coordinator of the school system, Dr. Gordon Wilson, head of the Kentucky Department of Western Kentucky State College, Bowling Green, was sent several of the articles that have appeared in The Times from time to time on our history and culture. Dr. Wilson responds kindly:

"I will deeply appreciate getting these and will enjoy using them as samples of what ought to be done everywhere. My course in American Folk Literature comes up again this summer, a course in which I encourage my graduate students to do some original investigations of quaint customs, folk characters, folk gatherings, and similar things. Your writings will help me to put my course over. For safe keeping I shall deposit them in our Kentucky library where they will be highly treasured."

Dr. Wilson, a noted authority on folklore, is author of the column, Tidbits of Kentucky Folklore, which appears in The Times. He speaks highly of Miss Dingus. "In my many years here I have had some excellent students from your county, none more excellent than Blanche Dingus, who did her A.B. and M.A. with me. She has a keen eye for local history and folklore and has been a valuable member of our Kentucky Folklore Society."

Dr. Wilson says that his column will reach its 21st birthday in September. He has written 1,100 articles for it—enough, he thinks, to fill 20 full-sized books.

Another letter from Dr. Bennett of the University of Kentucky. He asked for, several weeks ago, an H. Wall, of the History Department, analysis of the source of strength Gov. William Goebel had in the mountains. This column investigated Breathitt County Judge James Hargis' political roots. It was Hargis, Breathitt Sheriff Ed Callahan, Circuit Judge D. B. Redwine, of Elliott county and many others who stood as pillars of the Goebel strength in the mountains. Reaching out from Jackson in many directions were influences tied together by these matter political strategists. J. M. (Bar-tee) Weddington, sheriff of Floyd county, was Hargis' cousin, as the grandmother of Judge Hargis was a Weddington from Pike county. You

RELIGIOUS LEADERS LAUD FARM BILL, AID TO NEEDY

New York, N. Y., May 26 (Spl.)—Religious overseas relief leaders today expressed their gratification over sections of the new Farm Bill through which millions of needy persons—both in the U. S. and in hunger areas overseas—are assured continued and increased assistance through distribution of U. S. surplus foods by religious and other voluntary agencies as well as through state and federal programs.

The two sections provide for increased ocean freight financing of relief shipments sent abroad by religious and other agencies and for increased use of surplus raw grains both here and abroad by forming these to be processed into forms more suitable for domestic and institutional use.

With the grain processing provision, for which Senator Earle C. Clements of Kentucky was primarily responsible and who guided it through the embattled farm legislative action of the past several weeks, wheat flour, cornmeal and other such processed grain products can be furnished by the Department of Agriculture direct to American and overseas dispensing agencies.

Previously, any state or overseas agencies that wished to use surplus wheat and corn in schools, charitable institutions, or direct distribution had to accept the raw grain and then contract for milling. The removal of this stumbling block in achieving increased use of these foods will benefit many hundreds of thousands in America as well as the needy abroad.

March of Dimes Drive Nets $740,000 in State; Floyd's Average Low

A final total of $742,000 was raised in Kentucky's 1956 March of Dimes in January, Dr. Frank Kraus, Bardstown, state chairman, announced this week. All 120 county campaign directors have submitted reports, he said.

Floyd county's contribution was $6,162—an average of less than 12 cents per person.

Last year, $805,000 was collected in Kentucky to fight polio. The 1956 total represents an average contribution of 25 cents per person, Dr. Kraus said, about two cents below Kentucky's average of the past two years.

Carroll county, population 8,500, again led all counties in per capita March of Dimes gifts, averaging $1.61. Over $13,000 was raised there. Jefferson county was ahead in total dollars collected, $184,000.

Nationally, the March of Dimes went well beyond its goal of $47,600,000. Over $51,000,000 was donated to carry on the program of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

One of the biggest single boosts to this year's campaign came from the American Legion, Dr. Kraus pointed out. The organization conducted a statewide sale of Blue Crutches during January which brought in over $13,000. Most of the American Legion's 235 Posts in Kentucky participated.

Scottish IFYE Visiting In Rowan County Home; Plans 7-Week Stay Here

Miss Nan Wilson Anderson, of Ayrshire, Scotland, the first International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) to visit Kentucky this summer, has arrived at her first "home" in the state, that of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Eldridge and family of Rowan county.

The foreign visitor will spend about seven weeks in Kentucky. According to IFYE plan, exchanges become members of the families visited, taking part in all activities in order that they may learn the American way of life. Miss Anderson will attend 4-H Week at the University of Kentucky in early June, then Camp Ernst in Boone county before visiting another host family.

Miss Anderson is the 38th exchange from foreign countries to visit Kentucky since the two-way exchange of young farm people was started seven years ago, said Miss Edith Lacy, 4-H club field agent and state chairman of the IFYE program at the University of Kentucky.

ALLEN Ky. Bar Association Program Would Give All Legal Service

The Kentucky State Bar Association has initiated a program designed to furnish needed legal service to all citizens, regardless of ability to pay. Henry H. Harned, secretary of the Association, said the program, in brief, provides that lawyers charge at least the minimum fee prescribed for each type of service, except where the client is unable to meet the charge. Then the lawyer must render the service without charge. The Court of Appeals has fixed the bar dues of Kentucky lawyers at $10 a year beginning September 1. Last year, attorneys at the district bar meetings recommended that the $5 limitation then prevailing be removed and the Court be permitted to set the figure in its own discretion. The additional funds were to be used in establishing minimum fees for all types of legal work and strengthening other programs of the association. The minimum fee topic, with its free services for those unable to pay will be discussed at this year's district bar meeting. Seventh district will be held Sept. 19 at Cumberland Falls.

The Pleasure of Life Aboard a Houseboat

The next time you come across a houseboat, don't be content with just looking it over from the outside. Get permission to climb aboard and examine the interior. If you've never been on a houseboat before, you've an experience in store. An article in the June issue of Sports Afield magazine says this boat is built for one purpose—to be lived in. It can be a home. Just as easily, it can be your fishing lodge, or your hunting cabin. You can move around any time without setting your feet against the roll or sway under you. You have everything of the shore cabin except the crackling log fire—and, right outside, fishing water. But, like anything that floats, one boat can't do everything well. Essentially, houseboats are wide, rectangular, square-bowed, completely flat-bottomed craft. The hull itself is actually scow- or barge-shaped. The term "houseboat" is also used to describe inboard cruisers over 30 feet that are usually wide and have unusually complete accommodations aboard. The regular houseboat has as its chief feature stability, and lots of it. Other features are full headroom in the cabin, and much cheaper construction cost than any cruiser. The houseboat's chief disadvantage is its slowness. But it is one that fits a boat designed for living aboard as against traveling in. Many say that houseboats look like boxes, or worse. But modern houseboats can be and are so expertly designed that in appearance they are most attractive. Anyone thinking of a houseboat must consider most carefully certain aspects of the waterway it will be used on. Slip up on that and you have to trade your boat for a smaller one, or haul it to another river or lake. And that can be a pretty expensive proposition.

A good education is just like a savings account. One is as important as the other, because in life's work your education will amount to nothing unless you learn to save. Your savings account and your diploma go hand in hand. None succeed without the saving habit.

One dollar starts a saving account. Your savings amount will grow, and the habit of saving will help you, more than all else, to be successful in life.

McKELL WINS IN REGIONAL

Wheelwright Hi Loses In Tournament Final Held at Grayson, Ky.

McKell's baseball team polished off Wheelwright 9-5 at Grayson Friday afternoon to win the Eastern Kentucky high school regional championship.

The hard-hitting Bulldogs pounded 12 hits including a home run by Jaye Combs to gain a berth in the state tournament for the first time. Winning their 17th consecutive victory, the Fullerton-South Shore crew scored two runs in the fifth to break a 2-2 deadlock then tallied three times in the sixth for a big 7-2 bulge.

Fireballing Joe Webb took the pitching decision, his tenth straight after two early-season setbacks. The 17-year-old senior lefthander struck out four and did not walk a batter. Jim Hall, a big Wheelwright right-hander, proved to be Webb's equal for a while but the Bulldogs hit him freely in the late innings. He marked up nine strikeouts with a blazing fast ball but walked four.

PAINTSVILLE HI GOLF WINNER

Prestonsburg Is Second In Regional Tournament; Both Teams Enter 'State'

By Gordon Moore

Paintsville high school retained its Eastern Kentucky high school regional golf title at the Paintsville Country Club Friday afternoon by finishing with a team total of 635 as compared to 688 for runner-up Prestonsburg.

Martin, Wheelwright, Ashland and Ashland Holy Family trailed Paintsville and Prestonsburg in that order.

Both Paintsville and Prestonsburg qualified their entire teams for the state high school golf tournament at Fort Knox, Monday and Tuesday.

David Butler, Paintsville junior, fired rounds of 77 and 74 over the par 70.6176-yard Paintsville course to take medalist honors with a 151 total.

Bryan Hall, Paintsville, grabbed second place honors with 152 on rounds of 79 and 73. Johnny Cook, of Prestonsburg, was third with 160.

Others individuals who qualified for the state meet with 170 or less were: Jim Ryan, Ashland Holy Family, 161; Harold VanHoose, Paintsville, 165; Eddie VanHoose, Paintsville 166; Melvin Stewart, Prestonsburg, 170; Billy Hale, Martin, 170; Paul VanHoose, Paintsville, 170.

The 25 entrants was the largest number of boys ever to enter the regional golf meet in Eastern Kentucky.

Bryan Hall, David Butler and Johnny Cook all played in the state meet last season.

Jaycee Tournament Draws Eleven Vying For Trip To State Golf Meet

The Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce is looking for the best high school golfer in Floyd county, Gordon Moore, chairman of the sports committee for the Jaycees, told The Times this week.

A tournament has been arranged for determining the best linksman, he said, which will be played at the Beaver Valley Golf Course at Allen. The tournament has been bracketed with 11 contestants vying for an all-expense trip to the Jaycee state tournament at Elizabethtown, July 14 and 15 plus other spending money.

All play will be match competition, and Moore says, first round opponents are Melvin Stewart and Paul Hughes, Henry Hughes and Larry Gullett, Johnny Cook and Billy Vasvary, who must play 18 holes of golf, must schedule their own match and play it before June 6.

Second round competition must be played in 18 holes before June 15, having Larry Weddington and Larry Elder competing, with Lloyd Gullett meeting the winner of the Melvin Stewart and Paul Hughes match, Everett Campbell meeting the winner of the Henry Hughes and Larry Gullett match, and Billy Hale meeting the winner of the Johnny Cook and Billy Vasvary elimination.

The third round must be played before June 20 in 27 holes and the finals by June 25 in 27 holes.

P'BURG EDGES DRIFT, 4 TO 3

Tight Mound Duel Ends In 12th Inning Sunday; Wilcox Hits 2nd Homer

Shortstop Lowell Hughes' lead-off double of the stung pitching of Caudill resulted in his eventual scoring which knotted the game, 3-3, later allowing the Prestonsburg team to hand the Drift club their third defeat at the hands of Prestonsburg, 4-3, in 12 innings last Sunday at Drift.

Third baseman Ray Wilcox golfed his second homerun of the year with Hughes on base in the seventh inning to chalk up Prestonsburg's first run as Drift led, 3-2.

Pitcher Julian Campbell was plagued by hard luck in his stay of five innings on the mound during which he struck out eight men and allowed only three hits. The first hit of the game off Campbell came in the fifth when Bobbie Turner singled to centerfield and later scored on second baseman Storie's single to left. In the sixth the Drift team added two singles by J. Turner and B. Turner with an error for two more runs to lead, 3-0. Burchett then blanked Drift the rest of the day with only one hit.

Caudill, a southpaw, held Prestonsburg at bay until the sixth inning when Wilcox struck his liner which carried far over the left field fence. Besides the unearned run which Hughes scored, Hubbard, first baseman of the Prestonsburg team won the game with his first homerun of the year in the 12th inning off Ray Shelton who had been called in to relieve Caudill.

Lowell Hughes led the Prestonsburg club with four hits in six tries in collecting three doubles and a single, with one double bouncing off the deep left centerfield fence.

Curt (No-Hit) Burchett barely missed living up to his name in allowing the Drift club only one hit in seven innings while striking out nine. Campbell and Burchett collaborated in setting down 17 men on strikes, while Burchett annexed his fourth win of the season.

Hughes' jumping catch of a liner and Don Sullivan's throw from right field, which nipped a runner at first on a blow that ordinarily would have been a single, were the fielding gems of the game.

ALL-STAR NET PLAY SLATED

First Tilt of Summer To Be Played Friday; Floyd Boys in Lineup

By Gordon Moore

The summer basketball season will open in Ashland Friday night as the first of two all-star basketball games involving graduating stars of Kentucky high schools versus a similar group of West Virginia and Ohio seniors, will be reeled off in the Ashland high school gym.

Following this series will come the three-game East-West series in Paintsville, Whitesburg, and Pikeville; the North-South Game in Murray; and the Kentucky-Indiana series in Louisville and Indianapolis. In addition, the combined East-West group will play another West Virginia crew in Williamson, W. Va., June 7.

Virtually the same group of graduating stars will play in all of the games, headed by the fabulous Kelly Coleman, of Wayland. Others on the Kentucky squad in the Kentucky-West Virginia-Ohio series are: Lowell Hughes, Prestonsburg; Pat Seary and Tim Simpson, Ashland Holy Family; George Carroll, Ashland; Larry Joe Adams, Van Lear; Ralph Davis, Vanceburg; J. D. Kiser, Olive Hill; Rex Morgan, Carter City; Bobby Shepherd, Carr Creek; Elmon Hall, Wayland, and Don Mills, Berea.

The Ohio-West Virginia squad is composed of Hermon Conner, Huntington East; Tommy Goheen, Huntington St. Joe; Brooks Adkins, Huntington high; Willie Akers, Mullens; Jerry West, East Bank; Paul Goode and Joe Tilley, Pineville; George Ritchie, Chatteroy; Lou Mott, Pine Grove; John Milhoan, Gallipolis, Ohio; Gary Kessler, Wilshire, Ohio; Hank Josefczyk, Yorkville, Ohio and Paul Cornutte, Proctorville, Ohio.

Coach of the W. Va.-Ohio unit will be Aldo Paletti, cage tutor at Huntington East High and, leading the Kentucky group will be "Copper John" Campbell, Wayland, and Morton Combs, Carr Creek, who tutored his team to the Kentucky state high school championship during the past season.

Kentucky holds a wide margin in the series, having won seven of the eight contests played. In previous years, the Kentucky group has tangled with athletes of the Mountain State alone. The addition of Ohio will make a powerful combine for the opposition.

The Kentuckians are sponsored by the Ashland Junior Chamber of Commerce and the West Virginia-Ohio group by the Huntington Advertiser and WSAA, Inc.

Tourist Influx Expected To Set New State Record

Frankfort, May 28 (Spl.) — The greatest tourist wave in history will hit Kentucky this year—if the tremendous number of requests for travel data and information received since January 1 by the Division of Publicity is competent evidence, G. M. Pedley, director, said this week.

Each year vacationers are showing more and more interest in Kentucky's many and varied attractions, Pedley said. The horse farms, Mammoth Cave, State parks, My Old Kentucky Home, Churchill Downs, the Capitol, the Gold Depository at Fort Knox, Cumberland Falls, as well as fishing and boating are popular with Kentucky's visitors, he said.

"During the February-March-April period, the Division of Publicity received an average of 1,357 inquiries a day through the mails. The peak day, was Monday, March 5, when 4,722 pieces of mail came to the Division offices," he said.

Much of the mail is in response to advertising done by the Division of Publicity in 33 specially-selected metropolitan newspapers throughout the Nation. The Division also conducts advertising campaigns in magazines such as Holiday, National Geographic and Sports Afield, Pedley said.

Western Europe's expanding economy is expected to offer an annual market for more than 13 million tons of American coal for at least another half decade.

State Agency Plans Survey of Adoptions

Frankfort, May 28 (Spl.) — The Department of Economic Security will launch, July 1, a comprehensive survey of the number of adoptable children in every county of Kentucky. "This," Vego E. Barnes, commissioner, said, "Perhaps will be the first survey of its kind in the United States."

Barnes said approximately 500 field workers will join child welfare workers, doctors and lawyers in making the survey. When the survey has been completed, the Department will be in a position to provide a sharp increase in the number of children available for adoption by Kentucky couples, he said.

Commenting on a U. S. Senate subcommittee hearing in which a Kentuckian testified that so many babies vanish on the inter-state black market that none are left for people seeking to adopt a child through official channels, Barnes said he would not be surprised if hundreds of Kentucky children have been sold annually for adoption in other states.

He said responsibility "for this deplorable condition" might well be traced to the recently abolished Youth Authority Act. "I deplore the bad publicity Kentucky has received but cannot say it is unwarranted. Conditions were such under the Youth Authority that hundreds of children could have been sold annually for adoption in other states," he said.

A total of 722 children were adopted in Kentucky in 1955. Barnes said he did not believe the figure represented an accurate picture of Kentucky children adopted everywhere. "The number of children which we know to have been adopted in Kentucky is less than 20 per cent of the number that should be available," he said.

Barnes conceded that the couples seeking to adopt children far outnumber the children available. The national average, he said, ranges from 10 to 17 couples for each child available.

College, Academy Pay 'Distinguished Alumnus' Tribute To Miss Record

Pikeville, Ky., May 29 (Spl.) — Pikeville College and Academy alumni last Saturday paid unusual tribute to one of their number.

Miss Alice H. Record, Bluefield, W. Va., a member of the school's faculty for a total of 28 years before her retirement last June, became the first "Distinguished Alumnus" to be named by the Pikeville College Alumni Association. A resolution suggesting the creation of the honor, and proposing Miss Record for it, was presented by James Wine, Pikeville, vice-president of the organization, at the group's annual banquet, and it was adopted unanimously.

Miss Record and her father, the late Dr. James F. Record, were connected with the Pikeville school over a period of 56 years, starting when Dr. Record became the fourth president of tiny Pikeville Collegiate Institute in 1899. Mrs. W. E. Stone, alumni-association president, said. The relation was broken only by his furlough from 1912 to 1915 for reasons of health, and a six-year interval after Dr. Record's retirement in 1932.

From 1926 to 1933 Miss Record was professor of Latin at Centre College, Danville, and registrar of the Women's Division of Centre. She was an instructor at Pikeville from 1915 to 1926, then returned there in 1938 as registrar, a post she held until last year.

She now lives in Bluefield with her mother, Mrs. Margaret E. Record.

In 1955 the number of mines producing a million tons of bituminous coal, or more, rose to 85 from 49 in 1954.

Think of this next time you're in heavy traffic —
No other transmission is so smooth as Dynaflo*

You know how it is.

Anyone who drives a car these days must sometimes drive in crawling, slow-moving traffic where it's stop-and-go or spurt-and-slow.

And if you're used to a car that handles such traffic with a continuous series of upshifts and downshifts — even automatically — then maybe you think that's the best you can have.

But it isn't. You can have Dynaflo smoothness in a new Buick — and you won't believe the difference until you try stop-and-go traffic.

For here you have absolute smoothness when you accelerate.

Here you have absolute smoothness when you decelerate.

Here you have absolute smoothness under every road condition and traffic pace — with no lags or bumps to mark upshifts and downshifts — because no gears ever shift in Dynaflo.

It's the only transmission on the American scene today where flowing oil does the work of gears every step of the way — and where smoothness is constant, absolute and infinite.

So maybe you ought to sample a new Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflo — and try the new thrills that go with this smoothness —

The flash-fast new getaway response — and new stepped-up gas mileage — when you barely press the pedal.

The instant new full-power acceleration when you floor the pedal and switch the pitch for a needed safety-surge —

The walloping new might of the big new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine that puts the ginger to it all —

And the new ride, the new handling ease, the new interiors, the new bold look of racy sweep-ahead styling.

Drop in on us this week — today if you can — and see for yourself what straightforward truth we tell you here — and what great-buy prices are keeping Buick more firmly than ever in the top 3 of America's best sellers.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century — optional at modest extra cost on the Special.
