This Town— That World

WERE OFF—TROT OUT THE TRAVELER'S AID

Barring untoward events, we shall be off for a week by the time this gets into type. And I predict: We will take the wrong turn at Grundy, Va., if we take that route; if we take another, the take-off on the wrong tangent will occur at Kingsport. We will make not less than five stops to inquire where this road is heading. We will find at least one main road blocked to traffic because of flood or construction, or something, and while we're backtracking we will run out of gas or barely make it to a service station. And we'll be stopping so often on the insistent pleas of the two back-seat occupants for something to drink that a stranger following us would think I'm a drummer calling on the trade.

IT'S THEIR BABY

Every week for 30 years now, the day before publication day has been Desperation Day for me. So many things to do, so much news to be filled, so many live news-stories needed for that yawning Page One, so little time. . . I still can't understand why I haven't learned in all this time that it always gets done, somehow, and that there's no particular need for getting all unstrung. But I do. Well, this week Desperation Day will be for son Quentin and friend "Buck" Scalf. . . So I suppose I'll worry about their desperation.

COMBS MAKES FEE DEMAND

Magistrates Fees Case Results in Non-Payment Of Prestonsburg Firm

The fee system of Kentucky courts which was the subject of litigation in the state courts last year promises to continue with a suit by Prestonsburg attorneys to collect their fees for participation in the case, it was noted this week.

Counsel at Lexington for the Prestonsburg law firm of Combs & Combs notified the Magistrates and Commissioners Association of Kentucky that unless payment of the balanced of $2,075 of the promised fee was not paid legal action would be instituted to collect. Troy S. Eavage, Lexington attorney, represents former Appellate Judge Bert T. Combs, and Kilmer Combs, members of the firm here.

An opinion of the Court of Appeals delivered May, 1956, held magistrates in criminal cases was that the imposition of fees by unconstitutional. As a result of this ruling magistrates would have been prevented from receiving their compensation from court costs and fines collected.

However, the magistrates association employed Combs & Combs to go before the Court of Appeals to seek a rehearing or relief from immediate issuance of the court mandate. Combs and Combs argued the case before the Appellate Court soon afterwards. The judges refused any deviation from the

PARK PLANS ADVANCED BY CONSULTANT GROUP

BONDS ISSUE OF 3 MILLION RECOMMENDED

Dewey State Park Needs $55,960, Study Indicates; Added Revenue Envisioned

A master plan, costing $3,770,920, for expanding 14 Kentucky state parks, $55,960 being designated for Dewey Lake park, was recommended last week by a professional consulting firm. Hamner & Company Associates, of Louisville, has been studying the park situation for the state for several months.

"The three big parks would be strengthened in regard to both revenue production and revenue excess," the analysis said.

"The smaller State parks would change from a 16 per cent operating deficit to a 4 per cent excess of revenues over expenses."

"Small State park 'efficiency' in dollar terms would therefore increase by almost 25 per cent. The shrines and recreation areas (Dewey Lake and Pine Mountain) while still losing money, would be greatly strengthened in operating efficiency" it was added.

The selling of $3,188,420 worth of bonds would be used to finance the necessary improvements over a 15- or 20-year period at interest rate of 4 1/2 per cent.

The other $582,500 would be for roads and parking areas, financed by the Highway Department.

The added facilities would net enough revenue to retire the bonds, wipe out the present 2 percent operating deficit, and put both large and small State parks on a profitable financial basis, the 120-page report said.

"These bonds should be secured by an indenture against the gross revenues of the Division of Parks" it added.

In preparing estimates of projected income and operating expenses, the report said projections were based on three premises:

1. That revenues will increase 4 per cent per year for the first five years after the new facilities are added.

2. The facilities will reach

ANNUAL SHOW SET BY RECC

Entertainment Items Announced By Manager; Business Meet Slated

The annual meeting and electric farm show of the Big Sandy Rural Electric Cooperative will open Friday at Paintsville, it was announced by Oran Hinkle, manager of the organization. Preparations for the big show have been underway for several months.

"There will be a continuous flow of professional entertainment, contests, prizes and other activities beginning with registration for co-op members at 11:30 a.m., and continuing throughout the day and evening. The program is free and open to the public," Hinkle said.

Heading up the entertainment are Peter Rich, world-famed ventriloquist, and his wooden-headed friend, Oscar, and Duncan, the magician, will combine magic tricks and good clean comedy to the delight of everyone. Also on the bill are Lane and Lindell, adagio dancers, who have performed all over America. A dog show is also scheduled, as are many other items of entertainment.

Interest in the beauty contest, sponsored by G. E. Supply Co., Louisville, has been increasing as Farm Show time nears, Hinkle said. Last minute entries in this and the handicraft contest, sponsored by Dormeyer, and the talent contest can still be accepted, he noted.

An addition this year, and what promises to be a popular and profitable feature for some, is the appliance auction "jamboree". During this event co-op members will have the chance to buy name-brand electric appliances at auction. Sales will be handled through local dealers.

Co-op members will take care of business matters during the business meeting at 1:45 p.m.

"Revival Under Stars," Homecoming Is Planned By Baptist Church Here

The congregation of the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church of Prestonsburg is getting ready for a "revival under the stars" which is to be conducted on the church lawn each night of the week, July 21-28.

Closing day of the revival will also be recognized as Homecoming Day in recognition of the 50th anniversary of the organization of the church.

The revival services will be conducted by Evangelist Walter K. Price, of Danville, Kentucky. Evangelist Price, a dynamic, young preacher, has recently resigned the pastorate of the First Baptist church of Danville in order to devote his full time to revival work.

SEARCHES NET INTOXICANTS

Worker Impersonations Feature Maytown Raid; Moonshine, Autos Seized

There were few arrests for drunkenness through the holiday period but search of suspected bootleg premises in the county by deputy sheriffs yielded a bountiful crop of illegally possessed intoxicants, much of it moonshine.

Featuring raids last week and this week was the apprehension of Bill Hagans and Bill Allen near the new Maytown hydro-carbon plant. Deputies Joe Wheeler Lewis and Edgar Patrick dressed themselves in work clothes and with colored glasses and carrying dinner pails emerged from the plant with the workman. Hagans and Allen were parked near the bridge over Beaver Creek and a search of the car resulted in the confiscation of two cases of beer, several half-pints of whiskey. The auto was also confiscated.

Deputies Lewis, Martin and Reed on a routine patrol of Left Beaver last week stopped at Effort Reynold's place at Ligon, according to Sheriff Gorman Collins. They had previously searched

15,600 VISIT DEWEY, JULY 4

Visitations Are Highest On Record In Park Area, Reservoir Manager Says

Howard Osborne, Dewey reservoir manager, said that 15,600 persons visited Dewey Lake, July 4, to form what is believed to have been the largest gathering ever at this Eastern Kentucky scenic attraction in a single day.

The tally of visitors included campers, boaters, fisherman, picnickers and the throng bathing at the Stratton Branch recreation area of Dewey Lake State Park.

One of the most striking evidences of popularity of the lake was seen at German where approximately 3,000 persons gathered, Mr. Osborne said. The bottomland skirting the lake there was filled with small tents in which several hundred persons spent the night.

Despite the heavy lake traffic and the great number of swimmers

They Were So Kind Then— How Kind Are We Now?

Early last February, on the heels of the destructive flood that hit this area, the people of Prestonsburg and other communities of the valley were heartened, even amazed, by the spontaneous response from the great heart of America to their needs.

Other people were so very kind and good then. How kind and good are we now?

A few days ago, a part of Louisiana—a state which sent help into our valley when we needed help was visited by a hurricane and flood beside which our January flood was a mere "rise". Our losses, though grievous, were mere property losses, in the main. In Louisiana not only homes are gone—the lives of human beings are gone from these homes.

The bodies are still being recovered. The dead are still being buried. The living are finding the stench in that vast scene of destruction unbearable.

We may think we can, but we cannot imagine the horror and despair of these people.

They and others helped us in our time of need. Shall we simply remark, "How awful!" and dismiss the plight of these from our minds now?

Please, let us not have it said of us that we are ungrateful. Mere long-distance sympathy is no expression of gratitude in a time such as this. Money, food, clothing—so many things are needed.

Checks should be made to American Red Cross. Contributions may be mailed to Floyd Chapter, American Red Cross, Prestonsburg, or left at any bank in Floyd county.

CAMP OPENS AT FLAT GAP

Five-Day Program Slates Sports, Other Activities; Don Claypoole, Director

Camp Felner, serving the district 4-H Club members of Floyd, Johnson, Martin and Pike counties at Flat Gap, Johnson county, will open to receive approximately 125 club members and their leaders Monday. The camping period will extend through the following Friday, according to Robert M. Jones, county agent of Floyd county.

In attendance with the camping members will be three home demonstration agents, four county agents and many leaders. Approximately 40 club members will attend from this county, it was said.

"The many leaders scheduling attendance will insure adequate care of the boys and girls," County Agent Jones pointed out. "We expect to have one of the best camping weeks in a long time," he added.

Buses will transport the boys and girls to Flat Gap and back. One bus will leave Allen at 9 a.m., go to Harold and return, picking up the members along the way. Another bus will leave Allen at the same time, go up Left Beaver, across the mountain to

Little Aid For Cameron Given, Miss White Says; Pikeville Exceeds Quota

As of Wednesday a total of $61 had been contributed by citizens of Prestonsburg for the relief of hurricane stricken Cameron, La. Pikeville, like Prestonsburg, which was severely damaged by the January flood, had set a goal of $1 per person and was over the top with contributions of over $3,200.00.

Ella Noel White, Red Cross director here, said while no goal had been set in this county for aid to stricken Louisiana, it seemed reasonable that the sum of $1,000 should be raised. That would be about $1 per person for the number of 986 who received Red Cross assistance after the recent flood. The Red Cross spent $525,641.00 in Floyd county following the January flood.

See editorial, "They Were So Kind Then — How Kind Are We Now?"

"We should let our conscience be our guide," Miss White said. She noted that four Prestonsburg businessmen had contributed $60 and an elderly lady who suffered

Fireworks Display Ends Observance Festivities; Rev. McMillen Is Speaker

The fireworks display under the direction of the Prestonsburg Fire Department that closed the Independence Day celebration here Thursday of last week brought to an end a day of festivities that featured many traditional items of entertainment. Over 1,200 persons were in attendance, it was estimated.

James Wesley Howard acted as master of ceremonies for the fourth consecutive year and for the same length of time David Leslie steered the observance as chairman. The oration was delivered by Rev. Ira McMillen, Jr., pastor of the Irene Cole Memorial church here.

The Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club cut up and gave away to thirsty celebrants over 200 watermelons at the grade school building. Donations of free watermelon by the club has been its custom for several years.

Halbert Signs Ordinance Ousting State Police From Martin City Limits

The Kentucky Safety Department was notified Tuesday the city of Martin has withdrawn its permission for state police to operate there.

Mayor Denzil Halbert signed the formal notice, explaining only that the Martin City Council, July 1, revoked an ordinance that had authorized state troopers to make arrests in the city.

Clay, Ky., where state police were used during last fall's school-integration violence, took the same action last week.

Tubercular Miner Needs Rare Blood Type, At Once

An appeal was being broadcast by sound truck and radio this week for a rare type of blood, O-Negative, for a tubercular miner from Garrett who submitted to surgery at the Williamson (W.Va.) Miners Memorial hospital Friday. Buster Hicks, 48, and the father of seven children was suffering from repeated hemorrhages and blood donations are urgently needed, it was said.

Hicks has been suffering from tuberculosis for nine years and had his first surgery two months ago after being admitted to the Williamson institution.

Blood donations may be given at either the McDowell Memorial, Pikeville Memorial or the Williamson hospital, it was said. Donors are asked to specify that the blood is for the Williamson patient and it will be sent immediately to his doctors there, Mrs. Hicks advises.

ISOM STUMBO, VETERAN, DIES IN DEEP POOL

Lifeguard Not On Duty As Beach Was Closing For Day, Osborne Notes

Ison Stumbo, 37, McDowell miner, drowned in Dewey Lake at the Stratton Branch swimming beach Saturday evening after he stepped into deep water. One of his sisters, it was said was swimming with him at the time.

Witness said the beach had been closed a few minutes and the life-guard on duty had changed clothes and was waiting for friends at the bath house. Mrs. Ruth Stephens Stumbo, wife of the deceased man, called for help at 7:05 and pointed out the last place her husband was seen. Immediate efforts to find him were ineffective and Howard Osborne, the reservoir manager was notified.

Dragging operations were started at 7:50 and the body was recovered at 9:05 p.m. in about 20 feet of water. Artificial respiration was administered for 30 minutes but he failed to respond and was pronounced dead at 9:35.

SCHOOLS OPEN WITH CHANGE

Superintendent Says Fraley School Pupils To Attend At Home-Br.

Schools have been scheduled to start, Monday, July 22, in 96 rural districts, it was announced this week by County Superintendent V. O. Turner. Consolidated schools will open Tuesday, Sept. 3 but teachers of the latter schools will hold a meeting at Martin, Aug. 30 and Labor Day the following Monday will be observed as usual.

Approximately 70 teachers remain to be employed for the current school year, it was noted. Three hundred eighty-nine teachers were hired two weeks ago. It will be necessary to employ several emergency teachers but it is thought the number in the emergency category can be reduced this year.

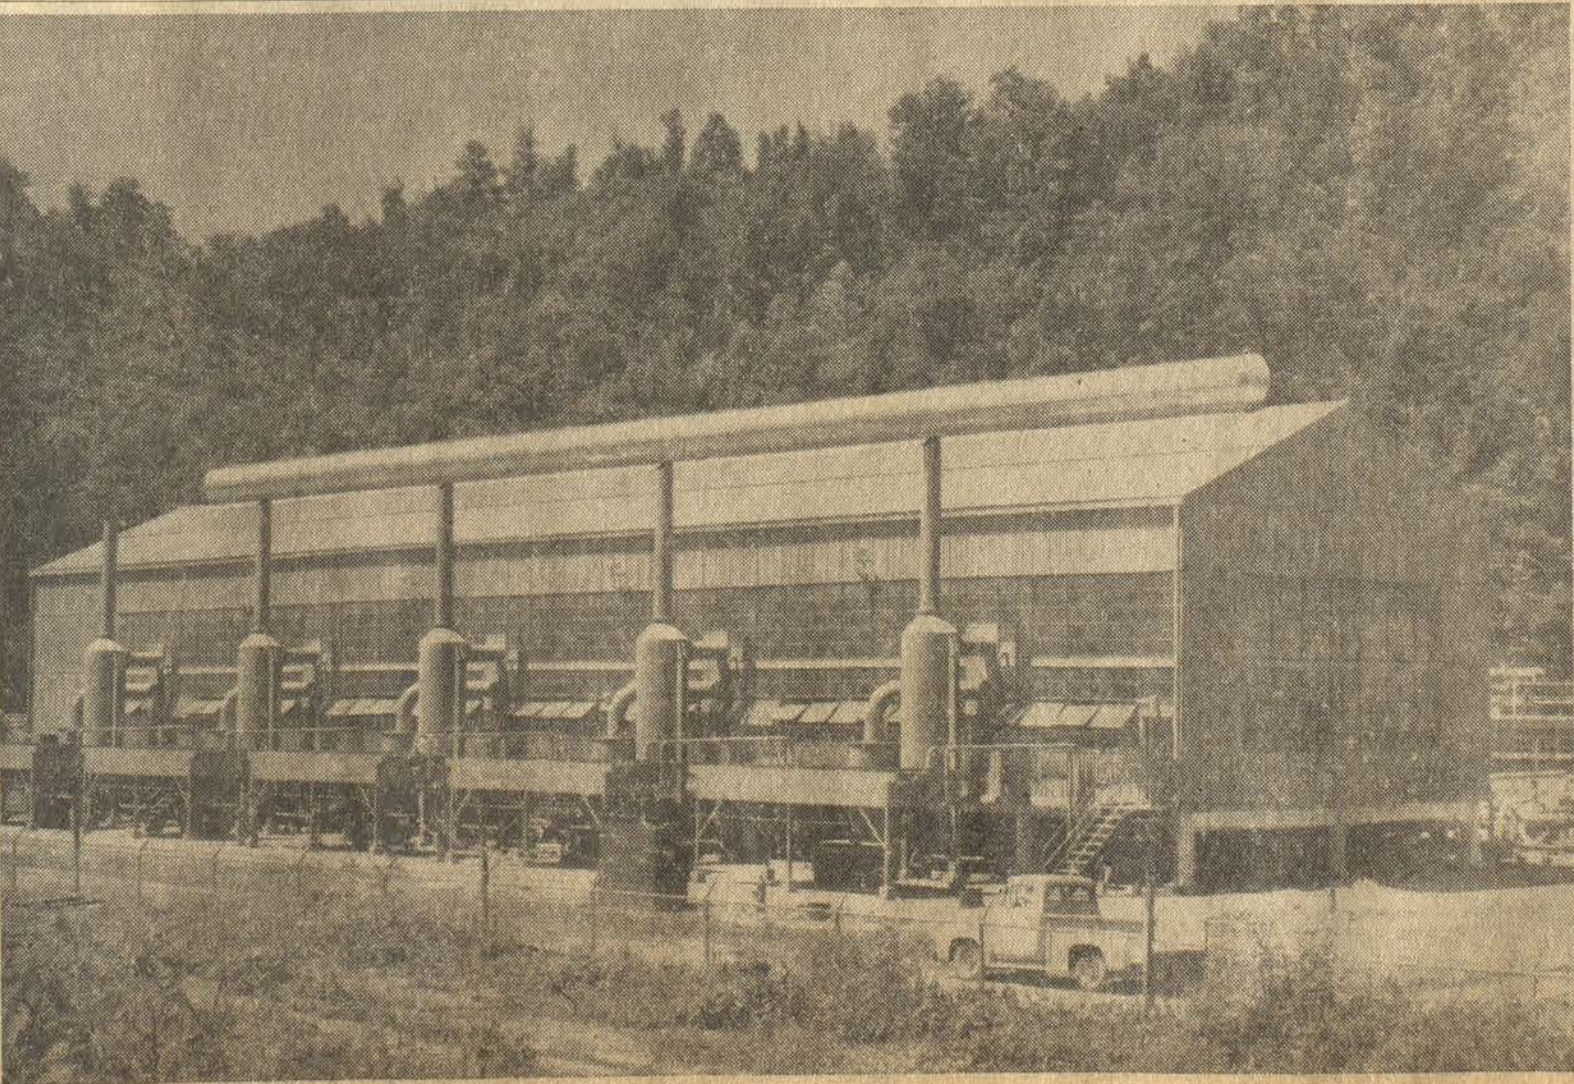

Nine more classrooms will be built as additions to existing structures in order to comply with the provisions of the Minimum Foundation Law, it was said. The Fraley school on Johns Creek which had dwindled to a few pupils will be abolished and the pupils transferred to the Home Branch school where an additional classroom will be built.

An extra classroom will be constructed at the Head of Branham's Creek school and to the three-room structure on Prater Creek. Two-room classrooms will be added to the Drift, Harold and Tinker Fork schools.

Turner urged all teachers who were not properly certified and who expect to start teaching July 22 to attend to the matter as soon as possible.

Time To Start Planning For Floyd County Fair, Wayne Ratliff Writes

The Floyd county fair was the subject of a letter from Wayne Ratliff, co-chairman of the general committee this week to members of the Fair Board. In it Ratliff reminded that much remained to be done to schedule a successful fair.

"The time is drawing near to get everything ready for the fair," Ratliff said. "As you already know, plans are to have a fair catalog this year. This requires a lot of time. There has already been a few ads sold, but not enough to get the job done. If the fair is to be a success this year, each member of the fair board will have to help with the selling of advertising."

"A meeting of the board will be held Thursday, July 11, at 7:30 p.m., at the Prestonsburg high school. We will need to take stock of where we are and make plans to get the rest of the job completed. If every member will attend, and help with the advertising, it will take some of the burden off a few, and the job will be easier for everyone," he added.

maximum revenue production in five years.

The state will continue to appropriate funds for park operations at the present level—$225,000 from the general funds plus park receipts.

The recommendations carried no provisions for improving the 10 other state parks, but one of these—Pine Mountain—was advised to close some of its operations as a means of improvement.

Kentucky Dam Village near Paducah would get the largest amount of money—$1,057,370—for construction of a 100-room motel-type building and other facilities.

The two other big parks—Cumberland Falls near Corbin and Kentucky Lake near Benton—would benefit from improvements totalling $586,750 and $331,500, respectively.

The Hammer report took seven months to complete. It was released jointly by Finance Commissioner James W. Martin and Conservation Commissioner Laban P. Jackson.

Martin said the two would make a joint statement on the report next week.

The professional study of Kentucky's parks program, biggest and most successful in the Southeast, was requested by the Department of Conservation on recommendations of Dr. Martin. The study was to cost no more than $16,500.

Jackson said last December three new State parks might result from the improvement program.

The report said the big parks, the principal sources of income, "should be protected and further developed, since they have already demonstrated their drawing power."

"The smaller parks should have more revenue-producing facilities to enable them to stand on their own feet without subsidization."

"Investment in facilities which are definite drains on the program might well be limited to absolute need."

"No new parks should be developed until the present program reaches an optimum degree of service, efficiency, and drawing power."

Besides Kentucky Dam Village, Kentucky Lake, Cumberland Falls, and Dewey Lake, the total amounts recommended for each park, are:

Audubon Memorial, near Henderson, $222,250; Carter Caves, near Ashland, $275,750; General Butler, near Carrollton, $132,000.

Lake Cumberland, near Jamestown, $334,500; Natural Bridge, near Stanton, $319,000; Pennyrite Forest, near Dawson Springs, $261,000; Columbus-Belmont, near Clinton, $140,000.

Levi Jackson, near London, $23,000; Lincoln Homestead, near Springfield, $8,400; Perryville Battlefield, $23,500.

Most of the recommendations were designed to improve food and lodging facilities, which account for two thirds of the total revenues. The only other large source of revenue is the sale of goods and souvenirs.

The report also emphasized the importance of swimming and recommended the charging of fees for use of these facilities at all parks.

ed the place and found whiskey which was willingly surrendered without presentation of a search warrant. This time the deputies were seeking only a soft drink, having no search warrant. They told Reynolds, they reported to Collins, to be as good as he was the last time and to bring out what he had to drink. Reynolds brought out nine half-pints of whiskey and gave them, apparently thinking they were going to search.

Other recent searches brought these results: Ernest Hunter, of Blue Moon, July 2, two gallons of moonshine and a car confiscated by deputies Joe Wheeler Lewis and John D. Martin; Emmett Vance, of Hi Hat, searched July 3 by Lewis, Patrick, Reed and Patton, seizing one-half gallon of moonshine and three half-pints of whiskey. He already had a case in Magistrate Edgar Howell's court, it was said. Vance was turned over to the United States Commissioner.

Dora Johnson, of Bypro, was raided June 28 and a quantity of beer, gin and whiskey was seized. Johnny Thornsby, of Melvin, was searched and 192 cans of beer taken. The Dewey Lake Association at Lancer was searched again, June 23, and a quantity of beer and whiskey confiscated. Ballard Moore, of Drift, was searched June 20 and 98 cans of beer seized as was Buddy Hall on Abner Fork, near Wheelwright, where 144 cans of beer were found. A moonshine still was located by Deputy Sheriff Kelly Frasure near Goodloe Monday but the owner has not yet been named.

PRIME TARGET

See by the papers that they plan to ring Cincinnati with Nikes as protection against enemy attack. According to the story, one oldtimer, back in World War II, had an idea his small town of a few hundred souls should be protected, somehow. Predicted, he did that "them Germans will bomb the daylight out of this place." Reminded that Hitler would not be interested in such a small speck on the map, he countered:

"I gosh, she's the county-seat, ain't she?"

SHORT, SHORT-STORY BY A SHORT GUY

It may be that our family has a budding fiction writer in our youngest—perhaps another Mickey Spillane (ugh!).

The other night, he hid himself off to the typewriter, and shortly thereafter turned up with this masterpiece:

THE DEAD FEMALE

My name is Sizmo Sleeny. I'm a cop. I look for na ughty men like Rat Marsterson tha s who I'm after. Well one fine day us cops was riding in our squa d car tell a ma n started throwing ha ngrrrrauh nitro at us. But there wa s a girl with us and she sa id that he was handsome. original opinion but did delay the issuance of the mandate implementing the decision until the General Assembly meets in January, 1958, at which time it would have an opportunity to pass any needed legislation.

Combs & Combs point out that the firm is but seeking the collection of an attorney fee properly due it. Some of the members of the magistrates group have paid their assessment to the organization's officers, it was said.

The letter from Troy Savage said in part, "it seems the easiest way to handle this is for the group to designate some one of the members to collect an additional $100 from each of the group and pay Mr. Combs. We cannot accept the payments piecemeal, because of the rule that a release of one of several persons jointly bound is a release of all . . ."

It added five of the persons named had indicated a willingness to pay $100.

The letter said a reasonable time would be allowed before suit is brought.

great damage in the flood had volunteered the $1 contribution.

"That woman's contribution recalled the story of the widow's mite," Miss White said. "The trouble seems to be that there are not enough people like her."

Miss White noted the recent successful drive of the Red Cross in Floyd county to reach its goal for the first time since World War II. She recalled, too, that this county raised $42,000 in one of the war years, with coal miners contributing a day's work each.

Cameron wired its thanks for assistance to Jack Mandt, chairman of the Pikeville-for-Cameron Relief committee.

"In view of your own disaster this humanitarian gesture is greatly appreciated, the telegram said. "We thank you from the bottom of our hearts."

Paintsville was making some effort to raise contributions for Cameron, it was said this week, but to what extent it was not learned.

WRONG NUMBER

La Mesa, Calif.—For four days in a row, a medical secretary telephoned the number a delinquent patient had listed as his home number. She got no answer. On the fifth day, she hung on and soon came the noise of sirens and a breathless voice answered the phone.

The secretary had been dialing an unlisted number known only to the nearby El Cajon Fire Department and the La Mesa State Forestry Station—which trips an automatic alarm calling out a volunteer fire department.

Kentucky Has Exact Replica Of Liberty Bell

By Charles F. Hinds
Secretary-Treasurer, Kentucky Historical Society

Frankfort, July 8 (Spl.) — At the conclusion of a war bond drive, May 15-July 4, 1950, Kentucky received from the U. S. Treasury Department an exact replica of the Liberty Bell. The original hangs in the tower of Independence Hall, Philadelphia.

The replica, one of 53 donated to the United States by the French iron and bronze industries, was brought into the front hall of the Old State House in Frankfort with great difficulty. It measures 7 feet and 6 inches in circumference around the crown and 12 feet around the lip and weighs about 2,000 lbs. It is suspended under a thick wooden yoke supported by iron uprights. The bell rests for safety upon two horizontal iron bars.

Three assumptions about the original do not stand the test of historical criticism:

(1) That it was rung on July 4, 1776, (2) that it was rung so hard that it cracked, and (3) that it was known very early as the Liberty Bell.

In 1750, the Philadelphia Assembly authorized erection of a bell in its state house tower. The bell, ordered from England, was defective and was recast by John Pas and Charles Stow, Jr., Philadelphia. They added their names and reversed the order of lines which appeared originally around the crown. "By order of the Assembly of the Province of Pennsylvania for the State House in Philadelphia" and "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land to all the inhabitants thereof. Lev. XXV:10."

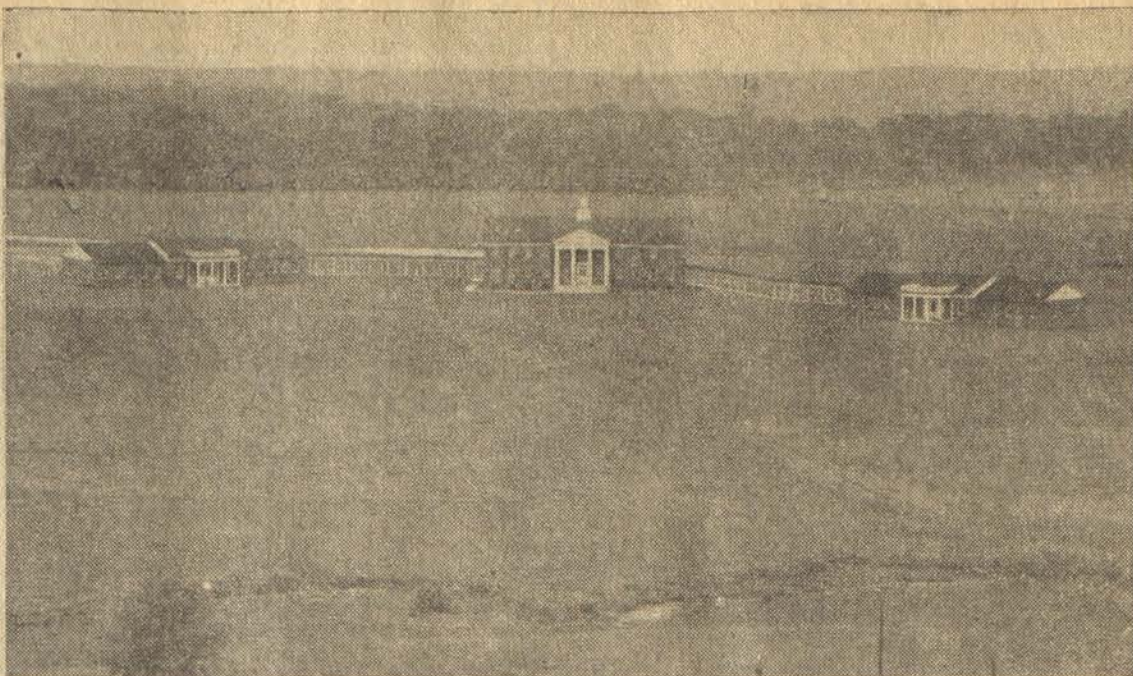

The bell was first officially rung Aug. 27, 1753, to convene the Assembly. It was rung July 8, 1763, at the end of the French and Indian War and figured in events following the Stamp Act of 1765.

PINE CREST, CHILDREN'S HOME NEAR MOREHEAD, IS DEDICATED

Dedication services for Pine Crest, Kentucky Baptists' newest children home, which was built, equipped, and furnished at a cost of $400,000 were held at Morehead, Kentucky at 2:00 p.m. (Central Daylight Time) Tuesday, with Joseph Stopher, president of the Kentucky Baptist Board of Child Care, presiding. The new home is located on Kentucky 32 (Flemingsburg Road) two miles north of Morehead.

The Rev. Harold Waincott, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Pikeville, delivered the dedicatory address. Others who participated in the dedication included Rev. M. L. Ader, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Olive Hill, Rev. J. C. Raikes, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Morehead, Dr. W. C. Boone, executive secretary-treasurer of the General Association of Baptists in Kentucky.

The Goodridge Cottage chorus, a group of 18 girls from Spring Meadows, another Kentucky Baptist Home for children at Middletown, sang several numbers during the service. All the buildings at Pine Crest were opened for inspection, both before and after the dedication.

There are 29 children residing at Pine Crest, the home having admitted the first children on January 21. At present Pine Crest has a capacity of 50. It is expected to be completely full by September, according to Sam Ed Bradley, superintendent of Pine Crest as well as the parent Home, Spring Meadows at Middletown. Mrs. Virginia R. Fields, who was assistant superintendent at Spring Meadows from 1944 to 1956, is the resident director of the new home.

The school plant includes a large administration building, which houses the offices, library, central kitchen and dining room, clinic and 16 bed infirmary as well as living quarters for the resident director and six staff members, and two cottages, one for boys and one for girls. Six additional cottages are expected to be added later which would increase the capacity of the home to approximately 200.

Kentucky Baptists operate two other Homes for children; Spring

Meadows at Middletown which was founded in 1869 and Glen Dale while was established at Glendale in 1915. Each of these homes care for more than 200 children. All three homes are governed by the Kentucky Baptist Board of Child Care.

Thomas Advises War Orphans On College Aid

Frankfort, July 7 — Now is the time for young persons to take action if they plan to enroll in school or college this fall under the War Orphans Education program, Director R. R. Thomas of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board advises.

The program is for sons and daughters of war veterans who died of injuries or diseases resulting from their military service in World War I, World War II, or the Korean conflict. Generally, war orphan students must be between 18 and 23 years of age.

It will be better to arrange admittance now for these two reasons. Thomas said: First, students will have plenty of time to select the college of their choice. Many colleges are now crowded and delay in applying may result in not being able to enter the desired school. Second, a month or more is required for the Veterans Administration to process and approve an application for schooling.

War Orphan students may receive up to 36 months of schooling, generally in institutions of higher learning. They are paid up to $110 a month for each month in school.

In addition to the educational benefits provided by the Veterans Administration for war orphans, students who attend colleges or universities supported by the state of Kentucky are entitled to certain benefits provided by the Commonwealth.

Representatives of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board will assist war orphans in applying for these benefits.

Capitol Notebook

Frankfort, July 8 (Spl.) — "Farming is reported to be one of the most hazardous of occupations," says State Agriculture Commissioner Ben Butler.

The State Health Department reports that in 1955 Kentucky had 79 farm fatalities and 2,086 accidents.

"Careless use of farm machinery," Butler says, "presents the number one hazard—representing 38 per cent of all accidents."

Twenty-five per cent of all fatal farm accidents involve youths under 19, Butler points out. He adds:

"I urge that we develop a set of safety rules for our farms and see that each member of our family, as well as our employees, adopt them."

All this in the interest of Farm Safety Week, July 21-27.

I recall "grave houses" which Kentucky mountain folk erected over and around graves of their relatives. The shelters were generally log and clapboard.—L. G. Kingsport, Tenn.

RAIN CHECKS NOT NEEDED

"WILDERNESS ROAD," the outdoor play at Berea, has been rained out only three times in 115 performances. Actually, there were 23 rainy days (not evenings) during the drama season last year. But this did not stop the performance, which does not begin until 8:15 (CDT) in the evening.

DIRECTOR HONORED

Speaking of "Wilderness Road," its director, Samuel Selden, was presented a Kentucky Colonel's commission after the play's opening 1957 performance by Conservation Commissioner Laban Jackson, in behalf of Gov. A. B. Chandler.

ALERT OFFICER

By advertising that he had two Piranha—South American man-eating fish—on display, a Frankfort man has learned how alert is Frank Phipps, enforcement officer for the State Fish & Wildlife Resources Department.

The advertiser was visited by Phipps and warned that the deadly fish are prohibited in Kentucky, even for display in aquariums.

Phipps explained that the fish possibly could infest Kentucky's fishing streams and lakes, destroy other fish and become a hazard to persons and animals that ventured into the waters.

He is a former Lawrence County attorney.
Attorney See presided as Special Judge here recently in the injunction hearing on the question of the validity of absentee ballots cast in the Democratic County Court Clerk's race.

HAMMON FAMILY

Over a year ago Frances Landreith, Four Olmi Landreith Drive, Alexandria, Virginia, visited Paintsville and Prestonsburg to do research on her Hammon family. She was particularly interested in Jilson P. Hammon and his ancestry.
The Hammon family was one of Floyd county's earliest settlers, coming here to help found Harman's station, near the mouth of Johns Creek, with Matthias Harman in 1791.

Quoting from a story on the Hammon family in the Licking Valley Courier (West Liberty, Ky.) by Georgia Franklin Taylor, date of article unavailable; "John Hammon... was seven years old when he came to Kentucky (in 1791). He was born in 1784. We know the date of his birth from the census report of Morgan county for 1850 which gives his age as 66 and shows that he was born in Virginia. John was the son of Philip Hammon of Albemarle county, Virginia. Philip Hammon fought in the Revolution and his father was William Hammon. John Hammon married Margaret Evans who was born in Morgantown, Pennsylvania, daughter of Thomas and Catherine Evans. (The article errs here for Morgantown is in West Virginia, was Virginia then. HPS.) The 1850 census of Morgan county gives Margaret's age as 62. She died in Morgan county in 1855. The tax list of 1789 shows Thos. Evans living in Fayette county."

"John Hammon and Margaret Evans were married in 1803 or 1804. No record of their marriage has been found since most of the Floyd county records up to 1808 were destroyed when the courthouse burned at that date. Their first child Mary (Polly) was born in 1805.

"John Hammon was sworn in as magistrate in 1808. He moved to what later became Morgan county in 1809. The following is from the minute books of the South Fork church at Malone, Morgan county, Kentucky.
"Second Saturday June 1809. Church met. After singing and prayer Bro. William Wells, moderator, and proceeded to business. Bro. John and Sister Nan McGuire received by letter. Sister Sary Lacy received by letter. Brother John and Margot Hammon received by letter."
"In 1822 when Morgan county was formed from parts of Floyd and Bath counties John Hammon was one of the twelve magistrates appointed by Gov. Adair for the new county."

"The 1850 Morgan county census shows that he was the second largest landowner in the county at that time. His real estate was valued at $4,000.00. He was also a slave holder. When he died in 1854 he left no will and consequently the settlement of his estate was a long drawn out affair.
"John and Margaret Hammon had seven children. Mary (Polly), born 1805, married a Lumpkin; James Hammons, born 1806; Jilson Hammon, born 1808; Eliza Hammon born 1811; Wiley Hammon, a daughter who married A. Prater; Andrew I. Hammon, born 1819.

Census to Collect Facts On Multiple Job-Holders
Special questions, designed to provide information on the number of persons who have more than one job, will be asked in the July Current Population Survey, according to Supervisor Robert A. Yerkey of the Census Bureau's regional field office at Cincinnati, Ohio which will participate in the survey.

Similar questions asked in the Current Population Survey last year revealed that an estimated 3.7 million persons, or about one in 18 of all employed persons, held more than one job during the week of July 8-14, 1956, the period covered by the survey. The group designated as multiple job-holders include wage and salary workers with more than one employer during the survey week, as well as persons on the payroll of an employer and also self-employed or working without pay in a family enterprise.
An estimated one million persons held both farm and nonfarm jobs concurrently, the survey showed. About three in five of this group had a primary job in nonfarm work. Most of the remainder were self-employed farmers with a secondary job off the farm. Extra jobs held by farm wage workers usually were other paid farm jobs.

The special questions on secondary jobs will be in addition to the regular monthly inquiries on employment and unemployment. Current Population Survey information will be collected locally during the week of July 15 by Mrs. Wilma Taulbee, of Malone, Ky.

OWENS WINS BY 128,323

Defeats June L. Suter In Seven Out of Eight Congressional Districts

Frankfort, Ky., July 10 — Miss Doris Owens, Wickliffe, won the Democratic nomination for clerk of the Court of Appeals by a majority of 128,323 votes in the May 28 primary.

She defeated Chandler-backed June L. Suter, Warsaw, by an official count of 258,769 to 130,446. She will oppose Republican Charles Malcolm Greene, Corbin, in November. He had no opposition at the primary.

Miss Owens has been serving as interim clerk since January 14, four days after the death of Charles K. O'Connell. She was appointed to the post by the court.

A controversy followed between the high court and Governor Chandler over which of them had the power to appoint a clerk.

In a precedent-breaking ruling, the court declared it alone could name a clerk until the voters could fill the vacancy. Chandler, on the advice of his attorneys, dropped the matter, and announced he would try to unseat Miss Owens by nominating and electing Suter to the post.

Miss Owens defeated Suter in 89 counties, Suter defeated Miss Owens in 29 counties, and the two candidates tied in two counties.

Miss Owens carried seven of the eight Congressional districts. Suter won only in the heavily Republican Eighth District and there by a majority of only 2,560 votes.

The official vote by districts:

Districts	Owens	Suter
First	52,004	16,741
Second	40,473	21,533
Third	23,150	3,938
Fourth	36,364	20,327
Fifth	33,045	18,477
Sixth	40,103	22,167
Seventh	25,678	16,747
Eighth	7,925	10,512

State Has New Forestry Head

Frankfort, July 8 (Spl.)—Gene L. Butcher, Georgetown, is the new acting director of the State Division of Forestry.

Butcher is acting in place of Harrod Newland who has been assigned special forestry duties in the Department of Conservation, Commissioner Laban Jackson said.

Butcher, a native of Bath county, received a master's degree in forestry at Duke University. For the past 16 years, he has been engaged with the division, except for time in the Armed Forces. He served in the Marine Corps in World War II and in the Korean emergency and was released from active duty as captain of the Marines.

Previous to experience with the division, he was on the staff of forest management at Duke. Butcher is married to the former Emily Hall of Georgetown. They have two children, Gene, Jr., 7, and Millicent Ann, 3.

Butcher is married to the former Emily Hall of Georgetown. They have two children, Gene, Jr., 7, and Millicent Ann, 3. Jackson said the reorganization of the division with Butcher actively administering the agency and Newland heading an extensive program "should result in much more effective and highly expanded effort on the part of the Commonwealth to let Kentucky realize the true potential of its forests."

Telephone Talk

by
H. D. HAYES
Your Telephone Manager

ALICE IN ALASKALAND—"White Alice" is the name of a defense communications system telephone folks are setting up in faraway Alaska for the Alaskan Air Command. For the first time, huge antennas will send and receive radio-telephone messages over 150 miles, bouncing them off a layer of air seven miles up. The first links are already in service. When completed, White Alice will help our defense forces spot enemy aircraft quicker, and will also bring telephone service to remote Alaskan areas. Telephone folks working on this top-o-the-world project are part of the same team that keeps your phone ringing right here in town and makes it possible for you to keep in touch with almost anyone, anywhere, any time.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY—Form the thrifty habit of calling station-to-station whenever you call Long Distance.

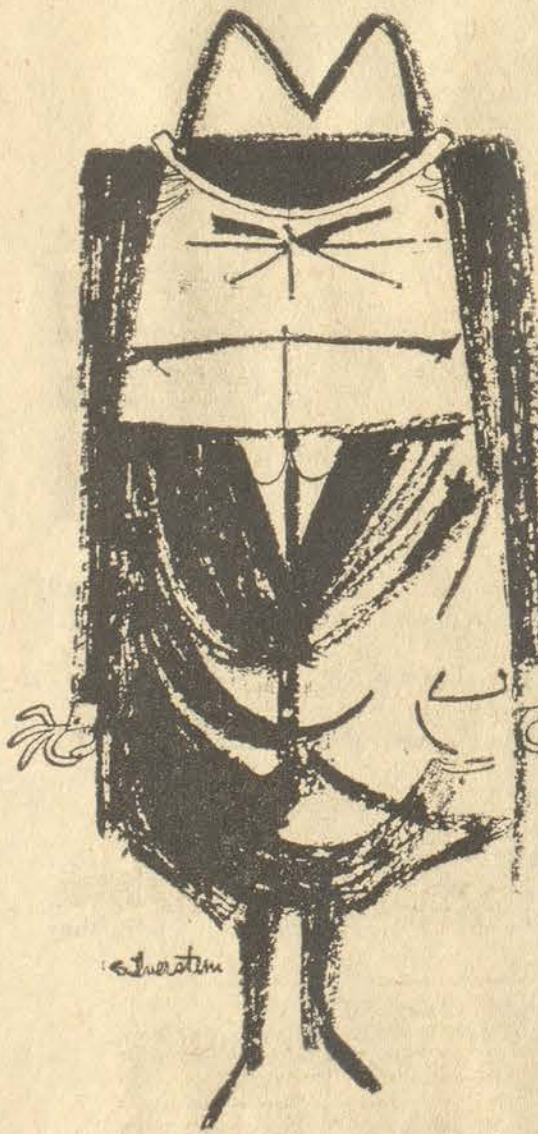

SAVE UP TO

This is the way to save up to 1/2 the cost of person-to-person calls. Most folks find that station-to-station calling usually meets their needs. That's when you call a telephone number instead of a particular person at the number.

Look how you save: You can call from Prestonsburg to Louisville station-to-station for just 70c; the person-to-person rate is $1.40. Besides this hefty saving, you get special values when you call station-to-station during Bargain Hours between cities in Kentucky — nights after 6 and all day Sundays. Then you can talk four minutes for the price of two. Why not call somebody today?

A FEW PENNIES a day will provide you with the smart convenience of extra telephones—in your choice of colors—in your kitchen, bedroom or den—wherever you need them most.

An angry man is Sylvester T. Bly,
Who today was sold a piece of "blue sky."
He'd stepped in a showroom—out of the rain,
Was sold a new car before he could explain!
How he hated the styling—so high and square
And in new features it was really bare.
"I got a real bargain—the buy of my life—
But how do I ever convince my own wife?"

Moral: You're paying for a new car... make sure you get one!

When you buy a new car, put your money on tomorrow—not yesterday. Swept-Wing Dodge actually obsoletes other cars in its field. Should you invest in high, boxy styling when Dodge offers the low, low look of tomorrow? Should you invest in outmoded coil springs when Dodge offers new Torsion-Aire Ride? Should you invest in an old-fashioned lever-type transmission when Dodge offers the ease of Push-Button Driving? In other things, too—engines, brakes, interiors—Dodge is years ahead. So put your money on tomorrow. See your Dodge dealer. Join the swing to the Swept-Wing Dodge!

COAL MOVES ABROAD IN EXPANDING VOLUME

New York, July 4 — Coal exports for the first five months of 1957 have run at a rate of around 60 million tons for a full year, John S. Routh, president of the Coal Exporters Association of the U. S., Inc., said recently.

Mr. Routh, Chairman of the Board of Routh Coal Export Corp., presided at a meeting of the Association's board of directors, the first to be held since his election as president at the annual meeting of the Association earlier this month.

"On the basis of the first five months' performance, the general outlook is for 1957 to be one of the best, if not the best year in history," Mr. Routh stated.

"Shipments from the United States since the start of this year," he said, "have been at a record-breaking rate of around 5,000,000 tons a month, in response to continued post-war economic expansion abroad, especially in Western Europe.

"If shipping rates are kept at a reasonable level, then coal will continue to move abroad in substantial volume. There has been some reduction in these rates since the first of the year, and if we can avoid any new crisis comparable to the Suez Canal closing, rates should stabilize at the lower, more reasonable levels."

In the first five months of 1957 a total of 25,851,127 tons of bituminous and anthracite coal has moved abroad, exclusive of shipments to Canada, compared with 18,284,741 tons in the first five months of last year.

Total coal tonnage exported in 1956 was more than 51,000,000 tons, including more than 47,000,000 tons of bituminous, making last year the best on record for coal exports.

New Regulation Now Effective

Frankfort, July 8 (Spl.) — All cattle being returned from stockyards or public sales barns and auctions or contagious diseases, acting State veterinarian, Dr. Robert H. Singer, has reminded the Kentucky livestock industry.

Dr. Singer was referring to a recent regulation adopted by the State Board of Agriculture that requires blood testing and health inspection of all cattle being purchased for return to the farm. Animals bought for immediate slaughter and spayed heifers and steers are exempted from this regulation.

Also exempted are officially vaccinated calves (calves between the ages of four through eight months) that have been vaccinated with Strain 19 Brucella abortus vaccine by an accredited veterinarian and cattle from certified brucellosis-free herds. Another category of cattle excluded from the test are officially vaccinated animals under 30 months of age when accompanied by a vaccination certificate.

All cattle which were condemned on the test for brucellosis are branded and ordered to be sold for immediate slaughter.

Each Kentucky stockyards must make available an accredited veterinarian to do this inspection and blood testing work on sales days.

English poet Lord Byron sang of Daniel Boone and referred to him in the long open "Don Juan" as "General Boone, back-woodsman of Kentucky."

FARM NOTES

By ROBERT M. JONES
County Agricultural Extension Agent

After a three-week stay in Lexington, it is good to be back in Floyd county. I've completed a short course in Agriculture Cooperatives. This way of doing business is increasing in popularity among farm people. With the increase in prices of farm supplies and decrease of some farm products, farmers are looking for ways of reducing costs. Cooperatives are operated on cost basis. That doesn't mean that there is no cost in their operation, but that the business operates without a profit to itself.

SIDE-DRESS CORN

Most of the corn in the county is looking good. The rainfall and warm weather we have been having have made ideal growing conditions. The vigorous growth of the corn is taking a large amount of plant food from the soil. Within the near future there probably will be signs of plant food deficiency showing up. The corn plant itself will tell you which plant food is lacking.

Nitrogen deficiency turns leaves a light green to yellow, beginning along the mid-vein in the lower leaves, progressing up the stalk. We usually call this "firing."

A lack of potash will cause yellowing along the edge of the leaves.

A short supply of phosphorous will cause the leaves to turn purple.

Unless a large amount of nitrogen was applied at planting time, it will pay to side-dress with a nitrogen fertilizer now.

To side-dress apply 100-200 lbs. of an ammonium nitrate per acre. Scatter the fertilizer in the balk, then cultivate it in.

PEACH TREE BORER

Many of the peach trees are showing damage from the peach borer. These insect bore into the trunk of the tree, and causes the tree to produce a gummy substance. To control this insect, spray the tree trunks now, again the first of August and first of September with 50 percent DDT at the rate of six pounds in 100 gallons of water.

LAWN CARE

Most grasses are now approaching their dormant period. This will cause the weeds and wild grasses to grow that much more. The lawn will need to be clipped often enough to keep it even and to keep the weeds from going to seed. The weeds can also be controlled by using chemicals and digging up the individual plants.

Watering at this time of the year will only cause the weeds and grass to grow. The lawn grasses are dormant now and will not grow much before fall. Only the shaded area that is free of weeds should be watered through the hot summer months.

BULBS

Jonquil and tulip bulbs can be dug now if the tops have completely died down. The entire clump should be lifted and left to dry ten days in a shade. Then the dirt should be removed and stored in a cool, dry place until late September or October and then separated and planted.

TEAR ANALYSIS IS LIKELY

89 PER CENT OF STEEL IS OPEN-HEARTH TYPE

Chicago—The first commercial successful open-hearth steel furnace in the United States was built in 1870. This process permitted not only mass production but quality control in steelmaking. Its rise to importance was rapid. By 1908 open-hearth production exceeded Bessemer-steel output for the first time. In 1956 the open-hearth method supplied about 89 per cent of the nation's steel.

SCIENTIFIC PERSONNEL LACK IS ACUTE, EDUCATOR THINKS

Education in Kentucky and in the United States have become increasingly disturbed in recent years over the apparent lack of skilled science personnel for the needs of industry and research.

We are living today in an age that has exerted tremendous demands for young people trained for science careers. These demands are reflected in critical shortages of skilled personnel in science and mathematics, but this is not an evidence of failure on the part of the public schools. On the contrary, according to a report of the Sub-committee on Research and Development of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, serious shortages of trained science personnel are an indication of the "startling successes" of public education in the area of science teaching.

This report states that schools have done an excellent job for preparing skilled talent for the needs of science. The real problem as pointed out by Mr. John R. Meyer, Director of Science Teaching Improvement for the American Association for the Advancement of Science, is to focus new attention on science education if we are to continue to supply these people. In other words, the demand for young people trained for science careers has far outreached the ability of the public schools to supply them.

As these demands increased, many good science teachers have been attracted to better paying jobs in science fields which has resulted in still a further need to concentrate on the improvement of science instruction in the public schools.

Recognizing the nature of this problem, the State Board of Education has authorized me to appoint a Science Study Committee composed of prominent lay and professional people to assist the Department of Education in studying ways for effecting overall improvements in science instruction in our public schools.

In addition to the naming of this committee, and closely related to its function, the National Science Foundation has awarded the State of Kentucky $9,000.00 for the purpose of conducting regional workshops in science teaching improvement at the State Colleges. These funds will make it possible for forty elementary and secondary teachers to attend each of five such workshops and these will culminate in a science teaching summer institute to be held on the campus of the University of Kentucky.

The proposed program of regional workshops will be under the direction of the Division of Teacher Education and Certification, Department of Education, and will be conducted by In-Service consultants located on the State College Campuses. The grant was made to Kentucky by the National Science Foundation in recognition of significant progress in efforts to improve the quality of science teaching in our schools. The proposal submitted to the Foundation for the grant was the product of planning by the Kentucky Science Teachers' Association, the Council on Public Higher Education, and the Department of Education.

Keep Check on Dates Of Expected Freshenings, Extension Service Advises

By a closer check on expected freshening dates of dairy animals, more calves may be saved and other difficulties avoided, says the Kentucky Agriculture Extension Service dairy department.

"It is not easy to determine the exact date a cow will freshen," says Garland Bastin, specialist. "But numerous studies have been made on the subject and it is now possible to predict the date of calving with more accuracy than by using gestation charts usually based on a gestation period of 283 days."

Separate the cow from the rest of the herd during freshening and have an attendant nearby in case difficult calving occurs. It is also important to know when to turn the cow dry for the proper rest her body reserves, and proper period; usually 6 to 8 weeks are required for the cow to rebuild feeding in this dry period is important.

There are breed differences in length of gestation periods. Brown Swiss are about 290 days, Guernseys average 283 days, and Ayrshire, Holsteins and Jerseys, about 279 days. A high percentage of cows will freshen within five days of the average for their respective breeds, Bastin notes; three-year-old cows carry their calves about a day less than the breed average, and two-year-olds, about two days less. Twins usually are dropped about four to five days earlier than the breed average.

HEALTH NOTES

Now that summer is really here to stay for a while, it is high time for us to fight the local fly problem, according to M. V. Clark, administrator for the Floyd County Health Department. Flies are a considerable menace to health, being carriers of various diseases, including typhoid and dysentery. Flies breed and feed in filth and garbage. Their hairy legs and bodies help them carry germs to the food on your table.

The best way to get rid of flies is to prevent them from breeding. To do this you should—

Wrap garbage before putting into garbage cans to prevent its spilling.

Make sure the cans do not leak.

Cover tightly all garbage cans and place on racks to keep dogs from knocking them over.

Cover compost heaps, or spray them over with earth.

Spray open privies and sewers; cover them if possible.

Bury dog droppings.

Spray fields fertilized with animal manure.

Wrap tightly or bury discarded food.

You may still be bothered by flies even after clean-up measures are taken. In addition to removing the above breeding places, spraying window screens and doorways with DDT will help keep down flies. But screening and spraying alone will not get rid of flies. A successful fly control program is based on good sanitation.

DODGE outpulls
"other two" low-priced trucks!

Here's the scientific way to measure the actual pulling power a truck can deliver to its rear wheels. All three low-priced trucks were hooked up, one by one, to a special dynamometer truck. Each was comparably equipped and test-loaded.

Super-sensitive gauges inside the dynamometer truck register the maximum pull of each truck at 10 m.p.h. Insets in photos above show actual gauge readings in each case. To convert these readings into pounds, simply multiply them by three.

The results are conclusive evidence that Dodge Power Giants give you a third more pulling power than either of the "other two" low-priced makes. And this is just one of a series of tests that prove Dodge is the best truck of the low-priced three.

Kentuckian Discovered Process, Bessemer Reaped Fame, Fortune

Frankfort, July 8 (Spl.) —The steel industry celebrates its 100th anniversary this year. Much of the credit goes to William Kelly, of Eddyville, whose process opened the door to the modern age of steel.

Kelly was first to discover the method of producing large quantities of steel economically. His process was to blow cold air through molten iron, producing a hot flame which burned out the impurities.

Although Kelly was first to discover the process, another man, Henry Bessemer, of England, reaped the fame and fortune. Neither man knew of the other's work but each developed the same process.

Bessemer's greater business insight gets the credit for his success. While Kelly went about his work quietly, Bessemer obtained patents in the United States and England and told other steelmakers about his work. This method of making steel soon became known as the "Bessemer Process."

When Kelly heard of Bessemer's American patent, he filed a claim to priority of invention. Kelly was granted a patent in 1857. Kelly's patent was renewed in 1870 while Bessemer's was rejected by the U. S. Patent Office.

RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION

Railway building half a century ago was accomplished with mule or horse-drawn vehicles, graders and "dirt scoops." The drilling of holes in rock in which explosives were placed to blast down the road bed was done by hand. Labor was cheap, most workmen making $1.50 for ten hours but the work was welcomed by Big Sandians as it was the first steady industrial job to employ labor on a large scale.

Shown here is the grading of the C. & O. railway bed and the laying of the rails opposite Prestonsburg in 1902. Hi Harris, Prestonsburg businessman and one of the founders of the First National Bank, is standing fourth from the right. He was one of the contractors on the road.

Two years after the railway entered Floyd County The First National Bank was founded. The changes wrought by the railway, a new bank, stores and other businesses, aided materially in the growth of Floyd county.
