This Town— That World

OPPOSITE INTERESTS

While the SPCA and dog-lovers everywhere were protesting the Russians' cruelty in sending along as a passenger a dog in Sputnik No. 2, one old grouch wondered how the fleas were getting along, up that high on a dog's back.

We hereabouts are a benighted people. Not a report of a flying saucer or other visitor from outer space has been hatched up here since the Sputniks began buzzing us.

SO THEY WERE MARRIED

One of the clippings uncovered—or is the word "excavated"?—on this desk says that the size of farms in Minnesota is increasing. Which reminds us of the story about the Texan who fell in love with a New York model.

The gal wasn't exactly a gold-digger, but she had more than a passing interest in the Texan's financial status.

"You own a few oil wells, I suppose," she ventured.

"Nope."

"Then where is your ranch located?"

"Don't own a ranch."

"But you must own some land—how much?"

"Oh, about 35 acres."

"This did not sound so encouraging, but the girl persisted: 'Where are your 35 acres?'"

"In downtown Dallas," the Texan replied.

HOW TO CATCH FISH

Don't know how we missed this one this long, but our first knowledge of the incident comes from "Happy Hunting Ground," the excellent bi-monthly publication.

AUTO FATALLY INJURES MAN

Merida Griffith, leaving Church, hit by vehicle driven by Freeman Duff

Merida Griffith, 76, of Estill, died within a few minutes after having been hit by an automobile Friday evening while leaving the Freewill Baptist church there. The accident occurred following church services when he walked onto the highway.

Griffith, a retired miner, was knocked several feet, it was said, by an automobile driven by Freeman Duff, of Hueysville. Although he was rushed to a Martin hospital he was found dead on arrival. Investigation was made of the accident by State police, but no charges were filed against the driver of the death car.

Mr. Griffith was first married to Della Thomas Griffith who preceded him in death several years ago. Surviving this union is a daughter, Mrs. Gladys Daniels, of Ashland. His second wife, Mrs. Alice Bird Griffith also died some time ago. Of this marriage two daughters, Mrs. Virginia Rupp and Mrs. Madeline Woodall, both of Estill, survive. Surviving also is a brother, Isaac Griffith, of Greensburg.

Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday at 10 a. m., at the Estill Freewill Baptist church, the Revs. Green Boyd, Ollie Burkett and others officiating. Burial was made in the Martin cemetery at Wayland under the direction of Jones-Preston Funeral Home.

Democrats Take Early Floyd Lead

CONCILIATORS CALL PARLEY IN CLEVELAND

Gas Strike Settlement Sought After Meeting At Huntington Futile

Representatives of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company and the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union met Wednesday morning in Cleveland, O., where the Federal Conciliation Service functioned as intermediary in an attempt to iron out differences which have resulted in the gas company employees' strike here.

A meeting in Huntington, W. Va., last week effected nothing.

The Huntington meeting followed closely on more gas line blasts in Floyd and Pike counties, and no serious effort was made there toward further negotiations.

The last Floyd line to be damaged was a 16-inch main on Turkey Creek, near Maytown. An eight-inch line on Joe's Creek of Johns Creek in Pike county also was ruptured, as was a vent pipe where the Turkey Creek 16-inch line crosses the highway.

Union representatives have denied having had any part in causing these line blasts. A report that the Federal Bureau of Investigation is probing the blasts was not confirmed here.

Pickets at the Kentucky West Virginia office here and at all company compressor stations were withdrawn last week, and as of Wednesday morning the situation was quiet.

Lawrence Ketterhagen, secretary of the local union, said that more than wages is involved in the workers' demands as a new contract is sought. The union has objected to contract work and to supervisors doing work beyond their supervisory duties.

FLU EPIDEMIC CLOSES MANY FLOYD SCHOOLS

Many Floyd county schools which had been trying to remain open in the face of the Asian flu onslaught finally succumbed last week and closed their doors. Only a few of the larger grade and four high schools were still in session as of today (Thursday).

The Prestonsburg grade and high school which had been closed since last Friday tried to resume classes Wednesday but there were so much absenteeism that both were closed again at the end of the day. Woodrow Allen, principal of the grade school, estimated 50 per cent of the elementary pupils were out.

One death in the county was attributed to complications arising from Asian flu, it was said by M. V. Clark, health administrator. Sandra Lee Barnette, five-month-old daughter of Evan and Sally Osborne Barnette, of Lan-

"NO SERIOUS BUSINESS SLUMP", MOODY SAYS

Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Operators Association, told members Friday, at Huntington, W. Va., that, although there is talk of a recession, he could find no one who expects a serious business slump. Moody addressed the 16th annual meeting of the association. And labor columnist Victor Riesel said, "We are at a pre-Fascist moment in a final struggle between the 'second government' and the most concentrated forces of decency that have ever coalesced." By "second government" he said he meant "underworld forces that have infiltrated some unions and are levying a 'terror tax' on what you eat and wear and the homes you build, and even the armed forces that protect you."

Riesel, who was blinded by acid-throwing New York hoodlums for his campaign for clean

Revival To Continue Despite Flu Spread

Despite a flu epidemic that has closed the Prestonsburg schools, the revival at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church continues throughout the remainder of this week and is being attended by good crowds.

The evangelist is Dr. John Carter, president of Campbellsville College, Campbellsville, Ky. His messages are among the finest heard here, and the public is invited to the services which will continue through Sunday.

COURT BEGINS HERE MONDAY

245 Criminal Cases Set For Circuit Court Term Include 2 Murder Trials

Two hundred forty-five criminal cases are docketed for trial at the circuit court session which will convene here Monday morning.

The docket includes two murder cases, both as a result of recent slaying. Trial of Jerry Shell, accused of the murder of Vaughan at Cliff, is slated for Nov. 18; that of Mary Jane Little, charged with the slaying of her husband at Bypro, for Nov. 25.

Six persons are booked for trial during the term on charges of attempted slaying three methods, shooting, cutting or striking. One defendant scheduled for trial is accused of manslaughter, another of voluntary manslaughter and a third of involuntary manslaughter.

A total of 40 liquor cases are on the November docket, with most of these set for trial Nov. 14. The figures on other serious charges on which trials are slated follow:

Breaking and entering, 11; drunk driving and hit-run driving, 11; grand larceny, 11; robbery, 4; rape, 2; knowingly receiving stolen property, 4.

DAMS WOULD HALT FLOODS

Senator Cooper States Fishtrap, Pound Pools To Stay Valley Danger

U. S. Senator John Sherman Cooper in an unscheduled speech made at Pikeville Friday during a tour of this section said construction of flood control reservoirs at Fishtrap, Pike county, and at Pound, Va., would practically eliminate all chances of flood damage to the Big Sandy valley.

(Added protection to a great part of Prestonsburg will be afforded by a flood protection project slated for work early next year. This installation of a dike and pumps would keep out all but record-making rise such as last January's, and the upriver dams would, it is held, prevent such great floods.)

The Kentucky Republican said a survey of the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy and tributaries will be completed this year by Army Engineers.

The senator said the survey already has resulted in the appropriations of planning money for the Pound River dam. He said he thinks money for planning the Fish Trap reservoir will be appropriated next year.

Cooper said the final step toward acquiring the facilities will be to get Congress to appropriate money for construction.

Others who addressed the day-long session, which closed with a banquet attended by 300 operators, their wives, and guests, included Vice-President Herbert E. Jones, Jr., of Amherst Coal Co., Mount Hope, W. Va.; Harry Perry, chief of bituminous-coal research, Department of the Interior; J. Lewis Powell, of the office of Secretary of Defense, and Secretary Walter R. Thurmond, of the association.

Thurmond chided some members of the coal men "to work with our friends in government and our friends in labor" to repel labor racketeers.

"Even now," he warned, "this combine is staking out parts of the South as their next frontier."

Viewing yields of corn grown on the James Greene farm on Middle Creek to test various varieties, are left to right, Greene, Shirley Phillips, University of Kentucky extension specialist in field crops, and Robert M. Jones, Floyd county agent.

UK CORN EXPERIMENT HELD ON FLOYD FARM

Corn raised in the variety experiment initiated on the James Greene farm on Middle Creek by the University of Kentucky's Extension Service, was harvested last week. The project had for its purpose the testing of several varieties of hybrids and open-pollinated corn.

"One of the most outstanding results of the experiment points up the difference in yield when the number of stalks per acre is increased," says Dr. Frank Loeffel, agronomist of the University, who supervised the harvesting and testing of yields. Dr. Loeffel was assisted in the work by Shirley Phillips, specialist in field crops.

The specialists noted yields in several plots. One stand had 3,444 stalks on an acre and yielded 71.8 bushels but the plot that had 16,000 stalks to an acre chalked up 91.5 bushels.

Comparison of yields of open-pollinated and hybrid varieties showed significant differences. Robert Jones, Floyd county agent, said. Of the four open-pollinated varieties, two were selected by the farmers themselves. The differences in yield between open-pollinated and hybrid varieties was nine bushels per acre when 8,000 stalks were grown or 18 bushels when 16,000 plants were grown. Jones noted that the open-pollinated varieties had a higher percentage of rotten ears.

"If we compare the stalks fall of the hybrids and the open-pollinated," the Floyd county agent continued, "we find 97.4 per cent of the hybrid stalks standing with only 82.7 per cent of the open-pollinated stalks standing. The average ear height was one foot higher on the open-pollinated." Jones named the hybrid varieties tested on the Greene farm as Ky. 106A, Ky. 105,

SENATOR RACE NIP-AND-TUCK

Howell Wins in Martin, Martin in Knott; Floyd Voted To Decide Winner

The race for Senator from the 29th district to fill the vacancy created by the death of Senator Doug Hays, of McDowell, is providing one of the most closely watched angles of the vote count now in progress here.

Jerry Ponce Howell, Democratic candidate for the post with Administration backing, polled a 511-vote majority in Republican Martin county over his opponent, Burnis Martin, who ran on the Right-to-Vote ticket. But Martin came back to lead Howell in Democratic Knott, Martin's home county, by 202 votes.

The seven precincts in Prestonsburg gave Martin 805 votes to 750 for Howell, and continued counting indicated a nip-and-tuck race between the two.

In the precincts counted as of this morning (Thursday), Talsmade Martin, who undertook to have his name removed from the list of candidates, had polled 35 votes, and Bennie Blackburn had 50.

Burnis Martin, making his second political campaign of the year, reportedly had strong Republican support in this county to go along with his own natural strength and the backing of anti-Administration supporters. The full strength of the Administration was thrown behind Howell and he had the official support of the Democratic ticket.

NAPIER WINS MAYOR'S RACE

Independent Candidate, 'Old' Council, Winners; Pool Bond Issue Loses

Bill Napier, Prestonsburg barber, provided the big upset in the Prestonsburg city election Tuesday as he won the office of Mayor in a three-man race, defeating the present Mayor, Harry Sandige, and Henry Howard.

Napier polled 505 votes to Sandige's 450 and Howard's 245 in the seven precincts here. The winner ran as an independent without a ticket for Council. Mayor Sandige ran on the Progressive ticket with a full Council, and all seven Council candidates on that slate won. Howard was a candidate on the Economy ticket with six candidates for Council.

Watt Hale, Progressive ticket candidate for reelection for Council from Depot (West Prestonsburg) was re-elected in a four-man race, rounding out the Progressive party's Council of eight. Other Council contenders ran city-wide, except for West Prestonsburg.

The city election was featured also by the swimming pool issue, with voters balloting on the question of issuing $175,000 in bonds to make that improvement. The

AREA COUNCIL GROUP MEETS

Semi-Annual Dinner Fete Honors Mrs. Crawford; Nat'l Delegates Elected

The semi-annual Council dinner meeting of the Sandy Valley Girl Scouts was held recently in the Prestonsburg high school cafeteria. The meeting and election of officers was presided over by Mr. Oscar Harm, of Pikeville, Council president. Special honor was given to Mrs. William Crawford, formerly of David, now of Mallory, W. Va., and to the members of the newly inaugurated "50 Club Members" of the annual finance drive. About 60 attended.

Mrs. Crawford, who has spent 20 years in Scouting both here and in West Virginia, recently resigned from the Council and her position as district chairman of the Prestonsburg-David area when she moved to West Virginia. She had been a troop leader, troop committee member and had served on the Council as president of the

FOSTER SON OF JOHN ANT HALL SEEKS ORIGIN IN CLOUDED PAST

By HENRY P. SCALF

He is a man living with a surname bestowed by a benefactor who found him homeless on a Big Sandy passenger train over 40 years ago.

He has always been called Earl but whether it was given by a parent he can't say. He remembers nothing of a father, mother or any other relative. To his wife, children and friends he is Earl Hall.

The last name was assumed in home of the man who reared and protected him until he was grown. His benefactor was John Ant Hall, of McDowell. The latter received him from the custody of an itinerant barber who had no place to take him.

Earl Hall is married and rearing children, lives at Detroit now, works in a plant, is proud of his surname, for it is that of a good man who took him as a bit of life's flotsam, clothed and fed him along with 12 children of his own.

Now, at about 50 years of age, he is trying to pierce the veil of time and learn something of his origin. The first few years of his life he spent in different homes, many of the moves being from one locality to one far distant. Always the faces were strange.

Presbyterian Pastor To Head Prestonsburg Ministerial Association

The Rev. Paul M. Bingham, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here, was elected chairman of the Prestonsburg Ministerial Association at the association's meeting at the First Methodist Church last Saturday. The Rev. J. R. Shenault, Jr., pastor of the Arnold Avenue Church of Christ, was named secretary.

Arrangements were made at Saturday's meeting for the annual community Thanksgiving service this year. The service will be held at 10 a. m., Nov. 28, at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, and the Rev. Bingham will deliver the message. As has been customary in the past, an offering will be taken at the Thanksgiving service, this to be divided between the Floyd county tuberculosis fund and the ministerial association fund.

CARS HURT 2 DURING WEEK

Driver Who Hit Gibson Sunday Night Is Sought; Miller Has Broken Back

Two men were seriously injured by cars on the Middle Creek road this week and four members of the Hellier high school basketball team narrowly escaped death Friday night when their car wrecked on the Ball Alley curve here.

Ike Gibson, of Salyersville, is in the Prestonsburg General hospital, suffering from a compound fracture of his leg and head injuries after having been struck Sunday night by a hit-run driver at West Prestonsburg.

Police said Gibson was unable to identify the car that struck him.

Nat H. Cooley, Estill coal operator, said he was following the car that hit Gibson but that he could not describe it. He and other witnesses told Prestonsburg and state police Gibson was in the middle of the road when hit.

Cooley said he saw Gibson in the road, in front of the auto he was following, then saw the other driver's brake-lights flash. Impact of the auto spun Gibson along the roadway. Mr. Cooley said he was positive Gibson was not knocked against his car, adding that he stopped his auto about 15 feet from the point where the injured man alighted on the road after having been hit.

The accident occurred near the spot where Dan Collins, aged West Prestonsburg resident, was killed by a car last year.

FLOYD'S VOTE MAY BE LAST TO BE TABBED

Health Tax In Lead But Two Amendments Not Favored In Vote

A near-record 14,477 votes were cast Tuesday in Floyd county's election as the electorate settled the issues between a flock of opposing candidates and also decided the fate of two Constitutional amendments and one tax issue.

The election day fight, as usual, was bitterly contested, with every precinct having its share of strikers who were "well-heeled" with money. Yet the balloting was orderly.

Only one man was booked at the county jail Tuesday. He was charged with drunkenness.

The closing of the polls at 5 p. m. Tuesday ended a political campaign that had lasted almost 11 months. Some candidates began working with the turn of the year because of the early May primary.

And the vote-count started off so slowly that Floyd county may be the last in the state to know the election results. A crowded courtroom where the tally is being conducted and a dispute over the counting of the absentee ballots first resulted in no tabulation election night. Tapping of the absentee vote and the Prestonsburg city election consumed all the daylight hours Wednesday, and count of the ballots in county races did not begin till late that night.

The absentee votes and five precincts were counted Wednesday night in county and district races. Except in the Jailer's race, Democrats led in the totals from the health tax apparently was on its way to victory, but both Constitutional amendments were losing in the county as well as the state.

The totals when the tabulating stopped at 3 a. m. Thursday:

For Clerk of the Court of Appeals: Charles Malcolm Greene, 279; Doris Owens, 1,038.

For Representative, 96th district: Rex Osborne, 422; Sam Hale, 923.

For Representative, 97th district (absentee votes only): Sam Thomas, 27; Ann B. Hall, 35.

For Circuit Judge: Edward P. Hill, 1,084; Burnis Martin (write-in votes), 3.

For Commonwealth's Attorney: Hollie Conley, 1,041.

For Circuit Court Clerk: Richard "Dick" Spurlock, 664; Henry Stephens, 835.

STEPHENS CLARIFIES STATEMENT

Last week, I wrote a lengthy statement in The Floyd County Times in which I mentioned the name of Rev. L. P. Tussey and since that time I have had a conversation with him on last Sunday in the presence of Green Haywood, his uncle. In the article or writing referred to in the paper, which mentioned the fact that Robert Slone had purchased a suit of clothes for Rev. Tussey and which Mr. Tussey believes reflected upon his character, in that some people might be led to believe that he had been bribed to make the statement published in The Times. I want to say there was no thought in my mind or intention on my part to infer, hint, or mean to convey any idea that the Rev. Tussey had accepted the thing mentioned in my article for the statement which he signed and was published in The Times.

The Rev. Tussey has a brother, Calvin Tussey, who resembles him very much and the Rev. Tussey is of the opinion that Calvin Tussey made the statement to me that he was for me and that I had no race, instead of him, I have talked to both of these men who are my cousins and if I have made any error about any statement, I regret it very much and hereby retract it in my humble way and ask to apologize to Rev. Tussey. There was no intention on my part to mar the feeling of Rev. Tussey in any form or manner. I have known him a long time and believe him to be a Christian and that he is living a religious life and that his desire is to so live and let his light shine that others may believe him and be guided in the right direction. As you know Church is one thing and State is another and it may be wise that no endorsements of any political candidates should be made by ministers of the Gospel. I want to say further that if at any future time I can be of service to Rev. Tussey or his family I will be glad to do so.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY STEPHENS

Diabetes Detection Drive, Nov. 17-23, Plans are Told By Ky. Medical Association

"Saving the lives of Kentuckians threatened by one of the nation's top killers—diabetes—is the goal of the Diabetes Detection Drive on November 17-23," according to Dr. Robert Hoffman, South Fort Mitchell, chairman of the Kentucky State Medical Association's Diabetes Committee, who announced plans for the seventh KSMA-sponsored drive.

Over 900 diabetic Kentuckians have been able to lead normal, happy lives because of these non-fund raising detection drives which are conducted by KSMA in cooperation with the American Diabetes Association during National Diabetes Week.

"Every physician, hospital, and laboratory in the state has been asked to cooperate in the drive by giving a free urine sugar test to anyone requesting it," said Dr. Hoffman.

"Since the unknown diabetic is the one in greatest danger, strongly urge all Kentuckians to take the free tests which have been given to approximately 200,000 in the state since 1951," he said.

A forestry promotional meeting will be held at the courthouse, Thursday of next week at 7 p.m., it was announced this week by Bill Music, district forester. "The role forestry plays in our economy is enlarging daily and it is deemed important that all citizens become better acquainted with this role," Music said in extending the invitations to representatives of agencies related to the Division of Forestry and other interested groups as well as the general public.

"The primary purpose of this meeting is to show your county how you can be helped by the Kentucky Division of Forestry," Music said. "As a responsible leader, your presence and active participation is earnestly sought by your Division of Forestry of the Department of Conservation."

"We hope that a meeting of this sort will serve to alert the people of Kentucky as to the increased benefits to be derived by a better understanding of the forestry activities carried on by this Division," he continued. "A well managed area of timberland protected from fire and grazing, has a strong impact on the local, as well as the state, economy. There is a great dollar potential in proper forest management."

High Court Reprimands Attorney at Pikeville In Case of Soldier

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 1 — F. Dale Burke, a Pike county attorney, was reprimanded by the Court of Appeals Friday for failing to properly prosecute a soldier's divorce case.

M/Sgt. Lloyd W. Stanley charged Burke with unprofessional conduct, saying the attorney rendered little service and refused to answer all letters written to him in connection with the proceedings.

The Kentucky State Bar Association had recommended the suspension of Burke until a final judgment was entered in the divorce case. It substantiated Stanley's charges and said Stanley's wife continued to draw allotment checks while the case was pending and her husband was overseas.

A final judgment was entered before the appellate court could pass on the bar association's recommendation of suspension.

It is reprimand called Burke's conduct reprehensible and ordered him to pay all costs incurred by the bar commissioners and the high court.

Now Let the Public Keep Books

For months now some of the candidates for Floyd county offices have been at it, hammer and tongs, attributing to each other many of Floyd county's ills.

Now it's time for Floyd county to keep books on the winning candidates and to make an honest effort to see that whatever has been wrong does not continue to exist.

Fiscal affairs are always matters of more than passing interest to most of us, since we as taxpayers foot the bill. The proper handling of public monies is a moral duty as well as an official obligation, and yet there are other matters that to us are even more important.

These more important matters involve law enforcement with the public looking to law-enforcement officers and to the courts alike for this service. Bootlegging and drunken driving and those crimes which lead to loss of character and life itself, crimes which work insidiously toward the dissolution of public morals, deserve the strictest enforcement officers and courts can compound.

If the criticisms which would-be public officials have voiced during the political campaign, now history, result in a greater consciousness on the part of individual officeholders and the public in general of the need for impartial enforcement all down the line, then they will mean more than mere words and political haranguing and some good will be achieved.

We shall see.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.

Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"BUILDING A MUSEUM"

One of our American humorists said, a few years ago, that any one could start a great museum if he would only keep what he had at any particular time, keep it in mothballs until it had gone out of style or had become a scarce article. Then the owner could bring out his possession and soon have a group of inquisitive people asking about what used to be so ordinary and commonplace. Though said in fun, this statement was a profound truth.

Many phases of our former lives are passing so rapidly that we need some such persons as the humorist described, to keep in mothballs what can never be replaced. Every time I visit a museum, I am impressed with the fast pace we have set in changing from one way of life to another. Nearly everybody feels that pioneer objects are valuable, that archaeological material is irreplaceable, but we are failing to see how important things nearer our time are becoming. Formerly we kept things lovingly, filling up attics and sheds with them; then we got into a habit of cleaning up and disposing of what had gone out of style. Whereas the family furniture, protected by a dozen layers of varnish and paint, spent many a year in the storerooms without deteriorating, these slightly younger artifacts were dismissed with little or no thought of their worth, hauled off and dumped into a gully or sinkhole. It is true that there was more sentiment attached to articles that were made by hand than ever grew around some "fetched-on" object. But, how well many of us oldsters remember the pride we felt in these same objects, now broken or discarded. By degrees, some of our antique hunters are getting a taste for these less-ancient treasures and may help retrieve some of them before they are entirely gone.

adequate it may be, can never house the memories that cluster around things and ways. A very large percentage of us will never put into permanent form even a small account of what things used to be like. And, before long, even those who do set down, in their way of making a museum, simple little stories of how we did things and how we felt and ached and rejoiced will be regarded with the same half-wondering, half-sneering looks that are given to artifacts arranged on museum shelves. But we can have the satisfaction, here or wherever we may be then, that those same half-serious ones who pass over our cultural origins will still be the recipients of the accomplishments made so silently and so unassumingly by unknown and unrewarded transmitters of folkways. The leopard will outgrow his spots before the race of men give up patterns of living that distinguish us from one another and from the rest of animated nature.

Every observant person, I am trying to say, is building and has built a museum of intangible things, memories of what used to matter, what once was a sign of being somebody, what was always around in the world but was never properly appreciated. And it is this museum-building that is ready for the novel that delineates another time and place, a play that dips back into our cultural history, a painting or a song or a legend that somehow catches some of the echoes of times long gone. Holmes, in lamenting the passing of so many people who were never able to express in words the depth of their sorrow, concludes that we must take the few who do express themselves and their time as samples of what could be done, even though he sighs, as must we: "Alas for those who never sing But die with all their music in them."

I'd Just As Soon Be A Plow Mule

Dear Superintendent:

I appreciate your kind offer of a job for my girl. She had her heart set on being a school teacher, but I talked her out of it. Teaching school is too much like being a preacher's wife. It's a high callin', but people expect you to give more'n they pay for.

You take the teachers here in town. The only difference in them and Christian martyrs is the date and lack of bonfire. They were hired to teach and they done it. They teach the younguns that learn, but that ain't enough, they're supposed to make obedient little angels out of spoiled brats that never minded nobody, and wet-nurse little wildcats, so their mothers can get a rest, and make geniuses out of children that couldn't have no sense with the parents they've got.

But that ain't the worst. They've got to get up shows and plays to work the school out of debt, and sing in the choir, and teach a Sunday school class, and when they ain't doin' nothin' else they're supposed to be a good example.

They don't get no pay for three months, and can't pay their board or buy decent clothes, and on top of everything else they can't hold hands comin' home from prayer meetin' without some gossip old sister startin' a scandal on them.

I'd just as soon be a Plow Mule. A mule works just as hard, but it can relieve it's soul by kickin' it's heels after quittin' time without startin' any talk. I appreciate your kind offer and may the Lord have mercy on you, but my daughter is not interested.

Very truly yours,
Mary's Mother

PROJECT COMPLETION

The 4-H club year ended Oct. 31 and many of the members have already turned in record books on their projects. This year the quality of the books turned in was very good.

Bandanna Club Helps Conservation Youth, Sportsmen Reminded

Floyd county's Junior Conservation Clubs as well as those of other Kentucky counties are urging sportsmen to join the Bandanna Club, said Bernard Baldrige, district junior conservation supervisor, here last week.

The sportsman becomes a member by buying a Kentucky sportsman bandanna. Funds thus raised help junior conservation club members pay transportation to summer camps and finance other needs. Earl Ruby, sports editor of The Courier-Journal, is general chairman of the move. The red bandanna may be worn by hunters as a safety precaution to avoid being shot by accident in the woods or may be used by women as a head-dress.

Sportsmen may join the club by procuring the bandanna at Home Furniture Store, Prestonsburg, Wright's Jewelry at Martin, or by mailing a dollar to Bernard Baldrige, Box 121, Martin.

Kentucky's Junior Conservation Clubs are rated tops in the nation. Begun in 1945, this youth program has advanced till today 40,000 boys and girls attend club meetings in classrooms of state schools at least once a month during the entire school year. About 4,000 of these youngsters attend junior conservation camps each summer.

State Teachers' Union Votes Against Changing Tenure Clause of Law

The AFL-CIO Kentucky Federation of Teachers went on record Saturday opposing any immediate change in the teacher tenure clause of the Kentucky Education Code.
On a more positive side, the K. F. T. will urge support of legislative measures to place teachers on Social Security and secure revenue for increased salaries when the state Legislature convenes this January, it was announced.
This action was taken at the annual convention of the State Teachers' Federation held in Cincinnati. Delegates from all Kentucky Local Unions attended.

Mrs. Lola Belle Akin, Paintsville Nurse, Wins Tribute of State Group

Mrs. Lola Belle Akin, Paintsville, who was thrust into the presidency of the Kentucky State Association of Registered Nurses only a month ago, recently began the second half of a two-year term.
Mrs. Akin, a doctor's widow and Johnson county public-health nurse, was elected second vice-president of the association a year ago.
Then last spring, the first vice-president, Sister Mary Evarista, of Covington, moved to Ohio. Mrs. Akin became first vice-president.
Last month the association, president, Sister Agnes Miriam of Nazareth College, resigned the presidency. That puts Mrs. Akin in the top spot.

She said yesterday, as the association's annual convention closed at the Sheraton-Seelbach hotel, that she was terrified at the prospect of serving as president during the meeting.
But thanks to her sympathetic and helpful colleagues in the association, she said, things didn't go too badly. The members gave her a standing tribute at a final business session.
Elected first vice-president was Mrs. Marjorie B. Glaser, clinical co-ordinator at the St. Joseph Infirmary School of Nursing.
New second vice-president is Mrs. Apolonia Gavirati, Hopkinsville, who had been serving as first vice-president. Mrs. Elizabeth Sams Moore, Lexington, was named secretary.
New directors are Mrs. Arnetia T. Dunn, Owensboro, and Mrs. Regina L. Smith, Pineville.
A resolution adopted by the group pledged "its unified efforts to continue to improve working conditions and to raise the economic standards of nurses in this state."
The Kentucky State Association of Student Nurses elected Miss Julie Land, Nicholasville, as new president. She is a junior at St. Joseph Infirmary School of Nursing here.

LAUNDRY SUES MINERS' UNION

Business With Hospitals Basis of Federal Court Suit Seeking $1,600,000

A $1,600,000 damage suit has been filed in U. S. district court at Lynchburg, Va., against the United Mine Workers of America, its retirement fund and hospital association, charging breach of contract and violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

The suit was brought by J. Truman Yonce and Truman C. Yonce, operators of the Superior Laundry and Cleaners at Norton, Virginia. Also named as defendants were the Royal Laundry Co., Inc., also of Norton, and the Victor Kramer Co., Inc., of New York, N. Y. Notice of the suit was served in Alexandria, Va. on John L. Lewis as president of the United Mine workers and as trustee of its welfare and retirement fund.

Yonce and Yonce claimed they had a contract to do all the laundry and dry cleaning for six hospitals operated by the Miners Memorial Hospital Association in Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky. It said the association and the others conspired to break the contract and give this business to the Royal Laundry after Superior had spent money enlarging its plant to handle the work.

They said this gave Royal 70 percent or a monopoly of the commercial laundry and dry cleaning business within a 50-mile radius of Norton, and resulted in restraint of trade.

They also accused the hospital association of transferring its laundry and dry cleaning business to Royal for "gratuity or gratuities" paid one or more agents of the association, the retirement fund and the UMW after the Superior Laundry operators had refused to do so.

Mine Workers Have No Wage Demand Planned

No new wage demands for coal miners are in the works for the time being.

This was disclosed Monday by United Mine Workers Union President John L. Lewis. At the same time, Lewis told the coal industry there is no contractual obligation for mine owners to give miners a three-day Christmas holiday and $40 bonus.

Labor contracts with the coal industry continue until terminated. They could have been ended by notice August 1, effective Oct. 1.

But because of what Lewis reportedly believes is a "soft" market for coal sales, he has not tried to move for a new contract.

The holiday and bonus provision was provided only for last year.

Said Lewis in letters to the coal industry:

"... undersigned authoritatively advised as follows: That in the absence of negotiations and agreement, the undersigned authoritatively advises as follows: That in the absence of negotiation and agreement between the parties, which has not yet eventuated, no contractual obligation exists for the idling of mines during the forthcoming 1957 Christmas period or the payment of vacation monies."

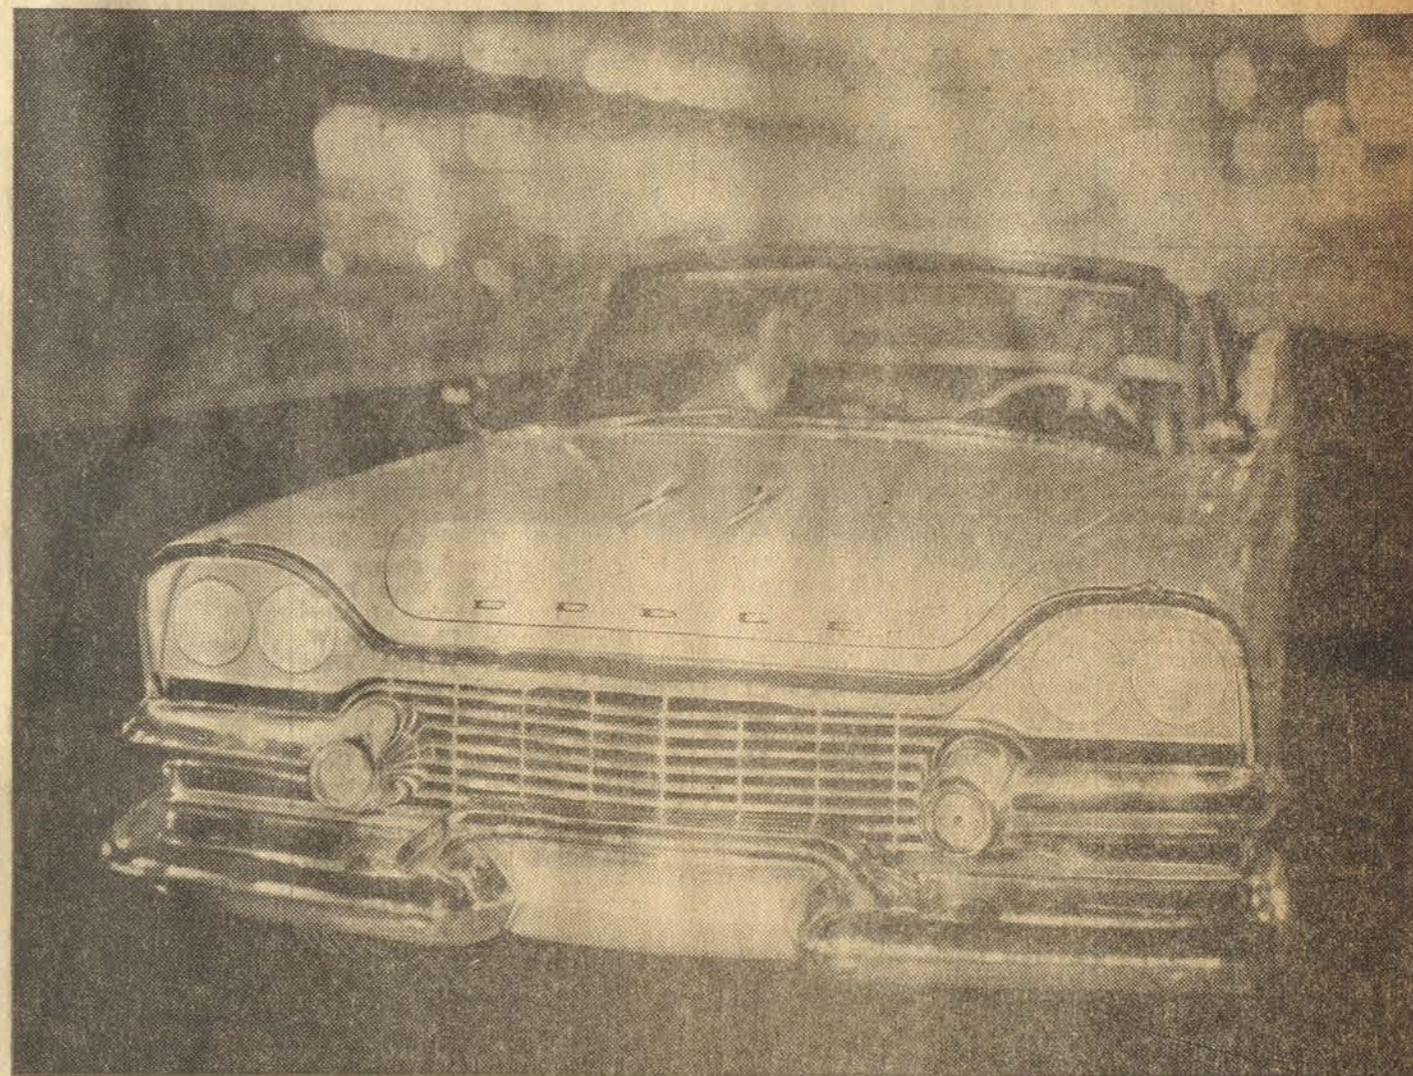

Last year, some miners reportedly were not particularly happy with the Christmas holiday and bonus provision. By working those days and not getting the bonus, they could have received about $75 in wages.

The test included eight experimental hybrids and some of them showed promise for improvement in the future, Jones said. Five commercial hybrids included in the test compared favorably with the Kentucky hybrids. These hybrids averaged 82.1 bushels per acre with 8,000 stalks and 95 bushels per acre in 16,000 stalk stands.

The local Extension Service in analyzing the tests on the Middle Creek farm pointed out what they mean to the farmer: First, yields can be increased 20 bushels per acre by upping the number of stalks per acre to 16,000. This is twice as much as farmers usually plant. Secondly, the Extension Service advises, switch from open-pollinated to hybrid varieties and increased yields of nine to 18 bushels per acre will result with much sounder corn and less fallen stalks. Thirdly, there is a difference of around 24 bushels per acre between certain hybrids and the one that is adapted well to Floyd county should be planted.

bers of the association, which embraces 227 mines in Kentucky's Southern West Virginia, Virginia, and Tennessee, for selling coal to electric utilities "at a price below the cost of production."

He quoted the price of $1 a ton below production cost, and said if all members had sold all their output at that rate, they would have lost $80,000,000 in 1956.

Both Moody and Thurmond expressed concern at continued inroads by oil and gas in the fuel industry.

The Southern Operators president, who completed 10 years in office Friday and was re-elected to an 11th term, urged the coal men to marshal their power, adding that "to put it bluntly, coal, with United Mine Workers Union help, potentially has the votes."

Moody also said the "signs indicate that the period of across-the-board wage increases is over," and added that "perhaps an easing off in some sectors of business will be a good thing for all of us."

ed by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. This is the story:

"Dr. M. H. Skaggs has been pondering the fishing regulations the past week or so, since recently he caught a fish, but didn't have a license.

"The incident occurred under unusual circumstances, however, and probably will be the first and last time Doc will do fishing of this type.

"Raymond Caudill, Spencer County, 14-year-old-son of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Caudill, was rushed to the doctor's office one Friday afternoon about 2 o'clock, in a critical condition with a live Bluegill fish stuck in his throat. The boy had been playing around upper Plum Creek near his home and, apparently, got too near the water with his mouth open. The fish, about 4 inches long and 2 inches wide, jumped into the boy's mouth.

"He was rushed to the office of Dr. Skaggs where it was necessary to remove the fish with forceps, the fish being lodged in the throat near the windpipe."

HOW THEY CAUGHT 'EM
Come to think of it, two Prestonsburg gals, Mrs. Tom G. Dinges and Mrs. Bob Francis, have done as well as anybody recently at Dewey Lake, and I, should in frankness add, better than some of us. Trolling bombers, they landed two good bass one day last week, returning next day to catch another and to loose yet another that had been brought up to their boat.

Two Former Opponents To Meet Saturday Night At London College

PIKEVILLE, Ky., Nov. 4 (Spl) — In their coaching debuts, two former opponents on the basketball court will meet again Saturday night as Pikeville College's freshmen open an 11-game schedule at Sue Bennett College, London, Ky. Woodrow Preston, a cage star at Pikeville when the school was a junior college and now freshman coach there, will lead the little Bears against the Sue Bennett Green Dragons under their new mentor and former ace, Noel Karr. Karr, high scorer for the Dragons from 1952 to 1954 as Preston was for the Bears, outpointed his rival in the four games in which they met, averaging 24 points to the Pikeville ace's 22. Only two seasons later Pikeville, in transition to senior-college status, dropped out of junior-college play.

The Dragons, frequently also-rans in the Kentucky Junior College Athletic Conference, bloomed late to become surprise runners-up in the state juco tourney last February. Earlier in the season they had fallen twice to the Pikeville frosh, 81-78 on their own floor Nov. 10 and 81-68 at Pikeville Dec. 5, 1956. The yearling Bears will encounter varsity squads from three junior colleges and small colleges, and freshman or "B" teams from three larger schools. They will play home-and-home games with Sue Bennett, Lees Junior College (Jackson, Ky.), and Southeast Christian College (Winchester, Ky.) cagers, and will meet teams representing Marshall (Huntington, W. Va.), Morehead (Ky.) State and Union (Barbourville, Ky.) colleges.

In their home opener, they will host the Union College freshmen Nov. 12. The game will be the first on Pikeville's new basketball court, which replaces the floor ruined by last January's flood. The Pikeville stripling's schedule: Nov. 9 Sue Bennett away (London) 12 Union Frosh Home Dec. 4 Lees Junior College Away (Jackson, Ky.) 14 Sue Bennett Home 16 Southeast Christian Home 17 Morehead "B" Home Jan. 8 Morehead "B" Away (Morehead, Ky.) 11 Marshall Frosh Away (Huntington, W. Va.) Feb. 3 Southeast Christian Away (Winchester, Ky.) 21 Lees Home Marshall Home

Capitol Notebook

Frankfort, Nov. 5 — The Kentucky Children's Home at Lyndon publishes a news pamphlet called "The Lighthouse." Here's a quote from a column by Supt. Emery (Pop) Hoskins: "Thanks and appreciation are extended to the employees and children who rolled up their sleeves and went to work during our recent 'flu' epidemic at the Home. Approximately 75 per cent of the children had had the flu. No complications have developed, and it is marvelous how cheerful everyone has been during a most trying period.

"Mrs. Betty Hensley, head nurse of the infirmary, and her staff have done and continue to do a wonderful job. The hospital cottage has been over-crowded and understaffed, but each person has done more than an individual share. It is believed that the germs were brought to our school from Eastern High School by one of our children attending school there.

"Our new Citizenship Program is being launched next week. I am asking the full cooperation of all employees and children to the end that this program help us provide a better campus climate for all of us."

TO THE QUEEN'S TASTE

A recent editorial in the Paducah Sun-Democrat: "Kentuckians should have been pleased to note that one of the fancy meals arranged for Queen Elizabeth II on her visit to Washington last week, one of their State's delicacies was chosen for the menu.

"The wire services reported that an elaborate luncheon, served on gold-plated dinner service and gold-trimmed plates, the menu featured Kentucky ham.

"Elizabeth is not the first of the royal family of Britain to enjoy Kentucky ham.

"Her late grandfather, George V, regularly received country-cured hams from Trigg county and it's possible Elizabeth II as a tot got to know the taste of ham as only Western Kentuckians know how to cure it. Perhaps the royal kitchens still receive ham from Kentucky.

"It is noteworthy that while some epicures occasionally poke justifiable fun at some of the South's foods and potables—grits, greens, corn pone, pot liquor and mint juleps—you never hear them complain that Kentucky country-cured ham is overrated, after they have once tried it, preferably with hot biscuits, red-eyed gravy and a couple of eggs sunny-side up."

CIVIL DEFENSE

Major General J. S. Lindsay, administrator of Kentucky Civil Defense, says:

"You cannot wish away or out-talk a flood or an atom bomb—you can, in some instances, out-think them.

"The atom, in the Atoms for Peace Program, can enrich mankind. In a nuclear bomb, it could destroy us.

"So, as we move forward toward our goal of universal peace, we must work with both hands. One hand must develop the constructive uses of the materials with which God has blessed the world. The other hand must guard against their mis-use in ignorant or willfully destructive hands.

"It is as simple as that—and that is why, today, we must have civil defense."

HEALTH COUNCIL PLANNED

Dr. H. R. McPheters, commissioner of mental health, said recently that State officials are considering the establishment of a Health Resources Council. The Council, which would be composed of commissioners or directors of all State agencies dealing with health problems, would meet on a regular basis so that a coordinated program of agencies could be planned and executed. Representative of the Department of Mental Health, the Department of Health, the Tuberculosis Commission, the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission, and the departments of Welfare, Economic Security and Education have been proposed as members of this council.

ASSISTANT PASTOR TO SPEAK

The Rev. Claude Sexton, Wheelwright, will deliver the evening sermon at the Wheelwright Pilgrim Holiness church, Sunday evening at 7, the pastor John T. Stewart said today. The public is invited.

NEW-TYPE Concrete

This new-type concrete road will last 50 years ... and more.

Drive it on America's new Interstate System highways

New-type, sound-conditioned concrete will still be fun to drive in '75

Not a "thump" to be heard on this continuous-laid concrete. It's almost like riding above the pavement, instead of on it. Sound-conditioned concrete has no joints ... only tiny, sawed cushion spaces. You skim over them and don't know it! "Air-entrainment" prevents surface roughening, keeps concrete smooth. Laid flat, new-type concrete stays flat and will last 50 years and more.

The Interstate System is planned for the traffic of 1975 ... when concrete laid today will still be "new" and fun to drive.

Built-in safety for Kentucky highways

The grainy texture of new-type concrete resists skids even when wet. No unevenness, no "fighting the wheel." It reflects light, too. You see up to 4 times better at night on light-colored concrete than on a dark surface.

JENKINS WINS E.K.M.C. CROWN
 By virtue of its 20-6 triumph over Belfry high last Sunday afternoon, Jenkins high replaced Pikeville as champion of the ten-team Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference. The Letcher counties will take a 9-0 record into Paintsville's seventh annual Big Sandy Bowl game Friday against the Catlettsburg Wildcats of the Northeastern Kentucky Conference who have won eight, lost one and tied one.

Last year, Paintsville upheld the prestige of the E.K.M.C. by beating undefeated Madison-Model of the C.K.C. by a 20-0 count.

OTHER BOWLS
 In the other Bowl games involving E.K.M.C. teams Fleming (8-2) will meet Everts in Harlan's Jaycee event Friday at 8 p.m.; Belfry, now 6-4 after losing two games in three days by 20-6 to Williamson, W. Va., and Jenkins, will vie with the Ashland Tomcats in Ashland's Shrine Bowl game at 2:30 Saturday afternoon.

SECOND POSTPONEMENT
 Prestonsburg and Paintsville highs have again postponed their annual football fracas until a later date, this time at Prestonsburg's request after nine members of the Prestonsburg team came down with flu Tuesday. The game was postponed from November 1 until this Thursday at Paintsville's request, but the second delay came from Prestonsburg.

The future date will be agreed on by both schools, if and when all players fully recover from the current flu epidemic.

WHEELWRIGHT COPS SECOND
 Ray Brackett's Wheelwright Maroons won their second football game of the season Monday night as senior halfback Claude Hall raced 65 yards in the final 40 seconds to register a 12-7 triumph for his mates over visiting Leslie county.

Halfback Louie Ferria gave Wheelwright a 6-0 second period lead on a five-yard dive to pay dirt, only to have Leslie County go ahead, 7-6, in the third period.

BIG SANDY BOWL TILT WEEK'S GRID FEATURE

The eyes of Northeastern Kentucky high school football fans will be on Paintsville Friday night as two of Kentucky's leading prep teams, Catlettsburg and Jenkins, clash in the seventh annual Big Sandy Bowl.

Aside from the bowl game itself, the Paintsville Junior Women's League, sponsor of the post-season attraction, also has scheduled parades, and band festivals, beauty contests and other pageantry throughout the day.

Jenkins has one of the best marks in Kentucky with five consecutive wins and the championship of the 10-team Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference. Catlettsburg, sporting an 8-1-1 record, won its sixth consecutive Northeastern Kentucky Conference.

JENKINS WINS EKMC CROWN

Cavaliers End Season Undefeated As Belfry Downed in Sunday Game

Big Sandy Bowl-bound Jenkins High captured the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference high school football crown and ended with a perfect season, Sunday afternoon as the Cavaliers whipped Belfry, 20-6, for their ninth consecutive win.

Nick Diachenko's well-balanced eleven will clash with once-beaten once-tied Catlettsburg in Paintsville's seventh annual Big Sandy Bowl game, Friday night at 8.

Belfry's Pirates lost a 20-6 decision to neighboring Williamson, West Virginia, Friday night, then moved into Jenkins Sunday afternoon to make up an important conference game that was postponed after flu had taken its toll of the Belfry gridders two weeks ago.

In the remaining game of last week-end's abbreviated action, Jim Caudill's Hazard Bulldogs assured themselves of second place in the circuit by taking highly-regarded Fleming, 12-0.

Thus, the Bulldogs ended with a respectable 7-1 mark and 4-1 in the loop standings.

Other than the Bowl game this Friday, only two games remain on the regular season schedule. Thursday night, Prestonsburg will be the scene of the annual Prestonsburg-Paintsville grid tussle, and Pikeville will be host to Corbin Friday night.

Diminutive halfback Gary Harrison was the star of Jenkins' conquest of Belfry. The agile speedster passed for one touchdown and ran one 61 yards to up his season's output to 106 points, highest in all Eastern Kentucky.

Harrison and rangy end Nicky Dann put the Cavaliers into a 7-0 first period lead by teaming for a 31-yard pass to the Belfry seven, from which point burly fullback Billy Elkins plunged over. Tackle Kenneth England booted the point after.

all, 27-6; Hazard, 6-0; Paintsville, 13-12; Fleming, 19-0; Prestonsburg, 34-7; Elkhorn City, 39-19; Whitesburg, 58-6; Pikeville, 54-6, and Belfry, 20-6.

Harold Baker, in his first season as head coach, has seen his charges overrun Raceland, 26-0; Ashland, 26-14; Wurtland, 33-6; Russell, 27-0; Louisa, 28-7; Race-land, 33-7; and Credo-Kenova, 23-7. The Wildcats suffered a 19-6 loss to Ironton, Ohio and were held to a 0-0 deadlock by South Point, Ohio, last week.

The Cavaliers have piled up 260 markers, good for a 28.3 per game average and held the opposition to 62 points. Thus both appear about even, "paper-wise," on offense and defense.

Overall, Jenkins has the biggest football team in East Kentucky with a starting backfield that averages 178-pounds and a line average of 185 pounds.

Heading the list of backs are halfbacks Gary Harrison and Chick Stofer, both five-feet, eight inches speedsters. Harrison raced for 17 touchdowns and four extra points during the season to lead the area in scoring with 106 points. Stofer tallied 51 points.

Fullback Bill Elkins, a six-foot, 216-pound bruiser, has made Letcher county fans forget about Bob Collier, who a few years back tabbed the best in Jenkins history. Elkins averaged more than eight yards per try throughout the season and scored nine times.

Rounding out the backfield is quarterback Frank Hodges, six-foot 175-pounder. He is the team's triple-threat artist.

The line is big and experienced with these starters: guards Randall Chandler, 205-pound junior, and Russell Asbury, 190-pound senior; center, Johnny Miller, 180-pound senior, and ends, Nicky Dann, six-foot, five-inch junior, and Russell Mullins, six-foot, two-inch junior; tackles, Tommy Brush, 215-pound junior and Neal Younts, 195-pound senior.

Catlettsburg will be making its second trip to the Big Sandy Bowl in 1953 under the tutelage of Charley Snyder, the Gate Citizens stopped Cumberland, 6-0. They will start nine seniors with fullback Hubert Sloan, brother to U. of K. Paul Sloan, the leading point-producer with 92 markers.

Simple Marker Identifies Grave Of Marine Hero

Frankfort, Nov. 7 — On a small knoll in Frankfort Cemetery, overlooking the graves of vice-presidents, senators, governors, artists, and scores of Kentucky patriots who fell in war against the wilderness and foreign aggressors, stands the simple stone marking the grave of Marine Corps Lt. Presley Neville O'Bannon, "The Hero of Derne."

In 1805, O'Bannon, leading seven marines and a group of recruited mercenaries, started from Egypt on a 600-mile trek across the Desert of Barca to the stronghold of Tripoli, the sanctuary of ruthless renegades who consistently looted American ships plying the waters off the coast of North Africa.

After the capture of Derne, the chief fortress of Tripoli, O'Bannon personally lowered the Tripolitan flag and hoisted the Stars and Stripes for the first time on foreign soil.

The new ruler of the captured nation presented the marine lieutenant with his own jeweled sword. Today marine officers still carry the sword, commemorating the Corp's loyal service during this campaign.

Appropriately, the actions of O'Bannon and his men are remembered in the first line of the Marine Corps hymn with the words, "To the Shores of Tripoli." These same words were also inscribed across the top of the first standard adopted by the Corps.

After his separation from service, O'Bannon came to Kentucky where his brother, Major John O'Bannon, was living. Shortly after his arrival he was elected by the people of Logan county to represent them in the State Legislature from 1812 until 1820.

At O'Bannon's death in 1850, he was buried in Henry county. In 1919, through the efforts of the Daughters of the American Revolution, his body was moved to Frankfort Cemetery.

State Begins Program To Cut Road Deaths

Frankfort, Nov. 7 — Safety Commissioner Don S. Sturgill has initiated a three-part program to combat highway accidents during November and December.

State police will cite motorists for all moving violations. The custom of only warning drivers on a first offense will be stopped.

The second phase of the program will be a check of all drivers-license files by the Public Safety Department's Responsibility Division. Any person found to be driving while his license is suspended or revoked will be arrested and brought into court.

The third phase will be a stepped-up effort to investigate all highway hazards by the Accident Control Division.

Sturgill said he is proud of the effort of the Division of State Police to reduce highway fatalities.

He called upon churches, courts, local law-enforcement agencies and other groups to cooperate in the program.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.

Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"WASPIES"

A rather young acquaintance of mine told me recently that "waspies" have been worse than usual this year and that they seem to be more poisonous. He used the word several times and took me straight back to Fidelity, except that we often said "waspers." He also took me back to a much more remote time, when our outlandish words now new with collections of consonants were pronounced smoothy, with vowels between, just as they had been in Old English times. In those same times there were "brides," now "birds," and "axed," now (and I dare you to say the past tense—"asked" plainly) "asked." In losing some of our lurid vowels, we lost some ease of speech, that is, those of us who try to speak "English as she is spoken." It really does me good to hear these sounded extra vowels, in the words just mentioned and in "striped." Naturally, I am too big a coward to use them myself, but I love to hear the ones who unconsciously keep alive the older forms of speech. Even a college graduate of my acquaintance once told me that a certain kind of nails "bustees" the moulding around doors. And, of course, the moulding was "busted," as anybody can see.

In reaching thousands of people in my course in the English Language, I have often spent some time on this very matter of explaining these left-overs of speech. One student, many years ago, said that the chief value of the course to her was its helping her to understand Grandma, in such words as these and in other usages that were once as proper as hoopskirts or button shoes or stovepipe hats. Many a usage is not to be laughed at merely because it seems strange; it is necessary first to know whether it was once proper or has always hung around on the edges of correct usage and has never become proper.

English, as I often tell my students, is good, bad, and half-good or half-bad. Good English is somewhat like many of our tastes and policies; it is painfully kept. Smooth language, acceptable to high and low, no matter how easy it seems, is one of the hardest things to learn and keep on learning, for good language, like good manners and good clothes, undergoes changes constantly. Bad English is hard to define, but it is made up of whole group of usages: words that have gone out of standard use, words that are so new that they are still too technical or strange to be standard, barbarisms (words that have been made up on the basis of words already known but are not yet acceptable—"suspicion" as a verb, for instance), and genuine slang (words pertaining to some sport or game or intimate phase of society but not universally recognized). Many of these words are likely to appear in our spoken English, to be understood for what they are; when we begin to write, we are somewhat hampered, for our readers may not know when we are merely laughing at language. "Celtic," in this column, is not to be taken as a literary usage, in spite of its usefulness. "Hound dog" is another expression that good usage frowns upon, but what would you say? The half-good or half-bad usage give me the most trouble with my students. They are not likely to use such vulgarisms as "seen" for "saw" or "taken" for "took," but they do have trouble with their nominatives and objectives: "I, me; he, him; we, us, they, them; she, her." So simple a thing as ease

Martin Succeeds Humphreys In Highway Post

Frankfort, Nov. 7 — Gov. A. B. Chandler has announced Dr. James W. Martin will become state commissioner of highways, effective Nov. 15, succeeding Robert Humphreys, who resigned.

The governor said he would appoint Ward Oates, who has been deputy finance commissioner.

Chandler said Humphreys' resignation as highway commissioner would in no way affect his status as a member of the Administration's five-man policy committee headed by Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield.

Humphreys also is chairman of the Democratic State Central Executive Committee, on which he has served for many years.

His letter of resignation, addressed to the governor, said "my health does not permit me to longer continue as head of the Department of Highways."

The governor expressed hope Humphreys would take a much needed rest and "as soon as you are relaxed and refreshed . . . let me assign you to some work with our administration so that you can help us carry forward the program of progress which you have helped us outline."

Humphreys served as highway commissioner in the governor's 1935-39 administration and was named to the post again at the start of this administration. Dr. Martin was revenue commissioner in the first administration and was appointed to head the finance department in 1955.

Hazard Coaldealer Found Dead In Car

CAMPTON, Ky., Oct. 31 —Peyton L. Mitchell, 37, Hazard coal operator who had been missing since Saturday, was found dead in his auto near Sky Bridge Wednesday.

State police at Morehead said the car's windows were closed, a rubber hose attached to the exhaust pipe was protruding into the car over one window, the ignition was on, and the car's gasoline tank was empty.

State police quoted Coroner Steve Brewer as saying Mitchell apparently died of carbon-monoxide poisoning.

Mitchell was president of Knott Coal Corporation.

Education Week Set Nov. 10-16, by Chandler

Frankfort, Nov. 7 — Gov. A. B. Chandler has proclaimed Nov. 10-16 Education Week in Kentucky. Dr. Robert R. Martin, State superintendent of public instruction, has sent copies of the proclamation to all public school principals and superintendents with a letter urging that all districts observe the occasion.

Martin said "throughout the nation American Education Week has become an opportunity for schools to interpret their programs to their patrons. Assembly programs open to the public followed by visits in the classrooms, conducted tours and other appropriate programs have enabled schools to create better community relations and awaken new public interest in local school problems."

The week is sponsored by the National Education Association, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and the American Legion.

Christopher Greenup — From Poverty To The Executive Mansion

By Charles F. Hinds
Secretary Treasurer, Kentucky Historical Society

Christopher Greenup was the third Governor of Kentucky (1804-08), following Isaac Shelby and James Garrard. He is also distinguished for having been, along with Alexander Orr of Mason county, one of the first two members from Kentucky in the United House of Representatives, both serving from the admission of Kentucky into the Union in 1792 to 1797. Greenup County is named for Governor Greenup.

His portrait by Harold Collins hangs in the Governor's gallery in the Senate of the Old State House in Frankfort. Another portrait of Governor Greenup, printed by William T. Hundleigh and owned by the Historical Society, is on loan to the Old Governor's Mansion, the present home of Governor Harry Lee Waterfield and his family.

The early life of Governor Greenup is shrouded in mystery. He was born around 1750 of poor parents, according to various biographers, in either Loudon, Westmoreland, or Botetourt County, Virginia. In the American Revolution, again depending on several sources of information, he was a captain or a colonel. He probably moved to Kentucky in 1783. This belief is supported by two pieces of evidence. He bought a town lot in Lexington and was admitted to the bar in that year.

Beginning with the year 1784, Greenup's rise was rapid in Kentucky politics, making it easy to sketch his life with more certainty. He was, successively, clerk of the First Statehood Convention at Danville, clerk of the Virginia Court of Kentucky, a member of the United States House, clerk of the Kentucky Senate, Circuit Judge, and Governor of Kentucky. From 1808 to his death in 1818, he remained active in public life as a state representative and justice of the peace. He was also a director of the Bank of Kentucky and an early trustee of Transylvania University.

Governor Greenup died at Blue Licks. In 1834 he was reinterred by an Act of the Kentucky Legislature, along with five other prominent Kentuckians, in the Frankfort cemetery, following a military parade and a considerable amount of old-style oratory.

Both Weeds, Strawberries Suffer From Herbicides

Weed-killers with long-staying properties were hard on the weeds in strawberry plots at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, but the strawberries suffered, too.

That's the report of James Herron and Carl Chaplin, station horticulturists. They ran tests to see if the long-residual materials would be as satisfactory in weed control as the shorter-lasting materials most commonly used.

Sesone (Craig Herbicide-1 material) was used as a check. This is a relatively short-lived material. Four experimental compounds noted for long-lasting qualities were tried. Herron and Chaplin say the weeds went out fast when the latter materials were applied — but so did the strawberries. The materials "burned" the weeds and strawberries.

They noted further that when the experimental materials were used in rates close to that recommended for Sesone (the shorter-lived material), the weed control was "no better than if Sesone itself had been used."

The herbicides were used as wettable powders. Rates ranged from 12 to 8 pounds per acre, depending on the material.

The experiment was valuable in showing that although satisfactory weed control could be obtained with these materials, the strawberry plants would be killed, too.

Sesone will continue to be the recommended material for use in strawberry weed control for the coming season.

Chandler Sets Special Week For Youths

Frankfort, Nov. 7 — Gov. A. B. Chandler has proclaimed Nov. 4-10 Youth Appreciation Week in the Commonwealth.

The observance is sponsored by Optimist International. The organization's Third District represents the Kentucky and Ohio Valley region.

Purpose of the special week is "to give proper recognition to the accomplishments of youth in the home, the church, the school and the community."

The proclamation said "statistics reveal that 95 per cent of the youth of this country are law-abiding young Americans, with every promise of becoming courageous and responsible citizens, to whom we can with confidence entrust the future of our nation, the preservation of its traditions and the fulfillment of its glorious heritage."

The governor urged "that during this period all Kentuckians encourage a more active participation in family affairs." He asked that youth organizations "show regard, respect and appreciation for the promising youth of our land and that proper environmental, recreational and social opportunities be provided for all youth of the State, to the end that our youth who will be leaders of our State and Nation in a few years shall be encouraged in the challenging tasks that await them."

New Plan To Blacktop State's Country Roads

Frankfort, Nov. 7 — Gov. A. B. Chandler has announced plans to blacktop about 4,600 miles of state-maintained county roads.

Cost of blacktopping these roads, now mainly gravel or rock surfaced, was estimated by the governor at $37,000,000.

The new plan calls for completion of the blacktopping, if possible, before the governor leaves office in December, 1959.

Chandler said the plan is a continuation of the rural highway program he launched in 1936 during his first term as governor.

He directed Rural Highway Commissioner J. B. Wells to handle the new program and push it toward completion.

The governor said no estimate had been made of funds that might be available for the program from the federal government but added "we will take any we can get."

Wells said most of the money would come from rural secondary road funds, collected at the rate of two cents a gallon on motor fuel sold in Kentucky, and from departmental funds expected to be freed by sale of state bonds to help Kentucky match federal road aid.

Chandler commented on the blacktopping plan that "this is one of the blessings we promised the people they could expect from passage of the road bonds." Kentuckians in November, 1956, approved issuance of $100,000,000 worth of road bonds by a margin of about 6-1.

East Kentucky Truck Route Is Granted

Frankfort, Nov. 7 — Paul Combs, Combs Truck Line, Hazard, will operate a motor truck line between Louisville and Jenkins, Assistant Commissioner Delmer Ison, Department of Motor Transportation, announced.

A regular route common truck carrier truck certificate was granted Combs Co., Ison said, with restrictions concerning points in Louisville and Lexington which are served only in connection with freight moving between the two cities and points east of the Clark-Powell County line. Service will not be available between Louisville and Lexington, Ison continued.

The permit lists 13 routes in the Eastern section of the State.

Telephone Talk

by
H. D. HAYES
Your Telephone Manager

OVER THE HORIZON—How would you like to see a TV program from Cuba? Well, now it's possible. American Telephone and Telegraph Company and Radio Corporation of Cuba have just completed between Florida and Cuba the first two-way "over the horizon" communication system ever to be put in service. Before this, beams traveled in a straight line between relay antennas. When they came to an ocean, they were stopped because there was no place for further relays. The new system sends powerful beams into the air. Thousands of feet up, a layer of atmosphere scatters them downward to distant receiving stations. So don't be too surprised if some night your TV starts speaking Spanish. You might not understand all that's said, but at least you'll know how your telephone company's "good neighbor" policy brought our friends in Cuba here to our community.

TO MARKET, TO MARKET—When most folks go shopping, they keep their eyes open for what's new. Your telephone company likes to keep up, too, by developing more and more telephone conveniences. For instance, now you can have a telephone that lights up at night; a spring cord for your phone that never snarls or tangles; or, if you like, a volume-control telephone that lets you turn the voice of the person you're talking with up or down. And best of all (my favorites, anyway) we have color telephones—so bright and convenient as extra phones anywhere in the house. Think you might like some of these new conveniences? Call us, and we'll be glad to help you select them.

DOGGONE—I guess it's a dog's life all right for the pup. Waiting while the lady talks. But who can blame her when these new outdoor telephone booths are so handy. You'll be seeing them more than ever around here, anywhere you go. We telephone people think they're pretty special because they make it a lot easier for everyone to talk to anyone, most anytime.

At Your Pontiac Dealer's Nov. 9

BOLDEST ADVANCE IN 50 YEARS!

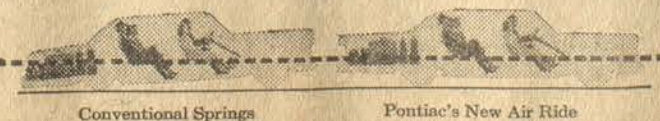

THE GOLDEN JUBILEE CAR!

It's a revolution on wheels—boldly planned from the very beginning as a Golden Anniversary showpiece for Pontiac and General Motors.

This one you really must see—here is a car unlike any you have ever known! This Golden Jubilee Pontiac is actually an all-new breed of cars—in four brilliant series and 16 sleek models covering virtually every price bracket.

In all of them you'll find engineering advances so daringly different yet so basically sound that they will trigger the next big change in automobile design. You'll find a few of these ideas illustrated here, but even they can't begin to tell the full story.

Why not be among the first to discover the newest. When you meet this bold new Pontiac, you're in for a driving thrill that is impossible to duplicate in cars of conventional design. So make it a point to see your Pontiac dealer soon and prove to yourself that no car in history ever left yesterday so far behind!

Ever-Level Air Ride*

The most perfect suspension system ever designed—and Pontiac's revolutionary Aero-Frame is specifically designed for it! Air cushions on all four wheels literally float you over the bumps... keep the car perfectly level regardless of load or road!

*An extra-cost option.

Aero-Frame STABILITY

Here is the biggest basic construction change since the early days of motoring. Pontiac's revolutionary new frame design is lighter, stronger, more stable than the conventional box type used on other cars.

Circles-of-Steel SAFETY

Pontiac's completely new body construction surrounds you with girder steel protection—above, below, fore and aft. Now you can drive with wonderful new peace of mind!

Quadra-Poise ROADABILITY

Only the wheels know where the bumps are! Pontiac's new suspension geometry ends dive, sway and bounce to bring you the smoothest ride, easiest handling you've ever known!

Tempest 395 PERFORMANCE

Try Pontiac's new jet-propelled response! Scores of exclusive engineering innovations make the Pontiac's hefty power plant a miracle of smoothness... and you can choose from four horsepower ratings including the "Turbo" and "Fuel Injection" and "Turbo Fuel Injection" options.
