

Cheat Yourself — Take Good Soil Samples," Says Your County Agent

Floyd county has had a soil testing laboratory in operation for several years now and farmers are urged to avail themselves of this service," County Agent Robert M. Jones, says. "The following directions in making a soil test should enable any farmer or gardener to correctly take a sample."

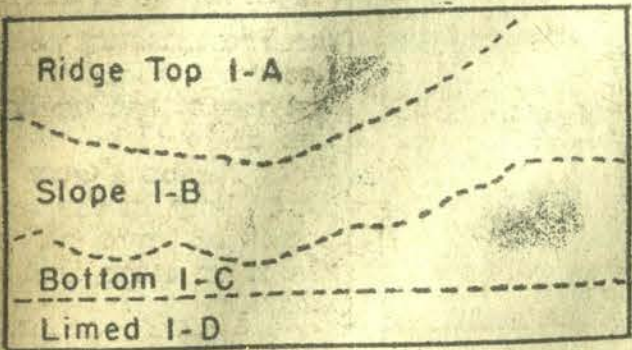

A soil test is the best guide to determine what plant nutrients to buy in fertilizers so that those nutrients in the soil will be balanced for the crop that is to be grown. It is also the best guide in determining when and how much limestone should be applied so that the greatest returns can be obtained from the fertilizer bought.

The test is no better than the soil sample taken from the field or area to be treated. The accompanying illustrations show how to get good soil samples.

1 If the field is uniform in soil type and if fertilizer and lime treatments have been the same over the entire field, one composite sample collected from 10 or more spots is sufficient. Unusual spots should be avoided, such as fence rows, garden plots, and where lime or manure has been piled.

2 If the field varies in soil type, or if fertilizer or lime treatment or cropping has been different on various parts of the field during recent years, a composite sample of 10 or more borings should be taken from each area and labeled as shown.

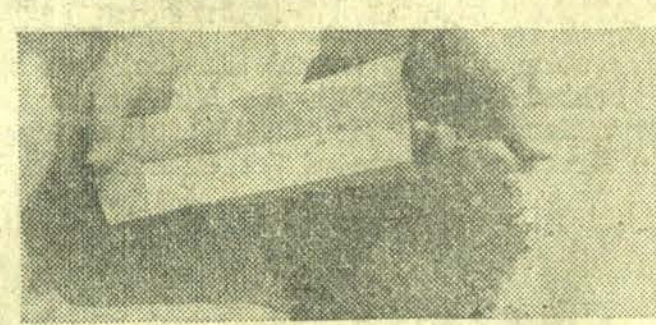

3 A core or slice of soil from the surface to a depth of 6 inches or to plow depth should be collected from each of the 10 or more borings. Remove trash from the spot to be sampled but be sure to include the surface soil in the sample.

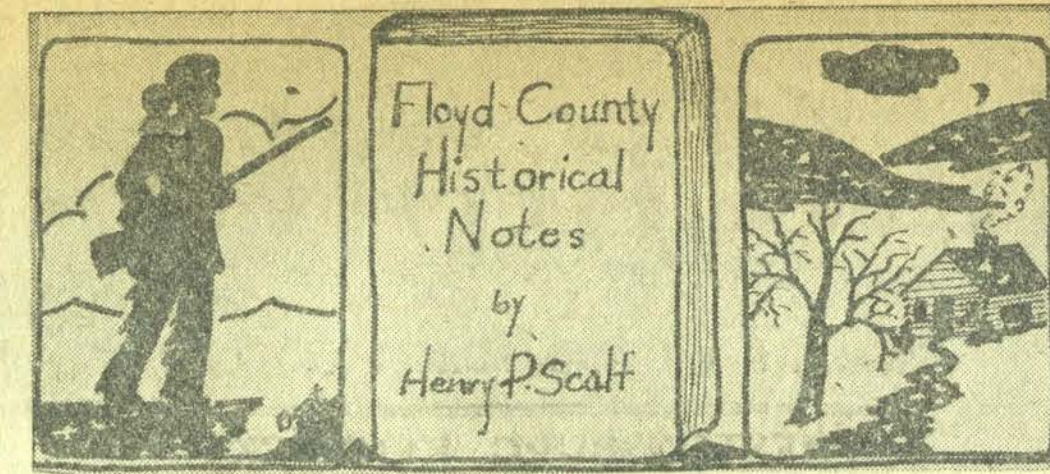

4 The uniform cores from the 10 or more borings should be placed in a clean pail or box. Be sure that no lime or fertilizer is sticking to the inside of the container. This will ruin an otherwise good soil sample. Good samples can be taken when the soil is wet, but crumbling or pulverizing should be delayed until the soil is partly dried.

5 If the soil crumbles easily, pulverize and thoroughly mix the collected borings as above; then spread on a clean paper to dry. The sample can be dried in the barn, garage, heated basement or room. Do not dry the sample in an oven, before an open fire, on top of a furnace, stove or radiator.

6 When the soil is air dried, thoroughly mix again, put one pint in a clean paper bag, label the bag with your name, address, and the field number. Deliver the sample to your County Extension office, and fill out the past treatment and cropping history form.

EARLY HOUSEHOLD UTENSILS

Copied from a History of Creede (W. Va.), by C. W. Thomson, is the following excerpt which details many of the names and uses of early household fixtures and utensils. The kind used in the tri-state section were the same as used in the Big Sandy valley. In fact, over all the vast expanse of the Middle West there was little variation in the tools, utensils and fixtures the early settlers used everyday.

The excerpt follows:

"Prior to the 1890's the most common household goods and appliances were the boot jack, the spinning wheel, knitting needles, oil lamps, and lanterns, the cord beds, trundle beds, feather beds, ticks with straw or shuck fillings, the wood fireplace with wide open hearth and mantel, tri-pod or crane to swing over the fire for heating water or cooking purposes, the Dutch oven also for cooking upon the hearth, the coffee mill for grinding the coffee, the most common kind being Arbuckle which sold for 25 cents per pound, tongs, poker, and shovels for the fireplace, old fashioned chairs and tables, cupboards, quite a few being homemade, dressers, etc.

"Then if there were boys in the home, one could find in some convenient place a bunch of whips, usually hickories, for use on the boys if they became obstreperous, most parents heeding the Bible teaching, 'Spare the rod and spoil the child.' This practice has become unpopular, especially in the schools, but I suspect that there are many people today who doubt the wisdom of abandoning this practice."

KENTUCKY COFFEE TREES

A letter, November 20, last year, from Rufus M. Reed, naturalist of Lovely, Ky., reveals that he has discovered a grove of Kentucky Coffee trees. He encloses a clipping of a news story from The Williamson (W. Va.) Daily News.

The clipping reads: A grove of the famous Kentucky coffee trees, which played a prominent role in the lives of the early pioneers of this section of the country, was recently located on the Big Sandy River by Rufus M. Reed, naturalist.

Reed came across the grove while studying trees in Johnson county. It is located at the head of the branch on a farm owned by Bob Auxier, who lives opposite East Point, Ky.

The trees, which have leaves nearly four feet long, are believed to be the only ones on the Big Sandy.

Reed said the history of the trees goes back to the time of the first settlement on the river. Settlers brought seeds of the Kentucky Coffee Tree to Harman's Station, an old fort, and planted some of them in order to be assured of a future supply of "coffee."

Harman's Station is the fort to which Jenny Wiley came and asked for refuge when she was running away from the Indians.

Reed also writes: "The Kentucky Coffee tree has large, twice-compounded leaves; its blooms are in large clusters, are greenish-white and about the size of a man's hat. I have brought specimens to Martin county and hope to get them started here."

6 MUSCLES CONTROL MOVING OF EACH EYE

St. Louis — The movement of each human eye is controlled by six tiny muscles working together with an intricate regulatory mechanism that makes both eyes move parallel to each other, up or down, right or left. Another wonderful thing about the eye is its ability to perceive colors and dimensions. If man wanted to duplicate the eye's adaptability it would take a camera with 40 different kinds of film capable of being changed at split-second intervals.

NEW KIND OF GLUE REALLY STICKS

A new kind of glue is so powerful, Reader's Digest reports, that one drop of it will support 5000 pounds. To prove this, a technician put one drop of the stuff between the tips of two steel rods, and held them together with his fingers for 20 seconds. Then the glued-together rods were hooked into a crane, and they lifted an automobile with four passengers off the ground.

Fire Destroys Store On South Lake Drive; Damage Is Not Named

The building housing the Wm. T. Hammond grocery store on South Lake Drive here was gutted and its contents destroyed at 2:30 Sunday morning by fire of undetermined origin.

Bobby Ford, who discovered the blaze and was a volunteer firefighter, was overcome by smoke and was hospitalized, Fire Chief Amos Gray said.

No estimate of the loss was available.

Fishing at Dewey has picked up gradually for the last two weeks, with L. G. Mayo, Don Cook and Circuit Judge Edw. P. Hill making notable catches. The latter caught what is believed to have been the largest bass taken from the lake Monday when he netted a largemouth which weighed eight pounds. Jiggling is the effective fish-producer at Dewey, as at other lakes, at this time of year.

Haying equipment ought to be checked for worn or unsafe ropes or pulleys before operation starts.

state department and county officials and employees attended the meeting, which was held at McDowell high school. George E. Allen, the club's official toastmaster, presided in his usual spot.

"Let's get more total dollars rather than argue down in the legislature at Frankfort about those we have," Mr. Jackson suggested. "It's not a question of dividing up the budget we have but how to get what is needed to do our job."

Pointing out that American has lived off it virginity 300 years and that all the great civilizations have crumbled not for lack of education and culture but for lack of conservation, the speaker declared the time is short, that the task is one to be begun now and without delay.

"If we had had a good conservation program 20 years ago in the Big Sandy valley and if we had had Fishtrap dam, we would not have had that $65 million loss to flood last year," he added. "One of your great resources, coal, has been shipped out and shipped out for years. This coal, converted into electricity, would result in industries here and would keep our people at home."

"You can make a fortune in trees," Jackson told the gathering. "It takes time and fire protection, of course, but you can do it. In Ohio they take $2 worth of our lumber and in a few hours they have $12 chair."

He explained some phases of the soil bank program which takes land out of production and affords government payments to landowners sufficient to pay for tree seedlings and their planting, thus putting the landowner in business with a cash-producing, soil-conserving crop at no expense.

The tourist trade, too, offers Kentucky a great opportunity, Jackson said. Last year the state's total income was $4,200,000,000. Tourists spent $18 billion dollars in the United States last year, and Kentucky is within auto-driving distance of one-fourth of this tourist business. "You can see," Mr. Jackson added, "how the state's income could be more than doubled if Kentucky got that one-fourth of this business."

In a question-and-answer period the Conservation Commissioner said Dewey Lake development will be based on road construction there, then the construction of a few small cottages. He indicated that Dewey Lake State Park development by the Division of Parks will be "in a small way," these plans being based on the theory that private enterprise should profit most from the attraction. He added that a drinking water supply and improved bath-house will be among improvements soon to be added at the Stratton Branch recreation area.

State park employees are planting 200 acres to seedlings at Dewey lake, and this area will be used in the future as a demonstration forest for Eastern Kentucky.

Mr. Jackson, in response to an inquiry, said control of water pollution must necessarily be a "slow, gradual process."

Gene Butcher, head of the Division of Forestry, told the banquet bathing that there has been a 500% increase in requests for seedlings to plant in this county. He described the surge of interest in reforestation as "unbelievable."

Others who spoke briefly or were recognized at the banquet were Arnold Mitchell, director of the Division of Game Management; Dr. C. L. Allen, League of Kentucky Sportsmen vice-president; Arnold Workman, president of the Floyd County Fish & Game Club; George W. Newman, vice-president; A. J. Turner, secretary-treasurer; the club's directors, L. G. Mayo, J. D. Fitzpatrick and J. C. Moore; Olive Akers, State Forestry Service supervisor; Roe Turner, forester; Raymond Copley, Floyd conservation officer; John Redwine, Seventh district conservation supervisor; Bernard Baldrige, district supervisor of junior conservation clubs; Judge Bert T. Combs, J. M. Stumbo, of the Floyd Health Department, and the following Floyd officials: Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill, County Judge Henry Stumbo, County Clerk DuRan Moore, State Senator Jerry F. Howell, Ex-Representative Lon C. Hill.

A sextette of McDowell high school students, directed by Olive Rose Hall, entertained with a program of instrumental and vocal music.

Linkous, Speaker At Foremen's Meet Held At Maytown

Five Eastern Kentucky counties were represented by those present at the Maytown high school cafeteria, Friday evening, when the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company Foremen's Club held its third monthly meeting for 1958.

Paul Linkous, personnel director of the Inland Steel Company, spoke to the group in his capacity as a National Director of the National Management Association about the practical education and development of foremen from the early years in American industry to the present. One common endeavor of Foremen's Club members is that of improving themselves for the benefit of the Company and its employees. In connection with this, Mr. Linkous also discussed a few of the many ways the NMA contributes to the general education of personnel in a supervisory capacity who are members of an affiliated club.

The ladies responsible for preparing the dinners for the Maytown meetings were given a vote of appreciation from each member of the Club.

Easter Seal Collections Noted By George Evans

Floyd county residents have contributed $357 to the 1958 Easter Seal campaign to date, according to George E. Evans, Jr., of Wayland, chairman of the local drive.

The total reported represents contributions received by mail. Easter Seal sales show an increase over last year's contributions at this same time, Mr. Evans said. Contributions to the campaign, which closes April 6, should be sent to: Mrs. Elizabeth R. Martin, Treasurer, Floyd County Crippled Children Committee, Evans Elkhorn Coal Company, Wayland, Kentucky.

Last year in Floyd county, 62 children received help through the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children and the Easter Seal Society.

Needed For Future Emergencies

The need of a trained rescue squad for Prestonsburg and Floyd county is so obvious now that surely such an organization will be formed without long delay.

The shocking school bus disaster comes to mind first when we think of such a very real need. But trained rescuers, with adequate equipment, are a need for those future tragedies that will occur and for emergencies that will inevitably arise.

Dewey Lake, attraction for thousands annually, may be the scene of an emergency at any time. The Big Sandy river holds its dangers. All life is fraught with peril of a physical nature. These realities and the sad experiences of the past argue the need for such an organization beyond all contradiction.

The fine Tennesseans who have so unselfishly served in the search for missing bodies since the bus tragedy form the type of organization to which we refer. They are trained in lifesaving and recovery work and have the modern equipment needed—boats, motors, vehicles for transport from one point to another, resuscitators and so on. They are also disciplined for the work at hand.

All this physical equipment requires money. All the work of organization requires time, effort and leadership. Public contributions should help the financing of equipment needs. Civil Defense, the Fire Department or some other agency could, and surely will, lead in the work of organization. The rescue squad from Morristown, Tenn., already has volunteered its help toward organization and training. The fiscal court and the city of Prestonsburg will doubtless find funds for equipment purchases.

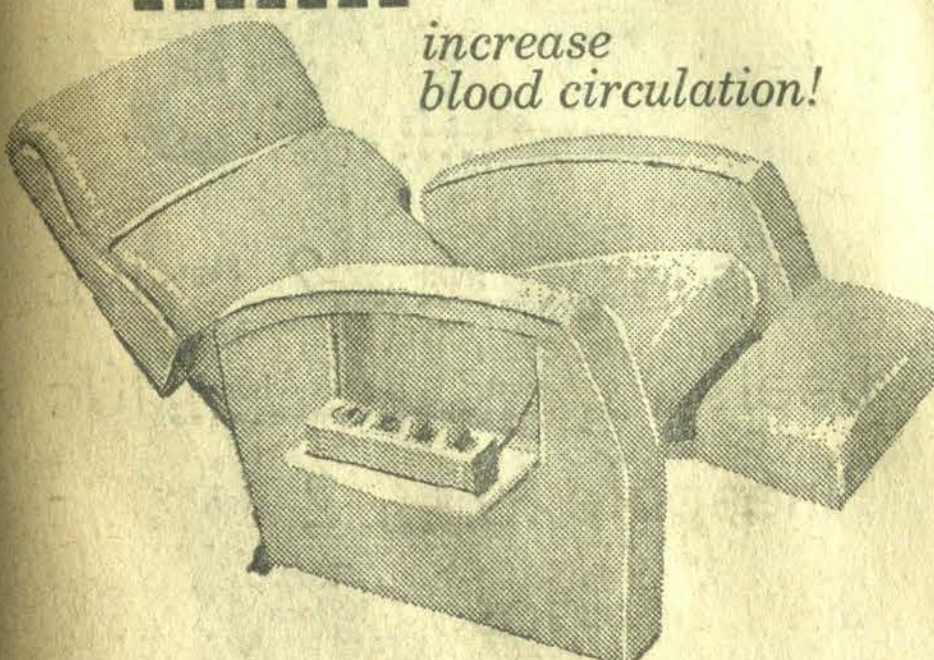

The Times trusts that this is something that can be begun soon, and it hopes, too—thinking of those who have come here to help us—that, once we do have a trained squad, we shall never fail any community where similar help is needed.

It costs the Kentucky Division of Forestry ten cents a woodland acre for initial establishment of facilities for forest fire detection and ten cents an acre for operation of these facilities.

nerve. As she walked from her mine after having her photograph taken before the mine, she hailed a miner. "There's a river back in that mine," he told her. "There's enough water to stretch from here to your house," he said, and that was a big river.

"I've got a pump down at the house you can run on A. C. I'll take that water out."

This was her business. She said that she also orders and delivers blasting powder for the mine and sees to it that the miners always have the necessary working tools.

"I haven't ever been inside a coal mine," she said. "There's a law against women mining coal."

Mrs. Tackett is on the slight side and is no more equipped for the muscular labors of a man than any average woman, but her spirit makes her bigger than she actually is.

"I can do anything to a truck, car or washing machine," she says. She has never lain in bed a whole day since she can remember, although she is the mother of 15 children, Mrs. Tackett proudly says.

But she admitted that the flu almost got her down. She said that she cannot read but "can count anything I want to." The Tacketts do not own their own home or any land. "We are just trying to keep something for the kids to eat," Mrs. Tackett said.

These are not good days for the Tackett family which has had only two paydays since December 1. Since coal is not selling well there are many families dependent on mining that are experiencing tough times.

The best month the Tacketts—husband, wife, son and Mr. Tackett's brother—have ever had with their mine saw a gross return of $700. When the net was divided the men received no more than $100 each for the month's work.

Mr. Tackett really isn't able to work but does. Their coal is so wet it will not separate in shakers and so must depend for sale on the need for slack coal.

"B. F. Reed has been mighty good to us—don't know what we would have done if he hadn't helped," the plucky woman said. But he can't create a market for their coal; right now, Reed is having his troubles finding a market for his own.

She said that she would have accepted a job in Allen as a mechanic but she couldn't since there is no one to stay at home in East McDowell with her smaller children. Of the 15 children who have been born to her, 12 are living. Nine are living at home and of these four are in school.

Mrs. Tackett said her older children who are yet at home are boys who cannot be expected to stay home to care for the younger children.

Although there is hardship in her family, Mrs. Tackett is not without a wonderful sense of humor. She recalls how she became a mechanic. She said that when she and her husband were married in 1935 both had cars of their own. The first thing she fixed on a car was a cross member on an A-model Ford.

She said she can overhaul motors, transmissions, axles, take down any car, get pieces for it and put it back together again.

"Now I don't know about these newer cars that use hydraulic drive. I never have fixed them but I believe I could if I could get to tear one of 'em down. I never worked on fluid brakes before I tore the wheels off my husband's International truck while he was visiting his mother in Virginia."

She said they had been experiencing difficulty with the brakes for several months and had been paying mechanics for repairs which always proved to be temporary. Finally Mr. Tackett made the visit to Virginia, leaving the truck at home.

She said she was getting tired of paying out money for nothing so she took the wheels off herself and started looking for the trouble. "Why they were a-layin' the springs in there wrong and foul'n' up the brake cups. I took them out and cleaned them. Never had any more trouble with the brakes after that. And they were the first fluid brakes I had ever seen."

"If he hadn't gone to Virginia," she laughed, "I don't reckon them brakes would have ever got fixed. I didn't have the nerve to do it while he was around."

on the recovery operations was issued this week by the Recovery committee. It was pointed out that funds collected by the Prestonsburg School Disaster committee were made primarily for the funeral expenses of the children. The Recovery committee needs funds for many phases of the operation, it was pointed out, and since the work may run for weeks yet the cost will mount to several thousand dollars.

Other actions by the Recovery committee were the naming of James B. Goble and Graham Burchett to the committee, making seven in all; election of County Attorney Robert S. Wellman as secretary and James B. Goble as treasurer. Goble, who lost all three of his children in the bus tragedy of whom only one was recovered, urged the general public to contribute to the recovery operations.

The river rose again last Friday, which was exactly one month after the nation-shocking school bus tragedy, and recovery operations since that time have been severely hampered. By Monday the river was at such a stage that only surveillance at the three nets and along the river banks could be maintained. Dragging operations were about to a standstill.

Thirty-one members of the Morristown and Greenville, Tenn., rescue squads arrived last Friday night for a resumption of the services they have been rendering ever since the tragedy. Eighteen volunteers from this county took six boats for a down-river search Sunday, operating from Georges Creek, Louisa and Catlettsburg.

Still continuing their search are two fathers of the tragedy victims—James B. Goble and William Jarrell.

Their efforts and all others have been in vain.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express with all the gratefulness possible our appreciation to the many fine people who in so many ways aided us following the tragic death of our children, Glenda May and Forrest. Your assistance through so many services, large and small, enabled us to bear our burden. To those who offered flowers, food, the use of their cars, to the Rev. Ira McMillen, and to the Moore Funeral Home our appreciation is extended.

Forest Ranger Warns Of Woodland Burnings; Fire Number Reduced

Roe Turner, forest ranger, in commenting on the forest fire prevention program this week, said that this county had 15 scattered spring fires this year.

The ranger announced that his men were ready for duty if there was a rash of fires incident to spring burning of trash.

Turner pointed out the law on burning of trash by gardeners and others. He warned that the law would be enforced and that violators of the forestry statutes will be prosecuted.

"We have had a slow decrease in forest fires in this county for the last several years. Many land-owners are setting out tree seedlings and we must protect them," he said.

The public was urged to use every caution in burning trash or brush.

He will attend summer school at the University, working toward his master's degree in education in Cooperative Extension. Boggs was graduated in 1952 with a bachelor's degree in agriculture from the College of Agriculture and Home Economics. ### $1,231.13 Is Collected In Floyd-Co. Heart Drive; Is 50% Above Last Year

Floyd county's total in the Heart Fund drive conducted last month has climbed to a new high of $1,231.13, according to latest reports.

This is 50 per cent greater than the total in last year's drive when the county was battling one of the worst floods in its history.

Heading the drive were Mrs. Cora S. McHone, Wheelwright, and C. Kilmer Combs, Prestonsburg, co-chairman for the county. Mr. Combs was assisted by Mrs. Mary Jane Harkins who headed the Heart Sunday drive in Prestonsburg.

According to the co-chairman, much of the success in organizing for the drive was due to the efforts of the Woman's Clubs of Prestonsburg, Wheelwright, Drift, Allen-Martin and Betsy Layne.

The total amount contributed in the county was based on reports of $351.83 and $879.30 respectively from Mr. Combs and Mrs. McHone. Statewide contributions to the Heart Fund now total $284,917.69, according to the state campaign chairman, Dr. Frank G. Dickey, Lexington, president of the University of Kentucky.

Floyd Girl Among 7,200 Top-Rated After Tests Made On National Level

Miss Rita Lee Cahill, senior at Our Lady of the Mountains high school in Paintsville, and daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. C. J. Cahill, of Drift, has been commended by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation for outstanding performance in a nationwide college aptitude test given last October.

Miss Cahill was a Kentucky runner-up in the 1957-58 Merit Scholarship competition. She will be sent a letter of recommendation by National Merit Scholarship Corporation for use in applying to college. John M. Stalnak, president of NMSC, said he believes the 7,500 students who received the commendation rank in the top one or two per cent in ability in the senior classes of their respective states.

"While the students receiving this commendation did not quite reach the finals of the 1957-58 Merit Scholarship competition, each of them has demonstrated highly superior ability and outstanding promise to benefit from college training," declared Mr. Stalnak. "I hope that every one of them will make a special effort to obtain the best college education possible. Our country needs more able people like these."

Miss Cahill plans to attend Villa Madonna College, Covington, where her sister, Mary Clare, is a sophomore.

The annual National Merit Scholarship competition offers the largest system of privately financed scholarships in the United States. The Merit Scholarship Program is open to all high school seniors in the United States and its possessions.

This year, over 260,000 outstanding seniors from 14,000 high schools entered the competition which began with a nationwide screening examination in October, 1957. About 7,200 students, who have already been named, are now in the finals of the current competition. Over 1000 four-year Merit Scholarships worth an estimated $5 million to the winners and their colleges will be awarded about May 1, 1958.

NMSC was established in 1955 through grants of $20.5 million from the Ford Foundation and Carnegie Corporation of New York. Over 80 business and industrial firms offer four-year college scholarships through its facilities.

Virginia Reffett, of Auxier, is the champion tree planter of Floyd county, district forester William Music announced this week after she had ordered 25,000 trees for planting this spring.

She is one of 125 who will plant 517,500 tree seedlings in this county. Others planting 5,000 trees or over are:

Clive Akers, H. T. Allen, Jack Allen, J. B. Clarke, W. J. Turner, J. E. Conley, Moss Dempsey, Alex Derosssett, George Gray, J. F. Howell, Mariah Hammonds, Oliver Hall, Fannie Jarrell, Clem Martin, J. T. May, Princess Elkhorn, Coal Co., Henry P. Scaif, Aaron Shepherd, Brice Sheperd, Daniels Akers in the six counties of the Eastern forestry district which includes Lawrence, Johnson, Martin, Floyd, Magoffin, and Pike a total of 1,836,500 trees will be planted, Music said.

"To encourage reforestation of Kentucky's 1,500,000 idle or eroded acres, the Division of Forestry furnishes tree seedlings at nominal cost. Said Mrs. Reffett: "This land planted to trees becomes more valuable and will furnish timber, pulpwood and fenceposts in addition to watershed protection values."

The division's nursery has sold out its planting stock for this year. "Now is the time to be planting," Music commented.

One hundred thousand pine seedlings were being planted this week on the slopes overlooking Dewey Lake.

MARTIN

The Allen-Martin Woman's Club met March 17 in the home of Mrs. German Vance, of Martin. Mrs. Vance's home had a delightful homey atmosphere with an open coal fire burning and an early-season bowl of yellow Jonquils blooming on a low table.

Mrs. Nance as hostess had the devotional and as a special treat had her granddaughter, Mary Beth Sammons, and Dotty Gay Martin to play and sing "An Evening Prayer". The program was then turned over to Dorothy Martin and she introduced the guest for the evening, Mrs. V. O. Turner, of Prestonsburg. Mrs. Turner has written poems since she was nine years old and has several notebooks of her writings. Many of these poems have been published in leading magazines.

The club enjoyed her reading some of her special work very much.

The Lord's prayer was repeated in closing and refreshments were served to Mrs. V. O. ### WHEELWRIGHT

A better-than-usual turnout of parents for the March meeting of the Wheelwright P-T.A. participated in an interesting meeting. After the meeting got under way the subject was brought up about cashing a matured government bond held by the P-T.A. and it was decided to cash it and deposit where it will draw more interest. Also it was called to the attention of the president, Elmer Ferguson, that the P-T.A. had promised to get some supplementary books needed at the grade school. A committee was appointed to investigate and report on this matter. Then it was voted to pay half the expense of a tape recorder that the Band Parents are buying to be used by the band and others in our schools.

Mrs. Boone Hall's room won for the most parents present at the grade school and Mrs. Conway's at the high school.

After these and a few other matters were discussed the program chairman, Mrs. Conley, presented Mrs. Wilkerson who in turn presented the following students who gave a preview of what they were going to do at the speech festival: Bobby Meade, senior; Nancy Hall, junior; Stephen Mullet, senior; Jonell Hall, senior, and Jackie Wright, junior. Their presentations were much enjoyed.

STUDENT AID PLANS TOLD

Word comes from Sidney Rosenblum, camp committee chairman of the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, that a resident camp for crippled and blind children will be ready next year in Butler State Park, near Carrollton. Rosenblum says Gov. A. B. Chandler has approved use of the land for the camp. The state will provide 120 acres and the society will supply operating funds and facilities.

Princess Elkhorn Again To Give 5 Scholarships; Program Is In 14th Year

The Princess Elkhorn Coal Company, of David, announced this week, that it will again offer five college scholarships this spring, thus continuing a program established in 1944.

Any graduating senior in Floyd and Johnson counties may compete for one four-year scholarship with an annual value of $400. The recipient of this award may study engineering, medicine, theology or education at the college of his or her choice.

Two four-year scholarships with an annual value of $400 will be awarded to sons of Princess Elkhorn employees to study mining, electrical, or mechanical engineering at the University of Kentucky.

Two four-year scholarships to Pikeville College valued at $300 a year will be awarded to daughters of Princess Elkhorn employees. Daughters of company employees may choose an alternate plan by attending the St. Mary's School of Nursing, Huntington, W. Va., for three years with all school expenses paid.

CHECK FOR HAZARDS

INSPECTIONS for fire and health hazards are being carried out at all institutions housing persons receiving state public assistance grants. These include nursing and convalescent homes and homes for older persons. The project was ordered by Economic Security Commissioner V. E. Barnes. He said no institution caring for older persons would be approved by his agency without prior approval by the state Board of Health and Department of Public Safety.

HONEST TAXPAYER

NOTE RECEIVED by the State Revenue Department: "Will you please send me some tax blanks as I cannot get out. I want to be an honest taxpayer." The return address: Kentucky Penitentiary, Eddyville, Ky.

A DATE TO REMEMBER

DEMOCRATS and horses will be off and running April 12 at Lexington. On that date the spring races open at Keeneland and the Democrats have their annual Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner.

COVERED BRIDGES

OUR LATEST check with the State Highway Department discovers that covered bridges in Kentucky now number 18. Listed by counties: Bracken, 1; Bourbon, 4; Fleming, 6; Greenup, 2; Lawrence, 1; Lewis, 1; Mason, 1; Robertson, 1; and Washington, 1.

ALASKAN PEAK ATTRACTS

Fairbanks, Alaska — Attendance for the first 10 months of 1957 at Mount McKinley National Park totaled 10,647 persons compared with 5,194 for the like period the year before. The huge gain was attributed largely to the building of new roads, which made the tourist attraction more accessible.

The scholarship chairman for Princess Elkhorn Coal Company, Raymond A. Bradbury, has announced that the scholarships will be awarded on the following basis:

- (1) results of a competitive examination;
- (2) high school grades;
- (3) high school community activities;
- (4) character and personality ratings;
- (5) need;
- (6) acceptance by the institution to be attended;
- and (7) continuation of the scholarship requires that the student maintain a scholastic average which meets the institution's graduation requirements.

At present there are 11 young people attending college under the scholarship program. During the fourteen years this program has been in effect there have been 55 young men and women attending college with grants from Princess Elkhorn Coal Company.

Bradbury also announced that all seniors interested in applying for any of the scholarships to be awarded in 1958 should contact their high school principal who has application forms. The competitive examination will be held Monday, April 21, at 9:00 a.m. (EST), at Prestonsburg high school.

Lamb was handled in only 39 per cent of the retail stores handling meat of the U. S., says a 1955 national survey, results of which were released recently by the USDA. The figure probably is much higher now.

High School PTA Here Adopts By-Laws, Votes

By-laws recommended by the National Parent-Teacher Association were read and approved by the Prestonsburg high school Parent-Teacher Association at its meeting last week in the grade school auditorium.

The P-T-A. finance chairman, Bert Colvin, reported a balance of $68 and it was voted to apply this amount toward improving the high school grounds by buying and planting needed shrubs or trees.

Mrs. W. W. Burchett, P-T.A. president, named the following to a Nominating committee toward the election of officers for the coming year: Mrs. Fred Francis, Prestonsburg, chairman; Claude Allen, David; Mrs. Allie Howard, Allen; Mrs. Harold Dorsey, Prestonsburg, a teacher in the school.

A program of dramatic readings was presented by Mrs. Cora T. Cook's speech class. The meeting was concluded with a discussion of high school problems.

It'll Pay To Wait If Tax Is Late

Income-tax refunds may come a little later than usual this year. But don't fret. If your refund doesn't come until quite late—after June 15 or so—you'll probably get back more than you expected.

The law requires the Government to pay interest on refunds that are too tardy, said William M. Gray, district director of the Internal Revenue Service here.

A change this year from manual to mechanical computing may run refunds a little later than usual, Gray said. But he added that most refunds should be out by June 1. Mechanical computing eventually will speed up refunding.

The I.R.S. must pay interest at a rate of 6 per cent on refunds not certified by a local office form payment by May 31.

Our Job to help you Live Better Electrically

Our job is generating electricity and getting it to where it's used. We're in this business because it is concerned with the supply of a fundamental requirement of modern living, because it's an honorable one, because we like it, and because we want to earn a living at it.

We aim to give one kind of service to everyone...the best that's possible. That means supplying our customers with what they want when they want it. It means being courteous at all times and maintaining attractive easy-to-do-business-with offices. It means doing everything we can to keep complaints from arising, and it means prompt and fair handling of those that do.

We are a citizen of each community we serve and take an active part in its affairs. Like any other citizen, we want our neighbors to think well of us. Besides, it makes good business-sense. We can only prosper as the community prospers so we help it thrive in every way we can.

Such is our job as we see it. We are trying to do it well and to do it better all the time.
