Tuesday, hit back at his critic through a prepared statement, released by Robert Pearce, an attorney.

"I will not, however, barter my independence or integrity for the support of any man or group of men," he said.

"I think my last campaign is proof enough to the people that I will be influenced by no one in my aim and purpose to tell the people the truth about their government and its needs," he added.

Combs said he had long known and long respected "my friend Wilson Wyatt" and considers him an outstanding Kentuckian. "I am not opposing Wilson. I'm opposing Chandlerism," Combs added.

"I think it is a healthy contrast that our group will have the privilege of weighing the merits of the candidates who will carry their banner while a hand-picked and mouth-fed 'waterboy' has long since been dictated to carry the burden of Chandlerism," Combs said.

That apparently was a reference to Lieutenant Governor Harry Lee Waterfield, the heir designate of the Chandler Administration.

View Urban Renewal As Feasible Program; Set Road-e-o, May 18

A letter expressing unanimous endorsement of the urban renewal program from the Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce was read to the City Council by Mayor Bill Napier Monday night.

The Jaycees deemed the project constructive and feasible. The letter was signed by Frank Heinze, Jaycee president.

The Jaycees also announced this week that the annual Jaycee Road-e-o will be held May 18.

Entrants to the Road-e-o have the chance of advancing all the way to the national contest where first place brings a $2,000 scholarship.

The Road-e-o is designed to give young motorists an opportunity to prove and improve their driving habits and attitudes and to stimulate community activities in bigger and better high school driver education programs.

The contest is performed on three levels of activity: the community level with a written test on driving knowledge and a performance test in four obstacle-type exercises; the state level, with a written test of driving knowledge, a performance test in four obstacle exercises, and a road check for in-traffic performance; the national level, with a written test of driving knowledge, a performance, a driving aptitude scale, a psycho-physical examination, and a personal interview.

The Prestonsburg Jaycees said that previous Road-e-os have proved successful and have provided enjoyment to youngsters participating. In order to qualify for the contest, entrants must not have reached 10 years of age by August 15, the last day of the national finals in Washington, D. C., have a driver's license or permit, have a clean record of no moving traffic violations in the past six months.

All persons interested can register with the chairman of the project, Harvey Gunnells, Prestonsburg.

The winners were: Unit II, Peggy Crum, Maytown; Unit III, Pam Combs, Maytown; Unit IV, Phyllis Combs, Maytown; Unit V, June Martin, Garrett; VI, Claudena Lowe, Maytown; VII, Patty Warrens, Maytown; and VIII Sandra Hicks, Haytown.

The defendant who won an acquittal was Walter Owens, who was accused of child desertion.

Circuit Judge Edw. P. Hill disqualified for the trial of J. D. Adams on two charges of placing a distinguishing mark on ballots and one of failing to perform his duties as an election officer. A special judge has not yet been designated by the Court of Appeals.

Eldred E. Adams, of Louisa, has been named special judge for the trial of Cluett Messer on charges of obtaining money under false pretense and of accepting a bribe as an officer. The case has been continued and no trial date set.

Set for trial Saturday after having been called for hearing within the week were these cases: Fred Castle and Roy Tate, each for selling alcoholic beverages; Tavis Akers, grand larceny.

Trial of Oliver Allen on an assault and battery count was continued till Sept. 26.

Two whiskey cases were dismissed. Commonwealth's Attorney Hollie Conley explained that liquor case dismissals have resulted from defective affidavits sworn out in procuring the search warrants which led to the arrest or indictments of defendants. The two liquor cases dismissed were against Ed Wright, selling, and Hack Hunt, possessing. The bastardy charge against Amos Gray was dismissed on the grounds that evidence was insufficient.

Several gaming cases were quashed, to be resubmitted to the grand jury. The indictments named these defendants: Herb Anderson, Hugh Sword, Mrs. E. C. Slade, Robert and Dolly Terry, Mrs. Charles Hunter.

The $1,000 bond of Carlos Edward Hall, who is accused of deserting his pregnant wife, was forfeited.

Greenville Squad Leader To Be Here Next Sunday To Help With Organizing

Interest in the organization of rescue squads in this county similar to those of the East Tennessee section which has been rising since the need was demonstrated following the bus tragedy in which 27 lost their lives Feb. 28 will be implemented Sunday at 1:30 p.m. when Capt. John Metcalf of Greenville, Tenn., will be here to assist in organization work.

Capt. Metcalf, member of the Greenville (Tenn.) rescue squad, and who has been assisting in the operations on the river seeking to find the bodies of the children remaining in the river, comes here at the invitation of the Prestonsburg Schoolchildren Recovery committee. He will meet those interested at the armory on North Lake Drive and an invitation to attend is extended to the public.

Pikeville organized a rescue squad last week, with Charles T. Smith, fire chief, as head. The group is composed of 24 members but the number is to be increased to 50, it was said. Equipment for the squad was contributed by Pikeville businessmen or companies outside the area who are doing business there.

Smith said the primary purpose of the group will be to aid citizens in the event of any disaster. It will be equipped with three motor launches carrying respirators and other life-saving equipment. Equipment donated include stretchers, flood lights, safety flares, outboard motors, life preservers and a pickup truck.

Rescue squads from several of the East Tennessee towns have been operating on the river on week-ends since early March. Towns represented from that area include Greenville, Maryville, Morristown, La Follette, Bristol and Knoxville.

The number of farm wives employed outside the home rose from 17 per cent of farm wives in 1950 to 26 per cent in 1956, the largest increase of any occupational group.

plaintiff is Louana Elkins, widow of Woodrow and mother of Violet Elkins.

An attorney for plaintiffs said this week that Woodrow Elkins was driving his pickup truck, in which his daughter and Johnson were passengers, down Abner Fork, near Melvin, last Dec. 11 when a collision with the auto of Allen occurred. The Elkins truck was shunted onto the wrong side of the road and was struck by the oncoming truck driven by Weddington, it was said.

The suits allege negligence and carelessness on the part of both Allen and Weddington.

Attorneys in the three actions are Mary Louise Osborne, Paul E. Hayes and Bert T. Combs.

Allen Youths, Bicycling, Struck By Auto, Friday

Two Allen youths, George and Jerry Lee Parsons, were hit Friday afternoon by an auto driven by Ed Eden, of Lancer, as the boys reportedly rode their bicycles across the highway to the inside of the curve near the home of Virgil Smith, a short distance outside Allen. The accident was unavoidable, Frank Crum, Allen policeman, said.

George Parsons suffered a broken leg and arm and is in a Huntington hospital. His condition is described as good. Jerry Lee Parsons was cut and bruised.

STRANGE DESIGN
 AT A RECENT Frankfort party, the host led a guest over to a stunning girl attired in a sack. "My dear," he said, "may I introduce my friend? He's a structural engineer in the Department of Highways and would like to ask you a few questions."

ECONOMIC NOTE
 GOVERNOR CHANDLER has suggested that contractors "undertaking the greatest road building program in Kentucky's history," relieve unemployment by hiring workers in the local communities near construction projects.

Said Chandler: "I am informed that among our people out of work there is a supply of skilled persons capable of operating just about any type of construction machinery and of doing every other kind of road building work. Our contractors, by employing them, can help themselves and help the communities and provide much-needed jobs for many worthy citizens."

QUOTABLE
 "YOU OF the mining industry of Kentucky should cherish your accomplishments in safety during March. Fatal accidents were reduced sixty-six and two-thirds percent under the same period in 1957. We cannot deny that talk played an important part in this achievement, but we know full well that, without doers of the word, it could not have become a reality."—James H. Phalan, chief of State Department of Mines and Minerals.

Mayogram Issues On Two Disasters Are Outstanding

The state, by installing and equipping the printing instruction class at Mayo Vocational School, didn't envision that the personnel of the department and their work would be the best possible public relations group. However, due to two tragic Big Sandy events and the subsequent coverage in two separate issues of the Mayogram, the school's magazine, the institution has received the commendation of thousands who never before heard of Mayo.

The printing department experimented with an issue right after the flood last year. The paper contained a pictorial review of the event that made the issue in wide demand.

However, it was the school bus tragedy issue the class brought out that partially satiated the demand for pictures of the tragedy and brought the school notice. The paper contains over 100 pictures of tragedy scenes plus pictures of the children and driver who were victims.

Request from officials and others will run to 10,000 copies, it is said.

The initial investment of the state in the printing department at Mayo is said to be $50,000. One observer comments that that amount wouldn't begin to buy the good-will the two tragedy issues brought.

SLIGHT OVERSIGHT
 WHEN IS A LAW not a law? A measure to exempt from the 3 percent utility tax the sale of electricity current or gas for use in producing coal, petroleum, natural gas or mineral deposits was passed unanimously by both houses of the 1958 General Assembly and signed by the governor.

But the bill is dead because it lacked this clause: "Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky."

Courts have held that without inclusion of the enacting clause a bill is not a bill.

UNUSUAL ITEM
 AN EXPENSE STATEMENT of a lobbyist filed as required by law with attorney general included this item: "Baby sitter, $31.45"

BOND PROFIT
 THE STATE recently made a $30,250 profit by buying $3,000,000 worth of its own highway bonds, holding them for nine days, then reselling them.

YOUTH ASSEMBLY
 CAPITOL HILL will ring with the debate of another legislative session April 24-26. The teenagers always express definite opinions on legislation previously considered by the regular lawmakers.

MINERS HOSPITAL TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE NEXT SUNDAY

The McDowell Memorial hospital, which opened in February two years ago, will hold open-house, Sunday, May 11, according to an announcement by Harold Sparks, administrator. The hospital and its entire medical and surgical facilities will be opened for public inspection. The occasion will be in observance of National Hospital Week.

Sam Caddy, president of District 30, United Mine Workers of America, will speak at a plaque dedication and flag installation ceremony. The flag unit was contributed by the Wheelwright local of the miners organization.

"Many exhibits have been planned by individual departments," Sparks said, "and conducted tours will be taken periodically to all sections of the hospital. Demonstrations of the mechanics of each department will be presented by the personnel. The tours will be through all medical, surgical and administrative departments," he added.

The hospital picnic grounds, located behind the staff housing unit, will be open to the public and anyone who desires may bring lunches and use the picnic facilities.

The hospital now has a personnel of 156 persons, including doctors, surgeons, nurses, technicians and administrative workers.

Collins To Speak At Foreman's Meet

Members of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company Foreman's Club will hold their April meeting Friday evening at the high school cafeteria in Prestonsburg.

Paul H. Collins, administrative assistant and director of Adult Education at Marshall College, Huntington, W. Va., will be the speaker. His subject, "How Well Do Your Supervisory 'Hats' Fit?" will reach directly to the supervision on the job. The dinner will be prepared by the Ladies Circle of the Arnold Avenue Church of Christ.

Safety Program Brings Dividends For Pike-Co. Mine

(By GERALD GRIFFIN In Courier-Journal)

Twenty-nine consecutive months, comprising 1,007,640 man-hours, without a lost-time accident is the amazing safety record accomplished by the Republic Mine in Pike county.

Employing an average of 250 persons, this mine is a captive, or subsidiary, of the Republic Steel Company, with headquarters at Cleveland, Ohio.

Republic is one of the larger rail mines in the Big Sandy-Elkhorn coal field. It is completely mechanized and, although considered a single mine, it has many portals or openings to the surface. It lies in a mountainous area beneath a vast acreage controlled by the parent company.

In rolling up its astounding safety record, much to the pride of its superintendent, John L. Coyer, the Republic mine has won awards both in 1956 and 1957 for the best safety record for Class "A" mines in the area served by the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Mining Institute. The mine's last fatality occurred February 23, 1955.

The safety accomplishment of this mine probably is an all-time record for underground mining anywhere, according to J.B. Mosgrove, secretary of the institute, which awarded the company its safety plaques for the past two years.

Republic's mine-rescue teams have won many trophies for proficiency in state contests. These teams won state championships in 1948 and 1950.

The parent company has also selected the Pike county mine as recipient of its award for the best safety record in the company's northern coal-mine district.

All of the mine's output finds its way into Republic Steel Company plants, mostly at Cleveland and Chicago.

General manager of the Northern Coal Mines of Republic Steel is J. H. Reitz. J. M. Hedding is general superintendent and C. C. Virgin is superintendent of industrial relations in charge of safety. Main offices of the coal subsidiary are at Uniontown, Pa.

Superintendent Coyer lives in a company house near the mine, which is about six miles north of Elkhorn City. Other supervisory officials also live in that community, which is known as Republic, although its post office is Elkhorn City. Most of the mine employees live within a 25-mile area.

Although considered an expert in his field, Coyer holds no mining-engineer degree. In fact, his formal education stopped after he finished the eighth grade in his native West Virginia. He did take an eight-week summer course in mining at the University of Kentucky that led to his first-class mine-foreman's and inspector's certificate.

A former president of the coal-mining institute, with headquarters at Pikeville, Coyer has been associated with the coal industry for 52 years. He started working in a mine as a "trapper" when he was only 11 years old.

Although considered an expert in his field, Coyer holds no mining-engineer degree. In fact, his formal education stopped after he finished the eighth grade in his native West Virginia. He did take an eight-week summer course in mining at the University of Kentucky that led to his first-class mine-foreman's and inspector's certificate.

KHS OFFICIAL SPEAKER HERE

Details Record of State Historical Society; Lore Of Section Local Project

Charles F. Hinds, executive secretary of the Kentucky Historical Society, Frankfort, reviewed the history of the state organization here at the Methodist church Friday evening at a meeting of the Floyd County Chapter, Eastern Kentucky Historical Society. His dissertation was a detailed exposition of the Society's history and work since it was founded as the eleventh state historical society in the nation.

The meeting, presided over by Chalmers Frazier, chapter president, heard a tape recording of how oldsters cured and tanned hides for leather to make shoes. The tape recording was by Rev. J. K. Stratton, aged level resident. It was pointed out by Rev. Robert Martin that the recording of the history and lore of the section on tape was one of the several projects of the group.

Hinds made a tour of the historic spots in Floyd county Saturday before leaving for Louisville in the afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Claude P. Stephens, of Garfield Place, opened their house to Hinds and officers of the chapter. Mrs. Stephens conducted the group through the home in which Col. James A. Garfield, later president of the United States, made headquarters after the Battle of Middle Creek in 1862. A marker is to be erected on Lake Drive one block east of the home by the Kentucky Historical Markers Committee.

The site of Boone and Hill's camp in the winter of 1767-68 at David was visited by Hinds, as was the locale of the Battle of Ivy Mountain. Both places will be marked as historical spots this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephens extended their hospitality Saturday to Rev. and Mrs. Robert Martin, Henry P. Scalf, Mrs. Winnie F. Johns, and Hinds.

How To Speed Up Social Security Pay

Businessmen, including self-employed farmers, who are retiring soon can speed up social security payments by having the necessary documents at hand.

When filing a claim for social security, certain proofs are required. A self-employed individual should have an extra copy of Income Tax Form 1040, and Schedule C, or F, depending upon his business activity. When partnership Form 1065 was filed a copy of that form also will be required. These forms will be kept with his file in the Social Security Administration. Usually forms for only one year are needed—last one before the year you file a claim for old age benefits. Also be prepared to show your cancelled check, money order receipt, or other evidence showing payment of social security taxes for that year.

Director Enlists Club Members' Aid To Promote Parks

Frankfort, April 2 (Spl.)—Mrs. Ben Kilgore, director of parks, recently urged civic club members to help promote state parks on a local as well as a state and nation-wide basis.

She addressed the Middlesboro Kiwanis Club, Daughters of American Revolution, Williams-town and the Ashland Rotary Club.

Members were told that many historic attractions are offered in Kentucky and the vacation facilities at the parks.

Mrs. Kilgore told the groups, "as springtime vacations start, we would like to urge families to go to the parks for long week-ends. We are in the midst of our peak spring fishing season and fishermen will want to take advantage of the good catches being made at our lakes."

"Parks are lovely in the springtime," Mrs. Kilgore continued, "and nature lovers will find wild flowers and budding trees make the entire area picturesque."

ADVANCING EDUCATION IN KENTUCKY

By ROBERT R. MARTIN
Superintendent of Public Instruction

As this is being written a grim search continues by hundreds of persons for the bodies of five children in the swollen waters of the Big Sandy River. These are the remainder of twenty-six and their driver who lost their lives in the most tragic accident involving a school bus in the nation's history.

We may never know exactly what transpired in the brief space of time before the bus plunged off the highway and into the Big Sandy. It is paramount however, that if it is within the power of men to take measures that could prevent such a thing from ever occurring again, no action should be considered minute enough not to be taken.

A number of proposals have been initiated in the General Assembly since the Floyd county disaster regarding school bus safety. Although the State Board of Education has for many years had strict regulations pertaining to school bus safety—and these have been adhered to with no exception to anyone's knowledge—it is important that a law embodying the provisions of these regulations be enacted which could strengthen and lend added significance to their importance.

Consequently, on March 10, 1958, House Bill 610, sponsored by Representatives Ann B. Hall, and Sam Hale, both of Floyd county, was introduced, which carries such provisions. This bill was drafted in the Department of Education by a Committee of school superintendents and directors of pupil transportation and it has the support and endorsement of officials of the Department of Public Safety.

Basically this law will require monthly inspections of all school buses (though local Boards of Education may require similar inspections more often); certification by the Department of Public Safety of qualifications of drivers by examination including color-perception tests; speed regulation according to road conditions but in no case faster than forty-five miles per hour; load limit specifications according to the manufacturer's recommendations; and fines for offenses.

This is a good law but that in itself does not preclude that accidents will not occur. Accidents involving motor vehicles claim more lives each year than any other kind even though good laws fill the statute books. But by considering the previous safety record of school buses in Kentucky, we must assume that adherence to this law will insure a high degree of safety to our children.

Until the Floyd county tragedy, the safety record of school buses

300 volunteer Red Cross nurses rode the tail of a hurricane—into a helpless town.

... but in this storm-slashed river launch they fought their way to Cameron

Just hours after hurricane Audrey hit Louisiana's Gulf Coast, the constant ready reserve of volunteer Red Cross nurses went on duty. Military nurses, industrial nurses, private duty nurses left their "every day" jobs and rushed to the disaster area. In the first three days after the hurricane struck, 40,000 of the homeless and hurt were sheltered by the Red Cross, and to all of these, 300 volunteer Red Cross nurses gave round-the-clock care.

The Red Cross volunteer nursing staff is always "on duty."

Within the community, the Red Cross offers free courses in home nursing to you and your neighbors.

Trained Red Cross nurse's aides and Gray Ladies are on the job now in your town's hospitals.

How to join—Welcome your neighbor, the Red Cross volunteer who'll be calling at your door soon. Give all you can. (Contributions are tax deductible, of course.) And—if you'd like to do more this year—call your local Red Cross chapter and ask "Is there a volunteer job I can do?"

THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES

Work On Theatre To Start July 1st At Old Ky. Home

Frankfort, April 21 (Spl.)—Construction on the amphitheater at My Old Kentucky Home, Bardstown, will begin this summer, Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield recently told the members of Bardstown Chamber of Commerce.

Waterfield said Governor Chandler gave his approval for starting the project before he left for Washington.

The 1200-seat amphitheatre, to be built on the grounds of My Old Kentucky Home, will be the site of a drama being written by Paul Green, author of "Wilderness Road," presented annually at Berea.

Conservation Commissioner Laban Jackson originally proposed the amphitheatre to be built behind the historic monument on Federal Hill.

The play will tell the life story of Foster and will be presented by Stephen Foster Drama Association, a nonprofit organization chartered last fall to raise the underwriting fund.

Foster wrote such songs as "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Old Folks At Home."

Ted Cronk, manager of "Wilderness Road" at Berea, has been employed to supervise, planning and co-ordination of the play.

"Our first presentation will be given in June, 1959," Cronk said.

WHY CAN'T I SAVE?

How many times have you heard this question? Perhaps you have asked it of yourself. FLOYD FEDERAL offers this plan for saving success:

When money comes in, separate it according to plan—

1. Savings Money.
2. Fixed Expenses.
3. Spending Money. Shop Wisely— earmark some for "fun."

Saving doesn't mean spending. Saving is choosing how and when to spend.

Before committing your dollars to any of the various types of financial institutions, ask yourself some questions:

IS IT SAFE? Your money at Floyd Federal is insured by an agency of the U. S. Government up to $10,000.00 on each account.

WILL MY MONEY EARN MORE? Floyd Federal pays 3 1/2% compounded each June 30th and December 31st.

WILL THE FULL AMOUNT BE THERE WHEN I WANT IT? Your money at Floyd Federal is ready for you when you want it.

The smart saver always gets the answers to these questions.

We think the reason Floyd Federal is one of the fastest growing financial institutions in Kentucky is because it furnishes the answers.
