This Town— That World

Saw a modern "beatitude" the other day. It reads: "Blessed are they who go around in circles, for they shall be known as wheels."

If Dulles would stand still long enough on these international questions, maybe somebody would, or could, get on his side.

ME AND WILSON
Without intending to insult Wilson Wyatt, I arise to remark that he is pretty much in my fix. He has some good ideas on state government. I think I have, too, sometimes. The trouble is, neither one of us is going to be Governor of Kentucky.

POOR INGRID!
And now the young people of America are being told in a series of newspaper articles that Ingrid Bergman in all her infidelities and desertion of her children for a new paramour was a poor, misunderstood woman who was too honest to remain virtuous. And we talk about juvenile delinquency!

LOOKING BACKWARD
We commend to readers of this newspaper Gordon Wilson's excellent column, "Tidbits of Kentucky Folklore." This week, he writes about a Civil War veteran and, as usual, he writes in a vein that commands the interest.

Which recalls to mind the veterans of the Blue and the Gray that I have known . . . T. J. (Uncle Jeff) Sizemore, the sprightly wisp of a man who died here a few years ago, and his remarkable memory (Gen. Garfield's proclamation, for instance) . . . A. J. (Uncle Andy) Frazier whose claim that he was . . . See Story No. 3, Page 4

SHAD KILLING PROJECT SET

Frankfort Announcement Says Dewey Lake Slated For Selective Poisoning

"Selective" poisoning of Dewey Lake is planned next week by the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources, it was announced in Frankfort a few days ago.

The operation is planned, it was said, to reduce the heavy shad population in the impoundment. Similar poisoning work has been done at the lake over a period of three years. Herrington Lake was receiving the same treatment this week.

Because of the appearance of small bass in great numbers at or near the surface of the water in recent days, fishermen here were fearful that the poison may destroy a big part of the young bass released or spawned in the lake this year.

John M. Redwine, Seventh district conservation supervisor, said Wednesday that 100 ring-necked pheasant and 100 chukkar partridge were released in this county last week. About 1,400 of the two species were released in the district.

FUND REQUEST FOR SECTION INADEQUATE

Is Claim by Perkins As State Delegation Ups Kentucky Demand

The Kentucky Congressional delegation this week asked the Budget Bureau to allocate $6,327,000 for Eastern Kentucky reservoirs as flood control projects and to increase the total Kentucky river improvement and flood control expenditure during the next fiscal year $30,000,000 above this year's outlay.

The Eastern Kentucky work for which funds were asked includes the Buckhorn, Pound and Fishtrap reservoirs.

The $22,000,000 request for Barkley dam was the largest made for the state.

Congressman Carl D. Perkins, of Hindman, insisted the Eastern Kentucky requests are much too low, adding that funds far above the Corps of Engineers' estimates should be allocated for Buckhorn, Pound, Haysi and Fishtrap reservoirs and the Big Sandy river study.

For completion of the Buckhorn reservoir on the Middle Fork of the Kentucky River, the Kentuckians sought $3,527,000.

The delegation also gave support to a proposed "new start" in Virginia, asking the Bureau to approve $2,500,000 to complete engineering and begin construction of a flood-control reservoir on the Pound River which flows into the Big Sandy in Kentucky. The project is in Dickenson county, Virginia.

Perkins, whose district is just across the line from the Pound undertaking, asked that the sum to begin construction be raised to $3,500,000. He had asked an additional million for Greenup, Dam 41, Warsaw-Markland, and New Richmond.

The Kentuckians asked $300,000 to draw plans for the Fishtrap flood-control reservoir on the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy near Pikeville. Perkins termed that estimate by the Engineers "entirely inadequate" and called on the Bureau to request "at least $1,000,000."

Asked by Kentuckians for several years to get funds for the improvement of the Big Sandy River. This time, the delegation asked for . . . See Story No. 4, Page 5

COURT VOTES GYM RENTAL

To Use Part of Former High School Structure If City Action Taken

The Floyd fiscal court at its Friday meeting voted to accept from the County Board of Education a lease on the gymnasium portion of the old high school building here, on condition that the City of Prestonsburg grant the Floyd County Rescue and Emergency Squad the right to use the building now occupied by the county's surplus commodities department.

A committee authorized by the Council to act for it on this grant later agreed to permit this use of the building. Surplus commodities will be delivered from the old high school building when the move is made from the present location.

The court certified 11,926 persons as eligible for surplus commodities during the month of September.

BAND-SCOUTS' PARADE SET AS FAIR FEATURE

Six Floyd county bands and several Scout troops will parade here Saturday as a colorful feature of the sixth annual Floyd County Fair. It was announced this week by Jesse Elliott, chairman. The parade will form on Friend street . . . All Boy Scouts are requested to report to Donald Martin, Allen Scoutmaster, at the Prestonsburg grade school, Saturday morning, Ellett added. The bands will assemble at 9 a.m., inspection will be at 9:30 and the parade will get under way at 10 a.m.

School bands scheduled at Saturday's parade are Betsy Layne, Martin, McDowell, Wheelwright, Maytown and Prestonsburg. James Salisbury, Martin high school principal, has been designated parade marshal. Franklin Moore, chairman of the . . . See Story No. 6, Page 4

Disturbance Closes W'wright School

Floyd Post Legionnaires Stress Highway Safety; Floyd Fatalities Highest

A bulletin board erected by Floyd Post, American Legion, and the Kentucky Department of Public Safety on the courthouse lawn here is designed to stress highway safety. It maintains a running report on the number of highway fatalities in the county. This total, which now stands at 34, is believed to be the highest in Kentucky. The figures include the number of lives lost in the Feb. 28 school bus tragedy, however, and do not reflect the normal highway death rate in the county.

The bulletin board notes that, as of Tuesday, 60 days had elapsed since the last Floyd highway loss of life. A green light burns until a traffic death occurs, then a red light on the board burns for two days.

The sponsors admonish the public: "Keep the green light burning."

SECOND AUTO VICTIM DIES

Husband Follows Wife Ten Days After Tragedy At Larkslane, Knott-Co.

Joel Owens, 53, of Mousie, husband of Mollie Mae Owens who was killed instantly in an auto collision at Larkslane, Sept. 20, succumbed to injuries he received in the accident at St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, Sunday.

Death came at 1:30 a.m. He suffered from a fractured left leg, crushed chest and brain injuries. His small grandson, who was a passenger in the car, was released from the hospital after treatment.

The Owens car and another driven by Hiram Johnson, who was driving in the direction of Lackey, collided at 3:30 p.m. Miss Lorraine Sparkman, a passenger in the Johnson car, was hospitalized as was Johnson. Neither were critically injured, it was said.

Both Johnson and Miss Sparkman were charged with manslaughter and following a hearing Monday at Hindman were ordered to jail in failing to execute $20,000 bond each, according to Knott County Sheriff Carlos Huff.

The second victim of the tragedy was a son of the late John Owens and Mrs. Helen Slone Owens, who survives. Surviving are the following sons and daughters: Wayne Owens, Mrs. Beretta Hays, Jimmy Darrell Owens and Miss Geneva Owens, all of Mousie, Arthur Owens, Columbus, O., Mrs. Juanita Boleyn, Auburn, Ind., and Mrs. Joy Faye . . . Stumbo Is Appointed Chief Office Deputy; Jarvis Allen Resigns

Harold Stumbo has been named chief office deputy by Sheriff Hershell Warrens, to succeed Jarvis Allen who resigned, effective Wednesday.

Both Stumbo and Allen are attorneys. The latter said he had not decided what he will do but that he is considering two offers received recently. Stumbo, who was admitted to the bar this year, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Stumbo.

'DOZER KILLS ENDICOTT MAN

Benjamin Jeff Sellards Is Victim On Big Creek; Was World War II Vet

Benjamin Jeff Sellards, 41, Endicott native residing at Turkey Creek, Pike county, was instantly killed Wednesday of last week while operating a bulldozer.

Sellards, an employee of Clifford Wilson, contractor, was opening a truck mine on Big Creek, Pike county, when the tragedy occurred. Wilson left the site of the work at noon to procure cigarettes for the operator and when he returned Sellards, who had been left alone, was found with the bulldozer over a 40-foot embankment.

Deputy Pike Coroner, Russell Rogers, found that a weak shoulder of the embankment had given away, throwing Sellards from the seat. He was crushed and mangled by the machine as it slid downhill.

Wilson, although in a state of shock from the tragedy, was able to summon help. It took six hours to free the body.

Sellards was a veteran of World War II and was wounded in action. He had resided in the Turkey Creek section of Pike county, near Williamson, W. Va., for years. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Cruse Sellards, Buffalo Creek natives, who now resides at Turkey Creek. Surviving, besides his parents, are his wife, Pauline McKnight Sellards, and three children, Ben Jr., Jane and Judy, all at home.

The body was removed to the home of an uncle, Benny Sellards, at Endicott, Friday, and funeral rites were conducted there Saturday at 10 a.m. the Revs. Isaac Stratton and Keither Wilson, and Ira McMillen, Jr., officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery on Buffalo Creek.

JAYCEES BACK PLAN ON POOL

Argue Swimming Pool Needed For Progress; Bond Issue Vote Set

The Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce went on record Monday in favor of the municipal swimming pool bond issue which will be decided by Prestonsburg voters at the regular election November 4th.

Jaycees members agreed that the public swimming pool is vital to the development of the community.

The pool bond issue covers $99,500 in bonds to build a public pool on the city property located near the water plant.

The Jaycees' stand on the pool issue originated with the group's recreation committee. They base their stand on the contention that a public pool is the city's major recreational need.

The Jaycees in a prepared statement contend: "On the tourist level, it is essential that a pool be constructed if we are to continue developing the city as a major tourist center. Situated at the crossroads of highways funneling visitors into the state from the north and south, our location is ideal for tourist summer business. Paul Carello Buried In Town-Br. Cemetery; Body Unclaimed 8 Days

The unclaimed body of Paul Carello, New London, Ohio, who died enroute to the Prestonsburg General hospital, Sept. 20, was buried in a Town Branch cemetery, Saturday, with Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad's assistance. Rev. Harold W. Dorsey, chaplain of the squad, officiated at the last rites.

Carroll came to this county two weeks ago on a visit with an acquaintance of the Mud Creek section. He succumbed to a heart attack the next day. Carter & Callahan Funeral Home made efforts by long distance calls to scores of places seeking information on the man's relative but to no avail.

Dr. Ley Appointed To University Post

Dr. Herbert L. Ley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Ley, of Prestonsburg, has been appointed professor and executive officer of the department of Bacteriology at the George Washington University School of Medicine, Washington, D. C.

Dr. Ley attended Ashland Junior College and Harvard University. He received the degree of Doctor of Medicine, cum laude, from the Harvard University School of Medicine in 1946 and the degree of Master of Public Health from the Harvard School of Public Health (magna cum laude) in 1951. His field of specialization is Preventive Medicine and Bacteriology.

CIRCUIT COURT TERM AT END

Two Convictions Gained During Week; Civil Term To Convene Next Monday

Two convictions had been obtained in circuit court within the week as the September term drew toward its close. The criminal term will adjourn Saturday, to be followed by a civil session which will convene Monday.

Hearing of several civil cases was held within the week.

Claude Edward Greer was given a one-year pen term on his plea of guilty to a charge of breaking and entering, and Ella Colley was given a 30-day jail term and fined $20 upon her conviction on an indictment alleging possession of gin and beer for sale.

A 30-day jail term previously imposed on Muncy Prater for possessing alcohol in dry territory was probated for a period of two years. Prater, who had served all the term except a few days, was required to execute $1,000 peace bond.

Hearing of appeals by landowners along the Prestonsburg-Auxier road on rights-of-way allowances made them by commissioners continued to be held this week. John Branham was allowed $4,000 for land taken by the road and $4,500 for damages, M. V. and Leva Clark were allowed $4,250, and the appeal of Mrs. Maude Clark, et al from the $6,285 allowed by the commissioners was dismissed.

French Maggard Dies In Lexington Hospital

French A. Maggard, native of Knott county and former Floyd school principal, died at Central Baptist hospital, Lexington, at 5 a.m. today (Thursday). Mr. Maggard had been at the hospital following a recent heart attack. He was 55 years old. Burial will be made in Lexington, Saturday.

COURT OKEHS ANNEX MOVE

Prestonsburg May Annex All of Surburban Lancer, Court of Appeals Decides

The city of Prestonsburg can annex all of suburban Lancer, not merely a major portion of it, the Court of Appeals ruled last Friday on an appeal of the Floyd circuit court's annexation order.

In its reversal of the Floyd circuit court the high court noted the rule that an annexation ordinance must stand or fall as a whole.

The annexation order entered by Circuit Judge Edw. P. Hill Jan. 8, 1957 provided for annexation of all that territory described in the annexation ordinance voted by the Prestonsburg City Council with the exception of a portion owned by E. J. Conn and others who fought annexation. The portion excluded from annexation was described in the order as follows:

"Beginning at a post at low water mark of Big Sandy river on the line of Mrs. G. W. Rorer; with her line to the highway and across the highway to lower line of Goldie Layne, 300 feet to the line of city limits as proposed in the ordinance; thence up the river with said line to L. V. Goble's line 300 feet above his residence and with his line to the Big Sandy river low water mark, thence back to the beginning."

Said the Appellate Court's opinion:

"The hamlet of Lancer will receive far more advantage than detriment from its being made a part of Prestonsburg . . . the court said. 'These residents will receive water for domestic use and for fire protection.'"

The lower court adjudged these residents would derive no material benefit from the annexation, saying, "The occupants of said territory have gone to considerable expense to supply their own water system."

Circuit court evidently concluded it would be to the best interest of the City of Prestonsburg to annex the major portion of the hamlet of Lancer, the appellate court said, adding:

"There is no suggestion that the capacities of the City of Prestonsburg will be overextended by the acquisition of the area in question."

Temporary Pupil Utility Employees Eliminate 29 Copperhead Reptiles

Floyd county high school and college students working during the past summer for gas companies penetrated beyond the textbook in the matter of natural history.

One crew of students working in this county for the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company discovered and killed a total of 29 copperhead snakes during the summer weeks they were clearing rights-of-way for pipelines. The figures for the total kill over the field are not available, company officials said. During the summer Kentucky . . . See Story No. 2, Page 5

Officers Are Called To Preserve Order

Tiff Between White, Negro Girls Not Integration Problems, Claim; Two Versions of Incident Related

A tense situation created at Wheelwright high school Tuesday noon following an altercation between white and Negro girl students was eased Wednesday when classes were suspended at the request of State Police who were called to the Left Beaver Creek community to assist city police and county officers in maintaining order.

It was the first semblance of trouble between the races in the county's two schools where integration has been effected for high school pupils. Colored seniors attend the Wheelwright school. Betsy Layne high school is the second where integration has been effected.

SCHOOL BUS TESTS ASKED

Sturgill Action Taken After Spot-Check Finds Defects in 3 Counties

Inspection of all school buses in Kentucky has been ordered by Safety Commissioner Don S. Sturgill after a spot-check in three counties allegedly revealed "many serious defects."

The defects, he said, were found in Russell and Casey counties. Adair county had "better than average" buses.

Political undertones immediately rumbled. Sturgill, then Governor Chandler, voiced criticism of Dr. Robert R. Martin, state superintendent of public instruction, who is campaign chairman for Bert T. Combs, of Prestonsburg, main opponent of Chandler's choice for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, Harry Lee Waterfield.

(In Floyd county, whose tragic school bus accident emphasized the need for school bus inspection, the Board of Education received from Dr. Martin, prior to the opening of the school term, instructions as to . . . See Story No. 2, Page 5

Integration is not at issue in the trouble, it is generally agreed.

Two versions of the Wheelwright incident were received here—one from Boone Hall, principal; the other, from four male high school seniors, Randall Branham, senior class president, and his classmates, Gary Isaacs, Roger Hall and Jackie Bartley, Jr.

Mr. Hall's version of the disturbance was substantially this:

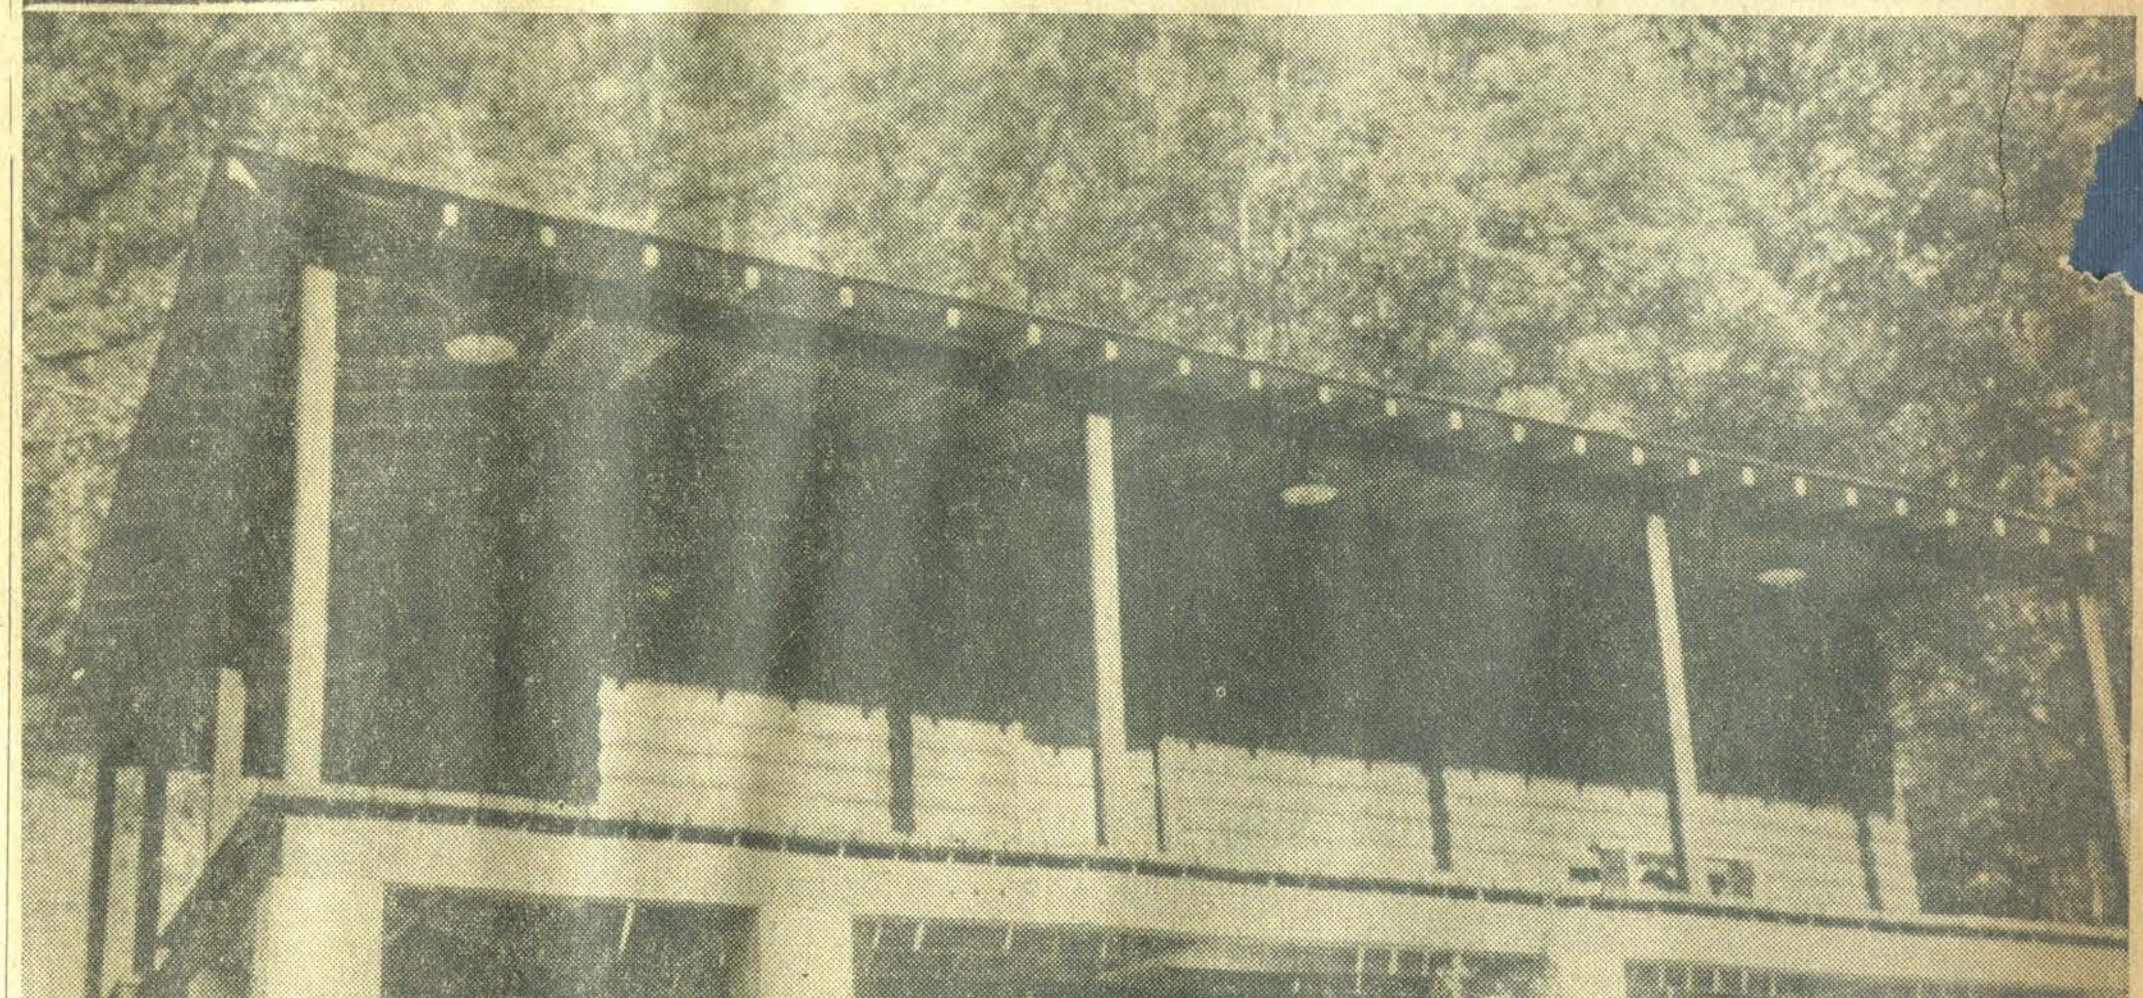

Events that triggered the disturbances began Tuesday when two white girls were suspended for defying a teacher in study hall. It was said that instead of going home the two girls stayed in town at a restaurant. It was said that there was some tension in the student body because of these suspensions but that there were no overtones of racial friction in the matter.

Another white girl, meeting one of the suspended students, told her that a colored senior had made remarks about her, whereupon the suspended girl intercepted the colored girl and asked about it. Result was an altercation between the two. Principal Hall suspended the colored girl when she returned to classes but delayed action against the white girl since she was not in the building, this version says.

Spontaneous parading and milling around began soon afterward and continued through the afternoon. Fifty or more pupils refused to return to class. Classes inside the building went on normally.

State Police, Deputy Sheriffs Joe Wheeler Lewis, Raymond Griffith, Hershel and Clyde Lester and Howard Johnson arrived in the afternoon. There was a continuance of the milling but no trouble after the officers came, it was said by the Sheriff's office. Assistance of the deputies was requested by the State Police.

Wednesday morning a delegation of parents arrived at the school and met in the auditorium with Principal Hall. The parents . . . See Story No. 1, Page 4

More than 100 Scouts, Cubs, parents, and scouters gathered at a campfire program Monday night to mark the open house and dedication of the new Boy Scout cabin at David.

The cabin was re-erected this summer at the same site of the original cabin which was destroyed by fire in November, 1955. The new building is a frame structure with half-log siding and an unfinished . . . See Story No. 6, Page 4

Teacher Discusses Vocational Guidance At Club Meet Here

The committee on Education of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club met Sept. 24 with the high school principal, James W. Bolen, and the librarian, Miss Linda Stephens, to discuss the vocational and curricular guidance available to students at Prestonsburg high school.

The librarian reviewed for the committee the various materials available which should help students in choosing their courses, their careers and colleges. While there is no school-sponsored guidance program, there are several helpful services available to students.

The principal disclosed that the student may get counsel on registration day from his homeroom teacher who has his permanent record-card in the room at that time. This year, teachers were instructed to discuss curriculum requirements and the choice of courses with the individual students.

The committee found that presently there is guidance available to the child who seeks advice, but that many students and parents are unaware that they should choose courses carefully, early in high school in order to qualify either for college, for a profession or for a chosen career.

The school principal suggested that the difficulties of college entrance might be emphasized at P-T.A. meetings and other gatherings. An annual vocational workshop and talks on vocations in chapel were also suggested.

Members of the committee present were Mrs. Lon Hill, chairman, Mrs. W. W. Wallen, Mrs. Woodrow Allen, Miss Alice Harris.

Another Pittance for East Kentucky?

Congressman Carl D. Perkins and U. S. Senator John Sherman Cooper are certainly not unreasonable in their claims that the Kentucky Congressional delegation did not ask of the Budget Bureau sufficient funds for Eastern Kentucky flood control and river improvement work.

When the needs of this flood-tortured, depression-ridden area are considered alongside those of other parts of Kentucky, and when those comparative needs are tossed alongside the huge amounts asked for those other parts of the state, even the blindest can see that $6,327,000 for the needs of the Big Sandy and Kentucky rivers is a ridiculously small portion of the total of $57,000,000 sought for all Kentucky projects.

For Barkley Dam alone the delegation asked an appropriation of $22,000,000. And less than one-third that amount for Pound, Fishtrap, Haysi and Buckhorn reservoirs, plus the Big Sandy river itself!

Barkley Dam is an important project, or should be, to deserve so much money. But the lives and property of many thousands of Eastern Kentuckians are more important.

The Times recalls the address made before the League of Kentucky Sportsmen, a few months ago, in which an official of the U. S. Wildlife Service, Washington, D. C., tossed the proverbial red flag in the bull's face by telling League representatives from all parts of Kentucky that impoundments should be created in Kentucky but that they should be where they are needed—in Eastern Kentucky, and not in those other sections which already have their great reservoirs and where the danger of flood is not a day-to-day night-after-night threat.

The Budget Bureau and all members of the Kentucky Congressional delegation are respectfully referred to this gentleman who has no political fences to build and no demanding constituents to satisfy.

demanding that the five colored seniors integrated in the school be sent back to Palmer-Dunbar, a nearby, all-colored institution. Another conference with the parents, at which County Superintendent V. O. Turner and Wayne Ratliff will participate was scheduled for today (Thursday).

The four high school seniors who gave their version of the trouble insisted the school principal took action against the white girls but not against the Negro girl or girls involved in the original altercation. They said one of the principal demands they and parents make is the removal of Mr. Hall as head of the school.

Five windows were broken by students while the milling around the school property was going on, they said. They described the crowd as much larger than reported by school authorities and said a pistol was drawn by the school janitor.

Two male members of the senior class were taken to City Hall by Chief of Police Hershell Hitchcock, they said, but were released when a gathering of approximately 150 persons appeared. Some of the teachers locked classrooms to keep pupils inside, they claimed.

"We have no objection to going to school with colored pupils if all are treated equal," one of the four youths said here. "We speak for ourselves," he added. Principal Hall has announced that if the pupils return to class no action will be taken against them.

Integration of the senior classes at Wheelwright high school was made three years ago and several colored pupils were graduated last year. Five colored seniors, all girls, are attending the white school in order to study typing, chemistry and a few other subjects Palmer-Dunbar does not offer.

Breaks Park Dedication Delayed, Day Announces

Dedication of the Breaks Interstate Park will not be held Oct. 17, as planned, it was announced this week by K. J. Day, of Pikeville, chairman of the Breaks Interstate Park Commission.

Failure to get the Rhododendron Retreat, roads and parking spaces completed led to the decision to postpone the dedication. "We will possibly not have the dedication till the middle of May," Mr. Day said. "Then we will be able to accommodate the people and show them what we have for their use."

Pancake Day Proceeds To Aid Underprivileged; Kiwanis Club Sponsors

"The Kiwanis Club's only means of supplying the needs of underprivileged children is through funds raised on Pancake Day," an official of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club said Tuesday, emphasizing the urgent need of public support of this phase of the club's work.

The annual Kiwanis Pancake Day will be held Saturday at the new high school cafeteria. Help of the underprivileged is a major Kiwanis objective. Last year's Pancake Day netted the club almost $1,000, all of which was spent to help underprivileged youngsters.

A feature of this year's Pancake Day will be organ music provided without charge by a representative of the Kenney Music Co., Huntington. Suppliers of foodstuffs are likewise cooperating with the club.

Tickets have been on sale here for the last few weeks. These may be procured from members of the club or at the cafeteria, Saturday.

WHEELWRIGHT

CLUB MEETS The September meeting of the Wheelwright Woman's Club was held at the Community Hall Monday evening.

Mrs. Stephens Clark, club president, conducted the business session, gave an outline of the work for the year, and appointed various committees for such duties.

Following the business session, the meeting was open to the public, and the members of the Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club came in a body to hear the speaker of the evening, Dr. Fred R. Zuppan, chief of clinical services at the McDowell Memorial hospital. Dr. Zuppan's topic was "Hypnosis."

Club members present were: Mrs. E. H. Roberts, Mrs. Roy Souleyrette, Mrs. G. W. Lockin, Mrs. H. O. Zimmerman, Mrs. Cliff Aders, Mrs. G. F. Leatherman, Mrs. Hubert Cantrell, Mrs. Charles Wilson, Mrs. C. C. Dickerson, Mrs. K. E. Moore, Mrs. L. E. Porter, Mrs. Harrison Sparks, Mrs. Hunter Thomas, Mrs. T. K. Gillis, Mrs. Arthur Bradbury, Mrs. W. B. Cummings, Mrs. Elmer Ferguson, Mrs. Virgil Blewins, Mrs. Gifford Hall, Mrs. Joe Peraino, Mrs. Earl Willis.

The next regular meeting of the club is scheduled for October 6. Mrs. Arthur Bradbury is program director for the October meeting.

ROYBEAN DEMONSTRATION Eight varieties of soybeans, including six named standard varieties, a new variety and an unnamed experimental variety, will be shown to soybean raisers of the eight counties west of the Tennessee river Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 9.

Construction work now under way here by Bennie Branham will provide Prestonsburg its fourth full-fledged motel and a modern restaurant to be operated in connection with this latest addition.

Seventeen units are being added by Mr. Branham to the four he has had in operation for the last two and a half years. Being built on his 100 x 120-foot lot on South Lake Drive, it will be known as the Blue Sky Motel.

The 17 units and restaurant, which will be 40 by 20 feet, are expected to be completed by Christmas. Cost of the project is estimated at $65,000.

The motel units and restaurant will be of brick construction. All will be air-conditioned. Branham is doing the construction work himself.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To the Citizens of Educational Division No. 2:

Please permit me this means of announcing that I, after consulting with you, have decided to withdraw as a candidate for Board of Education and in doing so will support John G. Hall.

I know that you want a change in Educational Administration, and I would be the last to jeopardize those chances.

I shall explain my position on this matter at greater length in this paper next week. In the meantime, I shall try to contact each of you personally.

Thanks. Sincerely and educationally yours, WALTER FRASURE the state's minimum safety standards, the requirements that all school buses must be insured and inspected at least once each month and that bus drivers must meet both physical and moral standards.)

Dr. Martin, Chandler said, "involves schools in politics at a time when we are struggling to get them off the ground. He could better spend his time inspecting school buses."

"He admits he has not done this and will not do it," Chandler went on. "It is shameful that he has to admit that this situation is true, for it will put fear into the hearts of every mother who puts a child on a school bus in Kentucky . . ."

Chandler said that if he were state superintendent of schools, "I would spend a sufficient amount of my time doing it, or having it done."

Dr. Martin said he didn't "care to dignify anything Chandler would say" by commenting.

He gave reporters copies of a letter he mailed Tuesday to all local school superintendents, urging them to avail themselves of state-police services in school-bus-safety programs.

He recalled that the detailed August 20 went to all county superintendents.

Dr. Martin's newest letter to the superintendents declared that over the years, many school districts have annually called in State police to inspect their buses at the start of the school year.

"John L. Vickers, director of our division of pupil transportation, has advised me that this year he has had reports from as many as 60 school districts which have availed themselves of the services of the State police," Martin wrote.

"Mr. Vickers further tells me that he has appeared on programs for bus drivers in as many as eight districts in which State troopers took part this year . . ."

"Through the years your school districts have developed a wonderful safety record which has been marred only by the Floyd county tragedy. It is significant to point out that even in that frightful tragedy there was no evidence of violation of State Board regulations regarding safety."

Martin commended the Department of Public Safety for embarking on its program of state-wide inspection of all school buses and urged local school officials to cooperate, "provided you are given the opportunity to co-operate."

Safety, the letter added, "depends upon constant vigilance. It does not lend itself to sporadic campaigns. Safety is its own reward and will make newspaper copy only when safety standards are violated."

Citizens Committee Plans
To Show New Courthouse
Need; Latta Is Named

The Floyd County Citizens Committee for a New Courthouse was formed here this week and it immediately got underway the work of presenting the issues to be considered at the Nov. 4 election when the county's voters will decide if a courthouse shall be built.

Heading the committee is Clifford B. Latta, of Prestonsburg. Other members are B. F. Reed, of Drift; Joe Hobson, Prestonsburg; Glenn C. Spradlin, Martin; George E. Evans, Estill; Burl Spurlock, Prestonsburg; Dr. Russell Hall, Wheelwright; Gorman Collins, Prestonsburg.

The question to be voted on at the November election involves the issuance of $575,000 worth of bonds to finance construction of a new courthouse and jail.

(The committee in an advertisement appearing in this edition of The Times argues that the present courthouse is structurally unsafe, that the vital records it contains are not safe from loss through fire or collapse of the building, and that it is inadequate.)

Robert Meyer, of the Charles A. Hirsch Co., Cincinnati investment firm and fiscal agent named by the fiscal court to handle the proposed bond issue, said this week that the bond issue proposed for the courthouse can be retired over a 40-year period at a cost to the individual taxpayer of a maximum of 8 cents per $100 property assessment.

Mr. Meyer pointed out that he based this statement on the county's present assessment of real estate, personal tangible property and franchise, which totals $38,922,986.

$35,000 to complete study of that river's navigation needs. But Perkins, saying he assumed the report by the Engineers will recommend development of the Big Sandy's resources, called on the bureau to approve an additional $500,000 for that stream.

Also tied in with the Big Sandy plans is the proposed Haysi reservoir on the Russell Fork, a tributary of the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy. It, too, is in Dickinson county, Virginia.

The Engineers failed to recommend any expenditures for that project. Senator Morton, presenting the delegations requests, said feasibility of the Haysi project would be restudied next year. But Perkins called for approval of $300,000 now.

The Kentucky delegation members in addition to Morton, Natcher, and Perkins, were Brent Spence, Fort Thomas; Frank L. Chelf, Lebanon, and John M. Robison, Louisville.

Staff members represented Cooper and Representatives John C. Watts, Nicholasville, and Eugene Siler, Williamsburg.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, It is the moral duty of everyone of us to feel gratitude for those men and women who returned to civilian life in our community with wartime injuries and handicaps; and

WHEREAS, There infrequently comes into the lives of these persons periods of want and temporary financial distress, many times because disabled veterans have not yet had their government benefits approved by the Veterans Administration, or because partial disablement or illness bars them from fulltime employment; and

WHEREAS, The Disabled American Veterans, chartered by Congress as the official voice of the nation's wartime disabled, is to be commended for providing assistance to disabled veterans and their families; free service in assisting veterans in their claims, employment and hospital problems, and has further pledged itself to protect existing benefits and obtain additional needed benefits for the disabled defenders of the American way of life; and

WHEREAS, Chapter 18, Disabled American Veterans, has chosen Saturday, Oct. 4, 1958 its annual Forget-Me-Not Day in this community, with the end of utilizing all funds collected on that day for disabled veterans and their dependents in this area;

NOW, THEREFORE, I Bill Napier, Mayor of the City of Prestonsburg, Ky., do hereby proclaim October 4, 1958 as DISABLED AMERICAN VETERANS FORGET-ME-NOT DAY and request all citizens, interested groups and societies to participate in that day.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the city of Prestonsburg to be affixed.

Signed BILL NAPIER,
Mayor, City of Prestonsburg

TEN GOOD REASONS

For Supporting

Dr. J.H. Allen and Bill Arnold Spradlin

When the time comes for the election of Members to the Floyd County Board of Education it is only fair that you who have children, the dearest possession on earth, have a right to know the facts.

We, with whom you have trusted the responsibility of giving your child his greatest birthright — an education, feel that it is our duty to inform you on how well that trust has been kept.

We have listed below some of the improvements made during this present administration:

- Leadership. Democratic leadership has been shown by teachers leading groups in county-wide meetings, in faculty meetings, by having teacher committees for selection of free textbooks, preparation of materials lists and in making many other major educational decisions.
- Lunch Program. Our lunch program has been expanded until it is possible for two-thirds or more of our children to have a wholesome noon meal.
- Materials. Appropriations for Libraries, Science, Biology, Chemistry, Agriculture, Home Economics, Music, Art, and Classroom Materials have been tripled during the last five years.
- Libraries. Our central professional library to help all teachers, has been made second to none in the state and other library services are the best in history—thanks to the assistance of the Bookmobiles and our Regional Library.
- Attendance. Fewer school-age children are out of school today than ever before in the history of our county. Our teachers are to be highly commended for their cooperation and effort in making this possible.
- Salaries. Our teachers are being better paid and have the lowest pupil load in Floyd county history.
- Transportation. More pupils are being transported than ever before.
- Course of Study. Our Course of Study has been expanded to meet more adequately the needs of high school pupils.
- Teacher Preparation. Teacher preparation is at present at its highest level and each teacher is teaching subjects in her field of special training.
- Buildings and Improvements. New buildings have been constructed at Prestonsburg High School, Prater Creek, Martin, Allen, Drift, Harold, Bosco, Ligon, Betsy Layne, McDowell, Little Paint, Branham's Creek, Left Toler, Right Toler, Home Branch, and Goble Branch. Major repairs have been made at Cliff, Cow Creek, Banner, Dwale, Clear Creek, Teaberry, Garrett, Maytown, Wheelwright, Melvin and Wayland. Repairs have been made to other buildings where needed.

McDowell Man's Dog Is Winner Of Illinois Bench Show; Kennel Now Includes Three Champions

Moore's Mountain Fancy, a registered Plott female hound owned by Bennie Moore, of East McDowell, won the Plott Day bench show staged by the National Plott Hound Association, Inc., at DeQuoin, Ill., over the three-day period, Sept. 18-21. Plott Day, held at the State Fairgrounds in DeQuoin, home of the famous Hambletonian harness race, is one of the nation's largest events of its kind, and this year's dog show attracted entries from most states within 1,000 miles of DeQuoin.

Next year's Plott Day will be held somewhere in Kentucky, it was decided.

Moore's Mountain Fancy is a show dog by day, a coon dog by night. She won in three departments at DeQuoin—best of senior female class, best of breed and, finally, best of show over all female dogs.

During the past two years the Floyd hound, now three and a half years old, has been in 14 bench shows and has been adjudged best of her class 14 times, best of breed 12 times and best of show on three occasions. She has twice been adjudged champion of champions. Fancy is well-known to American sportsmen, having, in addition to her bench and field triumphs, appeared in such leading hunting publications as Mountain Music, Full Cry, Bloodlines Journal, American Cooner and Field & Stream.

She has had distinguished company, too, from her kennelmates. Moore's Mountain King was a champion at Hillsboro, O., in 1957 when Fancy was best of her breed, and this year her puppy, Moore's Mountain King, Jr., won the title of best Plott male puppy at DeQuoin.

The East McDowell man also owns Kizer's Clipper, the only living dual champion Plott female that has never been beaten. Of his eight dogs, seven are prizewinners and three are champions. "I have shipped dogs from Canada to Florida

$16,000,000 Obtained Through DAV Efforts; Proclamation Issued

More than $16,000,000 in monetary benefits were obtained for disabled veterans last year by the Disabled Veterans.

To secure these benefits, D.A.V. national service officers reviewed more than 264,000 Veterans Administration claims files, and made more than 121,000 appearances before V. A. rating boards. Most of these reviews and appearances were a direct result of requests and work done by local D. A. V. chapters for disabled veterans, their dependants and survivors. All of these services were made available and possible in a great part, through public support of the D. A. V.'s Forget-Me-Not sales each year. These are small artificial flowers you will be asked to buy Saturday October 4, by volunteer workers for the D. A. V.

Mayor Bill Napier has issued a proclamation designating next Saturday, October 4, as D. A. V. Forget-Me-Not Day in Prestonsburg, and calling on all citizens of the community to participate.

Mrs. Chrissie Hunter, 81, Dies, Paintsville Hospital; Burial At Bays Cemetery

Mrs. Chrissie Bays Hunter, 81, of Lancer, died at the Paintsville hospital, at 12:05 a.m. Monday. She was a victim of the infirmities of old age.

Mrs. Hunter was a daughter of Edmond and Melvina Osborne Bays and the widow of Sammy Marion Hunter who preceded her in death in 1954. She was a member of the United Baptist Church for 70 years. Surviving are the following daughters and a son: Mrs. Josephine Wells, of Lancer, Mrs. Melvina Price, of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Jemima Webb, of Auxier, Mrs. Gladys Brewer, Willis, Mich., and Claude Hunter, also of Lancer. A brother, Huey Bays, of Garrett, survives.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the home, the Revs. Paris Music and Will Horn officiating. Burial was made in the Bays cemetery on Bays Branch near Auxier, the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home directing.

Fire Chief Gray Reminds Prestonsburg Residents Of Fire Prevention Week

Next week is Fire Prevention Week, Fire Chief Henry Gray reminded residents here. Observance of the week throughout Kentucky will be made through newspaper, radio and television announcements and school programs.

Fire Chief Gray noted that Fire Prevention Week comes at a season when there is great danger of fires as owners of property rake dead leaves from their lawns and burn them on their property. He pointed out that such fires are not to be set within 25 feet of any building, not before 4 p.m. and that they must be carefully watched. He also suggested that leaves be burned in pits or metal containers.

CLICK FAMILY

Letter from James H. Click, Route 1, Oak Hill, O., adds to information on the Click family. "John W. Click, my father, married Augusta J. Watson, daughter of Henry and Minda Watson and to them were born three children, seven girls and three boys. (1) Mintie, married P. C. Hall; (2) Annie, married J. D. Hurd; (3) Mishie, married Milton Woods; (4) James H. Click, married Mary J. Hale, daughter of John Emery and Eliza Hale; (5) Virginia, married Cesco Rice; (6) Joseph C. Click, married Dora Woods, daughter of Will and Lizzie Woods; (7) Ethel C. Click, married Faires Bentley, a son of Rev. Gilbert Bentley; (8) Emma Z. Click, married Willie Crum, son of Mike and Betty Crum; (9) Athaga F. Click, married William Amburgey; (10) Everett Click, died infant.

"There are three living now—Virginia, Athaga and myself. "I wish to make a correction in grandfather Click's family (He is referring to James Click, famed centenarian.) He had four sons and one daughter: Bill, John W., Joe, Sam and Jennie. His daughter never married."

TERRILL FAMILY

An inquiry from Mrs. C. D. Alexander, 1125 E. McCarty St., Jefferson City, Mo., seeks information on the parents of Dr. Robert Terrill and his wife, Mary Lacy Terrill. "I believe Mary Lacy was from Albemarle county, Virginia. I also want information on William Cooley or of his parents, John and Elizabeth Fields Cooley; John H. Hall or daughter, Annie Satera Hall; Grant Allin, of Harrodsburg, Ky.; Col. Thompson Ware; John Jouett, Sr.; James Kitchen; Joseph and Priscilla Vaughn Singleton."

Genealogists of the Big Sandy section have had trouble with the Cooley family tree and it is suggested that those interested might do well to correspond with Mrs. Alexander.

E. S. (DOC) KING

The late State Senator Doug Hays, of McDowell, often suggested to this columnist that Doc King, of Letcher county, would make a good feature story. However, interviewing the centenarian and writing the story was delayed and after Senator Hays' death the matter was dropped.

But the feature was written, anyway, several months later, by Gerald Griffin, of the Courier-Journal. The story aroused a bit of comment as several expressed doubt as to King being 107 years old. The Department of Economic Security, Frankfort, in its July, Newsletter, discussed King's age a bit. The Department says it has records that King is only 99.

The article in the DES magazine, reads:

E. S. (Doc) King, of Letcher

county, Kentucky, was recently the subject of an interesting story published in the magazine section of The Louisville Courier-Journal. The author of the story described his subject as "The Last of the Hatfield Gunmen," and made out a pretty good case for his subject insofar as that phase of his story was concerned.

However, he quoted Doc King as saying he is now 107 years old, but added that Doc "has nothing to prove it." His birth supposedly was recorded in the old King family Bible, but he "left that behind him in West Virginia 64 years ago when he came to Kentucky." Evidently the author of the story did not take the time to dig deeper than Doc King's own statements as to his age. A bit of further research might have produced the record that he was born on March 5, 1859, and not in 1851, hence on March 5, of this year, he was 99 and not 107.

Of course, Doc could have been mistaken about the year of his birth when he gave in the record which makes him only 99. Then, too, with a few more years added to his long and eventful life, it is not improbable that he is 107. But, whether he is 107 or only 99, Doc has come to advanced old age the hard way, and he is deserving of everything that has been written about him.

According to the story about him referred to above, Doc claims to be "the last of the quick-triggered Hatfield-McCoy feudists." He also seriously contends that he was "wounded five times" while fighting in the Union Army during the War Between the States. He remembers that war but it is not difficult for one to be doubtful about his service as a Union soldier. If he is 107 years old, as he now says he is, he would have been just 13 when the war ended; if he is only 99 years old, as the record referred to above says he is, he would have been but a lad of six years when General Lee surrendered to General Grant in 1865.

But Doc strongly contends that he joined the Yankee cavalry and served under a "General Newman, who was killed in the fighting on Indian Creek in Wyoming county." He further insists that he was "shot five times in the war: in the right side, in the neck and in the ankle."

According to the story in the Courier-Journal, Doc has never drawn a Civil War pension nor does he possess any Army discharge papers. "I didn't ever try to get a pension," he told the author of the story, "and I never fooled with no discharge." He said the only pension he draws is for old age.

It is suggested that Doc now confuses the War Between the States with the Hatfield-McCoy feud. He admits that for two years he "stayed with" William Anderson (Devil Anse) Hatfield on the West Virginia side of Tug Fork during the height of the celebrated mountain feud. Asked just what he meant by "staying with" Devil Anse, Doc replied, "Why, I was fighting for him, of course."

Doc feels certain that he killed "a few of the McCoys." He claims to have been present when the Hatfield gang tied up three of the McCoy boys to pawpaw bushes and shot them to death. "But I didn't have anything to do with that," he said. "I was just there."

Doc says his early home was on Guyan River in West Virginia, not far from the Kentucky border. He came to Letcher county in the 1890's, when the hills there were covered with virgin timber. He has been married five times and "still married to the last one," who is about 35 years old. He is the father of 21 children.

EARLY INDUSTRY

Clay City's early industry included the once prosperous Red River Iron Works, manufacturer of nails, stoves, cannon balls and plowshares in 1802. The blast furnace and forge are said to have made many of the cannon balls used in the War 1812.

PASSIVE RESISTANCE

Louisville, Ky. — Passive resistance is the formula the Kentucky Conference of the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church prescribes for Negroes' efforts to gain civil rights. The conference Thursday endorsed that stand, advocated by the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. He led the Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott. King has been in critical condition since being stabbed by a Negro woman in New York City.

CATS START TOO LATE, JENKINS WINS, 39 TO 19

The Cavaliers of Jenkins high school outran a sluggish Prestonsburg Black Cat football team here Saturday night to win, 39 to 19.

Not until the last quarter of the game was reached did Prestonsburg get in the game, and then the Cats ran up three quick touchdowns, with fullback James Allen scoring two of the markers.

The loss left Prestonsburg with a Conference record of one game won and two lost. Saturday night, the Cats will attempt to get back in the win column against the Pikeville Panthers on the home field. Prestonsburg last year easily defeated the Pike countians on the Pikeville field.

Hazard and Belfry remain the only unbeaten high school football teams in Eastern Kentucky at the mid-way point in the season.

Jim Caudill's Bulldogs thumped Whitesburg, 41-0, for their fifth consecutive victory and Irvin Wilson's Belfry Pirates overpowered Elkhorn City, 52-0, for their fourth victory.

Paintsville's Tigers upped their season's slate to 3-2 in downing Fleming, 20-7, and Pikeville measured Wheelwright, 45-20, for its second win.

Playing before the largest crowd in the history of Perry county football, Hazard's smooth-working eleven whipped Whitesburg with the greatest of ease in a 27-point first quarter.

It took only three minutes and three plays for the Bulldogs to register their first six-pointe. Whitesburg failed to gain the opening kick-off and halfback Britt Handy returned the kick to the Whitesburg 45, then two plays later raced 35 yards around left end for the marker.

Whitesburg fumbled on the next series from the scrimmage and Hazard recovered on the Yellowjacket 35. Quarterback Ken Cobb hurled a perfect 33-yard heave to end Walter Green who stepped into the end zone for the touchdown. Astor Sizemore, who only carried the ball three times in the first half, kicked his first of five extra points for a 13-0 Hazard lead and the game only five minutes old.

Hazard ran the margin to 20-0 six downs later after Sizemore picked off a Whitesburg pass on the Yellowjacket 35, Cobb then raced 30 yards down the sidelines to pay-dirt. End Benny Rose set up the fourth touchdown of the initial period by grabbing a Yellowjacket pass on the nine-yard stripe from which point Sizemore scored.

Aside from four minutes in the third period, Caudill used every player on his squad after the blazing first quarter. On the second half kick off, sub halfback Darwin Turpin took a handoff from Cobb and sped 87 yards for the fifth t.d. of the fray and a couple of minutes later the sixth Whitesburg fumble set up Hazard's final score. Handy, almost as speedy as Sizemore, went 20 yards to the one and Sizemore dived over on the next play.

Bob Smith, a 160-pound sophomore halfback, scored two touchdowns and one extra point and personally gained 157 yards for Wheelwright as his team dropped a 45-20 decision to Charlie Deaton's Pikeville Panthers. Smith, in his first year at the sport, carried the ball 22 times, averaging more than seven yards per try.

Paintsville and Fleming played a scoreless first period before each tallied a marker in the second frame for a 7-7 halftime count. The Tigers scored on a pass from quarterback Mike Minnix to end Clyde Ratliff that covered 65-yards. Ratliff also booted the point after.

Halfback Gary Sergeant countered for Fleming as he gathered in a Paintsville bobble and moved in from the ten. Danny Quillen tallied the point after.

Walter Brugh's charges iced the fray in the fourth with a touchdown each by the Minix brothers. Mike scored from the one and Maurice from the five.

Sgt. Thomas P. Lidster Returning from Lebanon

U. S. Sixth Fleet — Marines of the 1st Battalion, 8th Regiment have left the beaches of Lebanon and are finally coming home after eight months in the Middle East.

Scheduled to depart aboard amphibious ships of the U. S. Sixth Fleet during Sept. 16-18, was Marine Sgt. Thomas T. Lidster, son of Mrs. P. Lidster, of Melvin, Ky., and husband of the former Miss Sandra J. Jones.

The actual date of arrival at East Coast ports near the Battalion's home base at Camp Lejeune, N. C., is not yet known.

Twice the Leathernecks were relieved in the Mediterranean, and twice they changed course due to the Middle East crisis, eventually landing on the shores of Lebanon July 18.

The 2nd Battalion of the 8th Regiment has also re-embarked and started home. With the departure of these two battalions, Marine strength in Lebanon has been reduced to one battalion (3rd Battalion, 6th Regiment). One other, the 2nd Battalion, 2nd Regiment, is afloat in the Mediterranean as part of the amphibious arm of the U. S. Sixth Fleet.

Wins College Honors

Miss Patti Ann Halbert, student at Draughon's Business University, Springfield, Mo., has been honored by her election as a pledge to Beta Xi Chapter of Alpha Iota, international honorary business sorority. Selection of members of Alpha Iota is made solely on the basis of scholarship and outstanding leadership.

Miss Halbert has been previously honored by having been elected to the Southwest Missouri Museum Associates Junior Assembly in Springfield. This honor is accorded on the basis of character, poise and beauty.

For two years Patti was president of the district FHA in Missouri and also was president of her junior and senior classes at Seymour high school.

She is the daughter of Mrs. William Boring, of Seymour, Mo., and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Halbert, of Martin, Ky., and a great-granddaughter of the late Sam and Mary Hale Stephens of Blue River.

Some Korean Vets Resume Their Schooling

A new ruling by the administrator of veterans' affairs will allow many Korean veterans who dropped out of G. I. training to resume their education, announces the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board.

The veterans are those who had interrupted their training for more than 12 consecutive months and whose cut-off dates had passed, the board explained.

It added that a veteran in this class, may be permitted to re-enter training if he shows that he interrupted his course for any of these reasons:

Family or financial obligations beyond his control that made it necessary for him to suspend training to get a job.

Personal or family illness, or death in the immediate family, which caused him to drop out of training to get a job.

Unavoidable conditions in connection with his employment that forced him to suspend his training.

An allowable 12 month period of suspension that comes to an end during vacation, recess or some other time when it is not possible to re-enter school.

Letters are being mailed by the Veterans Administration to all veterans affected by the new ruling so that they may apply to re-enter school this fall. Needed assistance in applying will be provided by representatives of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board.

Ley, Neeley Speakers At Foremen's Club Meet; May, Spurlock Honored

The September meeting of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company was held last Friday evening in the Maytown high school cafeteria. Safety was the topic of the evening.

H. L. Ley, vice president in charge of operations, Ky.-W. Va. Gas Company, presented a brief talk on vehicular safety. The company has received awards for second place the last two years from the National Safety Council and the American Gas Association in the gas utilities large group classification.

Homer D. Neeley, assistant supervisor of safety and welfare, showed a movie, entitled "Knowing Is Not Enough." The story concerned the four imps in working—impulsive, impunitive, impatient and improvising, and the unfortunate results which may occur. The movie was followed by a short talk by Neeley on general safety and the use of the right tools and aids to make a job less hazardous.

Two service awards were received during the program. Ley presented Henry May, assistant superintendent of compressor stations, with a 30-year pin, and Philip Jenkins presented Tandy Spurlock, field foreman, Pikeville district, with a 25-year pin and a $100 savings bond.

Hindman Native, College Leader, Has Colorful and Varied Career

By GERALD GRIFFIN
(In The Courier-Journal)

The personable, friendly young Mayor of Jackson, J. Phil Smith is an enthusiastic man of many parts.

Not only is he Mayor of the Breathitt county seat, but he also is president of his town's First National Bank and is serving, temporarily at least, as president of Lees Junior College. And he's only 34.

Deeply religious, Mayor Smith is lay leader for the Lexington District of the Methodist Church.

He's enthusiastic about his thriving town and his adopted county. Don't call it "Bloody Breathitt" in front of him. To him, it's "Beautiful Breathitt," with its rugged, forest covered mountains and agriculturally productive valleys studied with recently installed oil wells.

A native of Knott county, Mayor Smith came by his banking naturally. His father, the late Hillard H. Smith, once served as State banking commissioner.

When he succeeded his father as president of the bank at Jackson, he was only 27, the youngest bank president in Kentucky.

Mayor Smith is a graduate of the Hindman Settlement School. He attended the University of Kentucky for a year and then was graduated from Morehead State College. He served in the Army for two years during World War II.

As Mayor and a Republican at that, in a Democratic community, Smith draws a nominal salary of $15 a month, which he promptly sends back to the treasury. Councilmen turn their salaries back, too.

As acting president of Lees Junior College, for which he receives no pay, he is the only non-Presbyterian on the school's board of trustees. Lees is a Presbyterian institution with about 250 students. He says it has the potential of becoming one of the finest junior colleges anywhere.

Until Smith took over as president, there always had been a bit of friction between the college and the town, as often is the case. His first act at the college was to offer the use of its fine new gymnasium and Student Union Building to the Breathitt County High School basketball team, which had been barred from using those facilities. The gymnasium now is used as a recreation building for all the children of Jackson.

Within a week after he took over as president, the painting of the stadium began, fence rows were cleaned out and other repairs long past due got under way.

As a churchman, Mayor Smith teaches a Sunday school class in the Methodist Church, leads in Church singing, plays the piano when the church pianist is away and even substitutes for the minister on occasions. He is on the board of directors of the Dessie Scott Orphanage School between Jackson and Winchester.

"Love of service to my fellow man was born and bred in me," Smith said, "and I believe that it is the duty of every man to give his best first to the church and then to the community."

The youthful civic and religious leader moved to Jackson from Hindman about 10 years ago. Now he "just wouldn't live anywhere else; I love the people here."

Speaking of Breathitt county, Mayor Smith said, "We are on the move." However, he hopes that the county some day will

FOR THE CHILDREN

We, the undersigned, being parents of children in school and having a great interest not only in their welfare, but that of all the children, have been convinced by our many fellow citizens that we could serve our county well as members of the Floyd County Board of Education. We, therefore, submit our names to the voters of our respective Educational districts No. 1 and No. 2, and state herewith our platform:

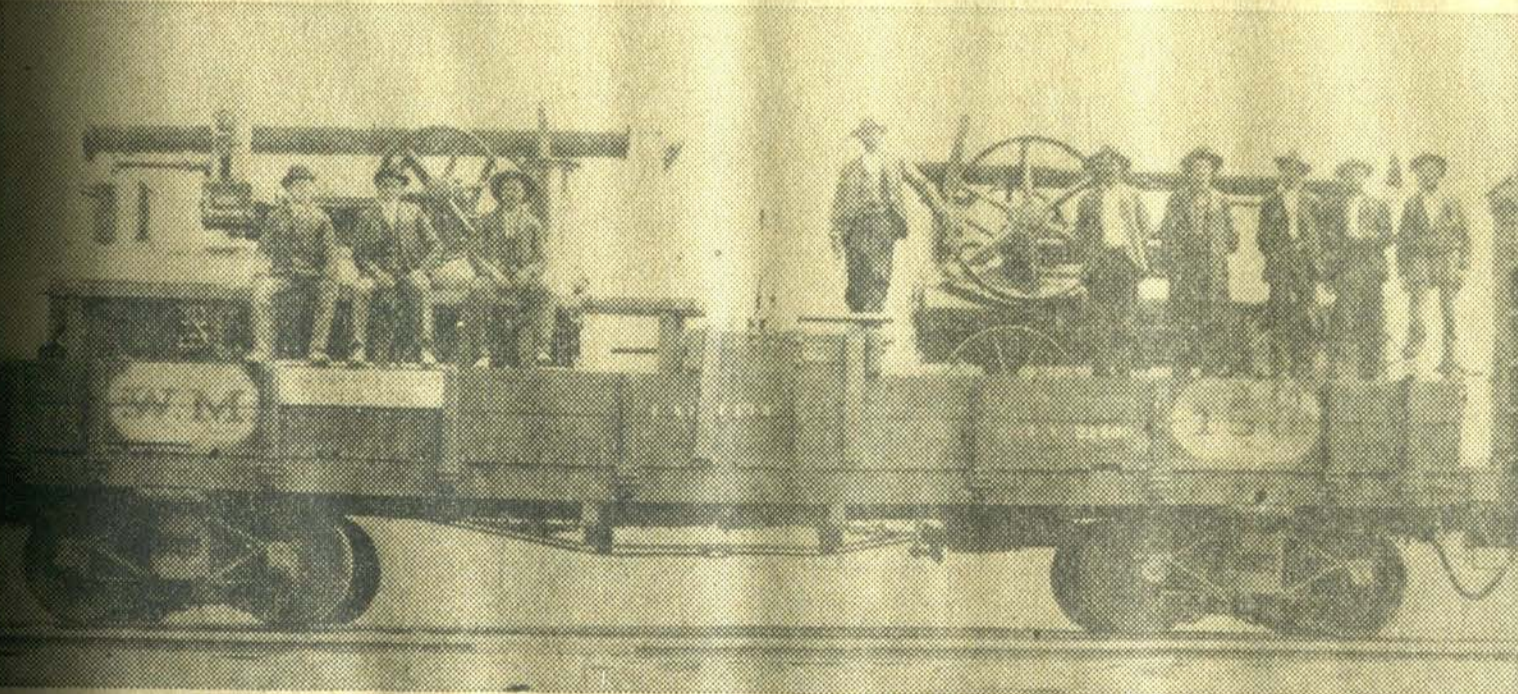

- Restore the teaching profession to its proper dignity by removal of Gestapo tactics and threats to teachers.
- Increase the salaries of all teachers by eliminating waste and unnecessary jobs.
- Bring all good teachers who have been run out of Floyd county back home to our own schools where they are needed.
- Keep good teachers teaching by creating an atmosphere of friendliness and good will among all school employees.
- Appoint a well trained, qualified Superintendent of Schools who has the ability to supply the educational leadership needed in Floyd county.
- Make appointments to all positions in the school system on the basis of qualifications.
- Keep the school system and the teachers free from all political entanglements.
- Improve the Course of Study in all high schools so that our children will not be handicapped because of a meager background when they go to college.
- Work with an Educational Advisory Committee made up of citizens from every community in the county to help formulate school policy and to develop a wise school building program.
- Encourage Parent-Teacher Association groups in every school district.
- Develop a more economical maintenance program by employing local labor thereby eliminating the many unnecessary permanent employees on the payroll.
- Provide a transportation program that will not force children to leave home before daylight and return home after dark, and eliminate discrimination between children attending rural schools and consolidated schools.

A Pictorial Review of East Kentucky

(No 13 in a series)

THE OLD STEAM FRICK SAWMILL

The steam sawmill, long king of the log yards in Eastern Kentucky, turned billions of board feet of timber into lumber in the Big Sandy valley following the Civil War. Favorite of the mill operators was the Frick mill, manufactured at Waynesboro, Pa. Few are found in the area now, having been supplanted by diesel and gasoline-powered engines.

The Frick mills were shipped into the area by railway car and the above picture was taken at Prestonsburg, in 1903, the year the railway entered Floyd county. After being unloaded they were hauled by ox or mule teams to the woodland sites.

Shown here, left to right, are Oliver C. Sheaffer, manager of Frick Company's Charleston, West Virginia, office, James E. Garnett, agent for Frick Company at the time but now a Hazard insurance man, George W. Davis, of Bonanza, local salesman for the machinery, and sixth, in frock coat, Rev. George W. Scaif, of Middle Creek, consignee of the mill. The others were the unloading crew.

The First National Bank, organized in 1904, has kept progress with the region and has consistently sought to contribute to the economy of our people. Always, it has maintained complete and friendly banking service.

Kentucky Kernel Now Issued 4 Times Weekly

The Kentucky Kernel—a weekly student newspaper during most of its 43-year history at the University of Kentucky—started four times a week publication, Sept. 23.

Reasons cited for the increase, which was authorized following a two-year study, were the difficulty of getting all the campus news into each weekly issue of the newspaper and the problem of handling the requested volume of advertising.

The Kernel management under the new arrangement includes an editor-in-chief, a news editor, four daily editors, four daily associate editors, and a sports editor. Pay for the part-time newspaper work ranges from $10 per month for the associate editors to $50 per month for the editor-in-chief.

A Times Want Ad will serve many of your advertising needs.

Various Kinds Of Drinkers Are Defined

By J. Collis Ringo, Executive Director Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism

Allison C. Brown, executive director of the Arkansas Commission on Alcoholism, has published "Answers to Pertinent Questions on Alcoholism." Of particular interest are his answers to "What is the difference between social drinkers, drunkards, problem drinkers, and alcoholics?"

The social drinker is one to whom a drink is just that—a social gesture. To many it is just another condiment to be taken with food, as some use tomato catsup. (This is particularly true of Italians and wine.) To some social (or controlled) drinkers, a highball after work hours is a tension breaker, a method of relaxing. The social drinker may, on rare occasions, drink too much. To most social drinkers intoxication is meaningless and obnoxious.

Drunkards are gluttons for alcohol. They like the taste as well as the effect. Intoxication is just another phase of life to them. Drinking is their pleasure, they have no regard for the feelings of others, . . . the unhappiness caused families by their actions. Their desire is not comparable to the compulsion of the alcoholic. If necessary for health or other reasons, they can curb their appetites, quit drinking.

The problem drinker is a potential alcoholic. Problem drinkers may or may not like the taste of alcoholic beverages. Alcohol in his system does something for him it does not do for most people. In spite of research, there is no known reason why this is true, but it has been definitely proved that the problem drinker reacts differently to alcohol, than the social drinker or the drunkard. Problem drinkers develop a compulsion for more alcohol after taking the first drink. They have control over whether or not they take the first drink, but after one they must have more.

The alcoholic is that man or woman who has lost the power of choice where alcohol is concerned. He or she must drink, even though they do not want to. Compulsive drinking is the mark of the true alcoholic. Alcohol means more to him than anything on earth. A recovered minister made the statement that alcohol came to mean more to him than did God. The alcoholic, almost without exception, cannot recover without help.

Help is available. A total of 200,000 alcoholics have achieved sobriety through Alcoholics Anonymous. Thousands of others have been helped by physicians, psychotherapy, treatment programs.

LAW TO HELP 3,114 IN FLOYD

Social Security Benefits To Increase February 1 Under New Amendments

The Social Security law amendments of 1958 will provide increased monthly payments to about 3,114 people in Floyd county, beginning with the checks which are due early in February 1959, according to Thomas B. Thompson, social security district manager, Pikeville. The amount of the increase will be about 7 per cent.

People who are already getting social security payments do not need to apply for the increase, he said. It will be automatically added to the checks for January, which will be mailed out early in February.

Under other changes made by the new law, social security benefits will become payable to a number of people not previously eligible for payments. They must, however, apply to their social security offices before payments can start. Among the groups now eligible because of the amendments are:

Dependents of people who are 50 or over who are now getting disability insurance benefits (children under 18 or disabled; a wife of any age who has a child in her care who is entitled to benefits; a wife 62 or over; or a dependent husband 65 or over).

Disabled people 50 or over who could not qualify for benefits under the old law because they did not have as much as 1½ years of work in the 3 years before they were disabled. (A total of at least 5 years work under the law is still required).

Dependent parents whose son or daughter died after 1939 and who could not qualify for benefits under the old law because the son or daughter left a widow, widower, or child.

Adopted children whose adoptive parent began receiving retirement benefits less than 3 years after the adoption. (In many cases this provision will also make possible payments to the mother of the adopted child.)

A person receiving benefits who marries another person also receiving benefits can continue to receive monthly checks, or can become eligible as a dependent of the new husband or wife without waiting 3 years.

Some people in situations similar to those mentioned above may have applied for benefits in the past and been notified that they did not qualify for payments. These people should get in touch with their social security district offices promptly about filing new applications, Thompson noted.

Disabled workers whose social security disability benefits were reduced or were not payable because they received workmen's compensation or other Federal disability payments will begin to receive the full amount of their social security disability payments.

Under the amendments it is easier for certain employees of non-profit organizations and State and local governments to be brought under the law.

There is a slight change in the rules on how much a social security beneficiary may earn and still get social security benefit payments. Under a new provision a person's social security benefit will not be withheld for any month in which he neither worked in his own business nor earned over $100 in wages.

Beginning January 1, the social security tax rate for employees and employers will be 2½ per cent each. The rate for self-employed people will be 3½ per cent. These rates are scheduled to increase every 3 years until reach 4½ per cent for employees and employers and 6½ for self-employed people in 1969.

Starting with 1959 the first $4,800 of earnings in a year will be taxed for social security and will count toward social security benefits.

Thompson emphasized that it is not necessary for people already receiving monthly payments to apply for the automatic increase. It will be added to the January checks, which will be delivered early in February.

"Inquiries about the automatic increase will slow down our effort to start payments promptly to the people who can now get payments for the first time," he said.

38 CITIES HELPED

Frankfort, Ky. — State planning assistance is going to a record high total of 38 cities, Economic Security Commissioner George W. Hubley, Jr., reported Thursday. He said they represent 31 per cent of the state's urban population outside Louisville and Lexington. And the coverage will rise to 40 per cent next month when planning contracts are signed with 12 more cities. Hubley said. The aid includes help in preparing land use surveys, base maps, zoning ordinances and subdivision regulations.

Area Planning Commission Will Meet October 6

The Eastern Kentucky Regional Planning Commission will have its 13th monthly meeting at Morehead State College, Oct. 6. The meeting is scheduled for 9 a. m. C. S. T. and will last through most of the day.

The Commission observed its first anniversary at its meeting in Hazard last month, and will begin its second year of discussion and preparation of a comprehensive planning and development program, aimed at relieving the chronic economic and other ills of Eastern Kentucky.

At the Morehead meeting, the nine-man panel will give principal attention to continuing its study of highway problems, with special discussion of the commission's general recommendations made recently to the Department of Highways. The Commission set forth recommended priorities for road developments of greatest need in the area in a recent meeting with Commissioner Ward Oates and other highway department officials.

Additional items to be discussed by the commission include the status of proposed water usage and flood control projects affecting Eastern Kentucky, initial planning for preparation of comprehensive tourist promotion program for the area, and the possibilities of establishment of a commercial helicopter firm to serve the region.

The latter is being considered in the light of the benefits to be derived by having available helicopter service to serve high priority industrial and other travel needs, including emergency requirements for medical treatment, to provide quick transportation as opposed to the long travel time required to traverse roads of the region.

ONLY YOUR LOCAL STORES GIVE INSTANT DELIVERY AND SERVICE . . .

HERE'S HOW YOU BENEFIT BY DOING ALL YOUR SHOPPING LOCALLY

When you buy from your hometown merchants you get:

1. HONEST VALUES
2. AMPLE SELECTION
3. INSTANT DELIVERY, SERVICE AND ADJUSTMENT
4. MORE PERSONAL AND FRIENDLIER TREATMENT
5. SAVING OF TIME
6. RELIEF FROM COSTLY TRAVEL
7. FREEDOM FROM ROAD HAZARDS
8. ELIMINATION OF COSTLY PARKING PROBLEMS
9. AVOIDANCE OF JOSTLING CROWDS
10. THE CHANCE TO BUILD A BETTER COMMUNITY BY PUTTING YOUR DOLLARS TO WORK HERE

We don't believe you gain anything at all by driving long distances to shop at BIG CITY stores. Our local sources have merchandise that's just as good and costs no more.

But merely for the sake of argument, suppose you do save a few dollars on a time-consuming trip many miles from home. And suppose you don't even count the cost of gasoline and oil, car wear, parking fees, etc. Forget, too, if you like, the hazards of driving in today's heavy highway and city traffic.

But don't overlook these things: What you buy here can be in your home in a few minutes—no waiting several days for delivery. And if the merchandise doesn't give full satisfaction, any needed service or adjustment of the purchase can be made without shipping the items back to the BIG CITY or being forced to make a second trip yourself.

Why drive scores of miles looking for trouble? Shop right around the corner and be safe and satisfied.

Floyd County Needs A New Courthouse

To The Voters of Floyd County:

At the general election on November 4, 1958, you will be asked to decide the question of whether or not Floyd county should issue bonds to build a new Courthouse and Jail. The Citizen Advisory Committee has been formed for the purpose of acquainting the voters of Floyd County with all the facts surrounding the issuance of such bonds.

We appeal to you to examine closely the issues involved:

Are our present Courthouse and Jail adequate for the needs of a county of this size?

Are the records contained in the Courthouse properly protected from the hazards of fire and flood?

Are there proper facilities in the Courthouse to care for the needs of the public?

If the answers to these questions are "No," you should, in the interest of all the citizens of Floyd county, VOTE "YES" FOR THE COURTHOUSE.

This committee wishes to endorse the passage of the Courthouse Bond issue. We urge that this question be considered on a non-partisan, non-factional basis. This endorsement is not made for any personal interest, but solely on the basis of protecting the health and safety of the citizens of this County.

CITIZENS ADVISORY COMMITTEE FOR A NEW COURTHOUSE.

HEART ATTACK KILLS MOORE

Distinguished Jurist Is Victim In Virginia; Was Salyersville Native

Funeral rites were conducted Saturday at Charleston, W. Va., for U. S. District Judge Ben Moore, distinguished Eastern Kentuckian.

The Magoffin county, Ky. native, for 17 years on the Federal bench for the District of Southern West Virginia, died of a heart attack on a Hot Springs, Va., golf links, the preceding Thursday.

The jurist checked in at the Cascades Inn, four miles from Hot Springs in the early afternoon, had lunch and went onto the course. Teeing off, he followed the ball 125 yards down the first fairway. He collapsed before hitting the second shot. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at a nearby hospital.

Moore had driven to the resort with Mrs. Moore for a few rounds of golf. Three Charleston friends met him there to complete the foursome. He had suffered a mild heart attack in 1953 but had quickly recovered.

His rise from the difficult conditions of his youth near Salyersville where he secured his early education to one of the most outstanding Federal judges culminated with an appointment in 1941 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt to succeed Judge George W. McClintic in 1941. Previous to that he had been judge of the Kanawha County Common Pleas Court.

He had been a resident of Charleston many years before election to the office of county judge and had successfully practiced law there.

While working in the Kanawha Valley Bank, for the Charleston Interurban Railway and Dunbar Land Company he occupied his leisure hours in studying law in the offices of a Charleston law firm. Admitted to the bar in 1915 he was recognized for his services to the judiciary 39 years later by Marietta College which conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Laws.

In 1955, Moore was one of the first Federal district judges to preside over integration proceedings brought on by the momentous Supreme Court decision abolishing racial segregation in the schools.

After three days of testimony in a case at Lewisburg, Judge Moore proposed that the Greenbrier County Board of Education begin integration of Negro and white children at the end of the current semester. The school board promptly and unanimously agreed.

Judge Moore possessed a quiet and courtly manner. He became in late years a deep student of constitutional issues. At trials, he frequently took over the questioning of witnesses.

He was a son of John W. and Mary E. Moore of the Burning Fork section of Magoffin county. He was a brother to Albert Moore, editor and publisher of the Salyersville Independent.

The funeral rites were held at the Baptist Temple, the Revs. Oscar Myersecough and Kyle Maseldon officiating. Members of the Kanawha County Bar Association acted as pallbearers. Burial was in a Charleston cemetery.

Tidbits Of Kentucky Folklore

UNCLE ULYSSES

When a trip to the county seat was a long journey, one not to be taken lightly, it was a thrill to hear some widely-traveled man, a modern Ulysses, tell of his adventures in far-away lands, "beyond the baths of all the western stars." Such a man was our Uncle Carroll who to us children seemed about as widely traveled as Ulysses could have seemed to Alcinous and his court.

Uncle Carroll, like most young men of his time and place, had served in the Civil War as a Confederate soldier. He had enlisted when he was only nineteen years old and weighed only a hundred pounds. He served the whole time of the war, was captured at Fort Donelson, spent many months in prison before he was exchanged, returned to the service, and was with General Joseph E. Johnston at the end of the war. And all this time, like the original Ulysses, he received no injury, not even a bullet-scratch. And there was so much of his sturdy pioneer parents in him that he lived sixty-seven years after the war was over, raised a large family, took an active part in his community life, attended the local reunions galore, and finally died at the advanced age of ninety, not especially of anything except that he had lived long enough and had seen pass away all that he had known intimately. In fact, his death was caused by a stroke that developed from the excitement of having seen together his numerous descendants on his 19th birthday.

With very little education but an active, humorous mind, he stored up many a memory of where he had been and what he had seen. I feel now that he was a more truthful yarn-spinner than Ulysses, for Uncle Carroll never allowed the listeners to feel that they were in the presence of a hero. He represented the human side of war in much the same fashion that Ernie Pyle did a generation later. Soldiers were just boys away on a dangerous sort of picnic or playing with guns. Even Yankee soldiers were similar boys, not friends or cowards. Often Uncle Carroll spoke very tolerantly of his enemies and told amusing incidents of how opposing armies traded grub and tobacco and whiskey with each other, evading the sentries and endangering their lives more from a firing squad than from enemy bullets. If any hatred ever remained in Uncle Carroll's mind from the dangers that he had met, I cannot recall having heard him mention it. He never glorified war in any way, he never got eloquent or carried away with his story; he was always the plain, unvarnished country boy, with his saving sense of humor, his broad tolerance, his belief in the basic goodness of all people, Yankees included. Unlike my other uncle, his brother, he did not feel called on at a Confederate reunion to drink and become disgustingly senile. He could march with the old boys without partaking of their habits. And he could return to his farm the same sane, good-humored little man that he had always been. Even when I asked him why he had joined the army, he replied, "I didn't have any better sense."

The thing that seems strange about our own Ulysses is that he was perfectly satisfied with his army career and never desired to roam again. Though he lived at Murray or near it until his death, he never saw the fort on Baker's Hill at Bowling Green after he left it in 1862, to go to the relief of Fort Donelson and to capture and imprisonment. His four years seemed as plain to him as the events of the day before and probably even plainer, because of the way an old man's mind works and because the many retellings of his adventures made them genuinely contemporary. I wish I had even a portion of his skill, for his very lack of formal education made him a natural story-teller. I wonder how much better the real Ulysses was.

Tall Tales Were Told By Early State Pioneers

Kentucky is the native habitat of the tall tale.

For example, relates Lawrence S. Thompson, in "Kentucky Tradition," pioneers used to boast of wild turkeys so fat that they burst their skins upon being shot to the ground.

Other wild stories recalled by Thompson:

Down in Lincoln county around Elizabethtown it was boasted that no Kentucky woman was adept in cooking pancakes until she could toss one out of the chimney and run out the door and catch it in her pan.

John J. Audubon swore that he saw a rattlesnake leaping from limb to limb in a high tree in pursuit of a squirrel.

Audubon, the naturalist, pulled the leg of the great scientist, Rafinesque, with the tale of the "Jack-Devil-Diamond" fish, equipped with stone-diamond scales in oblique rows, which, when dry, would produce fire in the manner of flint and steel.

Squirrels stole ears of corn and escaped across the river on shingles by propelling their improvised craft with their tails.

Captain Bates, one of the most famous of Kentucky giants, was eight feet tall. As a young man with a Kentucky cavalry unit, he would dismount when the going got bad and carry his horse over the worst places.

A traveler in West Kentucky posted bills saying he was in the market for cat skins. He asked that the cats be delivered alive to a small hotel in a county seat. He offered two dollars for black cats, a dollar and a half for yellow, one twenty-five for spotted and a dollar for others. Crops were neglected while farmers searched their barns and woods for cats. On the appointed day cats arrived by the hundreds. No purchaser. That town came to be known as the worst cat-infested town in the Commonwealth.
