This Town— That World

Senator Morton got out of town, just in time. If he had stayed around a little longer somebody would have accused him of being interested in the school election.

WOULDN'T HOLD STILL

The State Department has perhaps more than its share of trouble with Russia, Egypt, Iraq, etcetera, but when it tried to get into the liquor business with France it had one of its biggest headaches. Somebody had the bright idea that if England and France could be induced to buy more Kentucky bourbon, the Bluegrass State wouldn't hurt our overseas friends any worse than the stuff they already were imbibing.

England signed up, and between hicoughs declared our product "jolly good" or something like that. France signed up, too. But, immediately thereafter, the French government fell into disfavor with the voters, and out went the Premier and the whole kit and kaboodle. So the State Department's boy went to work again, got the new government to sign on the dotted line—and before a jigger-full could be delivered out went the new government. This happened 13 times in all, we are told—and still Kentucky bourbon hasn't gone down the throat of one Bourbon or anybody else in La Belle France. So far as the U. S. State Department is concerned, those Frenchmen can go into the moon-shining business.

OFFICIAL REPORT

This matter of Kentucky liquor recalls the story, oft-told, which concerns the two men who went off on a binge, spent the night on a roaring drunk and were little the better when they arose to face forth, the next morning. One of the men was so drunk that he contrived to get his white shirt on backward. (It does not say here how he managed to button himself up down the back, but he did, we suppose.) After that they crawled into their car and weavily wended their way down the highway. The inevitable collision followed, and when word of the wreck reached town the village constable—See Story No. 9, Page 6—

HOWARD HURT IN CAR WRECK

Policeman's Condition Serious; Wreck Occurs Returning from Hospital

Returning to Prestonsburg from Hopkinsville where he had taken a patient to a hospital, Wesley Howard, Prestonsburg policeman, was seriously injured Wednesday morning in an automobile wreck near White Oak, Morgan county. Howard, who is conscious only at intervals, was said this morning (Thursday) to be "holding his own" at the Prestonsburg General hospital. He is suffering from a brain concussion, a broken nose, broken small bones in the face, and an almost-severed ear. He also suffered loss of his front teeth and was smashed about the mouth.

The policeman had telephoned here around 9 a.m., Wednesday, from Ezel where he had stopped to have the clutch of the car he was driving repaired. He was found, about 10:30 a.m., by a passing ambulance. The auto, owned by Henry Howard, of Prestonsburg, was a total wreck.

PLANNING COMMISSION SPONSORING AREA TOUR

REGIONAL TRIP VIA BUS SET FOR MONDAY

Leaders of Industry, Officials To Consider Needs of This Section

A tour designed to point up Eastern Kentucky's industrial potential and pave the way for major community and area improvements has been set for October 13 through 16, B. F. Reed, of Drift, chairman of the Eastern Kentucky Regional Planning Commission, announced last Thursday. The Commission is sponsoring the event.

Tour guests will include federal officials, congressmen and industrial leaders. More than 20 persons are expected to make the tour, which will include Prestonsburg and Floyd county.

Mr. Reed cited the "urgent need for developing Eastern Kentucky," and added that "the advice, influence and decisions of those taking the tour could have a vital effect on progress in the area."

Maurice H. Henry, president of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, said the tour will provide a foundation for industrial progress and other types of development. "There are many development needs which we must meet in Eastern Kentucky before we can begin to attract a significant volume of new industry," Henry observed.

Tour chairman Robert G. Worden said the guests will travel 375 miles by chartered bus in visiting 15 communities in nine counties. Worden, on the industrial development staff of the Kentucky Department of Economic Development, said the party will assemble at Cumberland Falls State Park October 13 and be greeted by state officials and representatives of nearby Corbin and Williamsburg before starting the three-day trek, which ends at Paintsville.

Other communities on the tour route are Corbin, Barbourville, Pineville, Middlesboro, Harlan, Benham, Cumberland, Lynch, Whitesburg, Jenkins, Hazard, Pikeville, Prestonsburg, and Wheelwright.

Economic Development Commissioner George W. Hubley, Jr., noted that this will be the first tour conducted in the nine-county section of Eastern Kentucky. "It is the first tour involving guests of such wide and diversified interests," he said.

Co-sponsors of the tours are the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, Big Sandy Coal Operators Association, Hazard Coal Operators Association, Ashland Oil and Refining Company, Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company, Louisville & Nashville Railroad, Columbia Gas System, Kentucky Power Company, Kentucky Utilities Company, Kentucky Department of Economic Development, and Eastern Kentucky banks.

MORTON AGREES MORE DAMS NEEDED IN AREA

Senator Thurston B. Morton said Wednesday on a radio panel discussion here of Eastern Kentucky problems that Eastern Kentucky should have more impoundments than any other section of the state.

Local Firm Wins National Fleet Safety Contest

Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company was the recent recipient of the National Safety Council and American Gas Association Award. The local operating company took third place in the National Fleet Safety Contest.

The company's motor fleet was driven approximately 130,000 miles. The company won second place last year with an accident ratio of 4 per 100,000 miles. The year previous the company also had second place.

Seventeen utility and pipeline companies earned national honors for traffic safety records with their motor fleets, it was said by Tommy Lemaster, supervisor of safety and welfare, for Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company.

First place in the national contest went to Pioneer Natural Gas Company, Amarillo, Texas, and third place was taken by Northern States Power Company, Minneapolis.

Anderson Says Claims On Employers in State Have Steadily Fallen

So said Glenn S. Anderson, manager of the district office here of the Kentucky Department of Economic Security, this week.

Work On New Lake Boat Dock

Nearing completion is the office and dock building which will be a part of the new boat dock at German which Hence Terry, of Martin, expects to put into operation this fall.

The structure, which is mounted on steel drums, is being built on the lake, near the State Park boat dock and will be towed up the lake to the German site. The dock itself, which consists of 16 lockers at present, will be moved in the same fashion.

Shown working on the building are W. L. Akers, right, Glenn Robinette, Arnold Robinette and Leonard Jones.

JAILER FOILS SUICIDE TRY

Burchett, Jailed Saturday, For Drunkenness, Attempts Hanging On Prison Bars

An apparent suicide attempt in the county jail was thwarted Saturday night by Jailer Prock Hayes.

Jailer Hayes was called from bed by prisoners warning him that a man was trying to hang himself. Rushing to the second floor of the jail, he found that Ronnie Burchett, who had been jailed on a drunkenness charge, had torn up a mattress cover, knotted the strips together, tied one end around his neck and the other around a bar. He had slid to the floor and was choking when the jailer arrived.

Burchett, who had been jailed the same day by Policemen Bill Potter and Kelly Frasure, was later released under bond. A charge of destroying public property was added to the drunk count against him.

REGION'S DAMS TALK SUBJECT

Army Engineer Skidmore Discusses Fishtrap, Pound With Planning Group

"We could use construction money on the Pound dam," Col. H. J. Skidmore, chief of the Huntington district office, U. S. Corps of Army Engineers, told the Eastern Kentucky Planning Commission in its meeting at Morehead, Monday.

But, he added, "We have just started to plan the Fishtrap dam, and we have not committed ourselves on what we expect to do."

Col. Skidmore pointed out that many factors must be taken into consideration before it takes a definite stand on all phases of the Fishtrap project.

SCOUT DRIVE KICK-OFF SET

Early Bird Breakfasts Are Planned, Announced; Branham, Frazier Named

The annual drive for funds by the Lonesome Pine Council of Boy Scouts will be kicked off with an Early Bird Breakfast in various communities, Oct. 21, according to an announcement by Jack Branham, of Betsy Layne, chairman of the Jenny Wiley District.

"If enough manpower is enlisted and those men call on enough people and sell them on contributing to Scouting the money needed by the Jenny Wiley District of the Council will be forthcoming," Chairman H. Frazier, Floyd county drive chairman, said.

"We have advanced beyond the stage in Boy Scout campaigning where we can expect miracles from one or two men," Frazier continued. "The day of the one-man miracle campaigner is over. Every division, every team, every committee is a campaign within a campaign, all functioning as a part of the community effort."

Branham released the names of the various campaign committees this week.

B. F. Reed, of Drift, will head leadership gifts; Burl Spurlock and N. M. White, Jr., will co-chairman special gifts committee. Rev. Harold Dorsey and Marvin Music, are co-chairmen of general solicitations, Jesse Elliott leads the prospects and rating committee. Named to the publicity committee were The Floyd County Times, radio stations WPRT and WDOC; arrangements committee, Carl Wise, and audit, Carl Martin.

STRIKE ENDS ON JOB HERE

General Superintendent On Flood Control Work Leaves after Dispute

Work was resumed Monday morning on the sewer phase of the Prestonsburg flood control project which had been strike-bound for two weeks.

An uneasy atmosphere pervaded the entire project, however, as further work stoppages threatened.

The work on both phases, the sewer construction and the installations at the Second street fill, continued Wednesday morning without a superintendent. Harry West, general superintendent on the project, left Tuesday afternoon following a reported dispute with Roddy Stone, whose dismissal as a labor steward led to most of the labor trouble.

Homer Bryant and Bill Hines, foremen, respectively, at the work on the fill and on the diversion sewer job, were in charge of operations Wednesday.

The strike on the sewer job which ended Monday resulted, it was said, from refusal of the contractor, the S. T. Kenyon Co., to employ a second labor foreman on that phase of the work. A second foreman was refused, it was said, when the company was told by the international union representative called here to settle one of several labor disputes that the company is not required to employ more than one foreman.

If Prestonsburg is to have flood protection by next year, good weather and no further work stoppages are "musts", it was said Wednesday. The sewer—See Story No. 10, Page 5—

ROTENONE USE REDUCES SHAD

Fisheries Workers Cover All Dewey Lake in Work Of Reducing Rough Fish

Selective "poisoning" of Dewey Lake was begun Tuesday by two crews of employees of the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources, with the operation extending from the uppermost reaches of the lake to the dam.

Rotenone was introduced to the lake by means of boats and the effect on shad was quickly apparent. Tons of dead or dying shad rose to the surface. A few large bass were killed in the shallow upper sections of the lake, first day of the operation, but the Department is hopeful that the game fish toll will be low.

First two days' work was concentrated on the lake from the State Park boat dock to the upper end of the impoundment. Today (Thursday) the work will be down-lake, and a part of Friday may be required for completion.

The lake has been given similar treatment annually for the last few years, in an effort to rid it of a heavy rough-fish population which is blamed for poor fishing conditions and for failure of crappie to grow in normal fashion. The Dewey lake poisoning followed last week's work of the same sort on Harrington Lake.

District Forester Points To Federal Regulations

William Music, district forester, said this week that federal regulations in effect at Dewey Lake required that all tents and housing facilities must be removed from the area at the close of the camping season. He asked that owners of such facilities comply with these regulations by the end of this month or soon thereafter.

Mr. Music also said that those who have not registered their campsites with him will not be given any special consideration when sites are granted next year.

CLASSWORK IS RESUMED ON MONDAY

Attendance by Wednesday Is 95 Per Cent; Groups Endorse Work of Hall

Wheelwright high school, which was closed the last three school days of last week following a demonstration by a gathering of pupils and parents, re-opened Monday and by Wednesday its attendance and general work program was back to normal.

Although Boone Hall, principal of the school, said the community and school are more closely united even than before the trouble, four or five state troopers and two deputy sheriffs remained in Wheelwright Wednesday. They will be kept there "until reasonable reassurance" is had, it was said.

Despite demands by some pupils and their parents that Mr. Hall resign as principal, plans went ahead last week for the school re-opening, and Hall stood fast. The announcement that classwork would resume Monday morning was heard Sunday from the pulpits of eight churches in Wheelwright and vicinity.

The attendance Monday was about 50%, school officials said. Tuesday, it was up to around 92%, with four of the five Negro girls seniors back in school. Wednesday, the attendance was 95%, with all—See Story No. 1, Page 4—

MUSIC-COLVIN BUYS AGENCY

Surrendered Franchise Of Valley Motor Car Co., Bought By Independents

The Music-Colvin Motor Co., Inc., announced this week that it has acquired the Chevrolet franchise here which was surrendered several weeks ago by the Valley Motor Car Company.

The new Chevrolet firm, owned by Ed Music and Bert Colvin, veterans in the automobile business, also has purchased the automotive parts and service and repair equipment of Levisa Motors, Chrysler-Plymouth agency which is moving to Paintsville.

The new Chevrolet agency will occupy the building on South Lake Drive now occupied by Levisa Motors, and it will be from the showroom there that the showing of the new 1959 Chevrolet will be staged, beginning next Thursday.

"We plan to have the most modern repair department available and to give service of the sort that will cause owners of automobiles and trucks to want to come back to us," Mr. Music said.

Valley Motor Car Co., former Chevrolet dealer, has retained its Oldsmobile franchise.

P'BURG MOVES NEARER STREET-PAVING WORK

The City of Prestonsburg this week officially moved toward paving of streets in at least three sections of town, and after adopting paving ordinances advertised for bids.

The streets and alleyways to receive bituminous or blacktop surfacing are covered in three separate ordinances and three advertisements for bids. In the Riverside Drive area all streets are to be 18 feet wide, and they are the entire unimproved portion of Riverside and five streets connecting Riverside with Lawe Drive (US 23); Burchett, Hughes, Horn, Ranier and Jarrell.

Paving in the Lancer, or Mayo Addition, area will also be 18 feet on First, Second and Third streets, First and Second avenues and Warrix Drive.

The Porter Addition work would include 18-foot paving for Clifton,

Where Blame Belongs

The recent trouble in Wheelwright brings out the fact that Wheelwright High School has a gun-carrying deputy sheriff who is also the janitor. This man has carried a gun in plain view of the school children while on the job as janitor.

A situation like this might be expected in an uncivilized community but Wheelwright is a better than average community. The blame can be placed only where it should be—on the School Administration.

Pancake Day Proceeds Are Upped This Year; Contributors Are Named

Pancake Day, sponsored by the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club, netted $1,100 this year, according to an announcement this week. This was much more than last year's receipts, it was noted.

"The Floyd County Fair, pancakes, peanuts and football, have made this a very busy week for most of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club and I am sure we would not care to repeat, again this week, all of the above most worthy activities," wrote Dr. C. L. Hutsinpiiler, editor of Kiwanotes.

Contributors to the expenses of Pancake Day, held last Saturday in conjunction with the Floyd County Fair at the high school cafeteria, were Mallory Stores, Central Wholesale, Spurlock Food Service, Brown Produce Company, Webber's Sausage, Kroger, Howard Wholesale, Paintsville Grocery, H & H Sign Company, radio stations WPRT and WDOO, Floyd County Times and the art class of Prestonsburg high school.

Proceeds of the annual sale of pancakes by Prestonsburg Kiwanis are contributed to the assistance of underprivileged children.

CAMPUS FACILITIES PLAN IS ANNOUNCED BY U. OF K.

The University of Kentucky has announced a master plan for expansion of its campus facilities in Lexington.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Arnold Lawson, 20, and Emma Lou Clark, 16; married at Amba, Oct. 4, Elder J. P. Hall officiating. Arnold Prater, 23, and Allene Sparkman, 17, both of Hueysville; marriage solemnized Oct. 4 at Eastern, by the Rev. Henry Mullins. Bruce Vanhoose, 24, Estill, and Janice Stone, 18, Wayland, Claude Justice, 17, Dock, and Ida Shepherd, 15, Water Gap.

To use some of that good new sorghum, send for your copy of "Kentucky Sorghum Recipes," Leaflet 173, to the Bulletin Room, Experiment Station, Lexington, Ky.

Bids will be asked in November for a new men's dormitory, the first new structure included in the plan. Dickey said a new physics-chemistry building will be started "as soon as funds are available from the state."

Other construction high on the priority list includes new buildings or extension for the College of Commerce, the College of Law, the College of Education, the College of Engineering, the College of Agriculture and Home Economics and the library. The addition of 3,502 parking spaces also is planned.

Dickey estimated the total cost of the project at "about 20 or 25 million dollars," but said the money and time involved could not be accurately determined this far in advance.

Bond issues would support a sizeable portion of the cost, he added.

"No hard and fast schedule has been developed for carrying out the plan," the president said, "because the availability of funds is a matter impossible to predict."

Among the relatives and friends from here and Floyd county who attended the funeral of French A. Maggard at a funeral home in Lexington, October 4, were: Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Allen, of Martin; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Maggard, Langley; Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Maggard and sons, of Hindman; Mr. and Mrs. Troy B. Sturgill, Mr. and Mrs. Barkley Sturgill, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Graham Dingus, Mr. and Mrs. Du-Ran Moore, Mrs. Edward B. Day, Pikeville; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stewart, Hindman.

ATTEND MAGGARD FUNERAL

Fishes officials predict that fall fishing will benefit from the shad-killing work. Rotenone really does not poison fish, it is pointed out. The chemical clogs the gills of fish, causing death by suffocation.

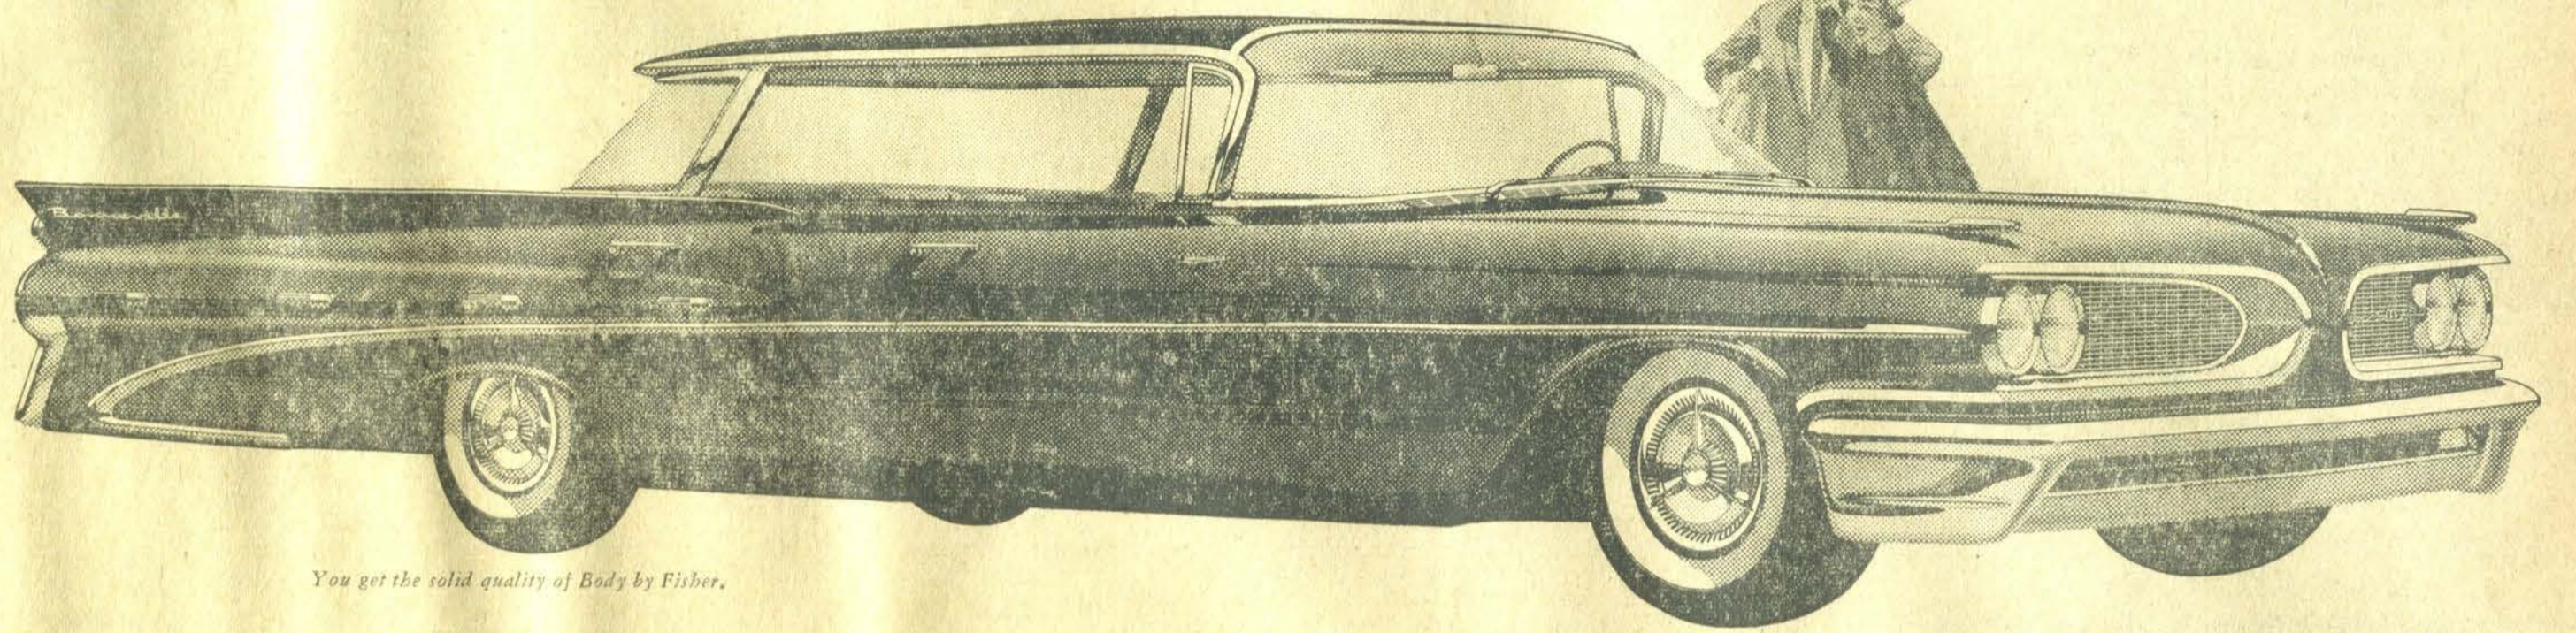

TOLEDO — Esther Welland told police a strange man walked up to her as she was waiting for a bus, commented about the chilly weather, put an arm around her, kissed her, and fled with her purse containing $8.

COLUMBUS — Earl G. Vines, a 69-year-old civil engineer assistant, brushed aside two younger men to go to the aid of a 21-year-old co-worker overcome by gas in an unused East Side sewer. Both perished.

Wheels moved out 5 inches for the widest, steadiest stance in America—better cooling for engine and brakes—lower center of gravity for better grip on the road, safer cornering, smoother ride, easier handling. You get the most beautiful roadability you've ever known—in America's Number 1 Road Car!

PONTIAC! America's Number 1 Road Car!

Those exclusive Wide-Track Wheels sparked a chain reaction of wonderful new ideas: You can see the trim, tailored new look . . . it's inches lower without sacrificing roominess or road clearance. You'll discover this beauty handles city corners and clings to country curves in a way conventional narrow-gauge cars can't hope to imitate. And the ride . . . the miraculous freedom from sway, dive and bounce . . . this is an experience in buoyant travel that you won't believe—until you try it.

But there's still more to the new Pontiac to stamp it as the big change for '59:

Vista-lounge interiors with full 360-degree visibility . . . seats actually wider than a sofa . . . Air-Cooled True-Contour Brakes for smooth, effortless control, stop after stop after stop.

The industry's most advanced V-8, Pontiac's Tempest 420, gives you spectacular new responsiveness. And there's a new companion power plant, the Tempest 420E, that delivers phenomenal extra mileage—and does it on regular octane gas!

Come in and see why no other car can possibly be so new as the new Pontiac—three great series: the magnificent Bonneville, the dramatic Star Chief and the brilliant new Catalina.

2 Great New Engines

If you love action—you get the liveliest on wheels with the new Tempest 420 V-8, acclaimed by automotive experts as America's most advanced power plant.

If you want the accent on economy, choose Pontiac's revolutionary new Tempest 420E. This new V-8 actually delivers better mileage than many smaller cars with so-called "economy engines" . . . and it uses regular octane fuel for further savings!

Seats Wider than a Sofa

Plenty of leg and head room. Pontiac's living-room comfort lets you change position naturally . . . choose the way you like to sit—not offer still other new comfort advantages over the average sofa. They're wider, have higher backs and slant downward at the rear for maximum support under the knees for safer, more comfortable driving.

Air-Cooled True-Contour Brakes

High efficiency cooling flanges in the air stream dissipate heat far faster . . . 39% bigger drums absorb quick-stop heat . . . 25% thicker lining lasts far longer . . . 10% greater lining contact plus true-contour fit of lining and drum mean precision action, less pedal effort. The industry's largest front cylinders give better front and rear brake balance for smoother high speed stops.

five Negro girls in class, and that attendance was considered normal. Only one student, a boy, has been expelled. He defied a teacher to give him falling grades, it was said.

Leading citizens, civic and school organizations quickly rallied to the principals' defense.

The Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club of Wheelwright adopted by unanimous vote resolutions expressing its "approval and support of school principal, Mr. Boone Hall, in his stand in the recent school disturbance." Continued the resolutions: "The demonstrations were the result of gross misunderstandings and flagrant disregard for authority and order by a small minority group. It was recognized that Mr. Hall has done a fine job in the schools in Wheelwright in the few years he has been here, and the Kiwanis Club wants the public to know how the vast majority of the people in the Wheelwright vicinity actually feel about the disgraceful incident."

The Executive Council of the Parent-Teacher Association and the school faculty added their endorsements.

Meeting here Tuesday, the Floyd County Board of Education in formal resolutions expressed "the utmost confidence in the principal... Boone Hall, and his conduct" of the school.

Some racial tension was created during last week but this was considered a by-product rather than a cause of the incident at the school which set off the original demonstration.

County Superintendent Virgil O. Turner said there had been no integration trouble in the past and that last week's trouble didn't start with an integration problem.

Last Wednesday night, rocks were thrown against the home of Mrs. Lillie B. Hood in Branham Hollow. She is the mother of Ernestine Johnson, the Negro girl who was involved in the trouble that sparked the walkout of students and subsequent demonstrations.

The Negro girl, principal Hall said, was suspended, Tuesday of last week. Three white girls, Betty Isaacs, Carolyn Hall and Velma Mosley, also were suspended.

Hall said the Isaacs and Hall girls were suspended for "refusing to co-operate with a teacher" in connection with a Tuesday morning study-hall disturbance. The Johnson and Mosley girls were suspended as the result of a "little fight" later in the morning at a student hangout downtown, he added.

Hall said the trouble began Tuesday after he sent the Isaacs and Hall girls home after a study-hall argument.

Instead of going home, he added, they went to Blackburn's Grocery where students often eat lunch.

Hall said the girls earlier had told a Wheelwright merchant that one of the Negro students (Miss Johnson) had said something personal about one of them during the morning and that "they were coming back for a fight."

After the Mosley girl arrived at the hangout the three accosted the Negro girl and a "little fight" ensued between the Mosley and the Johnson girls, Hall added.

A crowd collected, the principal said, and when word got back to the school, about 100 students decided to stage a walk-out parade in downtown Wheelwright.

"Just before the bell rang," Hall reported, "some students began yelling and shouting. A number of rocks were thrown... some windows were smashed."

The United States produces less than half the wool that is used here in clothing, the remainder being imported. The sheep population in the U. S. declined from 50 million head in the 1930's to 27 million head in 1956.

'NOT A YARD'
OWENSBORO — Kentucky has not added a single yard of interstate highway in the past year and the state administration is withholding this law from the public, Bert Combs said Friday.

The Prestonsburg Democratic candidate for governor said the Federal Bureau of Public Roads announced several weeks ago Kentucky ranks 41st in completed interstate road construction and 37th in construction under way.

Tests Completed By Station
Of 14 purebred beef bulls put through the Kentucky Experiment Station annual husbandry department's semi-annual performance test, a Polled Hereford showed the best daily gains.

We, the friends and neighbors of Dr. J. H. This charge is especially deplorable in view of Dr. Allen's close attention to his duties as Board Member and his consistent record of attendance at meetings.

Dr. Allen has devoted his life to the people of this county, spending long hours visiting the sick whether they had money or not, always keeping in mind that suffering humanity took precedence over everything else. Years of walking, riding and driving over the highways, creek Department of Agriculture," Lewis said.

"The Federal Government acquires these foods through the price support programs and from foods purchased under the surplus removal program," Lewis explained. The food program, initiated by the United States Department of Agriculture in 1949, now aids 260,000 person in the state. The Floyd County Fiscal Court certified 11,926 person as eligible to receive commodities at a meeting two weeks ago.

The remaining 13 counties in Eastern Kentucky receiving a huge chunk of aid in the food program follow, with the amounts received: Harlan, $163,766.90; Clay, $153,262.10; Johnson, $103,137.10; Breathitt, $107,227.30; Letcher, $163,632.80; Pike, $140,746.40; Whitley, $139,195.40; McCreary, $125,697.90; Martin, $96,334.10; Magoffin, $82,645.60; Boyd, $57,966.50; Rowan, $19,048.85; Leslie, $18,093.00.

Any family, with the following number of persons in it, receiving less than these stated amounts, is eligible to receive assistance from cooperating counties: One person, $65; two persons, $85; three, $95; four, $135; eight, $145; nine, $155; seven, $135; eight, $145; nine, $155.

PROBLEMS FOR MOTHERS
Mothers of young children are frequently puzzled over the selection of clothing that children can wear for a fairly long time, yet provide a reasonably good fit during the entire period.

A too-large size is not the best solution to this problem, says Miss Rachel Rowland, Extension specialist in clothing at the University of Kentucky, for the child will feel clumsy and awkward, and an overly large garment may even be a safety hazard.

It's not too early to be looking ahead and planning that new purchase for the home which many families in Kentucky make in the fall.

The suggestion comes from Miss Marian Bartlett, home furnishings specialist in Extension at the University of Kentucky. A good starting point, she says, is to look with a critical eye at the room or rooms in question, noting the changes or additions that would be desirable.

JP NAMED

CHARLESTON — The second of their three Kanawha County minor judiciary offices vacated earlier this week was filled Friday when George W. Gillespie was appointed as justice of the peace for the Union District.

NOTICE

At the regular meeting of the Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club last Monday night in Wheelwright, the Club expressed its unanimous approval and support of school principal, Mr. Boone Hall, in his stand in the recent school disturbance. The demonstrations were the result of gross misunderstanding and flagrant disregard for authority and order by a small minority group. It was recognized that Mr. Hall has done a fine job in the schools at Wheelwright in the few years he has been here and the Kiwanis Club wants the public to know how the vast majority of the people in the Wheelwright vicinity actually feel about the disgraceful incident.

THE BEAVER VALLEY KIWANIS CLUB

GOOD REASONS FOR DEFEATING THE PRESENT SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION CANDIDATES

- 1. POLITICS—They have involved the schools in politics in attempting to build up a political machine.
2. POOR LEADERSHIP—The Minimum Foundation Program should have made many improvement in our schools if it had been properly used in our county, but the job has been bungled. The extra money has been used to hire more office workers and maintenance employees.
3. TRANSPORTATION—A well trained, competent auto mechanic should supervise the school bus transportation rather than a school teacher as is presently being done.
4. TEACHERS—So many qualified teachers have been run out of the profession that Floyd county ranks at the top in number of Emergency teachers employed.
5. WE NEED A CHANGE—The two men who are running in support of the present administration have a combined membership of approximately fifty years.
6. INTEREST—The two administration candidates have no children in school, but they do have many jobs to protect.
7. THE FUTURE—The two administration candidates are tied to the present Superintendent of Schools—Our schools are not improving under his leadership.
8. BUILDING PROGRAM—The Board has no long range building program.
9. TEACHER MORALE—The teachers should be allowed to teach our children, and not be forced to attend rallies and campaign for Board Members.

HOMEMAKERS PLAN

Information that will help stretch the family income seemed especially important to members of homemakers clubs throughout Kentucky as they voted on the projects to be taken in their clubs this year. That was brought to light by Miss Vandilla Price, University of Kentucky supervisor of home economics Extension, when she surveyed the programs for the entire state.

factors contributing to this situation as pertaining to interstate unemployment claims.

Set for initiation through the unemployment office here and others over the nation is the UCV program (unemployment compensation for ex-servicemen) which will become effective Sept. 22. Under this program veterans with peacetime service—that is service in the U. S. armed forces since April 1, 1955—will draw unemployment compensation for the regular 13-week period.

Although the state of Kentucky did not extend its unemployment compensation aid by 13 weeks, as planned, the UCV program (unemployment compensation for veterans) was extended for that period by the federal government. This UCV program applies to veterans with wartime service, prior to Feb. 1, 1955. The extended benefits are available for those veterans who had exhausted their unemployment compensation after April 1, 1958.

its tracks in the valley to be flooded. He said it would be cheaper to purchase and abandon the railroad line there than to relocate it. With a gate in the dam, the railroad contends, it would not have to relocate the tracks.

But those on the other side contend that such a gate would prevent the dam from retaining enough water for industrial and recreational purposes.

A request by the railroad for further consideration of the proposed project by the Corps of Engineers, the colonel said, will cause additional delay in getting the dam started. There should be no additional delay in the Pound dam, he said, adding "We could use construction money on it almost immediately."

The Pound dam, will serve a 200-square-mile drainage area.

B. F. Reed of Drift, chairman of the commission, presided at the meeting Monday after which the commissioners were taken on a helicopter ride over the town. The commissioners also discussed the possibility of locating a state tree nursery in Eastern Kentucky for reforestation purposes and heard Frank Lebus speak on Eastern Kentucky agricultural possibilities.

Ford brings Thunderbird elegance to the low-price field with

THE WORLD'S MOST BEAUTIFULLY PROPORTIONED CARS

The new Fords for 1959 have a casual kind of elegance—the fresh crispness of design that distinguishes the Thunderbird. They are beautifully different from all other cars—and from all other Fords. This new beauty was recognized at the Brussels World's Fair. The 59 Fords, on preview, received the Gold Medal of the Comité Français de l'Élégance for beautiful proportions!

They have a straight-through appearance . . . a clean-cut look that is very open and airy. The entire glass area has been designed to give you the modern picture-window feeling of indoor-outdoor living. The new thin-line roof is actually a sensational engineering achievement—to give you even greater safety. Yet it has a gracefulness that will make riding in any other car seem "old hat."

And this easy elegance is traceable to the sporting heritage of the beautiful Ford Thunderbird. These Fords are altogether new.

But the most beautiful difference of all is money in your pocket. The 59 Fords are the standout buy in the low-price field. They are superbly designed to give you all the supreme beauty, comfort, power and performance that only Ford's creative engineering can bring you. Soon—October 17th—you'll be able to get that New Ford Feeling in the World's Most Beautifully Proportioned Cars!

"The one I examined, he had a skull fracture and a broken leg and was dead when I got to him," said one of the deputies. "Jim, there, took care of the one in the white shirt."

"What about the man in the white shirt?" the constable wanted to know.

"Well," said Jim, "this man was still alive when I reached him but by the time I got his head turned around like it ought to be he was dead, too."

BUT YOUNGSTERS DON'T

Times do change—now, don't they? Your 1958-model (not your model 1958) youngster takes a hoop and twirls the thing around his neck, waist or knees, till the whole family gets so dizzy his old man tries it.

Back in my day, a boy would take a hoop and a stick and, with the dust of a country road squirting up between his toes, roll that hoop till his tongue was hanging out . . . I sometimes wonder which had more fun with the hoop.

And we thought we had been going a long time at 31 years . . . Now we learn that the Harrodsburg Herald last week observed its 148th anniversary . . . The Herald has had more than one editor, thought, we are fairly certain.

Indian legend has it that the smoky haze that pervades the hills, this time of year, rises from the campfires of those camping along the trail on their way to the Happy Hunting Ground . . . How beautiful that legend is alongside the ugliness of reality in a section where the blue haze is caused all too often by forest fires.

If I had time and a landing net, believe I could catch a good bass or two, over at Dewey Lake this week. At last the bass have come "to the top"—they've been "poisoned."

WELL NAMED
 San Diego — Staff members of the Natural History Museum during the last 45 years have included a Miss Peacock, Miss Woodcock, a Mr. Quain and a Mr. Gander. Only Gander survives.

Bert Combs Asks Data On Survey Of Highway Unit

Hopkinsville, Ky., Oct. 7 — Bert Combs, an anti-Chandler candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, continued to hammer away at the Highway Department Tuesday and asked for information on the recent survey of that agency by Griffenhagen & Associates.

In a registered letter to one of his opponents, Lieutenant Governor Harry Lee Waterfield, he listed three questions:

1. Did Griffenhagen & Associates recommend continuing the Advisory Highway Commission?
2. Did the organization recommend that 600 workers, fired by former Highway Commissioner James W. Martin, as unnecessary, be rehired?
3. Will you persuade Chandler, Harry Davis (Chandler's executive secretary), and others to make public the report which has cost the taxpayers $470,000?

UNREASONABLE PREJUDICES

Every one of us is a victim of your own way and, at best, apologetic for the other. Maybe you have outgrown the severe form of prejudice that would make you a bitter critic of the other fellow's church, but you still find yourself wondering how a sensible person could put up with certain rituals and beliefs. It is a rare person that can accept differences between one church and another as calmly as he takes blondes and brunettes.

Not long ago I ran into another prejudice that must be rather common. One cousin is a hillbilly musician of considerable prominence; the other has had many years of serious study in more formal music. The hostility between the two is striking: neither believes that the other one is honest or can possibly enjoy his own type of music. As an outsider I have tried a little to bring the two nearer together, for I love both kinds of music, but thus far I have no progress to report.

Most of the people whom I have known have violent dislikes of certain words and expressions, always, of course, because of some unpleasant association or earlier times. Maybe the word or expression was used by some neighbor whom he disliked; therefore you dislike the word itself and can never react properly to it, no matter who uses it. It may be a word that was used by a social climber, or somebody's ignorant mother-in-law, or some detestable brat that was made a neighborhood model. Anyway, I can sympathize perfectly with you and am hardly willing to admit that there is not something bad about the word itself. This happens to me by my most nearly complete imperfect sympathy. I just love folk language, bad grammar and all; I can tolerate semi-bad grammar and do it daily. But when a flagrant violation is flaunted by some self-advertiser, I have to bite my tongue to keep down some bad words. When I consider how this sort of thing "riles" me, I have much more tolerance for people who have prejudices in religion, politics, music.

Playforth To Conduct Criminology Class

Prof. Roscoe Playforth will be able to conduct the extension course, Sociology 401, Criminology, (three credit hours— at Prestonsburg, it was announced this week by Palmer L. Hall, director of graduate studies, Morehead College.

The class may meet both Friday night and Saturday-morning for a shorter number of weeks; or it may meet either Friday night or Saturday morning, depending upon arrangements worked out with Prof. Playforth, it was said.

The course will be opened to juniors, seniors and graduate students with sufficient background in the social studies. (Students with less than 57 semester hours, total, will not be able to enroll.)

Organization will depend upon a sufficient number of students submitting their names and addresses to the college, indicating their intention to enroll in the class by Monday, October 13. Individuals or groups interested in the course should drop a postal or note to Monroe Wicker, director of school services division, Morehead State College.

Four Floyd Students At Western State

Four students from Floyd county are among the 2,581 students enrolled at Western Kentucky State College for the 1958 fall semester, according to figures released this week by Registrar E. H. Canon.

They are Estill Branham and Charlie Osborne, Prestonsburg, Jackie A. Wilson, of Bypro, and Sarah Louise Clark, of Wheelwright.

Dr. Kelly Thompson, president of Western, stated that this is the largest fall enrollment in the history of the college. Enrollment in the freshman class is also the largest in the history of the college.

What is your pet prejudice? Maybe it is political. If you live in certain areas of Kentucky, your party is dominant, so dominant that it hardly seems necessary to notice the other one; in other areas you belong to a party that is just about equal in numbers to the opposing one. This gives you, in this latter case, something to think about and to get "het up" about. The mistakes of any member of your opposing party become the mistakes of the party itself; all other members are equally bad. I have known people who had learned to scratch the ticket, as I have so long done, and yet say the most cutting things about the party in which they had not been reared but in which they had voted often. A few days ago I encountered just such a man, a lifelong Democrat who lately turned Republican but who unconsciously finds himself saying the most biting things about the Republicans. It is hard for a leopard to change its spots.

Maybe your prejudice is religious. There are plenty of people who have just such prejudice, often of so long standing that it seems foreordained and predestinated. If you have been reared in one church atmosphere, you feel, often, a strangeness or worse about the rites of any other denomination. You unconsciously find yourself approving

MURDER CHARGED

The two 17-year-olds are Ed Garrett and Andrew Davis.

BLACK CATS EDGE OUT RIVAL PIKEVILLE, 14-7

Prestonsburg high school's Blackcats evened their season football record Saturday night with a 14-7 victory over the visiting Pikeville high school Panthers in a game that was won on the "breaks."

Floyd county's other grid representative, the winless but undismayed Wheelwright Maroons, traveled last week to M. C. Napier, losing by the narrowest of margins, 20-19.

Prestonsburg and Pikeville played to a halftime 7-7 deadlock. Prestonsburg broke the ice with a five-yard scoring sweep by James Allen, who annexed the extra point. Midway the second quarter, Pikeville's Charles Mims ran 29 yards to knot the count. In the final quarter, however, Prestonsburg guard, Henry Hughes, jolted a Pikeville runner into a fumble. Halfback Willie Ousley grabbed the oval in mid-air and sped 31 yards into the end zone. Allen again converted.

Belfry's unscored on Pirates have moved into the Eastern Kentucky high school football limelight after downing Paintsville, 26-0, last weekend for their fifth consecutive victory.

Although in second place with a 3-0 record in the E. K. M. C., Belfry has little chance of beating out Hazard for the title even if it does win the rest of their games, since the loop uses the Dickinson system of rating in selecting a champion.

Hazard, idle last week, leads the league with a 5-0 mark and has only one loop game left to play.

In other games Whitesburg fell before Lynch, 26-0, and Fleming edged Elkhorn City, 8-7.

Walter Brugh's Paintsville Tigers blew four scoring opportunities inside the ten-yard line as fumbles and pass interceptions stopped potential scoring drives.

After a poor Belfry punt went out of bounds on the 35-yard line, Paintsville marched to the 10 in three plays with halfback Robert Wiley gaining 15 yards in one trek. Paintsville fumbled on first down on the ten, then Belfry zoomed 90 yards in nine plays as speedy halfbacks Harold Sullivan and George May did most of the damage. The touchdowns came on a 20-yard pass from quarterback Doug Scott to end Richard Conley in the only scoring in the first half.

Paintsville twice more went to the ten, only to lose the pigskin on fumbles.

The Pike countians scored again in the third period on a 60-yard march with two penalties sandwiched in between. Sullivan scored from five-yards out after fullback Doug Nease had put the ball in scoring position. Doug Scott kicked the point after for a 13-0 Pirate lead.

The last touchdown came late in the fourth period on a 60-yard, seven-play series, with George May scoring from the 10 and Doug Scott kicking the point.

May and Sullivan, both 135-pound seniors, tore the bigger Paintsville line to shreds and left some 2,500 fans gasping at their amazing speed.

Orville Hamilton, 6-5, 220-pound senior Tiger center, made the majority of tackles for the losing Paintsville eleven. The agile lineman is one of the most improved players in the Big Sandy Valley.

SPORTS FANS GET WARNING

Sturgill Urges Care In Driving To Games; To Check on Traffic

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 7 — Safety Commissioner Don Sturgill Tuesday called on Kentucky sports fan to help cut the highway-accident rate by driving carefully to and from football games.

Citing the fact that October is the highest-fatality month for Kentucky motorists, Sturgill said the high death rate can be traced mainly to the heavy football schedule.

"October is the only month which finds every team — both college and high school — in action every week-end," he said. "This results in many teen-agers driving some distance to see their teams play, along with many of the college alumni returning to their alma maters for 'big week-ends.'"

The commissioner said for this reason, State police will concentrate on football traffic, especially on speeding and reckless and drunken driving.

"Many extra units will be assigned to highway patrol activity in areas where large football crowds are expected. Roadblocks will be placed so as to ensure the safety of the many motorists who are willing to obey the laws in an effort to get to and from the games safely."

"As many of the younger fans may have the family car for the first time, and may be inclined to show off, and since many of the older people may be inclined to drink on the highways, I would like to call upon every sports fan in Kentucky, along with all other persons, to join with us in making this October the safest in our history."

Sturgill said roadblocks will be used in addition to planes which will spot traffic from the air and relay information to State police units on the ground.

SPORTS AFIELD
 By TED KESTING

It is well known that fishing for most fresh-water species (other than trout) is good in spring and comparatively poor in summer. But only a few veteran anglers realize that fishing is at its very best in fall, reports Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. Though you may or may not catch as many fish this time of the year as early in the season, those you get are practically sure to average much larger.

In fact, it's safe to say that in fall, in the northern part of the country, your chances of catching the big fish of your lifetime are 20 times better than in summer and five times better than in spring. Nor is much skill needed, for you can usually fish about any way you wish, with any type of tackle that suits you, and do quite well — just so you stay out there and fish hard even if it is a little chilly.

However, there's a little catch to this: Popularly, all September is a fall month, but according to astronomers and the dictionary, fall doesn't begin until the autumnal equinox, about September 23. Fish seem to be even more scientific in placing the time they must begin feeding hard to put on the extra weight necessary to carry them through the poor pickings of winter.

Really, it's only above the Canadian line that the good fall fishing begins early. In the northern United States it's unlikely to get going until after October 1, and in the extreme southern states it may be a full month later.

The farther south you go, the less marked is this superiority of fall as the time for big fish, no doubt because their instincts tell them that they can find a fair amount of food all winter. But in southern states fall is still a fine time for big ones.

LEADERS NOT IN BOWLS

Now that the deadline (October 1) has passed for the signing of teams for high school football Bowl games, the current leaders in Eastern Kentucky, Hazard and Belfry, will not play in any post-season games.

Hazard, by virtue of action by the City Board of Education, refused at least four bids, while Belfry, sporting a 5-0 record, was not considered for any post-season attraction.

Prestonsburg, Jenkins and Paintsville, all with mediocre records, will play in three of the eleven Bowl games that are staged in the state.

Nick Diachenko's Jenkins Cavaliers will be making their second successive Bowl appearance. Last year, they whipped Catlettsburg in the Big Sandy Bowl at Paintsville. This season, they will meet Knox Central, November 14, in Middleboro's Pinnacle Bowl.

Prestonsburg, making its fourth appearance in the past nine years in a bowl game, will collide with Cumberland in the Coal Bowl, November 8, at Cumberland. Paintsville was named last week to meet Winchester in the annual fracas in the Johnson county seat.

HUGHES NAMED

Henry Hughes, senior guard, was named Blackcat Player-of-the-Week in Prestonsburg's 14-7 victory over Pikeville last Saturday. This is the second time the hustling lineman has received the award, sponsored weekly by the Francis Stores in Prestonsburg.

Prestonsburg's junior quarterback, James Allen, is the second leading scorer in Eastern Kentucky high school football with seven touchdowns and eight extra points for a 50-point total. Hazard's versatile Astor Sizemore leads the area and the state with 107 markers.

TICKETS SOON ON SALE

The Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce will place on sale next week tickets to the Kentucky Wesleyan-Middle Tennessee State College basketball game to be played here Saturday, December 13.

JAYCEES' CHOICES JUSTIFIED

All four recipients of the Reatherford-Salyers Award, sponsored annually by the Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, are now outstanding athletes and students in their respective schools, which indicates careful selection by the Junior Chamber for the award, which was initiated in memory of Donald Gene Reatherford and Woodrow Salyers, who lost their lives in a locker room accident four years ago.

Bert Dixon, who copped the first award, is now a starting end on the Morehead College football team and is on the college Student Council. James Buford Crager, 1957 winner, is president of the sophomore class at Morehead College and a starting halfback on the football team. Lowell Hughes, 1956 winner, is the starting quarterback for the University of Kentucky eleven, and his brother, Paul Hughes, last year's member, is the starting quarterback at Greenbrier Military Institute.

A TIMES WANT AD GETS AMAZING RESULTS!

- I. LEADERSHIP?
  1. Just what leadership has been evident from the present school administration?
  2. If our teachers (thank God for them) have to provide their own leadership, why are we paying out tax money in big salaries to a Superintendent and Supervisors who are, by their own admission in the "ten good reasons," incapable of providing that leadership?
- II. LUNCH PROGRAM?
  1. Are supplies for school lunch programs furnished by the Federal Government from surplus products and distributed by the State Government at little or no cost?
  2. If this is the case, why are ONE-THIRD or more of our children being left out?
  3. Have any plans been made to provide these low cost lunches for the "left-out" children?
- III. MATERIALS?
  1. Is the "increase in appropriations" of which the administration is so proud the same one that is specifically provided by the minimum foundation program?
  2. Would these increases have been made if the law had permitted its use for any other purpose or would it have been used to add another Maintenance employee?
  3. Why do the teachers still have to use their own money to buy so much of their classroom materials?
- IV. LIBRARIES?
  1. Isn't the improvement in Library service another direct result of a specific provision of the minimum foundation law?
  2. Hasn't the effects of the Floyd County Library Board and the State Library Extension Service had a greater effect on this improved service than the "cooperation" of the School Board?
- V. ATTENDANCE?
  1. Are state funds for local educational systems distributed on the basis of attendance?
  2. We all know the teachers are to be commended for their efforts in improving attendance records, but what help are they receiving from our school officials on this problem?
  3. Would it be enlightening if each of us asked a teacher, perhaps our own child's teacher, what help they received from the "office" on a chronic attendance problem?
- VI. SALARIES ? ? ? ?
  1. Why not let Jimmy Greene tell us how teachers salaries have increased as compared to Maintenance employees salaries?
  2. Does the same percentage of increase apply to teachers salaries as to that of the Superintendent?
  3. How do the teachers salaries compare with the office workers employed by the School Board?
- VII. TRANSPORTATION?
  1. What improvements have been made in the transportation system in the last few years?
  2. Don't many of our children leave home before daylight and arrive back after dark?
  3. Isn't the transportation system of sufficient importance to require constant attention and planning to assure prompt and safe delivery of our children to and from school?
- VIII. COURSE OF STUDY?
  1. If the courses of study have been expanded so much why do so many of our children have a harder time in college than those from other sections of the state?
  2. How many times have you heard a boy or girl back from college say, "I had an awful time with that subject because I never had anything like it in high school"?
- IX. TEACHER PREPARATION?
  1. Does a teacher's qualifications really mean anything or is it more important that they buy groceries and gasoline at a certain roadside "store"?
- X. BUILDINGS AND IMPROVEMENTS:
  1. Would someone name one, yes just one, section of the county where the inadequate, poorly lighted, almost unheated one-room school houses have been replaced by a new modern consolidated school with all its many educational advantages for the children?
 If the present school administration can answer these questions to your satisfaction then they have "ten good reasons" for your support, if not they should be ashamed to even ask you to support them.

THE HANGING OF FLOYD FRAZIER AT WHITESBURG

May 21, 1907, Floyd Frazier, a resident of Pine Creek, Letcher county, Kentucky, killed a neighboring widow, Mrs. Ellen Flannery, mother of several children. The woman was killed while she was alone picking greens on the farm.

Frazier was identified by his tracks at the scene; tacks in the brogans he was wearing, fitting the footprints. He was moved to the Pineville jail for safekeeping. He confessed the deed while being returned to Whitesburg for execution.

Letcher County Sheriff Lewis Cook officiated at the hanging in 1909. Frazier was unrepentant to the last, upbraided two of his former teachers who were in the crowd. It was Letcher county's last hanging. Tony Ranier, of Prestonsburg, then a young man, was a witness to the hanging.

The First National Bank, organized in 1904, presents these pictures of our section's past in recognition of our historic heritage.

Chapel-Arts Structure At Pikeville To Cost An Estimated $500,000

Pikeville, Ky., Oct. 6 (Sp.)—Bids will be invited soon on construction of Pikeville College's proposed $500,000 chapel-fine arts building.

The decision of Pikeville's board of trustees to proceed with the project was revealed today by Dr. A. A. Page, college president. The addition of two new members to the board also was announced.

Construction may get started by January on the building, which is to house a chapel seating 800 and accommodations for music and art classes, Dr. Page said. The 100-by-120-foot structure, which will stand on a steep part of Pikeville's hillside campus, will be one story high at the front and four stories high at the back.

The new chapel will release the present chapel, in the administration building, for other uses which ultimately will relieve Pikeville's grave shortage of classroom space, it was said.

New members of Pikeville's board of trustees are Floyd I. Fairman, Lexington, president of the Kentucky Utilities Company, and Dr. C. Ralston Smith, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Oklahoma City, Okla. Fairman, an interim appointee to the board, was named for a one-year term. He will be eligible for reappointment next year, Dr. Page said. Dr. Smith, a Pikeville trustee for some time a few years ago, returns to the board as successor to the late Dr. James D. Francis, Huntington, W. Va.

We don't believe you gain anything at all by driving long distances to shop at BIG CITY stores. Our local sources have merchandise that's just as good and costs no more.

But merely for the sake of argument, suppose you do save a few dollars on a time-consuming trip many miles from home. And suppose you don't even count the cost of gasoline and oil, car wear, parking fees, etc. Forget, too, if you like, the hazards of driving in today's heavy highway and city traffic.

But don't overlook these things: What you buy here can be in your home in a few minutes—no waiting several days for delivery. And if the merchandise doesn't give full satisfaction, any needed service or adjustment of the purchase can be made without shipping the items back to the BIG CITY or being forced to make a second trip yourself.

Why drive scores of miles looking for trouble? Shop right around the corner and be safe and satisfied.

AN ORPHAN BOY'S PROMISE IN 1889 NOW MOUNTAIN MISSION SCHOOL

By HENRY P. SCALF

Came the night and the boy, having no home and unable to find a place to sleep, moved into the dread shadows of the woods and curled up in the leaves. He was hungry, cold and ill-clad.

In the distance, as he lay shivering from cold and fright, he heard the scream of a panther. Nearby a catamount squallied and from the depths of the woods a wolf howled. There in the darkness, crying for he had long ceased to weep, he uttered a voiceless prayer. He promised God that if he would let him live to manhood he would build an orphanage to feed mountain boys and girls. He was only 11 years old.

The boy was Sam Hurley, the year 1889. Buchanan county, Virginia, was a semi-wilderness, its sylvan sweep broken only by patches of clearings in which mountaineers toiled for scanty bread. Everywhere was poverty, unhidden by the gaunt cabins that gave shelter to the hillsmen. Featuring the population were the destitute widows and orphans, victims of feud "killings" and disease, chiefly the White Plague, which had wrought its toll.

Sam Hurley, the man, kept his promise to the Lord he made that night as he lay in the leaves of the forest. He built the Mountain Mission School 32 years later at Grundy, Va., and the Lord prospered him. He became affluent, was elected to high office and enjoyed the confidence of Presidents. Consecrated to his mission school, he refused his party's nomination for the office of United States Senator. He lives amid the gratitude of his people.

The story of Sam Hurley's life began in 1878 in a poor cabin-home on a headstream tributary of the Levisa Fork of Big Sandy. He was orphaned when he was ten years old. The father lay ill of tuberculosis for years as the disease undermined his life. The nearest doctor was 65 miles away and to pay the bill his mother sold the livestock and finally the farm. Following the funeral, she and the children became homeless migrants of the road, living by the grace of infrequent circumstances that merely kept body and soul together.

In winter he went barefoot, his bleeding feet marking a trail on mountain roads. He slept, whenever he had no other place to stay, in barns, or in the forest. There were days when he had nothing to eat. But he survived in the primitive country until he was 14 years old and got his first job. He worked six weeks clearing a field, took pay in a yoke of oxen. Finding he had no way to feed them, he sold both for a dollar and a half.

Two years later he was approaching manhood, toughened by every miserable circumstance of adversity. Sam Hurley was growing up to become a prime product of the lawless, poverty-stricken mountain valleys. He had learned early to use a gun and his fists; and, feeling that he could do a man's work, he walked three days to a West Virginia logging camp where he secured employment as "lobby boy" in a boarding house. One of his jobs was to keep order in the lobby.

It was there that he first displayed his talent for rough-and-tumble fighting. The woods bully came into the camp, attacked a much smaller man and Sam tried vainly to pull the big man off. Failing, he picked up a poker and fractured the bully's skull. The other man fled from the flailing iron and the bully never again showed up in camp.

The other loggers implemented Sam Hurley's prowess by buying him a revolver. They bought him clothes and gave him money, for he was a quick favorite. But they also taught him to drink and gamble. He was beginning a career of years of rough-and-tumble living, punctuated with fights, whiskey and bloodshed. In a short while the mountaineers named him, "Bad Sam."

Becoming proficient with a gun, he went to Williamson, W. Va., engaged in a public display of marksmanship with Buffalo Bill who was traveling with a show. Having exhibited a gun technique that elicited the praise of the great plainsman he began to perfect his ability to fight, "fist and skull." He took on all comers, as the mountain code dictated, and rolled with his adversaries in the dirt, biting, twisting, gnashing with his teeth at an ear or nose and probing for eyeballs.

At 22 he met and married Miss Jane Looney, who also was an orphan. Sam had $45 he had saved by working at 50 cents a day, she had $100. Pooling their resources, they went to house-keeping. His wife had a bit of education, having completed the fourth grade. Sam had never been to school but proficient in gun-slugging and "fist and skull," he wasn't going to let a mere woman excel him in anything. He got a speller, reader and dictionary and set out to learn. He made a "board" light, so called because shingles or boards were burned instead of a lamp, and studied at nights and Sundays.

The house they rented was "hainted," or so the neighbors said, but Sam who knew no mortal fear had less of invisible spooks. He patched the cabin up, dug and planted until he had a crop in the ground. He ran out of money, sought work with others. He found that he could get work at 50 cents a day and that his wife was so frugal they could live two weeks on the provisions three days' work would buy.

The third year after his marriage, he bought a horse, a few hogs and a cow. Sometime after that, he bought a large boundary of timber on credit, went into the lumber business and made some money. Success began to come his way, for he entered the contracting business. One job he was to do was to build a custome courthouse at Grundy.

With rising affluence, Sam Hurley became more and more pre-occupied with business, less and less with whiskey and fighting. But the people of the area were still afflicted with the evils of the illicit whiskey trade. The dealers organized themselves and defied the law. Their illegal dispensaries were protected by fearless desperadoes and the law was impotent to search or arrest. The Buchanan county sheriff organized a posse of 25 men at one time but when he attempted to curtail the trade the whiskey men out-shot them.

In 1905 G. M. Tucker, a "revenoor," came to Grundy and summoned Sam Hurley to assist in the arrest of "Blockaders" who had killed several officers, among them three deputy United States marshals. The dealers heard of the marshal's plans and organized to defeat him. Result was battle to the death. The fight occurred just over the Buchanan-Pike county line and when it was over Tucker was seriously wounded but the outlaws were lying in the dust and Hurley was weaving around with a smoking gun, looking for a "blockader" who wanted to shoot some more. He was indicted in the Pike circuit court for murder, as he was charged with being an illegally inducted officer, but he procured a change of venue to the federal court at Covington and was acquitted.

His enemies didn't stop after failure to convict, at Covington. They made up a crew of 16, tried to slip up on the Hurley home in the night, thinking to set the house afire and gun him down as he ran from the flaming building. But he was awakened by a dog, and being suspicious as he had lived by being wary, he came out shooting before the mob was ready to initiate hostilities. After several fusillades the vengeance-seeking group fled.

As the years passed, Hurley began to read the Bible and, having decided to become a Christian, rode 18 miles to the home of Rev. Henry Thompson and asked him to come to his home and preach. Only a dozen or two attended services that hot Sunday in July, 1910, in the Hurley home, but nine were converted, including Sam and his wife.

Later, after services in a log schoolhouse in Grundy, and in a few homes, others were called to Christ and a Sunday School was organized. There were only three others in the entire county. He began to preach and served the Grundy and Prater Church of Christ congregations until he organized the mission school he had promised the Lord to do when he was lying out in the forest at night.

He now entered the political arena, ran for Circuit Court Clerk in one of the bitterest races ever staged in Buchanan county. Since he was a Republican in a Democratic county and was expected to win, his enemies bargained with assassins for his life. Twice two mountaineers agreed to take $2,500 and kill Sam Hurley. They never got the opportunity, for Hurley appeared at speaking dates with armed partisans and, although his enemies were armed, too, the assassins knew if one shot were fired the ground would be strewn with the dead. Hurley was elected and served eight years. In 1926 he became the Republican nominee for Congress.

After consultation with his friends, Hurley decided it was time he fulfilled the Promise. April 22, 1921, he organized the Mountain Mission School at Grundy. He dedicated $5,000 annually for ten years from his own funds and ten percent of his time in promotion. It was his forty-third birthday.

In five years Hurley had advanced more than the amount pledged for ten years and was devoting nearly full time to the school. He brought two tracts of land for $33,000 and deeded that to the institution. As the years advanced he and Mrs. Hurley really became financial angels for the school that grew out of The Promise. The girls' dormitory, costing $65,000, was financed wholly by them.

Soon, however, the Hurley luck ran low and he had to surrender a life insurance policy with a cash value of $34,000 to feed the mountain waifs, pay his teachers even meager salaries and meet the huge operating load. All told by 1943 he had given the school $100,000 in cash.

Came the depression and the Hurley private fortune in stocks and bonds was suddenly wiped out. He found it impossible to provide for the college education of his own children. Things went from bad to worse and he took his daughters out of college and put them to work at the mission. Two taught school, one worked in the office and the fourth had charge of the kitchen and dining room. A son went to work on the farm.

Slowly, though, the institution under the guiding hand of the Hurleys began to recover. It was a time of prayer and much beseeching of the Lord. "Sometimes the meal barrel was empty, the cupboard was bare, there was no meat on the shelf and scarcely any money in the bank," Hurley said in 1943, "but we had faith in God, prayed for the necessities of the children. God invariably touched the hearts of those to whom we appealed."

Today, what was a mere promise of a frightened orphan boy 69 years ago is an institution with several classrooms, a large acreage of mountain land with sufficient bottoms upon which to grow food, a dairy, dormitories, vocational building and a faculty of teachers devoted to orphans from the tri-state mountain area of West Virginia, Virginia and Kentucky. He and his invalid wife still live at the school.

Back in the depression-ridden 30's, two little girls, without a relative in the world, without a home or friend, appeared at the door of the Mountain Mission School. They had not eaten for three days and nights. They told Hurley that they had lived by going from house to house, begging for bread. They had gone only to the homes of the poor, for they said they were ashamed to beg from the well-to-do.

PERRY TEACHERS GET PAY AFTER BOWLING IS OUSTED

Teachers in the Perry county school system, where a deficit of about $146,000 is reported, are in their second month without being paid but received checks Saturday.

Officials, after replacing Superintendent Gilbert Bowling, Wednesday announced plans to pay the teachers.

Bowling resigned after state officials reported an audit showed the deficit.

Walter Roschi, finance administrator of the State Department of Education, said nothing indicated fraud in the shortage, but there was a serious mishandling of public funds.

The school board named Dennis Wooton, of Yerkes, acting superintendent. He was director of pupil personnel in the system from 1951 to 1957.

Hazard banker Gene Parker was named to succeed Bowling as the board's treasurer.

Bowling had served as superintendent three years. His term would have expired next June.

Ted Gilbert of the Department of Education said the deficit was caused by excessive expenditures — beyond the system's resources —some of them made without required approval.

These included building of new classrooms at Leatherwood high school and $18,000 spent on property, not owned by the board, at Buckhorn high school.

HOW MUCH WILL IT COST?

The Fiscal Agent of Floyd County, the Charles A. Hinsch & Co., Inc., has prepared a detailed study of the costs of financing the construction of the proposed new Floyd County Courthouse (See letter opposite).

Based on the present assessment of real estate, franchise and tangible property in this county in the total sum of $38,922,986.00, they have determined that to completely equip and construct a courthouse and jail, it would require a levy of 7c per $100.00 assessed valuation.

The following figures indicate what the individual cost would be for a given assessment:

Present Assessment	Amount of tax
$10,000.00	(Almost exclusively applies to Corporations) $7.00
$ 5,000.00	$3.50
$ 1,000.00	.70
$ 500.00	(AVERAGE Floyd County Assessment) .35
$ 100.00	.07

Is it worth 35c PER YEAR to know that the TITLE TO YOUR HOME is safe from the hazard of fire?

CITIZENS ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Honorable Henry Stumbo, County Judge
Floyd County
Prestonsburg, Kentucky

Dear Judge Stumbo:

The citizens of Floyd County are to vote in the November election on a bond issue to construct a new courthouse in the County and we thought you would like some figures which you might use to show the people the surprisingly small tax levy that will be required to pay off the bond issue.

Based on an assumed interest rate of 3 1/2% on the bonds it will cost an average of approximately $27,100.00 per year to pay off the bonds and the interest.

Based on the total assessed valuation of the County which we understand is $38,922,986.00 AN AVERAGE ANNUAL TAX LEVY OF ONLY 7¢ PER $100 ASSESSMENT will be sufficient to pay off all the bonds and the interest over the specified number of years the bonds are to be paid. In our opinion this is a very small cost for securing a new courthouse which would be a tremendous asset to the County.

Wishing you success in the election on the bond issue, we remain

Very truly yours,

CHARLES A. HINSCH & COMPANY, INC.

Prestonsburg Man Named Class Prexy

Owensboro, Ky., Oct. 9 (Spl.)—Members of Kentucky Wesleyan College's freshman centennial class have elected a Prestonsburg youth to serve as class president during the 1958-59 session.

Robert R. "Bob" Allen was chosen president of the Class of '62 in a recent student election, it was announced by Dr. Elbert Ockerman, dean of student affairs.

LOWER GRAIN FEED PRICES SEEN IF CROP YIELD UP

LEXINGTON, KY.—If total crop production exceeds last year's record, feed grain probably will be lower in price next year, the U. K. agricultural economics department says in its bi-weekly outlook letter.

Forecasts for 1958 crop production, the economists noted, are for a nine percent jump over 1957; this despite the fact less cropland is being used this year than for any year since 1917.

Total feed crop production is estimated to be nine percent above 1957's record and 36 million tons above the 1952-1956 average. Feed grains and other concentrates' production is estimated at 239 million tons for 1958-1959, also nine percent above 1957-1958 figures and 30 percent higher than the 1952-1956 average.

The economists noted farmers are producing "far more grain and soybeans" than are likely to be used in 1958-1959, which likely will result in a large carry-over stock build-up. Hay and pasture crop growing conditions also have been favorable and which will cause a carry-over situation. And even though the supply of grain-consuming animals will be increased in the future, feed supplies will be ample for this larger number.

Seasonal declines in feed prices are expected this fall when 1958 corn and sorghum grain production is marketed, and when 1958 soybean crop processing gets underway.

Corn, sorghum and soybean production in Kentucky for 1958 is higher than normal. In some cases, as in soybeans, production may be at record highs.

The beauty of autumn colors in the turning leaves . . . the excitement of football . . . the hustle and bustle about town . . . no doubt about it, the fall season is once again under way. A busy season for you. A time when you depend more than ever on your good friend, the telephone! There's so much to be done . . . so many details to attend to. Just pick up your phone and away you whiz through a long list of "musts." Wonderful time-saver, the telephone. Gives you extra hours of leisure . . . saves you so many extra steps. You can make your telephone your "biggest bargain" in time . . . in convenience . . . and in the small cost of the service.

"Such a lovely home— it's a shame she doesn't have a bedroom extension phone."

A WOMAN'S WORLD? You'd think so sometimes, but I've decided they keep us men in mind most of the time. Take the matter of that bedroom extension phone. We're the ones who enjoy the luxury of reaching for the phone when it rings in the dead of night. No tripping over furniture or falling downstairs to answer it. They're pretty smart, these women, to insist on extension phones where they're most needed. And—to choose them in attractive colors, too. Actually, the whole family enjoys the fun and convenience of extra phones. Maybe you'd better look into it too. Call our Business Office any time. We'll be happy to give you all the details.

THE STATE OF THINGS in Alaska is of particular interest to all of us, now that Alaska is the 49th. Did you know that Alaskans make more telephone calls per person than folks in any other country!

Veterans Are Entitled To Two Benefits

Veterans eligible for social security disability benefits and Veterans Administration non-service connected pensions now may receive both at the same time.

This effect of a new federal law was reported by Director R. R. Thomas of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board.

Formerly the social security payment of the veteran receiving both benefits was reduced by the amount of the V. A. pension.

Those now receiving reduced social security benefits because of receipt of the V. A. pension will receive automatic increases from social security, Thomas said.

He added that veterans not receiving V. A. pensions because of former provisions or receiving V. A. benefits should write the nearest V. A. office asking that their claims be re-opened.

Assistance may be received from any representative of the Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board, Thomas said.

Funds Will Aid Kentuckians If Hit By Enemy

The State is prepared to provide its people emergency financial assistance in event of enemy attack within the borders of Kentucky.

According to a plan of operation of state government in an emergency, issued by the Kentucky Civil Defense, the Kentucky Department of Economic Security has been authorized by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare to dispense this assistance.

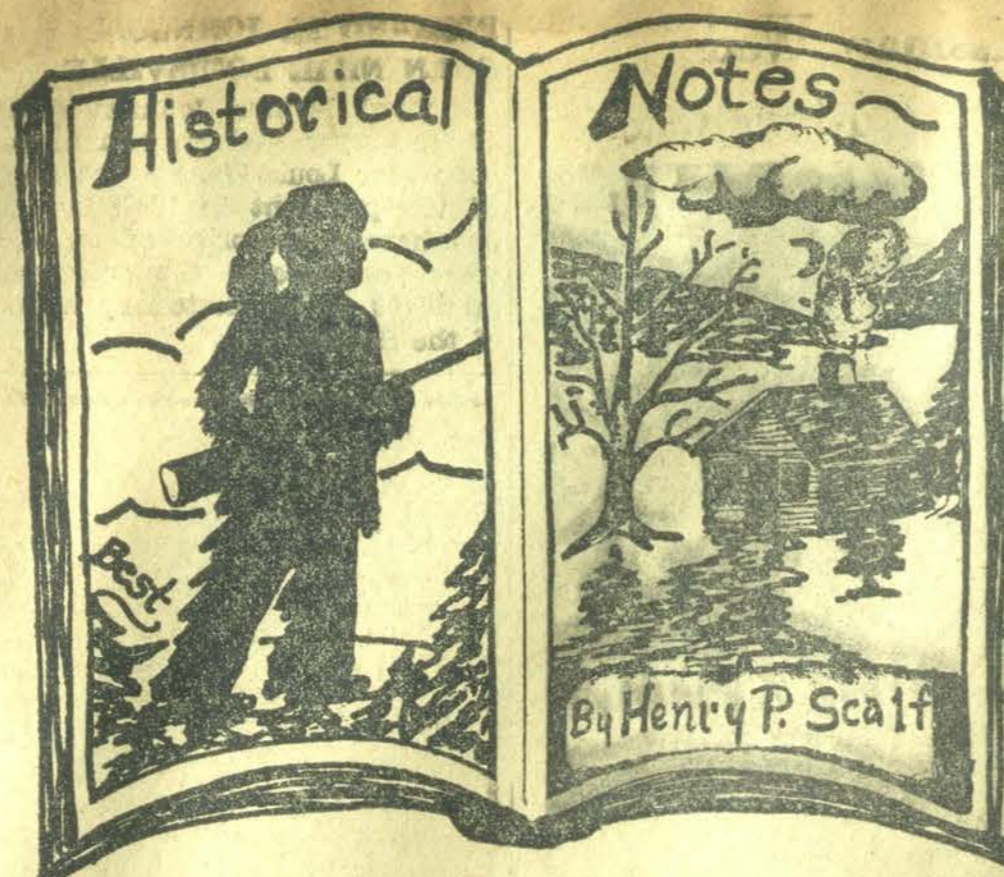

Under the plan, C. D. assumes that in case of enemy attack large numbers of people will suffer personal, financial and property losses. Income and payments of all kinds will be disrupted. Agencies contributing to the needy in areas under attack probably will have to suspend operations. A severe burden will be placed on areas caring for evacuees.

The program is temporary, C. D. says, and not intended to restore individuals to their previous circumstances and to replace all their losses. The plan states:

"Services rendered will largely be of the short-contact type aimed at easing the immediate stress of the emergency experience and assisting affected individuals to use their capabilities and available resources to re-establish themselves and their families."

The services, C. D. says, will make it possible for people to obtain the necessities of life, to manage their own affairs and to contribute to national recovery.

MOORE FAMILY CAPTIVITY

The following article, from a recent issue of The Dickenssonian, of Clintwood, Virginia, should be of interest in this section as Black Wolf, captor of the Moores, was the same Shawnee chieftain who helped carry off Mrs. Jenny Wiley from Abb's Valley, Virginia, to the Big Sandy valley in 1789.

"Virginia, with her heritage of illustrious sons, has a modern day daughter, Frances Leigh Williams, making her name in literature. Her latest book, released recently by Henry Holt and Co., is THE SHAWNEE TOMAHAWK, a true story of a frontier Virginia family, the Moores of Rockbridge and Tazewell counties.

"From the heroic Moores thousands of Virginians and others in many sections of the United States are either directly or collaterally descended. Among the families are the Stuarts of Elks Garden, the Bryans, Prestons, Poages, Taylors, Browns, McPheeters, and the famed Tucker clan.

"The versatile Miss Williams, who started her writing career as researcher and assistant to Dr. Douglas Southall Freeman, biographer of Robert E. Lee and George Washington, used the journal of Jim Moore, the 14-year-old son of Captain James Moore of Abb's Valley (situated near what is now Bluefield in Southwest Virginia) as the basis for THE SHAWNEE TOMAHAWK.

"Jim Moore, whose family had moved from Rockbridge county to remote Abb's Valley, west of the Alleghenies, in 1775, was taken captive by three Shawnee scouts on a raiding expedition. The Indians had traveled several hundred miles from the Shawnee settlements across the Ohio River. Jim had been sent to the pastureland by his father to catch Trusty, one of Captain Moore's herd of 100 horses, when he was made prisoner by the fearsome Black Wolf.

"The forced trek back to Shawnee country on the Scioto River in Ohio took 22 days. The Shawnee (Indian for American) was a match for the redskins in courage and his subsequent servitude after he was sold to a French Canadian trader, these qualities, along with his innate honesty, earned him respect and fair treatment.

"The Richmond author, who was encouraged to write this book by the late novelist, Ellen Glasgow, delved deep into chronicles about the Shawnee tribe, one of the many parts of the Algonquin confederacy. It will be of interest to her young readers that Indian boys played football, with little deviation from the gridiron game of today. They also played "shinny."

"The true story, THE SHAWNEE TOMAHAWK, tells that some months after Jim Moore had been sold into Canada he learned from a friendly Shawnee that Black Wolf had returned to Abb's Valley. His father had been killed, the cabin burned, and his mother, three sisters, little brother and a visiting friend, Martha Evans, taken captive.

"Mrs. Moore and little Jane were later seized in a Shawnee camp by angry Cherokees and were burned at the stake, as these Indians blamed the white man for poor hunting. Seven-year-old Mary Moore and Martha Evans had been sold into servitude and thus survived.

"Five years later when Jim was reunited with them in Canada, they told of the brutal slaying of baby Margaret, "who kept crying, so they bashed her brains out. John was too sickly to keep up. They tomahawked and scalped him.

"Through the efforts of Martha Evans' brother, she and the two Moores finally got home to Virginia in 1789.

"Jim Moore lived for 62 more years. His sister, Mary, became the wife of Presbyterian minister Samuel Brown, and they had many children. Jim married Barbara Taylor and lived in Abb's Valley, building his house on almost exactly the same site as his family's cabin. On this spot a memorial now stands sentinel in Abb's Valley—a reminder of the grim Shawnee tomahawk."

HISTORY OF WOLFE COUNTY

Mrs. Roy M. Cecil and others of the Wolfe County Woman's Club have edited a history of Wolfe county, Kentucky. J. Winston Coleman, Jr., Lexington historian, comments favorably upon the volume.

"Wolfe, the 110th county formed in the state, was established in 1860, from parts of Breathitt, Morgan, Powell and Owsley, and named for Nathaniel Wolfe, then state senator from Louisville. Mrs. Roy M. Cecil and her corps of workers of the Wolfe County Woman's Club have written and published a very interesting and valuable account of Wolfe county and the City of Campton, in a 340-page book entitled Early and Modern History of Wolfe county.

"More than this, it is the history of a whole section of the Kentucky mountains and takes in much of the neighboring counties. This work carries accounts of the establishment of Wolfe county and the hearty pioneers who made its early settlements, with mention of Michael O'Hair, who emigrated to this region with his 13 children around 1800 and was prominently identified with its early history.

"There are sections devoted to the churches, early water mills, the Ohio and Kentucky Railroad, and an interesting story of the much-disputed Swift's silver mines, by Margaret Carroll. Sky Bridge and El Park Hotel are adequately covered, and there is a good account of Hazel Green Academy, founded in 1880. Swango Springs was one of the noted watering-places of this and the last century.

"Probably the most valuable part of this history is the section, about three-fourths of the book, devoted to the "Early Families of Wolfe County." Biographical sketches are included of the many pioneer and prominent families who made and settled the county and whose descendants are today carrying on the traditions.

"The history of Wolfe county, attractively printed and bound in stiff red wrappers should prove a valuable addition to any Kentuckian's library and especially to those persons interested in the story of the Eastern Mountain section. A suitable index adds to the usefulness of the work."

OSBORNE FAMILY

Dr. Scott C. Osborn, of the English department, Mississippi State University, State College, Miss., writes that he did research on the Osborn family in 1936. The branches of the Osborn or Os-Osborne families that the Floyd county native delved into were the Big Sandy families.

"At the time I was doing the research I was in correspondence with an Osborn in Amarillo, Texas, who was compiling a history of the family in America. I think I made a chart of the family tree in Floyd county back to 1810 and gave it to him. There may be a copy of it somewhere in my papers.

"In the middle thirties I did some research into the history of Floyd county and wrote a paper which was never published."

Dr. Osborn noted that Dr. Leonard Roberts, former head of the English department, Union College, Barbourville, Ky., but now at Morehead State College, is of Osborn extraction. Dr. Osborn said that Dr. Roberts was a close relative of the family. Their grandfathers were brothers, he added.

Agency Notes Economic Gains In Kentucky

Kentucky's per capita income rose during 1950-57 from $958 to $1,372, the State Department of Economic Development reports.

This was a rise of 43.2 per cent. Only four states in the nation and only two in the southeast had larger increases, the department said.

Personal income in Kentucky last year totaled more than four billion dollars, a seven-year gain of 47.2 per cent, the agency added. Total manufacturing payrolls jumped from 451 to 803 million dollars, an increase of 78 per cent, according to the department.

It said Kentucky ranked third in the southeast and 14th in the nation in percentage gain in manufacturing wages during the period. Realized average net farm income increased from $1,435 to $1,733, a gain of 20.8 per cent compared with a national decline of 4.4 per cent said the department, adding that Kentucky net farm income in 1957 ranked third highest among 12 southeastern states.

The agency reported that cash receipts from farm marketings in Kentucky rose to 568 million dollars in 1957, a gain of 11.6 per cent since 1950.

She is a 1956 graduate of McDowell high school and a graduate of Pikeville College.

TEN GOOD REASONS
For Supporting
Dr. J.H. Allen and Bill Arnold Spradlin

When the time comes for the election of Members to the Floyd County Board of Education it is only fair that you who have children, the dearest possession on earth, have a right to know the facts.

We, with whom you have trusted the responsibility of giving your child his greatest birthright — an education, feel that it is our duty to inform you on how well that trust has been kept.

We have listed below some of the improvements made during this present administration:

1. Leadership. Democratic leadership has been shown by teachers leading groups in county-wide meetings, in faculty meetings, by having teacher committees for selection of free textbooks, preparation of materials lists and in making many other major educational decisions.
2. Lunch Program. Our lunch program has been expanded until it is possible for two-thirds or more of our children to have a wholesome noon meal.
3. Materials. Appropriations for Libraries, Science, Biology, Chemistry, Agriculture, Home Economics, Music, Art, and Classroom Materials have been tripled during the last five years.
4. Libraries. Our central professional library to help all teachers, has been made second to none in the state and other library services are the best in history—thanks to the assistance of the Bookmobiles and our Regional Library.
5. Attendance. Fewer school-age children are out of school today than ever before in the history of our county. Our teachers are to be highly commended for their cooperation and effort in making this possible.
6. Salaries. Our teachers are being better paid and have the lowest pupil load in Floyd county history.
7. Transportation. More pupils are being transported than ever before.
8. Course of Study. Our Course of Study has been expanded to meet more adequately the needs of high school pupils.
9. Teacher Preparation. Teacher preparation is at present at its highest level and each teacher is teaching subjects in her field of special training.
10. Buildings and Improvements. New buildings have been constructed at Prestonsburg High School, Prater Creek, Martin, Allen, Drift, Harold, Bosco, Ligon, Betsy Layne, McDowell, Little Paint, Branham's Creek, Left Toler, Right Toler, Home Branch, and Goble Branch. Major repairs have been made at Cliff, Cow Creek, Banner, Dwale, Clear Creek, Teaberry, Garrett, Maytown, Wheelwright, Melvin and Wayland. Repairs have been made to other buildings where needed.

Happy riding... on modern, smooth-riding concrete

There's no "fighting the wheel"
... new-type concrete gives you the smoothest ride ever!

No bouncing and bumping! No dips and waves! Only concrete can be laid so flat... placed and leveled to such highly accurate engineering standards—not just pounded into shape.

Expect that smooth ride to last 50 years or more—for two big reasons. The first is the concrete itself, supported by a specially designed subbase that gives it greater strength. Second is "air entrainment," a new process, that prevents surface roughening by freezing and de-icers.

Sound reasons why concrete is the preferred pavement for the Interstate System and other vital roads.

Concrete increases in strength year by year

Concrete actually improves with age—gets up to 20% stronger in five years. Here's a durability "bonus" only concrete gives. Crushing resistance tests under laboratory conditions prove it. It's another reason why concrete lasts longer, costs less to maintain.

McCreary One Of 4 Two-Term Ky. Governors

By CHARLES F. HINDS
 Secretary-Treasurer, Kentucky Historical Society

Governor James B. McCreary's inkstand, used in his first administration, was waiting for him when he returned to office for a second term 32 years later.

McCreary was the third governor in the history of the Commonwealth to be elected to two terms, Governors Isaac Shelby and James Garrard being the first so honored. Only four governors since the origin of the state have been so distinguished. Present Gov. A. B. Chandler is the fourth.

McCreary was elected the first time in 1875. He was quite interested in history and took an exceptional interest in the Kentucky Historical Society. At the close of his term and shortly after the museum division of the Society was inaugurated, Governor McCreary presented to the infant museum the cutglass inkstand he had used as governor. When he returned as governor for a second time in 1911, he was "loaned" his inkstand back. McCreary accepted, and at the end of his second term, he returned it to the Society.

The same inkstand is exhibited today in the museum, among the many items once owned by former Kentucky governors.

Governor McCreary was born in Madison county in 1838. He was educated in the common schools, at Centre College, and at Cumberland University.

His law practice in Richmond was interrupted by the intestine struggle between the North and South. His sympathies were at first with the North, but after the decisive victory of the Confederates over the Union forces at Richmond, Kentucky, August 30, 1862, McCreary accepted a commission as major in David Waller Chenault's Confederate regiment. Chenault's regiment was captured on John Hunt Morgan's famous raid into Ohio in the summer of 1863. McCreary was placed in the same prison with Morgan and was one of the officers who helped the general escape.

Governor McCreary served in the state legislature and in both houses of the Congress of the United States. He died in 1918 and was buried in the Richmond Cemetery. A state marker was placed over his grave in 1937.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Broilers-fryers will remain plentiful and low priced during September and as usual will be a favorite meat with family or guests.

The quick-oven method of preparation continues to be popular with housewives, who like the fact that chicken requires little attention and only one turning. For variety they suggest adding a spicy sauce when the chicken is half done and is turned.

Oven Baked Chicken
 1 chicken cut for frying, 1 cup flour, 2 t. salt, 1/4 t. pepper, 2 t. paprika, 1/2 c. butter, and spicy sauce.

Mix flour, salt, pepper and paprika, in a paper bag. Melt butter in a shallow baking pan. Shake pieces of chicken in the paper bag to flour them, then place in baking pan and coat with butter. Bake skin side down in a single layer in a hot oven, 400 degrees for 30 minutes. Turn chicken and pour spicy sauce over the pieces. Return to oven and continue baking for 30 minutes or until tender.

Spicy Sauce
 Cook together 1/2 c. sliced onion, 1 tsp. of salt, 1 tbsp. vinegar, 1 tsp. sugar, 1 tsp. meat sauce, 1/4 tsp. black pepper, 1/4 t. chili powders, 1/2 c. catsup, 1/4 c. water. Simmer 15 minutes, pour over chicken when half done.

MENU—Oven baked chicken with spicy sauce, baked potatoes, green beans, fruit salad, biscuit and peach cobbler with cream.

Created To Serve

I am nothing, I am entity. I do not exist and yet I was in existence before the creation of man.

I am so small that you could carry me all day and not be burdened; might not even know I existed at all.

Within me is the potential of a mighty giant, of thousands of millions of mighty giants. Giants capable of holding tons of earth, mountains and mountains of earth and stone in their mighty grasp.

I in one form or another, serve mankind unceasingly. Day and night I am working for his good. I shall continue to serve him until the end of time. Yet man is my worst enemy.

I am a tree seed. I am yet to be formed from future generations. I was formed before man. I have served him through eons of time. I release the very oxygen he breathes. I furnish a source of livelihood for millions. I beautify wastelands, retain eroding soils and hold raging torrents. I furnish beauty, shade and recreation to man. I furnish food and home for wildlife. I am the cradle man is rocked in. I go with him into the grave.

Yet man, with his careless burning and smoking, destroys millions of my progeny, large and small. With his practice of thoughtless grazing untold millions of my tiny seedlings are consumed, the roots are trampled and they die. The careless axe and relentless saw get many more of us.

You, man, who was given dominion over all of us, you whom we have served as we were created to serve, why must you destroy us who have nothing but good for you.

THE NAME OF McDOWELL

A letter from Richard F. X. Dunn, of McDowell (Ky.) Memorial hospital, inquiries as to the name of McDowell.

"I am interested in determining how the town received the name, McDowell. Was it after the doctor who was related to Henry Clay and who passed through this area at any early date? Was it after some other person who, perhaps, was related to Dr. McDowell?"

It is assumed that Mr. Dunn refers to Dr. Ephraim McDowell, noted Kentucky surgeon, but if he ever visited this area it is unknown. If anyone has information on the naming of the post-office and town of McDowell, write Mr. Dunn or this column.

But merely for the sake of argument, suppose you do save a few dollars on a time-consuming trip many miles from home. And suppose you don't even count the cost of gasoline and oil, car wear, parking fees, etc. Forget, too, if you like, the hazards of driving in today's heavy highway and city traffic.

But don't overlook these things: What you buy here can be in your home in a few minutes—no waiting several days for delivery. And if the merchandise doesn't give full satisfaction, any needed service or adjustment of the purchase can be made without shipping the items back to the BIG CITY or being forced to make a second trip yourself.

Why drive scores of miles looking for trouble? Shop right around the corner and be safe and satisfied.

$6 Million Recommended For Flood Control Work In East Kentucky Area

Senator Thruston B. Morton, Monday recommended expenditure of more than $6 million on flood control projects in the Eastern Kentucky region for 1959-60.

Appearing before the Bureau of the Budget, the Kentucky Senator stressed that orderly development of water resources will provide a firm foundation for economic growth, remove the fear of destructive floods, and enable more productive use of abundant natural resources.

Senator Morton urged that $300,000 be allocated during Fiscal 1960 to continue advance engineering and design of the Levisa Fork. The planning work on this important reservoir got under way with $140,000 appropriation from the recent Congress.

The Kentuckian also recommended $2,500,000 to complete advance engineering and design and to start construction of the Pound Reservoir. He commented that although this project is located in Virginia, its construction is vital, along with Fishtrap Reservoir, to the control of floods in the Levisa Valley.

A third reservoir in the Levisa Basin, at Haysi, Virginia, is currently being studied by the Corps of Engineers. Senator Morton said that completion of this work would enable him to make more specific recommendations for future work.

Appropriation of $3,527,000 was requested to complete construction of the Buckhorn Reservoir on the Middle Fork of the Kentucky River near Buckhorn, Perry county. In addition, Senator Morton urged allocation of $35,000 to resume the comprehensive survey of the Big Sandy River.

Senator Morton commented that his recommendations represented amounts which the Corps of Engineers could effectively use during 1959-60 to insure uninterrupted growth of Eastern Kentucky's water resources program.

The Senator's total requests, including the Pound project, amounted to nearly $84.9 million. Kentucky's appropriations during 1958-59 figured out at about $52 million, second only to California.

FOR THE CHILDREN

We, the undersigned, being parents of children in school and having a great interest not only in their welfare, but that of all the children, have been convinced by our many fellow citizens that we could serve our county well as members of the Floyd County Board of Education. We, therefore, submit our names to the voters of our respective Educational districts No. 1 and No. 2, and state herewith our platform:

- Restore the teaching profession to its proper dignity by removal of Gestapo tactics and threats to teachers.
- Increase the salaries of all teachers by eliminating waste and unnecessary jobs.
- Bring all good teachers who have been run out of Floyd county back home to our own schools where they are needed.
- Keep good teachers teaching by creating an atmosphere of friendliness and good will among all school employees.
- Appoint a well trained, qualified Superintendent of Schools who has the ability to supply the educational leadership needed in Floyd county.
- Make appointments to all positions in the school system on the basis of qualifications.
- Keep the school system and the teachers free from all political entanglements.
- Improve the Course of Study in all high schools so that our children will not be handicapped because of a meager background when they go to college.
- Work with an Educational Advisory Committee made up of citizens from every community in the county to help formulate school policy and to develop a wise school building program.
- Encourage Parent-Teacher Association groups in every school district.
- Develop a more economical maintenance program by employing local labor thereby eliminating the many unnecessary permanent employees on the payroll.
- Provide a transportation program that will not force children to leave home before daylight and return home after dark, and eliminate discrimination between children attending rural schools and consolidated schools.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE CITIZENS OF EDUCATIONAL DIVISION NO. 2

Dear Friends:

A few weeks ago I announced as a candidate for Board of Education. In so doing I was, in effect expressing dissatisfaction with the present educational program and was asking you citizens to support me in an effort to "right" the "wrongs" being imposed upon our boys and girls who so eagerly, earnestly and so innocently were pursuing a course of study being "dished out" by the present administration — disguised and labelled "The Most Modern Progressive School Curriculum."

I was seeking an opportunity to help initiate and promote an educational program which would be sound, practical, down-to-earth and applicable.

I was asking for the opportunity to serve:

1. The poor as well as the rich;
2. The country child as well as the city;
3. The hungry and the poorly clad as well as the well-fed and the well-dressed.

I asked you to help me to obtain a position whereby I might help to assure the retention of those teachers whom we now have and to encourage the return of those teachers who have been forced to leave this county.

I was asking for the opportunity to help you to secure interested, qualified, unbiased and uncontrolled leadership in the County Superintendent's office.

I wanted the opportunity and the privilege to be among the first to give the teacher a living wage. (A qualified teacher deserves a salary in excess of the salary being paid an uneducated maintenance man whose salary is $3,600 a year, except for those 20 temporarily employed at $250 a month.)

I asked for an opportunity to help eliminate the "muddled" conditions now dominating our school system.

At the same time that I was asking these things, many citizens of our district were becoming alarmed at what they were seeing and hearing about the corrupt practices within our school system.

John G. Hall was one of those people.

The older son is experiencing great difficulty in college. At one time he became so confused and so disgusted that he was on the verge of giving up and dropping out.

Another son shocked his parents when he came home, dirty, wet and tired out. No, not from having had so much "recitation" or lesson preparation — but from having helped the other children wash, scrub, mop, sweep and remove back-water mud from the school room. (The maintenance crew had neglected to clean up the second flood — or could not find time for doing the work during the three months school was not in session. Now, it was up to the children to sit in the filth or to clean it up themselves.)

Still another child came home splashed with paint (The maintenance crew had neglected to paint the school, too, and the children were asked to assume the responsibility if they desired an environment in which they could interest themselves in reading, writing, spelling and arithmetic.)

Upset, alarmed, and disgusted, John and his wife began to inquire of friends in other communities, "What kind of school do you folks have?", "Are the teachers good ones?", "Does the 'office force' ever come around?", "Is it true that the 'office force' is standing by—on call — if needed?", "Do you know the present Superintendent of schools?", "Why is it that we cannot get tissue paper for our rural schools the same as do the consolidated schools?"

John is still upset, alarmed and disgusted — but he has decided to do his utmost to make some amends.

John G. Hall announced as a candidate for Board of Education in District No. 2.

In going from one community to another, we have found that other people who have children in school are just as alarmed and concerned as are John and I. They, too, have sons and daughters who are experiencing difficulty in our own schools and in the various colleges and universities. Many have become discouraged and dropped out. Many—seeing that jobs in Eastern Kentucky are a thing of the past—chose the Armed Forces as a means to a career. Some are going to trade schools to learn welding, radio, TV, mechanics. Some are going to business schools to learn typing, bookkeeping, secretarial practice, etc. (Very few seek a career in baseball, basketball, baton twirling, etc.)

Both John and I have been visiting with you, talking with you, and pledging to you a better educational program if you would see fit to elect one of us as a member of the Board of Education.

You have told us that you want a change; that both of us are qualified and could do the job. But you also have expressed the belief that if both of us continue as candidates and oppose each other, the administration candidate will be re-elected.

Realizing this fact, and knowing that you people want a change, deserve a change—and will have a change—and assuring you that I, too, seek a change and would not want to jeopardize your chances of making this change, I have chosen to withdraw as a candidate for Board of Education and to pledge my support to John G. Hall, our candidate for Board of Education in District No. 2.

In so doing I should like to explain that I will still be engaged in the teaching profession. I appreciate very much the consideration you have shown me and the confidence you have expressed in me. I shall visit with you soon, that I might explain further my reasons for taking this position on the matter.

In the meantime, I shall be "plugging" for John G. Hall and will welcome and appreciate any help you might give him in his efforts to help us to rid ourselves of the present "Educational Mess" in which we find ourselves.

I assure you — you can place your trust in John.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely and educationally yours,

WALTER FRASURE
