This Town— That World

If Dick Nixon wants to get even with Khrushchev and really punish him when he comes visiting, he should take him to church. I'll be glad to dehorn the old boy, if that's necessary before they'll let him inside.

THIS IS ENCOURAGING

We are greatly relieved. We have the earnings reports of two big companies—one netting almost $2 1/2 million in the last quarter and the other showing a July net of better than $2 million. We were afraid we might have to pass the hat for the boys.

SKIPPER AND SON

Mark Reed's old dog Skipper turned up after a long absence at our house last week, two nights in a row, each time bringing along with him a young cocker that must be Skipper, Jr. The elder Skipper is so old that his coat is turning gray, and I've been wondering if, perhaps, he hasn't sensed that the end of the trail is not far ahead and decided, maybe, he ought to show the young'un around and let him get acquainted with his friends, some of whom are getting as gray as he is.

OUR PROBLEMS ARE SOLVED

It just might work out that I'll quit fishing, the newspaper business (?) and other unprofitable vocations and distractions. I have had—whoops!—an idea. It goes back to this announcement that synthetic cigarettes are about ready to hit the market. No tobacco, no tar, no danger. Maybe (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

FIELDS BUYS HI HAT MINE

Huntington Coal Man Heads New Corporation; Capital Stock, $200,000

The Hi Hat Elkhorn Mining Co., of Hi Hat, this county, has been sold to John R. Fields, of Huntington, W. Va., and associates, it was announced this week.

The Hi Hat mine is one of the few rail operations yet operating in the county. The company was headed by G. H. Baber, of Huntington.

The mine began operation under new ownership and management as of last Saturday. Mr. Fields, who formerly was vice-president and treasurer of the Guyan Eagle Coal Company, announced that a new corporation which he heads has taken over the physical assets, the leasehold and the inventories of the Floyd coal firm.

Most recent statistics show that the operation at Hi Hat produced more than a quarter of a million tons of coal in 1958.

J. W. Riggs, of Huntington, along with Mr. Fields and Huntington Attorney J. N. Quinlan, are listed as incorporators of the new company.

Riggs and Quinlan are listed in a certificate of incorporation as owning but one share of the stock each, with Fields owning 198 shares. Authorized capital stock of the new West Virginia corporation is $200,000. Initial value of capital stock is listed at $20,000.

Fields is also president of the Logan & Kanawha Coal Co., of Cincinnati, a sales agency, through which coal from the Hi Hat mine is sold.

FLOYD SCHOOL BOARD MEET LASTS 7 HOURS

VARIED TOPICS AIRED DURING HOT SESSION

Emergency Teacher Hiring Among Matters Discussed As Board Split Remains

The Floyd County Board of Education, in a marathon session of almost seven hours Tuesday afternoon, employed emergency teachers, named successful bidders on several building projects and transacted other business.

The open meet, held in the office of County Superintendent V. O. Turner was featured by objections interposed by the anti-administration board members, Ray Howard and John G. Hall.

Most of the voting was three to two, all three of the administration members, Chairman John M. Stumbo, J. E. Campbell and Mrs. Ethel Osborne, being present. Considerable time was spent in reading and correcting the minutes of two previous meetings.

Business discussed and transacted ranged from demands by the two opposition board members that high school principals submit monthly financial reports through various and sundry other subjects debated at times with heat until the final action of paying current bills. Some of the various matters at issue were:

1. Howard demanded high school principals submit monthly reports. Superintendent Turner said they are available now and on file. Discussion of reports of luncheon activities brought out the fact that reports are filed each month. Blanche Dings explained bookkeeping requirements and said that these reports are checked regularly by federal auditors. Howard withdrew his motion following the explanations.

2. Howard inquired why Rough and Tough school was being discontinued. A delegation of patrons from the school was present. (See Story No. 9, Page 6)

POLIO RISE IS PREDICTED

By Chairman Howard; Need For Vaccination In Floyd County Noted

"Hundreds of persons in Floyd county are inviting disaster," warned Ray Howard, chairman of the Floyd County Chapter of the National Foundation, "if they continue to neglect vaccination against polio." He referred to the situation in Des Moines, Iowa, where, he said, a polio epidemic is now raging in full force. "Here's a city," he added, "where large numbers of people never got their Salk shots because they thought it was too much trouble. Now look at the trouble they're in. The toll of persons stricken in Des Moines is mounting rapidly, and there have already been some deaths reported."

The National Foundation, Mr. Howard said, is rushing nurses and other medical personnel and a great deal of special equipment to the Des Moines area to help meet their emergency. In addition, The National Foundation has dispatched special personnel and equipment to other polio outbreak points in Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, Dallas, Fort Worth, Nashville, New Orleans and Chapel Hill, N. C.

"When you consider," Howard said, "that polio has struck recently in these widely scattered areas, is there any reason why Floyd county should feel safe? We might be next, and if we are, the responsibility will lie with those people in our community who have not been inoculated." He added that some public health officials predicted that by the end of this summer polio will reach its highest peak since 1955, the year the Salk vaccine was developed.

"We've been lucky up to now," he said, "but what's the point of trusting to luck when we have a safeguard against polio as effective as the Salk vaccine." Howard urged all those in the county who have not had any Salk shots to get started at once, and those who have had only one or two shots to complete the series of three as soon as possible.

Near Bus Tragedy Averted Monday By Truck Driver

A second Eastern Kentucky school bus disaster may have been averted Monday afternoon by the action of a quick-thinking truck-driver for a Prestonsburg firm.

Seventeen band students of Meade Memorial high school were riding a Johnson county school bus to their homes when the bus skidded on a mud-coated highway on a curve at Mealy, three miles east of Paintsville, as it approached the truck driven by Johnny Reatherford for the Ranier Construction Company, Prestonsburg.

Reatherford cut the truck sharply to his right off the highway but the bus struck the front of the truck, shearing away its front wheels. Both truck and bus were reduced to wreckage. It was said the bus would have plunged over a 30-foot declivity, had it not struck the truck. The bus caught fire but the blaze was quickly extinguished.

Seven of the students were injured, one seriously. Most seriously hurt was Granville Meade, 15, of Tutor Key, who suffered a brain concussion. He is expected to recover. Others injured:

WATER WORKS AT MAYTOWN

To Be Offered For Sale By Board of Education; Howard and Hall Oppose

County Superintendent V. O. Turner gave the board of education at its regular meeting Tuesday a report and a recommendation on the Maytown water system.

Turner's report related the history of the system and advised the board to sell it.

Illegal users of water from the Maytown system, owned by the Floyd County Board of Education, have been the subject of much discussion by the board in recent weeks. Ray Howard, anti-administration board member, charged at the July 7 board meeting that scores of Maytown residents had hooked onto the water mains and were receiving free water.

Turner, in his report, said that the system was built in 1945 at a cost of $4,400 and that to obtain necessary easement rights over the property of Harry F. May and Dr. J. H. Allen the latter persons were given free water rights. All other resident users are illegal consumers, he said.

Several times in the past certain persons had been cut off by the maintenance force, the superintendent said, but the users would (See Story No. 10, Page 5)

OPERATION GIVES SIGHT TO BLIND KEN HOWARD

Others have marvelled at what Ken Howard, the young man from Gunlock, Magoffin county, has done in his search for learning, despite the handicap of near-blindness.

Now the 25-year-old Howard is marvelling at what others have done for him.

For, almost three weeks ago, a surgeon's scalpel cut out the cataracts that had clouded his vision until he never learned to read and write in normal fashion, and now young Ken's eyes are opened to a new world of light and color, images and print.

When this son of Mr. and Mrs. Callia Howard was born in the "head o' Licking" section of Magoffin, near the edge of Floyd county, he entered the world with milky shutters over his eyes. He had congenital cataracts. This meant he could barely distinguish light and dark, nothing else.

Doctors aren't always sure what causes such blindness. It happens during the first few months of pregnancy. At that stage, everyone's eyes are cloudy, with congenital cataracts, the result of a rapid evolution process. Sometimes it's

BOARD LETS 4 PROJECTS

Kendrick Bids $52,000 On School Building Jobs; Rowland Enters Default

Bids by contractors to construct additional rooms to high school buildings were opened Tuesday by the Floyd County Board of Education, and defaults on other jobs were accepted.

W. R. Kendrick, Prestonsburg contractor, was designated, low bidder on five projects, totaling $52,590.38, all to be completed within 120 days. Default on construction of additional rooms at the Allen and Martin school buildings by the Big Sandy and Ohio Construction Company were accepted as tendered in a letter by Herbert Rowland, Paintsville, head of the firm. Notice of default on a job at the McDowell high school building was prepared by Scott & Perry, architects, to be given to Rowland. This notice would complete formalities of default required under the contract between the board and contractor.

Jobs awarded to Kendrick were construction of the Maytown science room for $9,255.55; the Martin science room, $8,598.00; Garrett science room, $9,939.50; Maytown home economics room, $14,009.87; and Wayland home economics room, $11,816.86. Two other contract firms submitted higher bids.

The Hartford Insurance Company notified the board through its representatives Tuesday that it stood ready to complete the McDowell job under the terms of the performance bond. When formal default is completed through the notice of the architect firm of Scott and Perry to Rowland, and after the lapse of the necessary seven days thereafter, the insurance firm will enter into a "take-over" agreement with the board. The insuring company plans to seek bids on the completion of the work at McDowell.

CITIZENS SEEK TO WITHDRAW

From Corporate Limits; Council Authorizes Suit To Legalize Severance

The Prestonsburg City Council at its Monday evening meeting authorized Claude P. Stephens, Prestonsburg attorney, to file suit on behalf of a group of Lancer citizens to effect withdrawal from the corporate limits of Prestonsburg that part of Lancer which lies south of "the big rock" familiar landmark in that new addition to Prestonsburg.

At the same meeting the Council authorized Mayor Bill Napier to impose a 30-day quarantine on all cats in Prestonsburg. This action was taken after several persons had been scratched or bitten or had otherwise come in contact with a rabid cat in the Mayo Addition here. Upwards of 20 persons are now taking anti-rabies treatment. Cats found outside their owners' premises will be picked up or destroyed, Mayor Napier said. He urged owners of such pets to have them immunized at once against rabies.

In agreeing to legal action toward severance of a part of Lancer from Prestonsburg the Council specified that citizens interested in such separation execute bond to indemnify the city against any expense in connection with the suit. It is not known if any other resident of the area to be affected will contest the proceeding.

Prior to the action, members of the Utilities Commission told those interested in the severance that they already have purchased pipe to expand water service into their area and that they have earmarked $10,000 to pay laborers on the project. It was also pointed out that, once the area is cut outside Prestonsburg, the fire department will not be permitted to offer fire protection there.

A petition signed by practically all residents of Arnold (Second) avenue asked the Council to close the street at the new fill made across Trimble Branch in the flood control work now virtually completed, but the Council declined to do so. Residents of the street said traffic, particularly cars driven at high speed, menaces children there, but it was pointed out to them that law enforcement against speeding is the logical answer to the situation.

When a new taxicab permit was sought Mayor Napier asked the Council to "freeze" taxicabs at the present number in operation but no such action was taken.

FREAK MISHAP CAUSES DEATH

Ronnie Stanley, Victim As Cartridge Explodes; Youth Slightly Injured

Ronnie Stanley, 23 years old, was fatally wounded Wednesday at 5:30 p.m. on Bull Creek in a freak shotgun explosion, and he died at the Prestonsburg General hospital three and a half hours later.

Young Stanley, an army veteran and a native of Prestonsburg, was wounded by a flying fragment of cartridge rim, the metal entering his neck and penetrating a major blood vessel. Another piece of the metal struck his brother-in-law, Billy D. Wallen, in the cheek but his injury was slight.

The cartridge exploded as Ollie Wallen, Stanley's father-in-law, attempted to load the shotgun, an (See Story No. 11, Page 4)

BONE CHARGES NECK SLASHED

Affray At McDowell Between Tennesseans Results In Arrest

A man listed as J. B. Bennette, of Kingsport, Tenn., was jailed here Tuesday and booked on a charge of attempted murder in connection with the cutting and wounding at McDowell of Richard Bone, also of Kingsport.

Bone, who was slashed about the neck, was not seriously hurt. He declined to give officers details of the affray, confining his explanation of events to the statement that he had "just been gallivantin' around."

Deputy Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis reported that 10 gallons of moonshine whiskey were confiscated last Friday and that Walter Keathley, of Galveston, was arrested as he was preparing to load the whiskey into a truck. Keathley was taken before the U.S. Commissioner at Pikeville.

Two days later, Lewis and federal officers found what they believe to be the still which produced Keathley's moonshine. The still was found on Bear Fork of Robinson Creek, Pike county, across the mountain from Galveston, and arrested at it were Keathley's two (See Story No. 8, Page 5)

DOTSON SUIT CLAIMS

TURNER WAS OVERPAID

$100,000 Asked In Suit Entered In Floyd County

A suit for $100,000 damages was filed in the Floyd circuit court last Thursday by Mrs. Ruth Ward, of Paintsville, administratrix of the estate of Adrien Ward, against the Kentucky Power Company.

That the suit may have been filed in the wrong county was the belief expressed, since Mr. Ward was a resident of Paintsville at the time of his death, which occurred in Paintsville. He was electrocuted, August 27, last year, when he came in contact with a high-voltage wire of the power company while working on the construction of a Paintsville school building. The petition, which was prepared by the Pikeville law firm of Burke & Burke, alleges that the company carelessly and negligently maintained the electric transmission line on and over the construction site.

An additional $2,000 is asked to cover funeral expenses.

ACTION NAMES SCHOOL BOARD WITH TURNER

Retroactive Pay Raise To $10,200 Under Fire; $7,500 Claimed Illegal

Mitchell Dotson, of West Prestonsburg, filed suit Wednesday against V. O. Turner, superintendent of Floyd county schools, the Floyd County Board of Education and its members, individually, to recover $7,500 which he alleges was "illegally and wrongfully" paid the superintendent in salaries.

The Dotson petition, which was prepared by Atty. W. W. Burchett, says the Board of Education entered an order on January 23, 1956, fixing Mr. Turner's salary as superintendent at $6,600 a year and his salary as secretary of the Board of Education at $600 annually, "these salaries to become effective July 1, 1956. On January 2, 1957, however, the complaint sets out, the Board "wrongfully and illegally and without legal cause or justification" attempted to amend that order and set the Superintendent's annual salary as secretary to the Board at $3,600 a year and voted that pay to be retroactive to July 1, 1956.

This pay raise brought the superintendent's total salary in both positions to $10,200 a year, the petition says, adding that that is in excess of the $7,200 salary fixed by Section 246 of the Kentucky constitution.

Consequently, Mr. Dotson's suit argues, $7,500 should be recovered as illegally paid Turner.

Named individually as defendants with Turner are the board members, John M. Stumbo, J. E. Campbell, J. E. Campbell, Mrs. Ethel Osborne, Ray Howard and John G. Hall.

The suit points out that no demand has been made on the Board of Education to bring the action to collect this sum, because such request "would be futile and useless," since a majority of the Board members "have voted for the orders and resolutions... complained of and are in sympathy with the defendant, V. O. Turner, and would not vote to maintain this action." As a further reason for not calling on the Board to institute action, (See Story No. 4, Page 6)

ENFORCE LAW, PETITION ASKS

Allen, Martin Residents Disturbed By Increase Of Leniency To Looters

Business men of Allen and Martin, two communities which have been hard hit by looters in recent months, are circulating petitions calling for stricter law enforcement on the part of the courts, and it was said this week that these will be presented to County Judge Henry Stumbo and Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill.

One Allen business man estimated that there have been 30 places of business broken into in the two towns within the last six or seven months. Leniency of the courts with those arrested for these violations was the target for criticism.

The petitions, addressed to Judge Stumbo and Judge Hill are identical, and they read: "We, the undersigned, would like to see stronger action taken against persons convicted of breaking and entering. The law officers are doing their job, so let us make the judicial part of our county government be more strict on this count."

The petition being circulated in Allen bore the signatures of 30 business men as of Wednesday afternoon.

Ohio Woman, Children Rescued from Drowning

An unidentified woman from Ohio, her baby and 15-year-old daughter were rescued from drowning at the beach on Dewey Lake last Wednesday after they had ventured beyond the roped-off area. They were rescued by Barry Dean Martin, lifeguard, who was assisted by 15-year-old Doris Stephens, a visitor here from Enid, Okla., who swam to the girl's

AUCTION
BUSINESS PROPERTY AND RESIDENCE
SATURDAY, AUGUST 15 AT 10:30 A. M. (Fast Time)

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Seale have authorized us to sell at auction these desirable properties: Located just a short distance out of the city limits of Winchester, on Highway 15.

TRACT I. Is at the corner of Highway 15 and the entrance to Spicer Sub-division. It is a large corner lot. Improvements consist of a concrete store building 40 x 30. It has a large store room, plus restrooms and a storage room downstairs. The upstairs has modern living quarters of Five Rooms and Bath. There is presently operating a Grocery Store and Filling Station doing an excellent business. The purchaser of this tract can buy the stock and fixtures at a nominal price, or if the purchaser has other plans or arrangements we will dispose of the stock and fixtures. There is also a Concrete Block Building 24 x 28 ft. with concrete floor which was designed for an auto lubrication room and repair shop. It has over-head doors and is a well constructed building. There is also a 14 x 30 ft. Garage and Storage Building on this tract. This is one of the best business locations in Central Kentucky. It is one of the busiest Highways leading from Winchester, and is one of the main traffic arteries connecting Central and East Kentucky.

TRACT II. This is a large unimproved corner Lot, approximately 200 x 100 ft., located across the road from Tract I. This is an unexcelled business site. Buy it and erect whatever type of building you desire.

TRACT III. Is a lovely new Three Bedroom Home located in Whipporwill Heights Sub-division, which is located across Highway 15 from Tracts I and II. It has a knotty pine living room with fire-place; hardwood floors throughout, and an especially attractive kitchen with knotty pine cabinets and many built-in features. There is plenty of closet space. This is an exceptionally well planned and well built home on a good, large lot.

Will also sell a large Walk-In Cooler, approximately 15 x 8 x 7. It is all metal covered, heavily insulated and well constructed. Mechanically cooled. It is in excellent condition and now operating.

Also will sell a large selection of Shop Tools of all kinds, Garden Tools, Electrical Supplies, and Parts, Barrels, Several Motors in good condition, ranging from 1/2 to 5 H. P. in size, and many, many other items.

Liberal Terms may be arranged on the real estate and quick possession will be given.

If you are in the market for a Top Notch Business Location, a building Lot, or a Home, be sure to see these properties.

For further information or to inspect the premises see or call any of the undersigned.

Its Price ... will say "Yes" to your heart!

Not only does a Cadillac cost no more than many models of other makes—but it often costs less when you consider the many important features included in its basic price. And just as a Cadillac is unrivaled in its original value—so it has no peer in value retained over the years. In light of these extraordinary facts, we invite you to visit your Cadillac dealer to learn how that Cadillac in your heart can become a Cadillac in your life.

Aged Knott-Co. Woman Dies at Daughter's Home; Rites Held At Handshoe

Mrs. Martha Patton Handshoe, 80 years old, widow of Wilson Handshoe, of the Knott county section of Salt Lick Creek, died Monday at the Lima, Ohio, home of a daughter, Mrs. Eva Messer, following an illness of two years.

She was a daughter of Henry and Nancy Stephens Patton and was a native of the vicinity where she died. She leaves three sons and seven daughters: George, James and Sammie Handshoe, of Handshoe; Mrs. Parrott Combs, of Handshoe; Mrs. Myrtle Reed, Mrs. Eva Messer and Mrs. Nora Messer, all of Lima, Ohio; Mrs. Cora Conley, Shelby, Ohio; Mrs. Sadie Handshoe, Fairborn, Ohio; Mrs. Dovie Gearheart, of Hueysville. She also leaves 47 grandchildren and 47 great-grandchildren.

The body was returned to her home at Handshoe where the funeral was held at 11 a.m., today (Thursday) by the Revs. Stewart Howard and L. P. Tussey. Burial was made in the family cemetery under direction of the Turner & Ryan Funeral Home.

Until Dr. Thomas Walker and a small band of surveyors entered Kentucky in 1750, it remained almost uncharted and unknown.

Bank Josephine Eligible To Make Housing Loans

The Bank Josephine was named recently as eligible to make Federal Housing Administration loans, according to H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., vice-president of the bank. He noted that FHA loans is a new idea in consumer credit. Property improvement loans may be made without collateral, co-signers or endorsers and are repayable in monthly installments up to five years.

"The experiment has been an outstanding success," Fitzpatrick said. "Over 25 years, FHA-insured loans have enabled property owners to borrow nearly $12 billion to finance 23 million improvement jobs. Not only have the loans helped to upgrade our housing supply and keep it in repair; the record of repayment has proved this method of financing to be sound and profitable."

"Now more than ever before, American families are determined to have their homes in good condition, and they are relying to a great extent on FHA-insured property improvement loans to make it possible. This is indicated by FHA reports for the first six months of 1959. Here are the figures:

"From January through June, FHA insured 517, 821 of these loans — $2,340 more than in the first half of 1958. This is an increase of nearly 14 percent over last year. In the month of June alone, about 102,000 loans were insured.

"It is significant too that the 10,883 claims paid by FHA in the first six months of the current year were nearly a thousand less than the number paid from January through June last year.

"A report of the Federal Reserve Board as of May 31 estimated total outstanding repair and modernization loans by financial institutions at $2,198 million. Of these, $1,383 million were FHA-insured.

"The number of insured lending institutions has also increased in recent months. On June 30 of this year, 13,427 lending institutions, including branches, held FHA contracts of insurance—623 more than a year ago. The increase was nearly 50 percent greater than in the preceding twelve months."

Funeral Rites Conducted For Aged Melvin Woman At Joppa Baptist Church

Funeral rites for Mrs. Dallah Osborne Hall, 70, wife of T. H. Hall, of Melvin, who died last Wednesday at her home after a long illness of heart disease, were conducted Saturday from Joppa Regular Baptist Church at Melvin.

A daughter of James and Nancy Osborne, Mrs. Hall had resided at Melvin the last 30 years. She was a member of Joppa church. Her husband and the following brothers and sisters survive: Mrs. Dinah Hall, of Bypro; Mrs. Cora Cook, Topmost; Mrs. Rachel Isaac, Detroit, Mich.; Willard Osborne, of Hunter; Ted Osborne, Bevinville; Roy and Merlin Osborne, both of Buckingham.

Officiating at the funeral were the Revs. Jerry Hall, Charlie Jones, Jerry Hall, Jr., Johnny Jones and Ellis Moore. Burial was made in the Buckingham cemetery under direction of the Merion & Call Funeral Home.

Key and Hacksaw Found By Jail Assistant Here; Frequent Searches Made

Discovery by Assistant Jailor Ray Click of a hacksaw blade and a partially completed key may have thwarted a wholesale jail delivery here.

A crude key had been partially fashioned from a piece of steel attached to a cell bunk. The saw blade, snapped in half, and the "key" were found above a cell door.

A week earlier, Click found a pattern for the key hidden in a stove inside a cell.

Frequent searches of the interior of the jail are made, and these have forestalled at least two possible breaks.

Child Drowns While Playing In River At Tram

A three-year-old child missing from a group swimming and playing in the river at Tram last Friday afternoon was found, drowned, an hour later.

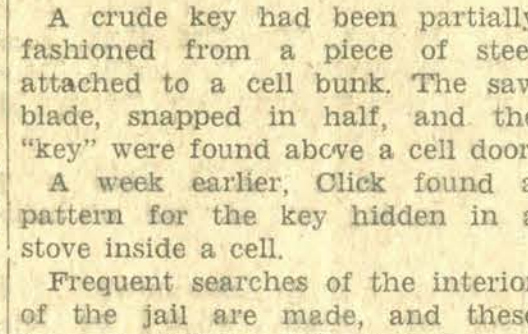

The victim, Walk Spears, Jr., was with older brothers and sisters when his disappearance was discovered. Help was summoned, and the child's body was found a short distance downstream.

The parents, Walk and Nora Patrick, survive, as do three brothers, five sisters and two half-brothers. Funeral rites were conducted Sunday afternoon from the Pilgrim Holiness Church at Tram by the Rev. Blankenship. Burial was made in Tram cemetery under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

ALLEN - MARTIN SCOUTS GO TO CAMP PHILMONT

Boy Scouts and their leaders at Allen dinner prior to departure for Camp Philmont.

Ten Floyd county boys representing the Allen and Martin communities and seven from other counties of Lonesome Pine Boy Scout Council left Monday to spend 12 days at Camp Philmont, Cimarron, N. M.

Prior to leaving in three autos, the group was entertained at a chicken dinner held at the Allen Methodist Church, Sunday evening. Those making the trip are: Terry Kinzer, Tommy Allen, Larry Cecil, Randy Crum, Jerry Mayo, Bill Leady and Joe David Martin, all of Allen; Jerome Sherman, Scott Scotchfield and Wayne Dingus, all of Martin; Johnny Reynolds, Pikeville; Jimmy Cox, Tribbey, Ky.; Charles Roberts, Hazard; Charles Fugate, Big Stone Gap, Va., and Paul Boquardus, Pikeville. Adult leaders on the western trip are Bill Mays, of Wheelwright, Don Martin and James Cecil, both of Allen. Each of the leaders is driving his own car.

The scouts and their leaders were scheduled to reach Camp Philmont last Friday, and to spend the succeeding 12 days hiking and camping, returning to Cimarron August 12 for the trip home.

All of the boys taking the trip are from Lonesome Pine Council and several from the Allen-Martin Troop, earned part of all of their expenses for the trip. One project of the troop was gathering scrap iron and selling it.

The overnight stops made on the way out and back will be at Army installations, colleges or Scout camps. The three cars will travel as a caravan, all three stopping at the same times and places for meals and lodging.

A gallon of moonshine was confiscated by Deputies Lewis, Albert Spradlin and James Hall last Thursday night at Grethel, and Amon Mature was taken before the U.S. Commissioner.

Others jailed within the week included:

- Ivan Moore, drunk driving;
- Carl Jones, possessing moonshine whiskey and reckless driving;
- Clyde and Okie Hall, possessing moonshine;
- Thelma M. Jenkins and Elsie Smith, each charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency;
- Earl Mosley, Tom Tuttle and Laney Sizemore, each accused of possessing moonshine.

Donald M. Wingo was fined $15 and $16 costs on a charge of fishing without license.

Two juvenile runaways from West Virginia were jailed Sunday by state police but were released to their parents the following day.

hook back on immediately. It was difficult, too, he said, to determine who were illegal users since it was necessary to dig into the maze of water lines.

Howard, who interposed no objection to the sale of the system if the validity of the sale is approved by a court, said that his supporters are preparing a suit relative to the water works against the board. He did not elaborate.

Joe Hobson, board attorney, advised the board that suits to recover the worth of water consumed over the years by illegal users would have to be brought against each user. Howard said he had a list of the users but didn't present it to the board.

The order to advertise for bids on the waterworks specified that the sale was to be "without prejudice to the rights of Dr. J. H. Allen or the heirs of H. F. May." It was noted in the order to advertise that it would be stipulated that the Maytown school system is to receive free water for a period of years. Hobson was requested to seek judicial instruction on the validity of the sale. He expressed the opinion that the sale would be legal.

Wayne Ratliff, director of instruction, told the board that sale of the system would save the board approximately $15,000 in a period of ten years.

Voting to sell the system were J. E. Campbell, John M. Stumbo and Mrs. Ethel Osborne. Voting against were Howard and Hall.

Dependent Parent May Be Entitled To S. S. Benefits

Are you the parent of a working son or daughter who has died and who was providing your main support at the time of his death? If so, you may be entitled to monthly social security benefits based on your child's earnings.

James Gabbard, field representative of the Pikeville district office of the Social Security Administration, said this week that the 1958 amendments make it easier for dependent parents to qualify for benefits. Some parents who could not qualify before September, 1958, may now receive benefits, or establish their entitlement to future benefits. Benefits are payable to dependent fathers at age 65, and to dependent mothers at age 62. To be considered "dependent" the parent must have been receiving at least one half of his support from the son or daughter at the time of the child's death or disability.

Before the 1958 amendments, no payments could be made to the dependent parent if the son or daughter left a widow, widower, or child who was eligible for monthly social security benefits. Now, however, the parent may receive monthly benefits whether or not a widow, widower, or child survived the worker.

If your son or daughter died before September, 1958, and you could not get payments under the old law because of the survival of a widow, widower, or child, you have until August 31, 1960, to file proof that your child supported you. If he or she died after August, 1958, proof of support must be filed within two years of his or her death.

Mr. Gabbard emphasized that even though a dependent parent may not yet have reached the age for receiving benefits, proof of support must be filed within the two-year period.

Mr. Gabbard urges those who think they may qualify as a dependent parent to get in touch with the social security district office at Pikeville at once.

Among the footprints in the sands of time some people leave only the marks of a heel.

ed by the student body as Mr. Cumberland College of 1959, the school's highest honor. And he received the T. J. Roberts award for outstanding leadership.

Then, this summer, started the events that were to change his life. Ken is a member of Williamsburg's First Baptist Church. The congregation, under the leadership of the Rev. Clyde H. Freed, Jr., determined to do something for the young Cumberland graduate.

They contacted an eye specialist. He examined Ken, proposed surgery, and agreed to perform it without charge. When Southeastern Baptist Hospital at Corbin agreed to waive its charges, the church members took up a special offering to pay for medications.

On July 17, Ken Howard was wheeled into an operating room and a scalpel cut out the cataracts that had barred him from sight for 25 dark years.

In about a week, Ken will get his first glasses. And in a month or so—before school starts, the doctor hopes—he'll get a permanent pair that should give him 20-40 vision.

He will enter the University of Kentucky.

Will he have to be careful about eye strain, not read too much? "No," replied the doctor. With the glasses, Ken should have better eyesight than far too many of the people operating automobiles on Kentucky's streets and highways.

At U. K., Ken plans to major in political science. He's long been interested in a foreign-service career, but just recently he admitted that he might like to run for the State Legislature one of these days.

Right now, however, he's busy catching up with a lot of seeing he missed. The other day some friends took him for a ride. It had just rained and one pointed to the rainbow.

Ken looked. And for the first time in his life he saw the brilliant, sweeping arch of color.

The first apothecary west of the Allegheny Mountains, built in Danville in 1792 and owned by the late Ephraim McDowell, M. D., has been restored and will be dedicated on Friday, August 14.

CHANDLER MERIT RULE NOT EFFECTIVE, CLAIM

Gov. Chandler's attempt to set up a merit system without benefit of legislative action received an adverse opinion from Attorney-General Joe M. Ferguson this week. The state's chief judicial officer declared the Governor's order was a "mere declaration of policy."
In so holding, the attorney general advised the Teachers Retirement System that its employees are not bound by law to take qualifying examinations in order to hold their jobs. His opinion was prepared by Assistant Attorney General Robert F. Matthews, Jr.
There is not one law in Kentucky authorizing a merit system "in the accepted sense of that term," Matthews wrote. And merit systems in 26 states, he went on, exist under authority of law, rather than executive order of the governor.
In view of Kentucky law and the Constitution, Matthews wrote, there is grave doubt that the system created by Governor Chandler can be used as a basis for hiring and firing State employees.
The Governor's order, he said, merely expanded to broader coverage a merit system by which the Department of Economic Security qualified to administer federal grants-in-aid for public assistance.
Matthews continued:
"There is no specific authorization to him to prescribe any rule for the hiring and firing of employees of the various executive departments, and certainly no authority is given, either specifically or by implication, to establish a merit system."
"In view of the fact that the Legislature has never passed any law authorizing the creation of a general merit system," Matthews went on, "we are forced to the conclusion that the 'merit-system' coverage attempted by this executive order is a mere declaration of policy by the Governor."
"It can be changed immediately and without notice at any time either by the present Governor, or any of his successors."
"It has no force or binding effect other than as a mere indication of the Governor's wishes directed to those now under his jurisdiction."
"He may follow it and require his appointees to follow it, or he may make exceptions to it, or he may change the policy at any time. His successors could do the same."
"It would be misleading to indicate to the general public and the employees of the State that such a system could protect them in any way from summary action."

no smokers. And there's where my idea comes into the picture.
I have an idea that we can take "life everlasting," which everybody at some time or another has smoked, grind it fine, doctor it up a bit and produce a product that will beat the synthetic brand from here to Woonsocket.
"Life everlasting" should, perhaps, be better identified. Some folks might call it "rabbit tobacco." It has been called "cudweed," and till they shot him there was a botanist who called it "gnaphalium." Anyway, what we need is tons of leaves from that plant that grows on the poorest of soils in these parts, a few dozen human guinea pigs to test the stuff on till we get aroma, taste, etcetera, to the point it can be endured not only by smokers but by those around them — then we'll be ready for business.
This idea has great possibilities. 1. It will get onto the market an Eastern Kentucky product that, to date, has been of no use whatsoever except to rabbits and boys; 2. It will put to work all who want to grow the stuff, and those who get in on the ground floor will not have to have an allotment or base; 3. It will solve our economic problems, my own included; 4. It will take some of us saps off the nicotine and put us on less harmful herbs.
Put this stuff in a pretty package, get some movie star or baseball player to lie as usual about its mellowness and satisfying goodness, and, my friends, we're in business.
How can it fail? The cigarette we shall produce has a ready-made name, and I challenge you to find one that has more appeal: "LIFE EVERLASTING."

14. Janitors and bus drivers were hired as were two new maintenance men, Raymond Meade and Kenneth Roberts. Hired on a month-to-month basis, the two new maintenance workers will receive $250 monthly.
15. The list of emergency teachers submitted by Turner was approved by a three-two vote, Hall and Howard voting "No." The teachers were named subject to approval by the state Department of Education.

3. Howard stated that the county had lost 19 degree teachers this year and said that most left because of transfers. He wanted the changes set aside. Board members J. E. Campbell said the teachers were going to other states for more money. Turner said that Floyd county had fewer emergency teachers on a percentage basis than any Eastern Kentucky county.
4. Attorney W. W. Burchett said that he "had one pet peeve, and that was the transfer of Mrs. Lillian MacDonald." He asked for an explanation. Joe Hobson, board attorney, pointed out that John M. Stumbo had offered to let Howard employ Mrs. MacDonald in the Prestonsburg high school and that Howard had refused to make the necessary motion. Mrs. MacDonald was transferred back to the high school here on recommendation of Turner to replace Kenneth Leslie if the latter does not teach.
"Teachers leave school systems all the time," Turner replied to Howard when an intention to publish individual reasons for leaving was made. "We have the fewest changes in any Eastern Kentucky county."

4. Ulysses Collins, a Wheelwright teacher, asked why he was transferred to that school. Turner said, "You asked to be transferred there and you were successful there. You have been successful between Turner and Collins as to whether the Superintendent had told Collins if he didn't vote for J. E. Campbell for the board he would be fired. Turner denied it, and Collins said the superintendent lied."
6. A discussion as to why Jesse Elliott, Floyd county director of music, had resigned, brought an explanation from Mr. Turner that Elliott was employed under the same terms as last year but that the music director wanted to go to the Mullins school in Pike county. Howard observed with sarcasm, "we still have the substitute emergencies."

7. Bids were opened on construction work at four high schools. Three contractors, Tom O. McGuire, Dyer & Allen, and W. R. Kendrick submitted bids. Kendrick was adjudged low bidder on five projects totaling $52,590.38. (See separate story).
8. Bids submitted on contract hauling of pupils were opened and Campbell moved to accept the low offers. This was seconded by John G. Hall and voted unanimously for one of the few votes without dissent during the afternoon.
9. Ralph Allen was named low bidder on providing the common carrier insurance required on school buses. He tied with Hall & Music, and Blaine Hall, representative of the latter firm, waived his bid in favor of Allen. Spurlin Insurance agency was successful on its bid to furnish the book custodian's bond.

10. The Big Sandy & Ohio Construction Company, of Paintsville, headed by Herbert Rowland, defaulted on the construction of additional rooms to the McDowell, Martin and Allen school buildings, representatives of the Hartford Insurance Company appeared and indicated they were ready to assume the insurance company's obligation under the performance bond on the McDowell job whenever default was legally made. Rowland had defaulted formally on the Allen and Martin work by letter to the board.
11. Bids on supplying coal, maps and supplies to the schools were opened, and a few successful bidders were named on several items. The coal bids will have to be tabulated before low bidders can be adjudged, it was found, and Anna Jean Tackett was ordered to do so by the board.
12. The board entered an order to advertise for bids on the Maytown water works built by the board several years ago. (See separate story).
13. Rural school opening day was advanced to August 17 but opening of the consolidated schools remains at Aug. 31. The school calendar was voted, as was the tax levy and a contract with the Mayo Vocational School

PRESTONSBURG RESIDENTS AT HOT SPRINGS, ARKANSAS, IN 1904
One of the many favorite and fashionable springs patronized by residents of the Big Sandy valley half a century ago when medical facilities were limited here was Hot Springs, Ark. Scores of people from Prestonsburg were regular visitors at the springs.

times in May and June, the saw mills would have enough logs tied in rafts near the mill to keep the saws busy until Christmas. It was always the policy of the mill to have the logs out of the water before the ice flows started. If a raft was caught in an ice flow it meant a big extra expense to find the logs, some perhaps 30 to 50 miles down stream.

REGULATORS HANG TWO

Again we resort to a newspaper clipping for a bit of interesting lore about the East Kentucky region. We excerpt the West Liberty Licking Valley Courier for the following:

"W. H. Bendley, now 84, and living in West Liberty, remembers that after a group of Regulators hanged two men accused of robbery to the limbs of a walnut tree in Sandy Hook, the tree never again leaved out."

"Mr. Bentley lived on Middle Fork of Little Sandy at the time and thinks he was about 12 or 13 years old when the two men were hanged. This would make the year either 1886 or 1887. He said the Regulators took three men into custody for robbing a colored man Dick Watson, of Newcombs, of a rifle and meat and tying him up."

"One of the three, however, escaped in a laurel thicket as the Regulators were enroute with the trio to Sandy Hook, thus saving his life. The other two were hanged without trial from the walnut tree that stood near the courthouse."

"The tree never again leaved out," Mr. Bentley said. The tree, of course, is gone now.

"He said the Regulators later disbanded, when it was found that some members of the hooded group were as mean as the ones they punished."

KENTUCKY PLACE NAMES

"Interesting hours can be spent in study of unusual place names," writes Neyle Shackleford, Beattyville, Ky. And after perusing what Shackleford writes, we agree.

"For me, place names have always been intriguing. Take, for instance, such places as Beehide, Azon, Apple, Hogskin, Black Fox, Hardburley, Gander, Skilbuster, Fixer and other like villages and post offices scattered over Kentucky."

"Why was a post office in Pike given the name Biscuit? How come a railroad crossing in Perry to be called Butterfly? It would also be interesting to know why the cognomen of Ape Yard was attached to a little community in Laurel and Hard Money to a place in McCracken."

From research experience, the reason for most of these colorful and unique place names always stems from some long-ago incident that took place in the vicinity. There's a place in Wolfe county called Helechawa and there are several different versions as to how it came to be so named. One story holds that in frontier times, a hunter and his partner became lost in the vicinity. As they stumbled around, night and a heavy rain started falling simultaneously. As the two men struggled desperately to get their bearings, a flash of lightning revealed them to be surrounded by roaring creeks and dark hills. Finally one of the men spoke. Which way do we go now?

"I don't know," replied the other. "It's hell each way."

"Some say this remark, hell each way, was shortened to Helechawa. Others say, and this is probably the correct version, that the name was derived from a combination of names. A man of influence in the neighborhood coined the name, Helechawa from the names of his three children, Helen, Charles and Walter."

"In Owsley county there is a community called by the quaint name of Whoopflarea. The unverified story here is that once a man lived there who had among many other children, a daughter named Laura."

"When Laura was little, the story goes, she loved the outdoors and spent much of her time wandering around in the woods and fields. Consequently, she was always out of pocket at meal times or when she was needed to do chores."

"To get her back to the house, the father would call in one of the other children and tell him or her to go out and whoop for Laura. Then when a post office was established that neighborhood, whooping for Laura had become such a noted thing, it was named Whoopflarea."

"As was stated, this is a story of doubtful authority but here is a story of a place naming that has been verified."

FIELD DAY

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lafferty will be looking for their friends at the Annual Field Day, this Saturday, August 8. There will be items of interest for anyone interested in farming, gardening, homemaking or youth work.

The Lafferty farm is located on the Cliff road, 1 1/2 miles from Prestonsburg. Follow the signs, from the first turn off on the Abbott road.

Some of the projects that will be seen are gardening, corn varieties, Duroc hogs, 4-H Poultry Project, Corn Derby plots, strawberries, pastures and comfortable, attractive farm homes. There will also be a demonstration on use of small electrical appliances given by the Kentucky Power Company.

Pack a picnic basket, and bring all the family and enjoy the Field Day. The banks of Floyd county will provide free soft drinks for everyone.

FORESTRY 4-H CAMP
Freer Martin, of Maytown, and Frank Bush, Jr., of Wheelwright, attended the State 4-H Forestry Camp last week. The boys attended classes in fire control, timber measurement, timber stand improvement, mill operation and tree identification.

The camp was held at the Robinson Forest, in Breathitt county. The forest is owned by the University of Kentucky. Arthur Leach, service forester, with the State Division of Forestry, taught the fire control classes. Your county agent attended and was counselor of one of the groups.

ATTEND FIELD DAY
LEXINGTON, KY. — Approximately 300 dairymen from 42 counties attended the University of Kentucky Experiment Station's annual Dairy Field Day, July 28.

WHY DO WITHOUT A LITTLE LUXURY LIKE THIS...

LET ALONE THESE BIG CHEVY VIRTUES!

greater roominess
Automobile Manufacturers Association records carry the facts on this. In a Chevy sedan, for example, you've got more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars! And Chevy's front seat hip room spreads up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

full coil ride
You're the expert on ride, so you'll want to try Chevy's easygoing smoothness for yourself. MOTOR TREND magazine can give you a hint of what you're in for: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." And Full Coil springs, of course, never squeak, never need grease.

bigger savings
Here's solid proof that Chevrolet squeezes more miles out of a gallon: In the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, two Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide took the first two places in their class, averaging 22.38 miles per gallon. And that, friends, won't top honors for Chevy from every full-sized car!

bigger brakes
Bigger, yes, and built with bonded linings for as much as 66% longer life. And how's this for proof that Chevy's a real stopper: in a NASCAR*-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds, Chevrolet outstopped both of the "other two" time after time.

fresh styling
POPULAR SCIENCE magazine gave Chevy's styling a thoughtful look, then said it this way: "In its price class, Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling..." You'll find your own happy way of saying that Chevy's the only unmistakably modern car in its class.

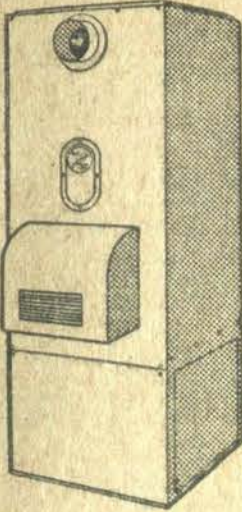

award-winning engines
The NASCAR Outstanding Achievement award goes to Chevrolet! Chevy wins for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines..." for the establishment of new levels of V8 compactness combined with outstanding smoothness. And you can choose among eight V8's and the Six that won the Mobilgas Economy Run for its class.

"Near the border of Lee and Powell counties there is a little alpine village by the name of Fixer. In the center of an oil-producing region, it sports a school, a general store, post office and several nice homes. "Years ago, according to Finley Booth who was raised up close by, a somewhat stern and impatient old gentleman by the name of Sim Crabtree decided the community needed a post office. Petitioning the U. S. Postoffice authorities, Crabtree was told to go ahead, establish the post office and suggest a name. "The old man sent in one name after the other only to be informed that places by the same name already existed and to suggest another. Finally when his already thin patience gave way to so much letter writing, he wrote the postal authorities he had sent in the last name he was going to and that "you can fixer up yourself."

"And that is just what the Post office Department did. They named the office, Fixer."

USE IN BINDER FOR ROAD PAVING MAY HELP AILING COAL MARKET

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 1—Don't count out King Coal. Highly encouraging developments in research indicate that a limited shot in the arm may come in the near future from the use of coal to pave the nation's streets and highways.

Full health could be restored to the industry if continuing research produces the expected results.

Development of petroleum substitutes from coal might mean that in 25 years Kentucky's economy could rival that of Texas. Dr. Robert C. Ernst, dean of Speed Scientific School of the University of Louisville, told the Rotary Club in Louisville Thursday.

The source of exciting claims for the use of coal in paving is a research center in Central Pennsylvania known as Quehanna. Kentucky will be a proving ground for the claims.

Quehanna scientists are convinced they have developed a coal-based blacktop binder that is substantially superior to any other material now in use.

They say laboratory tests leave little doubt that they get a surface both safer and more durable by dissolving coal in coal tar at high temperatures.

This process involves only about 10 to 20 tons of raw coal per mile of paving, and should not create hopes of quick economic recovery in such distressed areas as Eastern Kentucky.

Greater encouragement is justified from a second process, still unproved, which calls for dissolving coal in low-temperature coal tar. This process would involve 1,000 or more tons of newly mined coal per mile of paving.

High-temperature coal tar is produced by the carbonization of coal in such operations as steel mills. Its use in the process, therefore, would add nothing to the daily output of mines beyond the small amount needed for refining.

On the other hand, there is no present market for low-temperature coal tar and none is produced. If it should prove more acceptable in the binder formula, the market would be created. There then would be reason to expect that prosperity would return to many mining towns now struggling on the brink of survival.

It can be reported at this time that the scientists fully expect to prove the warm-tar binder. Their Quehanna tests indicate it will produce a highway surface equaling the qualities of the hot mix.

Still to come are two important hurdles. The coal-based binder must be put to actual road tests. If it stands up to the expectations of the scientists, it then must be sold to the highway departments across the nation as a superior substitute for oil-based binders.

Kentucky has stolen the march in the road-test phase. The first test strips will be spread before the end of the summer construction season at different locations across the state. They will prove whether the hot-mix binder can stand up to traffic under all types of conditions.

Kentucky winters are notoriously rough on highways, largely because of frequent freezing and thawing. In the summer, they get soaking rains and trying heat treatments from the sunshine.

Consequently, close observation will tell at the end of a year whether the coal-paved strips will retain their skid-resisting surfaces and water-resisting adhesion.

The entry of coal into the paving picture is, in a sense, a paradox. The development can be credited almost solely to a manufacturer of airplane engines.

Curtiss-Wright Corporation established a many-purpose laboratory at Quehanna to prepare its operational structure for a wider field of pursuits. The sale of airplane engines was pegged too closely to military needs.

Quehanna was chosen for the research center because it is in an isolated mountain section where a high degree of secrecy could be established for work in such fields as nuclear compounds. It is today guarded with all the care of an Oak Ridge laboratory.

A part of the bargain through which Curtiss-Wright obtained the site was that the laboratory, at the insistence of Pennsylvania authorities, would try to find new uses for coal. Quehanna is in a distressed coal-mining area.

Curtiss-Wright agreed. Its Quehanna staff, headed by John Dickey, was given the assignment soon after the facility was ready for business in 1955. E. O. Rhodes, a technical consultant working under S. H. A. Young, the project director, dug immediately into the binder potential.

Rhodes knew that Bituminous Coal Research had proved many years before that coal could be dissolved in heated coal tar. That was all he needed as a starter. In the following months, he developed the binder and pressed it into briquets mixed with road-building aggregates. The briquets were then subjected to the most trying tests he could devise.

He proved that the briquets could stand up under extreme pressure from compression machinery. They passed with flying colors the extremes in temperatures. He found the binder would stick stubbornly to a special sand by sending it through an agitation test.

Comparisons with briquets made from oil-based binders convinced Rhodes that he had developed a superior material that could and should be commercialized.

His success was brought to the attention of Kentucky's highway commissioner, Ward J. Oates, only a few weeks ago. Oates learned that Curtiss-Wright was unable to start road tests in Pennsylvania because an appropriation was needed from the Legislature.

After a quick investigation, Oates flew to Quehanna. He told the authorities there that they would have no wait in Kentucky. He could meet immediately their need of $200,000 for a pilot plant and other phases of the road tests. He would supply the roads.

Curtiss-Wright accepted the opportunity and shifted the nerve center of its experiment to Frankfort. In the short time that has elapsed, work is nearing completion on the pilot plant. It will be ready for operation August 17.

Highway engineers have tackled other details, such as choosing the more suitable streets and highways for the tests.

The pilot plant, with a miniature digester for dissolving the coal in coal tar, will turn out 3,000 gallons of binder a day. An estimated 150,000 gallons will be needed.

Although time now enters the picture to beat the deadline on the construction season, the engineers are convinced that eight to 10 test strips can be put down.

Rhodes and Young came to Frankfort this week with the most encouraging news yet for Kentucky miners.

They had tested at Quehanna, they said, 14 of 30 samples of Kentucky coal from both ends of the state. Only one had been found unsuitable for use in the binder, and it was a sample taken out of a slurry pond, where inferior coal is lost in the washing process.

Irreversible Change Occurs In Alcoholic

By J. Collis Ringo, Executive Director Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism

Authorities on alcoholism are generally agreed that by the time early symptoms of alcoholism are visible, irreversible physical changes have taken place within the body of the alcoholic.

Once these changes have taken place, any further ingestion of alcohol produces more severe symptoms rapidly. The victim of the illness progresses quickly to the late stages.

This irreversible change is the alcoholic from the normal drinker. A small percentage of the drinking population (approximately 6 1/2 percent) cross that invisible line of control and arrive at a point of no return.

Once that irreversible change has occurred, a return to normal drinking is completely impossible.

This well demonstrated fact is hard for the alcoholic to accept. In thousands of cases the individual involved has been a normal drinker, in full control of appetite, for five, ten, fifteen, in some extreme cases, as long as twenty-five years.

With this background and without understanding that a physical change has occurred, he is reluctant to accept the fact that he is suffering from an incurable disease.

It has been conclusively demonstrated that this disease can be arrested quickly, simply by abstaining from alcohol.

The successful members of Alcoholics Anonymous are almost unanimous in saying the first step of the twelve suggested steps for recovery was the hardest to take. Step one: "We admitted we were powerless over alcohol and that our lives had become unmanageable."

Once that irreversible physical change has occurred, the victim is literally powerless. It is physically and mentally impossible for the individual to control drinking. Return to social drinking is out. Even after periods of years of sobriety, alcoholics who attempt to drink again invariably go right back into the pattern of uncontrolled drinking.

Before 1922, physicians said the diabetic had somewhere in his body an x-factor, which combined with sugar, made him a diabetic. Scientists isolated insulin and injected it into the diabetic patient. His disease was arrested. Not cured, arrested. He is still a diabetic.

The x-factor in alcoholism is as yet unknown. Whether an injection to arrest it will ever be discovered is debatable. Alcoholism can be arrested by simply avoiding alcohol. When alcoholics accept this, incidence of alcoholism can be decreased.

Progress Report On Strip Mining
Given By Gannon

First report of action taken under the 1954 Strip Mining and Reclamation Act has been presented to Conservation Commissioner Laban Jackson.

The report by Paul Gannon, director of the Division of Strip Mining and Reclamation, showed 9,346 acres have been reclaimed throughout the state. On the reclaimed acres, 2,816,185 trees have been planted and 134,562 pounds of grass and legume seed sown.

A further breakdown in the report showed that in 11 counties of Western Kentucky 7,943 acres have been reclaimed by the planting of 2,663,594 trees and sowing 99,255 pounds of grass seed.

In 19 counties of Eastern Kentucky, 1,403 acres have been reclaimed by planting 152,591 trees and sowing 35,307 pounds of grass seed.

Jackson said the program innovated by the 1954 act is paid for entirely by the operators. Before any strip mining can be done the operator planning the job has to get a permit from Gannon, submit a plan of reclamation, and post bond to insure the reclaiming job will be done.

In accepting the report, Jackson said this is a living example of taking something of no value and making a new resource for Kentucky's future.

Under this law, he said, the natural resources are gained cheap and fast and still Kentuckians will have future use of the land. Miners are not restricted; in fact, they are very cooperative, he said.

"The program also has tremendous economic potential. It is a fact that trees being planted will bring an average of two dollars a tree at maturity," Jackson said.

WOOD, SMITH NAMED HEADS

Of Scout Finance Drive; Kick-off Campaign Date Set, Sunday, October 20

Jarrett M. Wood, of Pikeville, and J. Phil Smith, of Jackson, will head the finance campaign for the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, this fall.

The campaign will kick-off on October 20 in the various communities of the 15-county Council.

H. L. Stuart, Jr., of Andover, Virginia, will head up the General Solicitations part of the campaign. The chairman of the Hundred Club, H. O. Zimmerman, of Wheelwright, George Wells, of Pikeville, B. F. Reed, of Drift, Walter P. Walters and W. J. Baird, of Pikeville, and R. A. Sult, Norton, Va., will spearhead the Leadership Gifts division. Prospects and Rating will be headed by John M. Stephens, of Pikeville, and J. Lincoln Kiser, of Appalachia, Virginia. Publicity chairman is S. W. Douthitt, of Jackson. Arrangements for the kick-off breakfast will be in charge of G. W. Lockin, of Wheelwright. Auditing will be done by George A. Sharp, of Pikeville.

These functions will likewise be headed by local men for the various communities throughout the Council. The plan calls for the raising of $63,132.80 for the Scout Council budget for 1960. This amount provides for services to more than 4,000 boys, men and women in Scouting and the employment of an additional professional staff member to bring that total up to six men. There are four departments of office work which is done by two office workers.

This budget, it was felt, was needed in view of the improved program of activities at camp and many other Council-wide activities including camporees, Philmont expeditions, training conferences, Scout expositions, and community services, plus the expansion of program and required facilities at Camp Shawnee on Dewey Lake.

The Lonesome Pine Council's growth in membership, which has been at the top of the list, percentage-wise, for several months among the 37 Councils of the region, together with an ever-increasing need to reach more and more boys for the character training and physical fitness aspects of Scouting and all other Council responsibilities to the youth of the 15 counties of the Council, is the basis for an extended effort on finance. B. F. Reed, of Drift, is chairman of the Finance committee.

PLAN CONVENTION

The Kentucky Automobile Dealers Association will meet Sept. 20-22 at Dam Village State Park, Gilbertsville, N. S. McCaw, Madisonville, president, will conduct the business sessions.

SUMMER ALL-STAR GAME

The third annual West Virginia-Eastern Kentucky all-star football game will be staged in Williamson, W. Va., Saturday, August 15. Rosters for both squads have been completed.

Both previous games have been won by the West Virginians and with the absence of several of last season's Eastern Kentucky stars, the West Virginians should win again.

Representing the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference on this year's squad will be: Joey Rapier, Paintsville; Ross Chaney and Russell Mullins, Jenkins; Doug Phillips, Pikeville; Charles Martin and Gerald Frazier, Whitesburg; Randal Perkins, M. C. Napier; Bob Ooten, Burlington; Ben Slusher, Fleming-Necan.

champ, does not have a player on the squad. Astor Sizemore, the state's leading scorer, Britt Handy, number two scorer in the league and all-state lineman Harmon Petry are all missing from the Kentucky roster.

For the first time this season, however, the Kentucky team has been able to select players from outside the Eastern Kentucky Mountain loop. Additional players are coming from these schools: Mt. Sterling, Winchester, Loyal, Middleboro and Catlettsburg.

Nick DiaChenko, former Jenkins high school, now of Inman, W. Va., will tutor the Kentucky squad.

The Cincinnati Reds will conduct a try-out camp for youths between the ages of 16 and 22 at the Drift baseball park, at 10 a.m., August 21 and 22.

All participants are expected to bring their own uniforms, shoes and gloves.

The tryouts will be conducted by Reds scouts, Tommy Thompson and Buddy Bloebaum.

Six from County To Receive Degrees From Eastern State

Degrees will be awarded to 419 graduates at the 52nd summer commencement of Eastern Kentucky State College this evening (Thursday). This will make the number of degrees conferred in 1959 total 858, including 439 who received degrees in June, an all-time high.

The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Andrew D. Holt, President of the University of Tennessee. Exercises in the amphitheater will begin at 7:30 p.m., CDT.

Floyd county candidates for the master of arts degree are:

William Russell Craft, Wayland; Wendell F. Dobyns, McDowell. Bachelor of science will be conferred on the following from this county:

Vivian Martin Berkeley and Nadine Martin Fults, Wayland; Pauline Moore Dobyns, McDowell; Hasadore D. Hall, Melvin.

Ky. Has Model Of 16th Century Machine Gun

When Leonardo Da Vinci designed a 16th century version of a machine gun, little did he know that an almost exact replica would take part in replying to the opening shot of the American Civil War.

Perhaps Union soldiers defending Fort Sumter and the commanding officer, Major Anderson, Louisville, didn't know their 1,300 pound volley gun was practically identical with the Italian artist's conception of a machine gun. Known as the "organ gun," Da Vinci's idea of a weapon had 10 barrels which fired in succession, so constructed as to resemble the pipes of an organ.

Nearly 300 years later, in 1861, the Billingshurst Co., of Rochester, N. Y., produced the Requa Battery. This 38 caliber weapon was invented by Dr. Joseph Requa, who could have been familiar with Da Vinci's design, or arrived at the same conclusion, in devising a weapon to deliver controlled volley fire.

Only two of these guns exist today. One is in the West Point Museum and the other in the Kentucky Historical Society Museum at the Old State House in Frankfort. The historical society proudly displays the weapon, as it played an important part in the Civil War in defense of Frankfort.

In a Museum Mural depicting the battle of Cynthiana, the "Covered Bridge Gun," as the Requa was also known, is shown in defense of a bridge.

Loading and firing was accomplished this way: The weapon was charged with cartridges in a long strip, and the sliding breech block was closed by the lever handle. Each cartridge had in the back end a hole connected with a vent in the breech block. The vents were all joined together by a small hole extending through the entire length of the breech block and arranged so that it could be filled with a fine powder. A percussion firing system in the middle of the breech block ignited the powder train, and as the flame spread the length of the breech block, the cartridges were ignited instantaneously. Reloading could be done with reasonable rapidity. A trained crew could repeat the cycle seven times in one minute, as all that was necessary was to replace the strip of cartridges, put in another powder train, cock the hammer, and place a percussion cap on the nipple, then pull the lanyard.

Natural Marvel, Big Attraction At Breaks Park

Breaks Interstate Park, a natural marvel unknown to many Kentuckians, is rapidly becoming a big tourist attraction. Lying in two states, Kentucky and Virginia, this area often is called, "the Grand Canyon of the South."

Despite its grandeur, the rugged mountain terrain made this area, known to Kentuckians for years as "The Breaks of the Sandy," virtually inaccessible. Daniel Boone found his way there to hunt in 1767 and left his name on a tree.

Throughout the years, other parties made their way into the dense thickets and rough country to view this natural phenomenon. It was not until 1951 that Highway 80 unlocked the beauty of the area for visitors.

Breaks Interstate Park encompasses a giant gorge astride the Kentucky-Virginia border where the Russell Fork River on its way westward has cut through the Cumberland Mountains.

From lookouts some 1,600 feet above, the river seems a tiny trickle, but actually it is a roaring mountain stream, which in a series of "jumps" and waterfalls plunges downhill some 400 feet in five miles.

Each year more development is done in the park. At present, facilities include a central concession building, Rhododendron Lodge; picnic and camping areas; adequate parking spaces; directional signs; complete water system and guardrails and steps at the overlooks.

Future development plans call for foot trails from the overlooks to the water's edge and the creation of a five to ten acre lake for boating and fishing.

Lieut. Little In Charge Of Army Team That Saves Over Half-Million Dollars

Stuttgart, Germany—First Lt. Carl Little, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Little, Drift, Ky., is the officer in charge of the Seventh Army re-rig and de-glaze team in Germany.

The 20-man team and equipment, which are completely mobile, travel from unit to unit performing overhaul duties on tank engines. The team saved the government an estimated half-million dollars last year by doing on-the-spot maintenance work in tank engines.

Little entered the Army in November, 1957, and arrived in Europe in April 1958.

The lieutenant is a 1953 graduate of McDowell high school and a 1957 graduate of Eastern Kentucky State College in Richmond.

MINOR CLARK EXPLAINS WHY 1959 SQUIRREL SEASON LATE

"The motivating factors in the decision of the Fish and Wildlife Commission to set a later date for the opening of the squirrel season this year were to offer the hunters a period in which they may harvest the greatest amount of game without endangering future populations," Minor Clark, commissioner of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, said this week in reply to scattered criticism of the later opening date.

Last year, the season for squirrels opened on August 15 but for the upcoming season the opening date will be August 29. The bag and possession limits this year remain the same as for last, six per day or 12 after two or more days of hunting.

The Commission, in making the change in dates, adhered to the recommendations of Harold Barber, State Forest Wildlife Management chief and a biologist who has been assigned to the squirrel project for seven years. During those seven years Barber and other Kentucky game men have collected much valuable information about squirrels in Kentucky and during that time, with the Commission abiding generally by his findings, the squirrel population throughout the state has continued to provide excellent hunting, Clark pointed out.

Barber has found, in his years of study, that more squirrels may be bagged by the hunter during the months of September and October than at earlier dates at no damage to future generations.

In his recommendations to the Commission Barber said: "Studies have shown that August hunting is poor over much of the State and that the highest kill per unit of hunter effort occurs in later weeks. The total annual squirrel harvest is believed to have reduced when the opening date was moved from August 25 to August 15. Squirrels become more concentrated, active, noisy, and less cautious during the period when they are feeding on ripening hickory nuts. This period of high squirrel activity may begin in late August in Central and Western Kentucky counties, but it continues through September and October. It almost never begins before September 1 in Eastern Kentucky. The August 15 opening date has drastically reduced hunter success and the total kill there, simply because the hunters give up after a few unsuccessful early hunts, and the hunter effort ceases for all practical purposes before the season for successful hunting begins. A few hunters have learned to wait until the season has been open about three weeks before attempting to kill squirrels, but unfortunately those hunters comprise only a tiny minority. The squirrel crop is largely left to natural harvest."

The change in the date of hunting was in no way meant to penalize the hunter but rather to provide him with good hunting this season and to assure him a bountiful crop of squirrels next year, Clark says.

He further pointed out that due to the difference in climatic conditions in the Eastern Kentucky and Western parts of the state, a squirrel season that would be pleasing to all hunters is impossible, unless different dates for hunting should be set for each section of the state and that is not desirable because of the enforcement in one section at an earlier date than for others.
