FOOEY!

Most of us can recall hearing or reading of somebody writing or speaking "deathless prose," but if you are as dense as I am you are not clear as to just what deathless prose is. Personally, we think that is another of many loosely used phrases and words.

Like "unique," for instance. Since "unique" means the only one of the kind, we're guilty of slaying the king's English when we use it to describe something that is nothing more than unusual, striking or arresting. And then there are some who will say, "most unique." How can you get unique than unique?

Just today we ran across a phrase, "written in breathless prose." We are in the dark on this one, too, unless it means a bit of writing that runs like this:

"The boy ran after the cow stepped on a nail yelied out and mother came running and pulled at the nail said bless mother's little darling and both yelied bloody murder and it soon grew dark but the moon rose and so did they."

Anybody need a dog? We have a choice selection on and around our place, only one of which is ours. We started with one, and now look! The yard requires policing daily, otherwise it has a strong resemblance to a combination city dump and bonyard. And the din at night is unboly.

To make things worse, a lady (?) dog strolled into an old coal-bank at the rear of Mortgage Manor, the other day, and had herself a litter of pups.

Now is the time for all good friends to come to the rescue. Dog days have already come at our place, and it begins to look like they make a year or so of it.

GREET COMBS AT RECEPTION

Gubernatorial Nominee Requests Opposition To Join In Campaign

Bert Combs, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, came home last week to be greeted early Friday evening at Combs-Wyatt headquarters here by a gathering of several hundreds of his homefolk.

The reception for the victorious candidate was in the nature of an impromptu affair, with the event getting little advance billing. As word was circulated that Combs would be at his Floyd headquarters at 7 p.m., however, a large crowd began forming.

Although he came mainly to thank his friends and to shake hands, Judge Combs spoke briefly. "I know you didn't come here to listen to me talk," he said. "I want to shake hands with all of you. I'd like to hug your necks, but there are some men-folks who might object."

Judge Combs was accompanied to the meeting by Mrs. Combs and his children. He was "introduced" by his pastor, the Rev. Ira McMillen.

Of the people of Floyd county and the Big Sandy valley, he said, "I will never be able to repay you, and I will never forget what you have done. . . Regardless of whether I am Governor of Kentucky or . . . See Story No. 8, Page 4 . . ."

POUND RESERVOIR JOB ASSURED EARLY START

$2 1/2 MILLIONS VOTED POUND DAM PROJECT

No Additional Funds Voted by Committee For Fishtrap Work

The House Appropriations committee voted Tuesday a total of $2,500,000 to complete planning and to begin construction of the Pound reservoir in Virginia.

The action was taken after the Appropriations sub-committee had earlier approved the move, Congressman Carl D. Perkins told The Times Monday morning.

President Eisenhower in his budget message had asked only $194,000 to complete planning on the project. That amount of the new $2,500,000 appropriation will finish the planning, with the remainder to go into actual construction.

The $200,000 appropriation recommended for the Fishtrap dam stood unchanged, although $494,000 to complete its planning was requested.

"The full amount we asked was not allowed because the U. S. Engineers said $200,000 was all they could use," Congressman Perkins explained.

Nothing was appropriated for the proposed Haysi reservoir project, third of the dams proposed to control Big Sandy floods and provide an adequate water supply in time of drought.

Leading the fight in Congress for the Big Sandy projects with Virginia legislators were Congressman Thatcher and Perkins and Kentucky's Senators John Sherman Cooper and Thurston B. Morton.

To continue the study of the Big Sandy $10,000 was appropriated. Although $3,500,000 extra was voted for the Pound work and to start the No. 2 Barren river reservoir, near Scottsville, the total public works appropriations bill will ask no more than the $1,176,877,000 asked originally by the President.

This results from reductions made in appropriations for other projects. On the Buckhorn reservoir, for instance, the appropriation was reduced a half-million dollars to $3,027,000. The latter figure is enough, it was said, to complete the Perry . . . See Story No. 6, Page 3 . . .

Fire Destroys Home Of Mrs. Ethel Hall; Shower Is Sponsored

The home of Mrs. Ethel Akers Hall, on Graham street, was completely destroyed by fire, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. All furniture, furnishings and clothing were lost, it was said.

Mrs. Hall, who moved into the home only six weeks ago, expressed the belief that defective wiring may have caused the fire. Living in the home with Mrs. Hall were her invalid mother and a grandson.

The Rebekah Lodge will sponsor a household shower for Mrs. Hall, Friday evening at the I.O.O.F. hall here, it was announced. The public is invited to come and assist Mrs. Hall.

Ordination of Ball Is Scheduled Friday, Moffett Announces

A May graduate of Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary will be ordained into the ministry Friday with one of his former professors preaching the ordination sermon.

In his first pastorate, Clifford Ball will be installed as minister of the Drift Presbyterian Church in the Upper Big Sandy larger parish, it was announced by the Rev. Charles H. Moffett, moderator of Ebenezer Presbytery. The church serves under the board of national missions of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.

The sermon, "Our Task as Churchmen," will be delivered by Dr. C. Morton Hanna of the faculty of the Louisville seminary.

The 7:30 p.m. service will be the first to be held in a building which is being renovated for church use. A schoolhouse has served as the place of worship since the Drift church was organized four years ago.

RELIEF LOAD LOWER, NOTED

Certified Eligibles Drop For June, Announced; Tax Levies Voted For '59

The number of persons certified by the fiscal court as eligible to surplus foodstuffs in the relief program is slightly lower this month than last.

The court at its May 28 meeting certified 12,542 as eligible during the month of June. For the preceding month 12,939 were certified.

At a fiscal court meeting a few days earlier, the annual appropriations and tax levies were voted. The health tax was set at 8 cents per $100 valuation on real estate and personal property. The general levy stood unchanged: 50 cents per $100 valuation, $1.50 poll tax, 2 cents an acre for forest fire protection and 1% of the market value of crude oil.

Appropriations made included these: For the soil conservation district, $2,700; Floyd county Civil Defense, $1,000; Betsy Layne fire department, $500; Jenny Wiley Boy Scout district, $500.

Circuit Clerk Henry Stephens was named a member of the county budget commission, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Paul E. Hayes. Mr. Hayes is now an assistant in the office of Attorney General Joe Ferguson.

BRUCellosis TESTS SLATED

Farmers' Meet Names Five-Man Committee To Head Floyd Work

A five-man committee was formed at the courthouse Friday, Monday to head the drive to eliminate livestock brucellosis in this county. Plans to have cattle tested for this disease have been underway for several months and the meeting last week was a culminating event in the preparatory work.

Dr. A. J. Roth, assistant state veterinarian with the Division of Livestock Sanitation, Frankfort, will come to this county June 17 to assist in the drive. He will speak at the Allen grade school at 7:30 in the evening, it was announced by Robert M. Jones, county agent. Jones urges all interested farmers to confer with Dr. Roth on the testing program.

Five requirements have been set up to enable a county to participate in the area brucellosis program. Dr. Roth notes. These were the circulation and procuring of 75 percent of the farmers signatures who own 80 percent of the cattle; sufficient funds must be provided; the setting up of an overall county organization to handle the job; sufficient supervisory staff; and sufficient brucellosis technicians or veterinarians to conduct the test work. All of these requirements have now been met, Jones said.

Nearby Johnson county completed its test work two weeks ago but found only two positive reactors, it is noted. Boyd county is now testing its livestock, Jones said. Named at the courthouse meeting to the five-man committee to head the testing job in this county . . . See Story No. 9, Page 6 . . .

Church To Dedicate Cottage For Children

Sunday night, as a part of the closing program of this year's vacation Church School, the First Presbyterian Church will dedicate a building to be used for small children in church school.

This building will be known as "the Children's Cottage." It is located on the rear of the James E. Goble lot near the church.

The building has been furnished with modern equipment for teaching and caring for small children. One room will be used for the 3-year-olds, one for the 4 and 5-year-olds, and another for those in the first three grades of elementary school. The planning of this use of the building was under the direction of Miss Jean Stewart, a specialist in children's work in Christian Education. The work in preparing the building has been under the direction of the local Children's Work chairman, Mrs. Jean Flower, and the Christian Education Committee of which Mrs. Josephine Howard is chairman.

All are invited to come and see these facilities and those who have no church home are invited to come with your small children and attend church school here.

ACCEPTS PASTORATE

Rev. Harold C. Dicks, Newcastle, Pa., has been named to the pastorate of the Arnold Avenue Church of Christ here, it was announced this week.

Rev. Dicks, a veteran of the Korean War, received his A. B. degree in Religious Education at the Kentucky Christian College, Grayson, Ky., and was ordained in his home church at Newcastle in May.

Rev. and Mrs. Dicks and daughter, Yvonne, are residing in the church parsonage on Arnold avenue.

SUIT IS WON BY ELKHORN

Rights To Slate Dump At Wayland Validated By Court of Appeals

Rights to a slate dump on the surface of land owned by two Wayland men still belong to the Elk Horn Coal Corporation, although the company no longer operates its Wayland mines, the Court of Appeals held last week.

C. E. Allen and Jack Stanley owned surface rights to the property mined by Elk Horn. The coal company had mined the property for many years and a waste dump accumulated. Fire burned the dump, leaving a substance called "red dog", valuable for highway and railroad construction and as a lightweight aggregate.

Allen and Stanley contended Elk Horn gave up its rights to the dump, and Floyd circuit court agreed.

But the Court of Appeals reversed the lower court, saying the mere nonuse of the dump by Elk Horn was not abandonment.

Boy Scouts of the Jenny Wiley District will parade here Saturday to inaugurate their exhibition at the armory. The parade will start at 11:30 a.m. at the high school and continue to the armory where the exhibition will open at noon. Theme of the exhibition will be "Jenny Wiley Days."

Special events of the exhibition will be a "Turtle Derby" conducted by the Cubs, and Indian dances by the Order of the Arrow, under the direction of Ezra Robinson of West Van Lear and his Troop 8. Sixteen troops of the district, plus the Cub scouts, will present displays of Indian artifacts, and demonstrate candlemaking, basketmaking, gunsmithing, bullet-molding, making fire by friction and early modes of transportation. A kitchen, typical of the period in which Jenny Wiley, the area's most famous borderland captive, lived, will be shown. Many pioneer tools will be displayed.

Proceeds of the exhibition will go to bear the expenses of Camp Shawnee improvements, it was said by Jesse Elliott, district leadership training chairman. The tent-platforms of the troop sites there were recently repaired or replaced, he said.

7TH DISTRICT VOTING GIVES 11,584 MARGIN

Complete tabulation of the Democratic vote in Kentucky, with the possible exception of a few absentee ballots, showed that Bert T. Combs, of Prestonsburg, won the Democratic nomination for Governor by 33,697 votes over his opponent, Harry Lee Waterfield.

Absentee voting returns had not been received from five or six counties, it was said at Combs-Wyatt headquarters in Louisville.

Each candidate polled majorities in four of the state's eight Congressional districts—Combs in the Second, Third, Fifth and Seventh; Waterfield in the First, Fourth, Sixth and Eighth.

Robert (Bob) Damron, of Ivel, won the Democratic nomination for Railroad Commissioner by 255 votes over Ben W. Johnson, of Vicco. Wendell Vanhoose, of Johnson county, won the Republican nomination for the same office by a reported 10 votes.

Miss Doris Owens was unopposed for the Democratic nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

The figures released Monday will stand as the Kentucky voting picture until the returns from the 120 counties are certified by the Secretary of State.

The figures by districts: First district: Waterfield, 47,546; Combs, 41,333—Waterfield majority of 6,163.

Second district: Combs, 33,470; Waterfield, 31,931—Combs majority, 1,539.

Third district: Combs, 51,125; Waterfield, 21,888—Combs majority of 29,237.

FOUR ACCUSED OF RUSTLING

Middle Creek Men Jailed In Steer Theft; Collins Brought to Jail Here

Accused of cattle-rustling, four Middle Creek men were jailed here this week and booked on grand larceny charges.

The four, who were accused of stealing a steer from James Greene, near West Prestonsburg, are Guy Bates, 33, James Roy Akers, 20, Frank Green, 21, and Paul David Green, 19.

Deputy Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis, who with Deputies Albert Spradlin and Lonnie Herald, rounded up the four, said the warrants were sworn out by Minnie Horn. The accused men refused to admit guilt.

Officers found several pounds of the beef in the refrigerator of Freddy Newsome. Mrs. Newsome explained that the meat was given them by Guy Bates. In addition to the grand larceny charge growing out of the cattle-theft, Bates was named on another in connection with the theft of items from a store.

Seventeen half-pints of whiskey and a tub of beer were found in the ditch-line at the roadside, near the trailer of James Marsillett and Damon Stamper, on the East Point-Auxler road a few days ago, and Stamper was arrested. He was released, however, when County Judge Henry Stumbo held that the evidence as gathered in the raid was insufficient to convict. Marsillett was not present at the time of the raid, Deputy Sheriff Lewis said.

Dewey Gene Collins, 19, of Price, was jailed today (Thursday) after his release from McDowell Memorial hospital where he had been under a round-the-clock guard by Sheriff's deputies since being admitted for treatment of a gun shot wound in his arm. He was shot by Ernest Stumbo after allegedly having sprinkled Stumbo's father, Ray Stumbo, with shotgun pellets.

Others jailed within the week: Randall Blankenship, drunk driving and no operator's license. . . See Story No. 4, Page 3 . . .

Deep-Freeze Looters At Hill Home Unnamed; 400 Pounds Meat Taken

Between 300 and 400 pounds of meats and one and a half cases of strawberries were taken by looters from the deep-freeze of Lon C. Hill last Wednesday or Thursday night and dumped over a nearby river bank here.

The act was characterized as malicious vandalism. Some of the strawberries were found in a boat on the river nearby, and police held that boys were involved. The looting was not discovered for 24 hours or longer.

The freezer was in the Hill garage. The lock was sawed off and the freezer virtually emptied. Police failed to unearth any clues to the identity of the person or persons who committed the looting.

TEACHERS HIRED BY 3-to-2 VOTE AS DIVISION ON BOARD WIDENS

The matter of teacher appointments split the Floyd County Board of Education wide open Tuesday, with the teachers nominated by County Superintendent Virgil O. Turner being employed on a 3-2 vote.

Several teaching positions remain to be filled.

Ray Howard and John G. Hall, anti-administration members of the Board, voted against the teacher appointments, with the exception of six who were considered separately because relatives who were members of the Board could not vote for them.

The two members said they opposed the list of teachers because it was submitted to them in blanket form and that they voted against rehiring the Board's office personnel and maintenance workers for the same reason. They also opposed re-employment of Joe Hobson as legal counsel to the Board, because, they explained, "we can get the same service from the County Attorney without cost."

All these motions to employ were carried on the support of J. M. Stumbo, J. E. Campbell and Mrs. W. D. Osborne, who constituted a majority on the Board.

Howard and Hall were particularly critical of transfers of teachers. "We intend to go to law and let the courts and auditors investigate these and other matters," Howard said. The two men claimed that the motions to rehire office personnel and maintenance workers were "dead" because some of those to be employed were relatives of Board members, in such cases only two Administration members voting for their employment and Howard and Hall voting against, creating a 2-2 deadlock.

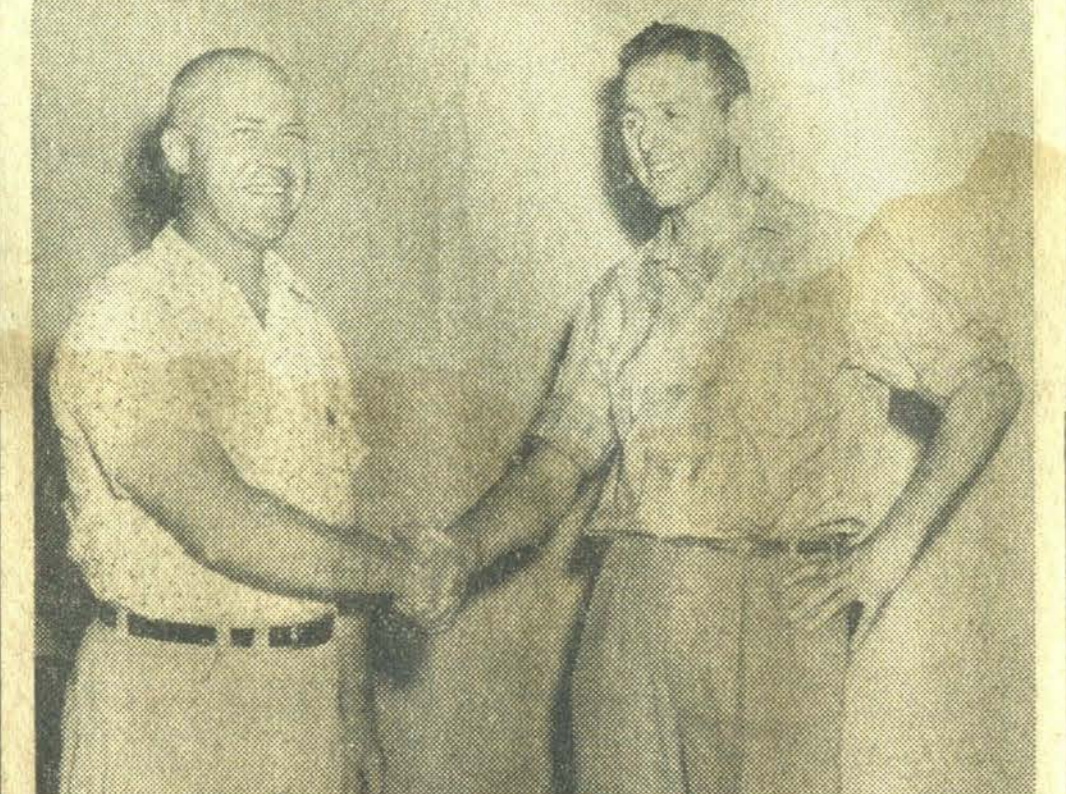

"We have been patient and have actually been criticized by some for being so, but we hoped for fair action on teachers," Howard said. "This we did not get, and now we know exactly how matters stand."

The teachers on whom there was agreement were John E. Campbell, Jr., Joan Osborne, Virginia Jamerson, Wilbur Jamerson, Kathryn Frazier and Shirley Vanderpool.

Lawrence B. Price, veteran principal of Wayland high school, relinquished that post to become guidance counselor to put into effect in the Floyd school system the provisions of the National Defense Act. This federal legislation, adopted in 1954, seeks with the aid of such counselors and the cooperation of school boards to identify the best minds, particularly those in the field of science and mathematics. The national plan is to meet the Russian challenge in these fields by development of outstanding youthful abilities.

Claude May, of Langley, was named principal of the Wayland . . . See Story No. 2, Page 4 . . .

AUSTRALIAN IS DRAWN BY 'HAM'S' VOICE HERE

Neville Stilwell (right), who came her from Australia, greets his fellow-"ham," Richard Conley.

Seven years ago, Neville Stilwell's parents "made the mistake" of giving him a crystal radio set. As a result, by last week he had travelled all the way from Australia to deep in the heart of Eastern Kentucky.

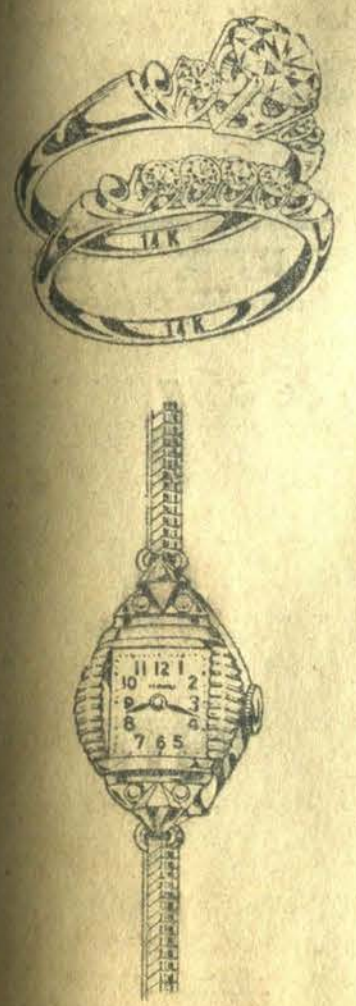

From that basic beginning in radio, Stilwell became an amateur shortwave operator—a species of the modern homo sapiens that is known by the same name in the Land Down Under as in the United States. In either land, and elsewhere, they're known as "hams."

A year ago, Stilwell contacted, via radio, Richard Conley, a Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company employee who lives at Falcon, Magoffin County, and who ever since his days as a radio operator on a bomber in World War II has been a "ham." Meanwhile, he was in communication with scores of other amateur operators over the United States. The desire to see some of these with whom he talked so often and to see their country grew—and so he is now on a 10,000-mile bus tour of the United States.

Asked why he chose to come to Kentucky, the blonde, youthful-looking Stilwell said, "Well you just seem to have an affinity for some voices, and Mr. Conley was one of those who attracted me."

His trip will consume five months during which he will be away from the two hardware and appliance stores he and other members of his family operate . . . See Story No. 1, Page 3 . . .

erate in Bendigo, an Australian city of about 40,000. During his American tour he will view merchandising methods here, visit radio acquaintances and wherever possible call on fellow-Jaycees. He resumed his travels Sunday and will return to Australia in September.

Stilwell is quite enthusiastic about the Junior Chamber of Commerce movement, and before coming here attended the Alabama state Jaycee convention in Mobile.

"Business in Australia? 'Good,'" Stilwell said. "The post-war boom is past, of course, but we've settled down to good, competitive business." He stressed the vast potential of his country and its continuing development.

The visitor declared he likes the United States "very much", and in his clipped, English accent extolled the beauties of the Eastern Kentucky mountains. "Love-ly," he declared. "In fact, my bus driver, I believe, was a bit peeved because I did not think the Smokies of North Carolina and Tennessee are as beautiful as your hills."

The talk drifted around to Kentucky traditions, and Stilwell said he had heard or read of some of them. Fast horses? Yes. Bourbon? Yes. Beautiful women? Stalwart purveyors of truth, he gave a reluctant "No."

Then there came up the inevitable politics. "Do you have hot elections?" he was asked.

"Oh, no," he answered. "We would lose respect for our candidates if they went in for bands and marching girls and all that."

He was gently reminded that marching girls and brass bands are not what was meant by the reference to "hot" elections. He gave his interviewer a blank sort of look.

Mr. Stilwell arrived in Kentucky last Sunday—too late to learn, first hand, what was meant by "a hot election."

Campaign Manager Thanks Waterfield Supporters

I wish to take this means to thank you 4,828 Floyd county voters who supported Harry Lee Waterfield for Governor. This large number of votes, under the circumstances, merely underscores the fact that we had a good candidate and good issues. We fought clean and hard, but the Combs-Wyatt forces succeeded in getting more votes.

Good sportsmanship and the principles of the Democratic Party demand that the fighting end when the votes are counted. I trust that you will not permit the petty taunts and bad behavior of some of the winners to keep you from being loyal to your party and its candidates.

For your steadfast courage, loyalty and hard work in the Primary, I wish to again express my sincere appreciation.

NOMINEE COMBS, "BUSY" RESTING, EXPRESSES GRATITUDE TO VOTERS

"Our state headquarters have never closed," said Bert T. Combs, of Prestonsburg, Democratic nominee for Governor this week when the announcement came that his Republican opponent, John M. Robison, Jr., had opened headquarters in Louisville.

The Democratic leader added, however, that he currently is "busy" resting and thanking his friends and supporters.

At the same time Judge Combs urged those who helped him in his primary victory "not to be too exuberant."

"I like the idea of being friends and neighbors," he said. "Life is short at best, and it is too short for so much of prejudice and enmity. I know something of the other fellow's feelings, for I have lost myself, and besides, let us remember that, although we won, our victory was not unanimous."

The nominee will not actively participate in politics for a few weeks. In a formal note of thanks to the people he said:

"I am, and will always be, grateful to the people of the Big Sandy valley. They contributed substantially to my victory. Without their help I could not have won, for no man can win a statewide race without his own people. Now, I am certain that, working with the people, we can make real progress. I am hoping that those who were for me in the primary and those who opposed me will join together and help me do some of the things that are long overdue in the Big Sandy valley. We must get industry and more jobs to keep our young people with us at home."

are Judge Edward P. Hill, Alex Bingham, Arnold Lowe, Hibbard Meade, and Daniel Akers. In addition the county was divided into 26 community districts over which a chairman will provide. These local chairmen with the five-man group constitute the Floyd County Brucellosis committee.

YOUTH CONFERENCE
Plans are being made for Kentucky participation in the 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth.

Kentucky War Of 1812 Militia Paid in Silver
Following the War of 1812, Kentuckians who had soldiered with five wagon loads of silver in it were paid off at Lexington from Cincinnati.
This money, in rough stout boxes about six inches square and three feet long, had been paid into the Federal Land Office at Cincinnati by settlers Ohio. The national government who had bought land throughout allocated it to pay Kentucky soldiers.
The silver was mostly in Spanish Mill dollars and its circulation made times better.
To make change, those having the silver coins would cut them into various sizes with an axe. Usually they cut the silver into four or eight sections, making eighteen and nine pence pieces, three-cornered or shaped like a piece of pie.
The sharp corners of the pieces were ruinous on a pocket book and it took a stout buckskin purse to hold them. It was very unsatisfactory money. Instead of cutting the money into quarters and wights, some would cut it into five, ten or even twelve pieces. In trading there was continual contention whether the pieces were large enough or not. As years went by, the pieces got smaller.
Finally the federal government bought it up and coined it into nine pence (12½ cents) and four pence heppenny (6½ cents) pieces, which after many years gave way to our present dime and five cent pieces.
To keep the people from cutting up the silver money, paper change checks were printed and sold for five dollars. These had spots representing various amounts of change which could be cut away as needed. These checks could be re-exchanged for the silver at any time.

Ky. W. Va. Gas Company Asks Rate Increase
Kentucky-West Virginia Gas Company, one of the suppliers of natural gas to Louisville Gas and Electric Company, has asked federal approval of a $1,820,700 increase in its wholesale gas rates.
The Federal Power Commission has suspended the proposed increase until October 29. If it is approved, L. G. & E. officials said yesterday, the cost to L. G. & E. will increase about $375,000 a year.
L. G. & E. now has pending before the State Public Service Commission an application for a $345,000 increase in retail gas rates resulting from a raise in charges by the Texas Gas Transmission Company. The P.S.C. usually allows wholesale-cost increases to be passed on to gas-company customers.

(No. 46 in a Series)

EARLY MINE OPENING OF THE MILLER'S CREEK BLOCK SEAM
The Miller's Creek Block Seam of coal, one of the greatest in the region, was discovered in 1881 by Capt. Charles M. Broas, a Civil War soldier, who was prospecting the valley for the Walbridges of Ohio. He went on to discover the seams on Elkhorn Creek in 1883 and thus brought to the attention of capitalists the vast coal reserves of Eastern Kentucky.
The mine opening picture shown here was taken by a photographer for John C. C. Mayo, Paintsville industrialist, who was interesting investors in the valley. The equipment of the miners was primitive, but the crude buggy was the forerunner of the modern mine locomotive. The miners used kerosene in a tin lamp for lighting purposes.

CHEVROLET BESTS

7 (COUNT 'EM)

Independent experts and official facts and figures prove Chevrolet's ahead of its field in seven big ways.
BEST BRAKES . . . In direct competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NASCAR*, Chevy out-stopped both the other leading low-priced cars—and why not? Chevy brakes are far larger, built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. BEST TRADE-IN . . . Check the figures in any N.A.D.A.† Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." BEST STYLE . . . Popular Science magazine sums it up: "The fact is, in its price class the Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling . . ." It's the only car of the leading low-priced three that's unmistakably modern in every line. BEST ECONOMY . . . No doubt about this: two Chevrolet Sixes won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car. BEST ROOM . . . Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.† make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hip room is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars. BEST ENGINE . . . Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As Sports Cars Illustrated puts it: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price." BEST RIDE . . . You'll be able to tell this yourself, instantly. But Motor Trend magazine expresses it this way: ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

Make sure you get the most for your money—see your local authorized Chevrolet dealer!

'Sports Afield' Extols Fishing In Kentucky

A national magazine is extolling Kentucky by calling it a state with 15,000 miles of streams, five major lakes with four new ones being built, plenty of farm ponds and year-around fishing.

The publication—Sports Afield Magazine (June issue)—includes a complete fishing guide to the Blue Grass state. It has pictures, charts, maps and much explanatory copy, describing best spots, times and methods for catching all types of fish found in the Commonwealth.

The article, by Robert S. Hart, Jr., says:

"With the exception of Alaska, there is no state with such a wealth of water, untold about and underfished, as the Commonwealth of Kentucky. With 15,000 miles of running stream water, five major lakes totaling over 240,000 acres, approximately 150,000 farm ponds, plus a fishing timetable that calls for fishing 12 months out of the year, Kentucky is truly a fisherman's paradise."

And commenting upon future fishing in Kentucky, the article describes impoundments being built to form new lakes and adds, "You ain't seen nothing yet!"

WEST ALL-STARS WIN OVER EAST, 80 TO 70

The West All-Stars overcame a one-point third-period deficit to down the East All-Stars, 80-70, in the first game of the 10th annual East-West all-star basketball series in the Prestonsburg high school gym, Tuesday night.

Don Ringstaff, Livingston Central guard, accounted for eight points in the final six minutes that gave the West a six-point lead they never relinquished. John Bill Trivette's East team led for three periods, but appeared tired in the final minutes.

Oliver Hill's Bert Greene gave the East an 18-11 working margin in the first period as he pumped in four long one-handers and the East held a 34-27 half-time count.

Covington Grant's Tom Thacker, who was the offensive show of the game, scored 20 points and his ball-handling antics brought approval from some 500 fans attending the game.

SPORTS CHATTER

By GORDON MOORE

Floyd, Kentucky, and especially the Dewey Lake area, will have its first open deer season for three days, beginning December 4, according to the Kentucky Division of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Both bucks and does may be taken by bow and arrow or by gun.

When a hunter bags a deer he must stop hunting for the season. A $10.50 permit for both resident and non-resident is required and only one deer is allowed a hunter during the season.

The hunter, in addition to the permit, must also have a valid hunting license, but resident landowners and resident tenants will not be required to have a deer hunting permit to hunt on the land on which they live during the open season.

Entries for the 14th annual International Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament indicate that a new high in participation will be reached, according to Frank Heinze, chairman for the tournament here in Prestonsburg.

Only Floyd county boys under the age of 18 as of August 15 are eligible to compete in this, one of the most popular golf programs in the county. The winning contestant from here will go to Madisonville, Kentucky. Those who are in the top four from Kentucky will compete in the International Tournament, to be held in Portsmouth, Virginia, August 22 to 29.

The Floyd champion will receive an award and trip to the state tournament, and additional recognition will be given the top three contestants here.

Play will begin at 1 p.m., Saturday.

John Gordon Goble, former Prestonsburg high griddier, and last season's Wheelwright football coach, was named head football coach at Prestonsburg high school by the Floyd County Board of Education, Tuesday afternoon.

Ray Brackett, who handled the football chores at Wheelwright in the 1957 season, will return as football coach.

All other coaching positions remained the same in other Floyd county schools.

College coaches in attendance at the East-West All-Star in Prestonsburg Tuesday night numbered about 20, and most were interested in Olive Hill's Bert Greene and Don Ringstaff, of Livingston Central high.

The West team, after trailing for three quarters, outpointed the East team by 32-21 in the final ten-minute period to win 80-70.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WHAT COULD BE DONE.

Editor, The Times:

I enjoyed the story by HPS in last week's issue of The Times regarding the Scalf visitor from Canada. I have been saying these SAME things for years... and not listened to one bit! In more recent times the FLOYD COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY has been saying the same things and seeking to arouse public interest.

I think it is only too true that it takes an outsider to see what could be done, how to do it, etc.

However, about the Brochure of historical spots in and near Prestonsburg that he mentions. The Historical Society has just such a brochure. It sells for 50c (60c, if mailed) and is very attractive indeed. They are small pen and ink drawings. On the front is a small map and locations of Jenny Wiley Rock, Battle of Middle Creek and Boone's Camp, as well as Garfield Place may be seen. Inside, one finds a description of these places, with a pen and ink sketch of same by Frankie Sue Best, of Prestonsburg. They make wonderful souvenirs of this section and may be ordered from Winnie F. Johns, of Prestonsburg.

For many years I have beat the drums for the log cabin project. One should be moved to Prestonsburg and maintained. Our drive entrance to Dewey Lake is revolting. Two big garbage piles to greet the tourist. The Jenny Wiley Pageant should be put on by Floyd county, but if it will not, then some other mountain county ought to do so by all means.

KY. 4-H YOUNGSTERS TO BE CAMPING SOON

Within the next three months, some 6,000 Kentucky 4-H Club boys and girls will have completed a summer camp session.

Eight state 4-H camps will handle the influx of youngsters bent on applying 4-H principles to a camping period, and getting some recreation and instruction with it.

The camps, part of the 4-H Club program directed by the Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service, are located at Dawson Springs, at Camp Bingham in Washington county, at London in Laurel county, at Quicksand in Jackson county, at Grayson in Carter county, at J. M. Felner camp near Paintsville, at Camp Ernst near Florence, and at Lincoln Ridge in Shelby county.

About 200 volunteer leaders and county agents will act as adult supervisors. Programs include swimming, boating safety, hunting safety, archery, natural resource conservation, handicrafts, and game recreation.

George Corder, state 4-H leader, says the educational aspects of the camps "go far beyond the skills taught at the camps. The camps provide the youngsters an experience away from their families where they learn to assume responsibilities for their own activities and well-being, and to experience living with, working with, and getting along with large groups of other young people. All 4-H campers are given definite roles of leadership they must assume with a group."

The various camps open on a Monday and end on Fridays. Each day's program starts with a nature tour and ends with vesper services and recreation each evening.

Oil Firm Leases Morgan-Co Land; Plan Deep Wells

Morgan County in recent days has become the focal point of a widespread leasing program for oil and gas.

Agents of one firm, Hunt Oil Company of Texas, have leased between 50,000 and 60,000 acres in Morgan during the past 10 days. Sun Oil several weeks ago leased approximately 5,000 acres, and three or four independent groups have leased small blocks in the county during the past few months.

Interest in Morgan county probably stems from the drilling of deep test wells in Breathitt on the west and in Martin on the east of Morgan. And now reports are heard that other deep test wells will be sunk in this area, possibly one of them in Morgan, and maybe others in Elliott and Wolfe.

Hunt Oil, one of the largest independent oil companies in the nation, is not picking up leases in any particular section but is leasing farms in many sections leased some 10,000 acres in Maffoffin county in the section adjoining Morgan. The company is paying rental of 25 cents per acre.

Much acreage in Morgan, particularly in areas considered on good structures, already had been leased at from 50 cents to $1 per acre.

The deep test wells in Breathitt and Martin were drilled with a rotary rig brought in from Texas. The Breathitt well was sunk to 11,500 feet and stopped at the granite. The Martin well near Inez hit the granite last week at 14,000.

These deep wells are part of a series to be sunk in Eastern Kentucky by United Fuel, the cost possibly subsidized in part by the government.

The McGuire Family Found "Peace of Mind"—Plus Economic Heating and Cooling—with a Modern Electric Heat Pump

James A. McGuire, machinist, says:

"My wife and I both work daytimes, which means our little boy stays at home with a sitter. That's why the flameless feature of our electric heat pump is all-important. We leave the house with peace of mind, knowing there isn't even a pilot light burning. What's more, our electric heat pump gives us clean, healthful heating and cooling at reasonable cost... less than $12 per month!"

Mrs. McGuire says:

"There's nothing cleaner than an electric heat pump, and that appeals to me. It saves a great deal of work, like cleaning and redecorating. My range and other electric appliances also save me a lot of time and work. I just couldn't get along without them, working away from home like I do."

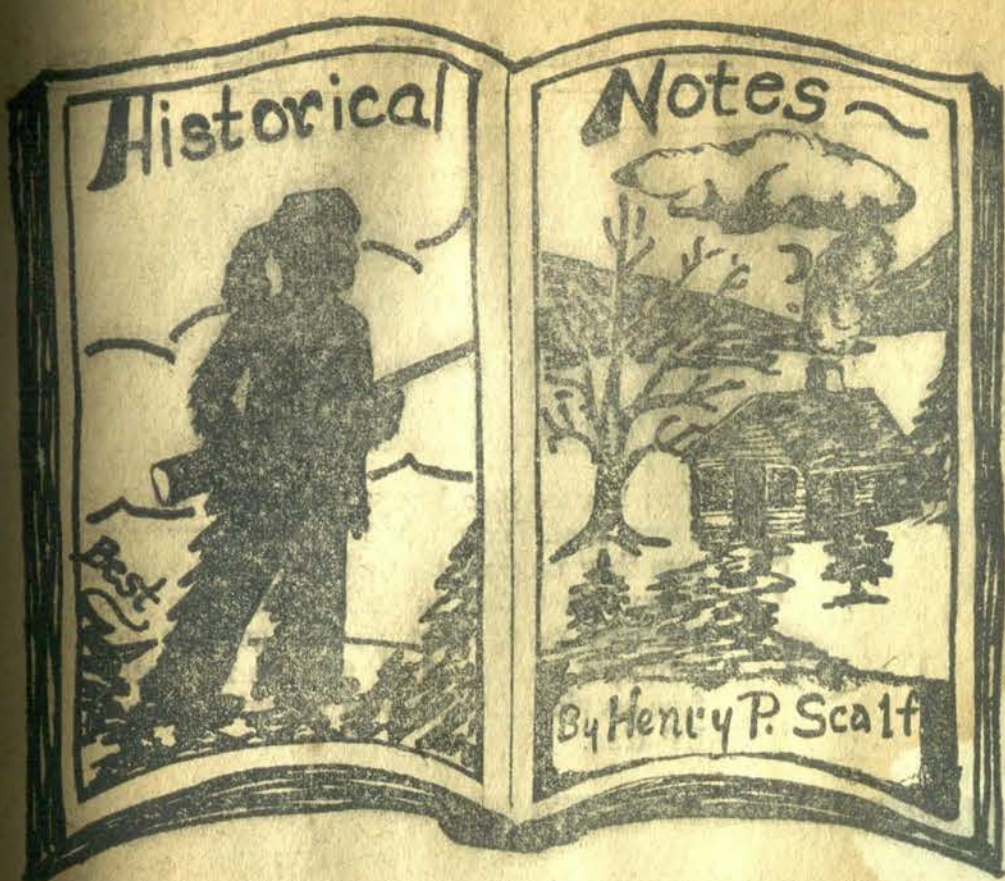

"This is our heat pump," Mr. McGuire tells his young son Cameron. "It gives us the exact temperature we want in our home all the time."

Letters of Pvt. William Jones

AT CAMP CHASE AGAIN

William Jones left, in a memorandum written on a soiled piece of paper, a detail on the trip northward from Jacksonville in May, 1865. It is somewhat incomplete and omitted certain desirable bits of information but these were unimportant to him as he was evidently making the notes for himself.

"Left Jacksonville, Fla., on board the steamer W. H. Coit at 4 o'clock in the morning. Arrived at Fernando Bay, Fla., 10 a.m. Started at 5 o'clock p.m. on the steamship Cassandra, arrived at Hatton Head on Thursday, the 11th, 9 o'clock a.m. Left Hatton Head on the same steamer, 4 o'clock p.m. and arrived at Annapolis, Sunday, the 14th. Left on the cars on Wednesday on the 17th, arrived at Camp Chase on Saturday evening at 4 o'clock a.m. No letter."

While waiting for the cars at Annapolis, Md., he wrote his wife, Mary, May 17.

"I arrived here last Sunday evening after four days of a sea voyage. We had a pleasant time. There were some that got sea sick but it did not effect me."

He received pay at Annapolis at the rate of $7.50 per month while a prisoner-of-war.

"I am sorry to hear of that accident on the Mississippi River for I hear about 30 of Co. A, 7th OVC were on the boat."

Jones recalls a "Southern sympathizer, Old Jeff," was caught, "he doesn't exactly say how, but there is an inference that Confederate money was involved."

"I wonder if the Butternuts of Campbell county think the chivalry of the South can be whipped. I wonder if Archy Daniels would like to sell his 20 acres for Confederate money. If so I will buy it and would not care how much he might ask for it for I think I could buy a hundred thousand dollars of it for 5 dollars in Greenbacks."

He wrote when he arrived at Camp Chase, Ohio, May 22. He had found no letter there from his wife and could not imagine why except "there was some disarrangement in the mail. I have written three since I arrived in Yankee-land, two from Jacksonville, Fla., and one from Annapolis, Maryland."

He reveals a little of his adventures while a prisoner and of his lucky break in escaping death.

"I saw a man who had been down at Furlough. He was in at Shaw's and they asked him about me. Shaw was under the impression that I was on the Sultana but I can only thank the Reb that took my boots for my escape. I was barefooted when we got to the Tennessee River and was left back with the sick and barefooted. By being separated I got in one prison and they in another but to tell you the joke the well and shod men went on the cars and the sick and barefooted Booneville Club Aids Fund Drive To Procure Agent For Owsley-Co.

Owsley county, eastern Kentucky county without an Agricultural Extension Service agent the past three years, will get one July 1.

E. J. Nesius, director of the Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service, and Keith Kelley, district county agent supervisor, said the agent will be located there through efforts of the Booneville Lions Club.

This organization is raising funds by public subscription to meet certain necessary in-county expenses of an agent not met by the Extension Service. Kelley said a resident agent probably would be assigned by July 1.

Owsley for the past three years has been the only county in Kentucky without a county agent. Tax funds from local sources have not been available, Kelley said. The Lions Club, led by E. L. Hughes, president, has been raising funds from local citizens and organizations.

The new agent will advise Owsley countians on agricultural practices, research advances and establish a 4-H Club program. A soils-testing laboratory also will be reestablished. The county agent's office will be located in the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

Mrs. Ellen Clevenger, 79, Of Allen, Victim Friday; Burial, Jones Cemetery

Mrs. Ellen Clevenger, 79, of Allen, died at 12:30 p.m. Friday at the Beaver Valley hospital. She was a daughter of the late Harmon and Jane Coffey Hunt and the widow of Charles E. Clevenger. She was a member of the Freewill Baptist church for 60 years.

Mrs. Clevenger is survived by the following sons and daughters: L. T. Clevenger and J. C. Clevenger, both of Allen, W. D. Clevenger, Baltimore, Md., Mrs. Lula Hobson, of Harold, Mrs. Irene Hobson, of Allee, Mrs. Beatrice Crance, Mrs. Ruth Blackburn, Mrs. Madeline Harris and Mrs. Mary Jane Harmon, all of Covington. Two half-sisters, Mrs. Mary Dempsey and Mrs. Emma Jarrell, both of Inez, survive.

Funeral rites were conducted Sunday at 2 p.m. from the home, the Revs. Isaac Stratton and Manfred Davis officiating. Burial was made in the Jones cemetery at Banner under the direction of Hall Bras. Funeral Home.

FOSTER PLAY

The Stephen Foster Story is in full rehearsal at Bardstown with a cast and crew of seventy. Hammers, saws and brushes are preparing the stage settings, which include a theater within a theater, three home interiors including Federal Hill and the banks of the Allegheny River with a river boat which sails. All will be ready for the first-night audience Friday, June 26.

A letter headed "Camp Chase, June 22, '65," is the last one in the archives. Separation from the 7th Ohio Volunteer Cavalry was but a matter of a few days for William Jones.

"They are giving discharges to those that have not their descriptive lists with them and accounts not settled and we can get our money at the State Agent's. They are making them out as fast as they can. Of course we have to wait our turn."

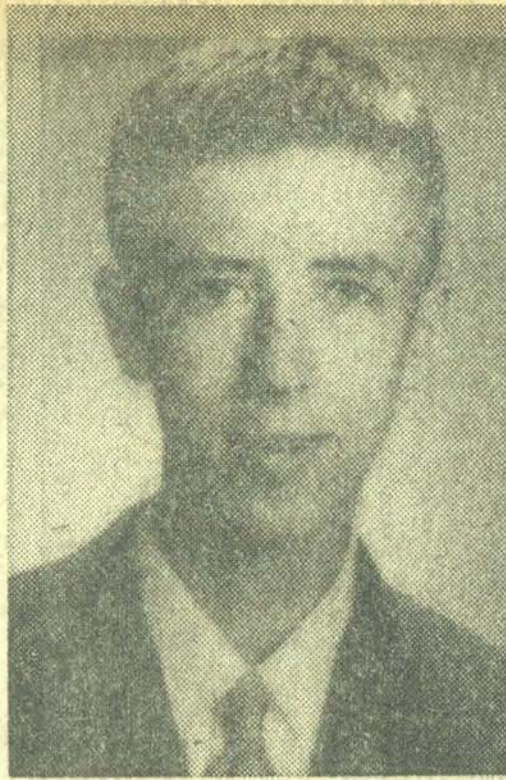

"I may get mine tomorrow and maybe not. If I don't get it so as to come down on the morning train on Saturday shall wait until Monday as I don't want to come down in the night..."

He didn't want to come home in the night. He wanted to come home in the day, in the full hour of the sun as all old soldiers do.

Kentucky Bankers Group Notes Profit In Deep; Initial Cost Is Small

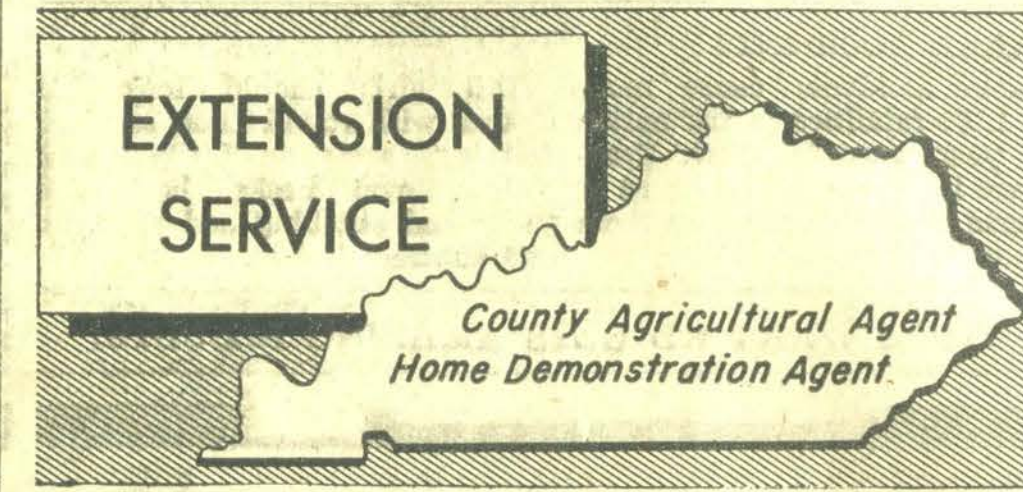

A few days ago Dr. W. P. Garrigus, of the Kentucky Experiment Station, stated that there is more clear profit in sheep-based either on dollars invested or hours of labor—than any other livestock enterprises.

The Kentucky Bankers Association points out that the costs and risks involved in starting most new farm enterprises are enormous. Poultry, for instance, may require the profits from two or more years work to repay the capital investment for buildings and equipment. The same is true of dairying and to a lesser extent of hogs. But not so with sheep. Flocks of 25 to 50 sheep can be started with a few hundred dollars and on most farms no additional buildings or capital expenditure will be required. Tobacco barns usually provide adequate housing. Many farmers will find it easier to finance a flock of sheep than other enterprises where capital outlay is needed for construction. A flock of sheep properly managed, will return their full cost from the sale of wool and lambs in one year. The main requirements are good pastures, good hay and an ability to look after details.

The fresh strawberry season is now open in Kentucky and prices should be lowest between May 25 and June 10.

When shopping for strawberries, look for berries of a uniform, bright red color; are clean, fresh and well-formed; and have caps attached. Large berries may be more eye-catching, but flavor and quality is not dependent on size. Consider the use for which berries are intended; large strawberries may be preferred for serving whole, or small ones for slicing, crushing or making jam.

Home care of strawberries is important because once they are fully ripe, they can be damaged easily. Place berries in a shallow, covered container and store in the refrigerator until ready for use. Wash gently before using (cold water is best) and let them stand in water only long enough for sand to sink. Lift out of water and cap.

One crate of 16 quarts of fresh berries gives 20-24 pints frozen; one crate of 24 quarts fresh berries yield 30-36 pints when frozen.

Does it pay to make preserves or freeze strawberries at home? There is no answer to this question. Consider these factors before you decide whether to make preserves or to freeze strawberries at home:

1. The amount of time and labor involved.
2. The skill you have and want to acquire.
3. The flavor and texture of your finished product in comparison to the commercial product you might buy.
4. The amount of storage space you have.
5. Cost of doing it yourself in comparison with the cost of the purchased item.

Serve strawberries around the clock, with all three meals whether fresh, frozen or in jams and jellies.

It's a dear bargain to buy insurance from the "sell 'em and forget 'em" agent who doesn't bother keeping a professional eye on your constantly changing insurance requirements.

We have a hunch you'd rather

who takes a personal interest in you and your family, who takes the time to review your needs periodically so that you never have too little—or too much—insurance.

That's how this Agency conducts its business.

But merely for the sake of argument, suppose you do save a few dollars on a time-consuming trip many miles from home. And suppose you don't even count the cost of gasoline and oil, car wear, parking fees, etc. Forget, too, if you like, the hazards of driving in today's heavy highway and city traffic.

But don't overlook these things: What you buy here can be in your home in a few minutes—no waiting several days for delivery. And if the merchandise doesn't give full satisfaction, any needed service or adjustment of the purchase can be made without shipping the items back to the BIG CITY or being forced to make a second trip yourself.

Why drive scores of miles looking for trouble? Shop right around the corner and be safe and satisfied.

YOUNG CROWS DESERT NEST FOR BEDROOM OF FRIENDS

By Rufus M. Reed

I have three cousins, all teen-agers, and sons of Claude Wilson, who lives at Laura, near the head of Pigeon Roost Fork of Wolf Creek, Martin county. These boys live in a land of nature's wonders, where there is great scenic beauty all around them. The birds and wild flowers and trees are on every side of them. The greatest desire of these young lads is to become naturalists and they have been studying birds.

Recently these boys found a crows' nest with four baby crows, in a tree on the mountainside above their house. They were delighted with their find and they wanted very much to take these baby crows and rear them, and make pets of them. This would also give them a grand opportunity to study the ways of crows. But they had some problems to face. How could they rear and feed these baby crows? What would their father say? Would he let them keep the crows around the house? They decided to take a chance! They got three of the baby crows out of the nest and carried them to the house, with the full determination to rear them and make pets out of them. Maybe they could teach these crows to talk! But they didn't dare let their father know! They put the baby crows in a box and hid them in their bedroom upstairs. There they began to try to feed and care for them. They hauled out all their nature books and encyclopedias and read everything they could find about crows. What would young crows like to eat? The boys learned that baby crows would eat all kinds of worms, grasshoppers, minnows, crayfish, oatmeal, bread,—most anything a chicken will eat. But they couldn't keep their secret for long! In less than a week, those young crows began to open wide their big mouths and squawk incessantly when they got hungry! The father began to hear weird and unearthly sounds coming down from the boys' bedroom and he demanded an explanation. It must have been worse than the croaking of Poe's raven "on the Night's Plutonian Shore!"

The boys had to let their secret out then. The father ordered them to take the young crows immediately and deliver them back to their parents in the nest on the mountain! The boys performed this sorrowful with much regret.

Then a strange and unforeseen thing happened! Those young crows had seemingly fallen in love with their foster parents and with their comfortable quarters in the boys' bedroom! They absolutely refused to stay in the nest in the tree, or to be consoled and fed by their true parents! They flapped right out of the nest and began fluttering along through the leaves, trying to find their way back to the house! When the father saw this amazing performance, he consented for the boys to go and get the young crows and keep them as pets. Now he is having more fun than the boys, feeding those young crows, watching their antics and toting them around on his finger, as he tries to teach them tricks. They are comical and smart too! Their eyes are not black, as you might imagine, but the iris is pearly gray, the pupils a dark blue. They have sharp eyes, you can bet! The boys are now trying to teach them to do tricks and to talk. Their feathers are growing fast and they will soon be able to fly. Their heads and beaks are fully developed, as the beaks of young crows are as large as those of adults.

The Wilson teen-agers are learning great lessons in nature, caring for and studying the ways of these crows. It is a thing good for them, and grand for their future. If we had more boys like these, we'd have less juvenile delinquency in our land! Let a boy make pets of wild things and learn to love and care for them, and he will not be out trying to rob and steal, or hot-rod-ding a-about the country. These boys are God's creatures of the wild, free woods. They vow they will not split the tongues of their pets, in order to teach them to talk, since their nature books do not advise this procedure. Perhaps some day these young crows will be able to say: "Thank you, boys, for the kindness you have shown us, for we are often despised among men as robbers and thieves."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and gratitude to all our friends and relatives who were so untiring in their efforts to lighten our hearts during the illness and upon the death of our beloved husband and father, Ealum Hunt. We especially want to thank donors of the beautiful flowers, and those who brought food; also our thanks and appreciation to Rev. Isaac Stratton, Henry Crider, Abe Vanderpool and Bill Amburgey for their words of comfort in our bereavement and to Carter & Callihan Funeral Home for its efficient services.

Tall girls should look for clothes with round lines, say UK clothing specialists. Little round collars, oval necks, horizontal tucks and stitching add glamour and subtract inches.
