This Town-- That World

RIGHT!
The fellows around this office have a penchant for improving on things. For instance, there was the small placard somebody posted inside the shop, which read:
"Keep in mind one thought:
"The other fellow
"May be right"
They improved the placard by scratching out the last line.

WHAT'S THIS?
Maybe it's just because I don't circulate as much as I once did, or because I don't get around in the right circles, but I haven't seen a boy playing marbles this spring... Yes, I know it snowed a spell Monday, but the sun shone a few minutes that day, too... If boys quit playing marbles, the country is doomed for sure.

FISHING DELAYED, TOO
But who am I to carp about boys deserting marbles? Here it is April 7 and the sun shining brightly for a change, and a whole passel of guys who used to be fishing and be telling whoppers by this time of year haven't wet a line... I finally made it to the lake, at least a month late. The results? None of your business.

Who am I to complain about the weather? There was a day or two last week when, if the thermometer had risen just one degree higher, I would have taken down with spring fever. Fearing a recurrence of that malady, I recently laid in a supply of sassafras but haven't reduced it to tea yet. It worked, years ago, for a lot of years; it should do the job now.

RIVER SLOWS BODY SEARCH

Two Pike-Co. Victims Of River, Unrecovered; Floyd Rescue Group Aids

The swollen Big Sandy River continued to defy efforts of searchers this week for the bodies of two men missing near Millard, Pike county, since March 27 when their auto slipped from a low-water bridge into deep water and overturned.

Last Sunday, 107 organized rescue squadmen from three states joined independent searchers in the quest, and the river was probed from Payton's Creek to Millard, a distance of almost two miles.

The missing men are Wade Akers, 32, and Randall May, 33, both of the Grapevine section, near the tragedy scene. A third man, Billy Bevins, 22, swam to safety.

The Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad sent five boats, its amphibious "duck" and 18 men to the scene Sunday. Other organized rescue teams contributed these efforts:

Greenville (Tenn.) Emergency & Rescue Squad, two boats and 22 men; Pike county squad, three boats and 20 men; Kingsport (Tenn.) one boat, 14 men; Morris-town (Tenn.), two boats and 12 men; Scott county (Va.), one boat, 10 men; Buckingham county (Va.), one boat, 10 men.

The search operation has been hampered by high water and swift current. Rain and fog last Sunday added to the working hazards, but boat collisions on the rocky shoals have been held to a minimum.

Lighting equipment of the Floyd squad was being used this week as a night-watch was maintained at the Sutton bridge. The Floyd county group will resume the search this week-end if the bodies are not found earlier.

BIG SANDIANS OFFER PLEAS AT HEARINGS

Ask Construction Funds For Fishtrap Reservoir In Upstream Dam Chain

Among the 40 Big Sandians who are in Washington this week urging the importance of upriver flood control measures are six from Floyd county.

The valley delegation is attending hearings starting today (Thursday) before the House subcommittee on appropriations. They hope to get a $301,000 federal grant to start construction of the proposed Fishtrap reservoir.

The Government has already allocated $349,000 to complete planning of the proposed $41,700,000 project which includes a dam across the Big Sandy's unpredictable Levisa Fork.

It would become one of a series of reservoirs planned ultimately to protect the often flood-ravaged valley.

Funds have been appropriated and construction already started on another of the control units known as the John W. Flannagan reservoir project near Pound, Va. The Flannagan dam will cross Pound River, which empties into Levisa Fork.

The Floyd county delegation is composed of County Judge Henry Stumbo, County Attorney Robert S. Wellman, the Rev. Harold W. Dorsey, Mayor Edward B. Leslie, of Prestonsburg, H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., and Gornon Collins.

The delegation from the Big Sandy includes 28 members of the Pike County Chamber of Commerce, headed by its secretary, Peter Janis, and H. H. Kincaid, chairman of its flood-control committee.

Others in the group are from Paintsville, Prestonsburg and Elkhorn City as well as Pound, Va.

The delegates have been told by the Army Corps of Engineers that the Fishtrap project will become a certainty, once any construction funds have been appropriated and the work gets under way.

The project would include relocating 19 miles of U.S. 460, linking Pikeville with Grundy, Va.; 25 miles of Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad track, and 3.4 miles of Norfolk & Western track.

RURAL CHILD NEEDS TALKED

At White House Meet; Suggestions Are Made To Affect Six Fields

Floyd county's needs in six fields were covered in a list of suggestions made by group chairmen and submitted for discussion at a caucus held March 29 during the White House Conference in Washington, D. C., last week.

Mrs. Regina B. Mayo represented Kentucky in the category dealing with the Rural Child, His Physical and Social Needs. As Floyd county chairman for the White House Conference she was one of 7,000 delegates at last week's five-day gathering in the nation's capital.

The suggestions for this area were arrived at after a series of local meetings. Needs pointed out were:

1. Education: Increased teachers' salaries; adequate school buildings; more supplies and materials for teachers; provision for the teaching of gifted and retarded children, more federal aid.

2. Health: A full-time health officer and added personnel; an intestinal parasite control program with environmental changes, additional federal and state aid to supplement local health tax fund.

3. Welfare: More social workers to guide negligent parents, that children may be reared in decent homes where they would receive love and understanding, adequate food and clothing.

4. Moral Values: Knowledge and regard for the laws of God; added emphasis on family integrity; the stressing of the rewards of decency and of good reading; creative projects for children and adolescents; a countywide Youth Council composed of both youths and adults.

5. Recreation: Creative activities, as well as play, that require active participation, both physical and mental under year-around trained supervision and leadership.

6. Library: Continued help from state and federal governments. "The Library Services Act enables the Eastern Kentucky Regional Library through its five county libraries to serve most of the population of 118,000 in 11,000 books a month," the statement of needs added. ## FLOYD SCIENCE STUDY PROMOTED

CRIME RISE NOTED HERE

Thefts, Breaks Feature Arrests Past Week; Raid On Mine Nets Whiskey

Thefts and breaks into buildings continued to engage the attention of officers over the past week.

John Leonard Goble was jailed here last Thursday on a charge of breaking and entering the shop of the Betsy Layne consolidated school. Tom Erick was jailed a few days earlier in the same case.

State Police Detective Chester D. Potter brought to Prestonsburg Wednesday equipment of the Bartlett Tree Surgeons which was stolen at Betsy Layne sometime ago. The items recovered included saws, axes and an adding machine.

Deputy Joe Wheeler and Harold Lewis booked Charles and Bill Bailey on a petit larceny charge last Saturday. They were accused of stealing gasoline from a school bus in the Mare Creek vicinity.

A second raid made on a coal mine near the home here of Dayton Joseph last week netted Deputy Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis 50 half-pints of whiskey. Two weeks earlier, the officer reported the finding of 30 half-pints in the same mine.

Gordon Gibson was jailed last Thursday on a warrant alleging hit-run driving. He was accused in a warrant sworn out by Ronnie Birchett, of Ohio.

Estill Joseph was fined $20 and given a 30-day jail term as the result of a raid made here a few months ago by Deputy Sheriff Lewis.

Robert Bailey, who was jailed Saturday, on a whiskey possession charge, was transferred to U. S. district court. He was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Lewis, Henry Slone, James and Robert Hall, and, according to a jail register annotation, had 6 1/2 gallons of whiskey in his possession.

OLD CHARGES ARE REMOVED

From Court Docket; Child Desertion Cases Feature Dismissals, Said

Upwards of a hundred old cases regarded as cluttering up the docket with no chance of trial have been removed in the early days of the current circuit court session, Commonwealth's Attorney Hollie Conley said.

Practically all these cases are on child desertion indictments, with most of the defendants never arrested and in several instances no attempt made at prosecution by the complaining witnesses.

Trial of Lee Hall on a grand larceny count Tuesday turned into a sanity hearing, with the result that the defendant was declared of unsound mind. Two of his alleged accomplices, James Salisbury and Isaac Keathley, were convicted at an earlier court term and given two-year sentences. They were accused of stealing 23 chickens and two bushels of potatoes.

Trial of Luther Osborne on a breach of the peace count resulted in his acquittal, and a jury for the second time failed to agree on the guilt or innocence of James Campbell who was charged with child desertion.

YOUTH GROUP ELECTS HEADS

Youth Assembly Meets At Frankfort, Last Week; Two From Floyd Named

Prestonsburg high school sent 14 delegates to the 1960 Kentucky Youth Assembly last week as the largest number of youths yet to register in the 15-year history of the assembly gathered in Frankfort. A total of 688 registered.

Dale Honn, 16-year-old junior at Camargo high school, was elected governor of next year's assembly. Members of his cabinet elected at pre-legislative sessions to hold office next year included two from Floyd county: Kay Ann Frazier, House chaplain, and Dennis Stephens, director of publicity.

The feminine part of the Floyd delegation, eight students and two adult chaperones or sponsors, were guests of Miss Lois Combs at the Governor's mansion during the three-day assembly.

Among those recognized for best speeches was Miss Marda Dean Heltou, of Paintsville. Kendrick Wells, of the same school, was recognized with three others for best committee performances. Bill Allen, (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

TURNER NOTES NO BAR SEEN

To Stadium Project When Funds Available; Board Meets Tuesday

The Floyd County Board of Education and others attending its April session Tuesday afternoon heard from County Superintendent V. O. Turner a report on what the Department of Education and the Attorney General's office have told him and others about the Board's participation in the plan to build a football stadium and field in connection with Prestonsburg high school.

Generally speaking, state education authorities and the Attorney General see no bar to the stadium plan submitted by the Prestonsburg Parent-Teacher Association's committee on buildings and improvements.

Briefly, the findings were these: 1. The bonds to be issued by the Parent-Teacher Association can be drawn in such form that the Board of Education will not be responsible for their redemption.

2. The Board cannot make a contribution such as was asked for the undertaking from its capital outlay fund because gymnasium, stadium and such improvements are last on the priority list and there are other needs holding priority.

3. The contribution must be made from the general fund, and that fund has no money at this time and will not have before the beginning of a new fiscal year, July 1.

Byron M. Thompson, chairman of the committee which planned the athletic field improvement, said Mr. Turner had accurately stated their findings at Frankfort and added, "The assistant state superintendent said ours is a very fine project." (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

CURBS ASKED ON LOOTING, BOOTLEGGING

Grand Jury Recesses Today; Indictments Are Made Against 31

Bootlegging, stealing and burglaries were listed by Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill Monday morning as the three crimes most seriously affecting Floyd county at this time, and he called on the grand jury to take special pains to do all that can be done toward curbing them.

Judge Hill, in his instructions to the grand jury of the new April court term, remarked that "talking about the same thing grows monotonous" but emphasized the duty of officials in relation to such offenses.

Admitting that bootlegging is an offense that is difficult to control, he discussed the part "private" clubs play in the handling of intoxicants. "Service clubs sell plenty of beer and whiskey. If they're strictly private, it's legal and you and I can't do much about it," Hill told the jurors. "But young veterans and young men with families go there and form destructive habits. I have the impression some keep intoxicating liquors for members and outsiders, too. If you find evidence of that, something should be done."

He also asked the grand jury to take a close look into the problem of stream pollution.

Henry P. Soall, of Prestonsburg, was named foreman of the grand jury which recessed Wednesday afternoon to re-convene toward end of the court term for another three-day session.

Other speakers are expected from the Division of Fisheries and the Department of Game and Fish, State Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources, J. J. Gilpin again will add to the music program, and a new film on pollution will be shown.

All county officials and citizens who are interested in hunting and fishing and in the conservation of forests and soil are being urged to attend.

JOHNSON DIES OF INJURIES

Wheelwright Miner Fatally Hurt Today; Was Knott-Co. Native

Ellington Johnson, 45, of Hall, Knott county, was fatally injured this morning (Thursday) in a mine of the Inland Steel Co., Wheelwright, in which he was employed as a machine operator.

It was said that Johnson was "rolled" between the top of a car and the roof of the mine. His head and skull were crushed, and he died almost instantly.

He was a son of Marion and Leaner Burke Johnson, of Hall. Survivors, besides his parents and his widow, Mrs. Cora Fouts Johnson, of Hall, are one son, Jimmy Johnson, and four daughters, Mrs. Mildred Isaac, Misses Mabel, Ethel and Judy Ann Johnson, all of Hall; six brothers and two sisters, Curt Birchett, of Ohio.

Gordon Gibson was fined $20 and given a 30-day jail term as the result of a raid made here a few months ago by Deputy Sheriff Lewis.

Robert Bailey, who was jailed Saturday, on a whiskey possession charge, was transferred to U. S. district court. He was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Lewis, Henry Slone, James and Robert Hall, and, according to a jail register annotation, had 6 1/2 gallons of whiskey in his possession.

Estill Joseph was fined $20 and given a 30-day jail term as the result of a raid made here a few months ago by Deputy Sheriff Lewis.

Under the expanded science program here the Garrett, Maytown and Martin science rooms were remodeled. Cost of the Garrett work was set at $5,340, Maytown, $5,650, and Martin, $4,968. This is a total of $15,958 and was matched by the federal government.

Materials and supplies bought for elementary schools totaled $624.24. For materials and supplies purchased for high schools in the science program the board spent $7,025.37. Most of this latter sum will be matched by the federal government, according to Wayne Ratliff, assistant superintendent of schools. Some of the items do not carry the matching obligation.

"A small part of this latter sum is for supplies of a consumable nature which are used from year to year and will not be matched," Ratliff pointed out.

"The general science departments of all permanent high schools are being brought up to standards specified by the federal government," Ratliff continued. "This was necessary before we were able to go into remodeling programs. Beginning next year science teachers will be able to buy science materials and equipment in the more-needed areas of the other sciences but the selections must be made from a purchase guide which specifies that the most-needed materials and equipment must come first."

Ratliff noted that the board of education's architect has now in the planning stage a science room remodeling project for Wayland, Wheelwright, McDowell and Betsy Layne high schools. Tentative estimate of the cost of these projects is set at $8 to $10,000 per room.

MRS. MOORE IS NAMED MOTHER OF THE YEAR

A Knott county woman, mother of two Floyd county men, Tuesday was named Kentucky Mother of the Year.

The 1960 title went to Mrs. Minnie Cornett Moore, 71, wife of Marson Moore, of Mallie, and mother of County Clerk DuRan Moore, of Prestonsburg, and Mason Moore, of Martin.

Mrs. Moore received the title at a luncheon of the Kentucky Mothers' Association at the Kentuckian Motor Hotel in Lexington. Attending the luncheon were her husband, all of her three daughters and six sons and numerous grandchildren.

Gov. Bert Combs presented the Knott woman the citation as Kentucky Mother of the Year and a commission as a Kentucky Colonel. He spoke in tribute to motherhood.

Floyd county had another important connection with Mrs. Moore's recognition. It was Mrs. Robert Martin, of Martin, who nominated her for the honor. The Rev. and Mrs. Martin were among those present at the luncheon. Mrs. Moore received a bouquet of red roses from Walter Hillenmeyer, Jr., president of the Lexington Chamber of Commerce, and the Kentucky Mother pin from Mrs. Harry Peters, Trenton, state chairman of the American Mothers Committee and a vice-president of the American Mothers Association.

Selection of Mrs. Moore to represent Kentucky in the competition to name the American Mother of the Year was announced by Mrs. John Kirksey, Paducah, chairman of the 22-member selection committee.

She was chosen from 25 nominees from throughout the state.

Her nomination for the Kentucky award pointed out that she "lived in a section that knew nothing of services and clubs" but that she "served her community as few women do who serve through clubs and organizations."

It added: "Her home presented a picture of hard work, love and thirst for knowledge with this thirst carried to fulfillment in every child. "It was a very poor home materially speaking; it was a rich home in every value that counts and the influence of that home is" (See Story No. 1, Page 5)

Photographed in Lexington shortly after she had been named Kentucky's 1960 Mother of the Year, Mrs. Minnie Cornett Moore, front, is shown with her husband and nine children. From left, second row, are Mrs. Cordell Martin, Hudman; Mrs. Harris Parke, Jr., Brinkley, and Mrs. Clarence Francis, Brinkley; third row, Earl Moore, Hindman; Circuit Judge John Chris Cornett, Mallie; County Clerk DuRan Moore, Prestonsburg; fourth row, Rudolph Moore, Three Rivers, Mich.; Mason Moore, Martin; Dr. Dempsey Moore, Frankfort, and Mrs. Moore's husband, Marson Moore.

The Board, in the absence of budgeted funds, could not commit itself to any written agreement. It was not asked for a verbal agreement.

The Parent-Teacher Association and its committee asked a contribution from the Board of $9,594.16, and pointed out that the investment would mean an improvement to the school property of an estimated worth of $64,856.14, including the basic construction for six additional classrooms. The bonds would be non-interest-bearing and would be retired through proceeds of concessions, an annual bowl game and two gymnasium events a year.

The Board accepted the new Martin and Allen buildings which include accommodations for a lunchroom, two classrooms, a band room and toilets at Martin and a lunchroom, two classrooms and toilets at Allen. Other items of business transacted included:

1. Requisition on the State Department to purchase six 60-passenger school buses for the county system.
2. Set the sheriff's fee for collection of school taxes at the usual figure, 2%.
3. Bought extra fire alarm equipment for various schools.
4. Asked the federal government's permission to use as storage rooms two buildings acquired from the Department of Health and Welfare and placed at Allen.
5. Asked the State Department's approval of building a new school structure to replace the Lafferty school which burned last fall on Bul Creek.

(An Editorial — No. 4 in a Series)

Eastern Kentucky needs many things, and one of its most urgent needs is a junior college in Floyd county.

Higher education has always been a problem to the greater number of high school graduates in this area. Hundreds of young women and men could continue with higher education if a junior college were located here, easily accessible and making available an education at no great outlay of money.

Unless something is done soon, college doors will be closed to hundreds, perhaps thousands, simply because there isn't room. Pikeville College is the nearest institution of higher learning to Floyd county and a huge surrounding area. And at the opening of the current school year Pikeville College was forced to turn away 89 students.

County school superintendents have told us that a two-year, or junior, college in this area would double the number of students attending college from this part of the state. And it is obvious that the number should be doubled—as matters now stand, less than 8% of high school graduates attend college.

THE UNTOUCHABLE

We would be the last parent in the world to point out to students away from home new approaches to the old man about money, but we heard about an exchange between a student and his old man that was reasonably amusing and not too helpful to any boy who may want to call on yours truly. The boy had used up his supply of conventional approaches to the subject, so he wrote his father, this wise:

"Guess what I must have as soon as possible? You are so right, and I wish you would send it soon."

But look what the old grouch wrote in reply:

"Now aren't you the cute one? I've seen Nothing like your letter since I went to college. Write us another soon. Your anNOyed Dad."

TAKE WARDROBE INVENTORY NOW

Spring seems to be here at last and it's time to take those spring and summer clothes out of storage.

The first step toward a satisfactory warm-weather wardrobe for your family is to take inventory of the clothes on hand. Have each member of the family list each item of his or her clothing that has been worn in the past two years; divide the list into "keep-as-is,"
 "repair," "restyle," and "discard columns.

Consider the time and cost involved in repairing or restyling a garment; is it worth the effort? If not, that item belongs in the "discard" column. Those items listed as "discard," as well as those that have not been worn in the past two years, do not belong in your closets;

 they only take up needed space.

Before throwing away those un-wearable garments, check for good material that might be cut into another garment, such as a weskit from an old skirt, a jumper from your husband's suit, or a skirt for your little girl from your skirt. Material for accessories, such as hats, gloves, scarves and bags, also can be salvaged from old garments. But if you cannot use the material, give the garments to someone who can or throw them away, don't hang them in the storage closet.

The inventory list should now show you just what clothing each family member has for spring and summer wear. Using this list, you can plan what other garments are needed for warm-weather activities.
 The inventory also will help in color and style selections; new clothes should be chosen to mix and match with those already on hand, to further expand the wardrobe at less expense.

Keep in mind where each member of the family goes, what he does and what he likes and dislikes when deciding on clothing needs.
 Clothes for the most frequent activities and the inventory, you can plan what and how many new clothes are needed when. This can help spread clothing spending over a longer period.

Using the wardrobe inventory to plan for each family member's spring and summer wardrobe will save time when shopping, prevent spur-of-the-moment buying of garments that are not needed, and lead to a better-coordinated wardrobe without upsetting the clothing budget.

CHOOSE PATTERNS WISELY

Pleasing results with spring redecorating can depend on your choice of pattern in home furnishings items.

Many colorful and interesting patterns are available on the furnishings market this spring. A wisely-chosen pattern can add charm and beauty to your home.

Remember to keep a balance of plain and patterned areas in each room; plain areas compliment the patterned ones. Keep in mind that your furniture, pictures and accessories make patterns against the walls even before wallpaper, rugs and fabrics are added.

One large-scale, distinct pattern is enough for one room. Two distinct patterns in strong colors compete with each other when placed in the same room. Small-scale patterns, stripes or twed often may be used in the same room with one large-scale pattern.

Bright colors in a pattern shout for your attention; a gay, lively pattern gives a room a cheerful appearance. Soft, pastel colors in a pattern only "shisper," this demanding less attention; they create a restful room.

Not all rooms need a large, distinct pattern to be attractive.

Many rooms achieve their beauty through well-chosen colors and textures rather than through pattern.

The period of your furniture can be a guide in choosing patterns.
 Small provincial prints, with such figures as medallions, go well with Early American furnishings. Plaids, stripes, rectangles and squares combine satisfactory with modern furnishings; larger florals and scenic prints often compliment period furnishings.

FEEDER PIG SALE
 The East Kentucky Feeder Pig Association is holding their spring sale May 4, at Flemingsburg. Floyd county farmers were active in organizing the association, and have participated in some of the sales.

Anyone in Floyd county is eligible to sell through the sale. This may be a very good time to consider this sale. There is a large number of pigs in the county, and the local demand is not too strong.

Before the sale there will be a 4-H and F. F. A. show. Some attractive prize money is available for the boys and girls.

For further information contact the Extension office.

Anatomical Detective Work Makes Possible
 Bones Identification

Lexington, Ky., March 29 — A painstaking bit of anatomical detective work has made it possible to identify partial human remains from the vicinities of Whitesburg and Irvine.

University of Kentucky anthropologist Charles Snow, Tuesday identified the incomplete skeletons of five individuals as those of long-dead Indians.

The analysis was requested to see if the bones were those of victims of foul play.

Three of the skeletons were found in a cave near Whitesburg Feb. 29.
 The others were found under a cliff projection near Irvine two weeks ago.

Snow estimated the bones are 300 to 600 years old, but said he couldn't be more exact now because of a lack of information about the burial sites.

Snow, who gained national recognition for his identification of World War II dead, drew the praise of fellow scientists for his work.

Here is Snow's analysis of the physical characteristics of the five individuals, based on an examination of the bones and teeth:

1. This woman might be called "the ugly Indian." She also suffered from painful afflictions, including a bad bone inflammation, arthritis and dental cavities and abscesses.

She was about 28 when she died,
 and, judging from the pelvic bones,
 had had her share of children.

Her face was misshapen—larger on the left than on the right—and a knee condition probably made it necessary for her to drag one leg.

2. A muscular male, about 35 or 40. He was 5-foot-3, or 5-foot-4, heavy set, and had better teeth than the woman. His face also was lopsided, possibly because of muscular disorder or an injury.

His teeth were well worn and indicate a primitive diet. This male also suffered from arthritis and dental trouble.

3. A 14 or 15-year-old girl. Snow only had a handful of bones for study, but was able to determine the age and sex from a few tiny fragments.

One was the head of an arm bone and the other was a single finger bone which showed signs of growth immaturity.

He determined the sex from a piece of chin bone and the sharp upper edge of an eye socket.

The Irvine skeletons are those of males. One was about 25 or 30, the other 40.

Both were bigger than the Whitesburg Indians.

Corvair named "CAR OF THE YEAR"

"Four-wheel independent suspension totally unlike any other U.S.-built car" . . . "air-cooled aluminum engine . . . not dependent on the properties of a liquid coolant" . . . a rear-mounted transaxle "allowing a flatter floor and a lower roofline. . . ." These are some of the praises heaped upon Corvair by the editors of Motor Trend—the world's largest general automotive magazine—in announcing their coveted Car-of-the-Year award. Other cars didn't even come close. The Motor Trend experts, who evaluated every make in the country, were unanimous in their decision, published in the April issue. But, unless you have personally driven a Corvair, you can't appreciate what this engineering achievement really means in combining compact car economy and agility with big car ride, room and sure-footedness. COLEMAN TO HAWKS?

The colorful and record-breaking college athletic career of Wayland's famed Kelly Coleman may have come to a conclusion with the exiting of the "King" from Wesleyan College for a breach of training rules last month.

Kelly broke every record in the Wesleyan basketball book in his three-year stint. After the recent N.O.A. tournament the Wayland wizard was crowned an All-American and then was canned shortly thereafter.

The stormy and epic career of Kelly has been one of brilliancy. He has been a player who, if held under 20 points in one game, has had a "bad" night. Coleman has had few bad nights and had, up to his dismissal, sparked a colorless group to a fine season.

The latest word concerning Kelly indicates that he plans next year to play professional basketball, preferably with the St. Louis Hawks.

The Hawks, now in desperate need of a first-rate guard since Slater Martin plans to retire, may welcome Kelly to their club. Kelly's deadeye one hander will be something to see—if he should make the team. They need someone to take the pressure off backcourtmen Lovellette, Pettit and Hagen.

HUGHES HITS HOMER

Lowell Hughes, ex-Prestonsburg high school great, clouted a home run for the University of Kentucky baseball team last Saturday in leading his team to a victory over Transylvania College.

Hughes, now playing first and nursing a bad knee, has tentative plans on joining the professionals this summer. Professional football may yet win Hughes, who has been courted by several National Football League teams.

Bobby Dodd, Georgia Tech football coach, terms Hughes the outstanding defensive backfieldman in the Southeastern Conference last year.

WRIGHT ALL-OPPONENT TEAM

The all-opponent team of the Wheelwright Trojans, released this week by Coach Don Wallen, consisted of Sargent, of Ashland, Gibson, of Carr Creek, Ratliff and Weems, of Pikeville, Conley, of Martin, Trusty, of Garrett, Ward and Setser, of Meade Memorial, Tackett, of Virgie, Fannin, of Sandy Hook, McCoy, of McDowell, Gray, of Wayland.

OSBORNE SPARKS HILLTOPPERS

Charlie Osborne, son of Bill Osborne, of Prestonsburg, led Western's basketball team in five departments of play, official and final team statistics reveal.

A mainspring in the Hilltoppers' 21-7 record, Osborne led in total points (497), average per game (17.8), field-goal percentage (.512), free-throws made (189) and free-throw percentage 20 or more (.801).

Osborne also was second in rebounds with 281. Sophomore Harry Todd led this department with 297. All five starters hit better than .680 on free throws.

All five also averaged better than 10 points a game. Trailing Osborne and Rascoe were Al Ellison with a 14.0 average; Todd, 12.8, and Don Parsons, 10.2.

Osborne and guard Rascoe were named to the Sugar Bowl tournament elite five, and Osborne was named this past year to the All-Ohio Valley Conference team.

BASEBALL'S PAUL BUNYAN

A baseball trade I wouldn't mind hearing of: Ed Bailey and Gus Bell being traded for Frank Howard, newly created problem boy of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The 6-7 Paul Bunyan giant can smash a ball so far it is funny to relate the distance. One ball traveled a full half-mile, counting the distance on the fly, plus roll. The ball disappeared over the center field fence and alighted on a down-grade, paved hill. When the ball stopped rolling, it had traveled a half-mile.

This powerhouse could single-handedly destroy the laundry across the street from the left field fence at Crosley Field. This guy is so powerful that last year, in the high minors, where a smog hung about 100 feet over the infield, Howard's pop-ups, if they were never seen after long flights into the stratosphere, were called homers.

He's powerful enough to put the ball in orbit.

SPORTS CHATTER

By GORDON MOORE

In a poll conducted by the state's two largest daily newspapers, Wheelwright's Bobby Vickers and Pikeville's Don Ratliff were named members of the all-state high school basketball team in the Lexington tally and members of the second team in the Louisville poll.

Vickers, who has indicated he will enroll at West Virginia University or St. Louis University next season, had previously signed a grant-in-aid at the University of Alabama, and was the only Floyd countian named to any of the teams.

Morehead-bound Ratliff was tabbed by the coaches and sportscasters taking part in the poll as the No. 1 player in the 15th region over the past season. The runner-up was a tie between Vickers and Paul Setser, of Meade Memorial. Roy Fannin Sandy Hook, was adjudged the fourth-ranking player in the area.

MY PLATFORM

As a candidate for member Floyd County Board of Education I take this means to let you know what I stand for:

I stand for teachers being paid every cent the law allows.

I am for teachers teaching their home school if they want it, and not send them to some remote place in the county because they don't vote your way.

I am not endorsing any one, no one is running me, I will work with any Board or Superintendent as long as they are in the right. I will oppose them just as strongly if I think them wrong.

The good people of my district will be my boss.

Yours truly,

D. R. (Dick) Robinson

AN ABBOTT CREEK SCHOOL 40 YEARS AGO

Urban Renewal Stressed To Clean Up, Modernize Small Cities and Towns

Senator John Sherman Cooper recently stressed the opportunity for small cities, as well as large, to clean up and modernize old and blighted sections of their communities by taking advantage of local Federal programs in the field of urban renewal.

Speaking at the 29th Annual National Housing Conference in Washington, D. C., the Kentucky legislator stated that smaller communities can do as much relatively as Louisville and Lexington have accomplished in this respect. He spoke on a platform with Speaker Sam Rayburn of the House of Representatives and Senator John Sparkman, Chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Housing.

In urging the communities of Kentucky to take advantage of existing programs, Senator Cooper declared that his office would gladly lend aid to officials who wish to provide better housing for their communities.

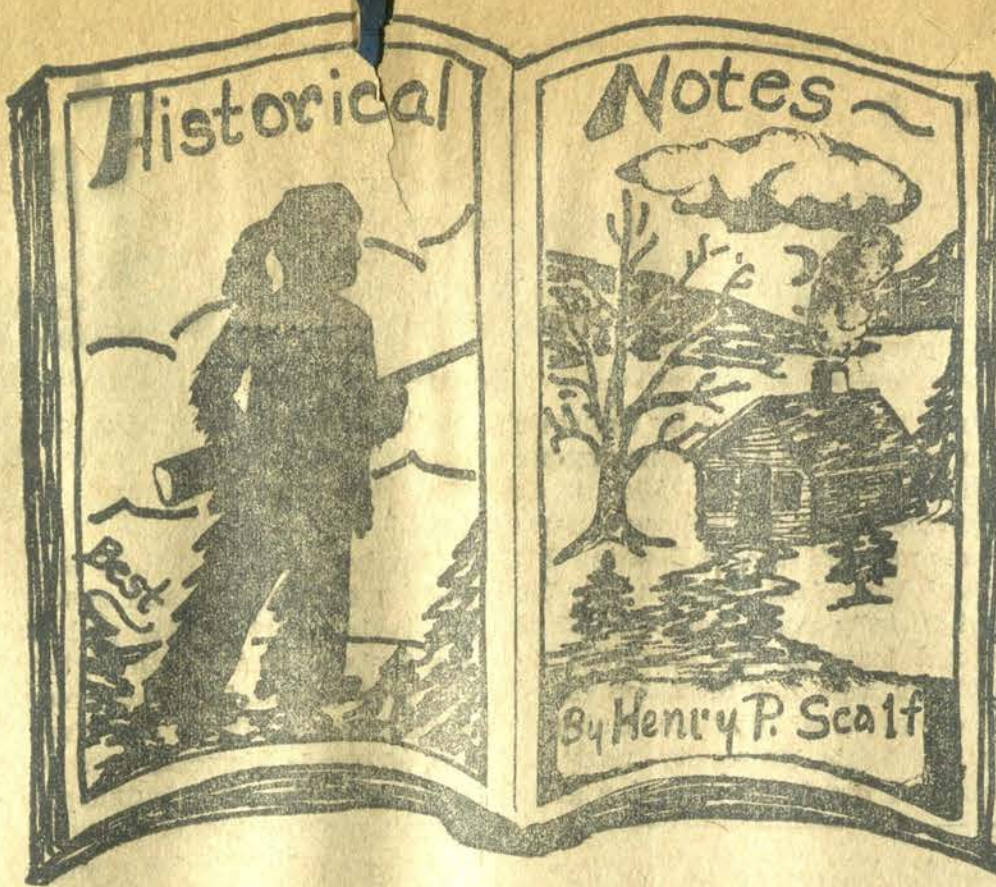

Advocating opportunity in housing for all American citizens if they are to "have a fair start in life and an opportunity to develop to their full capacities," Senator Cooper pointed out that large and small cities have found the cost of services to blighted areas greater than to areas with decent housing. He added that, with the flight of population to suburban areas, they have found the "loss in tax revenue falls heavily on businesses and residents in better sections."

Senator Cooper praised the Conference for its work in the field of slum clearance, urban renewal and low-cost housing. He noted that good progress had been made in this program for "better living conditions to make better Americans."

"Over 2 million people now live in low-cost housing projects," Senator Cooper said, "and, in the last six years, decent safe homes have been provided for 800,000 people."

Pointing up the opportunities for improvement, Cooper cited the fact that, since 1953, communities with urban renewal programs had increased from 180 to 417, projects actually under way from 61 to 364, and funds set aside for urban renewal projects from $350,000,000 to $1,400,000,000.

STRATTON FAMILY

A letter from Mrs. Lester Martin, Route 1, Alma, Kansas, notes that she is a granddaughter of Lindsay Stratton, Floyd county native and Kansas pioneer. She is compiling information on the Stratton family. She writes:

"I have for some time been interested in gathering material on my mother's family tree. Yesterday I was visiting my sister who lives near Wamego, Kansas, and I expressed the desire that I intended to get started some time in the near future.

"My sister thought perhaps she had something that would help me get started. She gave me copies of The Floyd County Times that had such stories as '104-Year-Old Harmon House,' and 'Aunt Alice's Meeting Held On 43rd Anniversary.' She thought the copies were the property of Mrs. Virginia Huey, Wamego, Kansas.

"I am a granddaughter of the Lindsay Stratton, son of Solomon and Jennie Layne Stratton, who left Kentucky right after the Civil War. I never knew my grandparents. My mother's name was Hattie Florence, youngest child, I think, of Lindsay. She died when she was 45 years old. I was only nine years old at the time. I guess, perhaps, I am the youngest grandchild of Lindsay Stratton. I am now 45 years old. My sister and I were my mother's only children but my sister is 17 years older than I."

WRITING AUTOBIOGRAPHY

Occasionally Dr. Gordon Wilson, head of English department, Western State College, Bowling Green, takes time out to write this column. He is the author of the column, Tid-Bits of Kentucky Folklore, that has been running in most Kentucky weekly newspapers for years.

Although retired, Dr. Wilson is still a very busy man. He writes:

"Since my retirement, last August 9, I have written extensively on an autobiography, at the special request of my president, Mr. Thompson. In the last several months of my teaching I kept a diary just for him, to recount some things about our school that I felt should be preserved as a sort of local history and my own part in the half century of my life here. He liked it so much that he insisted that I keep on. As a result, I have typed 500 pages like this, double-spaced, and am far from being through. I hope to rearrange my material and get the whole copy ready for publication, maybe; at least, it will not hurt to have it in our archives at Western.

"In general, I cannot follow one course too long without getting tired and without using up whatever inspiration I may have. Hence, I have two other projects at which I work all the time: (1) I am adding to my studies of birds here and at Mammoth Cave National Park; (2) I am working on a very long and exhaustive study of the folk language of the Mammoth Cave region. I hope to have a monograph ready for publication within a year or less. In these winter days I have worked from 40 to 75 hours a week on the study and have had a great time. I have several well-trained helpers, who are conscious of the value of this philological study. The American Dialect Society, of which I have long been a member, publishes such studies and is piling them back for a real dialect dictionary."

SMITH FAMILY

Miss Mildred deWeir Smith, of the newsroom of the Shreveport (La.) Journal, is working on the Smith family tree. She wrote Mrs. Irma Wicker Haney, of Hodgenville, Ky., who relays the letter to this column. Perhaps its publication will elicit information for the Louisiana newspaper woman.

Citizens Group Advises Combs On State Parks

A citizens committee on state parks is advising Governor Bert T. Combs and Parks Commissioner Edward V. Fox on proposals to expand and improve Kentucky's park system.

The governor says the committee "will help us bring into focus the things Kentucky must do in order to have one of the finest park systems in the nation."

Combs has declared that income from the tourist and travel industry is an important part of Kentucky's economy. With good accommodations and facilities, the state can encourage not only Kentuckians but also out-of-state visitors to use the parks as vacation spots and vacation areas, Combs believes.

He expressed complete confidence in the members of the citizens committee; chairman Henry Ward and John Ed Pearce, Louisville, and Herndon J. Evans, Lexington.

Ward, general manager of the Louisville Chamber of Commerce, was commissioner of conservation from 1949 to 1955 and helped raise the park system to its present status. Originally a newspaperman at Paducah, he was instrumental in the early development of the Kentucky Lake area as one of the state's outstanding recreational playgrounds. He has served in both houses of the General Assembly.

Pearce, an editorial writer for the Louisville Courier-Journal has long taken an active interest in the parks program and its development. During the past few years he has traveled over the entire state visiting and observing Kentucky's many parks and shrines.

Evans, editor of the Lexington Herald and former publisher of the Pineville Sun, played a prominent part in creation of the Mountain Laurel Festival at Pine Mountain State Park, held this year May 26-28. He has been actively engaged in development of this park and other parks and shrines in Eastern Kentucky.

Kentucky will be host to the nation's livestock auction market owners who hold their 1960 congress at Lexington, June 22-25.

An outstanding rating was received by all those taking part. There were 50 girls in the chorus and 15 boys in the boys' ensemble. Maytown also had several boys and girls in the All-Festival Chorus and All-Festival Band which gave a concert Saturday night. We all feel Mrs. Thomas Patrick has done wonders with our young people.

Alcohol Alone Will Not Cause Alcoholism
By J. Collis Ringo, Executive Director Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism

Milton Golin, assistant to the editor of the American Medical Association Journal, in a recent article pointed out that a great majority of drinkers cannot acquire the disease of alcoholism. The disease is a fickle tyrant, choosing one drinker out of 16 over whom it is able to exert complete control.

Alcoholism takes one out of 16 as masters take slaves, literally enslaves them to the bottle while the other 15 drink through a lifetime without compulsive or addictive symptoms. Any true alcoholic drinks compulsively, even against his will.

Some advocates of controls have advanced the theory that alcohol is an addictive drug, comparable to morphine.

A New York City physician, purely in the interest of medical science, set out to prove with his own body that alcohol was as addictive as any narcotic. He loaded the trunk of his car with cases of whiskey and drove to an isolated cabin in New England. There, day after day and night after night, he drank and sang and sang and drank. At the end of one solid month of inebriation, when this doctor returned to his office to measure his cravings and physical dependency upon alcohol as a drug, only one thing was certain: He did not want to look at liquor for the rest of his life.

What this experiment did prove (and the proof is not new) was that alcoholism cannot be implanted in simply anyone by physiological means alone. A multiplicity of other conditions are also disease factors.

Repeated studies of thousands of case histories show a fairly set pattern in the development of alcoholic illness. The one in 16 who become confirmed alcoholics, compulsive drinkers, exhibit symptoms of a pre-disposition to this ailment long before addiction takes hold.

The person who possesses the type of individuality which predisposes to addiction to alcohol apparently has some psychological or metabolic disorder which sets him apart. Once the affected individual accepts this fact the battle for recovery is half over.

This is the first step in the suggested program for recovery of Alcoholics Anonymous, a lay organization which has had striking success in this field.

PRESENT GIFTS TO LIBRARY
The Maytown Woman's Club was honored with a coffee by Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, librarian of Maytown high school, March 28, in the school library. The occasion was marked by the club's presentation to the library of a copy of the famous statue, Winged Victory. The librarian had arranged for an engraved nameplate to be attached to the statue, stating that it had been presented by the Maytown Woman's Club.

Since the club's founding in 1951, one of its strongest interests has been the school library. Under the direction of Mrs. Baker, the high school library is a model of what a small school library can be.

Along with replica of the famous Greek sculpture, the club gave a small copy of the equally famous The Thinker.

Lexington, Ky.—The technical assistance study teams—TAST—used by the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service to get up-to-date information for Kentucky farmers, will be employed again this year.

Mock Nuclear Attack To Test C. D. Readiness
All departments of state government will participate in Operation Alert 1960 conducted by Kentucky's Division of Civil Defense, May 3-5.
State Adjt. Gen. Arthur Lloyd, Kentucky C. D. director, is in charge of the operation. Colonel L. J. Reed, chief C. D. radiological monitor for the exercise, said every state department will have a representative at the control center in the National Guard Armory at Frankfort.
William Reynolds, test officer of Region 2, U. S. Office of Civil Defense Mobilization, Olney, Md., has brought to Kentucky C. D. officials control elements of the monitoring exercise which will be sent to radiological monitors in 71 communities. This includes simulated radiological meter readings which local monitors must interpret and message back to the control center.
Also, sealed observer reports will be fed beforehand to certain points on simulated objects in the sky from which interpretations must be made concerning the size, direction and target of the simulated missile and message to the control center.
All this, Colonel Reed says, brings more people into the exercise and tests the means of communications, which include about 40 amateur radio stations, State Police and Highway Department short wave radio systems and teletype systems, telephone and commercial teletype systems.
Kentucky's 18 conelrad radio stations will carry a conelrad alert from 2 to 2:30 p.m., May 3, the first 20 minutes of which will consist of federal C. D. directions and the next 10 minutes of state directions.
Each of Kentucky's 120 counties has a radiological monitoring unit with equipment, Reed said.
Official activity of cities and counties in the alert will be left up to their officials, Reed said.

CANECR FUND DRIVE BEGINS
Wheelwright Woman 1960 Crusade Leader; Volunteer Help Given
Mrs. Roy Souleyrette, of Wheelwright, has been chosen to direct the 1960 Cancer Crusade in Floyd county, it was announced this week at the Louisville state headquarters of the American Cancer Society.
Accepting the chairmanship of the annual educational and fund-raising drive, which began April 1, Mrs. Souleyrette urged "all public-spirited citizens of our community to make this a full-scale offensive against cancer."
April has been designated cancer control month by presidential proclamation. Throughout the month volunteers will distribute life-saving information to every home in Floyd county, the chairman said. She added:
"Of course, cancer control is a year-round program. But this is the time of the year when we go all out to try to save more lives, and it's the time when we ring door bells and collect funds to sustain the ever-increasing momentum of war against this ancient enemy of mankind." At the present rate, 265,000 lives are claimed by cancer every year.
The following leaders in launching April's cancer crusade have volunteered to help: Mrs. Fred Hall, Wayland; Mrs. N. D. Howard, Wayland; Mrs. Gorman Collins, Prestonsburg; and Miss Ruby Akers, Drift.

OSBORN FAMILY
An interesting letter from Mrs. Ethel Tangye, of Wayland, notes that she is a missionary from Seattle, Wash., and wants to locate relatives through the Osborn and other families.
"My great-grandfather, Jeremiah Osborn, was born on Greenbrier River, Greenbrier county, Va., in 1757, came to Kentucky and married Lucy McDaniels. He joined the United States Army under General Jackson and participated in the Battle of New Orleans.
"After the war they moved to Clarke county, Ohio, lived there until 1834. His wife died there in 1818. In 1834 he moved with sons, Benjamin and Wallingford, to Coles county, Illinois, where he died three days later at the age of 76.
"He had ten children, to wit: McDaniel, Hulday (who married Charles Shaw), Martha (who married Thomas Segar), John, Joseph, Benjamin, Sarah (married John Cooper), Mar (who married William White), Winnie (who married Peter Olinger) and my grandfather, Wallingford Osborn, born May 20, 1816. Lucy McDaniels, the wife of Jeremiah Osborn, was born in Kentucky. Her father, Ben McDaniels, was born in Ireland.
"I would be grateful if you would print this. I might locate a relative. I am alone here and it would mean so much to me."
