This Town-- That World

I'll give you a blow by blow description of what ails me—if you'll supply the fresh handkerchiefs.

WHERE THE PAGES WENT

Those other four, six or eight pages usually making up your weekly edition of The Floyd County Times were RESERVED this week for advertisers who didn't advertise.

HE TOOK LITTLE FROM HOME

Many the editorial has been written—and we've contributed a few such ourselves—about the natural resources of our region and how little they have been developed for the benefit of our people. But of them all, perhaps the most eloquent is that of Henry W. Grady, famed editor of The Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution, in his "Pickens County Funeral." We reprint it in full.

I attended a funeral once in Pickens county in my state. A funeral is not usually a cheerful object to me unless I can select the subject. I think I could, perhaps, without going a hundred miles from here, find the material for one or two cheerful funerals. Still, this funeral was peculiarly sad.

It was a poor "one gallus" fellow. (See Story No. 4, Page 8)

TRUCK DRIVER AUTO VICTIM

Former Betsy Layne Man Named In Pike Mishap; Examination Is Waived

Ed Christian, 35, of Pikeville, waived examining trial Tuesday last week on an involuntary manslaughter charge and was held to the Pike county grand jury under $2,500 bond. The charge against Christian resulted from an auto-truck accident at Shelbyville, Jan. 23, in which George Williams, 35, Paintsville, was killed.

Williams was driving a pick-up truck. He died at 12:50 p.m. Monday of last week at the Pikeville Memorial hospital. Leonard Music, 34, of Mealy, Johnson county, a passenger in the Williams truck, was treated for injuries at the hospital but later released.

Injured in the auto driven by Christian were Jean Hypes, 21, and Beulah May Parsons, 20. Miss Hypes was released after treatment at a hospital but Miss Parsons was still hospitalized at the week-end with leg, head and other injuries.

Christian, a former Betsy Layne man, was arrested on a drunken-driving warrant after being treated at the hospital. He is a representative of the Retail Clerks International Union. He led a strike against the Hobbs chain store system in this area about a year ago.

County Attorney John Paul Runyon said Beulah May Parsons' family lives at Millard and that he was told that Christian, who comes to Pikeville on week-ends, was driving the two women to Millard where Jean Hypes intended to visit as a guest of Beulah May Parsons.

Trooper Lonnie Leach, of the Kentucky State Police, said a 1959 model sedan, heading east and driven by Christian, cut from the south side of the highway to the north side and into the path of the westbound pick-up truck driven by Williams.

Zone Highway Building Goes To Morehead; Floyd Had Sought Structure

The State Highway Department's Zone IV engineering building, which Floyd county had hoped to land, will be built at Morehead.

This final decision was announced last week by Highway Commissioner Earle C. Clements. The commissioner's statement was made in connection with the announcement that bids received on construction of the zone engineering office structure were too high and that the project will be re-advertised.

Actually, Clements explained Morehead has the zone office structure clinched because bonds sold to pay for the building costs carry a lien against the state-owned site there. This site was purchased during the Chandler administration by the Rowan fiscal court and conveyed to the state. After that, the bonds were printed, with the site provided as security, the bonds were sold on that premise, and now there is nothing that can be done to change the location, if there indeed was a desire to make such a change.

The zone office will within a few years employ 400 to 500 persons, if the suggestions made in the Crifenhagen Report are followed.

TWO PERSONS ORDER 87,500 FOREST TREES

Huge Conservation Job Planned By Landowners; Eight Ponds Scheduled

The largest order for forest tree seedlings in this county and one of the largest in Eastern Kentucky was made recently by Mrs. Osa F. Ligon and H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., of Prestonsburg. They ordered 87,500 trees from the Kentucky Division of Forestry for planting on their extensive land holdings, chiefly in the Middle Creek section.

In addition to setting the trees they will construct eight wildlife and fish ponds of at least one-half acre in area. The Division will stock the ponds in bluegill and bass.

The entire area scheduled to be planted in trees is placed in the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank program for 10 years. At the end of that period they may be thinned for timber growing purposes.

The ponds will be constructed as follows: four on Middle Creek, one on Abbott Creek, two at the mouth of Daniel's Creek near Banner and one at the mouth of Ivy Creek.

Included in the big conservation program envisioned by Mrs. Ligon and Fitzpatrick is the setting of 17,000 multiflora roses for wildlife cover. Also they will sow 22.3 acres in grass in the program.

Trees ordered are as follows: 51,000 white pine, 26,500 shortleaf pine and 10,000 poplar.

"I hope to prove that tree farming is profitable for Eastern Kentucky landowners," Fitzpatrick said.

Elder Goble, office manager of the local ASC committee, noted that the trees would be mature enough in 25 years for telephone or power poles.

BRIDGE BLAST CASE HEARD

In U. S. District Court At Pikeville; Unionists Are Letcher Residents

Four union men, charged with blasting an installation belonging to a non-union Letcher county coal operator went on trial at Pikeville Tuesday, but that the trial was not the finale of troubles in the Eastern Kentucky coal fields was pointed up by another blast the day before within sight of the Pike county court house.

Monday night's dynamiting ripped apart a coal-loading and preparation ramp belonging to the Dixie Mining Company. No one was injured but several thousand dollars worth of damages were incurred.

Accused in the Pikeville court of dynamiting a small Louisville & Nashville Railroad span over a creek near Whitesburg are Wid Peart, 28; Troy Holland, 36; Irvin "Peanuts" Napier, 31, and John Stidham, 51, all of Marlow, Letcher county.

They are charged with violating the federal train-wreck statute covering damage to property that could cause the wrecking of a train in interstate commerce.

The trial, before Judge Mac Swinford, is an aftermath of labor disputes accompanied by violence in several Eastern Kentucky counties beginning last March when the United Mine Workers of America contract expired.

Selection of the jury, with four alternates, was completed early in the afternoon, after which lengthy opening statements were made by District Attorney Jean L. Auxier, former Pike circuit judge, and the chief defense counsel, John Y. Brown, Lexington.

The bridge in question is on a railroad spur connecting the main line of the L. & N.'s Eastern Kentucky. (See Story No. 1, Page 8)

Conviction, Parole, Escape Feature Record of Man Taken To LaGrange

In 1952 Bill Johnson, 26, of Goodloe, was sentenced in the Floyd Circuit Court for shooting at without wounding miners at Caney Creek during strike trouble at the David mine of the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company. Today (Thursday) he was being returned to LaGrange Reformatory as a parole violator but in between was a long story of entanglement with the law.

He was paroled in 1955 on the Caney Creek shooting charge but was soon afterward indicted in the Floyd Circuit Court for child desertion. This made him technically

Ordination, Installation Of Elders and Deacons At Presbyterian Church

On Sunday, Jan. 31, a service of ordination and installation of ruling elders and deacons was conducted at the First Presbyterian Church of Prestonsburg. Rainley White was ordained and installed as ruling elder. Gene Matthis, of David, and James Wesley Howard were ordained and installed as deacons. W. V. Bunting, having been previously ordained as a deacon, was installed for a three-year term of service. Due to sickness, E. R. Burke will be installed for a three-year term of service as ruling elder, at a later date.

FLU VICTIM NUMBER RISES

Health Group Head Says; Subsidence Report Error, Clark Notes This Week

For a seven-day period between last Friday and the preceding Friday, the number of flu victims almost doubled in comparison to the previous seven-day period. Montain Clark, Floyd county Health Administrator, said this week.

The recent flu epidemic has subsided but has taken a second spurt, according to figures reported by Floyd county doctors. The latest report covers Jan. 22 to the 29.

The rise in patients treated is reflected in these figures: Prestonsburg General hospital, from 30 to 120; Our Lady of the Way hospital, from 42 to 74; Dr. J. A. Stumbo, in Martin and vicinity, from 30 to 210; Wheelwright, as reported by Dr. Russell Hall, from 100 to 244; Beaver Valley hospital, from 40 to 70; McDowell Memorial hospital, from 40 to 96.

Four or five cases of pneumonia were reported by Dr. J. J. Sherman at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Clark said. One case of spinal meningitis, Clark said, was reported at Goodloe. The son of Dewey Shepherd, a student at the Open Fork School, was said to be suffering from the disease. One case of hepatitis was reported at Martin.

The office of the Superintendent of Schools said this week that none of the large schools have closed. However, among the smaller schools, Dwale and Upper Prater schools were said to be closed due to teacher shortage.

Auxier Jury Deadlocks At Paintsville; Trial Reset by Judge Sparks

A jury, reported itself hopelessly deadlocked after more than 3 hours' deliberation in the Halford Auxier rape case, was dismissed Friday by Circuit Judge W. D. Sparks at Paintsville.

Twice, after receiving the case, the court ordered the members to return to the jury room, the second time after repeating the instructions.

The slender, 51-year-old examiner, accused of assaulting his daughter, Rosella, in December, 1957, showed no emotion.

Rosella, a double amputee as a result of frostbite suffered after she left the home after the alleged attack, said she was "glad it was over."

She wore a pink sweater and checked skirt.

Judge Sparks, who expressed disappointment at the jury's failure, set the case for retrial at the next court term.

It was stated by a well-informed source that the jury stood 11 to one for acquittal.

Rosella sat with her mother and several of her 15 brothers and sisters when the end came.

She had testified that her father raped her three times since she was 12.

Auxier contended he was framed by members of his family for refusing to sign a $300 note for a son-in-law.

A parole violator so he was taken back to LaGrange.

Soon after being returned to the reformatory he escaped but was given a new term in LaGrange. Recaptured. Tried in Oldham county Circuit Court for this offense he again he was paroled and, according to Harry Hill, probationary and parole officer, he "just disappeared."

Then, a few weeks ago he was charged with breaking and entering an auto here in Prestonsburg and a warrant was issued for his arrest. Wednesday, he was apprehended by Deputy Sheriff Henry C. Slone on Middle Creek. He was taken back to the Reformatory by Hill.

PIKE TEACHER NEEDS STATE'S HIGHEST, SAID

Unfilled number of teaching positions in Kentucky total 181, according to a study recently released by the Department of Education. Many of the school systems have no vacancies but a few Eastern Kentucky counties lead with a high teacher wanted list.

The greatest number of unfilled positions in the state is in Pike county where there is a need for 21 teachers. Pike also ties with Harlan in the greatest number of emergency teachers. Both counties have filled teaching posts with 62 uncertified instructors.

Lawrence county crowds Pike for the dubious honor of second place for that county's school system needs 19 teachers, according to the survey. Floyd county is third with 12 unfilled positions and McCreary is fourth in state with a need for nine. Carter ranks fifth with seven unfilled places.

All of the counties in the state having the greatest number of unfilled positions, most of them requiring specialized education, are in the Eastern, mountainous end. Very few of the better-off counties economically have teacher needs.

Perry and Harlan counties, both hit hard by the lack of industry tied with teacher needs of five each.

Other Eastern Kentucky counties and their unfilled positions, follow:

Breathitt, Clay, Elliott, Johnson, Knott, Knox, Lee, Magoffin, Owsley, Powell, Rowan and Wolfe, none unfilled; Bell, Laurel, Menifee and Morgan, one each; Letcher, Martin, and Pulaski, two each; and Leslie, three each unfilled.

SLATED TVA STEAM PLANT MAY GO TO EASTERN AREA

Senator John Sherman Cooper announces a new TVA steam plant for the Eastern Kentucky area, comparable in size to the Paradise plant begun last fall in Muhlenberg county. Cooper said the first unit of the plant the President has recommended for the TVA eastern area would cost $100 million, and that the plant would ultimately provide a market for 4 million tons of Eastern Kentucky coal a year.

Senator Cooper pointed out that both mammoth plants were made possible by the TVA self-financing proposal which he recommended to the President, and fought for as a member of the Senate Committee on Public Works which handled the bill passed by the Congress last year. "I am glad that final passage of this bill is bringing these great benefits to the State of Kentucky," Cooper said.

His announcement follows: "I can give good news to the people and coal industry of Eastern Kentucky. Since passage last year of the TVA self-financing bill authorizing the construction of steam plants, I have urged the TVA board of directors to locate steam plants in Kentucky.

"Recently, with Congressman Chairman Herbert D. Vogel and Baker of Tennessee, I met with Mr. Arnold R. Jones of the TVA Board in Knoxville. The people of Eastern Kentucky will be glad to know that the President has recommended in his 1961 budget that the next TVA steam plant be located in the eastern area of the TVA system. A contract, amounting to $8,664,000, has already been let for equipment for the first steam unit of this plant. It is expected that this first unit will cost $100,000,000, will generate 500,000 KW, and that the plant will later be enlarged to a three or four-unit plant.

"The location for the new steam plant has not yet been determined, but it will be in southeastern Kentucky of eastern Tennessee. Sites in Eastern Kentucky are now being studied by the TVA. Among the engineering requirements are an adequate supply of water and coal, which I am sure we can furnish in southeastern Kentucky.

PIKE JUSTICE GETS WARNING

From Floyd-Co. Officials On Road Impairment; Log Trucking Damages, Said

A Floyd county court warned a Pike county court this week that it would not condone the impairment of a road.

Floyd County Judge Henry Stumbo and County Attorney Robert Wellman wrote a letter to Pike County Magistrate Keither Blackburn that his trucking of logs over the Mare Creek road was causing extensive damages.

The Floyd officials wrote: "We have been reliably informed that your truck operation in the hauling of timber on the Mare Creek road has caused extensive damage to the road and results in the roadway being impassable to ordinary vehicles to certain points. It is our belief that this would constitute obstructing a public passway.

"We request that you take immediate action and cause the roadway to be fixed in such a manner that the ordinary public can use it, otherwise, we will have no alternative except to take proceedings against you."

"The literature committee, Prestonsburg Council of churchwomen, is appealing to you as leaders in the community and as book and magazine dealers to lend a helping hand in the endeavor that the organization is continually working, to encourage worthwhile reading and in preventing the undesirable type from reaching our newstands," the committee wrote.

"The results from our efforts along these lines, these past few years, have been rewarding. This has been made possible only with the help and cooperation that you have given us. We are asking again that you not relent in your watchfulness of what goes on the newstand and in discouraging the buying of questionable books and magazines, particularly by our young people."

GUN BLAST KILLS DELONG

Former Justell Miner Victim Near Portsmouth; Brother-in-law Charged

Curtis DeLong, 45, former Justell miner, died instantly Wednesday night of last week from a shotgun blast at Ironton, Ohio. The weapon was said to have been fired by Chester Daniels, 35, also of Justell, and DeLong's brother-in-law, Sheriff Carl E. Rose, of Lawrence county, Ohio, said DeLong was found shot in the head at close range with a 12-gauge shotgun. DeLong's wife, Carole, also suffered severe head injuries from a gun blast and was treated at Lawrence county General hospital but released.

Daniels, in the Lawrence county jail at Ironton, has been charged with first degree murder. County Judge Irwin Bowen set his bond at $50,000. He is a former mental institution inmate addicted to climbing high bridges and threatening suicide.

The shooting took place in the DeLong's two-room house at a rural area called Middle Leatherwood about 12 miles southeast of Ironton. Members of the sheriff's department were dispatched to the scene by Ironton police, who received a call from DeLong's son, Danny, age unknown, at 10:34 p.m.

Young DeLong told city police his (See Story No. 2, Page 8)

Martin Bill To Change Compensation Law Passes State Senate By 28-4

The Senate passed and sent to the House, Monday night, a bill eliminating the one-year limit for refiled claims following discontinuance of workmen's compensation for occupational diseases. The vote was 28 to 4.

Senator Burnis Martin, of Floyd county, explained that for all workmen's compensation claims, except occupational diseases, the time limit for reopening awards is any time during the compensative period.

His bill, Martin said, was designed especially to permit silicosis awards to be reopened like other compensation claims.

The Senate also passed and sent to the House a bill allowing counties containing second-class cities to finance their law libraries from court costs in the same manner as now allowed counties containing cities. The vote was 31 to 0.

COUNCILMEN ASK ESTIMATE

On Sewer Plan Project From Bell Engineering; Garbage Truck Bought

The Prestonsburg City Council, in two meetings this week, transacted legislative and administrative business and did exploratory work on planning for a sewage disposal plant.

Wednesday evening the Council passed an ordinance providing for a dog pound and making it unlawful for dogs to run at large or be on the streets unless accompanied by the owner.

Monday evening the Council bought a used truck and end-loader from Lon Neley for $2,500 for use in garbage collection. The truck replaces the old city garbage truck and the end-loader will be used to gravel the road to the city dump. The state agreed to give the gravel without charge if the end-loader was bought.

Two representatives of Bell Engineering Company, Lexington, appeared before the Council Wednesday evening to discuss the sewage situation. This firm prepared an estimate in 1956 on the cost of constructing a treatment plant, pumping stations and needed sewer extensions. The Council agreed to reemploy the firm to bring this estimate up to date.

H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., member of the Prestonsburg-Paintsville Airport Board, gave an annual report of the work of the board. He reviewed the site selection work of his three-man group and noted that one or two proposed sites for the proposed airport had been ruled out, a proposed new site was being core drilled at present. He pointed out that his term for one year expires Feb. 16 and that it was the duty of the Council to appoint a successor. The Council deferred action on it.

Three men were hospitalized and two pick-up trucks were smashed Monday evening as the result of a police chase of the men that began at a service station in South Prestonsburg and ended at Knotley Hollow.

Hospitalized at St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, is Billy Gene McCoy, of East Point. Suffering from broken facial bones and perhaps a skull fracture, he was still unconscious Wednesday. Treated at the Prestonsburg General hospital were Edgar Gibson, 24, and Bill Smith, 37, both of Prestonsburg. Smith was not seriously injured but Gibson suffered multiple head and facial hurts.

Chief of Police Bill Potter and Policeman B. M. Thompson received a telephone call about 5 p.m. Monday offering the information that three men in a pick-up were drinking beside the road near Ball Alley curve. The two men drove in that direction but finding no one, pulled in at Palmer Patton's service station at Lancer. Seeing the men parked at the station, Potter got out and walked toward the truck. Occupants fled south in the truck but by the time the police had turned their car the truck was out of sight.

Potter and Thompson were about to give up the chase when an auto driven by an unidentified man pulled off the road near the Stephens sawmill and motioned them to keep up the pursuit.

In the meantime, according to witnesses, the pursued pick-up and another pick-up driven by Earnest Hayes, of Langley, collided north of the Benny Blackburn grocery but the three were able to continue south. Hayes said he saw the pick-up coming, drove off the road to avoid being struck but was hit anyway. Hayes was uninjured, it was said.

After the collision with the Hayes truck, Gibson, Smith and McCoy drove only a few hundred feet and smashed into the cliff near Knotley Hollow. One witness said he saw a body thrown 20 feet into the air. The pick-up turned over twice before stopping to face back north. All three men were thrown from the vehicle.

Potter and Thompson did not see the accident but arrived on the scene immediately after it occurred. Ownership of the truck, said to have been driven by McCoy, is in doubt. Trooper Bill Williamson of the State Police was investigating the title Tuesday at Pikeville as it had a Pike county tag. It was a 1954 Ford.

FOUR SUITS ASK $55,000 IN DAMAGES

Negligent Auto Driving, Other Allegations Named In Week-End Petitions

Four suits seeking the recovery of $55,000 in damages were filed over the week-end in Floyd Circuit court. Two of the suits were for $20,000 each, and two were for $10,000 and $5,000 each.

The two largest suits were filed by Florence L. Marshall, of Martin, against the Salsersville Grocery Company, and Oliver Hale, of the Middle Creek section, against Joe and Henry Hicks, Attorney J. B. Clarke represented both plaintiffs.

The Marshall suit alleges that the plaintiff's husband, C. R. Marshall, had to drive off the road to avoid being struck by one of the grocery firm's trucks and that she, a passenger, was thrown about in the interior of the car, suffering injuries, bruises and shock. She alleges "careless and reckless operation of the truck."

The Hale suit, also seeking $20,000 in damages, alleges that he was a passenger and guest of Joe Hicks in a car belonging to the defendant's father, Henry Hicks. In his petition he says that he and Hicks drove to Pat's Drive-In at Wheelwright and Hicks went in while he waited in the car. Suddenly Hicks rushed out and said, "Let's get away from here." Hale alleges that Hicks began to drive away so hurriedly that he lost control of the car about 50 feet from the restaurant and the auto wrecked. He pleads he was "severely injured, sustaining multiple bruises, broken bones, particularly of the neck."

A third suit, filed by Attorney Clarke, was a petition of Paris Moore, an aged McDowell woman, against Our Lady of the Way hospital. (See Story No. 3, Page 8)

Cub Scouts Contribute "Money Tree" To Dimes March

Cub Scouts of the First Methodist Church gave a Money Tree as their contribution to the March of Dimes. The presentation of the "tree" was made this week to the American Legion Post No. 129 that is heading the funds drive for the March of Dimes.

Raise More, Better Vegetables Is Layne Formula For Success

You can raise better and more beets and the world will beat a path to your door, to paraphrase the American philosopher who mentioned mousetraps.

Bill Layne, of Betsy Layne, did just that last year and the year before. He not only raised more and better beets for the home canning trade but he grew beans, both white and sweet potatoes, tomatoes, cabbage, turnips, strawberries and many other garden vegetables.

The world didn't have to beat a path to his door, it was already there in the form of U. S. 23 that passed his farm. He had an idea, the agricultural know-how and a willingness to work and try.

The beets were the pay-off. He sold 100 bushels last year, most of them at the farm. He pulled them to order. If you wanted 'em small for special use, he took them from the ground that way. If you needed large ones, he pulled them while you waited.

Bill wanted to make a living on the farm and he figured vegetables were most of the answer. Successful with beets, he tried many other vegetables. He sold 50 bushels of beans and 70 bushels of sweet potatoes. He doesn't have figures on the pea trade but he sold a huge amount at $1.00 per peck right at the farm.

"I can't begin to satisfy the market," Layne says. "Most of my customers stop and pick up what they want and nearly all come back again."

One thing Layne just can't seem to raise enough of are greens, particularly kale, rape and mustard. He knows how to raise it, too, as he knows how to raise potatoes. He planted one bag of Pontiac potatoes, raised 30 bushels. He planted a bag of Cobblers and raised 26½ bushels. Pretty good production, the county agent says.

Layne doesn't have all his eggs (or vegetables) in one basket, either. He keeps four cows, sells milk and butter. He raises the corn and lespezea to feed them and his work horses.

This spring, when you drive past the Layne farm, Bill Layne will be plowing. He will be getting ready for the vegetable trade with the road by his door.

Taxation Intent Behind Censuses Of Early Nations

The census taker is getting more personal all the time.

The ancient Romans simply counted noses and property, chiefly for the purpose of taxation, according to World Book Encyclopedia.

William the Conqueror compiled a little more information on who-owned-what when he decided to spread some parvoia, in the form of land, among his followers . . . at the expense of the nobility. When his officials finished adding up the English people and their possessions in 1086, they had two huge volumes called the Domesday Book.

European cities kept to the bare facts when they began to count their population in the 1400's and 1500's. The first such count was taken in Nuremberg, Germany in 1449.

Three hundred years later Sweden compiled the first national census, based on parish records.

In 1790 the fledgling U. S. government sent out 17 marshals and a few hundred assistants to count the population in order to provide a basis for taxing the states and to determine the number of representatives they would have in Congress.

The first great invasion of privacy occurred in 1850, when census takers began to write down the names of all people in the country. They also classified the population according to age, sex, race and place of birth.

Soon the "enumerators" were poking their noses into such matters as occupation, education, income, marital status and the fertility of women. In 1950 they wanted to know about your plumbing.

This year they're going to find out whether you're really keeping up with the Joneses. A sample of the population will be asked whether they own a washing machine, a clothes dryer, a food freezer and air conditioning . . . and the number of cars in the family garage.

Eligibility of Widows Of Veterans For Loans Is Discussed By Owen

A reminder was issued today by Olney B. Owen, manager, Veterans Administration Regional Office, Louisville, Ky., that the widow of a World War II or of a Korean-Conflict veteran may be eligible for a GI loan if the veteran's death was service-connected.

Furthermore, Owen said, the fact that the deceased veterans might already have obtained a GI loan does not effect the widow's eligibility for one.

However, if the widow herself is an eligible veteran, she accrues no additional GI loan rights because of her husband's death.

GI loan applications from such widows of World War II veterans must be filed by July 25, 1960, Korean-Conflict eligibility extends to Feb. 1, 1965.

Fiscal Court Members Liable For Dog Law

Members of a fiscal court may be held personally liable for failure by their county to comply with the Kentucky dog law.

This is pointed out by the State Department of Agriculture, which cites a recent opinion by the Court of Appeals.

It is possible, the court observed, for a claimant to have his claim refused by the State Livestock Fund, because his county did not appoint a dog warden and maintain a dog pound, as required by the law.

In such a case, the court held that the claimant is entitled to seek damages from the individual members of the fiscal court on the grounds that they "failed or neglected to perform a duty imposed on that body of which they are a member." The law also provides fines and imprisonment upon fiscal court members who fail to comply.

more than 500 early settlers and soldiers are buried in Pioneer cemetery at historic old Fort Harro in Harrodsburg.

FARM AND HOME WEEK

Your county agent attended Farm and Home Week held at the University of Kentucky last week. Everyone interested in rural life should plan to attend this conference. Not only does it offer an opportunity to learn of the latest development in farm and home improvement, but the exchange of ideas with other people from Kentucky is valuable.

The first day was devoted to leadership training. The future progress of Kentucky will depend on the ability of the leaders. This program was aimed at improving meetings. The people were seated at discussion tables, and discussed problems of holding and conducting meetings.

STRAWBERRY FERTILIZER

Strawberry fields should be fertilized in February. This practice is neglected by too many producers. Small berries at the end of the picking season is a good indication that the plant food supply is low. Be sure to use a fertilizer without any nitrogen such as 0-20-30 or 0-30-30. Use 700 pounds of 0-20-20 per acre. The fertilizer should be broadcast over the entire field. Apply when plants are dry, so the fertilizer won't stick to plants. Don't make the mistake of applying manure to strawberry fields that will produce this year. The nitrogen in the manure will produce soft, watery berries. Manure can be used more profitably on garden and corn fields.

FAMILY GARDEN PROGRAM

To improve the family gardens in Eastern Kentucky, a family garden improvement program is to be conducted this year. This program is set up on the order of the corn leafy. Gardens will be judged by a committee, to select the top garden in the county. Then a district winner will be selected from the county winners.

The program offers a great opportunity in Floyd county where gardening is the main farm activity. Those enrolling in the program will receive the very latest information from the University of Kentucky, to help them improve their vegetable production.

More information will be available after the county committee meets and sets up policy to follow.

4-H POULTRY CHAIN

The Floyd County 4-H Council is again sponsoring the poultry chain in 1960. Ten club members will receive 100 baby chicks each. These club members will carry this as their project and agree to return twelve pullets at County Fair time to be shown and sold at auction.

The ten members will be selected from applications turned in to club leaders or the Extension office. Any club member interested in the project should contact the Extension office at once.

4-H STRAWBERRY PROJECT

The Sears Roebuck Foundation is again sponsoring the strawberry project in Floyd county. Twenty-five club members will receive 1,000 plants, fertilizer, and chlordan. These club members will be selected by the 4-H Council from applications submitted by the members.

Any club member that is interested in applying for this project they should contact the Extension office.

FEBRUARY LANDSCAPE

Now is the time to take stock of your roses. They should now be inspected for treatment or replacement. As a rule, rose plants ten years or older do not usually produce many flowers.

All roses require two things if they are to bloom as they should—one is a well drained soil and the other is a location that will provide sunshine most of the day.

FLOWER PLANTS

Now is the time to make arrangements for the plants of flowers needed for the flower beds. Those who plan to grow their own flowering plants should prepare the seed order early, so as to be sure and get the varieties wanted.

Some little jobs that can now be done to improve your home landscape:

1. Sow grass seed on the lawn if you did not seed it in September.
2. Evergreens and shrubs may be given a light pruning at this time. Prune just enough to shape the plants.

STEP OUT IN IT

Get the quiet proof of Chevrolet's superior performance on the road—No other car in the low-priced three can match the borne-on-the-wind sensation you get from a ride in the 1960 Chevrolet. But that's not surprising when you consider to what lengths Chevy has gone to provide for your comfort at no extra cost to you. As you drive, count the ways Chevrolet has been thoughtful:

Supple Full Coil suspension—Coil springs at all four wheels melt bumps as no other suspension can. Taking the punch out of rough roads is their only function—they don't have to anchor the rear axle.

Butyl rubber body mounts—Thicker, newly designed body mounts further insulate you from the road.

Body by Fisher—Only Chevy in its field offers the polish and craftsmanship of Body by Fisher.

Foam cushioned seats—Chevy offers foam cushioned seats in both front and rear in all series but one.

Safety-Girder frame—X-built and not merely X-braced, the Safety-Girder frame affords greater rigidity to minimize twisting and squeaks.

Hydraulic valve lifters—Oil hushed hydraulic valve lifters reduce engine noise to a whisper.

Cushioned steering shaft—A universal joint and cushioned coupling keep those annoying road tremors from the steering wheel.

Precision balanced wheels and tires—Here again Chevy has shown concern for your comfort by eliminating vibration in this vital area—tire life is longer, too.

Easy steering ratio—Chevy's high ratio Ball Race steering takes the work out of steering for you.

Superior weight distribution—Chevy rides better, handles better and stops better because the car's weight is more equally divided between the front and rear wheels.

Wide choice of power teams—Choose from 24 different power combinations to satisfy the itchiest driving foot—more than any other car.

Morehead College Notes Growth Under Dr. Doran; Is Kentuckian of Year

Dr. Adron Doran is in his sixth year as president of Morehead State College. The college has experienced phenomenal growth during that time and people throughout the state have repeatedly commented on the fine job being done here.

But the Kentucky Press Association did more than just comment on it Saturday as the editors of 160 Kentucky newspapers named Dr. Doran the "Kentuckian of the Year."

The award, which is the highest honor granted by the Kentucky Press Association and one of the most coveted awards in the state, had previously been given to such great Kentuckians as Alben Barkley, John Sherman Cooper, Thomas Poe Cooper, Mary Breckinridge, Henry Ward, Paul G. Blazer, Albert B. Chandler, Jesse Stuart, Ed Diddle and Robert M. Watt.

Dr. Doran said with a tear in his eye after receiving an engraved pitcher and certificate, "I am almost completely overwhelmed that you have numbered me among such distinguished Kentuckians. To be defined by you as a distinguished Kentuckian certainly raises my horizon."

University of Kentucky President Frank G. Dickey made the presentation at the conclusion of the annual KPA mid-winter meetings in Louisville and described Dr. Doran as a man "unsatisfied by little things," and a man who "has accomplished a tremendous amount for the organization for which he works and for the State of Kentucky."

The test, which was prepared and judged by Science Research Associates of Chicago, was taken by a record number of 379,018 girls in 12,597 schools, an increase of 29,868 girls and 337 schools over last year.

Pike County Legislator Seeks Salary Increases For All Schoolteachers

State Representative T. T. Colley, of Pike county's 94th legislative district, last week introduced House Bill No. 66 to raise teachers' salaries 38 per cent.

Colley's bill asks that the salary of teachers in rank one, those with a master's degree plus 20 hours college credit, be established at $4,800 yearly. The salary for rank two teachers, those with an A.B. or B.S. degree plus 20 college hours would be $4,400, and that of rank three teachers, those with an A.B. or B.S. degree would be $4,000.

The bill follows: "Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky: "Subsection (2) of Section 157.390 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes is amended to read as follows: (2) The amount to be included in the foundation program of a district for teachers' salaries shall be determined by multiplying the number of teachers in each rank, not to exceed the number of classroom units allowed by the amount set forth in the following allotment scheduled for each rank: "Rank I—$4,800; Rank II—$4,400; Rank III—$4,000; Rank IV—$3,300; Rank V—$2,900; Rank VI—$2,500; Rank VII—$2,150.

"Provided the amount to be included for vocational units, supervisory units, and units for administrators, directors of pupil personnel and special instructional services shall be increased proportionally if the personnel for such units are employed for longer than the regular school term and such employment is approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction under regulations of the State Board of Education. Where the actual number of teachers employed by the district varies from the number allowed under the provisions of KRS 157.310 to 157.440, the number to be included to each rank shall be in the same ratio that the number of teachers actually in each rank is to be the total number of teachers employed."

A Pictorial Review of East Kentucky

(No. 79 in a Series)

PEN WORK AS TAUGHT BY WRITING TEACHERS 75 YEARS AGO.

Penmanship teachers of several decades ago demanded that students master the most intricate workmanship. Designs and exacting execution were required of a student that no modern teacher would envision.

The above picture drawn by a student of 1884 was a lesson from the New Spencerian Compendium of Penmanship course copyrighted in 1880. This text was used extensively in the Big Sandy region by teachers who got up a subscription school where each student paid a tuition fee for four weeks' private instruction. The schools were not under regulation by the state. Many of the fine specimen of penmanship of our elders, can be attributed to these old schools.

The First National Bank presents these pictures of the past in recognition of a rich historical heritage.

Wheelwright MYF Hosts On Fellowship Night

An evening of worship, fellowship, food and fun took place at the Wheelwright Community Church Sunday evening. The Wheelwright MYF was the host group for the evening.

There were 54 MYF'ers from Wheelwright, eight from Martin, and 30 from Prestonsburg who attended the meeting.

Everyone enjoyed the evening, which included worship and discussion, group singing, prayer, special music and an unrehearsed, lively debate on teen-age responsibility.

After the worship and discussion hour, the group adjourned to the Community Hall where they worked up a good appetite by playing games. They were then served refreshments by the Wesleyan Service Guild.

The evening was closed with the friendship circle and led in prayer by Rev. H. M. Wiley.

Store-Wide Reductions To Make Room for Spring Lines!

"The location of this plant in southeastern Kentucky, or near the Kentucky-Tennessee line, would supply a market for Eastern Kentucky coal of approximately four million tons a year."

Referring to the Paradise plant now under way in Muhlenberg county, Cooper said General Vogel told him that this plant would eventually be expanded to four units, at a cost of $300 to $400 million. The second unit at Paradise will cost $82,000,000. The President's 1961 budget recommends $20,000,000 to start this second unit, and the rest of its cost will be paid for from TVA power revenues and bond proceeds, Cooper said.

"These two plants, when constructed, will mean a total outlay of approximately $700,000,000, and will provide a market for western Kentucky and Eastern Kentucky coal of approximately 8,000,000 tons a year," Senator Cooper pointed out.

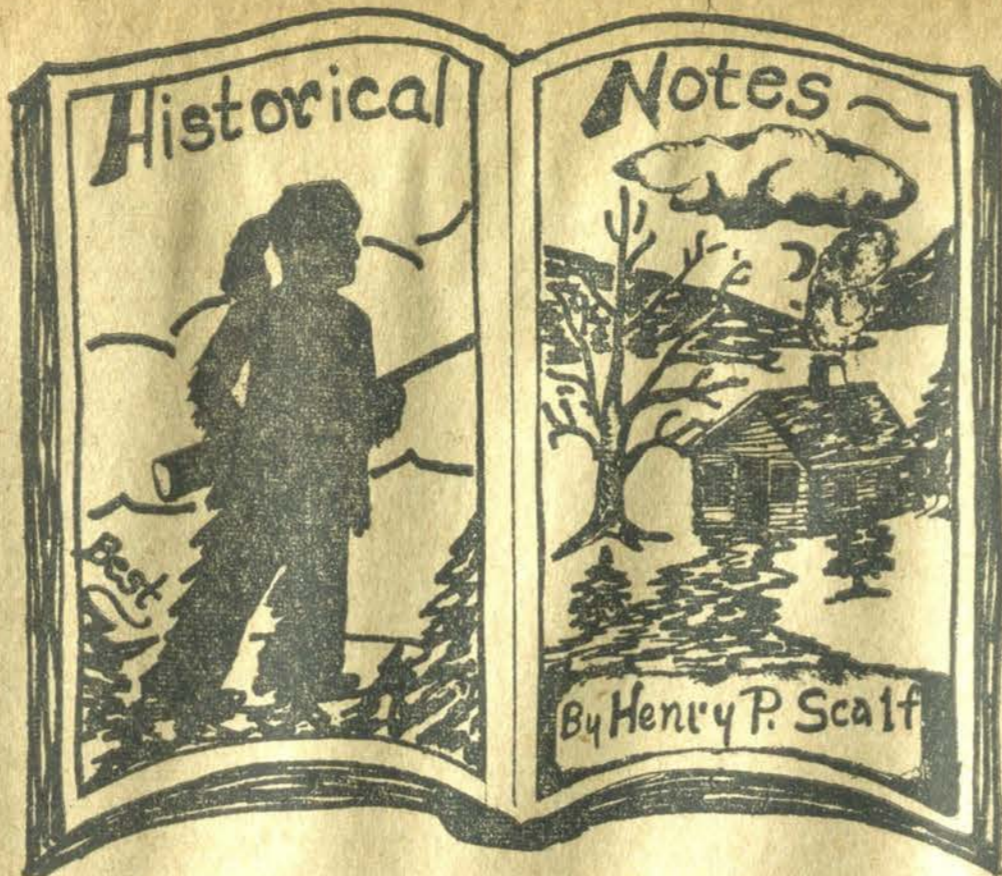

"In 1954 I made the first proposal in the Senate for TVA self-financing, and recommended it to the President. I am happy that the final passage of this bill will bring these great benefits to the State of Kentucky," Cooper said.

Extension Courses Slated By Morehead College Here

Ratliff advised prospective students to be prepared to register and pay fees.

GEN. DANIEL TYLER

A few years ago this columnist was given a copy of a journal kept by a Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saint missionary sent to the Big Sandy valley by the Utah church authorities. In the journal the missionary, M. E. Johnson, stayed a few nights at the old Pike Hotel, at Pikeville, and he refers to a conversation with a General Tyler.

Gen. Tyler has been identified as Brig.-Gen. Daniel Tyler, of the Union army, who founded the town of Anniston, Ala., and served as president of the Mobile and Montgomery railway from 1873 to 1879. He was an artillery expert in the Civil War. A native of Brooklyn, Conn., being born there Jan. 7, 1799, he died in New York City, Nov. 30, 1892. His death came just two years after he talked to the Mormon missionary at Pikeville.

What is intriguing is the purpose of Gen. Tyler's visit to Pikeville in the early 1880's. Was he there in the interest of a railway or for his health? It is a bit of a mystery.

HISTORIAN, SCIENCE FICTIONIST

A letter from Miss Andre Norton, of Cleveland, acknowledging receipt of copies of the letters of Pvt. William Jones, serialized in this column for several months.

"The Jones letters had some very graphic and vivid details of camp life which were an aid in building a picture of the time and place," she wrote.

"My own work at present is to deal with the company of Morgan's Raiders who fled Cynthia after the defeat in 1864, traveled south behind Union lines, and finally joined up with Forrest just before the battle of Harrisburg. Since the Jones letters covered some of the fighting with Forrest—though from the Union point of view—I found them of aid.

"Though I do a historical book once in awhile, most of my writing lately has been in the field of science-fiction and my books in that line have appeared both in the hardcover regular editions and the paperback reprints. But I have long wanted to do this Civil War tale and finally have a publisher talked into agreeing to let me—something of a problem when one is selling well in an entirely different field.

"Mrs. Donaldy (another correspondent) and I are good friends and belong to the same organization for newspaperwomen and professional writers, so we exchange material and research sources—she is not only gathering material for a Civil War fiction story but also editing a volume of letters written at that period. And there are so many odds and ends one has to check on if one is going to present an accurate picture."

Few Hung Juries If Bill Enacted, Legislator Says

(From Lexington Leader)

A measure that should result in a reduction in the number of hung juries in murder cases and perhaps carry with it some likelihood of reducing the number of murder cases in Kentucky has been passed by the Kentucky Senate and sent to the House. The bill, introduced by Sen. Martin Duffy, Louisville, would add life imprisonment without parole as a penalty in murder cases.

Under present criminal statutes juries have but two choices in murder cases, death or life imprisonment. Under the law now on the statute books, a life term usually means a maximum of eight years, due to parole laws which permit release from prison under certain circumstances. This law gives juries but little choice even in cases of premeditated murder, and if any juror is hesitant about inflicting the death penalty he usually will prevent the necessary unanimous verdict. After several such hung juries many cases are dismissed or filed away. Under the Duffy Act murderers now may face life sentences without hope of parole when the jury so recommends.

Many a murder has been committed in Kentucky because the offender believed that even if convicted he would get out of prison through good behavior at the end of eight years. Of course, parole boards do not always agree with the criminal's thinking, and many murderers remain behind bars for much longer periods, some actually serving out the imposed life sentences. It is difficult to calculate the number of murders that may have been committed with the thought in the mind of the criminal that he would be willing to serve eight years in order to settle an old grudge.

Another worth-while bill that was approved along with the Duffy bill was that of Sen. Nick Johnson, of Harlan, which raises from 10 to 21 years the maximum penalty for intentionally dynamiting property. The bill was the outgrowth of numerous dynamiting acts committed during the coal strike last year and in previous years. Perhaps this also will serve as a deterrent to crime. Both measures are worthy of speedy approval by the House.

HALBERT WINS 300th

Martin's 57-46 win over M. C. Napier last Saturday night was especially pleasing to Coach Denzil Halbert since it marked the 300th win for the Floyd county school under his guidance since 1937.

The affable Halbert has spent all of his 14 seasons at the school where he was a star athlete in 1939 and 40. Following high school graduation he attended Kentucky Wesleyan College, then in Winchester, and was captain of the freshman basketball team. He earned six letters in basketball and baseball under coach Robert "Bullec" Wilson before entering military service in 1943.

In the armed forces Halbert attained the rank of first lieutenant and spent three years in North Africa and Indo-China before coming back to take over the coaching reins at Martin.

The first milestone of his coaching career came in 1951 when he won his 100th game. He picked up his 200th win in the season of 1955. His record for the current season is 16-5.

Halbert's teams have never won a regional title, but have been close on three different occasions, losing in the final game by 2, 7 and 8 points. He has had eight teams in the 15th regional tournament and has won the 58th District title six times.

Aside from his basketball duties, he tutors the baseball and track teams, has served one term as mayor of Martin and operates a sporting goods business in his spare time.

The drawings for the 58th district tournament, to be played in Prestonsburg, March 1-5, will be held at Martin high school, Monday, Feb. 15, at 7 p.m. Officials already named to officiate the tournament are Frenchy Campbell (Garrett) and Millford Wells (Morehead).

Sandy Hook's senior scoring whiz Roy Fannin is leading the 15th Region in total scoring and individual average. The senior guard has 526 points in 20 games for a nifty 31.2 per game.

No other player in the region is above the 25-point mark. Martin's David Conley sports a 24.9 average for 22 games.

HE'S A BEAR-CAT!

Donnis Butcher of the Pikeville Bears is a panther-like guard who has an animal likeeness in playing what some observers call the most exciting basketball in Kentucky.

This 6'2" performer has so many refined skills and qualities attributed to professional athletics that any report concerning Butcher partakes of an enthusiasm which may seem false.

But let the cold figures tell the story. Butcher is third in the K.I.A.C. with a 21.5 average, has 14.5 rebounds a game, 6.5 assists a game, is shooting a hot .451 on his field goal attempts and .705 at the foul line. His scoring average would be higher if he were not unselfish in his passing.

One of Butcher's secret weapons seems to be his great competitive drive. This can also, at times, be classified as leading to one of his weaknesses. He is overeager on defense, plays his man a little too close, resulting in some driving around him. However, his speed and extraordinary timing enable him to recover and frustrate opponents who are victims of blocked shots.

The spectacular has become commonplace at Pikeville College as Butcher gives basketball followers superlative basketball game after game. It's not unusual to watch the high-leaping Butcher snatch the ball with a one-handed hawk-like swoop off the boards and burst down the floor on a fast break. He can run full-tilt and maintain perfect balance while dribbling with either hand, keep his head up and pull magically slight-of-hand passing that leaves spectators gasping.

The importance of the lean guard-forward to the Bears cannot be minimized. He can leap to shoot, check for a team-mate to be open, and then still shoot. Like most point makers he can "hang" in mid-air, leaving his defense-man helplessly staring at him.

Butcher would be playing at the University of Kentucky today but, after arriving there several years ago on a grant-in-aid, he decided that UK was too big. He then played industrial basketball in Ohio with team-mate Vernon Woods and came to Pikeville at the bidding of his brother, Paul Butcher, now coach of the Bears.

From the day Butcher arrived Pikeville officials have regarded the Meade Memorial product as their second little All-American. John Lee Butcher, strangely enough another Butcher, was the first little All-American at Pikeville.

BRASHEAR BACK IN ACTION

Dick Brashear returned to action recently for the Bears after spending most of the season nursing a bum ankle. Dick is a playmaker who is noted for his ball-handling and coolness. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Brashear, of Mantion, Ky.

SETSER, EXPERT MARKSMAN

Paul Setser leads the Bears in field goal shooting with a 47.9 average. The Auxier product has been classified as a consistent if not brilliant player and as one of the tallest, 6'3", forwards in basketball. He has 7.2 rebounds a game.

POWERS A REAL POWER!

Another Auxier product, Porter Powers, is enjoying a fine season at the University of Alabama where he leads his team in scoring and is ranked fifth in the Southeastern Conference in that respect. Powers has averaged 17.1 per tilt and accumulated 239 points this season.

Another fish, that Adolph let out of the Kentucky basketball pool!

BASEBALL CHANGES

As the wind blows warmer and more fierce, maybe full of flu virus, can baseball be far behind?

The baseball scene certainly has changed within the last year. From two major leagues, it appears that Branch Rickey has finally the ground to introduce the third league.

It seems that the baseball picture is slightly unrealistic. Baseball has been dying. No matter if the urban spawl has accounted for additional millions packing into Buffalo, Dallas, Atlanta, Oregon, Los Angeles, St. Paul-Minneapolis. Our changing mediums of entertainment, as TV, lakes, drive-in theatres, has made a drastic indentation on baseball attendance.

Simply, people have more to do nowadays, than attending a baseball game. The problem to baseball is not only paying customers but a source of talent to the 24 major league teams to be.

If they can't obtain worthwhile talent to the teams in existence, what can be expected for the cities to be added?

We don't know. But as long as America lives and breathes, it seems only proper that the crack of a bat be heard from all corners of our nation.

Pikeville College Bears Use Superior Shooting, Rebounding To Lead

Pikeville, Ky. — The Pikeville College Bears used superior shooting and rebounding to climb back into the lead of the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Saturday, downing the Bellarmine College Knights 83-61 at the Pikeville College gymnasium.

In one stroke Paul Butcher's Bears regained the loop lead and avenged their only KIAC loss this season, a 74-73 nosing by the Bellarmine Knights at Louisville Nov. 30. Saturday's win gave the Bears a 7-1 loop standing, pulling them out of a 6-1 tie with Transylvania, and a mark of 12-5 in all games.

Shooting from the field at a 39 per cent clip against the Knights' 28 per cent, the Butchermen out-gunned their opposition 29 field goals to 20. On the backboards, Donnis Butcher grabbed 16 and Vern Woods 15 of the Bears' 53 rebounds while Rudy Montgomery, Bellarmine's pivotman and the loop leader at rebounding, was picking off 15 of his squad's 39.

Butcher and Montgomery divided scoring honors with 23 points—on eight field goals and seven free throws—each. Butcher, Woods and Paul Setser combined for a 12-point barrage in four minutes, while holding the Knights' scoreless, that blew the game open midway of the last half.

The Bears, however, lost the services of high-scoring George Carroll through an indefinite suspension from school. His suspension came after Carroll pleaded guilty early Saturday in Police Court in Pikeville to a petty-larceny charge. He received a suspended sentence.

After a scrappy opening which saw five ties and four changes of lead in the first seven minutes, with the Knights leading for the next five. Everett Horn hit a jump shot to put the Bears in front to stay, 19-18. They led by as much as nine points in the first half, by only four points, 35-31, at halftime, and by 25 with three minutes left in the game.

Paul Setser totaled 19 points against Bellarmine with six field goals and seven of seven free throws; Vern Woods also had six fielders and a pair of charities, for 14; and Pete Campbell got six from the field without going to the line. Horn had 11 points on three field buckets and five for five free tosses, and Stanley Banks registered four points in four minutes, hitting four charity throws without a miss.

Dick Brashear, in his first action since a severe ankle injury last fall, played one minute in each of last week's two games without scoring.

Donnis Butcher sparked against West Virginia Tech also, drilling in 28 points and snaring 27 of the Bears' 56 rebounds as they took their fifth loss of the season. The red-hot Bruins, hitting 50 per cent of their field attempts, pitched in 35 field goals to their hosts' 30, and held them 16 points below their scoring average of 109, but lost at the end of the referee's whistle.

With 32 personals called on Pikeville to 22 on the home team, the West Virginians sank more free throws than the Bears tried for, getting 33 of 45 while the Bruins were making good 18 of their 31. Even so, they had to come from behind in the last five minutes, after the Butchermen had led for most of the game, to win.

Setser and Woods registered 18 points each against West Virginia Tech.

Fishing Contest Winners Announced By Turner; Five Categories Judged

Winners of the 1959 Fishing Contest were announced this week by the Floyd County Fish and Game Club, A. J. Turner, club secretary.

Fish were entered in five categories and prizes were awarded to the sportsmen reporting the heaviest fish in their division.

Categories entered were large mouth bass, walleye, small mouth bass, catfish, carp. The crappie division was not entered, Turner said.

Winner of the large mouth bass division was L. G. Mayo, of Auxier, who used a Lazy Ike bait to catch his prize winning eight-pound, two-ounce bass.

Arnold Cassidy, of Langley, won the small mouth bass prize with a three-pound, eight-ounce scrapper. His catch was made from Beaver Creek with a Lazy Ike bait.

The Big Sandy yielded the biggest catfish to Claude Hunter, of Lancer, who used a minnow to snag his 27-pound, plus.

Felix Dudley took the carp division by using a doughball. The Langley resident caught the 25½ pounder out of Beaver Creek.

Turner also announced the new Fishing Contest of 1960. Two to three prizes will be awarded in each division in this year's contest. He said that it is hoped this will encourage more fishermen to enter the contest.

Prior Service Veterans Offered Training Choice

Sgt. Marvin E. Craft, the local Army recruiter, stated today that prior service personnel of any service reenlisting in the United States Army in the grade of corporal or below may now select a new field for training, or may in most cases get back into the same field they were in last. A former mechanic now can receive training in electronics or finance. Also prior service personnel of any service as well as non-prior service, that are physically and mentally qualified for airborne training, may select a field for specialized training and as a second option, select either of two famous airborne divisions, the 82nd or 101st. The 82nd Airborne Division is at Fort Bragg, N. C., while the 101st is at Fort Campbell, Ky.

Sgt. Craft also stated that high school graduates can still choose a school for training prior to enlistment in the regular Army. Regular Army enlistments are for three years. Anyone interested may call the Army recruiting office located in Prestonsburg.

Hicks-Harner Marriage Solemnized At Hueysville

Edna Mae Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hicks, of Hippo, became the bride of Wayne Elden Harner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Harner, Jackson, Mich., on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 20, at 2 o'clock in a double-ring ceremony, at the Church of Christ, at Hueysville.

Before an altar decorated with flanged candelabra, carnations and greenery, the Rev. Lawrence B. Price performed the ceremony. Preceding the wedding, Mrs. Thomas Patrick, pianist, presented a program of traditional wedding music.

Miss Loyce Raye Hicks, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Mrs. Billy Ray Hayes, the other sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid.

The bridegroom was attended by Kenneth Vanderbosch, of Jackson Mich., as best man, and Billy Hayes, brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride's gown was of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over slipper satin and made with a fitted bodice pointed at the waistline. The illusion yoke was outlined with lace and pearls with buttons down the back and long pointed sleeves. The full gathered skirt of tulle with lace inserts was of chapel length. The bridal veil was fingertip-length of English illusion caught with a cap of lace and pearls.

The bride carried a white orchid on a white Bible, arranged with streamers and lover's knots.

Her attendants wore light pink brocaded sheath dresses, styled alike. They carried nosegays of pale pink rosebuds, encircled with lace, with streamers. They wore matching pink headresses, with chenille-flocked veils.

The mother of the bride was attired in a light blue brocaded sheath with black accessories and a pastel blue carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church dining room. Mrs. Nadine Hicks, attired in a light blue wool dress with a corsage of white carnations, and Mrs. Wanda Hayes served at the reception. They were assisted by Miss Loyce Raye Hicks.

Following the reception the couple left for a one-week trip touring Tennessee and Virginia. For her wedding trip the bride chose a pale blue wool sheath dress and white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple returned to live in Jackson, Michigan.

The suit alleges: "Plaintiff states that during the latter part of February, 1958, she became seriously ill and was taken to Our Lady of the Way hospital at Martin, Ky., for treatment; that they administered treatment to her and placed her in a bed in a room where there was not any way provided to give a signal to the nurses or those in charge of the hospital in event she needed help; that late in the night she woke up and had to get out of the bed and was unable because of the carelessness and negligence of the defendants, its servants and employees, in charge of the operation of said hospital in failing to provide means for this plaintiff to call for help; that she thought she was able to get out of bed and in undertaking to do so she fell and broke her hip, from which she suffered great excruciating pain and anguish and has been permanently crippled and her earning capacity has been permanently destroyed, all to the plaintiff's damage."

The fourth suit, for $5,000 was filed by Attorney Joe P. Tackett, for Lillian Bates, of Melvin, against the Home Insurance Company, Inc., of New York. She sues to recover on a $5,000 fire insurance policy stating that her house burned Feb. 9, 1959, and the company had not paid her under the stipulations of the policy.

whose breeches struck him under the armpits and hit him at the other end about the knee. . . They buried him in the midst of a marble quarry; they cut through solid marble to make his grave: and yet a little tombstone they put above him was from Vermont.

They buried him in the midst of a pine forest, and yet the pine coffin was imported from Cincinnati.

They buried him within the touch of an iron mine, and yet the nails in his coffin and the iron in the shovel that dug his grave were imported from Pittsburgh.

They buried him by the side of the best sheep-grazing country on the earth, and yet you wool in the coffin bands themselves were brought from the North.

The South didn't furnish a thing on earth for that funeral but the corpse and the hole in the ground. There they put him away and the clouds rattled down on his coffin, and they buried him in a New York coat and a Boston pair of shoes and a pair of breeches from Chicago and a shirt from Cincinnati, leaving him nothing to carry into the next world with him to remind him of the country in which he lived, and for which he fought for four years, but the chill of blood in his veins and the marrow in his bones.

tucky division with the mine, tipple, and preparation plant owned by Mrs. Virginia Collins, Hazard.

The defense conceded that the trestle had been blown up, that there was a dispute between Mrs. Collins and the union, and that her coal was in interstate shipment.

Mrs. Collins, who has been a coal operator since 1955 with never a union contract, was the first day's principal witness.

The dynamited trestle, she said, was "blown all to pieces" the night of June 20, the second time it had been blasted, while the rails leading to her operation had been dynamited five times since May 17.

She did not see who placed the explosives, she said, nor was she able to identify any of the persons who had fired "thousands of shots" into her office and the tipple.

Mrs. Collins testified that her coal trucks were dynamited, her employees threatened, and that dynamite was tossed into their yards.

So her tipple watchmen might be able to protect themselves, she said, she bought high-powered rifles and semi-automatic carbines for them. Shots were fired into her plant at Bellecraft, two miles from Whitesburg, Mrs. Collins said, almost daily from May 16 until July 9. And she was there most of the time.

Mrs. Collins testified that union representatives had attempted to get her to sign a contract with the U. M. W., beginning the latter part of May, but she refused.

In October, 1955, Daniels, who had had Army medical discharge climbed the George Washington bridge at New York City and reaching a height of over 400 feet, again dropped a shoe with a note in it threatening suicide. In order to attract attention he first dropped several articles from his pockets. Two ministers talked him down after several hours and authorities committed him to King's Park State hospital in New York but he was later transferred to Eastern State hospital, Lexington. He was released after specialists were unable to determine that he was mentally ill.

While living at Justell, it is said he attempted suicide by shooting himself with a .22 rifle. He was not seriously hurt. He has been twice married and is the father of four children.

DeLong is survived by his wife Carole, and three children. Funeral services were conducted Sunday at Leatherwood, Ohio, near Ironton, and burial was made at Maddy cemetery there.
